

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

THE present book, apart from its greater extent and certain differences of statement and arrangement, has, in general, the same plan as the author's Greek Grammar for Schools and Colleges. It is a descriptive, not an historical, nor a comparative, grammar. Though it has adopted many of the assured results of Comparative Linguistics, especially in the field of Analogy, it has excluded much of the more complicated matter that belongs to a purely scientific treatment of the problems of Morphology. It has been my purpose to set forth the essential forms of Attic speech, and of the other dialects, as far as they appear in literature; to devote greater attention to the Formation of Words and to the Particles than is usually given to these subjects except in much more extensive works; and to supplement the statement of the principles of Syntax with information that will prove of service to the student as his knowledge widens and deepens.

As to the extent of all amplification of the bare facts of Morphology and Syntax, probably no two makers of a book of this character, necessarily restricted by considerations of space, will be of the same mind. I can only hope that I have attained such a measure of success as will commend itself to the judgment of those who are engaged in teaching Greek in our colleges and universities. I trust, however, that the extent of the enlarged work may lead no one to the opinion that I advocate the study of formal grammar as an end in itself; though I would have every student come to know, and the sooner the better, that without an exact knowledge of the language there can be no thorough appreciation of the literature of Ancient Greece, or of any other land ancient or modern.

In addition to the authorities mentioned on page 5, I have consulted with profit Delbrück's Syntaktische Forschungen, Gildersleeve's numerous and illuminating papers in the American Journal of Philology and in the Transactions of the American Philological Association, Schanz's Beiträge zur historischen Syntax der griechischen Sprache, Riddell's Digest of Platonic Idioms, La Roche's Grammatische Studien in the Zeitschrift für österreichische Gymnasien for 1904, Forman's Selections from Plato, Schulze's Quaestiones

Epicae, Hale's Extended and Remote Deliberatives in Greek in the Transactions of the American Philological Association for 1893, Harry's two articles, The Omission of the Article with Substantives after οἶος, ὅδε, ἐκεῖνος in Prose in the Transactions for 1898, and The Perfect Subjunctive, Optative, and Imperative in Greek in the Classical Review for 1905, Headlam's Greek Prohibitions in the Classical Review for 1905, Marchant's papers on The Agent in the Attic Orators in the same journal for 1889, Miss Meissner's dissertation on γάρ (University of Chicago), Stahl's Kritisch-historische Syntax des griechischen Verbums, and Wright's Comparative Grammar of the Greek Language. I have examined many school grammars of Greek in English, German, and French, among which I would particularize those of Hadley-Allen, Goodwin, Babbitt, Goodell, Sonnenschein, Kaegi, Koch, Croiset et Petitjean. I am much indebted also to Thompson's Greek Syntax.

I would finally express my thanks for helpful criticism from Professor Allen R. Benner of Andover Academy, Professor Haven D. Brackett of Clark College, Professor Hermann Collitz of the Johns Hopkins University, Professor Archibald L. Hodges of the Wadleigh High School, New York, Dr. Maurice W. Mather, formerly Instructor in Harvard University, Professor Hanns Oertel of Yale University, and Professor Frank E. Woodruff of Bowdoin College. Dr. J. W. H. Walden, formerly Instructor in Harvard, has lent me invaluable aid by placing at my service his knowledge and skill in the preparation of the Indices.

INTRODUCTION

THE GREEK LANGUAGE AND ITS DIALECTS

A. Greek, the language of the inhabitants of Greece, has been constantly spoken from the time of Homer to the present day. The inhabitants of ancient Greece and other Greeks dwelling in the islands and on the coasts of the Mediterranean called themselves (as do the modern Greeks) by the name Hellenes (Ἕλληνες), their country Hellas (Ἑλλάς), and their language the Hellenic (ἡ Ἑλληνικὴ γλῶττα). We call them Greeks from the Latin Graeci, the name given them by the Romans, who applied to the entire people a name properly restricted to the Γραιοί, the first Hellenes of whom the Romans had knowledge.

N. 1. — Graeci (older Graeci) contains a Latin suffix -icus; and the name Γραικοί, which occurs first in Aristotle, is borrowed from Latin. The Roman designation is derived either from the Γραιοί, a Boeotian tribe that took part in the colonization of Cyme in Italy, or from the Γραιῶν, a larger tribe of the same stock that lived in Epirus.

N. 2. — No collective name for 'all Greece' appears in Homer, to whom the Hellenes are the inhabitants of Hellas, a district forming part of the kingdom of Peleus (B 683) and situated in the S.E. of the country later called Thessaly. 'Ἑλλάς for 'all Greece' occurs first in Hesiod. The Greeks in general are called by Homer Ἀχαιοί, Ἀργεῖοι, Δαναοί.

B. Greek is related to the languages of the Indians (Sanskrit), Persians (Zend), Armenians, Albanians, Slavonians, Lithuanians, Romans, Celts, and Germans. These various languages are all of the same stock, and together constitute the Indo-European family of languages. An important relation of Greek to English, which is a branch of the Germanic tongue, is illustrated by Grimm's law of the 'permutation of consonants':

π = f	τ = t	κ = k	β = p	δ = d	γ = c(k)	φ = b	θ = d	χ = g
πατήρ	τρεις	καρδιά	τύρβη	δύο	ἀγρός	φέρω	θύρᾱ	χίρ
father	three	heart	thorp	two	acre	bear	door	goose

The above English words are said to be cognate with the Greek words. Derived words, such as geography, theatre, are borrowed directly or indirectly, from the Greek (γεωγραφία, θέατρον).

C. At the earliest known period of its history the Greek language was divided into dialects. Corresponding to the chief divisions of the Greeks into Aeolians, Dorians, and Ionians (a division unknown to Homer), three groups of dialects are commonly distinguished: Aeolic, Doric, and Ionic, of which Attic is a sister dialect. Aeolic and Doric are more nearly related to each other than is either to Ionic.

Aeolic: spoken in Aeolis, Lesbos, and kindred with the dialect of Thessaly (except Phthiotis) and of Boeotia (though Boeotian has many Doric ingredients). In this book 'Aeolic' means Lesbian Aeolic.

N. 1. — Aeolic retains primitive  $\tilde{a}$  (30); changes  $\tau$  before  $\epsilon$  to  $\sigma$  (115); has recessive accent (162 D.), and many other peculiarities.

Doric: spoken in Peloponnesus (except Arcadia and Elis), in several of the islands of the Aegean (Crete, Melos, Thera, Rhodes, etc.), in parts of Sicily and in Southern Italy.

N. 2. — Doric retains primitive  $\tilde{a}$  (30), keeps  $\tau$  before  $\epsilon$  (115 D.). Almost all Doric dialects have  $-\mu\epsilon\varsigma$  for  $-\mu\epsilon\nu$  (462 D.), the infinitive in  $-\mu\epsilon\nu$  for  $-\nu\alpha\iota$  (469 D.), the future in  $-\xi\omega$  from verbs in  $-\xi\omega$  (516 D.), the future in  $-\sigma\omega$ ,  $-\sigma\theta\mu\alpha\iota$  (540 a).

N. 3. — The sub-dialects of Laconia, Crete, and Southern Italy, and of their several colonies, are often called Severer (or Old) Doric; the others are called Milder (or New) Doric. Severer Doric has  $\eta$  and  $\omega$  where Milder Doric has  $\epsilon$  and  $o$  (59 D. 4, 5; 230 D.). There are also differences in verbal forms (654).

Ionic: spoken in Ionia, in most of the islands of the Aegean, in a few towns of Sicily, etc.

N. 4. — Ionic changes primitive  $\tilde{a}$  to  $\eta$  (30); changes  $\tau$  before  $\epsilon$  to  $\sigma$  (115); has lost digamma, which is still found in Aeolic and Doric; often refuses to contract vowels; keeps a mute smooth before the rough breathing (124 D.); has  $\kappa$  for  $\pi$  in pronominal forms (132 D.).

N. 5. — The following dialects do not fall under the above divisions: Arcadian (and the kindred Cyprian, which are often classed with Aeolic), Elean, and the dialects of N.W. Greece (Locris, Phocis, Aetolia, Acarmania, Epirus, etc.). N.W. Greek resembles Doric.

N. 6. — The dialects that retain  $\tilde{a}$  (30) are called  $\tilde{A}$  dialects (Aeolic, Doric, etc.); Ionic and Attic are the only  $H$  dialects. The Eastern dialects (Aeolic, Ionic) change  $\tau\iota$  to  $\sigma\iota$  (115).

N. 7. — The local dialects, with the exception of Tzaconian (a Laconian idiom), died out gradually and ceased to exist by 300 A.D.

D. The chief dialects that occur in literature are as follows (almost all poetry is composed in a mixture of dialects):

Aeolic: in the Lesbian lyric poets Alcaeus and Sappho (600 B.C.). Numerous Aeolisms appear in epic poetry, and some in tragedy. Theocritus' idylls 28–30 are in Aeolic.

Doric: in many lyric poets, notably in Pindar (born 522 B.C.); in the bucolic (pastoral) poetry of Theocritus (about 310–about 245 B.C.). Both of these poets adopt some epic and Aeolic forms. The choral parts of Attic tragedy also admit some Doric forms. There is no Doric, as there is no Aeolic, literary prose.

Ionic: (1) Old Ionic or Epic, the chief ingredient of the dialect of Homer and of Hesiod (before 700 B.C.). Almost all subsequent poetry admits epic words and forms. (2) New Ionic (500–400), the dialect of Herodotus (484–425) and of the medical writer Hippocrates (born 460). In the period between Old and New Ionic: Archilochus, the lyric poet (about 700–650 B.C.).

Attic: (kindred to Ionic) was used by the great writers of Athens in the fifth and fourth centuries B.C., the period of her political and literary supremacy. In it are composed the works of the tragic poets Aeschylus (525–456), Sophocles (496–406), Euripides (about 480–406), the comic poet Aristophanes (about 450–386), the historians Thucydides (died before 396) and Xenophon (about 434–about 355), the orators Lysias (born about 460), Isocrates (436–338), Aeschines (389–314), Demosthenes (383–322), and the philosopher Plato (427–347).

E. The Attic dialect was distinguished by its refinement, precision, and beauty; it occupied an intermediate position between the soft Ionic and the rough Doric, and avoided the pronounced extremes of other dialects. By reason of its cultivation at the hands of the greatest writers from 500 B.C. to 300 B.C., it became the standard literary dialect; though Old Ionic was still occasionally employed in later epic, and Doric in pastoral poetry.

N. 1. — The dialect of the tragic poets and Thucydides is often called Old Attic in contrast to New Attic, that used by most other Attic writers. Plato stands on the border-line. The dialect of tragedy contains some Homeric, Doric, and Aeolic forms; these are more frequent in the choral than in the dialogue parts. The choral parts take over forms used in the Aeolic-Doric lyric; the dialogue parts show the influence of the iambic poetry of the Ionians. But the tendency of Attic speech in literature was to free itself from the influence of the dialect used by the tribe originating any literary type; and by the fourth century pure Attic was generally used throughout. The normal language of the people ("Standard Attic") is best seen in Aristophanes and the orators. The native Attic speech as it appears in inscriptions shows no local differences; the speech of Attica was practically uniform. Only the lowest classes, among which were many foreigners, used forms that do not follow the ordinary phonetic laws. The language of the religious cults is sometimes archaic in character.

N. 2. — Old Attic writers use  $\sigma\sigma$  for  $\tau\tau$  (78),  $\rho\sigma$  for  $\rho\rho$  (79),  $\xi\sigma\nu$  for  $\sigma\sigma\nu$  with,  $\epsilon\iota$  for  $\epsilon\iota\iota$  into,  $\eta$  for  $\epsilon\iota$  ( $\lambda\eta\eta$  for  $\lambda\epsilon\iota$ , thou loosest),  $-\eta\varsigma$  in the plural of substantives in  $-\epsilon\iota\varsigma$  ( $\beta\alpha\sigma\iota\lambda\eta\varsigma$ , 277), and occasionally  $-\alpha\tau\alpha\iota$  and  $-\alpha\tau\omega$  in the third plural of the perfect and pluperfect (466 f).

With the Macedonian conquest Athens ceased to produce great writers, but Attic culture and the Attic dialect were diffused far and wide. With this extension of its range, Attic lost its purity; which had indeed begun to decline in Aristotle (384–322 B.C.).

F. Koinè or Common dialect ( $\eta\ \kappa\omicron\iota\nu\eta\ \delta\iota\alpha\lambda\epsilon\kappa\tau\omicron\varsigma$ ). The Koinè took its rise in the Alexandrian period, so called from the preëminence of Alexandria in Egypt as a centre of learning until the Roman conquest of the East; and lasted to the end of the ancient world (sixth century A.D.). It was the language used by persons speaking Greek from Gaul to Syria, and was marked by numerous varieties. In its spoken form the Koinè consisted of the spoken form of Attic intermingled with a considerable number of Ionic words and some loans from other dialects, but with Attic orthography. The literary form, a compromise between Attic literary usage and the spoken language, was an artificial and almost stationary idiom from which the living speech drew farther and farther apart.

In the Koinè are composed the writings of the historians Polybius (about 205–about 120 B.C.), Diodorus (under Augustus), Plutarch (about 48–about 120 A.D.), Arrian (about 95–175 A.D.), Cassius Dio (about 150–about 235 A.D.), the rhetoricians Dionysius of Halicarnassus (under Augustus), Lucian (about 120–about 180 A.D.), and the geographer Strabo (about 64 B.C.–19 A.D.). Josephus, the Jewish historian (37 A.D.–about 100), also used the Koinè.

N. 1.—The name Atticist is given to those reactionary writers in the Koinè dialect (e.g. Lucian) who aimed at reproducing the purity of the earlier Attic. The Atticists flourished chiefly in the second century A.D.

N. 2.—Some writers distinguish, as a form of the Koinè, the Hellenistic, a name restricted by them to the language of the New Testament and of the Septuagint (the partly literal, partly tolerably free, Greek translation of the Old Testament made by Grecized Jews at Alexandria and begun under Ptolemy Philadelphus 285–247 B.C.). The word Hellenistic is derived from Ἑλληνιστής (from ἐλληνίζω speak Greek), a term applied to persons not of Greek birth (especially Jews), who had learned Greek. The New Testament is composed in the popular language of the time, which in that work is more or less influenced by classical models. No accurate distinction can be drawn between the Koinè and Hellenistic.

G. Modern Greek appears in literature certainly as early as the eleventh century, when the literary language, which was still employed by scholars and churchmen, was no longer understood by the common people. During the middle ages and until about the time of the Greek Revolution (1821–1831), the language was called Romaic (Ρωμαϊκή), from the fact that the people claimed the name of Romans (Ρωμαῖοι), since the capital of the Roman Empire had been transferred to Constantinople. The natural language of the modern Greeks is the outcome of a continual development of the Koinè in its spoken form. At the present day the dialect of a Greek peasant is still organically the same as that of the age of Demosthenes; while the written language, and to a less extent the spoken language of cultivated Athenians and of those who have been influenced by the University at Athens, have been largely assimilated to the ancient idiom. Modern Greek, while retaining in general the orthography of the classical period, is very different in respect of pronunciation.

LETTERS, SOUNDS, SYLLABLES, ACCENT

THE ALPHABET

1. The Greek alphabet has twenty-four letters.

Form	Name	Equivalents	Sound as in
A α	ἄλφα	alpha	a ǎ : aha ; ā : father
B β	βῆτα	bēta	b beg
Γ γ	γάμμα	gamma	g go

H η	ἦτα	ēta	ē Fr. fête
Θ θ, θ	θῆτα	thēta	th thin
I ι	ιώτα	iōta	i ē : meteor ; ī : police
K κ	κάππα	kappa	c, k kin
Λ λ	λάμβδα	lambda	l let

Π π	πί (πί)	pi	p pet
P ρ	ῥῶ	rho	r run
Σ σ, ς	σίγμα	sigma	s such
T τ	ταῦ	tau	t tar
Υ υ	ῦ (ῦ ψιλόν)	ūpsilon	( u ) y ū : Fr. tu ; ū : Fr. sūr
Φ φ	φί (φί)	phi	ph graphic
X χ	χί (χί)	chi	ch Germ. machen
Ψ ψ	ψί (ψί)	psi	ps gypsum
Ω ω	ὦ (ὦ μέγα)	ōmega	ō note

a. Sigma (not capital) at the end of a word is written s, elsewhere σ. Thus, σεισμός earthquake.

b. The names in parentheses, from which are derived those in current use, were given at a late period, some as late as the Middle Ages. Thus, epsilon means 'simple e,' upsilon 'simple u,' to distinguish these letters from αι, οι, which were sounded like e and u.

c. Labda is a better attested ancient name than lambda.

2. The Greek alphabet as given above originated in Ionia, and was adopted at Athens in 403 B.C. The letters from A to T are derived from Phoenician and have Semitic names. The signs T to Ω were invented by the Greeks. From the Greek alphabet are derived the alphabets of most European countries. The ancients used only the large letters, called majuscules (capitals as E, uncials as Ε); the small letters (minuscules), which were used as a literary hand in the ninth century, are cursive forms of the uncials.

a. Before 403 B.C. in the official Attic alphabet E stood for ε, η, spurious ει (Θ), O for ο, ω, spurious ου (Θ), H for the rough breathing, ΧΣ for Ξ, ΦΣ for Ψ.

Λ was written for γ, and λ for λ. Thus:

ΕΔΟΧΞΕΝΤΕΙΒΟΝΕΙΚΑΙΤΟΙΔΕΜΟΙ ἔδοξεν τῇ βουλῇ καὶ τῷ δήμῳ.
ΧΣΥΛΛΡΑΦΕΞΧΣΥΝΕΛΡΑΦΞΑΝ ξυγγραφῆς ξυνέγραψαν.
ΕΠΙΤΕΔΕΙΟΝΕΝΑΙΑΓΟΤΟΑΡΛΥΠΙΟ ἐπιτήδειον εἶναι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀργυρίου.

3. In the older period there were two other letters: (1) F: φαῦ, vau, called digamma (i.e. double-gamma) from its shape. It stood after ε and was pronounced like w. f was written in Boeotian as late as 200 B.C. (2) Q: κόππα, koppa, which stood after π. Another s, called san, is found in the sign Ϻ, called sampi, i.e. san + pi. On these signs as numerals, see 348.

VOWELS AND DIPHTHONGS

4. There are seven vowels: α, ε, η, ι, ο, υ, ω. Of these ε and ο are always short, and take about half the time to pronounce as η and ω, which are always long; α, ι, υ are short in some syllables, long in others. In this Grammar, when α, ι, υ are not marked as long (ᾱ, ῖ, ΰ) they are understood to be short. All vowels with the circumflex (149) are long. On length by position, see 144.

a. Vowels are said to be open or close according as the mouth is more open

§ D. Vau was in use as a genuine sound at the time the Homeric poems were composed, though it is found in no Mss. of Homer. Many apparent irregularities of epic verse (such as hiatus, 47 D.) can be explained only by supposing that f was actually sounded. Examples of words containing f are: δούτω town, ἀναξ lord, ἀνδάνω please, ἐκω give way (cp. weak), ἐκκοι twenty (cp. viginti), ἑκαστος each, ἐκόν willing, ἔλπομαι hope (cp. voluptas), ἔοικα am like, ἔο, οἶ, ἔ him, ἔξ six, ἔπος word, ἐπον said, ἔργον, ἔρδω work, ἐννύμ clothe, fr. φει-νύμ (cp. vestis), ἐπέω will say (cp. verbum), ἑσπερος evening (cp. vesper), ἰὼν violet (cp. viola), ἔτος year (cp. vetus), ἡδύς sweet (cp. suavis), ἰδεῖν (old) know (cp. videre, wit), ἰς strength (cp. vis), ἰτέα willow (cp. vitis, withy), οἶκος house (cp. vicus), οἶνος wine (cp. vinum), οἱ his (123), ὄχος carriage (cp. vehō, vain). Vau was lost first before o-sounds (ὀπώω see, cp. be-ware). f occurred also in the middle of words: κλέφης glory, ἀλφει always, ὄφεις sheep (cp. ovis), κληῖς key (Dor. κλάτς, cp. clavis), ξένφος stranger, Διφι to Zeus, καλφς beautiful. Cp. 20, 31, 37 D., 122, 123.

or less open in pronouncing them, the tongue and lips assuming different positions in the case of each.

5. A diphthong (δίφθογγος having two sounds) combines two vowels in one syllable. The second vowel is ι or υ. The diphthongs are: αι, ει, οι, ρι, ηι, ψι; αυ, ευ, ου, ηυ, and υι. The ι of the so-called improper diphthongs, αι, ηι, ψι, is written below the line and is called iota subscript. But with capital letters, ι is written on the line (adscript), as ΘΗ ΩΙΔΗΙ = τη̃ ω̃δε̃η̃ or ᾽Ωιδῆ̃ι to the song. All diphthongs are long.

a. In αι, ηι, ψι the ι ceased to be written about 100 B.C. The custom of writing ι under the line is as late as about the eleventh century.

6. ει, ου are either genuine or spurious (apparent) diphthongs (25). Genuine ει, ου are a combination of ε + ι, ο + υ, as in λείπω I leave (cp. λείπω I have left, 35 a), γένει to a race (49), ἀκλουθος follower (cp. κλυθος way). Spurious ει, ου arise from contraction (50) or compensatory lengthening (37). Thus, ἠφιλει he loved, from ἠφιλεε, θεῖς placing from θευτ-s; ἠφιλον they loved from ἠφιλεον, πλουῖ voyage from πλος, δοῖς giving from δουτ-s.

7. The figure of a triangle represents the relations of the vowels and spurious diphthongs to one another.

From α̃ to ι and from ᾱ to ου the elevation of the tongue gradually increases. ω, ο, ου, υ are accompanied by rounding of the lips.

8. Diaeresis. — A double dot, the mark of diaeresis (διαίρεσις separation), may be written over ι or υ when these do not form a diphthong with the preceding vowel: προῖστίμη I set before, νηῖ to a ship.

BREATHINGS

9. Every initial vowel or diphthong has either the rough (῾) or the smooth (῿) breathing. The rough breathing (spiritus asper) is pronounced as h, which is sounded before the vowel; the smooth

5 D. A diphthong ων occurs in New Ionic (ὠντός the same from ὁ αὐτός 68 D., ἐμωτονῶ of myself = ἐμωτονῶ 329 D., θαῶμα = θαύμα wonder). Ionic has ην for Attic ων in some words (Hom. νηῦς ship).

8 D. In poetry and in certain dialects vowels are often written apart which later formed diphthongs: παῖς (or παῖς) boy or girl, Πηλεΐδης son of Peleus, ἐν (or ἐν) well, Ἅιδης (or Ἄιδης) Hades, γένει to a race.

9 D. The Ionic of Asia Minor lost the rough breathing at an early date. So also before ρ (13). Its occurrence in compounds (124 D.) is a relic of the period when breathing (spiritus lenis) is not sounded. Thus, ὄρος hóros boundary, ὄρος óros mountain.

10. Initial υ (υ and ῡ) always has the rough breathing.

11. Diphthongs take the breathing, as the accent (152), over the second vowel: αἰρέω hairéo I seize, αἶρω aíro I lift. But ϕ, η, ψ take both the breathing and the accent on the first vowel, even when ι is written in the line (5): ἔδω = "Αἰδω I sing, ἥδης = "Αἰδης Hades, but Αἰεῖας Aeneas. The writing αἰδῆλος ("Αἰδῆλος) destroying shows that αι does not here form a diphthong; and hence is sometimes written αι̃ (8).

12. In compound words (as in προσᾶν to foresee, from πρό + ὁρᾶν) the rough breathing is not written, though it must often have been pronounced: cp. ἐξέδρα a hall with seats, Lat. exhedra, exedra, πολύιστωρ very learned, Lat. polyhistor. On Attic inscriptions in the old alphabet (2 a) we find ETHOPKON εὐδρκον faithful to one's oath.

13. Every initial ρ has the rough breathing: ρήτωρ orator (Lat. rhetor). Medial ρρ is written ῥῥ in some texts: Πύρρρος Pyrrhus.

14. The sign for the rough breathing is derived from H, which in the Old Attic alphabet (2 a) was used to denote h. Thus, HO ὁ the. After H was used to denote η, one half (†) was used for h (about 300 B.C.), and, later, the other half (‡) for the smooth breathing. From † and ‡ come the forms ' and '̃.

CONSONANTS

15. The seventeen consonants are divided into stops (or mutes), spirants, liquids, nasals, and double consonants. They may be arranged according to the degree of tension or slackness of the vocal chords in sounding them, as follows:

a. Voiced (sonant, i.e. sounding) consonants are produced when the vocal chords vibrate. The sounds are represented by the letters β, δ, γ (stops), λ, ρ (liquids), μ, ν, γ-nasal (19 a) (nasals), and ξ. (All the vowels are voiced.) ρ with the rough breathing is voiceless.

b. Voiceless (surd, i.e. hushed) consonants require no exertion of the vocal chords. These are π, τ, κ, φ, θ, χ (stops), σ (spirant or sibilant), and ψ and ξ.

c. Arranged according to the increasing degree of noise, nearest to the vowels are the nasals, in sounding which the air escapes without friction through the nose; next come the semivowels υ and ι (20 a), the liquids, and the spirant σ, in it was still sounded in the simple word. Hom. sometimes has the smooth where Attic has the rough breathing in forms that are not Attic: 'Αἰδης ("Αἰδης), the god Hades, ἄλτο sprang (ἄλλομαι), ἀμυδῖς together (cp. ἄμα), ἥλιος sun (ἥλιος), ἡώς dawn (ἔως), ἱρηξ hawk (ἱεράξ), ὄρος boundary (ὄρος). But also in ἄμαξα wagon (Attic ἄμαξα). In Laconian medial σ became ' (h): ἐνικᾶε = ἐνίκησε he conquered.

10 D. In Aeolic, υ, like all the other vowels (and the diphthongs), always has the smooth breathing. The epic forms ὔμμες you, ὔμμι, ὔμμε (325 D.) are Aeolic.

sounding which the air escapes with friction through the cavity of the mouth; next come the stops, which are produced by a removal of an obstruction; and finally the double consonants.

16. Stops (or mutes). Stopped consonants are so called because in sounding them the breath passage is for a moment completely closed. The stops are divided into three classes (according to the part of the mouth chiefly active in sounding them) and into three orders (according to the degree of force in the expiratory effort).

	Classes				Orders
Labial (lip sounds)	π	β	φ	Smooth	π	τ	κ
Dental (teeth sounds)	τ	δ	θ	Middle	β	δ	γ
Palatal (palate sounds)	κ	γ	χ	Rough	φ	θ	χ

a. The dentals are sometimes called linguals. The rough stops are also called aspirates (lit. breathed sounds) because they were sounded with a strong emission of breath (26). The smooth stops are thus distinguished from the rough stops by the absence of breathing. ' (h) is also an aspirate. The middle stops owe their name to their position in the above grouping, which is that of the Greek grammarians.

17. Spirants.—There is one spirant: σ (also called a sibilant).

a. A spirant is heard when the breath passage of the oral cavity is so narrowed that a rubbing noise is produced by an expiration.

18. Liquids.—There are two liquids: λ and ρ. Initial ρ always has the rough breathing (13).

19. Nasals.—There are three nasals: μ (labial), ν (dental), and γ-nasal (palatal).

a. Gamma before κ, γ, χ, ξ is called γ-nasal. It had the sound of n in think, and was represented by n in Latin. Thus, ἀγκῦρα (Lat. ancora) anchor, ἀγγελεῖς (Lat. angelus) messenger, σφίγξ sphinx.

b. The name liquids is often used to include both liquids and nasals.

20. Semivowels.—ι, υ, the liquids, nasals, and the spirant σ are often called semivowels. (ι becoming ζ, and ς are also called spirants.)

a. When ι and υ correspond to y and w (cp. minion, persuade) they are said to be unsyllabic; and, with a following vowel, make one syllable out of two. Semivocalic ι and υ are written ι and υ. Initial ι passed into ' (h), as in ἥπαρ liver, Lat. hepar; and into ζ in ἵψος yoke, Lat. jugum (here it is often called the spirant yod). Initial υ was written ς (3). Medial ι, υ before vowels were often lost, as in τιμή-(ι)ω I honour, βο(υ)-ός, gen. of βόϋ-ς ox, cow (43).

b. The form of many words is due to the fact that the liquids, nasals, and σ may fulfil the office of a vowel to form syllables (cp. bridle, even, post). This is expressed by λ, μ, ν, ς, γ, to be read 'syllabic λ,' etc., or 'sonant λ' (see 35 b, c).

21. Double Consonants.—These are ζ, ξ, and ψ. ζ is a combination of σδ (or δς) or & (26). ξ is written for κσ, γσ, χσ; ψ for πσ, βσ, φσ.

ANCIENT GREEK PRONUNCIATION

23. The pronunciation of Ancient Greek varied much according to time and place, and differed in many important respects from that of the modern language. While in general Greek of the classical period was a phonetic language, i.e. its letters represented the sounds, and no heard sound was unexpressed in writing (but see 108), in course of time many words were retained in their old form though their pronunciation had changed. The tendency of the language was thus to become more and more unphonetic. Our current pronunciation of Ancient Greek is only in part even approximately correct for the period from the death of Pericles (429 B.C.) to that of Demosthenes (322); and in the case of several sounds, e.g.  $\zeta$ ,  $\phi$ ,  $\chi$ ,  $\theta$ , it is certainly erroneous for that period. But ignorance of the exact pronunciation, as well as long-established usage, must render any reform pedantic, if not impossible. In addition to, and in further qualification of, the list of sound equivalents in 1 we may note the following:

24. Vowels.—Short  $a$ ,  $i$ ,  $u$  differed in sound from the corresponding long vowels only in being less prolonged;  $e$  and  $o$  probably differed from  $\eta$  and  $\omega$  also in being less open, a difference that is impossible to parallel in English as our short vowels are more open than the long vowels.  $\alpha$ : as a in Germ. hat. There is no true  $\tilde{a}$  in accented syllables in English; the a of idea, aha is a neutral vowel.  $\epsilon$ : as é in bonté; somewhat similar is a in bakery.  $\eta$ : as ê in fête, or nearly as e in where. ɛ: nearly as the first e in meteor, eternal. o: as o in Fr. mot, somewhat like unaccented ö in obey or phonetic (as often sounded). u: as o in Fr. encore. Eng. ō is prevaillingly diphthongal (ou). u was originally sounded as u in prune, but by the fifth century had become like that of Fr. tu, Germ. this. It never had in Attic the sound of u in mute. After u had become like Germ. ü, the only means to represent the sound of the old u (oo in moon) was ou (25). Observe, however, that, in diphthongs, final u retained the old u sound.

25. Diphthongs. — The diphthongs were sounded nearly as follows:

ei as in vein	eu as e (met) + oo (moon)	ωυ as ōh'-oo
oi as in soil	ou as in ourang	υι as in Fr. luit

In ε, η, φ the long open vowels had completely overpowered the i by 100 B.C., so that i ceased to be written (5 a). The i is now generally neglected in pronunciation though it may have still been sounded to some extent in the fourth century B.C. — The genuine diphthongs ei and ou (6) were originally distinct double sounds (ēh'-i, ōh'-oo), and as such were written EI, OT in the Old Attic alphabet (2 a): ΕΡΕΙΔΕ ἐρειδῆ, ΤΟΥΤΟΝ τούτων. The spurious diphthongs ai and ou (6) are digraphs representing the long sounds of simple ε (French é) and original υ. By 400 B.C. genuine ei and ou had become simple single sounds pronounced as ei in vein and ou in ourang; and spurious ai and ou, which had been written E and O (2 a), were now often written EI and OT. After 300 B.C. ai gradually acquired the sound of ei in seize. eu was sounded like eh'-oo, ηυ and ωυ like ēh'-oo, ōh'-oo, pronounced rapidly but smoothly. υι is now commonly sounded as ui in quit. It occurred only before vowels, and the loss of the i in ύς son (43) shows that the diphthongal sound was disliked.

26. Consonants. — Most of the consonants were sounded as in English (1). Before ι, κ, γ, τ, σ never had a sh (or zh) sound heard in Lycia (Λυκία), Asia (Ἀσία). σ was usually like our sharp s; but before voiced consonants (15 a) it probably was soft, like z; thus we find both κόζμος and κόσμος on inscriptions. — ζ was probably = zd, whether it arose from an original σδ (as in Ἀθήνας, from Ἀθηνα(ν)ς-δε Athens-wards), or from dz, developed from dy (as in ζυγόν, from (d)γυγόν, cp. jugum). The z in zd gradually extinguished the d, until in the Hellenistic period (p. 4) ζ sank to z (as in zeal), which is the sound in Modern Greek. — The aspirates φ, θ, χ were voiceless stops (15 b, 16 a) followed by a strong expiration: π<sup>h</sup>, τ<sup>h</sup>, κ<sup>h</sup> as in upheaval, hothouse, backhand (though here h is in a different syllable from the stop). Thus, φείγω was π'εῖγω, θέλω was τ'έλω, έχω was έ-κ'ω. Cp. έφ'ω for επ(ι) 'ω, etc. Probably only one h was heard when two aspirates came together, as in έχθρός (επ'ρός). After 300 A.D. (probably) φ, θ, and χ became spirants, φ being sounded as f (as in Φίλιππος Philip), θ as th in theatre, χ as ch in German ich or loch. The stage between aspirates and spirants is sometimes represented by the writing πφ (= pf), τθ, κχ, which are affricata. — The neglect of the h in Latin representations of φ, θ, χ possibly shows that these sounds consisted of a stop + h. Thus, Πύριπος = Φίλιππος, tus = θός, Aciles = Ἀχιλλεύς. Modern Greek has the spirantic sounds, and these, though at variance with classical pronunciation, are now usually adopted. See also 108.

26 D. Aeolic has σδ for ζ in ῥσδος (δῖος branch). In late Laconian θ passed into σ (σπηλιον = θηπιον wild beast). In Laconian and some other dialects β became a spirant and was written for φ. δ became a spirant in Attic after Christ.

VOWEL CHANGE

27. Quantitative Vowel Gradation.—In the formation and inflection of words a short vowel often interchanges with its corresponding long vowel. Thus

SHORT	α	ε	ι	ο	υ
LONG	η (α after ε, ι, ρ, 31)	η	ι	ω	υ
τίμα-ω	τά-ω	φιλέ-ω	ἰκάνω	δηλό-ω	φύ-σις
I honour	I permit	I love	I come	I show	nature
τίμη-σω	τά-σω	φιλή-σω	ἰκάνω	δηλώ-σω	φύ-μα future	future	future	imperf.	future	growth

28. Difference in quantity between Attic and Epic words is due chiefly either to (1) metrical lengthening, or to (2) different phonetic treatment, as καλός, τινέω become Epic κᾶλός fair, τίνω I pray (37 D. 1), Attic κᾶλός, τίνω.

29. The initial short vowel of a word forming the second part of a compound is often lengthened: στρατηγός general (στρατός army + ἀγειν to lead 887 d).

30. Attic η, α.—Attic has η for original ā of the earlier period, as φήμη report (Lat. fāma). Ionic also has η for original ā. Doric and Aeolic retain original ā (φάμα).

A short syllable under the rhythmic accent ('ictus') is lengthened metrically: (1) in words having three or more short syllables: the first of three shorts (οὐλόμενος), the second of four shorts (υπείροχος), the third of five shorts (ἀπειρία boundless); (2) in words in which the short ictus syllable is followed by two longs and a short (Οὐλύμπιοι). A short syllable not under the rhythmic accent is lengthened when it is preceded and followed by a long; thus, any vowel preceded by φ (πνέω breathe = πνεφω), ι or υ before a vowel (προθυμία zeal).

30 D. 1. Doric and Aeolic retain original ā, as in μάλον apple (cp. Lat. mālum, Att. μήλον), κᾶρυξ herald (Att. κήρυξ). But Doric and Aeolic have original η when η interchanges with ε, as in τίθημι I place, τίθεμεν we place, μάτηρ μήτέρα mother, ποιμήν ποιμὲν shepherd.

2. Ionic has η after ε, ι, and ρ. Thus, γενεή, σκηή, ήμερη.

a. This is true also of the  $\bar{a}$  which is the result of early compensative lengthening, by which  $-ασ-$ ,  $-ασλ-$ ,  $-ασμ-$ , and  $-ασν-$  changed to  $-\bar{α}σ-$ ,  $-\bar{α}λ-$ ,  $-\bar{α}μ-$ , and  $-\bar{α}ν-$ . (See 37 b.) But in a few cases like  $\tau\acute{\alpha}ς$  for  $\tau\acute{\alpha}νς$ , and in  $\pi\acute{\alpha}σα$  for  $\pi\acute{\alpha}νσα$  (113) where the combination  $ανσ$  arose at a later period,  $\bar{a}$  was not changed to  $\eta$ .  $\acute{\upsilon}\phi\acute{\alpha}ναι$  for  $\acute{\upsilon}\phi\eta\acute{\nu}αι$  to weave follows  $\tau\epsilon\rho\acute{\alpha}ναι$  to pierce.

b. Original  $\bar{a}$  became  $\eta$  after  $\nu$ , as  $\phi\acute{\upsilon}\eta$  growth. In some words, however, we find  $\bar{a}$ .

31. In Attic alone this  $\eta$  was changed back to  $\bar{a}$ :

1. When preceded by a  $\rho$ ; as  $\eta\mu\acute{\epsilon}ρ\bar{a}$  day,  $\chi\acute{\omega}ρ\bar{a}$  country. This appears to have taken place even though an  $ο$  intervened: as  $\acute{\alpha}κρ\acute{o}\bar{a}\mu\alpha$  a musical piece,  $\acute{\alpha}\theta\rho\acute{o}\bar{a}$  collected.

EXCEPTIONS: (a) But  $\rho\eta$  was changed to  $\rho\eta$ : as  $\kappa\acute{o}\rho\eta$  for  $\kappaο\rho\eta$  maiden.

(b) Likewise  $\rho\eta$ , when the result of contraction of  $\rho\epsilon\alpha$ , remained: as  $\delta\rho\eta$  from  $\delta\rho\epsilon\alpha$  mountains. (c) And  $\rho\sigma\eta$  was changed to  $\rho\rho\eta$ : as  $\kappa\acute{o}\rho\rho\eta$  for  $\kappa\acute{o}\rho\sigma\eta$  (79) one of the temples.

2. When preceded by  $\epsilon$  or  $\iota$ : as  $\gamma\epsilon\rho\acute{\epsilon}\bar{d}$  generation,  $\sigma\kappa\acute{\iota}\bar{d}$  shadow.

This change takes place even when the  $\eta$  is the result of the contraction of  $\epsilon\alpha$ : as  $\acute{\upsilon}\gamma\iota\bar{a}$  healthy,  $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\delta\epsilon\bar{a}$  lacking, for  $\acute{\upsilon}\gamma\iota\eta$  from  $\acute{\upsilon}\gamma\iota\epsilon(\sigma)\alpha$ ,  $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\delta\epsilon\eta$  from  $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\delta\epsilon\epsilon(\sigma)\alpha$ ; also, if originally a  $\phi$  intervened, as  $\nu\acute{\epsilon}\bar{a}$  for  $\nu\epsilon\phi\bar{a}$  young (Lat. novus).

EXCEPTIONS: Some exceptions are due to analogy:  $\acute{\upsilon}\gamma\iota\eta$  healthy,  $\epsilon\acute{\upsilon}\phi\acute{\upsilon}\eta$  shapely (292 d) follow  $\sigma\alpha\phi\eta$  clear.

32. In the choruses of tragedy Doric  $\bar{a}$  is often used for  $\eta$ . Thus,  $\mu\acute{\alpha}\tau\eta\rho$  mother,  $\psi\acute{\upsilon}\chi\bar{a}$  soul,  $\gamma\bar{a}$  earth,  $\delta\acute{\upsilon}\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\nu\sigma$  wretched,  $\acute{\iota}\beta\bar{a}\nu$  went.

33. The dialects frequently show vowel sounds that do not occur in the corresponding Attic words.

34. Transfer of Quantity. —  $\eta\sigma$ ,  $\eta\alpha$  often exchange quantities, becoming  $\epsilon\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\bar{a}$ . Thus,  $\lambda\eta\acute{o}\varsigma$  (Epic  $\lambda\acute{\alpha}\acute{o}\varsigma$  folk) becomes  $\lambda\epsilon\acute{\omega}\varsigma$ , as  $\pi\acute{o}\lambda\lambda\eta\sigma$  becomes  $\pi\acute{o}\lambda\epsilon\omega\varsigma$  of a city;  $\tau\epsilon\theta\eta\eta\acute{o}\tau\sigma$   $\tau\epsilon\theta\eta\epsilon\acute{\omega}\tau\sigma$  dead;  $\beta\alpha\sigma\iota\lambda\eta\alpha$   $\beta\alpha\sigma\iota\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\bar{a}$  king.

34 D. Often in Ionic:  $\acute{\Lambda}\rho\tau\epsilon\acute{\iota}\delta\epsilon\omega$  from earlier  $\acute{\Lambda}\rho\tau\epsilon\acute{\iota}\delta\bar{\alpha}\sigma$  son of Atreus,  $\iota\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon\omega$  from  $\iota\kappa\acute{\epsilon}\tau\bar{\alpha}\sigma$  suppliant. This  $\epsilon\omega$  generally makes a single syllable in poetry (60). The  $\eta\sigma$  intermediate between  $\bar{\alpha}\sigma$  and  $\epsilon\omega$  is rarely found.

35. Qualitative Vowel Gradation.—In the same root or suffix we find an interchange among different vowels (and diphthongs) similar to the interchange in sing, sang, sung.

a. This variation appears in strong grades and in a weak grade (including actual expulsion of a vowel—in diphthongs, of the first vowel). Thus,  $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega$  I carry,  $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\rho\text{-}\omega$  tribute,  $\phi\acute{\upsilon}\rho$  thief,  $\phi\alpha\rho\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\tau\rho\acute{\alpha}$  quiver,  $\delta\iota\text{-}\phi\rho\text{-}\omega$  chariot (two-carrier),  $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\iota\pi\omega$  I leave,  $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\lambda\omega\iota\pi\text{-}\alpha$  I have left,  $\lambda\iota\pi\text{-}\epsilon\iota\nu$  to leave. The interchange is quantitative in  $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\rho\text{-}\omega$   $\phi\acute{\upsilon}\rho$  (cp. 27).

b. When, by the expulsion of a vowel in the weak grade, an unpronounceable combination of consonants resulted, a vowel sound was developed to render pronunciation possible. Thus,  $\rho\alpha$  or  $\alpha\rho$  was developed from  $\rho$  between consonants, as in  $\pi\alpha\text{-}\tau\rho\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\sigma\iota$  from  $\pi\alpha\tau\rho\text{-}\sigma\iota$  (262); and  $\alpha$  from  $\nu$ , as in  $\alpha\upsilon\tau\acute{o}\text{-}\mu\alpha\text{-}\tau\omega\text{-}\nu$  for  $\alpha\upsilon\tau\omega\text{-}\mu\text{-}\nu$  automaton (acting of its own will), cp.  $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\text{-}\omega$  rage,  $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\mu\omega\text{-}\alpha$  I yearn. So in  $\delta\omega\mu\alpha\iota\nu$  name for  $\delta\omega\mu\text{-}\nu$ ; cp.  $\delta\omega\mu\alpha$ .

c. A vowel may also take the place of an original liquid or nasal after a consonant; as  $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\upsilon\sigma\alpha$  for  $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\upsilon\sigma\mu$ . This  $\rho$ ,  $\lambda$ ,  $\mu$ ,  $\nu$  in b and c is called sonant liquid or sonant nasal.

N. 1. — Relatively few words show examples of all the above series of grades. Some have five grades, as  $\pi\alpha\text{-}\tau\acute{\eta}\rho$ ,  $\pi\alpha\text{-}\tau\acute{\epsilon}\rho\text{-}\alpha$ ,  $\epsilon\upsilon\text{-}\pi\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\tau\omega\rho$ ,  $\epsilon\upsilon\text{-}\pi\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\tau\omega\rho\text{-}\alpha$ ,  $\pi\alpha\text{-}\tau\rho\text{-}\delta\varsigma$ .

N. 2. —  $\epsilon$  and  $\iota$  vary in  $\pi\epsilon\tau\acute{\alpha}\nu\upsilon\mu\iota$   $\pi\acute{\iota}\tau\eta\eta\mu\iota$  spread out.

COMPENSATORY LENGTHENING

37. Compensatory lengthening is the lengthening of a short vowel to make up for the omission of a consonant.

37 D. 1. Ionic agrees with Attic except where the omitted consonant was  $\varsigma$ , which in Attic disappeared after a consonant without causing lengthening. Thus,  $\xi\acute{\epsilon}\iota\nu\omega\varsigma$  for  $\xi\acute{\epsilon}\nu\omega\varsigma$  stranger,  $\epsilon\iota\nu\epsilon\kappa\alpha$  on account of (also in Dem.) for  $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\epsilon\kappa\alpha$ ,  $\omega\delta\omega\varsigma$  boundary for  $\delta\omega\varsigma$ ,  $\kappa\acute{\upsilon}\rho\omega\varsigma$  boy for  $\kappa\acute{\upsilon}\rho\omega\varsigma$ ,  $\mu\acute{\omicron}\nu\omega\varsigma$  alone for  $\mu\acute{\upsilon}\nu\omega\varsigma$ . These forms are also used generally in poetry.

The short vowels

Thus the forms

α	ε	ι	ο	υ
ᾱ	αι	ῑ	ου	ῡ
τάς	ἔμεινα	ἐκλίνα	τόν	δεικνύς
τάς	ἔμεινα	ἐκλίνα	τούς	δεικνύς
the	I remained	I leaned	the	showing

a. Thus are formed κτείνω I kill for κτεν-ιω, φθέρω I destroy for φθερ-ιω, δοῖρα giver for δοτερ-ια, κλίνω I lean for κλιν-ιω, ὀλοφθῶ I lament for ὀλοφυρ-ιω.

b. α becomes η in the σ-aorist of verbs whose stems end in λ, ρ, or ν, when not preceded by ι or ρ. Thus, ἔφαν-σα becomes ἔφην-α I showed, but ἔπεραν-σα becomes ἔπέρᾱνα I finished. So σελήνη moon for σελασ-νη (σέλας gleam).

c. The diphthongs ει and ου due to this lengthening are spurious (8).

38. ᾱ arises from αι upon the loss of its ι (43) in δαί always (from αίει), ἀετός eagle (αίτερς), κλαίει weeps (κλαίει), ἐλαῖα olive-tree (ἐλαῖα, cp. Lat. oliva).

a. This change took place only when αι was followed by φ (αἰφεί, αἰφτερός from ἄφμετος, κλαίφει from κλαφίει, 111, 128) or ι (Θηβαῖς the Thebaïd from Θηβαίς); and only when φ or ι was not followed by ο.

SHORTENING, ADDITION, AND OTHER VOWEL CHANGES

39. Shortening. — A long vowel may be shortened before another long vowel: βασιλέων from βασιλήων of kings, νεῶν from νηῶν of ships, τεθνήκως from τεθνηκώς dead.

40. A long vowel before ι, υ, a nasal, or a liquid + a following consonant was regularly shortened: ναῦς from original ναῦς ship, ἐμίγες from ἐμυγη-ντ were mixed. The long vowel was often introduced again, as Ion. νηὺς ship.

41. Addition. — α, ε, ο are sometimes prefixed before λ, μ, ρ, φ (prothetic vowels). Thus, ἀλειφω anoint with oil, λίπος fat; ἐρυθρός red (cp. Lat. ruber), ἐίκοσι from ε-(φ)είκοσι; ὀμόργνημι wipe; ἐχθές and χθές yesterday, ἐκτίς weasel (κευέη weasel-skin helmet) are doubtful cases.

42. Development. — A medial vowel is sometimes developed from λ or ν between two consonants; thus αλ, λα; αρ, ρα; αν (35 b). Also (rarely) in forms like Ion. βράγχοις = Att. βράγχοις hoarseness.

2. Doric generally lengthens ε and ο to η and ω: ξήνος, ῶρος, κῶρος, μῶνος. So μῶσα muse from μοῖσα for μοῖττῖα, τῶς for τόν the, ἡμί am for ἔσμι, χηλίοι 1000 for χελίοι, Ionic χελίοι. (In some Doric dialects φ drops as in Attic (ξένος, ἦρος); and αν, ον may become ᾱς, ος: δεσπότης lords, τός the.)

3. Aeolic has αἰς, εἰς (a genuine diphth.), οἰς from αν, εν, ον. Thus, παῖσα all ((ρεταν πάσα, Att. πάσα), λδοῖσι they loose from λδοσι). Elsewhere Aeol. prefers assimilated forms (ἔμεινα, ἐκλίνα, ξένος, ἐννεκα, ῥρος, ἔμμι, χέλλιοι). But single ν, ρ are also found, as in κόρᾱ, μόρος. Aeolic has φθέρρω, κλίννω, ὀλοφύρρω; cp. 37 a.

30 D. In the Ionic genitive of Ᾱ stems (214 D. 8) -ων is from -ηων out of -ᾱων. So in Ionic βασιλέα from βασιλῆα king. So even before a short vowel in Hom. ἥρως, ἥρῳ hero (cp. 148 D. 3).

43. Disappearance.—The ι and υ of diphthongs often disappear before a following vowel. Thus, ύός from υός son, βο-ός genitive of βο-ός ox, κοι. ι and υ here became semivowels (ι, υ), which are not written. Cp. 148 D. 3.

44. a. The disappearance of ε before a vowel is often called hypoæresis (ὕφαερσις omission). Thus Ionic νεσός chick for νεσσός, ὄρτή for ἐορτή festival; ἀδεῶς fearlessly for ἀδέως. Here ε was sounded nearly like γ and was not written.

b. The disappearance of a short vowel between consonants is called syncope (συνκοπή cutting up). Thus πίττω fall for πι-πετ-ω, πατρός father for πατέρος. Syncopated forms show the weak grade of vowel gradation (85, 34).

45. Assimilation.—A vowel may be assimilated to the vowel standing in the following syllable: βιβλίον book from βυβλίον (βύβλος papyrus).

a. On assimilation in distracted verbs (ὀρώ see, etc.), see 643 ff., 652.

EUPHONY OF VOWELS

CONTACT OF VOWELS AND HIATUS

46. Attic more than any other dialect disliked the immediate succession of two vowel sounds in adjoining syllables. To avoid such succession, which often arose in the formation and inflection of words, various means were employed: contraction (48 ff.), when the vowels collided in the middle of a word; or, when the succession occurred between two words (hiatus), by crasis (62 ff.), elision (70 ff.), aphæresis (76), or by affixing a movable consonant at the end of the former word (134).

47. Hiatus is usually avoided in prose writers by elision (70 ff.); but in cases where elision is not possible, hiatus is allowed to remain by different writers in different degrees, commonly after short words, such as ᾶ, εἰ, ῆ, καί, μή, and the forms of the article.

43 D. So in Hdt. κείραι for κείραι lies, βαθέα for βαθεῖα deep.

44 a. D. Cp. Hom. θεοί A 18 (one syllable). ι becomes ι in Hom. πόλιος (two syllables) § 567. ι rarely disappears: δήμον for δήμιον belonging to the people M 213.

47 D. Hiatus is allowed in certain cases.

1. In epic poetry: a. After ι and υ: ἄνοι ἀμφίς, σὺ ἐσσι.

c. When a long final syllable is shortened before an initial vowel (weak, or improper, hiatus): ἀκτῆ ἐφ' ὑψηλῇ (— ∪ ∪ — — ∪).

d. When the concurrent vowels are separated by the caesura; often after the fourth foot: ἀλλ' ἄγ' ἐμῶν ὀχέων ἐπιβήσσο, | ὄφρα ἰδῆται; very often between the short syllables of the third foot (the feminine caesura): ας, ἀλλ' ἀκέουσα κἀθησο, | ἐμῷ δ' ἐπιπείθεο μῦθῳ; rarely after the first foot: αὐτὰρ ὁ ἔγνω A 383.

e. Where ς has been lost.

2. In Attic poetry hiatus is allowable, as in 1 c, and after τί what? εὖ well, interjections, καὶ concerning, and in οὐδὲ (μηδὲ) εἰς (for οὐδεῖς, μηδεῖς no one).

CONTRACTION

48. Contraction unites in a single long vowel or diphthong two vowels or a vowel and a diphthong standing next each other in successive syllables in the same word.

a. Occasion for contraction is made especially by the concurrence of vowel sounds which were once separated by  $\sigma$ ,  $\chi$  ( $\varsigma$ ), and  $\xi$  (17, 20 a).

The following are the chief rules governing contraction:

49. (I) Two vowels which can form a diphthong (5) unite to form that diphthong:  $\gamma\epsilon\iota = \gamma\epsilon\upsilon$ ,  $\alpha\iota\delta\omicron\iota = \alpha\iota\delta\omicron\upsilon$ ,  $\kappa\lambda\eta\iota\theta\rho\omicron\nu = \kappa\lambda\eta\theta\rho\omicron\nu$ .

50. (II) Like Vowels. — Like vowels, whether short or long, unite in the common long;  $\epsilon\epsilon$ ,  $\omicron\omicron$  become  $\epsilon\iota$ ,  $\omicron\upsilon$  (6):  $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\rho\alpha\alpha = \gamma\acute{\epsilon}\rho\alpha$ ,  $\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\epsilon\eta\tau\epsilon = \phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\eta\tau\epsilon$ ;  $\acute{\epsilon}\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\epsilon\epsilon = \acute{\epsilon}\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\epsilon\iota$ ,  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\upsilon\mu\epsilon\nu$ .

a.  $\epsilon$  is rarely contracted with  $\iota$  ( $\delta\phi\iota + \iota\delta\iota\omicron\nu = \delta\phi\iota\delta\iota\omicron\nu$  small snake) or  $\upsilon$  with  $\upsilon$  (h son in inscriptions, from  $\upsilon(\iota)\acute{o}\varsigma = \upsilon\acute{o}\varsigma$ , 43).

51. (III) Unlike Vowels. — Unlike vowels are assimilated, either the second to the first (progressive assimilation) or the first to the second (regressive assimilation).

a. An  $\omicron$  sound always prevails over an  $\alpha$  or  $\epsilon$  sound:  $\omicron$  or  $\omega$  before or after  $\alpha$ , and before  $\eta$ , forms  $\omega$ .  $\omicron\alpha$  and  $\omicron\epsilon$  form  $\omicron\nu$  (a spurious diphthong, 6). Thus,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\mu\epsilon\nu = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\mu\epsilon\nu$ ,  $\alpha\acute{\iota}\delta\acute{o}\alpha = \alpha\acute{\iota}\delta\acute{o}\omega$ ,  $\eta\rho\omega\alpha = \eta\rho\omega$ ,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\omega = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\omega$ ,  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\eta\tau\epsilon = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\tau\epsilon$ ; but  $\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{o}\mu\epsilon\nu = \phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{o}\upsilon\mu\epsilon\nu$ ,  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\epsilon\tau\omicron\nu = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\upsilon\tau\omicron\nu$ .

b. When  $\alpha$  and  $\epsilon$  or  $\eta$  come together the vowel sound that precedes prevails, and we have  $\alpha$  or  $\eta$ :  $\delta\rho\alpha\epsilon = \delta\rho\alpha$ ,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\eta\tau\epsilon = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\eta\tau\epsilon$ ,  $\delta\rho\epsilon\alpha = \delta\rho\eta$ .

c.  $\upsilon$  rarely contracts:  $\upsilon + \iota = \upsilon$  in  $\iota\chi\theta\acute{o}\delta\iota\omicron\nu$  from  $\iota\chi\theta\upsilon\acute{\iota}\delta\iota\omicron\nu$  small fish;  $\upsilon + \epsilon$  strictly never becomes  $\upsilon$  (273).

52. (IV) Vowels and Diphthongs. — A vowel disappears before a diphthong beginning with the same sound:  $\mu\acute{\nu}\alpha\alpha\iota = \mu\acute{\nu}\alpha\iota$ ,  $\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\iota\epsilon = \phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\iota$ ,  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\alpha\iota = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\iota$ .

53. A vowel before a diphthong not beginning with the same sound generally contracts with the first vowel of the diphthong; the last vowel, if  $\iota$ , is subscript (5):  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\alpha\iota = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\alpha$ ,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\alpha\iota\mu\epsilon\nu = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\mu\epsilon\nu$ ,  $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\iota\tau\epsilon\alpha\iota = \lambda\acute{\epsilon}\iota\tau\eta$ ,  $\mu\epsilon\mu\eta\gamma\acute{o}\iota\mu\eta\nu = \mu\epsilon\mu\eta\gamma\acute{o}\mu\eta\nu$ .

a. But  $\epsilon + \alpha$  becomes  $\omicron\iota$ :  $\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{o}\alpha\iota = \phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{o}\iota$ ;  $\omicron + \alpha$ ,  $\omicron + \eta$  become  $\omicron\iota$ :  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\alpha\iota = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\iota$ ,  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\eta = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\iota$ .

54. Spurious  $\epsilon\iota$  and  $\omicron\nu$  are treated like  $\epsilon$  and  $\omicron$ :  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\epsilon\iota\nu = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\alpha\nu$ ,  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\epsilon\iota\nu = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\upsilon\nu$ ,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\omicron\nu\epsilon\iota = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\omega\varsigma\epsilon\iota$  (but  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\epsilon\iota = \tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{o}\alpha$  and  $\delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\epsilon\iota = \delta\eta\lambda\acute{o}\iota$ , since  $\epsilon\iota$  is here genuine; 6).

50 D.  $\epsilon + \iota = \acute{\iota}$  occurs chiefly in the Ionic, Doric, and Aeolic dative singular of nouns in  $-\epsilon\varsigma$  (268 D.), as in  $\pi\acute{o}\lambda\upsilon\epsilon\iota = \pi\acute{o}\lambda\acute{\iota}$ ; also in the optative, as in  $\phi\theta\iota-\acute{\iota}-\tau\omicron = \phi\theta\acute{\iota}\tau\omicron$ .

55. (V) Three Vowels.—When three vowels come together, the last two unite first, and the resulting diphthong may be contracted with the first vowel: thus,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\grave{\alpha}$  is from  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\alpha\text{-}\eta$  out of  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\alpha\text{-}\epsilon(\sigma)\alpha\iota$ ; but  $\Pi\epsilon\rho\iota\kappa\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$  from  $\Pi\epsilon\rho\iota\kappa\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\varsigma$ .

56. Irregularities.—A short vowel preceding  $\alpha$  or any long vowel or diphthong, in contracts of the first and second declensions, is apparently absorbed (235, 290):  $\chi\rho\theta\sigma\epsilon\alpha = \chi\rho\theta\sigma\bar{\alpha}$  (not  $\chi\rho\theta\sigma\eta$ ),  $\acute{\alpha}\pi\lambda\delta\alpha = \acute{\alpha}\pi\lambda\bar{\alpha}$  (not  $\acute{\alpha}\pi\lambda\omega$ ), by analogy to the  $\alpha$  which marks the neuter plural,  $\chi\rho\theta\sigma\acute{\epsilon}\alpha\iota\varsigma = \chi\rho\theta\sigma\alpha\iota\varsigma$ . (So  $\eta\mu\acute{\epsilon}\alpha\varsigma = \eta\mu\bar{\alpha}\varsigma$  to show the  $-as$  of the accus. pl.) Only in the singular of the first declension does  $\epsilon\bar{\alpha}$  become  $\eta$  (or  $\bar{\alpha}$  after a vowel or  $\rho$ ):  $\chi\rho\theta\sigma\epsilon\bar{\alpha}\varsigma = \chi\rho\theta\sigma\eta\varsigma$ ,  $\acute{\alpha}\rho\gamma\upsilon\rho\acute{\epsilon}\alpha = \acute{\alpha}\rho\gamma\upsilon\rho\grave{\eta}$ . In the third declension  $\epsilon\epsilon\alpha$  becomes  $\epsilon\bar{\alpha}$  (265);  $\iota\epsilon\alpha$  or  $\upsilon\epsilon\alpha$  becomes  $\iota\bar{\alpha}$  ( $\upsilon\bar{\alpha}$ ) or  $\iota\eta$  ( $\upsilon\eta$ ). See 292 d.

Various special cases will be considered under their appropriate sections.

57. The contraction of a long vowel with a short vowel sometimes does not occur by reason of analogy. Thus,  $\nu\eta\tau$  (two syllables) follows  $\nu\eta\acute{\omicron}\varsigma$ , the older form of  $\nu\epsilon\acute{\omicron}\varsigma$  (275). Sometimes the long vowel was shortened (39) or transfer of quantity took place (34).

58. Vowels that were once separated by  $\sigma$  or  $\iota$  (20) are often not contracted in dissyllabic forms, but contracted in polysyllabic forms. Thus,  $\theta\epsilon(\sigma)\acute{\omicron}\varsigma$  god, but  $\Theta\omicron\upsilon\kappa\upsilon\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\eta\varsigma$  Thucydides ( $\theta\epsilon\acute{\omicron}\varsigma + \kappa\upsilon\delta\omicron\varsigma$  glory).

N. — The forms of ρίγω shiver contract from the stem ρίγω- (yielding ω or φ).

SYNIZESIS

60. In poetry two vowels, or a vowel and a diphthong, belonging to successive syllables may unite to form a single syllable in pronunciation, but not in writing. Thus, βέλεα missiles, πόλεως city, Πηληϊάδεω son of Peleus, χρῡσέω golden. This is called Synizēsis (συνίζησις settling together).

61. Synizesis may occur between two words when the first ends in a long vowel or diphthong. This is especially the case with δή

59 D. Attic contracts more, Ionic less, than the other dialects. The laws of contraction often differ in the different dialects.

1. Ionic (Old and New) is distinguished by its absence of contraction. Thus, πλοῦς for πλοῦς voyage, τείχεα for τείχη walls, ὀστέα for ὀστᾶ bones, δοιδή for δόη song, ἀεργός for ἀργός idle. The Mss. of Hdt. generally leave ee, eh uncontracted; but this is probably erroneous in most cases. Ionic rarely contracts where Attic does not: ὀγδῶκοντα for ὀγδοήκοντα eighty.

2. eo, ew, eou generally remain open in all dialects except Attic. In Ionic ew is usually monosyllabic. Ionic (and less often Doric) may contract eo, eou to eu: εὐ from σέο of thee, φιλεῖσι from φιλέουσι they love.

3. ao, āo, aw, āw contract to ā in Doric and Aeolic. Thus, Ἀτρεῖδᾶ from Ἀτρεῖδᾶο, Dor. γελᾶντι they laugh from γελᾶοντι, χωρᾶν from χωρᾶων of countries. In Aeolic oā = ā in βᾶθοντι (Ion. βωθοντι) = Att. βοηθοντι aiding (dative).

4. Doric contracts ae to η; ah to η; aei, ah to η. Thus, ἄκη from ἄκαι conquer! ὄρη from ὄραει and ὄραη; but āe = ā (ἄλιος from ἄελιος, Hom. ἥελιος sun).

5. The Severer (and earlier) Doric contracts ee to η, and oe, oo to ω. Thus, φλήτω from φιλεῖτω, δηλῶτε from δηλόετε, ἱππω from ἱππο-ο (230 D.); the Milder (and later) Doric and N. W. Greek contract to ει, and ου. Aeolic agrees with the Severer Doric.

now, ἦ or, ἦ (interrog.), μή not, ἐπεὶ since, ἐγώ I, ὦ oh ; as ἦ οὐ O 18.

a. The term synizesis is often restricted to cases where the first vowel is long. Where the first vowel is short, ε, ι were sounded nearly like y ; υ nearly like w. Cp. 44 a. The single syllable produced by synizesis is almost always long.

CRASIS

62. Crasis (κρᾶσις mingling) is the contraction of a vowel or diphthong at the end of a word with a vowel or diphthong beginning the following word. Over the syllable resulting from contraction is placed a ' called corōnis (κορωνίς hook), as τᾶλλα from τὰ ἄλλα the other things, the rest.

a. The coronis is not written when the rough breathing stands on the first word : ὁ ἀνθρωπος = ἀνθρωπος.

b. Crasis does not occur when the first vowel may be elided. (Some editors write τᾶλλα, etc.)

63. Crasis occurs in general only between words that belong together ; and the first of the two words united by crasis is usually the less important ; as the article, relative pronoun (ὁ, ἡ), πρό, καί, ὅ, ὅς. Crasis occurs chiefly in poetry.

a. It is rare in Hom., common in the dialogue parts of the drama (especially in comedy), and frequent in the orators.

64. π, τ, κ become φ, θ, χ when the next word begins with the rough breathing (124) : τῇ ἡμέρᾳ = θῇμέρᾳ the day, καὶ οἱ and the = χοί (68 c).

65. Iota subscript (ι) appears in the syllable resulting from crasis only when the first syllable of the second word contains an ι : ἐγὼ οἶδα = ἐγὼδα I know (but τῷ ὄργάνῳ = τὼργάνῳ the instrument, 68 a).

66. The rules for crasis are in general the same as those for contraction (48 ff.). Thus, τὸ ὄνομα = τοῦνομα the name, ὁ ἐν = οὖν, ὁ ἀνὴρ = ὄνερ oh man, τὸ ἔχων = προῦχων excelling, τὸ ἱμάτιον = θολμάτιον the cloak (64), ἃ ἐγὼ = ἀγὼ.

But the following exceptions are to be noted (67-69) :

67. A diphthong may lose its final vowel : οἱ ἐμοί = οὔμοι, σοὶ ἐστὶ = σοῦστὶ, μὲν ἐστὶ = μὸστὶ. Cp. 43, 68.

68. The final vowel or diphthong of the article, and of τοί, is dropped, and an initial α of the next word is lengthened unless it is the first vowel of a diphthong. The same rule applies in part to καί.

a. Article. — ὁ ἀνὴρ = ἀνῆρ, οἱ ἄνδρες = ἀνδρες, αἱ ἀγαθαί = ἀγαθαί, ἡ ἀλήθεια = ἀλήθεια, τοῦ ἀνδρός = τάνδρός, τῷ ἀνδρὶ = τάνδρῃ, ὁ αὐτός = αὐτός the same, τοῦ αὐτοῦ = ταυτοῦ of the same.

b. τοί. — τοὶ ἄρα = τᾶρα, μέντοι ἄν = μεντᾶν.

c. καί. — (1) αι is dropped : καὶ αὐτός = καὐτός, καὶ οὐ = κοῦ, καὶ ἡ = χη, καὶ οἱ = χοί, καὶ ἡκερῆε = χικερῆε and ye desecch (64). (2) αι is contracted chiefly before ε and ει : καὶ ἐν = κᾶν, καὶ ἐγὼ = κᾶγὼ, καὶ ἐς = κᾶς, καὶ εἴτα = κᾶτα (note however καὶ εἰ = κεἰ, καὶ εἰς = κεἰς) ; also before ο in καὶ ὅτε = χῶτε. καὶ ὅπως = χῶπως (64).

N. — The exceptions in 68 a-c to the laws of contraction are due to the desire to let the vowel of the more important word prevail: ἀνῆρ, not ᾠνῆρ, because of ἀνῆρ.

69. Most crasis forms of ἔρεπος other are derived from ἄρεπος, the earlier form: thus, ὁ ἔρεπος = ἄρεπος, οἱ ἔρεποι = ἄρεποι; but τοῦ ἔρεπου = θούρεπου (64).

ELISION

70. Elision is the expulsion of a short vowel at the end of a word before a word beginning with a vowel. An apostrophe (') marks the place where the vowel is elided.

ἀλλ' (Δ) ἄγε, ἔδωκ' (α) ἐννέα, ἐφ' (= ἐπὶ) αὐτοῦ (64), ἔχοιμ' (ι) ἄν, γένοιτ' (ο) ἄν.

a. Elision is often not expressed to the eye except in poetry. Both inscriptions and the Mss. of prose writers are very inconsistent, but even where the elision is not expressed, it seems to have occurred in speaking; i.e. ᾄδε εἰπε and ᾄδ' εἰπε were spoken alike. The Mss. are of little value in such cases.

71. Elision affects only unimportant words or syllables, such as particles, adverbs, prepositions, and conjunctions of two syllables (except περί, ἀχρι, μέχρι, ὅτι 72 b, c), and the final syllables of nouns, pronouns, and verbs.

a. The final vowel of an emphatic personal pronoun is rarely elided.

72. Elision does not occur in

a. Monosyllables, except such as end in ε (τέ, δέ, γέ).

b. The conjunction ὅτι that (ὅτ' is ὅτε when).

c. The prepositions πρό before, ἀχρι, μέχρι until, and περί concerning (except before ε).

d. The dative singular ending ι of the third declension, and in σι, the ending of the dative plural.

e. Words with final υ.

73. Except ἐστὶ is, forms admitting movable ν (184 a) do not suffer elision in prose. (But some cases of ε in the perfect occur in Demosthenes.)

74. αι in the personal endings and the infinitive is elided in Aristophanes; scarcely ever, if at all, in tragedy; its elision in prose is doubtful. αι is elided in tragedy in αἰμοι alas.

68 D. Hom. has ἀριστος = ὁ ἀριστος, αὐτός = ὁ αὐτός. Hdt. has οὔτερος = ὁ ἔτερος, ᾠνῆρ = ὁ ἀνῆρ, αὐτοί = οἱ αὐτοί, ταῦτό = τὸ αὐτό, ταύτου = τοῦ αὐτοῦ, ἐκταύτου = ἐκ αὐτοῦ, ἀνδρες = οἱ ἀνδρες. Doric has κῆρι = καὶ ἐπὶ.

73 D. Absence of elision in Homer often proves the loss of ν (3), as in κατὰ δαυν X 1. Epic admits elision in σά thy, πά, in the dat. sing. of the third decl., in -σι and -αι in the personal endings, and in -ναι, -σθαι of the infinitive, and (rarely) in μοί, σοί, τοί. ἀνα oh king, and ἀνα = ἀνίστημι rise up, elide only once, ἰδέ and never. Hdt. elides less often than Attic prose; but the Mss. are not a sure guide. περί sometimes appears as πέρ in Doric and Aeolic before words beginning with other vowels than ι. δέξ' δόδρα: A 272. Cp. 148 D. 1.

73 D. In poetry a vowel capable of taking movable ν is often cut off.

75. Interior elision takes place in forming compound words. Here the apostrophe is not used. Thus, οὐδείς no one from οὐδὲ εἷς, καθοράω look down upon from κατὰ ὄραω, μέθιμι let go from μετὰ ἔημι (124).

a. ὅτι, τοῦτ this are derived from the demonstrative pronouns ὅδε, τοῦτο + the deictic ending i (833 g).

b. Interior elision does not always occur in the formation of compounds. Thus, σκηπτοῦχος sceptre-bearing from σκηπτο + ὀχος (i.e. σοχος). Cp. 878.

c. On the accent in elision, see 174.

APHAERESIS (INVERSE ELISION)

76. Aphaeresis (ἀφαίρεσις taking away) is the elision of ε at the beginning of a word after a word ending in a long vowel or diphthong. This occurs only in poetry, and chiefly after μή not, ἥ or. Thus, μή 'νταῦθα, ἥ 'μέ, παρέξω 'μαντῶν, αὕτῃ 'ξήλθεν. In some texts editors prefer to adopt crasis (62) or synizesis (60). α is rarely elided thus.

EUPHONY OF CONSONANTS

77. Assimilation.—A consonant is sometimes assimilated to another consonant in the same word. This assimilation may be either partial, as in ἐ-πέμφ-θην I was sent for ἐ-πεμπ-θην (82), or complete, as in ἐμμένω I abide by for ἐν-μενω (94).

a. A preceding consonant is generally assimilated to a following consonant. Assimilation to a preceding consonant, as in δλλῶμι I destroy for δλ-νῶ-μι, is rare.

DOUBLING OF CONSONANTS

78. Attic has ττ for σσ of Ionic and most other dialects: πράττω do for πράσσω, θάλαττα sea for θάλασσα, κρείττων stronger for κρείσσων.

a. Tragedy and Thucydides adopt σσ as an Ionism. On χαρίεσσα see 114 a.

b. ττ is used for that σσ which is regularly formed by κ or χ and ι (112), sometimes by τ, θ, and ι (114). On ττ in Ἀττικὸς see 83 a.

75 D. Apocope (ἀποκοπή cutting off) occurs when a final short vowel is cut off before an initial consonant. In literature apocope is confined to poetry, but in the prose inscriptions of the dialects it is frequent. Thus, in Hom., as separate words and in compounds, ἀν, κάτ, πάρ (ἀπ, ὅτ rarely) for ἀνά, κατὰ, παρά (ἀπό, ὑπό). Final τ is assimilated to a following consonant (but καθαρεῖν to die, not καθανεῖν, cp. 83 a); so final ν by 91–95. Thus, ἀλλέξαι to pick up, ἀμ πόνον into the strife; κάββαλε throw down, κάλλιπε left behind, κακkelovtes lit. lying down, κανάξαι break in pieces, for καφφάξαι = κατ-φάξαι, κάδ δέ, καδδύσαι entering into, κάπ πεδον through the plain, κάγ γόνον on the knee (κάγ not kang), κάρ ῥόνον in the stream; ὕββάλλειν interrupt, ἀππέμψει will send away. When three consonants collide, the final consonant of the apocopate word is usually lost, as κάκτανε elew, from κάκκτανε out of κατ(ε)κτανε. Apocope occurs rarely in Attic poetry. πῶτ for ποτὶ (= πρὸς in meaning) is frequent in Doric and Boeotian.

N.—The shorter forms may have originated from elision.

79. Later Attic has  $\rho\rho$  for  $\rho\sigma$  of older Attic:  $\thetaάρρος$  courage =  $\thetaάρσος$ ,  $\deltaρρην$  male =  $\deltaρσην$ .

a. But  $\rho\sigma$  does not become  $\rho\rho$  in the dative plural ( $\rhoήτορ-σι$  orators) and in words containing the suffix  $-σις$  for  $-τις$  ( $\deltaρ-σις$  raising).

b. Ionic and most other dialects have  $\rho\sigma$ .  $\rho\sigma$  in Attic tragedy and Thucydides is probably an Ionism. Xenophon has  $\rho\sigma$  and  $\rho\rho$ .

80. An initial  $\rho$  is doubled when a simple vowel is placed before it in inflection or composition. Thus, after the syllabic augment (429),  $\dot{\epsilon}\rhoρει$  was flowing from  $\dot{\rho}\acute{\epsilon}ω$ ; and in  $\kappaαλί-ρροος$  fair flowing. After a diphthong  $\rho$  is not doubled:  $\epsilonϋ-ρροος$  fair flowing.

a. This  $\rho\rho$ , due to assimilation of  $\sigma\rho$  ( $\dot{\epsilon}\rhoρει$ ,  $\kappaαλί-ρροος$ ), or  $\phi\rho$  ( $\dot{\epsilon}\rhoρήθη$  was spoken), is strictly retained in the interior of a word; but simplified to single  $\rho$  when standing at the beginning, i.e.  $\dot{\rho}\acute{\epsilon}ω$  is for  $\rho\rho\acute{\epsilon}ω$ . In composition ( $\epsilonϋ-ρροος$ ) single  $\rho$  is due to the influence of the simplified initial sound.

b. A different  $\rho\rho$  arises from assimilation of  $\rho\sigma$  (79),  $\rho\epsilon$  (sounded like  $\rho\gamma$ , 44, 117), and  $\tau\rho$  (95).

81.  $\beta$ ,  $\gamma$ ,  $\delta$  are not doubled in Attic (cp. 75 D.). In  $\gamma\gamma$  the first  $\gamma$  is nasal (19 a).  $\phi$ ,  $\chi$ ,  $\theta$  are not doubled in Attic; instead, we have  $\pi\phi$ ,  $\kappa\chi$ ,  $\tau\theta$  as in  $\Sigmaαφφά$  Sappho,  $\Βάκχος$  Bacchus,  $\text{'Ατθίς}$  (Attis) Attic. Cp. 83 a.

CONSONANTS WITH CONSONANTS

STOPS BEFORE STOPS

82. A labial or a palatal stop (16) before a dental stop ( $\tau$ ,  $\delta$ ,  $\theta$ ) must be of the same order (16).

a.  $\beta\tau$ ,  $\phi\tau$  become  $\pi\tau$ : ( $\tauετρίβ-ται$ )  $\tauέτρίπται$  has been rubbed from  $\tauρίβ-ω$  rub; ( $\gammaεγραφ-ται$ )  $\gammaέγραπται$  has been written from  $\gammaράφ-ω$  write.  $\gamma\tau$ ,  $\chi\tau$  become  $\κ\tau$ : ( $\lambdaελεγ-ται$ )  $\lambdaέλεκται$  has been said from  $\λέγ-ω$  say; ( $\betaεβρεχ-ται$ )  $\betaέβρεκται$  has been moistened from  $\βρέχ-ω$  moisten.

80 D. In Hom. and even in prose  $\rho$  may remain single after a vowel:  $\dot{\epsilon}\rhoεξε$  did from  $\dot{\rho}\acute{\epsilon}ζω$ ,  $\kappaαλλι-ρροος$ . So  $\iotaσδ-ρροπος$  and  $\iotaσδ-ρροπος$  (by analogy to  $\dot{\rho}\acute{\alpha}πος$ ) equally balanced.  $\epsilon\kappa$  χειρῶν βέλεα  $\dot{\rho}\acute{\epsilon}ον$  M 159 represents  $\betaέλεα \rho\rho\acute{\epsilon}ον$ . Cp. 146 D.

81 D. 1. Hom. has many cases of doubled liquids and nasals:  $\epsilonλλαβε$  took,  $\epsilonλλεκτος$  unceasing,  $\deltaμμορος$  without lot in,  $\phiιλομμειδής$  fond of smiles,  $\deltaγάννιφος$  very snowy,  $\deltaργεννός$  white,  $\epsilonννεπε$  relate. These forms are due to the assimilation of  $\sigma$  and  $\lambda$ ,  $\mu$ , or  $\nu$ . Thus,  $\deltaγά-ννιφος$  is from  $\deltaγα-σνιφος$ , cp.  $sn$  in snow.

2. Doubled stops:  $\theta\tau\tau\iota$  that ( $\sigmaφοδ-τι$ ),  $\delta\pi\piότε$  as ( $\sigmaφοδ-ποτε$ ),  $\epsilonδδεισε$  feared ( $\epsilonδφεσε$ ).

3.  $\sigma\sigma$  in  $\muέσσος$  middle (for  $\muέσος$  medius, 114),  $\deltaπίσσω$  backward, in the datives of  $\sigma$ -stems, as  $\dot{\epsilon}\piεσσι$  (250 D. 2), and in verbs with stems in  $\sigma$  ( $\tauρέσσε$ ).

4. One of these doubled consonants may be dropped without lengthening the preceding vowel:  $\text{'Οδυσεύς}$  from  $\text{'Οδυσσεύς}$ ,  $\muέσος$ ,  $\deltaπίσω$ . So in  $\text{'Αχιλλεύς}$  from  $\text{'Αχιλλεύς}$ . On  $\delta\delta$ ,  $\beta\beta$ , see 75 D. Aeolic has many doubled consonants due to assimilation (37 D. 3).

b.  $\pi\delta$ ,  $\phi\delta$  become  $\beta\delta$ : ( $\kappa\lambda\epsilon\pi$ - $\delta\eta\nu$ )  $\kappa\lambda\epsilon\beta\delta\eta\nu$  by stealth from  $\kappa\lambda\epsilon\pi$ - $\tau$ - $\omega$  steal; ( $\gamma\rho\alpha\phi$ - $\delta\eta\nu$ )  $\gamma\rho\alpha\beta\delta\eta\nu$  scraping from  $\gamma\rho\alpha\phi$ - $\omega$  write (originally scratch, scrape).  $\kappa\delta$  becomes  $\gamma\delta$ : ( $\pi\lambda\epsilon\kappa$ - $\delta\eta\nu$ )  $\pi\lambda\epsilon\gamma\delta\eta\nu$  entwined from  $\pi\lambda\epsilon\kappa$ - $\omega$  plait.

c.  $\pi\theta$ ,  $\beta\theta$  become  $\phi\theta$ : ( $\epsilon\pi\epsilon\mu\pi$ - $\theta\eta\nu$ )  $\epsilon\pi\epsilon\mu\phi\theta\eta\nu$  I was sent from  $\pi\epsilon\mu\pi$ - $\omega$  send; ( $\epsilon\tau\rho\iota\beta$ - $\theta\eta$ )  $\epsilon\tau\rho\iota\phi\theta\eta$  it was rubbed ( $\tau\rho\iota\beta$ - $\omega$  rub).  $\kappa\theta$ ,  $\gamma\theta$  become  $\chi\theta$ : ( $\epsilon\pi\lambda\epsilon\kappa$ - $\theta\eta$ )  $\epsilon\pi\lambda\epsilon\chi\theta\eta$  it was plaited ( $\pi\lambda\epsilon\kappa$ - $\omega$  plait); ( $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\gamma$ - $\theta\eta$ )  $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\chi\theta\eta$  it was said ( $\lambda\epsilon\gamma$ - $\omega$  say).

N. 1. — Cp.  $\epsilon\pi\tau\acute{\alpha}$  seven,  $\epsilon\beta\delta\omicron\mu\omicron\varsigma$  seventh,  $\epsilon\phi\theta\acute{\eta}\mu\epsilon\rho\omicron\varsigma$  lasting seven days.

N. 2. — But  $\epsilon\kappa$  out of remains unchanged:  $\epsilon\kappa\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu$  surrender,  $\epsilon\kappa\theta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$  run out (104).

83. A dental stop before another dental stop becomes  $\sigma$ .

a.  $\tau\tau$ ,  $\tau\theta$  remain unchanged in  $\text{'}\Delta\tau\tau\iota\kappa\acute{o}\varsigma$ ,  $\text{'}\Delta\tau\theta\iota\varsigma$  Attic, and in  $\kappa\alpha\tau\theta\alpha\pi\acute{\iota}\nu$  die (76 D., 81). So  $\tau\tau$  for  $\sigma\sigma$  (78).

84. Any stop standing before a stop other than  $\tau$ ,  $\delta$ ,  $\theta$ , or in other combination than  $\pi\phi$ ,  $\kappa\chi$ ,  $\tau\theta$  (81) is dropped, as in  $\kappa\epsilon\kappa\acute{o}\mu\iota(\delta)$ - $\kappa\alpha$  I have brought.  $\gamma$  before  $\kappa$ ,  $\gamma$ , or  $\chi$  is gamma-nasal (19 a), not a stop.

STOPS BEFORE M

$\delta\mu\mu\alpha$  eye for  $\delta\pi$ - $\mu\alpha$  (cp.  $\delta\pi\omega\pi\alpha$ ),  $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\epsilon\iota\mu\mu\alpha\iota$  I have been left for  $\lambda\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\iota\pi$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  from  $\lambda\epsilon\iota\pi$ - $\omega$  leave,  $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\rho\iota\mu\mu\alpha\iota$  for  $\tau\epsilon\tau\rho\iota\beta$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  from  $\tau\rho\iota\beta$ - $\omega$  rub,  $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\rho\alpha\mu\mu\alpha\iota$  for  $\gamma\epsilon\gamma\rho\alpha\phi$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  from  $\gamma\rho\alpha\phi$ - $\omega$  write,  $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\pi\lambda\epsilon\gamma\mu\alpha\iota$  for  $\pi\epsilon\pi\lambda\epsilon\kappa$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  from  $\pi\lambda\epsilon\kappa$ - $\omega$  plait,  $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon\upsilon\gamma\mu\alpha\iota$  for  $\tau\epsilon\tau\epsilon\upsilon\chi$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  from  $\tau\epsilon\upsilon\chi$ - $\omega$  build.

a.  $\kappa$  and  $\chi$  may remain unchanged before  $\mu$  in a noun-suffix:  $\acute{\alpha}\kappa$ - $\mu\acute{\eta}$  edge,  $\delta\rho\alpha\chi$ - $\mu\acute{\eta}$  drachma.  $\kappa\mu$  remains when brought together by phonetic change (128 a), as in  $\kappa\acute{\epsilon}$ - $\kappa\mu\eta$ - $\kappa\alpha$  am wearied ( $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\mu$ - $\nu\omega$ ).

b.  $\gamma\gamma\mu$  and  $\mu\mu\mu$  become  $\gamma\mu$  and  $\mu\mu$ . Thus,  $\epsilon\lambda\acute{\eta}\lambda\epsilon\gamma\mu\alpha\iota$  for  $\epsilon\lambda\eta\lambda\epsilon\gamma\gamma$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  from  $\epsilon\lambda\eta\lambda\epsilon\chi$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  ( $\epsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\chi$ - $\omega$  convict),  $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\mu\mu\alpha\iota$  for  $\pi\epsilon\pi\epsilon\mu\mu$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  from  $\pi\epsilon\pi\epsilon\mu\pi$ - $\mu\alpha\iota$  ( $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\mu\pi$ - $\omega$  send).

87. On the other hand, since these stops are actually retained in many words, such as  $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\epsilon\tau\mu\acute{o}\varsigma$  oar,  $\pi\acute{o}\tau\mu\omicron\varsigma$  fate,  $\acute{\alpha}\rho\iota\theta\mu\acute{o}\varsigma$  number,  $\sigma$  must be explained as due to analogy. Thus,  $\eta\gamma\upsilon\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$ ,  $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\phi\rho\alpha\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$ ,  $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\pi\epsilon\iota\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$  have taken on the ending  $-\sigma\mu\alpha\iota$  by analogy to  $-\sigma\tau\alpha\iota$  where  $\sigma$  is in place ( $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\phi\rho\alpha\sigma\tau\alpha\iota$  for  $\pi\epsilon\phi\rho\alpha\delta$ - $\tau\alpha\iota$ ). So  $\iota\sigma\mu\epsilon\nu$  we know (Hom.  $\iota\delta\mu\epsilon\nu$ ) follows  $\iota\sigma\tau\epsilon$  you know (for  $\iota\delta$ - $\tau\epsilon$ ).  $\delta\sigma\mu\acute{\eta}$  odor stands for  $\delta\delta$ - $\sigma\mu\eta$ .

88 a. D. So in Hom.  $\iota\kappa\mu\epsilon\rho\omicron\varsigma$  favoring ( $\iota\kappa\acute{\alpha}\nu\omega$ ),  $\acute{\alpha}\kappa\alpha\chi\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\omicron\varsigma$  sharpened.

CONSONANTS BEFORE N

88.  $\beta$  regularly and  $\phi$  usually become  $\mu$  before  $\nu$ . Thus, σεμνός revered for σεβ-νός (σέβ-ομαι), στυμνός firm for στυφ-νός (στύφω contract).

89. γίγνομαι become, γινώσκω know become γίνομαι, γινώσκω in Attic after 300 B.C., in New Ionic, late Doric, etc.

90.  $\lambda\nu$  becomes  $\lambda\lambda$  in ὀλλῦμι destroy for ὀλ-νῦμι.

$\lambda\nu$  is kept in πλανάμαι approach. On sigma before  $\nu$  see 105.

N BEFORE CONSONANTS

91.  $\nu$  before  $\pi$ ,  $\beta$ ,  $\phi$ ,  $\psi$  becomes  $\mu$ : ἐμπίπτω fall into for ἐν-πίπτω, ἐμβάλλω throw in for ἐν-βάλλω, ἐμφαίνω exhibit for ἐν-φαινώ, ἐμψύχος alive for ἐν-ψύχος.

92.  $\nu$  before  $\kappa$ ,  $\gamma$ ,  $\chi$ ,  $\xi$  becomes  $\gamma$ -nasal (19 a): ἐγκαλέω bring a charge for ἐν-καλέω, ἐγγράφω inscribe for ἐν-γραφω, συνγχεώ pour together for συν-χεώ, συνγξύω grind up for συν-ξῖω.

93.  $\nu$  before  $\tau$ ,  $\delta$ ,  $\theta$  remains unchanged. Here  $\nu$  may represent  $\mu$ : βροντή thunder (βρέμ-ω roar).

94.  $\nu$  before  $\mu$  becomes  $\mu$ : ἔμμετρος moderate for ἐν-μετρος, ἐμμένω abide by for ἐν-μενω.

a. Verbs in  $-\nu\omega$  may form the perfect middle in  $-\sigmaμ\alpha\iota$  (489 h); as in πέφασμαι (from φαίνω show) for πεφαν-μαι (cp. πέφαγ-κα, πέφαν-ται).

b. Here  $\nu$  does not become  $\sigma$ ; but the ending  $-\sigmaμ\alpha\iota$  is borrowed from verbs with stems in a dental (as πέφρασμαι, on which see 87).

95.  $\nu$  before  $\lambda$ ,  $\rho$  is assimilated ( $\lambda\lambda$ ,  $\rho\rho$ ): σύλλογος concourse for συν-λογος, συρρέω flow together for συν-ρεω.

96.  $\nu$  before  $\sigma$  is dropped and the preceding vowel is lengthened ( $\epsilon$  to  $\epsilon\alpha$ ,  $\omicron$  to  $\omicron\nu$ , 37): μέλας black for μελαν-ς, εἰς one for ἐν-ς, τιθείς placing for τιθεν(τ)-ς, τούς for τόν-ς.

a. But in the dative plural  $\nu$  before  $-\sigma\iota$  appears to be dropped without compensatory lengthening: μέλασι for μελαν-σι, δαίμοσι for δαιμον-σι divinities, φρεσὶ for φρεν-σι mind. But see 250 N.

CONSONANTS BEFORE Σ

97. With  $\sigma$  a labial stop forms  $\psi$ , a palatal stop forms  $\xi$ .

λείψω shall leave	for λειπ-σω	κήρυξ herald	for κηρυκ-ς
τρίψω shall rub	" τρίβ-σω	ἄξω shall lead	" ἀγ-σω
γράψω shall write	" γραφ-σω	βήξ cough	" βηχ-ς

98 D. Aeolic βόλλα council, Attic βουλή and Doric βωλά (with compensatory lengthening), probably for βολυᾶ.

a. The only stop that can stand before  $\sigma$  is  $\pi$  or  $\kappa$ , hence  $\beta$ ,  $\phi$  become  $\pi$ , and  $\gamma$ ,  $\chi$  become  $\kappa$ . Thus, γραφ-σω, δγ-σω become γραφ-σω, δκ-σω.

98. A dental stop before  $\sigma$  is assimilated ( $\sigma\sigma$ ) and one  $\sigma$  is dropped.

σώμασι bodies for σώμασσι out of σώματ-σι, ποσί feet for ποσσί out of ποδ-σι, ὄρνις birds for ὄρνισσι out of ὄρνιθ-σι. So πάσχω suffer for πασχω out of παθ-σκω (cp. παθ-εῖν and 126).

a.  $\delta$  and  $\theta$  become  $\tau$  before  $\sigma$ : ποδ-σι, ὄρνιθ-σι become ποτ-σι, ὄρνιτ-σι.

99.  $\kappa$  is dropped before  $\sigma\kappa$  in διδα(κ)-σκω teach (διδακ-τός taught).

$\pi$  is dropped before  $\sigma\phi$  in βλα(π)σ-φημί evil-speaking.

100.  $\nu\tau$ ,  $\nu\delta$ ,  $\nu\theta$  before  $\sigma$  form  $\nu\sigma\sigma$  (98), then  $\nu\sigma$ , finally  $\nu$  is dropped and the preceding vowel is lengthened (37).

πάσι all for πανσ-σι out of παντ-σι, τιθεῖσι placing for τιθενσ-σι out of τιθεντ-σι. So γίγας giant for γίγαυτ-ς, λόουσι loosing for λῶουτ-σι, σπείσω shall make libation for σπενδ-σω, πέλομαι shall suffer for πενθ-σομαι (πένθος grief).

101. a. ἐν in, σέν with in composition are treated as follows:

ἐν before  $\rho$ ,  $\sigma$ , or  $\xi$  keeps its  $\nu$ : ἐν-ρυθμός in rhythm, ἐν-σκευάζω prepare, ἐν-ζεύγνυμι yoke in.

σέν before  $\sigma$  and a vowel becomes συσ-: συσ-σφίω help to save.

before  $\sigma$  and a consonant or  $\xi$ , becomes συ-: συ-σκευάζω pack up, σῶ-ζυγος yoked together.

b. πάν, πάλιν before  $\sigma$  either keep  $\nu$  or assimilate  $\nu$  to  $\sigma$ : πάν-σοφος all-wise, παν-σέληνος or πασσέληνος the full moon, παλιν-σκίος thick-shaded, παλίσ-συτος rushing back.

102. On  $\rho\sigma$  see 79 a.  $\lambda\sigma$  is retained in ἄλσος precinct.  $\rho\sigma$ ,  $\lambda\sigma$  may become  $\rho$ ,  $\lambda$  with lengthening of the preceding vowel: ἤγειρα I collected, ἤγγειλα I announced for ἤγερ-σα, ἤγγελ-σα.

Σ BEFORE CONSONANTS

103. Sigma between consonants is dropped: ἤγγελ(σ)θε you have announced, γεγράφ(σ)θαι to have written, ἕκ(σ)μηνος of six months (ἕξ six, μήν month).

a. But in compounds  $\sigma$  is retained when the second part begins with  $\sigma$ : ἐν-σπονδος included in a truce. Compounds in δυσ- ill omit  $\sigma$  before a word beginning with  $\sigma$ : δύσχιστος hard to cleave for δυσ-σχιστος (σχιζώ).

104. ἐξ out of (= ἐκς) drops  $\sigma$  in composition before another consonant, but usually retains its  $\kappa$  unaltered: ἐκτείνω stretch out, ἐκδίδωμι surrender, 98 D. Hom. often retains  $\sigma\sigma$ : ποσσί, δάσσεσθαι for δατ-σασθαι (δατέομαι divide).

103 D. Hom. has ἄρρε incited, κέρρε cut, έέλσαι to coop up, κέλσαι to put to shore.

ἐκφέρει carry out, ἐκθύω sacrifice, ἐκσφίζω preserve from danger (not ἐξφίζω), ἐκμαρθάνω learn thoroughly. Cp. 82 n. 2, 136.

105.  $\sigma$  before  $\mu$  or  $\nu$  usually disappears with compensatory lengthening (37) as in εἰμί for ἐσ-μι. But  $\sigma\mu$  stays if  $\mu$  belongs to a suffix and in compounds of δυσ- ill: δυσ-μενής hostile.

a. Assimilation takes place in Πελοπόννησος for Πέλοπος νήσος island of Pelops, ἐννύμι clothe for ἐσ-νύμι (Ionic εἰνύμι), ἔρρει was flowing for ἐ-σρει, 80 a.

106.  $\sigma\delta$  becomes  $\zeta$  in some adverbs denoting motion towards. Thus, Ἀθή$\nu\alpha\zeta\epsilon$  for Ἀθή- $\nu\alpha\sigma\delta\epsilon$  Athens-wards (26, 342 a).

107. Two sigmas brought together by inflection become  $\sigma$ : βέλεισι for βέλεισ-σι missiles, ἔπεισι for ἔπεισ-σι words (98), τελέσαι for τελέσ-σαι (from τελίω accomplish, stem τελεσ-).

a.  $\sigma\sigma$  when =  $\tau\tau$  (78) never becomes  $\sigma$ .

108. Many of the rules for the euphony of consonants were not established in the classical period. Inscriptions show a much freer practice, either marking the etymology, as σύνμαχος for σύμμαχος ally (94), ἐγκαλεῖν for ἐγκαλεῖν to bring a charge (92), or showing the actual pronunciation (phonetic spelling), as τὸν (= τόν) κακόν (92), τήμ (= τήν) βουλήν (91), τὸλ (= τὸν) λόγον, ἔγδοσις for ἔκδοσις surrendering (104), ἐχφέρω, ἐχθύω for ἐκφέρω, ἐκθύω (104).

CONSONANTS WITH VOWELS

CONSONANTS BEFORE I AND E

109. Numerous changes occur before the semivowel  $\iota$  (=  $y$ , 20) before a vowel. This  $y$  is often indicated by the sign  $\iota$ . In 110-117 (except in 115)  $\iota$  is =  $y$ .

110.  $\lambda\iota$  becomes  $\lambda\lambda$ : ἄλλος for ἄλιος Lat. alius, ἄλλομαι for ἄλιμαι Lat. salio, φύλλον for φυλιον Lat. folium.

111. After  $\alpha\nu$ ,  $\sigma\nu$ ,  $\alpha\rho$ ,  $\sigma\rho$ ,  $\iota$  is shifted to the preceding syllable, forming  $\alpha\iota\nu$ ,  $\sigma\iota\nu$ ,  $\alpha\iota\rho$ ,  $\sigma\iota\rho$ . This is called Epenthesis (ἐπένθεσις insertion).

φαίω show for φαν- $\iota\omega$ , μέλαινα black for μελαν- $\iota\alpha$ , σπαίρω gasp for σπαρ- $\iota\omega$ , μοῖρα fate for μορ- $\iota\alpha$ . (So κλαίω weep for κλαφ- $\iota\omega$  38 a.) On  $\iota$  after  $\epsilon\nu$ ,  $\epsilon\rho$ ,  $\iota\nu$ ,  $\iota\rho$ ,  $\nu\nu$ ,  $\nu\rho$ , see 37 a.

112.  $\kappa\iota$ ,  $\chi\iota$  become  $\tau\tau$  (=  $\sigma\sigma$  78): φυλάττω guard for φυλακ- $\iota\omega$  (cp. φυλακή guard), ταραττώ disturb for ταραχ- $\iota\omega$  (cp. ταραχή disorder).

106 D.  $\sigma$  is assimilated in Aeol. and Hom. ἔμμεναι to be for ἐσ-μεναι (εἶναι), ἄργενός white for ἀργεσ- $\nu\sigma$ , ἑρεβενός dark (ἑρεβες- $\nu\sigma$ , cp. ἑρεβος), ἄμμε we, ἔμμε you (ἄσμε, ἔσμε). Cp. 81 D.

106 D. Aeolic has  $\sigma\delta$  for medial  $\zeta$  in ὕσδος branch (ἕζος), μελίσδω make melody (μελίζω).

107 D. Homer often retains  $\sigma\sigma$ : βέλεισι, ἔπεισι, τελέσαι.

113. (I)  $\tau_i$ ,  $\theta_i$  after long vowels, diphthongs, and consonants become  $\sigma$ ; after short vowels  $\tau_i$ ,  $\theta_i$  become  $\sigma\sigma$  (not =  $\tau\tau$  78), which is simplified to  $\sigma$ .

álēa fate from ait-ia, pāsa all from παντ-ia, mēsos middle (Hom. mēssos) from meθ-iōs (cp. Lat. med-ius), tōsos so great (Hom. tōssos) from tot-iōs (cp. Lat. toti-dem).

a. In the above cases  $\tau_i$  passed into  $\tau\sigma$ . Thus παντ-ia, παντσα, πανσσα, πάνσα (Cretan, Thessalian), pāsa (37 D. 3).

114. (II)  $\tau_i$ ,  $\theta_i$  become  $\tau\tau$  (=  $\sigma\sigma$  78): mélitta bee from μελιτ-ia (cp. μέλι, -itos honey), κορύττω equip from κορυθ-ιω (cp. κόρυς, -υθος helmet).

a. χαρίεσσα graceful and other feminine adjectives in -εσσα are poetical, and therefore do not assume the native Attic prose form in  $\tau\tau$ . But see 299 c.

b.  $\tau\tau$  from  $\tau_i$ ,  $\theta_i$  is due to analogy, chiefly of  $\tau\tau$  from  $\kappa_i$ .

115.  $\tau$  before final  $\iota$  often becomes  $\sigma$ . Thus, τίθησι places for τίθητι; also in πλούσιος rich for πλουτ-ιος (cp. πλούτος wealth).

a.  $\tau$  before final  $\iota$  becomes  $\nu\sigma$ , which drops  $\nu$ : έχουσι they have for έχοντι (37).

116.  $\delta_i$  between vowels and  $\gamma_i$  after a vowel form  $\zeta$ : thus, ελπίζω hope for ελπιδ-ιω, πεζός on foot for πεδ-ιος (cp. πεδ-ίον ground), άρπάζω seize for αρπαγ-ιω (cp. αρπαξ rapacious). After a consonant  $\gamma_i$  forms  $\delta$ : έρδω work from εργ-ιω.

117.  $\pi_i$  becomes  $\pi\tau$ , as in χαλέπτω oppress from χαλεπ-ιω.  $\rho\epsilon$  becomes  $\rho\rho$  in Βορρᾶς from Βορέας Boreas. Here  $\epsilon$  was sounded nearly like  $\gamma$  (44, 81 a).

DISAPPEARANCE OF $\Sigma$ AND $\Phi$

118. The spirant  $\sigma$  with a vowel before or after it is often lost. Its former presence is known by earlier Greek forms or from the cognate languages.

119. Initial  $\sigma$  before a vowel becomes the rough breathing.

επτὰ seven, Lat. septem; ἡμισυς half, Lat. semi-; ισσημι put for σι-στημι, Lat. si-st-o; εἰκόμην I followed from έ-σεπ-ο-μην, Lat. sequor.

a. When retained, this  $\sigma$  is due to phonetic change (as σύν for έύν, σίγη silence for συγή Germ. schweigen), or to analogy. On the loss of  $\epsilon$  see 125 e.

120. Between vowels  $\sigma$  is dropped.

γένους of a race from γενε(σ)-ος, Lat. gener-is, λῶι thou loosest from λόη for λύε(σ)αι, έλθου from έλυε(σ)ο thou didst loose for thyself, τιθεῖω for τιθεῖσθ, είην from έσ-ιη-ν Old Lat. siem, ἀλήθεια truth from ἀληθεσ-ια.

115 D. Doric often retains  $\tau$  (τίθητι, έχοντι).  $\sigma\epsilon$  is not from (Dor.)  $\tau\epsilon$  (cp. Lat. te), nor is  $\sigma\omicron\iota$  from  $\tau\omicron\iota$ .

a. Yet σ appears in some -μ forms (τίθεσαι, ἵστασο), and in θρασύς = θαρός 128. σ between vowels is due to phonetic change (as σ for σσ 107, πλούσιος for πλουσιος 115) or to analogy (as ἐλύσα for ἐλύα, modelled on έδεικ-σ-α), cp. 85 c.

121. σ usually disappears in the aorist of liquid verbs (active and middle) with lengthening of the preceding vowel (87): ἔστειλα I sent for έστειλ-σα, ἔφηνα I showed for έφαν-σα, έφηνατο for έφαν-σατο. Cp. 102.

122. Digamma (3) has disappeared in Attic.

The following special cases are to be noted:

a. In nouns of the third declension with a stem in av, ev, or ou (43). Thus, παῖς child, gen. παιός from νη-ός, βασιλεύς king, gen. βασιλέως from βασιλῆφ-ος (34).

b. In the augment and reduplication of verbs beginning with φ: εἰργαζόμεν I worked from έ-εργαζόμεν, ἴσικα am like from φερικα. Cp. 431, 443.

c. In verbs in ew for εφω: ῥέω I flow, fut. ρέω-σομαι.

123. Some words have lost initial σφ: ἡδύς sweet (Lat. sua(d)vis), οἶ, αἶ, ἔ him, οἶ his (Lat. suius), ἔθος custom, ἥθος character (Lat. con-suetus).

ASPIRATION

124. A smooth stop (π, τ, κ), brought before the rough breathing by elision, crasis, or in forming compounds, is made rough, becoming an aspirate (φ, θ, χ). Cp. 16 a.

ἀφ' οὗ for ἀπ(δ) οὗ, νύχθ' ὀλην for νύκτ(α) ὀλην (82); θάτερον the other (69), θωμάτιον for τὸ ἱμάτιον the cloak (66); μεθίμι let go for μετ(δ) ἱμι, αὐθάδης self-willed from αὐτός self and ἀδεῖν please.

a. A medial rough breathing, passing over ρ, roughens a preceding smooth stop: φρουρός watchman from προ-όρος, φροῦδος gone from πρό and ὀδός, τέττριππος four-horse chariot (τετρ + ἵππος).

125. Two rough stops beginning successive syllables of the same word are avoided in Greek. A rough stop is changed into a smooth stop when the following syllable contains a rough stop.

a. In reduplication (441) initial φ, θ, χ are changed to π, τ, κ. Thus, πέφενγα for φε-φεν-γα perfect of φεύγω flee, τι-θη-μι place for θι-θη-μι, κέ-χη-να for χε-χη-να perf. of χάσκω gape.

b. In the first aorist passive imperative -θι becomes -τι after -θη-, as in λύ-θη-τι for λυ-θη-θι; elsewhere -θι is retained (γνώθι).

c. In the aorist passive, θε- and θυ- are changed to τε- and τυ- in έ-τέ-θην was placed (τίθημι) and έ-τύ-θην was sacrificed (θύω).

d. From the same objection to a succession of rough stops are due ἀμπέχω clothe for ἀμφ-, έκε-χειριά truce for έχε-χειριά (from έχω and χείρ).

126 D. Hom. έβαδε pleased stands for έφβαδε from έσβαδε.

124 D. New Ionic generally leaves π, τ, κ before the rough breathing: ἀπ' οὗ, μετίμι, τεττερον. But in compounds (9 D.) φ, θ, χ may appear: μέθοδος method (μετά after + ὁδός way).

e. The rough breathing, as an aspirate (16 a), often disappeared when either of the two following syllables contains  $\phi$ ,  $\theta$ , or  $\chi$ .  $\xi\chi\omega$  have stands for  $\xi\chi\omega$  =  $\sigma\chi\omega$  (119, cp.  $\xi\sigma\chi\omega$ ), the rough changing to the smooth breathing before a rough stop. The rough breathing reappears in the future  $\xi\xi\omega$ . Cp.  $\iota\sigma\chi\omega$  restrain for  $\iota\sigma\chi\omega$  from  $\sigma\iota\sigma\chi\omega$ ,  $\xi\delta\epsilon\theta\lambda\omega$  foundation, but  $\xi\delta\omega$  seat, Lat. sedes.

f. In  $\theta\rho\iota\zeta$  hair, gen. sing.  $\tau\rho\iota\chi\text{-}\delta\varsigma$  for  $\theta\rho\iota\chi\omega\varsigma$ , dat. pl.  $\theta\rho\iota\zeta\iota$ ;  $\tau\alpha\chi\acute{\upsilon}\varsigma$  swift, comparative  $\tau\alpha\chi\acute{\iota}\omega\upsilon$  (rare) or  $\theta\acute{\alpha}\tau\tau\omega\upsilon$  ( $\theta\acute{\alpha}\sigma\sigma\omega\upsilon$ ) from  $\theta\alpha\chi\acute{\iota}\omega\upsilon$  (112).

g. In  $\tau\alpha\phi\text{-}$  ( $\tau\acute{\alpha}\phi\omega\varsigma$  tomb), pres.  $\theta\acute{\alpha}\pi\text{-}\tau\omega$  bury, fut.  $\theta\acute{\alpha}\psi\omega$ , perf.  $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\theta\alpha\mu\text{-}\mu\alpha\iota$  (85);  $\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\phi\omega$  nourish, fut.  $\theta\rho\acute{\epsilon}\psi\omega$ , perf.  $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\theta\rho\alpha\mu\text{-}\mu\alpha\iota$ ;  $\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\chi\omega$  run, fut.  $\theta\rho\acute{\epsilon}\xi\omega\mu\alpha\iota$ ;  $\tau\rho\upsilon\phi\text{-}$  ( $\tau\rho\upsilon\phi\acute{\eta}$  delicacy), pres.  $\theta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\pi\tau\omega$  enfeeble, fut.  $\theta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\psi\omega$ ;  $\tau\acute{\omicron}\phi\omega$  smoke, perf.  $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\theta\upsilon\mu\text{-}\mu\alpha\iota$ .

N. — The two rough stops remain unchanged in the aorist passive  $\epsilon\theta\rho\acute{\epsilon}\phi\theta\eta\upsilon$  was nourished,  $\epsilon\theta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\phi\theta\eta\upsilon$  was enfeebled,  $\epsilon\phi\acute{\alpha}\nu\theta\eta\upsilon$  was shewn forth,  $\omega\rho\theta\acute{\omega}\theta\eta\upsilon$  was set upright,  $\epsilon\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\chi\theta\eta\upsilon$  was charmed,  $\epsilon\kappa\alpha\theta\acute{\alpha}\rho\theta\eta\upsilon$  was purified; in the perfect inf.  $\pi\epsilon\phi\acute{\alpha}\nu\theta\alpha\iota$ ,  $\kappa\epsilon\kappa\alpha\theta\acute{\alpha}\rho\theta\alpha\iota$ ,  $\tau\epsilon\theta\acute{\alpha}\phi\theta\alpha\iota$ ; in the imperatives  $\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\phi\eta\theta\iota$  be written,  $\sigma\rho\acute{\alpha}\phi\eta\theta\iota$  turn about,  $\phi\acute{\alpha}\theta\iota$  say.

126. Transfer of Aspiration. — Aspiration may be transferred to a following syllable:  $\pi\acute{\alpha}\sigma\chi\omega$  for  $\pi\alpha\theta\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omega$  (cp. 98).

127. Some roots show variation between a final smooth and a rough stop;  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\chi\omega\mu\alpha\iota$  receive,  $\delta\omega\rho\omicron\delta\kappa\omicron\varsigma$  bribe-taker;  $\delta\lambda\epsilon\iota\phi\omega$  anoint,  $\lambda\acute{\iota}\pi\omicron\varsigma$  fat;  $\pi\acute{\lambda}\epsilon\kappa\omega$  weave,  $\pi\lambda\omicron\chi\upsilon\acute{\omicron}\varsigma$  braid of hair; and in the perfect, as  $\eta\chi\alpha$  from  $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega$  lead.

VARIOUS CONSONANT CHANGES

128. Metathesis (transposition). — A vowel and a consonant often exchange places:  $\Pi\nu\acute{\nu}\xi$  the Pnyx, gen.  $\Pi\nu\kappa\acute{\nu}\varsigma$ ,  $\tau\iota\kappa\tau\omega$  bear for  $\tau\iota\text{-}\tau\kappa\text{-}\omega$  (cp.  $\tau\epsilon\kappa\text{-}\epsilon\iota\nu$ ).

a. Transposition proper does not occur where we have to do with  $\alpha\rho$ ,  $\rho\alpha$  =  $\rho$  (20, 35 b) as in  $\theta\acute{\alpha}\rho\sigma\omicron\varsigma$  and  $\theta\rho\acute{\alpha}\sigma\omicron\varsigma$  courage; or with syncope (44 b) due to early shifting of accent, as in  $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\tau\text{-}\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$  fly,  $\pi\tau\epsilon\text{-}\rho\acute{\omicron}\nu$  wing; or where a long vowel follows the syncopated root, as in  $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\mu\text{-}\nu\omega$   $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\tau\mu\eta\text{-}\kappa\alpha$  I have cut.

In  $\beta\acute{\epsilon}\beta\lambda\eta\kappa\alpha$  I have thrown ( $\beta\acute{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\omega$  throw),  $\beta\lambda\eta$  is formed from  $\beta\epsilon\lambda\epsilon$  found in  $\beta\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\text{-}\mu\omicron\nu\omicron$  missile.

129. Dissimilation. — a.  $\lambda$  sometimes becomes  $\rho$  when  $\lambda$  appears in the same word:  $\acute{\alpha}\rho\gamma\alpha\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\varsigma$  painful for  $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\gamma\alpha\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omicron\varsigma$  ( $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\gamma\omicron\varsigma$  pain).

b. A consonant (usually  $\rho$ ) sometimes disappears when it occurs also in the adjoining syllable:  $\theta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\phi\alpha\kappa\tau\omicron\varsigma$  railing for  $\theta\rho\upsilon\text{-}\phi\rho\alpha\kappa\tau\omicron\varsigma$  (lit. fenced by wood).

c. Syllabic dissimilation or syncope occurs when the same or two similar syllables containing the same consonant succeed each other:  $\acute{\alpha}\mu\phi\iota\text{-}\phi\omicron\rho\epsilon\upsilon\varsigma$  a jar for  $\acute{\alpha}\mu\phi\iota\text{-}\phi\omicron\rho\epsilon\upsilon\varsigma$ ,  $\theta\acute{\alpha}\rho\sigma\upsilon\nu\omicron\varsigma$  bold for  $\theta\alpha\rho\sigma\omicron\text{-}\varsigma\upsilon\nu\omicron\varsigma$ . This is often called haplology.

d. See also under 99, 125 a, b.

126 D. Hdt. has  $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\theta\alpha\upsilon\tau\alpha$  there ( $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\tau\alpha\upsilon\theta\alpha$ ),  $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\theta\epsilon\upsilon\tau\epsilon\nu$  thence ( $\acute{\epsilon}\nu\tau\epsilon\upsilon\theta\epsilon\nu$ ),  $\kappa\iota\theta\acute{\omega}\nu$  tunic ( $\chi\iota\tau\acute{\omega}\nu$ ).

127 D. Hom. and Hdt. have  $\alpha\delta\iota\varsigma$  again ( $\alpha\delta\theta\iota\varsigma$ ),  $\omicron\upsilon\kappa\acute{\iota}$  not ( $\omicron\upsilon\chi\acute{\iota}$ ). All the dialects except Attic have  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$ .

128 D. Hom.  $\kappa\rho\alpha\delta\acute{\iota}\eta$ ,  $\kappa\alpha\rho\delta\acute{\iota}\eta$  heart,  $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\rho\tau\iota\sigma\tau\omicron\varsigma$  best ( $\kappa\rho\acute{\alpha}\tau\iota\sigma\tau\omicron\varsigma$ ),  $\beta\acute{\alpha}\rho\delta\iota\omega\tau\omicron\varsigma$  slowest ( $\beta\rho\alpha\delta\acute{\upsilon}\varsigma$ ),  $\delta\rho\alpha\tau\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$  and  $\text{-}\delta\rho\alpha\tau\omicron\varsigma$  from  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega$  flay,  $\xi\text{-}\delta\rho\alpha\kappa\omicron\nu$  saw from  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\rho\kappa\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$  see.

130. Development. —  $\delta$  is developed between  $\nu$  and  $\rho$ , as in ἀνδρός of a man for ἀνρος from ἀνήρ (cp. cinder with Lat. cineris);  $\beta$  is developed between  $\mu$  and  $\rho$  (or  $\lambda$ ), as in μεσημβρία midday, south from μεσ-ημεριά for μεσ-ημεριά from μέσος middle and ἡμέρᾱ day (cp. chamber with Lat. camera).

131. Labials and dentals often correspond: ποινὴ and τίσις retribution; φόνος murder, θείνω strike.  $\pi$  and  $\kappa$ : αἰπόλος goat-herd, βουκόλος ox-herd.  $\pi\tau$  for  $\tau$  is found in πτόλεμος war, πτόλις city for πτόλεμος, πόλις. Cp. Neoptolemus and Ptolemy. So  $\chi\theta$  and  $\chi$  in χθών ground, χαμαί on the ground.

132. The dialects often show consonants different from Attic in the same or kindred words.

FINAL CONSONANTS

133. No consonant except  $\nu$ ,  $\rho$ , or  $\sigma$  (including  $\xi$  and  $\psi$ ) can stand at the end of a Greek word. All other consonants are dropped.

a. Exceptions are the proclitics (179) ἐκ out of, derived from ἐξ (cp. 104, 136), and ὅκ not, of which ὅ is another form (137).

b. Examples of dropped final consonants: σῶμα body for σωματ (gen. σώματος); παῖ oh boy for παιδ (gen. παιδ-ος); γάλα milk for γαλακτ (gen. γάλακτος); φέρειν bearing for φεροντ (gen. φέροντος); κῆρ heart for κηρδ, cp. καρδ-ία; ἄλλο for ἄλλοδ (110), cp. Lat. aliud; ἔφερε-(τ) was carrying, ἔφερον-(τ) were carrying (464 c, e).

c. An original final m preceded by a vowel becomes  $\nu$ , cp. ἵππον with Lat. equum. So ἐν one from ἐμ (349 a), Lat. sem-el, ἅμα once.

130 D. So in Hom. μέ-μβλω-κα have gone from μλω from μολ- in ἐ-μολ-ον (128 a). At the beginning of words this  $\mu$  is dropped; thus, βλώσκω go, βροτός mortal for μβρο-τος (root μρο-, μωρ-, as in mor-tuus). In composition  $\mu$  remains, as in ἄ-μβροτος immortal; but ἄ-βροτος immortal is formed from βροτός.

$\rho$  “  $\sigma$ : (rhotacism): late Laconian, Elean τίρ who, Thessal. Θεόδοτος god-given.

$\nu$  “  $\lambda$ : Doric ἐνθεῖν come.

MOVABLE CONSONANTS

134. Movable N may be added at the end of a word when the next word begins with a vowel. Movable ν may be annexed to words ending in -σι; to the third person singular in -ε; and to ἐστί is.

Thus, πᾶσιν ἔλεγεν ἐκεῖνα he said that to everybody (but πᾶσι λέγουσι ταῦτα), λέγουσιν ἐμοὶ they speak to me (but λέγουσιν μοι), ἔστιν ἄλλος there is another (187 b), Ἀθηναῖσιν ἦσαν they were at Athens.

a. Except ἐστί, words that add ν do not elide their final vowel (73).

b. Verbs in -εω never (in Attic) add -ν to the 3 sing. of the contracted form: εὖ ἐποίησεν αὐτόν he treated him well. But ἦεν went and pluperfects (as ἤδει knew) may add ν.

N. — Movable ν is called ν ἐφελευστικόν (dragging after).

135. Movable ν is usually written at the end of clauses, and at the end of a verse in poetry. To make a syllable long by position (144) the poets add ν before words beginning with a consonant. Prose inscriptions frequently use ν before a consonant.

136. Movable Σ appears in οὕτως thus, ἐξ out of, before vowels, οὕτω, ἐκ before consonants. Thus, οὕτως ἐποίησεν he acted thus but οὕτω ποιεῖ he acts thus; ἐξ ἀγορᾶς but ἐκ τῆς ἀγορᾶς out of the market-place.

a. εὐθεία means straightway, εὐθεῖα straight towards.

137. οὐκ not is used before the smooth breathing, οὐχ (cp. 124) before the rough breathing: οὐκ ὀλίγοι, οὐχ ἡδύς. Before all consonants οὐ is written: οὐ πολλοί, οὐ βέβαιος. Standing alone or at the end of its clause οὐ is written οὐ (rarely οὐκ), as πῶς γὰρ οὐ; for how not? Cp. 180 a.

a. A longer form is οὐχί (Ion. οὐκί) used before vowels and consonants.

b. μηκέτι no longer derives its κ from the analogy of οὐκέτι no longer.

SYLLABLES

138. There are as many syllables in a Greek word as there are separate vowels or diphthongs: thus, ἀ-λή-θει-α truth.

139. The last syllable is called the ultima; the next to the last syllable is called the penult (paen-ultima almost last); the one before the penult is called the antepenult (ante-paen-ultima).

134 D. Hom. has ἐγώ(ν) I, ἄμμ(ν) to us, ὅμμ(ν) to you, σφί(ν) to them. The suffixes -φι and -θε vary with -φιν and -θεν: θεόφι(ν), πρόσθε(ν). Also κέ(ν) = Attic δν, νύ(ν) now. The Mss. of Hdt. avoid movable ν, but it occurs in Ionic inscriptions. Hdt. often has -θε for -θεν (πρόσθε before, ὀπίσθε behind).

136 D. Several adverbs often omit σ without much regard to the following word: ἀμφί about, ἀμφίς (poet.), μέχρι, ἄχρι until (rarely μέχρις, ἄχρως), ἀτρέμας and ἀτρέμα quietly, πολλάκις often (πολλάκι Hom., Hdt.).

140. In pronouncing Greek words and in writing (at the end of the line) the rules commonly observed are these :

a. A single consonant standing between two vowels in one word belongs with the second vowel : ἀ-γω, σο-φί-ζω.

b. Any group of consonants that can begin a word, and a group formed by a stop with μ or ν, and by μν, belongs with the second vowel : τό-πτω, β-γδοος, ἀ-στρον, ἑ-χθος ; πᾶ-γμα, ἔ-θνος, λί-μνη.

c. A group of consonants that cannot begin a word is divided between two syllables : ἀν-θος, ἐλ-πίς, ἑρ-γμα. Doubled consonants are divided : θάλατ-τα.

d. Compounds divide at the point of union : εἰσ-φέρω, προσ-φέρω ; ἀν-άγω, εἰσ-άγω, συν-έχω. (But the ancients often wrote ἀ-νάγω, εἰ-σάγω, προ-σελθεῖν, ἐ-ξάγω, δι-σάρεστος.)

e. σ, when followed by one or more consonants, is either attached to the preceding vowel (δ-ρισ-τος), or, with the consonant, begins the following syllable (δ-ρι-στος). (The ancients were not consistent, and there is evidence for the pronunciation δ-ρις-στος.)

f. The ancients divided ἐκ τούτου as ἐ-κ τού-του. This practice is now abandoned.

141. A syllable ending in a vowel is said to be open ; one ending in a consonant is closed. Thus, in μή-τηρ mother the first syllable is open, the second closed.

QUANTITY OF SYLLABLES

142. A syllable is short when it contains a short vowel followed by a vowel or a single consonant : θε-ός god, ἐ-νό-μι-σα I thought.

143. A syllable is long by nature when it contains a long vowel or a diphthong : χώ-ρᾱ country, δοῦ-λος slave.

144. A syllable is long by position when its vowel precedes two consonants or a double consonant : ἵππος horse, ἐξ out of.

a. One or both of the two consonants lengthening a final syllable by position may belong to the next word : ἄλλος πολίτης, ἄλλο κτῆμα.

b. Length by position does not affect the natural quantity of a vowel. Thus, both λέ-ξω I shall say and λῆ-ξω I shall cease have the first syllable long by position ; but the first vowel is short in λέξω, long in λῆξω.

145. A stop with a liquid after a short vowel need not make the preceding syllable long by position. A syllable containing a short vowel before a stop and a liquid is common (either short or long). When short, such syllables are said to have weak position.

Thus, in δάκρυ, πατήρ, ἑπλον, τέκνον, τί δρᾷ the first syllable is either long or short as the verse requires. In Homer the syllable before a stop with a liquid is usually long ; in Attic it is usually short.

144 D. φ may be one of the two consonants : πρὸς (φ)αῖκον (— — ∪).

a. The stop and the liquid making weak position must stand in the same word or in the same part of a compound. Thus, in ἐκ-λῶω I release the first syllable is always long, but in ἐ-κλυε he heard it is common.

b. β, γ, δ before μ, or ν, and usually before λ, make the preceding syllable long by position. Thus, ἀγνός (—) pure, βιβλίον (—) book.

N. — 'Common' quantity has been explained as due to a difference in syllabic division. Thus, in τῆκρον, the first syllable is closed (τέκ-ρον); while in τῆκρον the first syllable is open (τέ-κρον). Cp. 141.

146. The quantity of most syllables is usually apparent. Thus, syllables

a. with η, ω, or a diphthong, are long.

b. with ε, ο, before a vowel or a single consonant, are short.

c. with ε, ο, before two consonants, or a double consonant, are long.

d. with α, ι, υ, before two consonants, or a double consonant, are long.

N. — But syllables with ε, ο, or α, ι, υ before a stop and a liquid may be short (145). Cp. also 147 c.

147. The quantity of syllables containing α, ι, υ before a vowel or a single consonant must be learned by observation, especially in poetry. Note, however, that α, ι, υ are always long a. when they have the circumflex accent: πᾶς, ὁμῶν.

b. when they arise from contraction (50) or crasis (62): γέρᾱ from γέραα, ἀργός idle from ἀ-εργος (but ἀργός bright), κἀγώ from καὶ ἐγώ.

c. ι and υ are generally short before ξ (except as initial sounds in augmented forms, 435) and α, ι, υ before ζ. Thus, κήρυξ, ἐκπύρεα, πνίξω, ἀρπάζω, ἐλπίζω.

d. αι, υι, and υι are long when ν or ντ has dropped out before s (96, 100).

e. The accent often shows the quantity (163, 164, 170).

148. A vowel standing before another vowel in a Greek word is not necessarily short (as it usually is in classical Latin).

148 D. In Hom. an initial liquid, nasal, and digamma (3) was probably doubled in pronunciation when it followed a short syllable carrying the rhythmic accent. Here a final short vowel appears in a long syllable: ἐν μεγάροις (— — — — —), cp. 28 D. The lengthening is sometimes due to the former presence of σ or ρ before the liquid or nasal: δε λήξειεν — — — — — (cp. ἀλληκτος unceasing for ἀ-σληκτος), τε ῥήξειν — — — — — (cp. ἀρρηκτος unbroken for ἀ-ρρηκτος). (Cp. 80 a, 80 D., 81 D.)

147 D. α, ι, υ in Hom. sometimes show a different quantity than in Attic. Thus, Att. κᾶλός, τίτω, φθάτω, λῶω, ἔημι, Hom. κᾶλός, τίτω, φθάτω (28), and λῶω and ἔημι usually.

148 D. 1. In Hom., and sometimes in the lyric parts of the drama, a syllable ending in a long vowel or diphthong is shortened before an initial vowel: ἄξω ἐλῶν (— — — — —), εὐχεται εἶναι (— — — — —), κλυθί μιν ἀργυρόεξ' (— — — — —). Here ι and υ have become semivowels (20, 43); thus, εὐχετα | γείναι, cp. 67: -ε, -η, -ω were shortened like ᾱ, η, ω. Thus, δασπέτω θυβρω (— — — — —).

2. This shortening does not occur when the rhythmic accent falls upon the final syllable: ἀντιθέω Ὀδυσῆι (— — — — —), ᾗ ἔει (— — — — —).

ACCENT

149. There are three accents in Greek. No Greek accent can stand farther back than the antepenult.

1. Acute (´): over short or long vowels and diphthongs. It may stand on ultima, penult, or antepenult: καλός, δαίμων, ἄνθρωπος.

2. Circumflex (˘): over vowels long by nature and diphthongs. It may stand on ultima or penult: γῆ, θεοῦ, δῶρον, τοῦτο.

3. Grave (`): over short or long vowels and diphthongs. It stands on the ultima only: τὸν ἄνδρα, τὴν τύχην, οἱ θεοὶ τῆς Ἑλλάδος.

150. The acute marks syllables pronounced in a raised tone. The grave is a low-pitched tone as contrasted with the acute. The circumflex combines acute and grave.

151. Accented syllables in Ancient Greek had a higher pitch (τόνος) than unaccented syllables, and it was the rising and falling of the pitch that made Ancient Greek a musical language. The Greek word for accent is προσῳδία (Lat. accentus: from ad-cano), i.e. 'song accompanying words.' Musical accent (elevation and depression of tone) is to be distinguished from quantity (duration of tone), and from rhythmic accent (stress of voice at fixed intervals when there is a regular sequence of long and short syllables).

N.—The accent heard in Modern Greek and English is a stress-accent. Stress is produced by strong and weak expiration, and takes account of accented syllables to the neglect of the quantity of unaccented syllables. Thus, shortly after Christ, ἄνθρωπος was often pronounced like a dactyl, φίλος like a trochee; and πρόσωπον, ἐννέα, were even written πρόσσωπον, ἐννήα.

152. The marks of accent are placed over the vowel of the accented syllable. A diphthong has the accent over its second vowel (τοῦτο), except in the case of capital φ, ψ, ω (as Ἄιδης, 5), where the accent stands before the first vowel.

153. A breathing is written before the acute and grave (αἰ, ῥ), but under the circumflex (ῶ, οῖτος). Accents and breathings are placed before capitals: Ὅμηρος, Ὁραὶ. The accent stands over a mark of diaeresis (8): κλήϊδι.

154. The grave is written in place of a final acute on a word that is followed immediately by another word in the sentence. Thus, μετὰ τὴν μάχην after the battle (for μετά τήν μάχην). It is also sometimes placed on τις, τί (334), to distinguish these indefinite pronouns from the interrogatives τίς, τί.

a. An oxytone (157) changes its acute to the grave when followed by another word, except: (1) when the oxytone is followed by an enclitic (183 a); (2) in τίς, τί interrogative, as τίς οὗτος; who's this? (3) when an elided syllable follows the accented syllable: νόχθ' ὀλην (124), not νόχθ' ὀλην (174 a); (4) when a colon or period follows. (Usage varies before a comma.)

3. The shortening rarely occurs in the interior of a word. Thus, Hom. ἥρωες (— ∪ ∪), αἰδῶν (∪ ∪), in the Attic drama ἀντή (— ∪ —), τοιούτος (∪ — ∪), τοιῶ (∪ —), often written τοιῶ in inscriptions (cp. 43).

155. The ancients regarded the grave originally as belonging to every syllable not accented with the acute or circumflex; and some Mss. show this in practice, e.g. πάγκράτης. Later it was restricted to its use as a substitute for a final acute.

156. The circumflex is formed from the union of the acute and the grave ( $\wedge = \vee$ ), never from  $\vee$ . Thus, παῖς = πίς, εῖ = ἐδ. Similarly, since every long vowel may be resolved into two short units (morae), τῶν may be regarded as = τόων. The circumflex was thus spoken with a rising tone followed by one of lower pitch. μοῦσα, δῆμος are thus = μόδσα, δέμος; μοῦσης, δήμου are = μόδσης, δέμου. In διδούσα (i.e. διδόδσα) compared with διδούς the accent has receded (159) one mora.

a. The whole vowel receives the acute when the second short unit of a vowel long by nature is accented: Δί = Δι.

157. Words are named according to their accent as follows:

Oxytone (acute on the ultima): θήρ, καλός, λελυκός.

Paroxytone (acute on the penult): λύω, λείπω, λελυκός.

Proparoxytone (acute on the antepenult): ἄνθρωπος, παιδεύομεν.

Perispomenon (circumflex on the ultima): γῆ, θεοῦ.

Properispomenon (circumflex on the penult): πράξις, μοῦσα.

Barytone (when the ultima is unaccented, 158): μοῦσα, μήτηρ, πόλεμος.

158. A word is called barytone (βαρὺ-τονος deep-toned, low-toned) when it has no accent on the ultima. All paroxytones, proparoxytones, and properispomena are also barytones.

159. An accent is called recessive when it moves back as far from the end of the word as the quantity of the ultima permits (166). The quantity of the penult is here disregarded (τρέπωμεν). Cp. 178.

160. Oxytone (ὀξύς, sharp + τόνος) means 'sharp-toned,' perispomenon (περισπόμενος) 'turned-around' (circumflectus, 156). Paroxytone and proparoxytone are derived from ὀξύτονος with the prepositions παρά and πρό respectively. Acute corresponds to Lat. acutus (ὀξεῖα, scil. προσφθιά).

161. The invention of the marks of accent is attributed to Aristophanes of Byzantium, librarian at Alexandria about 200 B.C. The use of signs served to fix the correct accentuation, which was becoming uncertain in the third century B.C.; marked the variation of dialect usage; and rendered the acquisition of Greek easier for foreigners. The signs for the accents (and the breathings) were not regularly employed in Mss. till after 600 A.D.

162. The position of the accent has to be learned by observation. But the kind of accent is determined by the following rules.

162 D. 1. Aeolic has recessive (159) accent in all words except prepositions and conjunctions. Thus, σόφος, Ζεύς, i.e. Ζέυς, αἶτος, λίπειν (= λιπεῖν), λίποντος (= λιπόντος), ἄμμες (= ἡμεῖς).

163. The antepenult, if accented, can have the acute only (ἄνθρωπος, βασίλεια queen, οἰκοφύλακος of a house-guard). If the ultima is long, either by nature or by position (144), the antepenult cannot take an accent: hence ἀνθρώπου (176 a), βασιλειᾶ kingdom, οἰκοφύλαξ.

a. Some nouns in -ews and -ewv admit the acute on the antepenult. Thus, the genitive of nouns in -is and -us (πόλεως, πόλεων, ἀστεως), the forms of the Attic declension, as Πλεως (289). So the Ionic genitive in -ew (πολίτew); also some compound adjectives in -ws, as δόσερως unhappy in love, ὑψίκερως lofty antlered. On ᾠτικων see 186.

164. The penult, if accented and long, takes the circumflex when the ultima is short by nature (νῆσος, ταῦτα). In all other cases it has the acute (φόβος, λελυκότος, τούτου).

a. Apparent exceptions are ὅστε, οὔτις, ἥδε (properly ῆδε). See 186.

b. A final syllable containing a vowel short by nature followed by ξ or ψ does not permit the acute to stand on the antepenult (οἰκοφύλαξ); but the circumflex may stand on the penult (κῆρυξ).

165. The ultima, if accented and short, has the acute (ποταμός); if accented and long, has either the acute (λελυκώς), or the circumflex (Περικλῆς).

166. When the ultima is long, the acute cannot stand on the antepenult, nor the circumflex on the penult. Thus, ἄνθρωπον and δῶρον are impossible.

167. When the ultima is short, a word, if accented

- a. on the ultima, has the acute: σοφός.
- b. on a short penult, has the acute: νόμος.
- c. on a long penult, has the circumflex: δῶρον.
- d. on the antepenult, has the acute: ἄνθρωπος.

168. When the ultima is long, a word, if accented

- a. on the ultima, has the acute or the circumflex: ἐγώ, σοφῶς.
- b. on the penult, has the acute: λέων, δαίμων.

169. Final -αι and -οι are regarded as short: μοῦσαι, βούλομαι, πρόπαλαι, ἄνθρωποι. But in the optative -αι and -οι are long (λόσαι, βουλεύοι), as in contracted syllables. So also in the locative οἶκοι at home (but οἶκοι houses).

a. The difference in the quantitative treatment of -αι and -οι depends on an original difference of accentuation that may have vanished in Greek. -αι and

2. Doric regarded final -οι (169) as long (ἀνθρώποι), and probably -αι in nouns (χώραι); made paroxytones the 3 pl. act. of the past tenses (ἔφερον, ἐλθσαν) and such words as παῖδες, γυναῖκες, πτώκαι; made perispomena the gen. masc. pl. of pronouns (τουτων, αλλων) and the gen. fem. pl. of adj. in -ος (ἀμφοτερων). The substitution, in the accus. pl., of -ας and -ους for -ας and -ους, caused no change in the accent (πάσας, ἀμπελος).

-αι, when short, were pronounced with a clipped, or simple, tone; when long, with a drawled, or compound, tone.

170. The quantity of α, ι, υ (147) may often be learned from the accent. Thus, in θάλαττα, ἤμους, πῆχυν, δύναμις, μήνις, the vowel of the last syllable must be short; in φίλος the ι must be short (otherwise φίλος). Cp. 163.

ACCENT AS AFFECTED BY CONTRACTION, CRASIS, AND ELISION

171. Contraction. — If either of the syllables to be contracted had an accent, the contracted syllable has an accent. Thus:

a. A contracted antepenult has the acute: φιλέμενος = φιλούμενος.

b. A contracted penult has the circumflex when the ultima is short; the acute, when the ultima is long: φιλέουσι = φιλοῦσι, φιλέοντων = φιλούντων.

c. A contracted ultima has the acute when the uncontracted form was oxytone: ἔσταως = ἐστώς; otherwise, the circumflex: φιλέω = φιλῶ.

N. 1. — A contracted syllable has the circumflex only when, in the uncontracted form, an acute was followed by the (unwritten) grave (155, 156). Thus, Περικλῆς = Περικλήης, τιμάω = τιμῶ. In all other cases we have the acute: φιλέοντων = φιλοούντων, βεβῶς = βεβώς.

N. 2. — Exceptions to 171 are often due to the analogy of other forms (236 a, 264 e, 279 a, 290 c, 309 a).

172. If neither of the syllables to be contracted had an accent, the contracted syllable has no accent: φίλεε = φίλει, γένει = γένει, περίπλοος = περίπλους. For exceptions, see 236 b.

173. Crasis. — In crasis, the first word (as less important) loses its accent: τάγαθά for τὰ ἀγαθά, τάν for τὰ ἐν, κἀγώ for καὶ ἐγώ.

a. If the second word is a dissyllabic paroxytone with short ultima, it is uncertain whether, in crasis, the paroxytone remains or changes to properispomenon. In this book τοῦργον, τᾶλλα are written for τὸ ἔργον, τὰ ἄλλα; but many scholars write τοῦρρον, τᾶλλα.

174. Elision. — In elision, oxytone prepositions and conjunctions lose their accent: παρ' (for παρὰ) ἑμοῦ, ἀλλ' (for ἀλλὰ) ἐγώ. In other oxytones the accent is thrown back to the penult: πόλλ' (for πολλά) ἔπαθον.

a. Observe that in πόλλ' ἔπαθον the acute is not changed to the grave (164 a, 3). A circumflex does not result from the recession of the accent. Thus, φήμ' (not φήμ') ἐγώ for φημι ἐγώ. τινὰ and ποτέ, after a word which cannot receive their accent (183 d), drop their accent: οὕτω ποτ' ἦν.

ANASTROPHE

175. Anastrophe (ἀναστροφή turning-back) occurs in the case of oxytone prepositions of two syllables, which throw the accent back on the first syllable.

a. When the preposition follows its case: τούτων περί (for περί τούτων) about these things. No other preposition than περί follows its case in prose.

N. 1. — In poetry anastrophe occurs with the other dissyllabic prepositions (except ἀντί, ἀμφί, δί). In Homer a preposition following its verb and separated from it by tmesis (1650) also admits anastrophe (λόσση ἀπο for ἀπολόσση).

N. 2. — When the final vowel of the preposition is elided, the accent is dropped if no mark of punctuation intervenes: χερσὶν ὕψ' ἡμετέρησιν B 374.

b. When a preposition stands for a compound formed of the preposition and ἔστι. Thus, πέρα for πάρεισι it is permitted, ἐν for ἐνεστι it is possible (ἐν is a poetic form of ἐν).

N. — In poetry, πέρα may stand for πάρεισι or πάρειμι; and ἀνα arise! υπ' is used for ἀνίστηθι. Hom. has ἐνι = ἐνεσι.

CHANGE OF ACCENT IN DECLENSION, INFLECTION, AND COMPOSITION

176. When a short ultima of the nominative is lengthened in an oblique case

a. a proparoxytone becomes paroxytone: θάλαττα θαλάττης, ἄνθρωπος ἀνθρώπου.

b. a properispomenon becomes paroxytone: μοῦσα μούσης, δῶρον δώρου.

c. an oxytone becomes perispomenon in the genitive and dative of the second declension: θεός θεοῦ θεῶν θεοῖς.

177. When, for a long ultima, a short ultima is substituted in inflection

a. a dissyllabic paroxytone (with penult long by nature) becomes properispomenon: λύω λύε.

b. a polysyllabic paroxytone (with penult either long or short) becomes proparoxytone: παιδεύω παιδεύε, πλέκω πλέκομεν.

178. In composition the accent is usually recessive (159) in the case of substantives and adjectives, regularly in the case of verbs: βάσις ἀνάβασις, θεός ἄθεος, λυε ἀπόλυε.

a. Proper names having the form of a substantive, adjective, or participle, usually change the accent: Ἑλπις (ἐλπὶς), Γλαῦκος (γλαυκός), Γέλων (γελῶν).

b. Special cases will be considered under Declension and Inflection.

PROCLITICS

179. Ten monosyllabic words have no accent and are closely connected with the following word. They are called proclitics (from προκλίνω lean forward). They are:

The forms of the article beginning with a vowel (ὁ, ἡ, οἱ, αἱ); the prepositions ἐν, εἰς (ἐς), ἐξ (ἐκ); the conjunction εἰ if; ὥς as, that (also a preposition to); the negative adverb οὐ (οὐκ, οὐχ, 137).

180. A proclitic sometimes takes an accent, thus:

- a. οὐ at the end of a sentence: φῆς, ἢ οὐ; do you say so or not? τῷς γὰρ οὐ; for why not? Also οὐ no standing alone.
- b. ἐξ, ἐν, and ἐς receive an acute in poetry when they follow the word to which they belong and stand at the end of the verse: κακῶν ἐξ out of evils Σ 472.
- c. ὡς as becomes ὦς in poetry when it follows its noun: θεὸς ὦς as a god. ὡς standing for οὕτως is written ὦς even in prose (οὐδ' ὦς not even thus).
- d. When the proclitic precedes an enclitic (183 e): ἐν τισι.

N. — ὁ used as a relative (for ὅς, 1105) is written ὁ. On ὁ demonstrative see 1114.

ENCLITICS

181. Enclitics (from ἐγκλίνω lean on, upon) are words attaching themselves closely to the preceding word, after which they are pronounced rapidly. Enclitics usually lose their accent. They are:

- a. The personal pronouns μοῦ, μοί, μέ; σοῦ, σοί, σέ; οὐ, οἶ, ἐ, and (in poetry) σφίσι.
- b. The indefinite pronoun τις, τι in all cases (including ταῦ, τῷ for τινός, τινί, but excluding ἄττα = τινά); the indefinite adverbs ποῦ (or ποθί), πῇ, ποί, ποθέν, ποτέ, πῶ, πῶς. When used as interrogatives these words are not enclitic (τίς, τί, ποῦ (or ποθί), πῇ, ποί, ποθέν, πότε, πῶ, πῶς).
- c. All dissyllabic forms of the present indicative of εἰμι am and φημι say (i.e. all except εἰ and φῆς).
- d. The particles γάρ, τέ, τοί, τέρ; the inseparable -δε in ὅδε, τοσόδε, etc.

N. — Enclitics, when they retain their accent, are called orthotone. See 187.

182. The accent of an enclitic, when it is thrown back upon the preceding word, always appears as an acute: θήρ τε (not θῆρ τε) from θήρ + τέ.

183. The word preceding an enclitic is treated as follows:

- a. An oxytone keeps its accent, and does not change an acute to a grave (154 a): δός μοι, καλόν ἐστι.
- b. A perispomenon keeps its accent: φιλῶ σε, τίμων τινων.
- c. A proparoxytone or properispomenon receives, as an additional accent, the acute on the ultima: ἀνθρωπός τις, ἀνθρωποί τινες, ἡκουσά τινων; σῶσόν με, παῖδες τινες.
- d. A paroxytone receives no additional accent: a monosyllabic enclitic loses its accent (χώρᾱ τις, φίλος μου), a dissyllabic enclitic retains its accent (χώρᾱς τινός, φίλοι τινός) except when its final vowel is elided (174 a).

181 D. Also enclitic are the dialectic and poetical forms μεῦ, σέο, σεῦ, τοί, τέ, and τό (accus. = σέ), ἐο, εὔ, ἐθεν, μίν, ρίν, σφί, σφίν, σφέ, σφωέ, σφωέν, σφένων, σφέας, σφέας and σφέας, σφέα; also the particles νέ or νέν (not νόν), Ἐπίο νέ (κέν), θήν, βά; and Επίο ἐσσί, Ion. εἰς, θου απὲ

N. — Like paroxytones are treated properispomena ending in ξ or ψ when followed by a dissyllabic enclitic: κῆρυξ ἐστὶ; and so probably κῆρυξ τις.

e. A proclitic (179) takes an acute: ἐν τινι, ἐν τινες.

184. Since an enclitic, on losing its accent, forms a part of the preceding word, the writing ἀνθρώπος τις would violate the rule (149) that no word can be accented on a syllable before the antepenult. A paroxytone receives no additional accent in order that two successive syllables may not have the acute (not φάδς ἐστιν).

185. When several enclitics occur in succession, each receives an accent from the following, only the last having no accent: ἐλ ποῦ τις τινα ἴδοι ἐχθρόν ἴφ ever any one saw an enemy anywhere T. 4. 47.

186. Sometimes an enclitic unites with a preceding word to form a compound (cp. Lat. -que, -ve), which is accented as if the enclitic were still a separate word. Thus, οὔτε (not οὔτε), ὥστε, ἐτε, καίτοι, οὕτως, φτίνι, ὠρτινων; usually περ (ὥσπερ); and the inseparable -δε in ὅδε, τοῦδε, ὅκαδε; and -θε and -χι in εἴθε (poetic αἴθε), ναίχι. οὔτε, φτίνι, etc., are not real exceptions to the rules of accent (183, 184).

a. οἷς τε able is sometimes written οἷσ τε. οὐκ οὐν is usually written οὐκ οὐν not therefore, and not therefore? in distinction from οὐκοῦν therefore. ἐγὼ γε and ἐμοὶ γε may become ἐγώ γε, ἐμοί γε.

187. An enclitic retains its accent (is orthotone, cp. 181 N.):

a. When it is emphatic, as in contrasts: ἦ σοὶ ἢ τῷ πατρὶ σου either to you or to your father (ἐμοῦ, ἐμοί, ἐμέ are emphatic: ἐπὶ καὶ ἐμοὶ tell me too), and at the beginning of a sentence or clause: φημί γάρ I say in fact.

b. ἐστὶ is written ἔστι at the beginning of a sentence; when it expresses existence or possibility; when it follows οὐκ, μή, εἰ, ὥς, καί, ἀλλά (or ἄλλ'), τοῦτο (or τοῦτ'); and in ἔστιν οἱ some, ἔστιν ὅτε sometimes. Thus, εἰ ἔστιν οὗτως if it is so, τοῦτο δ' ἔστι that which exists.

c. In the phrases ποτὲ μὲν . . . ποτὲ δέ, τινὲς μὲν . . . τινὲς δέ.

d. After a word suffering elision: πολλοὶ δ' εἰσὶν (for δέ εἰσιν), ταῦτ' ἐστὶ.

e. When a dissyllabic enclitic follows a paroxytone (183 d).

N. 1. — When they are used as indirect reflexives in Attic prose (1228), the pronouns of the third person οὗ and σφίσι are orthotone, οἱ is generally enclitic, while ἐ is generally orthotone.

N. 2. — After oxytone prepositions and ἔνεκα enclitic pronouns (except τις) usually keep their accent (ἐπὶ σοί, not ἐπὶ σοι; ἔνεκα σοῦ, not ἔνεκά σου; ἔνεκά του, not ἔνεκα τοῦ). ἐμοῦ, ἐμοί, ἐμέ are used after prepositions (except πρὸς με; and in the drama ἀμφὶ μοί).

MARKS OF PUNCTUATION

188. Greek has four marks of punctuation. The comma and period have the same forms as in English. For the colon and semicolon Greek has only one sign, a point above the line (·): οἱ δὲ ἡδέως ἐπειθοῦτο· ἐπίστευον γὰρ αὐτῷ and they gladly obeyed; for they trusted him X. A. 1. 2. 2. The mark of interrogation (;) is the same as our semicolon: πῶς γὰρ οὐ; for why not?

PART II

INFLECTION

189. Parts of Speech. — Greek has the following parts of speech: substantives, adjectives, pronouns, verbs, adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions, and particles. In this Grammar noun is used to include both the substantive and the adjective.

190. Inflection is the change in the form of nouns, pronouns, and verbs which indicates their relation to other words in the sentence. Declension is the inflection of substantives, adjectives (including participles), and pronouns; conjugation is the inflection of verbs.

191. Stems. — Inflection is shown by the addition of endings to the stem, which is that part of a word which sets forth the idea; the endings fit the word to stand in various relations to other words in the sentence. The endings originally had distinct meanings, which are now seldom apparent. In verbs they represent the force of the personal pronouns in English; in nouns they often correspond to the ideas expressed by of, to, for, etc. Thus, the stem λῡγο- becomes λῡγο-ς word, the stem λεγο- becomes λέγο-μεν we say. Whether a stem is used as a noun or a verb depends solely on its signification; many stems are used both for nouns and for verbs, as τιμᾶ- in τιμῇ honour, τιμα- in τιμά-ω I honour; ἐλπιδ- in ἐλπι(δ)-ς hope, ἐλπίζω I hope (ἐλπιδ-ιω). The pure stem, that is, the stem without any ending, may serve as a word; as χώρα land, λέγε speak! λόγε oh word!

192. The stem often changes in form, but not in meaning, in nouns and verbs. Thus, the stem of λῡγο-ς word is λῡγο- or λογε-, of πατήρ father is πατερ- (strong stem) or πατρ- (weak stem); of λείπο-μεν we leave is λειπο-, of ἐ-λίπο-μεν we left is λιπο-. The verbal stem is also modified to indicate change in time: τιμή-σο-μεν we shall honour.

193. Roots. — The fundamental part of a word, which remains after the word has been analyzed into all its component parts, is called a root. When a stem agrees in form with a root (as in ποδ-ις, gen. of πούς foot) it is called a root-stem. A root contains the mere idea of a word in the vaguest and most abstract form possible. Thus, the root λεγ, and in another form λογ, contains the idea of saying simply. By the addition of a formative element ο we arrive at the stems λεγο- and λογο- in λέγο-μεν we say, λόγο-ς word (i.e. what is said).

Words are built by adding to the root certain formative suffixes by which the stem and then the word, ready for use, is constructed. Thus, from the root  $\lambda\upsilon$  are formed  $\lambda\acute{o}\sigma\iota\varsigma$  loosing,  $\lambda\acute{o}\tau\rho\omicron\upsilon$  ransom,  $\lambda\upsilon\tau\iota\kappa\acute{o}\varsigma$  able to loose,  $\lambda\upsilon\theta\eta\text{-}\tau\alpha\iota$  to have loosed. The formation of the stem by the addition of suffixes to the root is treated in Part III. The root itself may assume various forms without change of meaning, as  $\lambda\epsilon\gamma$  in  $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omicron\text{-}\mu\epsilon\nu$  we say,  $\lambda\omicron\gamma$  in  $\lambda\acute{\omicron}\gamma\omicron\text{-}\varsigma$  word.

N. — Since Greek is connected with the other Indo-European languages, the roots which we establish in Greek by analysis of a word into its simplest form often reappear in the connected languages (p. 1, A). Thus, the root  $\phi\epsilon\rho$  of  $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega$  I bear is seen in Sanskrit  $bh\bar{a}r\bar{a}m\bar{i}$ , Lat. fero, Germ. ge-bären. The assumption of roots is merely a grammatical convenience in the analysis of word-forms, and their determination is part of comparative grammar. Roots and suffixes as such never existed as independent words in Greek, or indeed in any known period of the parent language from which Greek and the other Indo-European tongues are derived. The theory that all roots are monosyllables is ill supported. As far back as we can follow the history of the Indo-European languages we find only complete words; hence their analysis into component morphological elements is merely a scientific device for purposes of arrangement and classification.

DECLENSION

194. Declension deals with variations of number, gender, and case.

195. Number. — There are three numbers: singular, dual, and plural. The dual speaks of two or a pair, as  $\tau\acute{\omega}$   $\delta\phi\theta\alpha\lambda\mu\acute{\omega}$  the two eyes; but it is not often used, and the plural (which denotes more than one) is frequently substituted for it ( $\omicron\iota$   $\delta\phi\theta\alpha\lambda\mu\omicron\iota$  the eyes).

196. Gender. — There are three genders: masculine, feminine, and neuter.

a. Gender strictly marks sex-distinction. But in Greek, as in German and French, many inanimate objects are regarded as masculine or feminine. Such words are said to have 'grammatical' gender, which is determined only by their form. Words denoting objects without natural gender usually show their grammatical gender by the form of the adjective, as  $\mu\alpha\kappa\rho\acute{\varsigma}$   $\lambda\acute{\omicron}\gamma\omicron\varsigma$  a long speech,  $\mu\alpha\kappa\rho\acute{\alpha}$   $\nu\eta\sigma\omicron\varsigma$  a long island,  $\mu\alpha\kappa\rho\acute{\omicron}\nu$   $\tau\epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\omicron\varsigma$  a long wall.

b. The gender of Greek words is usually indicated by means of the article:  $\delta$  for masculine,  $\eta$  for feminine,  $\tau\acute{o}$  for neuter.

a. A whole class is designated by the masculine:  $\omicron\iota$   $\text{ἀνδρῶν}$  men, i.e. men and women.

b. EXCEPTIONS TO THE RULE OF NATURAL GENDER. — Diminutives in  $\text{-}\iota\omicron\nu$  are neuter (199 d), as  $\tau\acute{o}$   $\text{ἀνδρῶνιον}$  manikin ( $\delta$   $\text{ἀνδρῶν}$  man),  $\tau\acute{o}$   $\text{παιδίον}$  little child (male or female,  $\delta$  or  $\eta$   $\text{ταῖς}$  child),  $\tau\acute{o}$   $\text{γυναικίον}$  little woman ( $\eta$   $\text{γυνή}$  woman). Also the words  $\tauέκνον$ ,  $\text{τέκος}$  child (strictly 'thing born'),  $\text{ἀνδράποδον}$  captiue.

198. Common Gender. — Many nouns denoting persons are either masculine or feminine. Thus, ὁ παῖς boy, ἡ παῖς girl, ὁ θεός god, ἡ θεός (ἡ θεά poet.) goddess. So with names of animals: ὁ βόυς ox, ἡ βόυς cow, ὁ ἵππος horse, ἡ ἵππος mare.

a. Some names of animals have only one grammatical gender without regard to sex, as ὁ λαγώς he-hare or she-hare, ἡ ἀλώπηξ he-fox or she-fox.

199. Gender of Sexless Objects. — The gender of most nouns denoting sexless objects has to be learned by the endings (211, 228, 255) and by observation. The following general rules should be noted.

a. Masculine are the names of winds, months, and most rivers. Thus, ὁ Βορέας the North Wind, ὁ Ἑκατομβαιῶν Hecatombaeion, ὁ Κηφισοῦς Cephissus.

N. — The gender of these proper names is made to correspond to ὁ ἄνεμος wind, ὁ μήν month, ὁ ποταμός river. In the case of winds and rivers the gender may be due in part to personification.

b. Feminine are the names of almost all countries, islands, cities, trees, and plants. Thus, ἡ Ἀττικὴ Attica, ἡ Δῆλος Delos, ἡ Κόρινθος Corinth, ἡ πῖτυς pine, ἡ ἀμπέλος vine. The gender here follows that of ἡ γῆ or ἡ χῶρα land, country, ἡ νῆσος island, ἡ πόλις city, ἡ δρῦς, originally tree in general, but later oak (τὸ δένδρον is the ordinary word for tree).

c. Feminine are most abstract words, that is, words denoting a quality or a condition. Thus, ἡ ἀρετή virtue, ἡ εὐνοία good-will, ἡ ταχύτης swiftness, ἡ ἐλπίς hope.

d. Neuter are diminutives (197 b), words and expressions quoted, letters of the alphabet, infinitives, and indeclinable nouns. Thus, τὸ ὑμεῖς the word 'you,' τὸ γινῶθι σεαυτὸν the saying 'learn to know thyself,' τὸ ἀλφα alpha, τὸ παιδεύειν to educate, τὸ χρεών necessity.

N. — But some names of women end in -ων (197 b): ἡ Γλυκερίων Glycerium.

200. Remarks. — a. Most of the exceptions to 199 a-b are due to the endings; e.g. ἡ Λήθη Lethe, ἡ Στύξ Styx (rivers of the Lower World), τὸ Ἄργος Argos, ὁ Καλυδὼν Calydon, τὸ Ἴλιον Ilium, οἱ Δελφοί Delphi, ὁ λωτός lotus.

b. Change in gender is often associated with change in form: ὁ λύκος he-wolf, ἡ λύκαινα she-wolf, ὁ ποιητής poet, ἡ ποιήτρια poetess, ὁ βίωτος and ἡ βιωτή life, ὁ τρόπος manner, ἡ τροπή route.

c. The gender of one word may influence that of another word of like meaning. Thus ἡ νῆσος island and ἡ λίθος stone are feminine probably because of ἡ γῆ land and ἡ πέτρα rock.

201. Cases. — There are five cases: nominative, genitive, dative, accusative, and vocative. The genitive denotes from as well as of, the dative denotes to or for and also by, with, on, in, at, etc. The other cases are used as in Latin.

a. The genitive, dative, and accusative are called oblique cases to distinguish them from the nominative and vocative.

202. The vocative is often like the nominative in the singular; in the plural it is always the same. Nominative, vocative, and accusative have the same form in neuter words, and always have α in the plural. In the dual there are two forms, one for nominative, accusative, and vocative, the other for genitive and dative.

203. Lost Cases.—Greek has generally lost the forms of the instrumental and locative cases (which have become fused with the dative) and of the ablative. The Greek dative is used to express by, as in βίᾳ, Lat. vī; with, as in λίθοις with stones; and in, on, as in γῇ on the earth. From may be expressed by the genitive: πῶρος Σπάρτης far from Sparta. When the genitive and dative do duty for the ablative, prepositions are often used. Instances of the forms of the lost cases are given in 341.

204. Declensions.—There are three declensions, which are named from the stems to which the case endings are attached.

1. First or Â-declension, with stems in ā } Vowel Declension.
2. Second or O-declension, with stems in o }
3. Third or Consonant declension, with stems in a consonant or in i and u.

The nominative and accusative are alike in the singular and plural of all neuter nouns. The nominative and vocative are alike in the plural.

GENERAL RULES FOR THE ACCENT OF NOUNS

205. Substantives and adjectives accent, in the oblique cases, the same syllable as is accented in the nominative, provided the ultima permits (163); otherwise the following syllable receives the accent.

1 decl. θάλαττα, θαλάττης, θαλάττη, θάλατταν, θάλατται (169), θαλάτταις, θαλάττᾱς.

2 decl. ἀνθρωπος, ἀνθρώπου, ἀνθρώπῳ, ἀνθρωπον, ἀνθρωποι (169), ἀνθρώπων, ἀνθρώποις, ἀνθρώπους.

3 decl. λέων, λέοντος, λέοντι, λέοντα, λέοντες, λέόντων.

Adj.: ἄξιος (287), ἀξία, ἄξιον, ἀξίου, ἀξίᾱς, ἀξίῳ, ἀξία, ἀξίων, ἀξίους.

206. The character of the accent depends on the general laws (167, 168, 176). Thus, ἄκη, ἄκαι (169); δῶρον, δῶρου, δῶρα; σῶμα, σώματος, σωμάτων, σώματα.

207. Oxytones of the first and second declensions are perispomena in the genitive and dative of all numbers: σκιά, σκιᾱς, σκιᾷ, σκιῶν, σκιᾱῖς; θεός, θεοῦ, θεῷ, θεῶν, θεοῖς; φανερός, φανεροῦ, φανερῷ, φανερῶν, φανεροῖς.

208. The genitive plural of all substantives of the first declension has the circumflex on the ω of -ων. Thus, ἄκη ἄκων; θάλαττα θαλατῶν; πολίτης πολιτῶν; νεᾱνίας νεᾱνίων.

209. The fem. gen. plural of adjectives and participles in -ος has the same accent and form as the masculine and neuter. Thus, δικαίος, gen. pl. δικαίων (in all genders); λυόμενος, gen. pl. λυομένων (in all genders).

b. In the vowel declension, -i of the nominative plural is borrowed from the inflection of pronouns (ἐκεῖνο-ι).

SUBSTANTIVES

FIRST DECLENSION (STEMS IN ā)

211. Stems in ā are masculine or feminine. The feminine nominative singular ends in -ā, -ā, or -η; the masculine nominative singular adds -s to the stem, and thus ends in -ās or -ης.

212. Table of the union of the case endings (when there are any) with the final vowel of the stem.

FEM. SING.			MASC. SING.		MASC. FEM. PL.		MASC. FEM. DUAL

Observe the shortening of the stem in vocative singular and plural, in nominative and dative plural, and genitive and dative dual.

213. Accent. — For special rule of accent in the genitive plural, see 208. The genitive plural is always perispomenon since -ων is contracted from -έων derived from original (and Hom.) -άων (51). Final -αι is treated as short (169).

a. The form of the gen. pl. is taken from the pronominal adjective, i.e. (Hom.) θεδων goddesses follows the analogy of (Hom.) τάων (332 D.) for τᾶ-(σ)ων, cf. Lat. istā-rum deā-rum.

215. Dative Plural. — The ending -αῖσι(ν) occurs in Attic poetry (δικαῖσι from δίκη right, δεσπόταισι from δεσπότης lord).

a. Attic inscriptions to 420 B.C. have -ησι (written -ησι), -ησι, and (after ε, ι, ρ) -ρσι (written -αῖσι) and -ᾱσι. Thus, δραχμήσι and δραχμήσι drachmas, ταμίαισι and ταμίᾱσι stewards. -ησι and -ᾱσι are properly endings of the locative case (341).

214 D. 1. For η, Doric and Aeolic have original ā; thus, ἄκᾱ, ἄκᾱς, ἄκᾱ, ἄκᾱν; πολιτᾱς, κριτᾱς, Ἄτρειδᾱς.

2. Ionic has η for the ā of Attic even after ε, ι, and ρ; thus, γενή, οίκη, ἀγορή, μοίρη, μοίρη (nom. μοῖρᾱ), νηνίης. Thus, ἀγορή, -ῆς, -ῆ, -ῆν; νηνίης, -ου, -η, -ην. But Hom. has θεά goddess, Ἑρμῆας Hermes.

3. The dialects admit -ᾱ in the nom. sing. less often than does Attic. Thus, Ionic πρόμῃ stern, κνίσῃ saunter (Att. πρόμῃ, κνίσῃ), Dor. τόλμᾱ daring. Ionic has η for ā in the abstracts in -είη, -οίη (ἀληθείη truth, εὐνοίη good-will). Hom. has νύμφᾱ oh maiden from νύμφη.

4. Nom. sing. masc. — Hom. has -τα for -της in ἵππῆτα horseman, ἵππηλάτα driver of horses, νεφεληγερέτα cloud-collector, κυανοχαῖτα dark-haired; and, with recessive accent, μητρετα counsellor. So in the adj. εὐρόστω far-sounding. Cp. Lat. poeta, scriba.

5. Gen. sing. masc. — (a) -ᾱο, the original form from ā-(i)o, is used by Hom. (Ἀτρειδᾱο). It contracts in Aeolic and Doric to -ᾱ (Ἀτρειδᾱ).

(b) -εω, from ηο (= ᾱο) by 34, is also used by Hom., who makes it a single syllable by synizesis (60), as in Ἀτρειδεω. Hdt. has -εω, as πολίτεω (163 a).

(c) -ε in Hom. after a vowel, Βορέω (nom. Βορέης).

6. Accus. sing. masc. — In proper names Hdt. often has -εα borrowed from s stems (264), as Μιλτιάδεα for Μιλτιάδεω.

7. Dual. — Hom. has the nom. dual of masculines only. In the gen. and dat. Hom. has -αιν and also -αιν.

8. Gen. plur. — (a) -ᾱων, the original form, occurs in Hom. (μουσᾱων, ἀγορᾱων). In Aeolic and Doric -ᾱων contracts to (b) -ᾱν (ἀγορᾱν). The Doric -ᾱν is found also in the choral songs of the drama (πετρᾱν rocks). (c) -έων, the Ionic form, appears in Homer, who usually makes it a single syllable by synizesis (60) as in βουλέων, from βουλή plan. -έων is from -ήων, Ionic for -ᾱων. (d) -ᾱν in Hom. generally after vowels (κλισιᾱν, from κλισίη hut).

9. Dat. plur. : -ησι(ν), -ησι, generally before vowels, and (rarely) -αῖσι in Hom. Ionic has -ησι, Aeolic -αῖσι(ν), -αῖσι, Doric -αῖσι.

10. Accus. plur. : -ασι, -ᾱσι, ᾱσι in various Doric dialects, -αῖσι in Aeolic.

ἑρᾶ season, ἡμέρᾶ day, σκιά shadow, μάχη battle, τέχνη art, γνώμη judgment, τιμή honor, ἀρετή virtue, μουσα muse, πρῶρα prow, ἄμαξα wagon, δόξα opinion.

217. RULES.—a. If the nominative singular ends in alpha preceded by a vowel (σκιά shadow) or ρ (μοῖρα), alpha is kept throughout the singular.

b. If the nominative singular ends in alpha preceded by a consonant not ρ, alpha is changed to η in the genitive and dative singular.

c. If the nominative singular ends in η, η is kept in all the cases of the singular.

d. When the genitive singular has -ης, final α of the nominative singular is always short; when the genitive singular has -ᾶς, the final α is generally long.

Feminines fall into two classes:

218. (I) Feminines with α or η in all the cases of the singular.

After ε, ι, or ρ, α appears in all the cases of the singular, as in γερὰ race, οἰκία house, χώρα land. Otherwise, η throughout the singular, as νίκη victory.

a. After ο, we find both α and η, as στοά porch, βοή shout, ἀκοή hearing, ῥοή current, ρόα pomegranate. After ρ we have η in κόρη girl, δέρη neck (31).

219. (II) Feminines with ᾶ in the nominative, accusative, and vocative singular. The quantity of the vowel is generally shown by the accent (163, 164).

In this class are included:

1. Substantives having σ (ξ, ψ, ττ, or σσ), λ, λλ, or αιν before the final α show ᾶ in nom., accus., and voc. sing., and η in gen. and dat. sing. Thus, μοῦσα muze, μούσῃς, μούσῃ, ἄμαξα wagon, τράπεζα table, γλῶττα tongue, ῥίζα root, ἀμύλλα contest, λέαινα lioness. Others are τόλμα daring, διαίτα mode of life, ἀκανθα thorn, μύια fly.

2. Substantives in ǣ in nom., accus., and voc. sing., and ā in gen. and dat. sing.

- a. Substantives in -eia and -τρια denoting females, as βασίλεια queen (but βασιλεία kingdom), ψάλτρια female harper; so the fem. of adj. in -us, as γλυκὺς, γλυκεῖα sweet.
- b. Abstracts in -eia and -oia from adjectives in -ης and -oos, as ἀλήθεια truth (from ἀληθής true), εὖνοια good will (from εὖνους, εὖνοος kind, 290).
- c. Most substantives in -ρα after a diphthong or υ, as μοῖρα fate, γέφυρα bridge.

220. Exceptions to 219, 1: κόρη temple (later κόρη), ἔρη dew; to 2 b: in Attic poetry, ἀληθεία, εὐνοῖα, ἀγνοῖα ignorance, which owe their ā to the influence of the genitive and dative ἀληθείας, ἀληθείς, etc.

221. Most, if not all, of the substantives in ǣ are formed by the addition of the suffix ια or ια (20); thus, γλῶττα from γλωχ-ια (cp. γλωχίνες poisies), γέφυρα from γεφυρ-ια, δότευρα giver from δοτερ-ια (and so φέρουσα bearing from φερουρ-ια), μοῖρα from μορ-ια, ψάλτρ-ια.

224. α and η. — In the final syllable of the singular ā appears after ε, ι, and ρ; otherwise we find η. Cp. 218.

a. Exceptions are compounds in -μέτρης: γεω-μέτρης measurer of land.

225. Genitive singular. — The form in -ου is borrowed from the genitive singular of the second declension. A few words in -ās, generally names of persons not Greeks, have -ā, the Doric genitive (214 D. 5): Ἀννίβας Hannibal, gen. Ἀννίβā.

226. Vocative singular. — Masculines in -ās have the vocative in -ā (ρεᾶνā); those in -της have -ᾶ (πολίτα), all others in -ης have -η ('Ατρείδη, Κρονίδη son of Kronos) except names of nations and compounds: Πέρσᾶ Persian, Σκόθᾶ Scythian, γεω-μέτρᾶ (nom. γεω-μέτρης measurer of land), παιδο-τριβᾶ gymnastic master.

SECOND DECLENSION (STEMS IN o)

228. O stems in the nominative add  $\varsigma$  to the stem in masculines and feminines;  $\nu$  in neuters. The feminines, of which there are few, are declined like the masculines. In the neuters, nominative, vocative, and accusative singular have the same form (in  $-\nu$ ); in the plural these cases end in  $-α$ .

a. Final  $-α$  is treated as short (169).

b. The dat. sing. in  $-φ$  represents the union of the stem vowel  $-ο$  and  $αι$ , the original case ending in the I. E. languages. Forms in  $-οι$ , as  $οἶκοι$  at home, may be locatives ( $-ο + ι$ , the locative ending). — The stem vowel  $ο$  varies with  $ε$ , which appears in the vocative sing., and in  $πανδημι$  (locative) in full force. — N. A. V. dual  $-ω$  is for I. E.  $δου$ . — The genitive pl.  $-ων$  is due to the union of  $-ο + ων$ , which contracted to  $-ων$  in the earliest period of the language. — The neuter plural is probably the relic of a feminine collective ending in  $-ᾱ$ , which was shortened to  $-α$ .

230. The dialects show various forms.

230 D. 1. Gen. sing. —  $-οιο$ , the original form, appears in Hom. πολέμοιο. By loss of  $ι$  (43) comes  $-οο$ , which is sometimes read in Hom. (Αἰόλοο for Αἰόλου 36). By contraction of  $οο$  comes  $-ου$  found in Hom., Ionic, Milder Doric.  $οο$  yields  $ω$  in Aeolic and Severer Doric (ἵππω).

2. Dual. —  $-ουν$  in Hom. (ἵππουν).

3. Dat. pl. —  $-οισι(ν)$  Hom., Aeolic, Ionic.

4. Acc. pl. —  $-ους$  is from  $-ονς$  (found in Cretan), that is, the accus. sing. +  $ς$ . From  $-ονς$  comes  $-ως$  Severer Doric,  $-οις$  Aeolic,  $-οις$  Cretan and in Dor. poetry.  $-ονς$  is Hom., Ionic, and Milder Doric.

234. Dative Plural. — The ending -οισι(ν) often appears in poetry, rarely in Attic prose (Plato).

a. In Old Attic inscriptions -οις displaces -οισι(ν) about 444 B.C.

CONTRACTED SUBSTANTIVES

235. Stems in eo and oo are contracted according to 50, 51. eu in the neuter becomes ā (56).

235 D. Homeric and Ionic generally have the open forms. οἰνοχόος wine-pourer does not contract in Attic since it stands for οἰνοχοφός.

ὁ πλοῦς (πλός) voyage, ὁ ροῦς (ρός) stream, τὸ καλὸν (κάλεον) basket.

236. Accent.—a. The nominative dual is irregularly oxytone: νό, ὀστέ, not νώ, ὀστῶ according to 171, N. 2.

b. καλὸν (κάλεον) basket receives its accent (not κάλουν) from that of the genitive and dative καλοῦ, καλῷ. Cp. 290 c.

c. Compounds retain the accent on the syllable that has it in the nominative singular: ἔκπλους from ἔκπλοος; ἔκπλου (not ἐκπλοῦ) from ἐκπλόου; ἔκπλων (not ἐκπλῶν) from ἐκπλόων.

ATTIC DECLENSION

237. Some substantives ending in -εως are placed under the Second Declension because they are derived from earlier o stems preceded by a long vowel (-εως from -ηος, 34). A few others have a consonant before -εως. The vocative has no special form.

N. — This declension is called "Attic" because the words in question generally show -εως in Attic and -ος in the Koinè dialect (p. 3, F).

238.

SINGULAR	DUAL	PLURAL
Nom. ναός-ς (Ionic νηός-ς)	N. A. ναός (Ionic νηός)	Nom. ναί (Ionic νηοί)
Gen. ναός ( " νηοῦ)	G. D. ναίον ( " νηοῖν)	Gen. ναίων ( " νηῶν)
Dat. ναί ( " νηῷ)		Dat. ναίς ( " νηοῖς)
Acc. ναόν ( " νηόν-ν)		Acc. ναίς ( " νηοῖς)

238 D. Hom. has νηός temple, λαός people, κάλος cable, λαγώς hare, γάλος sister-in-law, Ἀθώς, Κόως; Hdt. has λεώς, λαγός, Κέος. Hom. and Hdt. have

a. So  $\delta$  λεώς people,  $\delta$  Μενέλεως Menelaus,  $\delta$  λαγώς hare. Observe that  $\omega$  is found in every form, and that it takes subscript in the dative of all numbers where an ordinary o stem has ι.

b. There are no neuter substantives belonging to the Attic declension in standard classical literature; but neuter adjectives (289) end in  $-\omega\nu$ .

c. λεώς and most words of this declension owe their forms to transfer of quantity (34) or to shortening (39). Thus, λεώς is from νηός (= Doric νᾱός), λεών from νηόν; λεψ is from νηψ. λαγώς is contracted from λαγωός.

d. In the accusative singular some words end in  $-\omega$  or  $-\omega\nu$ , as λαγώ or λαγώνν hare. So  $\delta$  "Αθως, ἡ Κέως, ἡ Τέως, ἡ Κῶς,  $\delta$  Μίνως. ἡ ἔως dawn always has ἔω.

239. Accent. — a. The accent of the nominative is kept in all cases. Μενέλεως (163 a) retains the accent of the earlier Μενελάος.

b. The genitive and dative are oxytone when the final syllable is accented.

N. — The accentuation of the words of this declension is doubtful. Some of the ancients accented λαγώς, λαγώνν, others λαγῶς, λαγών, etc.

THIRD DECLENSION

240. This declension includes stems ending in a consonant, in ι, υ, or a diphthong, and some in  $\omega$  and  $\alpha$ , representing  $\omega\varsigma$  and  $\alpha\iota$ .

N. — To determine whether a noun belongs to the third declension it is necessary in most cases to know the stem, which is usually found by dropping  $-\sigma$  of the genitive singular. Stems in ι and υ are classed under the consonant declension because neither of these vowels admits contraction with the case endings beginning with a vowel, herein being like a consonant.

FORMATION OF CASES: NOMINATIVE SINGULAR

241. Masculine and feminine stems not ending in ν, ρ, σ and οντ, add ς.

a. A labial ( $\pi, \beta, \phi$ ) + ς becomes  $\psi$  (97).

b. A dental ( $\tau, \delta, \theta$ ) + ς becomes  $\sigma\sigma$  (98), which is reduced to ς (107).

c. A palatal ( $\kappa, \gamma, \chi$ ) or  $\kappa\tau$  + ς becomes  $\xi$  (97).

γούψ vulture γούψ-ος, "Αραψ Arab "Αραψ-ος; κακότης baseness κακότητ-ος, ἐλπίς hope ἐλπίδ-ος, ὄρνις bird ὄρνιθ-ος; φύλαξ guard φύλακ-ος, μάστιξ scourge μάστιγ-ος, σάλπιγξ trumpet σάλπιγγ-ος, ὄνυξ nail ὄνυχ-ος, νύξ night νυκτ-ος; ἅλ-ς salt ἅλ-ος, ἰχθύς fish ἰχθύ-ος; ἐλέφας elephant ἐλέφαντ-ος.

242. Masculine and feminine stems ending in ν, ρ, and ς reject ς and lengthen a preceding vowel if short ( $\epsilon$  to  $\eta$ ,  $\alpha$  to  $\omega$ ).

δαίμων divinity δαίμον-ος, χειμών winter χειμών-ος, λιμήν harbour λιμέν-ος, "Ελλην Greek "Ελλην-ος; ρήτωρ orator ρήτορ-ος, ἄηρ air ἄερ-ος, φῶρ thief φωρ-ος, ἡώς, gen. ἡούς, δαῖων, whence Att. ἔως by 39. Hom. has Πετεῶ-ο, the original form of the genitive, from Πετεώς. νέω is from νεωο out of νηοο.

τρίηρης trireme (stem τρίηρης-, 263 b), αἰδώς shame (stem αἰδός-, 266). On μήν see 250 end. For stems in es, nominative -os, see 263 c.

243. Masculine stems in οντ drop τ (133) and lengthen ο to ω: γέρον old man γέροντ-ος, λέων lion λέοντ-ος.

244. Neuters show the pure stem, from which final τ and other consonants not standing at the end of a word (133) are dropped: ἄρμα chariot ἄρματ-ος, πράγμα thing πράγματ-ος, γάλα milk γάλακτ-ος (133 b).

245. Summary. — s is added to stems ending in a labial, dental, palatal, and in ατ, ετ, ντ; to some stems in ν (as εἰς one ἐν-ός, μέλας black μέλατ-ος); to stems in ευ, αυ, ου; and to masc. and fem. stems in ι and υ. s is not added to most stems ending in ν, nor to those in οντ, ρ, es, as, os, υ (neut.), ω(ς), ο(ι).

ACCUSATIVE SINGULAR

246. Masculines and feminines usually add α to stems ending in a consonant; ν to stems ending in ι or υ.

γῆν-α, δονχ-α, ἐλέφαντ-α, λιμέν-α, ρήτορ-α, λέοντ-α; πόλι-ν, ιχθῶ-ν, βοῦ-ν from πόλι-ς city, ιχθῶ-ς fish, βοῦ-ς ox, cow. Stems in ευ take α (275).

247. Barytone stems of two syllables ending in ιτ, ιδ, ιθ usually drop the dental and add ν.

χάρις grace (stem χαριτ-) χάριν, ἔρις strife (ἐριδ-) ἐριν, ὄρνις bird (ὀρνιθ-) ὀρῆν. So ἐλπίς hopeful (ἐλπιδ-) ἐλπίν (292). Oxytones end in α: ἐλπιδ-α, σφραγίδα (σφραγίς seal).

α κλεῖς key (κλειδ-), Old Att. κλής, has κλείν (late κλειδα), acc. pl. κλείς (late κλείδας).

VOCATIVE SINGULAR

248. The vocative of masculines and feminines is usually the pure stem.

πόλι (πόλι-ς city), βοῦ (βοῦ-ς ox, cow), Σώκρατες (Σωκράτης). Stems in ιδ and ιτ cannot retain final δ and τ (133), hence "Ἀρτεμ from "Ἀρτεμς (Ἀρτεμιδ-), παῖ from παῖς boy, girl (παιδ-), νεᾶνι from νεᾶνις maiden (νεᾶνιδ-); γέρον from γέρον old man (γέροντ-), γίγαν from γίγας giant (γίγαντ-).

249. The vocative is the same as the nominative:

a. In stems ending in a stop (16) consonant (except those in ιτ, ιδ, ιθ; ιτ in nouns): ᾶ φάλαξ watchman. (Ἀλᾶς Ajax (Ἀλατ-) is nom. and voc.)

243 D. Hdt. has ὀδών tooth ὀδόντ-ος. Attic ὀδοῦς has the inflection of a participle in -ους (307).

247 D. The acc. in α (χάρτα, ἔριδα, ὀρνίθα) occurs in Hom., Hdt., and in Attic poetry. So κόρυθα and κόρυν (κόρυς helmet) in Hom.

249 D. Hom. has ἄνα oh king as well as ἄναξ (ἄνακτ-); Ἄλαν from Ἀλατ-. Πουλιδάμᾱ, Ἀλεδάμᾱ (from stems in ατ) are later forms due to analogy.

b. In oxytone stems ending in a liquid and not taking ς to form their nominative (242): ὦ ποιμήν shepherd (ποιμεν-); but ἀνὴρ man, πατήρ father have ἀνερ, πάτερ (262). Barytones use the stem as the vocative: δαίμων, ῥήτωρ from δαίμων divinity, ῥήτωρ orator.

c. In all participles.

DATIVE DUAL AND PLURAL

250. The dative plural adds -σι to the stem.

"Αραψ (Αραβ-) "Αραψί, μάστιγι (μαστιγ-) μάστιγι, φύλαξ (φυλακ-) φύλαξι, σῶμα (σωματ-) σώμασι (98), ἐλπίς (ἐλπιδ-) ἐλπίσι (98), δρῆς (δρῆθ-) δρῆσι (98), ἐλέφας (ελεφαντ-) ἐλέφασι, θήρ (θηρ-) θηρσί.

a. Stems in ντ drop ντ and lengthen the preceding vowel (100): λέων (λεοντ-) λέουσι, γίγας (γιγαντ-) γίγασι.

b. Stems in ν drop ν without lengthening the preceding vowel (if short): δαίμων (δαίμον-) δαίμοσι, ποιμήν (ποιμεν-) ποιμέσι, φρήν mind (φρεν-) φρεσί.

N. — Strictly ν is not dropped, but since the stem of the dat. pl. is weak in form (253 a) the ν stood originally between two consonants and should become α (35 b). Thus, φρασί in Pindar is for φργσι. Attic φρεσί borrows its ε from φρένες, φρενῶν, etc. So ποιμέσι, for ποίμασι from ποίμησι, because of ποιμένες, etc.

c. ρσ is not changed to ρρ (79 a).

ACCUSATIVE PLURAL

251. a. The ending -ας is produced by adding ς to the stem (ν becoming α between two consonants by 35 b). Thus φύλακ-ας is from φυλακ-ς. This -ας may be added even to ι and υ stems: Hom. πόλι-ας, ἰχθύ-ας, Hdt. πήχε-ας. Hom. πόλις is from πόλι-ς (Cretan).

b. The nominative pl. masc. or fem. is sometimes used instead of the accusative pl.: τριήρεις 264, πόλεις and πήχεις 268.

ACCENT, STEM FORMATION, QUANTITY, GENDER

252. Accent. — Stems of one syllable accent the case ending in the genitive and dative of all numbers; and -ων and -ουν take the circumflex accent. Thus, φλέψ vein, φλεβ-ός, φλεβ-ών; θήρ wild beast, θηρ-ός, θηρ-οῖν, θηρ-ών; θρίξ hair, τριχ-ός, τριχ-ών.

a. Exceptions. The ending of the gen. dual and pl. is not accented in the case of ὁ, ἡ παῖς boy, girl, ὁ δμῶς slave, ὁ θῶς jackal, ὁ Τρῶς Trojan, ἡ δφς torch, 250 D. 1. Hom. has only -ουν in the gen. and dat. dual.

2. In the dat. pl. Hom. has -σι (βέλεσ-σι, δέπασ-σι), and in a few cases -εσι, reduced from -εσσι (ἀνάκτ-εσι); -σσι occurs after vowels (γένε-σσι; for γένῃσι?). -εσσι was added both to stems not ending in σ (πῶδ-εσσι, βδ-εσσι, ἀνδρ-εσσι, δτ-εσσι, 274 D.), and even to stems in σ (ἐπέ-εσσι). Hom. has also ποσσί, ποσί; Pind. χαρίτεσσι, θέμισσι. Tragedy has this -εσσι (κορόθ-εσσι), and so Aeolic, and the Doric of Corinth.

τὸ φῶς light, τὸ οὖς ear. Thus, παῖδων (but παῖσι), Τρώων, ὤρων, etc. So ὤν being, ὄρων (305).

b. A trisyllabic form, if contracted, does not show the accent on the case ending: ἡρ-ος for ἑαρ-ος, ἡρ-ι for ἑαρ-ι, from τὸ ἑαρ spring.

253. Variation of Stem Formation. — Many words of the third declension show traces of an original variation of stem that is due to the influence of a shifting accent which is seen in some of the cognate languages. In Greek this variation has often been obscured by the analogy of other forms. Thus πατέρων, in comparison with Hom. πατρῶν, Lat. patrum, gets its ε from πατέρες.

a. Variation of stem is seen in ὦν, ὄν (259); ἡρ, ἐρ, ρα (262); ἡς, ἐσ- (264); in stems in ι, ει (270); υ, ευ (270); ευ, ηυ (278); οι, ω (279), etc. Words in ὦν, ηυ show a middle form ὄν, ἐν, and a weak form in ν (250 N.).

b. Several words ending in ρ show a parallel stem in τ; thus, ὕδωρ water ὕδατ-ος, ἥπαρ liver ἥπατ-ος, φρέαρ tank φρέατ-ος (but poet. δάμωρ wife δάμαρτ-ος). The reason for this change is uncertain, but ατ is derived from ντ after a consonant (35 b): ὀδντος, ἥπντος, cp. Lat. jecinoris, nom. jecur. ἥπαρ is probably derived from ἥπαρτ (138).

c. -ατος was transferred from such genitives as ὀνόματος, ἥπατος to other neuter words: γόνατος from γόνυ knee, instead of γονφ-ος, whence Hom. γονύς. φῶς light, for φάος (stem φαεσ-), has taken on the τ inflection (φωτ-ός, etc.).

d. Neuter stems in -ες show -ος in the nominative. Cp. ἔτος year (stem ἐτεσ-) with Lat. vetus, veter-is (for vetes-is).

254. Variation of Quantity. — a. In poetry the quantity of ι in words in -ις may differ from that of prose; as in tragedy ὀρνίς bird, κόνις dust, ὀφίς serpent (in prose ὀρνις, κόνις, ὀφίς); so in Pind. ιχθῦς (prose ιχθός) fish.

b. κηρύξ herald, Φοῖνιξ Phoenician, μᾶστιξ whip have long υ and ι in the oblique cases except the dat. pl. (κηρύκος, Φοινίκι, μᾶστιγα, etc.). ἀλώπηξ fox has ε in the gen. ἀλώπεκος, etc., by analogy to such words as ποιμήν, ποιμένος (ἀλωπήμων occurs in Ionic). πῦρ fire has πῦρός, πῦρ, etc. (285, 25).

255. Gender. — The gender of substantives of the third declension is frequently known by the last letters of the stem.

1. Masculine are stems ending in

a. ντ: ὀδοῦς tooth (ὀδοντ-), δράκων serpent (δρακοντ-).

b. ητ, ωτ: πένης day-labourer (πενητ-), γέλως laughter (γελωτ-).

Exceptions. Stems in -τητ (2, b): ἡ ἐσθής dress (ἐσθητ-), τὸ φῶς light (φωτ-).

c. ν: λεμών meadow (λεμων-).

Exceptions. Fem.: stems in γον, δον (2, a), and φρήν mind (φρεν-), ἰς strength (ἰν-), ῥις nose (ῥιν-), ἀκρίς ray (ἀκτιν-), γλωχίς arrow-point (γλωχιν-), ὤβις birth-pang (ὠδιν-), εἰκών image (εἰκον-), ἡϊών shore (ἡϊον-), χθών earth (χθόν-), χιών snow (χιων-), ἀλκυών halcyon (ἀλκυον-), etc., δ, ἡ χήν goose (χην-).

d. ρ: θήρ wild beast (θηρ-), φῶρ thief (φωρ-).

Exceptions. Fem.: χεῖρ hand (χερ-), κήρ fate (κηρ-), γαστήρ belly (γαστερ-); neut.: stems in αρ (3, a), πῦρ fire (πυρ-), and the indeclinable πέλωρ monster, τέκτωρ (Hom.) token, etc.

e. ου: γονεύς parent, φονεύς murderer.

2. Feminine are stems ending in

- a. γον, δον: σταγών drop (σταγον-), χελιδών swallow (χελιδον-).
 b. ττη, δ, θ: κακότης baseness (κακοτητ-), ἔρις strife (ἐριδ-), ἐλπίς hope (ἐλπιδ-).
 Exceptions. Masc.: ποὺς foot (ποδ-), ὄ, ἡ ὄρνις bird (ὀρνιθ-).
 c. ι, υ with nom. in -ις, -υς: πόλις city, ἰσχὺς strength.
 Exceptions. Masc.: ὄφις serpent, ἔχις viper, ὄρχις testicle; βότρυς cluster of grapes, ἰχθὺς fish, μῦς mouse, σέκυς corpse, στάχυς ear of corn, πέλεκυς axe, πῆχυς fore-arm; and ὄ, ἡ ὄνυς or ὄνυς swine.
 d. οι: ἡχώ echo, πειθώ persuasion.

261. Vocative.—σωτήρ preserver, 'Απόλλων, Ποσειδῶν (from Ποσειδέων, -ἄων, -ἱφων) have voc. σῶτερ, 'Απολλων, Πόσειδων with recessive accent. Recessive accent also occurs in compound proper names in -ων; as 'Αγαμέμνων, 'Αγάμεινον; Ἀντομέδων, Ἀντόμεδον; Φιλῆμων, Φιλήμον; but not in those in -φρων (Εὐθύφρων). Λακεδαίμων has Λακεδαῖμον.

262. Several words in -τηρ show three forms of stem gradation: -τηρ strong, -τερ middle, -τρ weak. ρ between consonants becomes ρα (35 b). The vocative has recessive accent. ἀνὴρ man has the weak form in ρ even before vowels; between ν and ρ, δ is inserted by 130.

STEMS IN SIGMA (ες, ας, ος)

263. Stems in sigma are contracted where σ falls out between the vowel of the stem and the vowel of the ending (120). Thus, γένος race, gen. γενε(σ)-ος γένους, dat. γενε(σ)-ι γένει, cp. Lat. genus gener-is (for genes-is), gener-i.

a. The masculine and feminine accusative plural, when it is contracted, borrows the form of the contracted nominative plural. -ας is not derived from -εας. In the dative plural the union of σ of the stem and σ of the ending produces σσ, which is reduced to σ without lengthening the preceding vowel (107).

b. Masculine stems in ες with the nominative in -ης are proper names; the feminine τριήρης trireme is an adjective used substantively (properly, triple fitted; ἡ τριήρης (ναῦς) 'ship with three banks of oars').

c. Neuters with stems in ες have -ος in the nominative, accusative, and vocative singular; neuters with stems in ας have -ας in these cases.

d. Some stems in ας have also a stem in ατ or ᾱτ (258).

- Proper names in -ης have recessive accent in the vocative.
- Proper names in -γένης, -κράτης, -μένης, -φάνης, etc., may have an accus. in -ην derived from the first declension. Thus, Σωκράτην, Ἀριστοφάνην, like Ἀτρείδην (222, 282 N.). But names in -κλής (265) have only -εᾶ.
- Proper names in -ης often show -ους, -εα in the lyric parts of tragedy.
- Neuters in -ος often show open forms (especially -εων) in Attic poetry. -εων is frequent in Xenophon.
- τριήροιν* and τριήρων have irregular accent by analogy to the other forms.
- A preceding ρ does not prevent the contraction of εα to η, as δρη from τὸ ὄρος mountain (cp. 81. 1).
- The dat. sing. of as stems is properly -αῖ; but -η is often written on the authority of the ancient grammarians. This η may possibly be due to the analogy of α in ā stems.

264 D. 1. Hom. uses the open or the closed forms according to convenience. -ους occurs in the gen. of a few words in -ος (βέλους); -εων is often a monosyl-

265. When -es- of the stem is preceded by ε, the forms are inflected as follows: τὸ δέος fear (δεοσ-), Περικλῆς from Περικλέης Pericles (Περικλεος-):

Nom.		δέος	(Περικλέης)	Περικλῆς
Gen.	(δέε-ος)	δέους	(Περικλέε-ος)	Περικλέους

Acc.		δέος	(Περικλέε-α)	Περικλέα
Voc.		δέος	(Περικλεος)	Περικλεος

So Ἡρακλῆς Heracles, Σοφοκλῆς Sophocles.

a. After ε, ea contracts to ᾱ (56). On the contraction of -εος, see 55.

b. δέος is uncontracted because the form was originally δεῖος (58).

STEMS IN ΟΣ

266. ἡ αἰδώς shame is the only ος stem in Attic. It is inflected in the singular only. Nom. αἰδέος, Gen. αἰδέους (αἰδό-ος), Dat. αἰδέοι (αἰδό-ι), Acc. αἰδέα (αἰδό-α), Voc. αἰδέος.

STEMS IN Ω(Γ)

267. Stems in ω<sub>f</sub> have lost vau and appear as ω stems. This ω contracts with the case endings in the dative and accusative singular and in the nominative and accusative plural. Stems in ω<sub>f</sub> are masculine.

lable (60), as is the accus. sing. and pl. -ea from nom. -ης or -ος. Hdt. has open -eos, -ea, -ees (?), -ea. In the dat. pl. Hom. has βέλεσσι, βέλεσι, and βαλέουσιν (250 D. 2) from βέλος missile.

2. Stems in as are generally uncontracted in Hom. (γῆρας, γῆραι), but we find -ai in the dat. sing., κρεῶν and κραιῶν in the gen. pl. In the nom. and acc. pl. α is short (γέρα), and this is sometimes the case even in Attic poetry (κρέα). The explanation is obscure (γέρα does not stand for γέρα). Hom. has δέτασσι and δειδέσσι (δέπας cup).

3. In Hom. and Hdt. several words in -as show ε for α before a vowel (cp. ὀρέω in Hdt. for ὀράω). Hom.: οἶδας ground, οἶδος, οἶδα and οἶδει; κῶας fleece, κῶα, κῶαι; Hdt.: γέρας, γέρεος, but κρέας, κρέως, κρεῶν. In Attic poetry: βρέτας image, βρέτεος, βρέτει, etc. Cp. 258 D.

268 D. Hom. has κλέα (for κλέα ?), and from -κλής: -ηος, -ῆι; Hdt.: -έος (for -έος), -ᾱ, -ᾱ. For -ηος, -ῆα the open -έος, -ᾱ may be read. Attic poetry often has the open forms -ῆι (also in prose inscrip.), -ῆι, -ees.

269 D. Hom. and Ion. ἡ ἥως dawn (ἥος-) is inflected like αἰδώς. For αἰδοῖ, ἡώ we may read αἰδώς, ἡώα and some other open forms in Hom. The Attic form ἥως is declined according to 238; but the accus. is ἥω (238 d). Hom. has ἰδρώα from ἰδρώς sweat (usually a τ stem). Cp. 257 D.

267 D. Hom. has ἥρωι (for ἥρω read ἥρωι), ἥρωα (or ἥρω), ἥρωες ἥρωας, Μῆνωα and Μῆνω. Hdt. has the gen. Μῆνω and Μῆνωος, the acc. πάτρων, ἥρων, but μήτωα.

STEMS IN ι AND υ

263. Most stems in ι and some stems in υ show the pure stem vowel only in the nominative, accusative, and vocative singular. In the other cases they show an ε in place of ι and υ, and -ως instead of -ος in the genitive singular. Contraction takes place when this ε stands before ε, ι, or α of the case ending.

1. a. Stems in i, with genitive in -ews, as (masc.) μάρις seer, ἔχιδς viper; (fem.) πόλις city, ποίησις poetry, δύναμις power, στάσις faction, ὕβρις outrage. Neuter nominatives in -i are not used in classical prose.
- b. Stems in i, with genitive in -ios, as ὁ κτίς weevil, gen. κτῖ-ος, dat. κτῖ-ι; and so in proper names in -is, as Λύγδαμις Lygdamis, gen. Λυγδάμιος.
2. a. Stems in υ, with genitive in -uos; as (masc.) μῦς mouse, βότρυς cluster of grapes, ἰχθύς fish; (fem.) ὀρυς oak, ὀφρύς eyebrow, ἰσχύς force.
- b. Stems in υ, with genitive in -eωs: (masc.) πῆχυς forearm, πέλαγος sea; (neut.) δορυ ioum.

N. 1. — In the nom., acc., and voc. sing. barytone stems in υ have short υ; oxytone substantives (usually) and monosyllables have ῡ; and monosyllables circumflex the ῡ (σοῦς, σῶν, σῦ).

N. 2. — ἡ ἔγχελυς eel follows ἰχθύς in the singular (ἐγγέλυ-ος, etc.), but πῆχυς in the plural (ἐγγέλεις, etc.). But this does not hold for Aristotle.

270. Stems in i and υ vary with stronger stems, of which ε in the cases other than nom., acc., and voc. sing. is a survival. Thus:

- a. i, υ, as in πόλι-ς, πῆχυ-ς.
- b. ει, ευ, which before vowels lost their i and υ (48), as in πολε(ι)-ι, πολε(ι)-ες, πηχε(υ)-ες; which contract to πόλει, πόλεις, πήχεις.
- c. There is also a stem in η, as in Hom. πόλη-ος (268 D. 1, c), whence πόλε-ως.

N. 1. — πόλε-ος in Attic poetry for the sake of the metre is due to the analogy of υ stems with gen. in -ε-ος (ἡδέ-ος, 297). Hom. πήχε-ος is the regular form (from πηχε(υ)-ος). Attic πήχε-ως follows πόλεις. πόλε-σι and πήχε-σι for πόλι-σι and πῆχυ-σι are due to the analogy of forms from stems in ει, ευ (πόλε-ων, πήχε-ων, etc.).

N. 2. — The dual πόλεε occurs in some Mss.

271. Accent. — Final -ως of the genitive singular does not prevent the acute from standing on the antepenult (163 a). Thus πόλε-ως, πήχε-ως, δοτε-ως. πόλε-ως retains the accent of the earlier πόλη-ος, which, by transference of quantity (34), became πόλε-ως. The accent of the gen. pl. follows that of the gen. sing.

272. Accusative plural. — πόλεις, πήχεις are borrowed from the nominative. ἰχθύς is from ἰχθυ-ς. ἰχθύας occurs in late Greek. Cp. 251 a.

b. Hom. has πόλις, πόλιος, πόλι, πόλει or -ῃ (for which some read πόλῃ, as κόπῃ; πόσῃ is correct) and πόλει, πόλιν, πόλι; pl. πόλις, πολλίων, πόλεσι (some read instead πόλισι) or πολλέσσι (250 D. 2) ἐπάλξεσιν, πόλιν or πόλιας (πόλεις appears in some texts).

c. Hom. has also forms with η: πόληος, πόληι, πόλης, πόληας.

2. υ stems. a. Ionic, Doric, and Aeolic have the open forms πήχεες, δοτεῖ, δοτεα; in the gen. sing. -ος, never -ως (πήχεος, δοτεος). In the dat. sing. of words of more than one syllable Hom. has -ῳ or -υι, as πέκυι (πέκυσ corpse), but Hdt. does not show -υι.

b. The gen. pl. has the regular accent (πηχέων, δοτέων). On the dat. πελέκασσι, πέκυσσι, πένυσσι (some would read πέκυσσι, πένυσσι), see 250 D. 2. Hom. has accus. ἰχθύς and ἰχθύας, Hdt. has ἰχθύας very rarely.

273. Contraction.—ιχθῦ (once) for ιχθῦς and ιχθῦς for ιχθῦς occur in comedy. ιχθῦ is not a legitimate contraction, as υ cannot contract with ε (51 c). ιχθῦς (for ιχθῦς) is the accus. form used as the nom. (251 b).

274. οἷς sheep is declined as follows: οἷς, οἷ-ός, οἷ-ι, οἷ-ν, οἷ; dual, οἷ-ε, οἷ-οῖν; pl. οἷ-ες, οἷ-ων, οἷ-σι, οἷ-ς. Here the stem is οἷ, representing δφι, which is properly an ι stem: δφι-ς, Lat. ovī-s.

275. STEMS IN ΕΥ, ΑΥ, ΟΥ

SINGULAR
	ὁ βασιλεύς king	ἡ γράβς old woman	ἡ ναῦς ship	ὁ, ἡ βοῦς ox, cow

PLURAL
N. V.	{ βασιλεῖς, later βασιλεῖς }	γράβ-ες	νη-ες	βό-ες
Gen.	βασιλέων	γράβ-ων	νε-ων	βο-ων
Dat.	βασιλεῦσι(ν)	γράβ-σι(ν)	ναυ-σι(ν)	βου-σι(ν)
Acc.	βασιλεῖς	γράβ-ς	ναῦ-ς	βοῦ-ς

Like βασιλεύς are declined the masculine oxytones ὁ ἵππεύς horseman, ὁ λερέης priest, ὁ γονεύς parent, ὁ φονεύς murderer; like βοῦς is declined ὁ χεῦς three-quart measure (but acc. χεῦα and χεῦας).

274 D. Hom. has ἄς, ὄος and οἴος, ἄν, ἄες, ὄων and οἴων, ὄεσσι (οἴεσσι o 386) and δεσσι, ἄς(τ).

275 D. 1. Hom. has βασιλέος, -ῆι, -ῆα, -εῦ, -ῆες, -εῦσι (and -ῆεσσι), -ῆας. Also -έος, -έι, -έα, from the stem εφ = εχ. -εῦς and -εῖ for -έος and -έι are not common. Ἀτρεΐς, Τυδεΐς have -έ(φ)-ος etc. regularly (Τυδεῖ from Τυδέα). Hdt. has -έος, -έι or -εῖ, -έα, -εῦ, -έος, -έων, -εῦσι, -έας.

2. Hom. has γρηῖς or γρηῖνι, γρηῖ, γρηῦ and γρηῦ; the unattic βόεσσι (and βουσι), βόας (and βοῦς), βῶν acc. sing. H 238. The Doric nom. sing. is βῶς, acc. pl. βῶς.

3. The declension of ναῦς in Doric, Homer, and Herodotus is as follows:

276. Substantives in -ός preceded by a vowel may contract in the gen. and acc. sing. and pl. Thus, ἄλιεύς fisherman has gen. ἄλιέως or ἄλιός, acc. ἄλιᾶ or ἄλιᾷ, gen. pl. ἄλιέων or ἄλιῶν, acc. pl. ἄλιᾶς or ἄλιᾶι. All other forms are regular. The contracted forms were in use in the fifth century, but in the fourth (especially after 350 B.C.) the open forms are common. So are declined Εὐβοεύς Euboean from Εὐβοιεύς, Παιραεύς Peiraeus, Πλαταιεύς Plataean.

277. Other Forms.—a. In the drama from words in -ός we find rarely -ᾶ in acc. sing., -ᾶς in acc. pl. -έως and -ήως, -ήες, -ήας are occasionally found.

b. The nom. pl. in older Attic ended in -ῆς (βασιλῆς), derived either from -ῆες by contraction or from -ῆης (once on an inscription) by 84. -ῆς occurs on inscriptions till about 350 B.C., and is the form to be adopted in the texts of authors of the fifth century and in Plato. -έες occurs rarely, but is suspected. βασιλείς (regular on inscriptions after 329 B.C.) is from analogy to ἡδαίς.

c. The acc. pl. βασιλείς was not used till the end of the fourth century. -ῆς (the nom. form) is used for the acc. in a few passages (251 b).

278. Stem Variation.—Stems ending in ευ, αυ, ου lose υ before case endings beginning with a vowel, υ passing into ϝ (43). Stems in ευ show the pure form only in the vocative; other forms are derived from the stronger stem ηυ. ηυ and ᾶυ before a consonant become ευ, ᾶυ (40) as in βασιλεύς, βασιλεύσι, ναῦς, ναυί from βασιληυς, ᾶυς, etc. From βασιλη(ϝ)-ος, -ῆ(ϝ)-ι, -ῆ(ϝ)-α, -ῆ(ϝ)-ας come, by transfer of quantity (34), the Attic forms. So πεώς is derived from η(ϝ)-ός. In βασιλέων, πεῶν, ε is shortened from the η of βασιληων, ηῶν by 39. βο-ός, etc. are from the stem βου- βοϝ-, cp. Lat. bovis.

STEMS IN οι

279. Stems in οι, with nominative in -ώ, turn ι into unwritten ι (υ) (43) before the endings beginning with a vowel. ἡ πειθώ persuasion is thus declined:

N. πειθῶ. G. πειθοῖς (πειθός). D. πειθοί (πειθό-ι). A. πειθῶ (πειθό-α).
V. πειθοί. Dual and plural are wanting.

Hom. has ναυί in ναυσικλυτός.

279 D. In Ionic the forms are contracted (πειθοῖς, etc.). Hdt. has acc. ἰεῖον from ἰεῖ, Ἀγροῖον, but also πειθῶ.

So ἡχώ echo, εἶσετώ well-being, φειδῶ sparing, Σαφῶ, Ἀηῶ, Καλυψῶ. αι stems are chiefly used for women's names.

a. A stronger form of the stem is ωι, seen in the earlier form of the nominative (Σαφῶς, Ἀητῶς). The accusative has the accent of the nominative.

b. When dual and plural occur, they are of the second declension: nom. λεχῶι (late) from λεχῶ woman in child-bed, acc. γοργοῖς from γοργῶ gorgon.

c. ἡ εἰκῶν image, ἡ ἀηδῶν nightingale, properly from stems in οι, have certain forms from this declension (εἰκοῦς, εἰκῶ, voc. ἀηδοῖ).

CASES IN -φι(ν)

280. Cases in -φι(ν). — φι(ν) is often added to noun stems in Hom. to express the relations of the lost instrumental, locative, and ablative, both singular and (more commonly) plural; rarely to express the relations of the genitive and dative cases. From ᾱ stems are made singulars, from ο stems singulars or plurals, from consonant stems almost always plurals. Except in θεῶ-φιν with the gods -φι(ν) is not added to a stem denoting a person. (a) Instrumental: βίη-φι by might, ἐτέρη-φι with the other (hand), δακρυῶ-φιν with tears; (b) Locative: θύρῃ-φι at the door, ὄρεσ-φι on the mountains; (c) Ablative: κεφαλῇ-φιν from off the head; especially with prepositions, as ἐκ ποταμῶ-φιν from off the sea, ἀπὸ ναυῶ-φιν from the ships.

IRREGULAR DECLENSION

281. The gender in the singular and in the plural may not be the same: ῥίσιος grain, τὰ ῥίτα; ῥδεσμός chain, τὰ ῥδεσμά chains (οἱ ῥδεσμοὶ cases of imprisonment); τὸ στάδιον stade, race-course, pl. τὰ στάδια and οἱ στάδιοι.

282. Usually the irregularity consists in a word having two different stems.

a. Both stems have a common nominative singular: σκότος darkness, σκότου σκότης, etc. (like ἔκτου ἔκτω) or σκότους σκότει (like γένους γένει). So τὸν Ἄθω, and τὸν Ἄθων from Ἄθως (238 d), τὸν Σωκράτη and τὸν Σωκράτην (264 b). These are called heteroclitics (ἐτερόκλητα differently declined).

N. Many compound proper names in -ης (especially names of foreigners) have forms of the 1 and 8 decl., as Τισσαφέρης, -ρους, -ρη and -ρει. So Θεοκρίνη (voc.) in Demosth., Διονύδιην and Διονύδεα in Hdt.

b. Certain cases are formed from another stem than that of the nom. singular: ὁ ὄνειρος dream, gen. ὄνειρατος (as if from τὸ ὄνειρα), or (less freq.) ὄνειρος; so τὸν Ἀπόλλωνα and τὸν Ἀπόλλω (260), τοῦ υἱέος and τοῦ υἱοῦ (286, 27). These are called metaplastic forms (μεταπλασμός change of formation).

283. Defectives are substantives having, by reason of their meaning or use, only one number or only certain cases. Thus, sing. only: ὁ ἀήρ air, ὁ αἰθήρ upper air; plur. only: τὰ Διονύσια, τὰ Ὀλύμπια the Dionysiac (Olympic) festival, οἱ ἐτηεῖαι annual winds; in some cases only: ὁ μέγας my good sir or madam; ὄναρ dream; ὄφελος use only in nom.; λίβες λίβα from **λίψ stream, libation*.

284. Indeclinables are substantives having one form for all cases: τὸ χρεῶν, τοῦ χρεῶν, etc. fatality, τὸ ἄλφα alpha, τὸ λέγειν to speak, most cardinal numbers (τὸ δέκα ten), several foreign words, as Ἰακώβ Jacob, Δαβὶδ David.

ADJECTIVES

ADJECTIVES OF THE FIRST AND SECOND DECLENSIONS

286. Adjectives of Three Endings.—Most adjectives of the vowel declension have three endings: -ος, -η (or -ᾱ), -ον. The masculine and neuter are declined according to the second declension, the feminine according to the first.

a. When ε, ι, or ρ (30, 218) precedes -ος the feminine ends in -ᾱ, not in -η. But adjectives in -οος (not preceded by ρ) have η. Thus, ὀγδοος, ὀγδόη, ὀγδοον eight, ἀθρόος, ἀθρόα, ἀθρόον crowded. See 290 e.

286 D. 27. Hom. has also υῖός, υῖοῦ, υῖόν, υῖέ, υῖων, υῖοισι; υῖεος, υῖεῖ, υῖεα, υῖεῖς and υῖεσι. υ sometimes makes a short syllable in υῖός, υῖόν, υῖέ (148 D. 3).

287 D. In the fem. nom. sing. Ionic has -η, never -ᾱ; in the fem. gen. pl. Hom. has -ῶν (less often -έων); Hdt. has -έων in oxytone adjectives and participles, and so probably in barytones.

a. The accent in the feminine nominative and genitive plural follows that of the masculine: ἄξιαί, ἄξιων, not ἄξιαι, ἄξιών, as would be expected according to the rule for substantives (205), e.g. as in αἰτία cause, αἰτίαι, αἰτίων.

b. All adjectives and participles may use the masculine instead of the feminine dual forms: τῷ ἀγαθῷ μητρε the two good mothers.

288. Adjectives of Two Endings.—Adjectives using the masculine for the feminine are called adjectives of two endings. Most such adjectives are compounds.

Like φρόνιμος are declined the uncompounded βάρβαρος barbarian, ἡσυχος quiet, ἡμερος tame, λάλος talkative.

b. Like ἴλεως are declined other adjectives of the Attic declension (237), as ἄκερως without horns, ἀξιώχρεως serviceable. For the accent, see 163 a. Adjectives in -ως, -ων have -α in the neut. pl., but ἔκπλεω occurs in Xenophon.

c. πλέως full has three endings: πλέως, πλέᾱ, πλέων, pl. πλέω, πλέαι, πλέα, but most compounds, such as ἐμπλέως quite full, have the fem. like the masc. σῶς safe has usually sing. N. σῶς masc., fem. (rarely σᾶ), σῶν neut., A. σῶν; plur. N. σῶ masc., fem., σᾶ neut., A. σῶς masc., fem., σᾶ neut. Other cases are supplied by σῶος, σῶᾱ, σῶων. σῶων also occurs in the accusative.

d. In poetry, and sometimes in prose, adjectives commonly of two endings have a feminine form, as πάτριος paternal, βίαιος violent; and those commonly of three endings have no feminine, as ἀναγκαῖος necessary, φίλιος friendly.

290. Contracted Adjectives. — Most adjectives in -εος and -οος are contracted. Examples: χρῦσεος golden, ἀργύρεος of silver, ἀπλόος simple (feminine ἀπλεᾱ).

Compounds of two endings (288): εὖρους, -οῦν (eūros) well disposed, ἀπλους, -οῦν (aplous) not navigable, εὐρους, -οῦν (eūros) fair-flowing. These have open oa in the neuter plural.

b. The vocative and dual of contracted adjectives are very rare.

c. Adjectives whose uncontracted form in the nom. sing. has the accent on the antepenult (χρῶστος, πορφύρεος) take in the contracted form a circumflex on their last syllable (χρῶστος, πορφύρεος) by analogy to the gen. and dat. sing. The accent of the nom. dual masculine and neuter is also irregular (χρῶσῶ, not χρῶσῶ).

d. For peculiarities of contraction see 56. ἀπλή is from ἀπλέα, not from ἀπλή.

e. Some adjectives are not contracted: ἀργαλέος difficult, κερδαλέος crafty, νέος young, ὀγδοός eighth, ἀθρόος crowded (usually). (Here eo and oo were probably separated originally by ϕ, 3.)

ADJECTIVES OF THE CONSONANT DECLENSION

291. Such adjectives as belong only to the consonant declension have two endings. Most such adjectives have stems in ες (nominative -ης and -ες) and ον (nominative -ων and -ον). Under ον stems fall comparative adjectives, as βελτίων, βέλτιον better.

a. There are some compounds with other stems: M. F. ἀπάτωρ, N. ἀπατωρ fatherless, G. ἀπάτορος; ἀπολις ἀπολι without a country, ἀπολίδος; αὐτοκράτωρ independent, αὐτοκράτορος; ἄρρην (older ἄρσην) ἄρρην male, ἄρρεος; εὐχαρις εὐχαρι agreeable, εὐχάριτος; εὐελπις εὐελπι hopeful, εὐέλπιδος. For the acc. of stems in ιτ and ιδ see 247. Neut. εὐχαρι and εὐελπι for εὐχαριτ, εὐελπιδ (133).

a. ἀληθες means indeed! Like ἀληθής are declined σαφής clear, εὐτυχής lucky, ὀγενής high-born, ἀσθενής weak, ἐγκρατής self-restrained, πλήρης full.

293 D. The uncontracted forms of ες stems appear in Hom. and Hdt. -ει and -εις are, however, sometimes contracted in Hom., and properly should be written -ει and -εις in Hdt. The acc. pl. masc. and fem. is -εας in Hom. and Hdt. From adj. in -ής Hdt. has ἐνδέει for ἐνδέα, Hom. εὐκλείας for εὐκλείας, εὐρρεῖος for εὐρρεῖος.

b. The accusative pl. ἀληθεῖς has the form of the nominative.

c. Compound adjectives in -ης not accented on the last syllable show recessive accent even in the contracted forms. Thus, φιλαλήθης lover of truth, neut. φιλάληθες, αὐτάρκης self-sufficient, neut. αὐταρκές, gen. pl. αὐτάρκων, not αὐταρκῶν.

N. — Except in neuter words in -ῶδες, -ῶλες, -ῶρες, and -ήρες, as εὐώδες sweet-smelling, ποδῆρες reaching to the feet. But τριήρων, not τριηρῶν, from τριήρης, 264.

d. εε(σ)α becomes εᾶ, not εη (56): εὐκλεᾶ, ἐνδεᾶ for εὐκλεέα, ἐνδεέα from εὐκλεής glorious, ἐνδεής needy (G. εὐκλεούς, ἐνδεούς). But ιε(σ)α and υε(σ)α yield ιᾶ or ιη, υᾶ or υη. Thus, ὑγιᾶ or ὑγιῇ (healthy), εὐφυᾶ or εὐφυῇ (easily), cp. 56, 31, 2. The forms in -ῆ are due to the analogy of such forms as ἐμπερή (resembling),

c. The neuter nominative and accusative have recessive accent.

d. Comparatives are formed from stems in ον and in ος; cp. Lat. melioris for melius-is. ος appears in βελτίω for βελτίο(σ)-α, acc. sing. masc. fem. and nom. acc. neut. pl., and in βελτίους for βελτίο(σ)-ες, nom. pl. masc. fem. The accusative plural borrows the nominative form. Cp. 251 b. The shorter forms were more frequent in everyday speech than in literature.

CONSONANT AND VOWEL DECLENSION COMBINED

294. Adjectives of the consonant declension having a separate form for the feminine inflect the feminine like a substantive of the first declension ending in -ā (216).

295. The feminine is made from the stem of the masculine (and neuter) by adding the suffix -ia (ya), which is combined with the preceding syllable in different ways. The genitive plural feminine is always perispomenon (cp. 208). For the feminine dual, see 287 b.

296. Stems in v (-va, -eia, -v). — The masculine and neuter have the inflection of πῆχυς and ᾄστν, except that the genitive singular masculine and neuter ends in -os (not -ws) and -ea in the neuter plural remains uncontracted.

297. ἡδύς sweet is thus declined:

a. In ἡδεῖα -ia has been added to ἡδέε- = ἡδεμ-, a stronger form of the stem ἡδν- (cp. 270). The nominative masculine ἡδέεσ is used for the accusative.

b. The adjectives of this declension are oxytone, except ἡμισυς half, θῆλυς female, and some compounds, as διπῆχυς of two cubits.

298. Stems in v (-ās, -aina, -av; -nv, -aina, -ev). μέλας black, τέρην tender are declined as follows:

298 D. Hom. has usually -eia, -eias, -eiv, etc.; sometimes -ea, -eis, -ev, etc. The forms without ι (43) are regular in Hdt. For -ύν Hom. has -ea in εὐρέα πόντον the wide sea. ἡδύς and θῆλυς are sometimes feminine in Hom.

β. μέλᾱς is for μελαν-ς by 37, 96. With the exception of μέλᾱς and τάλᾱς, adjective stems in ν reject σ in the nom. sing. μέλασι for μελαν-σι 96 a, 250 N. The feminine forms μέλαινα and τέρινα come from μελαν-χα, τερεν-χα by 111. The vocatives μέλαν and τέρεν are rare, the nominative being used instead.

299. Stems in ντ occur in a few adjectives and in many participles (301). χαρίεις graceful and πᾱς all are declined thus:

299 D. Hom. has αἱματέσσα bloody, σκίβεσσα shadowy, but τίμης and τίμη-εις valuable, τίμηντα and τίμηεσσα. Doric has sometimes -ᾱς, -ᾱτος for -ᾱεις, -ᾱετος, as φωνᾱντα. Attic poetry often has the open forms -ᾱεις, -ᾱεσσα.

Like χαλεῖς are inflected πτερεῖς winged, φωνήεις voiced, δακρυδεῖς tearful. Adjectives in -εις and -ής are generally poetical or Ionic. φωνήεντα meaning vowels is always open.

a. χαλεῖς, πᾶς are derived from χαριεντ-ς, παντ-ς by 100; χαλεῖν from χαριεντ- by 133. The ā of πᾶς (for πᾶν(τ)-) is irregular and borrowed from πᾶς. Compounds have ᾶ: ἅπαν, σύμπαν.

b. From χαριεντ- is derived χαλεῖσσα with σσ, not ττ, by 114 a. χαριεντ- is a weak form of the stem χαριεντ-; it appears also in χαλεῖσι for χαριεντ-σι (98). Participles in -εις (307) form the feminine from the strong stem -εντ + ια. πᾶσα stands for παντσα out of παντ-ια (113 a). πάντων, πᾶσι are accented contrary to 252; but παντός, παντί, πᾶσιν are regular.

c. Adjectives in -εις contract, as μελιτοῦς, μελιτοῦττα, μελιτοῦν, G. μελιτοῦντος, μελιτοῦττης, etc. (μελιτῆεις homied). πτερεῖς has πετροῦντα, πετροῦσσα. So in names of places: Ἀργεννοῦσαι Argennusae for -εσσαι; Ῥαμνοῦς, -οὔντος, for Ῥαμνέως, -έστος.

DECLENSION OF PARTICIPLES

300. Like ἀγαθός, -ή, -όν are inflected all the participles of the middle, and the future passive participle.

301. Participles of the active voice (except the perfect, 309), and the aorist passive participle have stems in ντ. The masculine and neuter follow the third declension, the feminine follows the first declension.

a. Most stems in οντ make the nom. sing. masc. without ς, like γέρων (243). But stems in οντ in the present and second aorist of μ-verbs (διδούς, δούς), and all stems in αοντ, εοντ, υοντ, add ς, lose ντ (100), and lengthen the preceding vowel (-ους, -ᾶς, -εις, -ῦς, 37). In like manner the dat. pl. is formed: -οντ-σι = -ουσι, etc.

N. — The stem of participles in -ων, -οντος was originally ωντ. γέρων was originally a participle.

b. The nominative neuter of all participles drops final τ of the stem (133).

c. The perfect active participle (stem στ) has -ως in the masculine, -ος in the neuter. -ως and -ος are for -σωντ-ς, -σοςτ-ς.

d. The feminine singular is made by adding ια to the stem. Thus, λδουσα (λδοντ-ια), οὔσα (οὔντ-ια), ιστάσα (ισταντ-ια), τιθεῖσα (τιθεντ-ια). The perfect adds -υ(σ)-ια, as in εἰδ-νία.

302. The vocative of all participles is the same as the nominative.

303. Participles in -ων, -ᾶς, -εις, -ους, -ῦς frequently use the masculine for the feminine in the dual.

304. The accent of monosyllabic participles is an exception to 252: ὄν, όντος (not όντός), στάς, στάτος.

305. Participles in -ων, -ουσα, -ον (ω-verbs): λδων loosing (stem λδωντ-), ὄν being (stem δοντ-).

306 D. In the feminine of participles from stems in οντ, αντ (306), Aeolic has -ουσα, -αισα (λδουσα, λδουσαισα), and -αις in the masculine (λδουσαις).

311 D. Hom. has some forms from the stem πολυ- (πειλυ-) which are not Attic: G. πολέες, N. pl. πολέες, G. πολέων, D. πολέεσσι (250 D. 2), πολέεσι and πολέει,

a. Except in the forms μέγας, μέγα, μέγα, the adjective μέγας is inflected as if the nominative sing. masc. were μεγάλος. μέγας is sometimes found in the voc. sing. Except in πολύς, πολύν, πολύ, the adjective πολύς is inflected as if the nominative sing. masc. were πολλός.

b. The stem πολλο- is from πολυ-, i.e. πολφ-, λφ being assimilated to λλ.

c. πρῶτος mīd forms its masc. and neuter sing. and dual from the stem πρω-; its fem. in all numbers from the stem प्राῦ, as nom. प्राῖα for प्राῦ-ια formed like ἡδεῖα (297 a). Thus πρῶτος, प्राῖα, प्राῶν, G. प्राῖον, प्राῖας, प्राῖον, etc. In the plural we have

N. V.	πρῶτος or प्राῖος	प्राῖस्य	प्राῖα or प्राῖा
Gen.	प्राῖων or प्राῖέων	प्राῖέων	प्राῖων or प्राῖέων
Dat.	प्राῖοις or प्राῖέσι(ν)	प्राῖेस्य	प्राῖοις or प्राῖέσι(ν)
Acc.	प्राῖον	प्राῖेस्य	प्राῖा or प्राῖा

d. Some compounds of πούς foot (ποδ-) have -ον in the nom. sing. neut. and sometimes in the acc. sing. masc. by analogy to ἀπλοῦς (290). Thus, τρίπους three-footed, τρίπουν (but acc. τρίποδα tripod).

ADJECTIVES OF ONE ENDING

312. Adjectives of one ending have the same termination for masculine and feminine. The neuter (like masc. and fem.) sometimes occurs in oblique cases. Examples: ἀγνῶς ἀγνώτ-ος unknown or unknowing, ἀπαις ἀπαιδ-ος childless, ἀργῆς ἀργήτ-ος white, ἀρπας ἀρπαγ-ος rapacious, μάκαρ μάκαρ-ος blessed, ἀκμάς ἀκμάωτ-ος unwearied. Here belong also certain other adjectives commonly used as substantives, as γυμνῆς γυμνήτ-ος light armed, πένης πένητ-ος poor, φυγᾶς φυγάδ-ος fugitive, ἡλιεῖς ἡλικ-ος comrade, ἀλαζών ἀλαζόν-ος flatterer. Some are masculine only, as ἐθελοντής (-ου) volunteer. Adj. in -is -ιδος are feminine only: Ἑλληνίς Greek, πατρίς (scil. γῆ) fatherland, συμμαχίς (πόλις) an allied state.

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES

313. Comparison by -τερος, -τατος. — The usual endings are:

For the comparative: -τερος m. -τερᾷ f. -τερον n.

For the superlative: -τατος m. -τατῇ f. -τατον n.

The endings are added to the masculine stem of the positive. Comparatives are declined like ἀξίος, superlatives like ἀγαθός (287).

ἥλος (δηλο-) clear, δηλό-τερος, δηλό-τατος; ισχυρός (ισχυρό-) strong, ισχυρό-τερος, ισχυρό-τατος; μέλας (μελαν-) black, μελάν-τερος, μελάν-τατος; βαρὺς (βαρυ-) heavy, βαρὺ-τερος, βαρὺ-τατος; ἀληθής (ἀληθεσ-) true, ἀληθές-τερος, ἀληθές-τατος; ἐκλεκτός (εὐκλεεσ-) famous, ἐκλεκτός-τερος, ἐκλεκτός-τατος.

A. πολέας. Hom. has also πολλός, πολλή, πολλόν (like ἀγαθός), and these forms are commonly used by Hdt. πολυός (for πολός) is sometimes fem. in Hom.

a. χαρίστερος, -έστατος are from χαριε-τερος, -τατος (83, 299 b), from χαρίεις graceful. Compounds of χάρις grace add ο to the stem (χαριτ-ο), whence ἐπιχαριώτερος more pleasing. πένης poor has πενέσ-τερος from πενετ-τερος, with ε for η.

b. Originally -τερος had no other force than to contrast one idea with another, and this function is retained in δεξιτερος right) (ἀριστερος left, ἡμέτερος our) (ἐμέτερος your. Hom. has several such words: ἀγρότερος wild) (ἴαμε, θηλύτεραι γυναῖκες) (μεν, cp. Arcadian ἀρρέντερος from ἀρρην male. Cp. 1082 b).

314. Adjectives in -ος with a short penult lengthen ο to ω: νέος new, νέω-τερος, νέω-τατος, χαλεπός difficult, χαλεπώ-τερος, χαλεπώ-τατος. An undue succession of short syllables is thus avoided.

a. If the penult is long either by nature or by position (144), ο is not lengthened: λεπτός lean, λεπτότερος, λεπτότατος. A stop and a liquid almost always make position here (cp. 145); as πικρός bitter, πικρότερος, πικρότατος, κενός empty and στενός narrow were originally κενφος, στενφος (Ionic κεινώς, στενώς, 37 D. 1), hence κενότερος, στενότερος.

315. The following drop the stem vowel ο: γεραῖος aged, γεραί-τερος, γεραί-τατος; παλαιός ancient, παλαι-τερος, παλαι-τατος; σχολαῖος slow, σχολαί-τερος, σχολαί-τατος; φίλος dear, φιλ-τερος (poetic), φιλ-τατος (319, 11).

a. Some other adjectives reject the stem vowel ο and end in -αιτερος, -αιτατος, as ἤσυχος quiet, ἴσος equal, ἄρβριος early. These, like σχολαίτερος and γεραίτερος, imitate παλαιτερος, which is properly derived from the adverb πάλαι long ago. So μεσαιτερος, -αιτατος imitate μεσαι in Hom. μεσαι-πύλιος middle-aged.

316. -ωτερος, -ωτατος. — By imitation of words like ἀληθέσ-τερος, ἀληθέσ-τατος (313), -ετερος, -ετατος are added to stems in ον and to some in οο (contracted to ου). Thus, εὐδαίμων happy, εὐδαιμον-ετερος, -ετατος; ἀπλοῦς simple, ἀπλούστερος (for ἀπλο-ετερος), ἀπλούστατος; εὖνους well-disposed, εὐνούστερος, -εστατος, and so in all others in -νους from νοῦς mind. (Others in -οος have -ουτερος: ἀθροώτερος more crowded from ἀθρόος.)

a. Some stems in ον substitute ο for ον; as (from ἐπιλήσμων forgetful, ἐπιλησμονέ-τερος) ἐπιλησμό-τατος; πίων fat, πίότερος, πίότατος; πέπων ripe has πεπαί-τερος, πεπαίτατος. Cp. 815 a.

b. Other cases: (with loss of ο) ἐρρωμένο-ς strong, ἐρρωμενέστερος, -έστατος, ἐκπῆγο-ς unmixtized, ἐκπῆγέστατος, ἀσμενο-ς glad, ἀφθορο-ς abundant.

317. -ωτερος, -ωτατος. — By imitation of words like ἀχαρίστερος for ἀχαρι-τερος (83) from ἀχαρίς disagreeable, -ωτερος, -ωτατος are used especially with adjectives of a bad meaning, as κλεπτ-ωτατος (κλέπτης thief, 321), κακηγορ-ωτερος (κακήγορος abusive), λαλ-ωτερος (λάλος talkative).

318. Comparison by -ίων, -ιώτος. — Some adjectives add to the root of the positive the endings -ίων for the masculine and feminine, -ίον

314 a. D. Hom. εὐφρότατος (but cp. Att. εὐφρόης), λῆρώτατος (λῆρῶτατος?).

318 D. Hom. and Doric poetry have also -ίων, which is as old as -ίων. Forms in -ίων, -ιώτος are much commoner in poetry than in prose. Hom. has βάθιστος (βαθύς deep), βράσσω (βραχύς short), βάρδιστος (βραδύς slow), κόδιστος (κυδρός glorious), ὥκιστος (ὥκός quick).

for the neuter to form the comparative, and -ιος -η -ον to form the superlative. The vowel (or the syllable ρo) standing before ς of the nominative is thus lost.

POSITIVE	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
ἡδ-ύ-ς sweet (ἡ ἡδ-ονή pleasure )	ἡδ-ίων	ἡδ-ιστος
ταχ-ύ-ς swift (τὸ τάχ-ος swiftness )	θάττων (112, 125 f)	τάχ-ιστος
μέγ-α-ς great (τὸ μέγ-εθος greatness )	μείζων (116)	μέγ-ιστος ἀλγαινός painful (τὸ ἀλγ-ος pain )	ἀλγ-ίων	ἀλγ-ιστος
αἰσχ-ρό-ς shameful (τὸ αἰσχ-ος shame )	αἰσχ-ίων	αἰσχ-ιστος
ἐχθ-ρό-ς hateful, hostile (τὸ ἐχθ-ος hate )	ἐχθ-ίων	ἐχθ-ιστος

Forms in -ίων are declined like βελτίων (293), those in -ιστος like ἀγαθός (287).

319. Irregular Comparison.—The commonest adjectives forming irregular degrees of comparison by reason of the sound changes or because several words are grouped under one positive, are the following. Poetic or Ionic forms are in ( ).

1. ἀγαθός good	ἀμείνων (from ἀμειν-ίων) (ἀρεών)	ἄριστος (ἀρετή virtue )
	βελτίων (βέλτερος, not in Hom.)	βέλτιστος (βέλτατος, not in Hom.)
(κρατὺς powerful ) (cp. κράτος strength )	κρείττων, κρείσσω (κρέσσω) (φέρτερος) λφίων (λωίων, λωίτερος)	κράτιστος (κάρτιστος) (φέρτατος, φέριστος) λφιστος
2. κακός bad	κακίων (κακώτερος) worse χείρων (χερείων) meaner, de- terior (χειρότερος, χερείω- τερος) ἥττων, ἥσσω (for ἡκ-ίων) weaker, inferior (ἔσσω)	κάκιστος χείριστος  (ἥκιστος, rare), adv. ἥκιστα least of all

5. μέγας great	μείζων 318 (μέζων)	μέγιστος

319 D. Hom. has also κερδαλός gainful, crafty, κερδίων, κέρδιστος; βίγλιος, δίγιστος more, most dreadful (cp. βῆγος cold, βίγληδός chilling), κήδιστος (κηδεύω dear, κήδος care).

6. μικρός small ( ἐλάχεια , f. of ἐλαχέει )	μικρότερος ἐλάττων , ἐλάσσων (for ἐλα- χίων ) μείων	μικρότατος ἐλάχιστος ( μείστος , rare)
7. ὀλίγος little , pl. few	ὀλιγώτερος (inscriptions) ( ὕπ-ὀλίγων Hom. rather less )	ὀλιγώτατος
8. πολύς much , pl. many	πλείων , πλίον , neut. πλέον , πλείν	πλείστος
9. ῥῆδιος easy ( ῥηίδιος )	ῥῆδων (Ion. ῥηίων ) ( ῥηίτερος )	ῥῆστος ( ῥηίτατος , ῥήστος )
10. ταχέος quick	θάττων , θάσσων ( ταχύτερος )	τάχιστος ( ταχύτατος )
11. φίλος dear	( φιλητερος ) φιλαίτερος (Xenoph.) ( φιλίων , rare in Hom.)	φίλτατος φιλαίτατος (Xenoph.)

a. ἀμείνων, ἀριστος express aptitude, capacity or worth (able, brave, excellent); βελτίων, βελτίστος, a moral idea (virtuous); κρείττων, κράτιστος, force and superiority (strong) (ἥττων is the opposite of κρείττων); λῦων means more desirable, more agreeable (ὦ λῦστε my good friend); κακίων, κάκιστος express moral perversity, covariety; χείρων, χειρίστος, insufficiency, lack of a quality (less good) (worthless, good for nothing is φάυλος).

b. ἐλάττων, ἐλάχιστος refer to size: smaller (opposed to μείων); or to multitude: fewer (opp. to πλείων). μείων, μείον, ἥττων, ἥκιστα also belong both to μικρός and to ὀλίγος.

c. The orators prefer the longer form of πλείων, especially the contracted πλείω, πλείους, but the neut. πλέον. πλείν is not contracted from πλέον.

320. Defectives.—Some comparatives and superlatives are derived from prepositions or adverbs:

( πρό before )	πρότερος former	πρῶτος first
( πέρα over, beyond )	ὑπέρτερος (poetic) higher , superior .	ὑπέρτατος (poetic) high- est , supreme .
( πλησίον near )	πλησιαίτερος	πλησιαίτατος
( πρόργου serviceable )	προυργιαίτερος ὑστερος later, latter	ὑστάτος latest, last

a. -ατος appears in ὑψατος highest, ἔσχατος farthest, extreme (from ἐξ).

321. In poetry and sometimes in prose comparatives and superlatives are formed from substantives and pronouns. Hom. has βασιλεύτερος more kingly, 320 D. Hom. has ὀπλότερος younger, ὀπλότατος. Several defectives denote place; ἐκαστέτερος (ἄσπον nearer), παροίτερος (πάρουθεν before), μυχότατος (μυχοῖ in a recess). -ατος in μέσατος, μέσσατος (μέσος middle), πύματος last, πλάτος lowest. For ὑστατος Hom. has ὑστάτιος; and δεύτατος last from δεύτερος second.

-τατος (βασιλεύς king), ἐταϊρότατος a closest companion (ἐταῖρος comrade), κύντερος more doglike, -τατος (κύνων dog), κούρτερος more youthful (κούρος a youth). Aristophanes has κλεπτίστατος most thievish (κλέπτης thief, 317), and αὐτότατος his very self, ipsissimus.

323. Comparison by μάλλον, μάλιστα. — Instead of the forms in -τερος, -τατος or -ίων, -ιστος the adverbs μάλλον more, μάλιστα most, may be used with the positive; as μάλλον φίλος more dear, dearer, μάλιστα φίλος most dear, dearest. This is the only way of comparing participles and words that do not take the comparative and superlative endings (μάλλον ἐκόν more willing).

a. Comparison by μάλλον, μάλιστα is common in the case of compound adjectives, adjectives with a prepositional prefix, verbal adjectives in -τός, and adjectives in -ιος.

324. To express equality or inferiority οὕτω as (often in correlation with ὥσπερ), ἥττον less, may be placed before the positive. Thus, as good as handsome may be expressed by οὕτως ἀγαθὸς ὥσπερ καὶ καλός, ὥσπερ ἀγαθὸς οὕτω καὶ καλός, οὐχ ἥττον καλὸς ἢ καὶ ἀγαθός.

σφῆσι is used for ἐαυτοῖς, -αῖς; σφῆ (encl.) for αὐτοῖς, -αῖς; σφῆα (encl.) for αὐτά.

3. Ionic μιν (encl.) is used in all genders (eum, eam, id), but not in the plural. ἡμῖν, ἡμῖν occur a few times, σέθεν often, in tragedy.

4. The chief forms peculiar to Doric are: I. ἐγών also before consonants; G. ἐμῶν, ἐμοῖς, ἐμεῖς; D. ἐμῖν; Pl. N. ἡμῖς; G. ἡμῶν, ἡμῶν; D. ἡμῖν(ῖ), ἡμῖν; A. ἡμέ. II. τό, τόνη; G. τέος, τεοῖς, τεῖς, τέο, τεῖ, τεοῦ; D. τίν, τίνη; A. τέ, τίν, τό; Pl. N. ἡμῖς; G. ἡμῶν; D. ἡμῖν, ἡμῖν; A. ἡμέ. III. G. εῶν, εῶν; D. εῖν; A. εῖν; Pl. G. σφῆων, ψῆων; D. φῖν, ψῖν; A. σφέ, ψέ.

used when the pronoun is emphatic. Thus, δός μοι τὸ βιβλίον give me the book, οὐκ ἐμοί, ἀλλὰ σοὶ ἐπιβουλευόμενοι they are plotting not against me, but against you. See 187 a. On the use after prepositions see 187 N. 2.

b. For ἐγώ, ἐμοί, σὺ the emphatic ἐγώγε, ἐμοίγε (186 a), σύγε occur. Also ἐμοῦγε, ἐμέγε.

c. The use of the plural you for thou is unknown in Ancient Greek; hence ὑμεῖς is used only in addressing more than one person.

d. Of the forms of the third personal pronoun only the datives αὐτῷ and αὐτοῖσι (v) are commonly used in Attic prose, and then only as indirect reflexives (1228). To express the personal pronouns of the third person we find usually: ἐκεῖνος, οὗτος, etc., in the nominative (1194), and the oblique forms of αὐτός in all other cases.

e. For the accus. of οὗ the tragic poets use νιν (encl.) and σφε (encl.) for masc. and fem., both sing. and pl. (= eum, eam; eos, eas). Doric so uses νιν. σφίν is rarely singular (εἰ) in tragedy.

f. ἡμῶν, ἡμῖν, ἡμᾶς, ὑμῶν, ὑμῖν, ὑμᾶς, when unemphatic, are sometimes accented in poetry on the penult, and -ιν and -ας are usually shortened. Thus, ἡμῶν, ἡμῖν, ἡμᾶς, ὑμῶν, ὑμῖν, ὑμᾶς. -ιν and -ας are sometimes shortened even if the pronouns are emphatic, and we have ἡμῖν, ἡμᾶς, ὑμῖν, ὑμᾶς. σφᾶς occurs for σφᾶς.

326. Stems. — I. (ε)με- (cp. Lat. me), νω- (cp. Lat. nō-s), (ε)μο-, ἡμε- ἐμοῦ is from ἐμέο; ἡμεῖς from ἄμμε-ες (37) with the rough breathing in imitation of ὑμεῖς; ἡμῶν from ἡμέων, ἡμᾶς from ἡμέας with ā not η by 56. ἐγώ is not connected with these stems. II. συ- and σε- from τρε; το-; σφω-; δμο- from δμμε- (37). III. ε for σφε (cp. Lat. se), εί for σεφε, ο for σφο-, and σφε-. The form of the stems and formation of the cases is often obscure.

327. The Intensive Pronoun αὐτός. — αὐτός self is declined thus:

SINGULAR			DUAL			PLURAL

Dat. αὐτῷ	αὐτῇ	αὐτῷ				Dat. αὐτοῖς	αὐταῖς	αὐτοῖς
Acc. αὐτόν	αὐτήν	αὐτό				Acc. αὐτούς	αὐτάς	αὐτά

αὐτός is declined like ἀγαθός (287), but there is no vocative and the neuter nominative and accusative have no -ν. But ταῦτόν the same is common (328 N.).

328. αὐτός is a definite adjective and a pronoun. It has three meanings:

a. self: standing by itself in the nominative, αὐτός ὁ ἀνὴρ or ὁ ἀνὴρ αὐτός the man himself, or (without the article) in agreement with a substantive or pronoun; as ἀνδρὸς αὐτοῦ of the man himself.

327 D. Hdt. has αὐτέων in the genitive plural. For the crasis ωτός (Hom.), ωτός, τωτό (Hdt.), see 68 D.

- b. him, her, it, them, etc. : standing by itself in an oblique case (never in the nominative). The oblique cases of αὐτός are generally used instead of αὐτό, αὐτή, etc., as ὁ πατήρ αὐτοῦ his father, οἱ παῖδες αὐτῶν their children.
- c. same : when it is preceded by the article in any case : ὁ αὐτός ἀνὴρ the same man, τοῦ αὐτοῦ ἀνδρός of the same man.

N.—The article and αὐτός may unite by crasis (68 a) : αὐτός, αὐτή, ταὐτό or ταὐτόν; ταὐτοῦ, ταὐτῆς; ταὐτῶ, ταὐτῇ, etc. Distinguish αὐτή the same f. from αὐτή this f.; ταὐτά the same n. from ταῦτα these things n.; ταὐτῇ from ταύτῃ.

329. Reflexive Pronouns.—The reflexive pronouns (referring back to the subject of the sentence) are formed by compounding the stems of the personal pronouns with the oblique cases of αὐτός. In the plural both pronouns are declined separately, but the third person has also the compounded form. The nominative is excluded by the meaning. There is no dual.

Acc. ἡμᾶς αὐτούς, -αῖς	ἐμᾶς αὐτούς, -αῖς	ἐαυτούς, -αῖς, -ά or σφᾶς αὐτούς, -αῖς

a. For ἐαυτῶν, etc., we find αὐτῶν, αὐτοῖς, -αῖς, αὐτούς, -αῖς. Distinguish αὐτοῦ of himself from αὐτοῦ (328).

330. Possessive Pronouns.—Possessive pronouns, formed from the stems of the personal pronouns, are declined like ἀγαθός, ἄγιος (287).

ἐμός ἐμή ἐμόν	my, my own; mine	ἡμέτερος -ῆ -ον	our, our own; ours
σός σή σόν	thy, thine own; thine	ἐμέτερος -ῆ -ον	your, your own; yours
ἑς ἡ ἐν	his (her, its) own	σφέτερος -ῆ -ον	their own

330 D. Hom. never compounds the two pronouns: thus, ἐμέθεν αὐτῆς, σοὶ αὐτῶ, αὐτῶ, ἐπ' αὐτόν, ἐπ' αὐτήν. Hdt. has a few cases of the uncompounded forms; usually ἐμαυτοῦ, -τῶ, -τόν, σεαυτοῦ, ἐαυτοῦ, ἐαυτῶν, -οῖσι, -οῦς, and σφέων αὐτῶν, etc. The forms with εὐν started with ἐαυτῶ in the dative from ἐο(ῖ) αὐτῶ, and spread thence to the other cases.

330 D. 1. Hom. has also τοῖς thy, ἐός for his, her own, ἡμός our, ὅμός your, σφός their (rarely of the singular), ἡμέτερος of us two, σφέτερος of you two. For ἐμός Attic poetry may use ἡμός (sometimes printed ἡμός) our.

2. ἐς, ἐός in Hom. may mean my own, your own (1230 a).

- a. Distinguish the adjectival from the pronominal use: ὁ ἐμὸς φίλος or ὁ φίλος ὁ ἐμὸς my friend (adj.) from φίλος ἐμὸς a friend of mine (pron.). See 1196 a.
 b. ὁ is not used in Attic prose. For his, her, its, αὐτοῦ, -ης, -οῦ are used.

331. Reciprocal Pronoun. — The reciprocal pronoun, meaning one another, each other, is made by doubling the stem of ἄλλος (ἀλλ-αλλο-). It is used only in the oblique cases of the dual and plural. (Cp. alii aliorum, alter alterius).

332. The Definite Article. — The definite article ὁ, ἡ, τό (stems ὁ-, ἡ-, το-) is thus declined:

b. τά (especially) and ταῖν, the feminine forms in the dual, are very rare in the authors, and are unknown on Attic prose inscriptions of the classical period.

333. Demonstrative Pronouns. — The chief demonstrative pronouns are ὅδε this (here), οὗτος this, that, ἐκεῖνος that (there, yonder).

Doric are τῶ, τᾶς, etc.; pl. also N. τοί, ταί; G. fem. τᾶν. Generally poetic are τοῖσι, ταῖσι. τοί μέν, τοί δέ occur rarely in tragedy for οἱ μέν, οἱ δέ.

333 D. For τοῖσδε Hom. has also τοῖσδεσσι or τοῖσδεσι. Doric has n. pl. τούτοι, ταῦται, gen. pl. fem. ταυτᾶν (Aeol. ταῦτᾶν). κείνος occurs in Hdt. (together with ἐκεῖνος). Doric and Aeolic have κῆνος.

Acc.	τούσδε	ταῖσδε	τάδε	τούτους	ταύτας	ταῦτα	ἐκείνους	ἐκείνας	ἐκεῖνα

a. ὅδε is formed from the old demonstrative δ, ἡ, τό this or that, with the indeclinable demonstrative (and enclitic) ending -δε here (cp. hī-c from hī-ce, Fr. ce-ci). For the accent of ἡδε, οἷδε, αἷδε see 186.

b. οὗτος has the rough breathing and τ in the same places as the article. ou corresponds to the ο, au to the α, of the article. For οὗτος as a vocative, see 1288 a. (οὗτος is from δ + the particle *ν + the demonstrative suffix το + s).

c. ἐκεῖνος has a variant form κείνος in poetry, and sometimes in prose (Demosthenes). (ἐκεῖνος stands for ἐκε(ι)-ενος from ἐκεῖ there + suffix -ενος.)

d. Other demonstrative pronouns are τοσάσδε	τοσήδε	τοσόνδε	so much, so many	} pointing forward (to what follows).

τοιῶσδε	τοιᾷδε	τοιῶνδε	such (in quality) τηλικόσδε	τηλικήδε	τηλικόνδε	so old, so great

These are formed from -δε and the (usually) poetic τόσος, τοῖος, τηλικός with the same meanings.

e. Combinations of the above words and οὗτος are τοσοῦτος	τοσαύτη	τοσοῦτο(ν)	so much, so many	} pointing backward (to what precedes).

τοιούτος	τοιαύτη	τοιούτο(ν)	such (in quality) τηλικούτος	τηλικάυτη	τηλικούτο(ν)	so old, so great

The forms in -ν are more common than those in -ο. Attic prose inscriptions have only -ον.

f. The dual rarely has separate feminine forms.

g. The deictic suffix -ι may be added to demonstratives for emphasis. Before it α, ε, ο are dropped. Thus, ὅδι this man here, ἡδι, τοδι, Γ. τουδι, τησδι, etc.; οὗτοσι, αὐτήι, τουτί, οὗτοῖι, τουτωί. So with other demonstratives and with adverbs: τοσόντοσι, οὕτωσι, ὥδι. For -ι we have, in comedy, -γι or (rarely) -δι formed from γ(ε), δ(ε) + ι. Thus, αὐτηγι, τουτογι, τουτοδι.

334. Interrogative and Indefinite Pronouns. — The interrogative pronoun τίς, τί who, which, what ? never changes its accent to the grave (154). The indefinite pronoun τις, τι any one, some one, anything, something is enclitic (181 b).

333 e, D. Hom. always, Hdt. rarely, has the final ν.

334 D. Hom. and Hdt. have G. τέο, τεῷ, D. τέψ (τῷ Hom.), G. τέων, D. τέοισι. These forms are also indefinite and enclitic (gen. τεῶν Hdt.). Hom. has ἄσσα for the indefinite τιμή.

α. ἄττα (not enclitic) is sometimes used for the indefinite τινά. ἄττα is derived from such locutions as πολλάττα, properly πολλά + ττα (for ττα).

335. ἄλλος. — The indefinite pronoun ἄλλος another (Lat. alius, cp. 110) is declined like αὐτός: ἄλλος, ἄλλη, ἄλλο (never ἄλλον).

336. Δεῖνα. — The indefinite pronoun δεῖνα, always used with the article, means such a one. It is declined thus: sing. ὁ, ἡ, τὸ δεῖνα; τοῦ, τῆς, τοῦ δεῖνος; τῷ, τῇ, τῷ δεῖνι; τὸν, τὴν, τὸ δεῖνα; plur. (masc.) οἱ δεῖνες, τῶν δεῖνων, τοὺς δεῖνας. Example: ὁ δεῖνα τοῦ δεῖνος τὸν δεῖνα εἰσήγγειλεν such a one son of such a one impeached such a one [D.] 13. 5. δεῖνα is rarely indeclinable. Its use is colloquial and it occurs (in poetry) only in comedy.

337. Other indefinite pronominal adjectives are: ἕτερος, -α, -ον: with article, the other, one of two, the one (Lat. alter, alteruter); without article, other, another, a second (alius). By crasis (69) ἄτερος, ἄτερον, etc. ἑκάτερος, -α, -ον: each (of two) uterque; pl. either party, both parties, as utrique. ἕκαστος, -η, -ον: each, each one, every, every one, used of more than one (quisque). μόνος, -η, -ον: alone, only, sole. πᾶς (299): all, entire, every. The negatives οὐδείς, μηδείς (349 b) no one (poetical οὐτις, μήτις, in prose only οὐτι, μήτι, declined like τις; accent 186), Lat. nemo, nullus. οὐδέτερος, μηδέτερος neither of two (Lat. neuter).

338. Relative Pronouns. — The relative pronoun ὅς, ἣ, ὃ who, which, that is declined thus:

338 D. 1. Hom. uses the demonstrative forms ὁ, ἡ, τό (332) as relatives (1105). In this case the nom. pl. has τοί, ταί (332 D.).

2. Besides the forms in 338, Hom. has gen. δὲ (miswritten δον) and ἑν.

3. Hdt. has ὅς, ἣ, τό, οἷ, αἷ, τό. In the oblique cases he uses τοῦ, τῆς, etc.; though, especially after prepositions capable of elision, he has the relative forms, as δι' οὗ, παρ' οὗ, κατ' οὗ, ὑπ' αὐτοῦ; also ἐς δ.

a. The feminine dual forms  $\delta$  and  $\alpha\iota$  are seldom, if ever, used in Attic.

b.  $\delta\iota$  is used as a demonstrative in Homer and sometimes in prose (1113).

c. The enclitic particle  $-\pi\epsilon\rho$  may be added to a relative pronoun (or adverb) to emphasize the connection between the relative and its antecedent. Thus,  $\iota\pi\epsilon\rho$ ,  $\eta\pi\epsilon\rho$ ,  $\delta\pi\epsilon\rho$  the very person who, the very thing which; so  $\delta\sigma\pi\epsilon\rho$  just as.  $\iota\pi\epsilon\rho$  is declined like  $\delta\varsigma$ .

d. Enclitic  $\tau\epsilon$  is added in  $\epsilon\varphi' \varphi\tau\epsilon$  on condition that,  $\alpha\iota\delta\iota\tau\epsilon$  (186 a) able to,  $\epsilon\tau\epsilon$  inasmuch as.

d. τις may be added to ὅποτερος, ὅσος, οἷος (340) to make them more indefinite, as ὅποῖός τις of whatsoever kind.

e. οὗν, δῆ, or δήποτε may be added to the indefinite pronouns to make them as general as possible, as ὅστις οὗν (or ὅστις δῆ), ἥτις οὗν, οἷτις οὗν any one whatever, any thing whatever, and so ὅποιος-τις-οὗν, ὅστις-δῆ-ποτε, or ὅστις-δῆ-ποτ-οὗν. In these combinations all relative or interrogative force is lost.

f. The uncompoundd relatives are often used in an exclamatory sense, and sometimes as indirect interrogatives. Indefinite relatives may be used as indirect interrogatives.

340. Correlative Pronouns.—Many pronominal adjectives correspond to each other in form and meaning. In the following list poetic or rare forms are placed in ( ).

ADVERBS

341. Origin. — Adverbs, like prepositions and conjunctions, were originally case forms, made from the stems of nouns and pronouns. Some of these nominal and pronominal stems have gone out of common use, so that only petrified forms are left in the adverbs. Some of these words were still felt to be live cases; in others no consciousness of their origin survived. Many adverbs show old suffixes joined to the stem or to a case form (342). It is sometimes uncertain whether we should speak of adverbs or of nouns with local endings.

Nominative (rare): πίξ with clenched fist, ἀπαξ once, ἀναμὲ pell-mell.

Genitive: ἑνῆς day after to-morrow, ἐξῆς next, ποῦ, οὗ where, αὐτοῦ in the very place, ἐκποδῶν out of the way (ἐκ + ποδῶν); by analogy, ἐμποδῶν in one's way.

Dative: δημοσίᾳ at public cost, λᾶθρᾳ in secret, κοινῇ in common, etc. (1527 b), ἄλλῃ otherwise, πῇ how.

Accusative: very common, especially such adverbs as have the form of the accusative of neuter adjectives, as πολύ much, μικρόν a little, πρῶτον at first, τῆμερον to-day, πολλά often. See 1606-1611.

Locative: οἰκοῖ at home (οἰκοῖ house), Ἰσθμοῖ at the Isthmus, ποῖ whither, and all adverbs in -οι. The -ι of the consonantal declension is properly the ending of the locative, as in Μαραθῶνι at Marathon; -οισι (234) in O stems, in contrast to -οις; -αῖσι (-ησι) in Ā stems (215): θύρᾱσι at the doors, Πλαταιᾶσι at Plataea, Ἀθήνῃσι at Athens; further in πάλαι long ago, ἐκεῖ there, πᾶντο in full force.

Instrumental: ἀνω above, κάτω below, οὐκ not yet, ὧδε thus (but the forms in -ω may be ablatives); κρυφῇ and λᾶθρᾱ in secret.

Ablative: all adverbs in -ως, as ὥς as, οὕτως thus, ἑτέρως otherwise. Here, e.g. original ἐτερεῶδ (cp. Old Lat. aliōd, abl. of altus) became ἐτερω (183), which took on -ς from the analogy of such words as ἀμφί parallel to ἀμφί.

342. Place. — To denote place the common endings are: —

-ι, -θι, -σι at, in to denote place where (locative). -ου, the sign of the genitive, is also common.

-θεν from to denote the place whence (ablative).

-ε (-ζε), -σε to, toward to denote place whither.

In the following examples poetical words are bracketed.

οἰκοῖ ( οἰκοῖ-θι ) at home	οἰκοῦ-θεν from home	οἰκαδε ( οἰκόνδε ) homeward ( οἰκα- is an old accusative form.)
ἄλλο-θι elsewhere or ἄλλ-αχ-εθ	ἄλλο-θεν from elsewhere ἄλλ-αχ-ε-θεν	ἄλλο-σι elsewhither ἄλλ-αχ-ε-σι

343 D. Hom. has many cases of the local endings, e.g. οὐρανῶ-θι in heaven, ἐκπρῶ-θεν from the assembly; also after prepositions as a genitive case: ἐξ ἀλό-θεν out of the sea, Ἰλιῶ-θι πρὸ before Ilium. Cp. ἐμθεν, σέθεν, ἐθεν, 325 D. 1. -δε in θαλά-δε to the sea, πόλι-δε to the city, πεδῶ-δε to the plain, Ἀΐδου-δε to (the house of) Hades, δου-δε δόμεν-δε to his house.

ἀμφότερα-θι on both sides	ἀμφότερα-θεν from both sides	(ἀμφότερα-σι to both sides ) παντ-αχ-οι in every direction	παντ-αχ-ό-θεν from every side	παντ-αχ-ό-σι in all directions
αὐτοῦ in the very place	πάντ-ο-θεν (rare) αὐτό-θεν from the very place	πάντ-ο-σι αὐτό-σι to the very place
ὁμοῦ at the same place	ὁμό-θεν from the same place	ὁμό-σι to the same place
Ἀθήνη-σι at Athens	Ἀθήνη-θεν from Athens	Ἀθήνη-σι to Athens
Ὀλυμπία-σι at Olympia	Ὀλυμπία-θεν from Olympia	Ὀλυμπία-σι to Olympia

a. In -αῖ, -δε is added to the accusative (1589), and stands for -α(ν)ς, the old acc. pl., + -δε (Eng. to). Cp. 26, 106. The other endings are added to the stem. -σι is usually added only to pronominal stems. -σι forms a locative plural. ο sometimes takes the place of α of the first declension (βίβον from the root, stem βιβῶ-), or is added to consonant stems. Words in -τερο- lengthen ο to ω. Between stem and ending αχ is often inserted.

b. -θεν may take the form -δε in poetry, and especially when the idea of whence is lost, as πρόσθε in front (134 D.). -θα is found in ἔνθα in all dialects. -θα for -θεν occurs in Aeolic and Doric.

c. Some local adverbs are made from prepositions, as ἄνω above, ἔξω outside, ἔσω within, κάτω below, πρόσθεν in front.

343. Manner. — Adverbs of manner ending in -ως have the accent and form of the genitive plural masculine with -ς in place of -ν.

δίκαιος	just	genitive plural	δικαίων	δικαίως	justly κακός	bad	"	κακῶν	κακῶς	ill ἀπλοῦς	simple	"	ἀπλῶν	ἀπλῶς	simply σαφής	plain	"	σαφῶν	σαφῶς	plainly
ἡδύς	pleasant	"	ἡδέων	ἡδέως	pleasantly σάφρων	prudent	"	σωφρόνων	σωφρόνως	prudently
ἄλλος	other	"	ἄλλων	ἄλλως	otherwise
πᾶς	all	"	πάντων	πάντως	in every way
ὢν	being	"	ὄντων	ὄντως	really

a. Adverbs in -ως are not formed from the genitive plural, but are originally old ablatives from ο stems (341), and thence transferred to other stems. The analogy of the genitive plural assisted the transference.

344. Various Other Endings. — Adverbs have many other endings, e.g. : —
-α: ἅμα at the same time, μάλα very, τάχα quickly (in Attic prose perhaps).
-ακις: πολλάκις many times, often, ἑκάστας each time, τοσαυτάκις so often, ὁσάκις as often as, πλεωστάκις very often, ὀλιγάκις seldom, πλεονάκις more times. The forms without -ς (ὁσάκι, πολλάκι) are earlier, and -ς has been added by imitation of δίς, τρίς. -θεν: συλλήβδην in short. -δον: ἔνδον within, σχεδόν almost. -α:

παρήμει in full levy (341, locative). -τε: δε when (Aeolic δα, Dor. δα). -τι, -σι: ἐθελοντι voluntarily, 'Ἑλληνιστι in Greek (fashion).

345. Comparison of Adverbs. — In adverbs derived from adjectives the comparative is the same as the neuter singular of the comparative of the adjective; the superlative is the same as the neuter plural of the superlative adjective.

σοφῶς	wisely	σοφώτερον	σοφότατα
χαρίντως	gracefully	χαρίστερον	χαρίστατα
εὐδαιμόνως	happily	εὐδαιμονώτερον	εὐδαιμονότατα
καλῶς	well	κάλλιον	κάλλιστα
ἡδύως	pleasantly	ἡδίον	ἡδιστα
εὖ	well	ἥττον less (319, 2)	ἥκιστα
(adv. of ἀγαθός good)		ἔμεινον	ἔριστα
μᾶλα	very	μᾶλλον	μάλιστα

a. Adverbs of place ending in ω, and some others, retain ω in the comparative and superlative.

ἄνω	above	ἀνωτέρω	ἀνωτάτω
πέραν	afar	περαιτέρω	περαιτάτω

b. ἐγγύς near has ἐγγύτερον (-τέρω), ἐγγυτάτω (-τατα rare). πρῶ early has πρωϊότερον, πρωϊότατα.

c. There are some forms in -ως from comparatives: ἀσφαλεστέως (ἀσφαλέστερον) more securely, βελτιώως (βελτίον) better. Superlatives in -ον are usually poetic; as μέγιστον.

346. Correlative Adverbs. — Adverbs from pronominal stems often correspond in form and meaning. In the list on p. 102 poetic or rare words are in ( ).

a. The demonstratives in ( ) are foreign to Attic prose except in certain phrases, as καὶ ὥς even thus, οὐδ' (μηδ') ὥς not even thus (cp. 180 c); ἐνθα μὲν . . . ἐνθα δέ here . . . there, ἐνθεν (μὲν) καὶ ἐνθεν (δέ) from this side and that. ἐνθα and ἐνθεν are usually relatives, ἐνθα taking the place of οὐ where and οὐ whither, and ἐνθεν of θεν whence.

b. τοτέ μὲν . . . τοτέ δέ is synonymous with τοτέ μὲν . . . τοτέ δέ.

c. οὐν (339 e) may be added for indefiniteness: ὅπουσούν in any way whatever, ὅπουθενούν from what place soever. ποτέ is often used after interrogatives to give an intensive force, as in τίς ποτέ who in the world (as qui tandem); also with negatives, as in οὐποτε never, οὐπόποτε never yet. Other negatives are οὐδαμοῦ nowhere, οὐδαμῇ in no way, οὐδαμῶς in no manner.

346 D. 1. Hom. has (Aeolic) ππ in ὅππῃς, ὅππότε; Hdt. has κ for the π-forms, e.g. κοῦ, κοῦ, δκου, κότε, etc. Hdt. has ἐνθαῦτα, ἐνθεῦτεν for ἐνταῦθα, ἐντεῦθεν (126 D.).

2. Poetic are πόθι for ποῦ, δοῖ for οὐ, ἤμος when, ἡ which way, where, etc.

348. Notation. — The system of alphabetic notation came into use after the second century B.C. The first nine letters stand for units, the second nine for tens, the third nine for hundreds (27 letters). In addition to the 24 letters of the alphabet, three obsolete signs are employed: Ϛ, a form identical with the late abbreviation for στ, in place of the lost Ϛ (3), once used for 6; Ϟ (koppa), in the same order as Lat. q, for 90; for 900, Ϡ sampi, probably for san, an old form of sigma, + pi. From 1 to 999 a stroke stands above the letter, for 1000's the same signs are used but with the stroke below the letter (a' = 1, α' = 1000). Only the last letter in any given series has the stroke above: ρνζ' 157, να' 401, αϠ' 1910. ā is sometimes used for 10,000; β for 20,000, etc.

a. In the classical period the following system was used according to the inscriptions: | = 1, ||| = 4, Γ (πέντε) = 5, Γ| = 6, Δ (δέκα) = 10, ΔΔ = 20, Η (ἑκατόν) = 100, ΗΗ = 200, Χ = 1000, Μ = 10,000, Π (πεντάκις δέκα) = 50, ΠΧ (πεντάκις χίλιοι + χίλιοι) = 6000.

b. For the numbers from 1 to 24 the letters, used in continuous succession, are frequently used to designate the books of the Iliad (Α, Β, Γ, etc.) and of the Odyssey (α, β, γ, etc.).

349. The cardinals from 1 to 4 are declined as follows:

349 D. Hom. has, for μία, ἑα (ἑῆς, ἑῆ, ἑῶν); for ἐν, ἑῶν; δύο, δύο (undeclined); the adj. forms δοῖά and pl. δοῖά regularly declined. For 4, τέσσαρες, (Aeolic) πέντες; Pind. has τέτρασι. Hdt. has δύο sometimes undeclined, also δυῶν, δυοῖσι; τέσσαρες, -α, τεσσέρων, τέσσαρες; τεσσαρεσκαίδεκα 14 undeclined. Aeolic δύοσι 2; πέντες, πέσσα for 4.

	one			two		three		four
Nom.	εἷς	μία	ἓν	N. A.	δύο	τρεῖς	τρία	τέτταρες	τέτταρα
Gen.	ἑνός	μίας	ἑνός	G. D.	δυοῖν	τριῶν		τεττάρων
Dat.	ἐνί	μῇ	ἐνί			τρισι(ν)		τέτταρσι(ν)
Acc.	ἓνα	μίαν	ἓν			τρεῖς	τρία	τέτταρες	τέτταρα

a. εἷς is for ἐν-s (cp. 245). The stem ἐν was originally σεμ (Lat. semel, simpliciter, singuli), weak forms of which are ἀ-παξ, ἀ-πλοῦς, from σμ-π- (35 b). μία stands for σμ-ια.

b. οὐδέ εἷς, μηδὲ εἷς not even one unite (with change in accent) to form the compounds οὐδέις, μηδέις no one. These words are declined like εἷς: thus, οὐδέις, οὐδεμία, οὐδέν, οὐδερός, οὐδεμῆς, οὐδερός, etc., and sometimes in the plural (no μεν, none or nobodies) οὐδέρες, οὐδέρων, οὐδέσι, οὐδέας. For emphasis the compounds may be divided, as οὐδέ εἷς not one. A preposition or ἐν may separate the two parts, as οὐδ' ἀπὸ μίας from not a single one, οὐδ' ἐν ἐνί ne uni quidem.

c. πρῶτος (primus) means the first among more than two, πρότερος (prior) the first of two.

d. δύο may be used with the gen. and dat. pl., as δύο μηνῶν of two months. δυοῖν occurs rarely with plurals: παισιν . . . δυοῖν D. 89. 32. δυσὶν for δυοῖν does not appear till about 300 B.C.

e. ἀμφω both, N. A. ἀμφω, G. D. ἀμφοῖν (Lat. ambo). But both is more commonly ἀμφοτέροι, -αι, -α.

f. For τέτταρες, -ράκοντα, etc., early Attic prose and tragedy have τέσσαρες, etc.

g. The first numeral is inflected in τρεῖς καὶ δέκα 13, τέτταρες καὶ δέκα 14 τριεκαίδεκα and Ionic τρεσσερεσκαίδεκα (very rare in Attic) are indeclinable.

350. The cardinals from 5 to 199 are indeclinable; from 200 the cardinals, and all the ordinals from first on, are declined like ἀγαθός.

a. Compound numbers above 20 are expressed by placing the smaller number first (with καί) or the larger number first (with or without καί).

δύο καὶ εἰκοσι(ν) two and twenty δεύτερος καὶ εικοστός εἰκοσι καὶ δύο twenty and two, or εἰκοσι δύο twenty-two εικοστὸς καὶ δεύτερος 555 = πεντε καὶ πενήκοντα καὶ πεντακῶσι or πεντακῶσι (καί) πενήκοντα (καί) πέντε.

b. For 21st, 31st, etc., εἷς (for πρῶτος) καὶ εικοστός (τριᾶκοστός) is permissible, but otherwise the cardinal is rarely thus joined with the ordinal.

c. Compounds of 10, 20, etc., with 8 and 9 are usually expressed by subtraction with the participle of δέω lack, as 18, 19, δυοῖν (ἐνός) δέοντες εἰκοσι. So πενεὶ μῆς δεοῦσαις τεττάρακοντα with 39 ships, δυοῖν δέοντα πενήκοντα 48 years; and with ordinals ἐνός δέον εικοστὸν ἔτος the 19th year. The same method may be employed in other numbers than 8's or 9's: ἐπὶ ἀποδέοντες τριάκοντα, i.e. 293.

d. An ordinal followed by ἐνί δέκα denotes the day of the month from the 13th to the 19th, as πέμπτη ἐνί δέκα on the 15th.

351. With the collective words (996) ἡ ἱππος cavalry, ἡ δασὺς men with shields, numerals in -οι may appear even in the singular: διακοσιᾷ ἱππος 200 horse T. 1. 62, δασὺς μῦρᾱ καὶ τετρακοσιᾷ 10,400 horse X. A. 1. 7. 10.

352. μῦροι, the greatest number expressed by a single word, means 10,000; μῦροι, countless, infinite. In the latter sense the singular may be used, as μῦρᾱ ἐρημῷ infinite solitude P. L. 677 E.

353. Fractions are expressed in several ways: ἡμισυς  $\frac{1}{2}$ , ὁ ἡμισυς τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ half the number, αἱ ἡμισεῖαι τῶν πλοῶν half of the ships, τὸ ἡμισυ τοῦ στρατοῦ half the army, ἡμιστάλαντον half a talent; τρία ἡμιστάλαντα  $1\frac{1}{2}$  talents, τρίτον ἡμίμναιον  $2\frac{1}{2}$  minae; τρίτημόριον  $\frac{1}{3}$ , πεμπτημόριον  $\frac{1}{5}$ , ἐπίτριτος  $1\frac{1}{3}$ , ἐπίπεμπτος  $1\frac{1}{5}$ , τῶν πέντε αἱ δύο μοῖραι  $\frac{2}{5}$ . But when the numerator is less by one than the denominator, the genitive is omitted and only the article and μέρη are used: as τὰ τρία μέρη  $\frac{3}{4}$ , i.e. the three parts (scil. of four).

354. Other classes of numeral words.

a. Distributives proper, answering the question how many each? are wanting in Greek. Instead, ἀνά, εἰς, and κατὰ, with the accus., and compounds of σύν with, are used: κατὰ δύο or σύνδυο two by two, two each (Lat. bini). The cardinals are often used alone, as ἀνδρὶ ἐκάστῳ δώσω πέντε ἀργυρίου μνᾶς singulis militibus dabo quinas argenti minas X. A. 1. 4. 18.

b. Multiplicatives in -πλοῦς -fold (from -πλος, Lat. -plex), ἀπλοῦς simple, διπλοῦς twofold, τριπλοῦς threefold, πολλαπλοῦς manifold.

c. Proportionals in -πλᾶσις: διπλᾶσις twice as great or (plur.) as many, πολλαπλᾶσις many times as great (many).

d. διττός means double, τριττός treble (from διχ-ιος, τριχ-ιος 112).

N. — Multiplication. — Adverbs answering the question how many times? are used in multiplication: τὰ δὲ πέντε δέκα ἐστὶν twice five are ten. See also 347 N.

e. Abstract and Collective Numbers in -άς (gen. -άδος), all feminine: ἐνάς or μονάς the number one, unity, monad, δυάς the number two, duality, τριάς trinity, triad, δεκάς decad, decade, εἰκάς, ἑκατοντάς, χιλιάς, μῦριάς myriad, ἑκατὸν μῦριάδες a million. Also in -ύς: τριττός (-όος) the third of a tribe (properly the number three), τετρακός.

f. Adjectives in -αῖος, answering the question on what day? δευτεραῖος (or τῇ δευτεραίᾳ) ἀπῆλθε he departed on the second day.

g. Adverbs of Division. — μοναχῇ singly, in one way only, δίχα, διχῇ in two parts, doubly, τριχῇ, τέτραχα, etc., πολλαχῇ in many ways, πανταχῇ in every way.

VERBS

INFLECTION: PRELIMINARY REMARKS (355–380)

355. The Greek verb shows distinctions of voice, mood, verbal noun, tense, number, and person.

354 D. Hdt. has διξός (from διχθ-ιος), τριξός for διττός, τριττός; also -πλησιος and -φασιος. Hom. has δίχα and διχθά, τρίχα and τριχθά; τριπλῇ, τετραπλῇ.

356. Voices. — There are three voices: active, middle, and passive.

a. The middle usually denotes that the subject acts on himself or for himself, as λούομαι wash myself, ἀμύρομαι defend myself (lit. ward off for myself).

b. The passive borrows all its forms, except the future and aorist, from the middle.

c. Deponent verbs have an active meaning but only middle (or middle and passive) forms. If its aorist has the middle form, a deponent is called a middle deponent (χαρίζομαι gratify, εὐχαρισάμην); if its aorist has the passive form, a deponent is called a passive deponent (ἐνθυμέομαι reflect on, ἐνθυμήθην). Deponents usually prefer the passive to the middle forms of the aorist.

357. Moods. — Four moods, the indicative, subjunctive, optative, imperative, are called finite, because the person is defined by the ending (366). The infinitive, strictly a verbal noun (358), is sometimes classed as a mood.

358. Verbal Nouns. — Verbal forms that share certain properties of nouns are called verbal nouns. There are two kinds of verbal nouns.

1. Substantival: the infinitive.

N. — The infinitive is properly a case form (chiefly dative, rarely locative), herein being like a substantive.

2. Adjectival (inflected like adjectives):

a. Participles: active, middle, and passive.

b. Verbal adjectives:

In -τός, denoting possibility, as φιλητός lovable, or with the force of a perfect passive participle, as γραπτός written.

In -τέος, denoting necessity, as γραπτέος that must be written.

359. Tenses. — There are seven tenses in the indicative: present, imperfect, future, aorist, perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect. The future perfect commonly has a passive force, but it may be active or middle in meaning (see 581).

The subjunctive has three tenses: present, aorist, and perfect.

The optative and infinitive have five tenses: present, future, aorist, perfect, and future perfect.

The imperative has three tenses: present, aorist, and perfect.

360. Primary and Secondary Tenses. — There are two classes of tenses in the indicative: (1) Primary (or Principal) tenses, the present and perfect expressing present time, the future and future perfect expressing future time; (2) Secondary (or Historical) tenses, the imperfect, pluperfect, and aorist expressing past time. The secondary tenses have an augment (428) prefixed.

361. Second Aorists, etc.—Some verbs have tenses called second aorists (active, middle, and passive), second perfects and pluperfects (active only), and second futures (passive). The meaning of these tenses ordinarily corresponds to that of the first aorist, etc.; but when a verb has both forms in any tense (which is rarely the case), the two forms usually differ in meaning. Sometimes one form is poetical, the other used in prose.

363. Number.—There are three numbers: the singular, dual, and plural.

364. Person.—There are three persons (first, second, and third) in the indicative, subjunctive, and optative. The imperative has only the second and third persons.

a. Except in a few cases in poetry (465 c) the first person plural is used for the first person dual.

365. Inflection.—The inflection of a verb consists in the addition of certain endings to the different stems.

366. Endings.—The endings in the finite moods (357) show whether the subject is first, second, or third person; and indicate number and voice. See 462 ff.

a. The middle has a different set of endings from the active. The passive has the endings of the middle except in the aorist, which has the active endings.

b. The indicative has two sets of endings in the active and in the middle: one for primary tenses, the other for secondary tenses.

c. The subjunctive uses the same endings as the primary tenses of the indicative; the optative uses the same as those of the secondary tenses.

STEMS

367. A Greek verb has two kinds of stems: (1) the tense-stem, to which the endings are attached, and (2) a common verb-stem (also called theme) from which all the tense-stems are derived. The tense-stem is usually made from the verb-stem by prefixing a reduplication-syllable (439), and by affixing signs for mood (457, 459) and tense (455). A tense-stem may be identical with a verb-stem.

368. The Tense-stems.—The tenses fall into nine classes called tense-systems. Each tense-system has its own separate tense-stem.

SYSTEMS.

TENSES.

I. Present ,	including present and imperfect .
II. Future ,	" future active and middle .
III. First aorist ,	" first aorist active and middle .
IV. Second aorist ,	" second aorist active and middle .
V. First perfect ,	" first perfect , first pluperfect , and fut. perf. , active .
VI. Second perfect ,	" second perfect and second pluperfect active .
VII. Perfect middle ,	" perfect and pluperfect middle (pass.) , future perfect .
VIII. First passive ,	" first aorist and first future passive .
IX. Second passive ,	" second aorist and second future passive .

The tense-stems are explained in detail in 497-597.

a. Since few verbs have both the first and second form of the same tense (361), most verbs have only six of these nine systems; many verbs do not even have six. Scarcely any verb shows all nine systems.

b. There are also secondary tense-stems for the future passive, the pluperfect, and the future perfect.

c. The tense-stems assume separate forms in the different moods.

369. The principal parts of a verb are the first person singular indicative of the tense-systems occurring in it. These are generally six: the present, future, first aorist, first (or second) perfect active, the perfect middle, and the first (or second) aorist passive. The future middle is given if there is no future active. The second aorist (active or middle) is added if it occurs. Thus:

λύω loose, λύσω, ἔλυσα, λέλυκα, λέλυμαι, ἐλύθην.

λείπω leave, λείψω, ἔλοιπα, ἔλειμμαι, ἐλείφθην, 2 aor. ἔλιπον.

γράφω write, γράψω, ἔγραψα, γέγραφα, γέγραμμαι, 2 aor. pass. ἐγράφη.

σκώπτω jeer, σκώψομαι, ἔσκωψα, ἐσκώφθην.

370. The principal parts of deponent verbs (356 c) are the present, future, perfect, and aorist indicative. Both first and second aorists are given if they occur.

βούλομαι wish, βουλήσομαι, βεβούλημαι, ἐβουλήθην (passive deponent).

γίγνομαι become, γενήσομαι, γεγέννημαι, 2 aor. ἐγενόμην (middle deponent).

ἐργάζομαι work, ἐργάσομαι, ἐργασάμην, ἐργασμαι, ἐργάσθην.

371. Verb-stem (or Theme). — The tense-stems are made from one fundamental stem called the verb-stem (or theme).

This verb-stem may be a root (193) as in τι-ω honour, or a root to which a derivative suffix has been appended, as in τι-μά-ω honour.

372. A verb forming its tense-stems directly from a root is called a primitive verb. A denominative verb forms its tense-stems from a longer verb-stem, originally a noun-stem; as δουλώω enslave from δούλος slave. Verbs in μι (379), and verbs in ω of two syllables (in the present indicative active, as λέγ-ω speak) or of three syllables

373. The verb-stem may show numerous modifications in form.

Thus, corresponding to the gradations in sing, sang, sung (35), the verb λείπ-ω leave shows the stems λείπ-, λοιπ- (2 perf. λέ-λοιπ-α), λιπ- (2 aor. ἔ-λιπ-ο-ν); the verb φεύγ-ω flee shows φευγ- and φυγ- (2 aor. ἔ-φυγ-ο-ν). In ῥήγνυμι break we find the three stems ῥηγ-, ρωγ (2 perf. ῥρωγα), ραγ (2 aor. pass. ῥράγγην). στέλλ-ω send has the stems στελ- and σταλ- (perf. ἔ-σταλ-κα, 2 fut. pass. σταλ-ήσομαι).

a. When the fundamental stem shows modifications, it is customary for convenience to call its shorter (or shortest) form the verb-stem, and to derive the other forms from it. The student must, however, beware of assuming that the short forms are older than the other forms.

374. The verb-stem may also show modifications in quantity, as present λύ-ω loose, perfect λέ-λῦ-κα.

N. — Various causes produce this variation. λύω has ū from analogy to λύ-σω, ἔ-λῦ-σα where the verb-stem λύ has been regularly lengthened (534, 543). For Attic φθάνω anticipate Hom. has φθάνω for φθανῶ (28, 147 D.).

375. • Inflection and μ Inflection. — There are two slightly different methods of inflecting verbs, the first according to the common, the second according to the μ system. The names ω-verbs and μ-verbs (a small class) refer to the ending of the first person singular active of the present tense indicative only: λύ-ω loose, τίθη-μι place.

a. In the ω inflection the tense-stem ends in the thematic vowel. To this form belong all futures, and the presents, imperfects, and second aorists showing the thematic vowel.

376. According to the ending of the verb-stem, ω-verbs are termed :

1. Vowel (or pure) verbs :

a. Not contracted: those that end in υ or ι, as λύ-ω loose, παιδεύ-ω educate, χρί-ω anoint. Such verbs retain the final vowel of the stem unchanged in all their forms.

b. Contracted: those that end in α, ε, ο, as τιμῶ honour from τιμά-ω, ποιῶ make from ποιέ-ω, δηλῶ manifest from δηλό-ω.

2. Consonant verbs, as :

Liquid or nasal verbs: δέρ-ω flay, μέν-ω remain.

Verbs ending in a stop (or mute), as ἄγ-ω lead, πείθ-ω persuade.

N. — Verbs ending in a stop consonant are called labial, dental, or palatal verbs. Consonant verbs do not retain the final consonant of the stem unchanged in all their forms. The final consonant may be assimilated to a following consonant, or may form with it a double consonant.

377. Thematic Vowel. — Some tense-stems end in a vowel which varies between ο and ε (or ω and η) in certain forms. This is called the thematic (or variable) vowel. Thus λύο-μεν λύε-τε, λύω-μεν λύη-τε, λύσσομεν λύσσε-τε. The thematic vowel is written  $\circ/\epsilon$  or  $\omega/\eta$ , as  $\lambda\tilde{\omega}^\circ/\epsilon^-$ ,  $\gamma\rho\alpha\phi^\omega/\eta^-$ . See 456.

378.  $\circ$  is used before  $\mu$  or  $\nu$  in the indicative, and in the optative,  $\omega$  before  $\mu$  or  $\nu$  in the subjunctive, elsewhere  $\epsilon$  is used in the indicative ( $\eta$  in the subjunctive).

379. In the  $\mu$  inflection no thematic vowel is employed, and the endings are attached directly to the tense-stem. The  $\mu$  form is used only in the present, imperfect, and second aorist. In the other tenses, verbs in  $\mu$  generally show the same inflection as  $\omega$ -verbs. For further explanation of the  $\omega$  and the  $\mu$  inflection see 602 ff., 717 ff.

380. Meanings of the Tenses and Moods.—In the synopsis (382) meanings are given wherever these are not dependent on the use of the various forms in the sentence. The meanings of the subjunctive and optative forms and the difference between the tenses can be learned satisfactorily only from the syntax. Some of these meanings may here be given:

- a. Subjunctive:  $\lambda\delta\omega\mu\epsilon\nu$  or  $\lambda\delta\sigma\omega\mu\epsilon\nu$  let us loose, ( $\epsilon\tilde{\alpha}\nu$ )  $\lambda\delta\omega$  or  $\lambda\delta\sigma\omega$  (if) I loose, ( $\iota\sigma\alpha$ )  $\gamma\rho\alpha\phi\omega$  (that) I may write.
- b. Optative: ( $\epsilon\tilde{\iota}\theta\epsilon$ )  $\lambda\delta\omicron\iota\mu\iota$  or  $\lambda\delta\sigma\alpha\iota\mu\iota$  (would) that I may loose! ( $\epsilon\iota$ )  $\lambda\delta\omicron\iota\mu\epsilon\nu$  or  $\lambda\delta\sigma\alpha\iota\mu\epsilon\nu$  (if) we should loose.

I. (B) VOWEL VERBS: CONTRACTED VERBS

385. Verbs in -αω, -εω, -οω are contracted only in the present and imperfect. The principles of contraction are explained in 49-55. τιμάω (τιμα-) honour, ποιέω (ποιε-) make, and δηλώω (δηλο-) manifest are thus inflected in the present and imperfect of the active, middle and passive.

Attic prose always, and Attic poetry usually, use the contracted forms.

N. 1. — The open forms of verbs in -αιω are sometimes found in Homer. Verbs in -αιω often show the uncontracted forms in Homer; in Herodotus contraction properly takes place except before ο and ω. Verbs in -αιω never appear in their uncontracted forms in any author.

N. 2. — ποιᾶν sometimes loses its ι (48) except before ο sounds.

REMARKS ON THE CONTRACTED VERBS

393. In the present optative active there are two forms: (1) that with the modal sign -ιγ, having -ν in the 1 sing., and -σαν in the 3 pl.; (2) that with the modal sign -ϊ, having -μῃ in the 1 sing., and -εν in the 3 pl. The first form is more common in the singular, the second in the dual and plural.

τιμέην (rarely τιμῶμῃ), τιμέτον (rarely τιμῶητον), τιμέμεν (rarely τιμῶημεν), ποιέην (rarely ποιόμῃ), ποιέτον (rarely ποιόητον), ποιέμεν (rarely ποιόημεν), δηλοίην (rarely δηλοίμῃ), δηλοίτον (rarely δηλοίητον), δηλοίμεν (rarely δηλοίημεν).

394. Ten verbs in -αω show η where we expect ᾱ. These are διψῶ thirst, ζῶ live, πεινῶ hunger, κνῶ scrape, νῶ spin (rare), σμῶ wash, χρῶ give oracles, χρῶ am eager for (rare), χρῶμαι use, and ψῶ rub. See 641.

395. ζῶ live and χρῶμαι use are inflected as follows in the present indicative, subjunctive and imperative and in the imperfect.

Indic. and Subj.		Imperative		Imperfect
S. 1.	ζῶ χρῶμαι			ἔζων	ἐχρῶμην
2.	ζῆς κρῆ	ζή	χρῶ	ἔχης	ἐχρῶ
3.	ζῇ χρῆται	ζήτω	χρήσθω	ἔχῃ	ἐχρήτε
D. 2.	ζήτον χρῆσθον	ζήτον	χρήσθον	ἐζήτον	ἐχρήσθον
3.	ζήτων χρῆσθον	ζήτων	χρήσθων	ἐζήτην	ἐχρήσθην
P. 1.	ζῶμεν χρῶμεθα			ἔζομεν	ἐχρῶμεθα
2.	ζήτε χρῆσθε	ζήτε	χρήσθε	ἐζήτε	ἐχρήσθε
3.	ζῶσι χρῶνται	ζόντων	χρήσθων	ἔζον	ἐχρῶντο

Infinitive: ζῆν, χρήσθαι. Participle: ζῶν, χρώμενος

396. καίω burn, κλάίω weep, do not contract the forms in which ι has disappeared (38). Thus, κάω, κείεις, κείαι, κέομεν, κείετε, κέουσι.

397. Verbs in -εω of two syllables do not contract ε with ο or ω. The present and imperfect indicative of πλέω sail are inflected as follows.

πλέω	πλέομεν	ἔπλεον	ἐπλόομεν
πλείς	πλείτον	ἔπλεις	ἐπλείτε
πλέ	πλείτων	ἔπλαι	ἐπλείτην and so πλέω, πλόομαι, πλεί, πλείν, πλέων, πλόουσα, πλέον. In like manner θέω run, πνέω breathe.

a. δέω need has δεῖς, δεῖ it is necessary, δέγ, δέοι, δεῖν, τὸ δεόν which is necessary; δέομαι want, request, has δέαι, δεῖται, δέομεθα, δέομαι. But δέω bind is usually an exception, making δεῖς, δεῖ, δεῦμεν, ἔδεον bound, τὸ δεῶν that which binds, δεῦμαι, δεῶνται, but δεόμενον, δεόν appear in some writers.

b. ξέω escape contracts. βδέω, ξέω and τρέω have lost σ; πλέω, θέω, πνέω have lost χ(φ); δέω need is for δευσω; δέω bind is for δειω.

398. Two verbs in -οω, ιδρώω sweat, ρίγωω shiver, may have ω and φ instead of ου and οι. See 641.

Thus, indic. ρίγῶ, ρίγῃς, ρίγῃ (or ρίγοι), opt. ρίγῃην, inf. ρίγῶν (or ρίγοῦν), part. ρίγῶν. So ιδρώω, opt. ιδρώῃ (or ιδροῖ), part. ιδρών (or ιδροῦν).

a. λούω wash, when it drops its ν (43), contracts like δηλώω. Thus, λούω, λούαι, λούαι, but λούμεν (for λο(χ)ο-μεν), λούτε, λούτε; and so in other forms, as λουε, λούται, λούσθαι, λούμενοι.

b. οίμαι think (imperfect φύομαι) has the parallel forms οἶμαι (ψύομαι).

399. Movable ν is never (in Attic) added to the contracted 3 sing. imperfect (ἐποίαι, not ἐποίουν).

PERFECT AND PLUPERFECT MIDDLE (AND PASSIVE)

403. In the perfect and pluperfect middle (and passive) of stems ending in a consonant certain euphonic changes (409) occur upon the addition of the personal endings.

404. Several verbs with stems ending in a short vowel retain that vowel in the perfect (and in other tenses); such stems originally ended in σ; as τελέ-ω finish, from τέλος end (τελεσ-). This σ appears in the perfect middle stem (τετέλε-σ-μαι, τετέλε-σ-ται). In the second person singular and plural but one σ is found: τετέλε-σαι, τετέλε-σθε. By analogy some other verbs have a σ at the end of the verbal stem.

405. In the perfect and pluperfect middle the third person plural of stems ending in a consonant or of stems adding σ consists of the perfect middle participle with εἰσί are (in the perfect) and ἦσαν were (in the pluperfect).

406. Perfect and pluperfect middle and passive of λείπω (λειπ- leave, γράφω (γραφ-) write, πείθω (πειθ-) persuade, πράττω (πρᾶγ-) do.

EXPLANATION OF THE PERFECT AND PLUPERFECT FORMS

408. The periphrastic third plural is used instead of the forms derived directly from the union of the stem with the ending.

Thus, γεγραμμένοι εἰσι is used for γεγραφ-νται which would become γεγράφαται by 35 b, ν between consonants passing into α. The periphrastic form is also used in verbs adding σ to their stems, as τετελε-σ-μένοι εἰσι for τετελε-σ-νται. Stems in ν that drop ν in the perfect system form their perfect and pluperfect regularly; thus, κρίνω (κριν-) judge has κέκρινται, ἐκέκριντο.

N. — On the retention of -αται, -ατο see 465 f.

409. Euphonic Changes. — For the euphonic changes in these forms see 82–87, 103.

a. Labial Stems. — λείπει-μαι is for λελειπ-μαι, λέλειφ-θον is for λελειπ-σθον, λέλειφθε is for λελειπ-σθε (103). In the same manner are inflected other labial stems, as τρίβω (τρίβ-) rub, ῥίπτω (ῥίπ-) throw: τέτριμ-μαι for τετρίβ-μαι, τέτριψαι for τετρίβ-σαι, etc. Stems ending in μπ drop π before μ, but retain it before other consonants. Thus,

πεπεμπ-μαι becomes πέπεμμαι	πεπεμπ-μεθα becomes πεπέμμεθα
πεπεμπ-σαι “ πέπεμψαι	πεπεμπ-σθε “ πέπεμφθε (103)
πεπεμπ-ται “ πέπεμπται

b. Dental Stems. — πέπεισ-ται is for πεπειθ-ται (83), πέπεισ-θον is for πεπειθ-θον (83), πέπεισθε is for πεπειθ-(σ)θε (83, 103). The σ thus produced was transferred to the first persons πέπεισμαι, πεπεισμεθα (86, 87). Like πέπεισμαι, etc., are formed and inflected ψέψωμαι from ψεύδω (ψευδ-) deceive, πέφρασμαι from φράζω (φραδ-) declare, ἔσπεισμαι (100) from σπένδω (σπενδ-) pour a libation.

409 b. D. Hom. has the original forms πεφραδμένος, κεκορυθμένος,

c. Palatal Stems. — πέπρᾱσαι is for πεπρᾱγ-σαι (97), πέπρᾱκται is for πεπρᾱγ-ται (82 a), πέπρᾱχθε is for πεπρᾱγ-σθε (103). Like πέπρᾱγμαι are inflected πλέκω (πλεκ-) weave πέπλεγ-μαι, ἄγω (ἀγ-) lead ἤγμαι, ἀλλάττω (ἀλλαγ-) exchange ἤλλαγμαι, ταράττω (ταραχ-) confuse τετάραγμαι. Stems in -γχ change χ before μ to γ and drop one γ (as in ἐλήλεγ-μαι for ἐληλεγγ-μαι, 85 and 85 b), but keep the second palatal before other consonants (as in ἐλήλεγξαι for ἐληλεγγ-σαι, 97; ἐλήλεγκ-ται for ἐληλεγγ-ται, 82). On the reduplication see 446.

d. Liquid and Nasal Stems. — Stems in λ or ρ are inflected like ἤγγελμαι, as στέλλω (στελ-, σταλ-) send ἔσταλμαι, αἴρω (ἀρ-) raise ἤρμαι, ἐγείρω (ἐγερ-) wake ἐγῆγερμαι (446). Stems in ν retaining the nasal are inflected like πέφασμαι, as σημαίνω (σημαν-) signify σεσήμασμαι. (For -σμαι see 94 a and b.) Stems in ν dropping the nasal (559 a) are inflected like λέλυμαι, as κρίνω (κριν-) judge ἔκριμαι.

e. Vowel Stems adding σ. — Here the stem ends in a vowel except before μ and τ; thus, τετέλε-σαι, τετέλε-σθον, τετέλε-σθε: but τετέλε-σ-μαι, τετελέ-σ-μεθα, τετέλε-σ-ται.

N. — Since the stem of τελέω is properly τελεσ- (τελεσ-ιω, 624), the original inflection is τετελεσ-σαι, whence τετέλε-σαι (107); τετέλεσ-ται; τετελεσ-σθον, τετελεσ-σθε, whence τετέλεσθον, τετέλεσθε (103). τετέλεσμαι and τετελέσμεθα are due to the analogy of the other forms.

410. The forms πέφανσαι, ἐπέφανσο, and πέφανσο are not attested. Cp. 707 a.

411. The principal parts of the verbs in 406–407 are as follows:

ἄγγελλω announce (ἀγγελ-), ἄγγελθω, ἤγγεila, ἤγγεilaκα, ἤγγεilμαι, ἤγγεil-θην.

γράφω write (γραφ-), γράψω, ἔγραψα, γέγραφα, γέγραμμαι, 2 aor. pass. ἔγρέφην.

ἀλέγγω confute (ἄλεγχ-), ἔλέγξω, ἤλεγξα, ἔλεγγμαι, ἔλέγχθην.

λείπω leave (λιπ-, λειπ-, λοιπ-), λείψω, 2 perf. ἔλοιπα, ἔλοιμμαι, ἔλείφθην, 2 a. ἔλιπον.

πιθώ persuade (πιθ-, πιθ-, ποιθ-), πιθήω, ἔπεισα, 1 perf. πέπεικα I have persuaded, 2 perf. πέποιθα I trust, πέπεισμαι, ἐπίσθην.

πράττω do (πρᾱγ-), πρᾶξω, ἔπρᾱξα, 2 perf. πέπρᾱγα I have fared and I have done, πέπρᾱγμαι, ἐπράχθην.

τελέω finish (τελεσ-), τελῶ, ἔτελεσα, τετέleκα, τετέleσμαι, ἐτελέσθην.

φαίνω show (φαν-), φάνῶ, ἔφηνα, 1 perf. πέφαγκα I have shown, 2 perf. πέφηνα. I have appeared, πέφασμαι, ἐφάνθην I was shown, 2 aor. pass. ἔφάνην I appeared.

CONJUGATION OF  $\mu$ -VERBS

412. The conjugation of  $\mu$ -verbs differs from that of  $\omega$ -verbs only in the present, imperfect, and second aorist active and middle; and (rarely) in the second perfect. The  $\mu$  forms are made by adding the endings directly to the tense-stem without any thematic vowel, except in the subjunctive of all verbs, and in the optative of verbs ending in  $\nu\mu$ .

413. Verbs having second aorists and second perfects of the  $\mu$  form are, as a rule,  $\omega$ -verbs, not  $\mu$ -verbs, in the present. Thus, the second aorists:  $\xiβην$  (βαίνω go),  $\xiγνων$  (γινώσκω know); the second perfect:  $\tauέθναμεν$  (θνήσκω die).

414. There are two main classes of  $\mu$ -verbs.

A. The root class. This class commonly ends in  $\eta\mu$  or  $\omega\mu$  (from stems in  $\epsilon$ ,  $\alpha$ , or  $\omicron$ ). The present stem is usually reduplicated, but may be the same as the verb-stem, which is a root.

Verb-stem	Present Stem	Present
$\theta\epsilon$ -, $\theta\eta$ -	$\tau\iota\theta\epsilon$ -, $\tau\iota\theta\eta$ - (for $\theta\iota\theta\epsilon$ , $\theta\iota\theta\eta$ , 125 a)	$\tau\iota\theta\eta\mu$ place
$\xi$ -, $\eta$ -	$\xi\epsilon$ -, $\xi\eta$ - (for $\sigma\iota\sigma\epsilon$ , $\sigma\iota\sigma\eta$ )	$\xi\eta\mu$ send
$\sigma\tau\alpha$ -, $\sigma\tau\eta$ -	$\iota\sigma\tau\alpha$ -, $\iota\sigma\tau\eta$ - (for $\sigma\iota\sigma\tau\alpha$ , $\sigma\iota\sigma\tau\eta$ , 119)	$\iota\sigma\tau\eta\mu$ set
$\delta\omicron$ -, $\delta\omega$ -	$\delta\iota\delta\omicron$ -, $\delta\iota\delta\omega$ -	$\delta\iota\delta\omega\mu$ give
$\phi\alpha$ -, $\phi\eta$ -	$\phi\alpha$ -, $\phi\eta$ -	$\phi\eta\mu\acute{\iota}$ say

B. The  $\nu\mu$  class. This class adds  $\nu$  ( $\nu\bar{\nu}$ ), after a vowel  $\nu\nu$  ( $\nu\bar{\nu}\bar{\nu}$ ), to the verb-stem. In the subjunctive and optative regularly, and sometimes in the indicative, verbs in  $\nu\mu$  are inflected like verbs in  $\omega$ .

Verb-stem	Present Stem	Present
$\delta\epsilon\iota\kappa$ -	$\delta\epsilon\iota\kappa\nu$ -, $\delta\epsilon\iota\kappa\bar{\nu}$ -	$\delta\epsilon\iota\kappa\bar{\nu}\mu$ show
$\xi\upsilon\gamma$ -	$\xi\upsilon\gamma\nu$ -, $\xi\upsilon\gamma\bar{\nu}$ -	$\xi\upsilon\gamma\bar{\nu}\mu$ yoke
$\kappa\epsilon\rho\alpha$ -	$\kappa\epsilon\rho\alpha\nu\nu$ -, $\kappa\epsilon\rho\alpha\nu\bar{\nu}$ -	$\kappa\epsilon\rho\alpha\nu\bar{\nu}\mu$ mix
$\sigma\beta\epsilon$ -	$\sigma\beta\epsilon\nu\nu$ -, $\sigma\beta\epsilon\nu\bar{\nu}$ -	$\sigma\beta\epsilon\nu\bar{\nu}\mu$ extinguish

C. There are some (mostly poetic) verbs in  $\nu\eta\mu$ , which add  $\nu\alpha$ -,  $\nu\eta$ - to form the present stem; as  $\delta\acute{\alpha}\mu\text{-}\nu\eta\text{-}\mu$  I subdue,  $\delta\acute{\alpha}\mu\text{-}\nu\alpha\text{-}\mu\epsilon\nu$  we subdue.

415. All the possible  $\mu$  forms do not occur in any single verb.  $\tau\iota\theta\eta\mu$  and  $\delta\iota\delta\omega\mu$  are incomplete and irregular in the second aorist active; and  $\xi\sigma\beta\eta\nu$  went out from  $\sigma\beta\epsilon\nu\bar{\nu}\mu$  is the only second aorist formed from  $\nu\mu$ -verbs.  $\epsilon\pi\omicron\rho\iota\delta\mu\eta\nu$  I bought, second aorist middle (from the stem  $\pi\omicron\rho\iota\alpha$ - with no present), is given in the paradigms in place of the missing form of  $\iota\sigma\tau\eta\mu$ ; and  $\epsilon\delta\epsilon\nu$  I entered from  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$  (but formed as if from  $\delta\theta\mu$ ) in place of a second aorist of the  $\nu\mu$ -verbs.

416. (A) Root Class. — Inflection of τίθημι place, ἵστημι set, δίδωμι give, in the present, imperfect, and second aorist tenses; and of ἐπράμην I bought.

ACCENT

423. Simple or compound verbs usually throw the accent as far back as the quantity of the last syllable permits (recessive accent, 159).

λῶν, λόμεν, ἐλῶμεν; παιδεύω, παιδεύουσι, ἐπαιδευέτην; ἀποβάλλω, ἀπέβαλλε; ἐτολῶ, ἀπέλυον; ἀπειμι, σέπασμεν, σύμφημι, πάρεστι.

424. To this general rule there are exceptions.

a. Enclitics. — All the forms of φημί say, and εἰμί am, except φῆς and εἶ.

b. Imperatives. — (1) The second person sing. of the second aorist active imperative of five verbs is oxytone: εἰπέ say, ἐλθέ come, εὖρε find, ἰδέ see, λαβέ take. Their plurals are accented εἰπέτε, ἐλθέτε, etc.; compounds have recessive accent: ἐκταίπε, ἀπελθε, ἔφευρε, παράλαβε.

(2) The second aorist middle (2 sing.) is perispomenon, as λαβοῦ, παραβαλοῦ, κελεοῦ.

c. Contracted verbs are only apparent exceptions: thus, e.g., τίμῃ for τίμει, ἐηλοῦσι for δηλοῦσι, φιλεῖν for φιλέειν. So the subjunctive of the first and second aorist passive λυθῶ for λυθέω, φανῶ for φανέω; the optatives λυθεῖμεν from λυθέ-ι-μεν, διδοῖμεν from διδό-ι-μεν; the futures φανῶ for φανέω, φανοίμι for φανέοιμι, φανῆν for φανέειν, φανῶν for φανέων; λιπεῖν for λιπέειν; and the present and second aorist active and middle subjunctive of most μ-verbs, as τιθῶ for τιθέω, ιστῶμαι, θῶμαι, perf. κεκῶμαι. On διδούσι, τιθεῖσι, see 468 d.

N. 1. — In athematic optatives the accent does not recede beyond the diphthong containing -i-, the sign of the optative mood: ισταῶ, ισταίμεν, ισταῖτο, διδοῖτο; and so in λυθεῖμεν, λυθεῖεν.

N. 2. — δύναμαι am able, ἐπίσταμαι understand, κρέμαμαι hang, ὀνήνημι profit, and ἐντρίμην bought (749 b, 750 b, 757 a) have recessive accent in the subjunctive and optative (δύνωμαι, ἐπίστωμαι, δύναίτο, κρέμαίτο).

d. Poetic forms sometimes fail to follow the rule, as έών being.

425. Infinitives, participles, and verbal adjectives are verbal nouns (358), and hence do not regularly show recessive accent.

a. Infinitives. — The following infinitives accent the penult: all infinitives in -αι, as λελυκέναι, λυθῆναι, ιστάναι, στήναι (except Epic -μεναι, as στήμεναι); in verbs in ω the first aorist active, as λῦσαι, παιδεύσαι, the second aorist middle, as λεπίσθαι, the perfect (middle) passive, as λελύσθαι, πεπαιδευθῆναι, πεποιθῆναι.

N. — The present inf. of contracted verbs and the second aorist active inf. of ω-verbs have the perispomenon by 424 c.

b. Participles. — (1) Oxytone: the masculine and neuter sing. of the second aorist active, as λυπών, λυπόν; and of all participles of the third declension ending in -ς in the masculine (except the first aorist active), as λυθείς λυθέν, λελυκώς λελυκός, ἐστώς ἐστός, τιθείς τιθέν, διδούς διδόν, ιστάς ιστάν, δεικνός δεικνόν (but λόσας, ποτήσας). Also ών going from εἶμι.

426 a. D. The 2. aor. mid. inf. in Hom. is recessive in ἀγέρεσθαι (ἀγείρω assemble); so the perf. ἀλάλησθαι (ἀλάομαι wander), ἀκάχησθαι (ἀχνημι am distressed).

(2) Paroxytone: the perfect middle (passive): λελυμένος.

N. — Participles are accented like adjectives, not like verbs. The fem. and neuter nom. accent the same syllable as the masc. nom. if the quantity of the ultima permits, thus παιδεύων, παιδεύουσα, παιδεύον (not παιδευον); ποιησᾶς, ποιησᾶσα, ποιήσαν (not ποίησαν); φιλῶν, φιλοῦσα, φιλοῦν (from φιλέω).

c. Verbal Adjectives. — The verbal adjective in -τος is accented on the ultima (λυτός); that in -τεος on the penult (λυτέος).

N. — Prepositional compounds in -τος denoting possibility generally accent the last syllable and have three endings (286), as διαλυτός dissoluble, ἐξαιρετός removable. Such compounds as have the force of a perfect passive participle accent the antepenult and have two endings, as διάλυτος dissolved, ἐξαιρετός chosen. All other compounds in -τος accent the antepenult and have two endings, as ἀβατος impassable, χειροποίητος artificial.

426. Exceptions to the recessive accent of compound verbs. — a. The accent cannot precede the augment or reduplication: ἀπειμι am absent, ἀπῆν was absent, εἰσ-ἦλθον they entered, ἀπ-ῆσαν they were absent; ἀφ-ἔλκει arrived (cp. ἵκται).

N. — A long vowel or diphthong not changed by the augment receives the accent: ὑπ-εἰκε was yielding (indic. ὑπ-εἰκω, imper. ὑπ-εἰκε).

b. The accent cannot precede the last syllable of the preposition before the simple verb nor move back to the first of two prepositions: περίθες put around, συνέκδος give up together (not σύνεκδος), συνκάθες put down together (not σύνκαθες). Compounds of the second aorist active imperatives δός, ἔς, θές, and σχές are thus paroxytone: ἐπίθες set on, περίθες put around, ἐπίσχε hold on.

c. When compounded with a monosyllabic preposition, monosyllabic second aorist middle imperatives in -οῦ from μ-verbs retain the circumflex: προδοῦ betray, ἐνθοῦ put in. But the accent recedes when these imperatives prefix a dissyllabic preposition: ἀπόδου sell, κατάθου put down. The open forms always have recessive accent, as ἐνθεο, κατάθεο.

d. The accent of uncompounded infinitives, participles, aorist passive, perfect passive, and of the second aorist middle imperative (2. p. sing., but see 426 c) is retained in composition.

e. ἀπέσται will be far from, ἐπέσται will be upon do not have recessive accent.

f. Compound subjunctives are differently accentuated in the Mss.: ἀποδῶμαι and ἀπόδωμαι, ἐπιθῆται and ἐπιθήται; the aorist of ιημι has προῶμαι and πρόωμαι. ἀπέχω has ἀπόσχωμαι. Compound optatives retain the accent of the primitives: ἀποδοίτο, as δοίτο. For συνθοίτο, προσθοίσε (746 c) the Mss. occasionally have σύνθοιτο, πρόσθοισθε; and so πρόιτο.

427. Final -αι (and -οι) are regarded as long in the optative (160), elsewhere as short. Hence distinguish the forms of the first aorist.

	3. Sing. Opt. Act.	Inf. Act.	2. Sing. Imper. Mid.
λύω	λύσαι	λύσαι	λύσαι
ἀπολύω	ἀπολύσαι	ἀπολύσαι	ἀπόλυσαι
παιδεύω	παιδεύσαι	παιδεύσαι	παίδευσαι

425 b (2) D. But Hom. has ἀλαλήμενος (ἀλάομαι wander), ἀκαχήμενος or ἀκχήμενος (ἀχυνμαι am distressed), ἑσύμενος (σεύω drive).

AUGMENT

428. The augment (increase) denotes past time. It appears only in the secondary or past tenses of the indicative mood, namely, imperfect, aorist, and pluperfect. The augment has two forms, the syllabic and the temporal.

429. Syllabic Augment. — Verbs beginning with a consonant prefix ε as the augment, which thus increases the word by one syllable. In the pluperfect ε is prefixed to the reduplication.

λύω	loose	ἔλυον	ἔλυσα	ε-λελύκη
παιδεύω	educate	ἐ-παιδεον	ἐ-παιδεуса	ε-πεπαιδεύκη

a. Verbs beginning with ρ double the ρ after the augment. ῥιπτω throw, ἔρριπτον, ἔρριψα, ἔρριφθην; ῥήγνυμι break, ἔρρηξα, ἔρράγην.

N. — ρρ is here due to assimilation of ρρ, as in Hom. ἔρρεξα did (and ἔρεξα); of σρ in ἔσρεον flowed. Cp. 80 a.

430. βούλομαι wish, δύναμαι am able, μέλλω intend augment with ε or with η (especially in later Attic); thus, ἐβούλομην and ἡβουλόμην, ἐδυνάμην and ἡδυνάμην, ἐδυνήθην and ἡδυνήθην.

a. These forms seem to be due to parallelism with ἡθέλον (from θέλω wish) and ἡθελον (from θέλω).

431. Some verbs beginning with a vowel take the syllabic augment because they formerly began with a consonant. Thus,

ἔγνυμι break (φάγνυμι), ἔφα, aor. pass. ἔβην.

ἄλίσκομαι am captured (φαλίσκομαι), imperf. ἤλίσκόμην, aor. ἔαλον (with temporal augment) or ἦλων.

ἑτάδην please (φανδάνω), aor. ἔαδον (Ionic).

ἀν-οίγω open (φοίγνυμι), imperf. ἀν-έγω.

ἔω permit (σεῖω), ἔων, ἔῶσα, ἔῶσθην.

ἔβην accustom (σφεθίζω, cp. 123), ἔβηον, ἔβησα, ἔβησθην.

ἔλιττω roll (φαλίττω), ἔλιπτον, ἔλιξα, ἔλιχθην.

ἔλασσε or ἔλασσε draw (σάλασσε), ἔλασκον, ἔλασκυσα, ἔλακύσθην.

ἔπομαι follow (σπομαι), ἔπόμεν.

ἐργάζομαι work (φργάζομαι), ἐργασάμην.

ἐστίαω entertain (φστίαω), ἐστίων, ἐστίασα, ἐστίασθην.

430 a. D. Hom. has ἔλλαβε took (for ἐ-σλαβε), ἔννεον swam (for ἐ-σνεον), ἔσσειε shook (for ἐ-τσειε), ἔδδαισε feared (for ἐ-δσειε). ἔμμαθε learned is due to analogy.

431 D. Syllabic augment in Homer before a vowel is a sure proof of initial φ in ἔειπεν and some other verbs. Similar Ionic and poetic forms occur from ἔιδον, ἔλω, ἔρω, ἔπω, ἔννυμι, ἔρδω, ἔνοχοῦ, etc.

ENDINGS OF THE VERB : PERSONAL ENDINGS

462. To make the complete verbal forms, to the tense-stems in the various moods are attached the personal endings in the finite moods and other endings in the infinitives, participles, and verbal adjectives. See 366. The personal endings of the four finite moods are given below. In many forms only the  $\mu$ -verbs preserve distinct endings. Some of the endings are due to analogy of others and many are still unexplained. The first person dual, when it is used, has the form of the first person plural.

463. PRIMARY ENDINGS OF THE ACTIVE (IND. AND SUBJ.)

a. 1 Sing. —  $\mu$  is found only in  $\mu$ -verbs. Verbs in  $-\omega$  have no ending and simply lengthen the thematic vowel ( $\lambda\acute{o}\omega$ ,  $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\iota\pi\omega$ ). The perfect has no personal ending,  $-a$  taking the place of a thematic vowel.

b. 2 Sing. — (1)  $-\sigma\iota$  is found in Hom. ἔσσι thou art from the  $\mu$ -verb εἰμι I am; possibly also in φῆς thou sayest. Attic εἰ thou art is derived from  $-\sigma\iota$ .  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\sigma$  is obscure.  $\lambda\acute{\delta}\epsilon\iota\varsigma$  is probably for  $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\epsilon\sigma\iota$ ,  $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\epsilon\iota$ ,  $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\epsilon\iota$ , to which  $\varsigma$  has been added. Subj.  $\lambda\acute{\omicron}\theta\eta\sigma$  follows the analogy of the indicative, but with long thematic vowel.  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\varsigma$  for  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\acute{\epsilon}\eta\varsigma$ . In the perfect  $-\varsigma$  (not for  $-\sigma\iota$ ) has been added.

(2)  $-\theta\alpha$  is a perfect ending, as in οἶσθα knowest for  $\omicron\iota\delta + \theta\alpha$  (83). From the perfect it spread to the imperfects ἦσθα wast, ἦεισθα wentst, ἔφησθα saidst, and to ἦδυσθα or ἦδεισθα knewest. The perfect has commonly  $-a\varsigma$ . οἶσθας and ἦσθας are late.

c. 3 Sing. —  $-\tau\iota$  is found in  $\mu$ -verbs: ἔσ-τι,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\sigma\iota$  for  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\tau\iota$  (Doric) by 115.  $\lambda\acute{\delta}\epsilon\iota$  is obscure, but it cannot be derived from  $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\epsilon\sigma\iota$  for  $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\epsilon\tau\iota$ .  $\lambda\acute{\omicron}\theta\eta$ ,  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta$  (for  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\acute{\epsilon}\eta$ ) follow  $\lambda\acute{\delta}\epsilon\iota$ , but with long thematic vowel. In the perfect,  $-\epsilon$  with no personal ending.

d. 3 Pl. — Original  $-\ντι$  is retained in Doric λῶντι, whence Attic λῶσι (115 a); ἐντι, Attic εἰσι. Subj. λῶσι from λῶν-ντι, τιθῶσι from τιθέω-ντι, ποιῶσι from ποιῶντι (Dor.). Many  $\mu$  forms are derived from  $-\αντι$ , as τιθέῃσι (τιθέ-αντι), διδῶσι (διδῶ-αντι), ἐστῶσι (ἐστῶ-αντι), ιστῶσι (from ιστῶ-αντι), the accent of which has been transferred to τιθέῃσι (747 D. 1), διδῶσι from (Dor.) τιθε-ντι, διδῶ-ντι.  $-\ῃσι$  from  $-\ντι$  (35 b), properly the ending of the perfect after a consonant, appears as  $-\ῶσι$  in Hom. πεφύκῃσι; but it has been replaced by  $-\ῶσι$  out of  $-\αντι$ , as in τετραφ-ῶσι.

464. SECONDARY ENDINGS OF THE ACTIVE (IND. AND OPT.)

The optative usually has the endings of the secondary tenses of the indicative.

463 a. D. The Hom. subj. ἐθέλωμι, τύχωμι, ἀγάγωμι, are new formations. Aeolic has φίλωμι, δοκίμωμι (indic.).

b. (1) εἰς or εἰ in Hom. and Hdt. is derived from  $\epsilon\iota + \varsigma$ . For this form εἶσε(ι) may be read in Hom. Theocr. has  $-\epsilon\varsigma$  for  $-\epsilon\iota\varsigma$  (ἀμέλγες, etc.) and perf. πεπνῶσθαι (567. 2. D.).

b. (2)  $-\sigma\theta\alpha$  in Hom. indic. φῆσθα, τίθησθα, ἦδυσθα; subj. ἐθέλῃσθα also written ἐθέλησθα; opt. (rarely) κλαίωσθα, βάλωσθα.  $-\sigma\theta\alpha$  occurs also occasionally in Doric (ποθορῆσθα) and Aeolic (ἔχουσθα, φίλῃσθα).

c. Aeolic has τίθη, ποίη, στεφάνοι, but ῆσι αἰγῶν. Subj.: Hom. ἐθέλῃσι (also written ἐθέλησι; cp. Arcad. ἔχη). φορέῃσι, θέρῃσι.

d. Hom. has  $-\ῶσι$  in τῶσι they go, ἔῶσι they are, and in βεβῶσι, γεγῶσι. Aeolic has λῶσι, φίλῃσι, τίμῃσι.

464 a. D.  $-\nu$  for  $-\mu$  is very rare (τρέφουν in Eur., ἀμάρτουν in Cratinus).

c. Doric ῆς was for ἦσ(τ).

e.  $-\nu$  is regular in Doric and common in Hom. and later poetry; as ἔστῃ-ν

a. 1 Sing. — -ν stands for μ (133 c), cp. ἔφερον, Skt. ābhara-m. After a consonant μ (sonant nasal, 20 b, 35 c) became α: ἐλύσα for ἐλύσμ, Epic ῥα was for ῥ(σ)α from ῥσμ. In the pluperfect -η is from ε-α (467). -ν is found in the optative when the mood suffix is -ιη-; elsewhere the optative has -μ.

b. 2 Sing. — On -σθα see 463 b (2).

c. 3 Sing. — -τ dropped (133 b) in ἐλῦε, ἐτίθη, and in the opt. λδοι, εἴη (cp. Old Lat. sied). ἐλύσε has its -ε from the perfect (cp. οἶδε) and shows no personal ending.

d. Dual. — -την is rarely found for -τον in the 2 dual (εὐρέτην in Plato). Hom. has ετεύχετον as 8 dual.

e. 3 Pl. — -ν for -ντ by 133 b. -σαν (taken from the 1 aorist) is used (1) in the imperf. and 2 aor. of μ-verbs, as ἐτίθεσαν, ἔθεσαν; (2) in the aor. pass. ἐλύθησαν, ἐφάνησαν (here -ν preceded by a short vowel occurs in poetry, 585 a. D.); (3) in the pluperf. ἐλελύκεσαν; (4) in the opt. when -ιη- is the modal suffix (460). In the opt. -σαν is rare.

465. ENDINGS OF THE MIDDLE (INDIC., SUBJ., OPT.)

a. 2 Sing. — Primary -σαι retains its σ in the perfect of all verbs (ἔλυσαι), and in the pres. of μ-verbs (τίθειςαι). Elsewhere σ drops between vowels, as in λόη or λδοι from λδεσαι, λυθήση or -ει, φανῆ from φανέσαι, τίμῃ from τίμάσαι; subj. λόη from λόησαι, φῆνῃ from φῆνησαι, θῆ from θεσαι, δῶ from δώησαι, ῆ from ξησαι, φιλῆ from φιλέησαι, δηλοῖ from δηλόη = δηλόησαι.

N. 1. — The forms -η and -ει are found in the present, future, and future perfect. See 628.

N. 2. — δύνα and δύνη for δύνασαι, ἐπίστα and ἐπίστη for ἐπίστασαι, ἐφίει for ἐφίεσαι, are poetic and dialectic or late.

b. 2 Sing. — -σο stays in all plups. and in the imperf. of μ-verbs. Elsewhere it loses its σ, as in ἐλδοι from ἐλδεσο, ἐλδσω from ἐλδσασο, ἐφήνω from ἐφήνασο, ἐλίπου from ἐλίπεσο, ἔθου from ἔθεσο, ἐπρίω from ἐπρίασο, ἐτίμω from ἐτίμασο, ἐφιλοῦ from ἐφιλέεσο. In the optative, λδοιω, λικοιω, τιθεῖω, εἰω, λδσαιω, from λδοισο, etc.; τίμω from τίμαισο.

N. 1. — ἐδύνω or ἡδύνω and ἡπίστω are commoner than ἐδύνασο and ἡπίστασο from δύναμαι am able and ἐπίσταμαι understand.

N. 2. — After a diphthong or a long vowel in the 2 aor. indic. mid. -σο is retained, as εἰσο (ἰημι send), ὠνησο (ὀνίημι benefit).

(ἔστησαν), ἔτιδο-ν (ἐτιδοσαν), φιληθεν (ἐφιλήθησαν), τράφεν (ἐτράφησαν). The short vowel before ν(τ) is explained by 40. Hom. ῥε-ν were became ῥν, used in Dor. as 3 pl.; in Attic it was used as 3 sing.

465 a. D. Hom. has βούλειαι, perf. μέμνηται, but pres. δύνασαι, παρίστασαι; ὄφει is unique (for ὄφειαι); subj. δύνηται. Doric often contracts, as οἷη for οἷεαι. Aeolic generally leaves εαι open (κεῖσε-αι). Hdt. has open -εαι, -ηαι.

b. Hom., Doric, and Aeolic have generally open forms, as Hom. βάλλε-ο (rarely βάλλευ), ὠδύσα-ο. ἔρειω, σπείω are from -εεω. Hom. has ἐμάρναο for Attic ἐμάρνασο, and may drop σ even in the pluperfect (ἔσσινω). When Doric contracts αο we have ᾶ. In Hdt. αο, εο are open, but the writing ευ for εο is found.

c. Dual.—The 1 pl. is used for the 1 dual except in the three poetic forms περιδόμεθον, λελείμεθον, ὀρώμεθον. Hom. has -σθον for -σθην in θωρήσσεσθον.

d. 1 Pl.—In epic and dramatic poetry -μεσθα is often used for -μεθα for metrical reasons (βουλόμεσθα, ἐπιστάμεσθα).

e. 2 Pl.—On the loss of σ in σθε (ἔσταλθε), see 103.

f. 3 Pl.—After vowel stems -νται, -ντο are preserved. After stems ending in a consonant -νται, -ντο became -αται, -ατο by 35 b. These forms were retained in prose till about 400 B.C. (e.g. τετάχεται, ἐτετάχато).

466.

ENDINGS OF THE IMPERATIVE

1. Active.

a. 2 Sing.—λῦε, λίπε, τίθει (for τίθεε) have not lost -θι. -θι is found in 2 aor. pass. φάγη-θι; in στή-θι and ἔστα-θι; in some 2 aorists, like γνώ-θι, ἤλθ-θι, πῖ-θι, which are μ forms though they have presents of the ω form (887). Also in ἰσ-θι be or κνω, ἴθι go, φάθι or φαθί say. λύθητι is for λυθηθι by 125 b.

b. -s occurs in θές, ἔs, δός, σχές (and in the rare θίγες, πείs). This -s is not derived from -θι.

c. λῦσ-ον aor. act. and λῦσ-αι aor. mid. are obscure in origin.

2. Middle.

a. 2 Sing.—-σο retains its σ in the (rare) perf. of all verbs and in the pres. of μ-verbs (ἄλυσσο, τίθεσο, ἰστασο). Elsewhere σ is dropped, as in λδου from λδε-σο, λιποῦ from λιπέ-σο, θοῦ from θέ-σο, οῦ from ἐ-σο, πρίω from πρία-σο, τιμῶ from τιμέ-σο.

N.—τίθου, ἰστω, δίδου are poetic or late.

3. 3 Pl.—For -ντων and -σθων we find -τῶσαν and -σθωσαν in prose after Thucydides, in Euripides, and in inscriptions after 300 B.C. Thus, λύετῶσαν, λύσάτῶσαν, λυέσθωσαν, λυσάσθωσαν, λυθήτῶσαν, λιπέτῶσαν, λιπέσθωσαν, φηνάσθωσαν, φαρήτῶσαν, τιμάσθωσαν, φιλείσθωσαν, γεγράφθωσαν, πεπελίσθωσαν, τιθέτῶσαν, διδότησαν, θέτῶσαν, τιθέσθωσαν, θέσθωσαν, ἔτῶσαν, ἔσθωσαν.

N.—ἔστων for όντων is rare. Attic inscriptions have (very rarely) -τῶσαν.

f. -αται, -ατο occur in Hom. regularly in the perfect and pluperfect of consonant stems, as τετράφαται, ἔαται for ἔσ-νται, ἤατο for ἤσ-ντο from ἤμαι (ἡμαι); also in stems ending in -ι, as ἐφθίατο. -αται, -ατο were transferred to vocalic stems, as βεβλήαται, βεβλήατο, Hdt. δυνέαται. Hom. has -δ-αται in ἐληλάδαται from ἐλαύνω drive. In the opt. -ατο always (γεωλάτο for γένουιντο). In Hdt. η before -αται, -ατο is shortened, as perf. ἡγάαται for ἡγή-αται = ἡγηνται, ἱεβλέατο for -ηατο. For κείνται, Hom. κέαται and κέαται, Hdt. has κέαται. In the opt. Hdt. has -ατο: βουλοίατο, δεξαίατο. In Hdt. -αται, -ατο occur even in the present system, ταθέαται, δυνέαται, ἰστέατο.

466 a. D. -θι is not rare in Hom., pres. δίδωθι = δίδου, δρυνθι, aor. κλῦθι, perf. τέτλαθι. Aeolic has ἰσά, φίλη, πεί, δέχοι, δίδοι (Pindar) are very rare.

3. Doric has also -ντω, as in παρεχόντω; Aeolic -ντον, as φέροντον. Doric has -σθω (pl.) and -σθων.

ENDINGS OF THE PLUPERFECT, ENDINGS IN σθ

467. Endings of the Pluperfect Active.—-η, -ης, -ει(ν) are derived from -ε(σ)α, -ε(σ)ας, -ε(σ)ε. In later Greek the endings are -ειν, -εις, -ει(ν), -ειτον, -ειτην, -ειμεν, -ειτε, and very late -εισαν.

468. The Endings *-σθε, -σθω, -σθοι, -σθων, -σθαι (409 N.) has no exact parallel in cognate languages, and seems to have spread in Greek from forms like τετέλεσ-θε, ἔξωσ-θε, etc., where a sigma-stem was followed by original -θε.

ENDINGS OF THE INFINITIVE, PARTICIPLE, AND VERBAL ADJECTIVE

469. Infinitive.—The following are the endings added to the tense-stem to make the infinitive.

- a. -εν: in present and 2 aorist active of ω-verbs, all futures active. Thus, λῶειν, τιμᾶν, λιπεῖν, λῶσειν, φανεῖν from λθε-εν, τιμάε-εν, λιπέ-εν, λῶσε-εν, φανέ-εν.
- b. -αι: in 1 aor. active, as λῦσαι, παιδεῦσαι, δεῖξαι.
- c. -ναι: (1) present, 2 perf. of μ-verbs, the two passive aorists, as τιθέ-ναι, ἐστά-ναι, λυθῆ-ναι, φανῆ-ναι; (2) perfect active, λελυκέ-ναι, and εἰδέ-ναι from εἰδ-ε (οἶδα).

N. 1.—The ending εναί appears in the 2 aor. of μ-verbs, as δοῦναι from δό-εναί, θείναι from θέ-εναί.

d. -σθαι: in other cases.

N. 2.—The infinitives are old cases of substantives, those in -αι being datives, the others locatives.

470. Participles.—The stem of the participle is formed by adding the following endings to the tense stem.

- a. -ντ-: in all active tenses except the perfect, and in 1 and 2 aor. passive (301).
- b. -οντ-: in the perfect active (for -φοντ-); masc. -ώς, fem. -ύια, neut. -ός (301 c).
- c. -μενο-: in the middle, and in the passive except in the aorist.

471. Verbal Adjectives.—Most of the verbals in -τός and -τέος are formed by adding these suffixes to the verbal stem of the aorist passive (first or second). Thus, φιλητός, -τέος (ἐ-φιλή-θην); πειστός, -τέος (ἐ-πείσ-θην); τελεστός, -τέος (ἐ-τελέσ-θην); σταλτός, -τέος (ἐ-στάλ-θην); βλητός, -τέος (ἐ-βλή-θην). On the accent of compound verbals, see 425 c.

467 D. Hom. has -εα, -ης, -ει or ει-ν (-εε only in ῆδεε), -εσαν, and rarely -ον, -ες, -ε; Hdt. has -εα, -εας, -εε (-ει?), -εατε, -εσαν.

469 D. -εν appears also in Hom. ιδέεν (miswritten ιδέειν). Hom. has no case of -εναί (for λέναι write ιμεναι). For -εν or -ναι Hom. often uses -μεναι (also Aeolic) and -μεν (which is also Doric); both endings show the accent on the preceding syllable, as γεννόμεναι, ἔμμεναι (= εἶναι), φιλήμεναι, στήμεναι, ἐστάμεναι, ἀξέμεναι, ὁμοιωθήμεναι, δαήμεναι; τιθέμεν, ἔμμεν, ἔμεν, θέμεν, ἐλθέμεν, ἀξέμεν. Doric has -μεν in the aorist passive, as αἰσχυνόμεν. -μεν is preceded by a short syllable and generally stands before a vowel. -ναι always follows a long vowel. Doric has -ην and -εν in the present. Aeolic has -ην in the present and 2 aorist.

a. Some are derived from other stem forms (pres. and fut.), as φάρ-τός, ἰ-τέος, δυνα-τός; μανε-τός (cp. μανέ-ω = μανῶ fut.).

472. Verbals in -τός, -τή, -τόν either (1) have the meaning of a perfect passive participle, as κρυπτός hidden, παιδευτός educated, or (2) express possibility, as ροητός thinkable, ὁράτός visible. Many have either signification, but some are passive only, as ποιητός done. See 425 c. N.

a. Usually passive in meaning are verbals from deponent verbs, as μιμητός imitated.

b. Usually active in meaning are compounds derived from transitive active verbs; but some intransitive verbs make active verbals, as ρυτός flowing.

c. Many are active or passive, others only active: μεμπτός blamed, blamable, blaming, πιστός trusting in (rare), trusted, ἀπρακτός doing nothing, not done, φθγγτός sounding.

473. Verbals in -τέος, -τέα, -τέον express necessity (cp. the Lat. gerundive in -ndus), as δοτέος that must be given, παιδευτέος educandus.

FORMATION OF THE TENSE-SYSTEMS (Ω AND MI-VERBS)

CHANGES IN THE VERB-STEM

474. From the verb-stem (or theme) each tense-stem is formed by the addition of a tense-suffix (455) or of a prefix, or of both. In 475-495 certain modifications of the verb-stem are considered.

475. Variation in Quantity. — Many verbs of the first class (498 ff.) show variation in the quantity of the vowel of the verb-stem, which is commonly long in the present but fluctuates in other tenses, as λύ-ω, λύ-σω, ἔλυ-σα, but λέλυ-κα, λέλυ-μαι, ἐλύ-θην. (Other examples, 500.)

a. Some verbs of the Fourth Class (523 c) lengthen a short vowel of the present in some other tenses. Thus, λαμβάνω (λαβ-) take, λήψομαι, ἐλήφα, ἐλήμμαι, ἐλήφθην, but 2 aor. ἔλαβον.

476. Vowel Gradation (35, 36). — Verbs of the first class show a variation between a strong grade (or two strong grades) and a weak grade. The weak grades, ι, υ, α, appear especially in the second aorist and second passive systems; the corresponding strong grades, αι (αι), ευ (ου), η (ω), appear usually in the other systems (αι, ου, ω, in the second perfect).

a. Expulsion of a short vowel between consonants (so-called syncope 498) produces a weak form of the stem of the same grade as ι, υ, α (36). Cp. γί-γνομαι become (aor. ἔ-γεν-ό-μην), ἔ-πτ-ό-μην (pres. πίτ-ο-μαι fly) with ἔ-λιπ-ο-ν, ἔ-φυγ-ο-ν, ἔ-τάκ-η-ν (477 c). So ἔ-σχ-ο-ν got from ἔχ-ω have.

b. α is the weak form of η (α), as in τήκω έτάκην; and of ε, when ε has λ, μ, ν, ρ before or after it, as in τρέπω, έτράπην (479).

477. The following examples illustrate the principles of 476.

a. αι οι ι: λείπω leave, λείψω, 2 perf. ἔλειπα, ἔλειμμαι, ἔλειφθην, 2 aor. ἔλιπον.

N. — The weak form appears when the verb undergoes Attic reduplication (446); as in ἀλείφω anoint, 2 perf. ἀλήλιφα, ἀλήλιμαι; ἐρείκω tear (Ionic and poetic), 2 perf. ἐρήριγμαi, 2 aor. ἤρικον; ἐρείπω overthrow, Epic ἐρήριπα; but ἐρείδω prop, ἐρήρεισμαι.

b. εὐ οὐ ν: ἐλεύ(θ)σομαι I shall go, 2 perf. ἐλήλυθα (Epic ἐλήλουθα), 2 aor. (Epic ἤλυθον); φεύγω flee, φεύξομαι or φευξομαι, 2 perf. πέφευγα, 2 aor. ἔφυγον; βέω flow (for βευ-ω, 43), βέυσσομαι, ἐρβύηκα (βυε-), 2 aor. pass. ἐρβύην.

N. — χέω pour (for χευ-ω, 43), ἔχεα (for ἔχευα), has υ in κέχυκα, κέχυμαι, ἐχύθη; σέώ (poetic) urge, ἔσσευα, ἔσσυμαι, ἐσσύθη or ἐσύθη rushed. See also τεύχω in the List of Verbs.

c. η α a: ῥήγ-νυμι break, ῥήξω, ἔρρηξα, 2 perf. ἔρρωγα, 2 aor. pass. ἐρράγην; τήκ-ω melt, τήξω, ἔτηξα, τέτηκα, ἐτήχθη, 2 aor. pass. ἐτάκην.

N. — Verbs of class c usually have α in the 2 aorist, ω in the 2 perfect (if there is one), elsewhere η. ω occurs in the present in τρώγω gnaw, 2 aor. ἔτραγον.

478. Change of ε to ο in the Second Perfect. — In the second perfect ε of the verb-stem is changed to ο.

κλέπ-τ-ω steal κέκλοφα, (ἀπο-)κτείνω kill (κτεν-, 519) -έκτονα, λέγ-ω collect εἰλοχα, πάσχω, fut. πείσομαι (from πεινθσομαι, 100) πέπονθα, πέμπ-ω send πέπομφα, στέργ-ω love ἔστοργα, τίκτω beget τέτοκα, τρέπ-ω turn τέτροφα, τρέφ-ω nourish τέτροφα, φθείρ-ω corrupt ἔφθορα. So in γίγ(ε)νομαι become ἐγενόμην, γέγονα; ἐγείρω awaken ἐγρήγορα (446). This change corresponds to that of εi to οi (477 a).

τρέπ-ω turn, τέτραμμαι, ἐτράπην (1 aor. ἐτρέφθην); τρέφ-ω feed, τέθραμμαι, ἐτράφην (1 aor. ἐθρέφθην); σπείρω (σπερ-) sow, ἔσπαρμαι, ἐσπάρην; φθείρω (φθερ-) destroy, ἔφθαρμαι, ἐφθάρην; στέλλω (στελ-) send, ἔσταλκα, ἔσταλμαι, ἐστάλην; τείνω (τεν-) stretch, τέτακα, τέταμαι, ἐτάθη (1 aor.).

a. Also in the 2 aor. pass. of κλέπτω steal (ἐκλάπην), πλέκω weave (ἐπλάκην), τέρω gladden (Epic ἐτάρπην). Many of these verbs also show ο in the second perfect (478).

480. This α is also found in the second aorist active and middle of κτείνω kill (ἔκτανον poetic), τέμνω cut (dialectal ἔταμον), τρέπω turn (ἔτραπον poetic), τέρω gladden (ἐταρπόμην poetic), poetic δέρομαι see (ἔδρακον). Also πέρθω, πτήσω.

481. ε in the perfect middle in κέκλεμμαι (κλέπτω steal), πέπλεγμαι (πλέκω weave) is introduced from the present.

482. The α in 479, 480 is developed from a liquid or nasal brought between two consonants (35 b). Thus, ἔσταλμαι, τέταμαι from ἐστλμαι, τετγμαι, ἐτάθη from ἐτνθη (20 b). Here στλ, τν represent weak grades of the stem.

483. a. The variations ε, ο, α, ω appear in τρέπω turn, τρέψω, ἔτρεψα, 2 perf. τέτροφα, τέτραμμαι, ἐτρέφθην, 2 aor. pass. ἐτράπην; frequentative τρωπάω (867).

b. The variations ε, ο, ω appear in πέτομαι fly, ποτέτομαι (poet.) and frequentative ποττόμαι (poet., 867) fly about.

484. η, α in the Second Perfect. — In the second perfect  $\tilde{a}$  of the verb-stem is lengthened to η ( $\tilde{a}$ ): θάλλω (θαλ-) bloom, τέθηλα; φαίνω (φαν-) show, πέφηναι; μαίνω (μαν-) madden, μέμνηνα; κράζω (κραγ-) cry out, κέκραγα.

485. Addition of ε. — a. To the verb-stem ε is added to make the present stem in δοκέω seem, fut. δόξω, aor. ἔδοξα (δοκ-); so in γαμέω marry, ὠθέω push. Usually ε is added in some stem other than the present.

b. In many verbs ε is added to the verb-stem to form the tense-stems other than present, second aorist, and second perfect, e.g. μάχομαι (μαχ-) fight, μαχοῦμαι (= μαχε(σ)ομαι), ἐμαχεσάμην, μεμάχημαι. So ἀχθομαι am grieved, βούλομαι wish, γίγνομαι become, δέω want, (ἐ)θέλω wish, μέλλω intend, μέλει is a care, οίλομαι think.

c. In some verbs ε is added to form one or more tense-stems, as μένω (μεν-) remain, μεμένηκα (μενε-) to avoid -ν-κα in the perfect. So, νέμω distribute, ἔχω have, ὄχσομαι am gone. So also δαρθάνω, ὁσφαίνομαι, ῥέω, στείβω (poetic), τυγχάνω.

d. Some verbs have alternative presents with or without ε. Here sometimes one is used in prose, the other in poetry, sometimes both are poetic or both used in prose. Thus, ἔλκω drain (Hom. also ἐλκέω), ἰάχω lachéō sound (both poetic), μέδω medéō (both poetic), ῥίπτω and ῥιπτέω throw (both in prose).

486. Addition of α and ο. — α or ο is added to the verb-stem in some verbs. Thus, μῦκάομαι bellow (Epic 2 aor. μύκον), ἐμύκησάμην; ἀλίσκομαι (ἀλ-) be captured, ἀλώσομαι from ἀλο-; δυνῶμι swear (δυν-) ὥμοσα, ὁμώμοκα etc. (ὁμο-); ὄχσομαι am gone, Epic ὄχωκα or ὤχωκα.

487. Lengthening of Short Final Vowel. — Verb-stems ending in a short vowel generally lengthen that vowel before the tense-suffix in all tenses (except the present and imperfect) formed from them. Here α (except after ε, ι, and ρ) and ε become η, ο becomes ω.

τίμά-ω (τίμα-) honour, τίμη-σω, ἐτίμη-σα, τετίμη-κα, τετίμη-μαι, ἐτίμη-θην; θηρά-ω (θηρα-) hunt, θηρά-σω, ἐθήρᾱ-σα, etc. (389); ποιέω (ποιε-) make, ποιή-σω, ἐποίη-σα, πεποίη-κα, πεποίη-μαι, ἐποίη-θην; δηλώω (δηλο-) manifest, δηλώ-σω, ἐδήλω-σα, etc.; εἰώω permit, εἰώω, etc.

a. Note ἀκροδοῦμαι, ἠκροσάμην, etc., from ἀκροδομαι hear; χρήσω, ἔχρησα from χράω give oracles; χρήσομαι, ἐχρησάμην from χράομαι use; τρήσω and ἔτρησα from τετραίνω bore are from τρε-.

b. Verb-stems adding ε or ο (486), and stems apparently receiving a short final vowel by metathesis (128), lengthen the short final vowel, as βούλομαι (βουλ-) wish, βουλῆ-σομαι (βουλε-, 485), κάμνω (καμ-) am weary, κέκμη-κα (κμα-).

488 D. Some Ionic and poetic verbs adding ε are ἀλέξω, ἄλθομαι, γαγωνέω, γηθέω, δοντέω, εἰρομαι, εἰλέω, ἐπαυρέω, κελადέω, κέλομαι, κεντέω, κήδω, κτυπέω, κυρέω, λάσκω, μέδομαι, μύζω, πατέομαι, ῥιγέω, στνγέω, τορέω, χάζω, φιλέω (poetic forms), χραίσμέω; ἀμπλακίσκω, ἀπαφίσκω; Epic ἐδιδάσκησα (διδάσκω), πιθήσω, πεπιθήσω, πειθήσᾱς (πειθω), πεφιθήσομαι (φειδομαι).

489 D. α is added also in βρυχάομαι, γοάω, θηριάομαι, λιχμάω, μηκάομαι, μητιάω. All these are mainly poetic.

488. Retention of Short Final Vowel. — Many verb-stems ending apparently in a short vowel retain the short vowel, contrary to 487, in some or all the tenses.

γελᾶ-ω laugh, γελᾶσμαι, ἐγέλᾶσα, ἐγελᾶσθην; τελῶ finish, τελῶ from τελέ-ω, ἐτέλεσα, τετέλεκα, τετέλεσμαι, ἐτελέσθην; ἀνύω accomplish, ἀνύσω, ἡνύσα, ἡνύσμαι.

a. The following verbs retain the final short vowel of the verb-stem in all tenses: ἀγα-μαι, αἰδέ-ομαι, ἀκέ-ομαι, ἀλέ-ω, ἀνύ-ω, ἀρέσκω (ἀρε-), ἀρκέ-ω, ἀρό-ω, ἀρό-ω, γελά-ω, ἐλαύνω (ἐλα-), ἐλκύνω, and ἔλκω (ἐλκ-ε-), ἐμέ-ω, ἐρά-ω, ἔρα-μαι (poet.), ἐσθίω (ἐσθι-, ἐδ-ε-, ἐδο-), ζέ-ω, θλά-ω, ἱλάσσομαι (ἱλα-), κλά-ω break, μεθύσκω (μεθυ-), ξέ-ω, πτό-ω (πτύ-, πτύ-), σπά-ω, τελέ-ω, τρέ-ω, φθίνω (φθι-), φλά-ω, χαλά-ω, χέ-ω (χυ-). Also all verbs in -ανῆμι and -ενῆμι (except ἔσβηκα from σβέννυμι extinguish), and δαλῆμι (δλ-ε-), δυνῆμι (δμ-, ὁμε-, ὁμο-), στόρνυμι (στορ-ε-).

b. The following verbs keep short the final vowel in the future, but lengthen it in one or more other tense-systems, or have double future forms, one with the short vowel, the other with the long vowel: αἰνέω (αἰνέσω, ἦνεσα, ἦνεκα, ἦνέσθην, ἦνημαι), ἀχθομαι (ἀχθ-, ἀχθε-), καλέ-ω, μάχομαι (μαχ-ε-), μῶω, πίτω (πι-, πο-), ποθέ-ω, ποτέ-ω, ἐρύ-ω (Epic), φθάνω (φθα-).

c. In some verbs the final short vowel of the verb-stem remains short in one or more tense-stems, but is lengthened in the future, as δέ-ω bind, δήσω, ἔδησα, δέδεκα, δέδεμαι, ἐδέσθην. So αἰρέω, βαίνω (βα-), βύνέω (βυ-), δίδωμι (δο-, δω-), δόνα-μαι, δῶω (δῶ-, δῷ-), εὐρίσκω (εὐρ-ε-), ἔχω (σεχ-, σχε-), θῶω (θῶ-, θῷ-), ἔημι (έ-, ῆ-), ἵστημι (σῆ-, στή-), λῶω (λῶ-, λῷ-), τίθημι (θε-, θη-), τίνω (τι-), φῶω (φῶ-, φῷ-), and the root ἐρ-, ῥε- (είπον).

d. Most of the verbs refusing to lengthen a final short vowel have verb-stems originally ending in σ (624); as τελῶ from τελεσ-ω (cp. τὸ τέλος). By analogy to these, other verbs retain their short final vowel.

489. Insertion of σ. — In the perfect middle and first aorist passive systems, verbs which retain a short final vowel and some others usually insert σ before the personal ending.

Thus, τελῶ (488 d), τετέλεσμαι, ἐτελέσθην; σπάω drag, ἔσπασμαι, ἐσπάσθην; κελεύω order, κεκέλευσμαι, ἐκελεύσθην; γινώσκω know, ἔγνωσμαι, ἐγνώσθην.

a. If the aorist passive ends in -θην and not in -σθην, the perfect middle does not insert σ. Thus -θην, not -σθην, occurs in all verbs in -εω except λεύω stone to death, in all verbs in -εω which have -θην preceded by η, in all verbs in -ω except χῶω heap up, and in all verbs in -αω except those that retain ᾱ. Stems originally ending in σ (624) properly show σ.

b. If the aorist passive ends in -σθην, the perfect middle may or may not insert σ. Verbs in -αῖω and -ίω (stems -αδ-, -ιδ-) regularly have σ by 83, 587. In the case of other verbs some always show σ, some never show σ, and some are doubtful. In many cases the later usage with σ has crept into the Mss. of the classical authors (so with the perfect of ἀλέω, βαίνω, δράω, ζώννυμι, κλείω (κλήω), σφίζω, χρίω, and with the aorist of παύω).

489 D. Hom. has original forms in πεφραδμένος (φράζω), κεκορυθμένος (κορύττω), ἐπέπιμην (πείθω).

c. The following verbs show an inserted σ both in the perfect middle and the aorist passive in classical Greek: αἰδέομαι, γιγνώσκω, ἐλκύνω, θλάω, θραύω, κελεύω, κλάω, κρα(ί)ω, κορέννυμι, κυλίσω, ξέω, πίμπλημι, πρίω, πτίττω, σβέννυμι, σείω, σκεδάννυμι, σπάω, τανύω, τελέω, τίνω, ὄω, φλάω, χέω, χρῶμαι, χρῶ.

d. The following form only the perfect middle with σ in classical Greek: βύνεω, ἐννύμι (εἶμαι, but ἔστο Hom.), ἐρύω, ζώννυμι, ξέω, *ᾠδύσσομαι, πλέω, φλεύω (Hdt.).

e. The following form only the aorist passive with σ in classical Greek: ἀγαμαι, ἀκούω, ἀνύω, ἀρέσσω, ἀχθομαι, γελάω, δαινύμι, δράω, ἐλύω, ἔραμαι, ἐράω, ἱάσσομαι, κλείω (κλήω), λένω, μεθύσκω, μμνήσκω, ὄω, ὄνομαι (Hdt.), παίω, παλαίω, πετάννυμι, πίμπλημι, ραίω, ρώννυμι, στέρνυμι, χαλάω, χράσομαι, χράω, χρίω.

f. Only in post-classical Greek is σ attested both in the perfect middle and aorist passive in ἀρκέω, ζέω, κλαίω, (ἀπο) λαύω, λώω, δαλλύμι, πνέω, πταίω, σάω, ψαύω. — Only in the perfect middle: ἀγαμαι, ἀκούω, ἀνύω, γελάω, δράω, ἐμέω, ἔραμαι, κεράννυμι, κολούω, μεθύσκω, νάω, νάω σπίν, ὀπνίω, παίω, παλαίω, πετάννυμι (and in Ionic), πίμπλημι (Aristotle; earlier perf. πέπλημαι), στέρνυμι, χαλάω, ψαύω. When the perfect middle is not attested in classical Greek some at least of the σ forms from the above verbs may represent classical usage, provided the aorist passive has -σθην. — Only in the aorist passive: ἀέκομαι, ἀλέω, ἀρύω, βαίνω, βύνεω, γασέω, ειλύω, ελαύνω, ἔρυμαι, ἐρύω, ζώννυμι, καίω, ξέω, μάχομαι, νέω heav up, *ᾠδύσσομαι, πλέω, πτύω, σφίζω, φθάνω.

g. Some verbs have double forms (one of which may be disputed) in the classical period: δύναιμι: ἐδυνήθην and ἐδυνάσθην (chiefly Ionic and poetic); κεράννυμι: ἐκράθην and ἐκεράσθην; κρούω: ἐκέρουμαι better than ἐκρούσομαι; νέω: κέρημαι and κέρησομαι; ὀρνύμι: ὀμώσομαι (and ὀμώσομαι), ὠμώθην and ὠμώσθην. — Dialectal or dialectal and late are ἐβώσθην for ἐβοήσθην (βοάω), ἐλήλασμαι ἡλάσθην (ελαύνω), κεκόρημαι for κεκόρεσμαι (κορέννυμι), πεπέτασμαι (πετάννυμι).

h. Some verb-stems ending in ν show -σ-μαι in the perfect middle: ἡδόνω, μαίνω, παχύνω, περαίνω, ὑφαίνω, φαίνω. Thus πέφασμαι, ἡδυσμαι, μεμίασμαι. Dialectal or late: θηλόνω, κοιλαίνω, λεπτόνω, λυμαίνομαι, ξαίνω, ξηραίνω, σημαίνω. On -μμαι see 579.

i. Observe that some vowel verbs inserting σ do not lengthen the final vowel of the verb-stem in any tense (γελάω, τελέω); and that some not inserting σ (δέω, ὀθώ, λώω) do not lengthen the final vowel in some tenses. ἐπ-αινέω commend and παρ-αινέω exhort do not insert σ and have the short vowel in all tenses.

j. The insertion of σ in the perfect middle started in the 3 sing. and 2 pl. Before the endings -ται and -σθε, σ was retained in the case of verbs with stems originally ending in σ (as τελέω), or where σ developed from τ, δ, θ (98) before -ται, -σθε (πέπεισται from πεπειθται). See 409 b, 624. In all cases where the verb-stem did not originally end in σ, the sigma forms are due to analogy; as in κεκένυσμαι (κελεύω), πέπλησμαι (πίμπλημι), ἔγνωσμαι (γιγνώσκω).

490. Addition of θ. — The present stems of some poetical verbs are made by the addition of θ; as νή-θ-ω spin, πλή-θ-ω am full (πίμ-πλη-μ). Cp. 832.

490 D. A few verbs make poetic forms by adding -θ%- to the present or the 2 aorist tense-stem, in which α or ε (ν once) takes the place of the thematic

a. Most of the indicative forms seem to be imperfects, but since some have the force of aorists (e.g., Soph. O. C. 862, 1334, O. T. 650), in certain editions they are regarded as second aorists, and the infinitives and participles are accented (against the Mss.) on the ultima (δικαθεῖν, εικάδων).

491. Omission of ν.—Some verbs in -νω drop the ν of the verbal stem in the first perfect, perfect middle, and first passive systems.

κρίνω (κριν-), judge, κέκρι-κα, κέκρι-μαι, ἐκρί-θην. So also κλίνω inclined, πλύνω wash.

492. Metathesis.—The verbal stem may suffer metathesis (128).

a. In the present: θνήσκω die, 2 aor. ἔθανον, perf. τέθνηκα.

b. In other tenses: βάλλω throw (βαλ-), perf. βέβληκα, ἐβλήθην (βλη-); τέμνω cut (τεμ-), 2 aor. ἔτεμον, perf. τέτμηκα; δέркоμαι (δερκ-) see, 2 aor. ἔδρακον; τέρπω delight, 2 aor. pass. ἐτάρπην and ἐτράπην (both poetical).

493. Syncope.—Some verbs suffer syncope (44 b).

a. In the present: πίπτω fall for πι-π(ε)τ-ω, ἵσχω hold for (σ)ι-σ(ε)χ-ω (125 e), μέμνω for μι-μεν-ω.

b. In the future: πτήσομαι from πέτομαι fly.

c. In the second aorist: ἔσχον for ἐ-σεχ-ον from ἔχω (εχ- for σεχ-, 125 e).

d. In the perfect: πέπτα-μαι have expanded from πετά-ννυμι.

N.—Syncope forms are properly weak stems (476 a).

494. Reduplication.—The verb-stem may be reduplicated.

a. In the present with ι: γι-γνώ-σκω (γνω-) know, τί-θη-μι place, ἵ-στη-μι set, δι-δω-μι give. The present reduplication can be carried over to other tenses: διδά(κ)σκω teach (99), διδάξω. With ε: τε-τραίνω bore.

b. In the second aorist: ἄγω (ἀγ-) lead, ἡγ-αγ-ον; ἑπομαι follow, ἐσπόμην (for σε-σπ-ομην).

c. Regularly with ε in the perfect.

495. Iterative Imperfects and Aorists in -σκ%-.—Homer and Herodotus have iterative imperfects and aorists in -σκον and -σκομην denoting a customary or repeated past action. Homer has iterative forms in the imperfect and 1 and 2 aorist active and middle. Herodotus has no iteratives in the 1 aorist and few vowel of the simple verb. Such forms are chiefly Homeric, but occur sometimes in Attic poetry, very rarely in prose. Thus, φλεγέθω (φλέγω burn), ἐδιώκαθον (διώκω pursue), ἔσχεθον (ἔχω have). θ-forms are found in moods other than the indicative (εικάθω, εικάθοιμι, ἀμυνάθατε, διωκάθειν, εικάθων).

492 D. See the List of Verbs for poetical forms of ἀμαρτάνω, δαρβάνω, θράττω, βλάσσω, δαμάζω, δέμω, πορ-.

493 D. See the List of Verbs for poetical forms of πέλω, πελάζω, μέλω, μέλομαι; also ἔτετμον found, ἔπεφρον grew.

494 D. Poetic ἀραρίσκω (ἀρ) fit, and the intensives (867) μαρ-μαίρω (μαρ-) flash, πορ-φύρω (φυρ-) grow red, παμ-φαίνω (φαν-) shine brightly, ποι-πύω (πιν-) puff. Also with η in δη-δέκ-το greeted (Mss. δειδεκτο).

in the 2 aorist; and only from  $\omega$ -verbs. Herodotus regularly and Homer usually omit the augment.  $-\alpha\omega$  verbs have  $-\alpha\alpha\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$  or  $-\alpha\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$ ;  $-\epsilon\omega$  verbs  $-\epsilon\epsilon\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$ , in Hom. also  $-\epsilon\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$ .  $-\alpha\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$  is rare in other verbs than those in  $-\alpha\omega$ . The vowel preceding the suffix is always short.

a. The suffix  $-\sigma\kappa\%$  is added to the tense-stem. Imperf.:  $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\upsilon\gamma\epsilon\text{-}\sigma\kappa\epsilon$  ( $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\upsilon\gamma\omega$  flee),  $\epsilon\chi\epsilon\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$  ( $\epsilon\chi\omega$  have),  $\nu\acute{\iota}\kappa\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu$  ( $\nu\acute{\iota}\kappa\acute{\alpha}\omega$  conquer),  $\gamma\omicron\delta\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\epsilon$  ( $\gamma\omicron\delta\acute{\alpha}\omega$  bewail),  $\kappa\rho\acute{\upsilon}\pi\tau\alpha\text{-}\sigma\kappa\epsilon$  ( $\kappa\rho\acute{\upsilon}\pi\tau\omega$  hide),  $\kappa\alpha\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\epsilon\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omicron\nu$  ( $\kappa\alpha\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\omega$  call),  $\zeta\omega\nu\acute{\nu}\omicron\sigma\kappa\epsilon\tau\omicron$  ( $\zeta\omega\nu\acute{\nu}\omicron\mu\iota$  gird); 1 aor.:  $\acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron\text{-}\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\psi\alpha\text{-}\sigma\kappa\epsilon$  ( $\acute{\alpha}\pi\omicron\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\psi\omega$  turn away); 2 aor.:  $\phi\acute{\upsilon}\gamma\epsilon\text{-}\sigma\kappa\epsilon$ ,  $\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\epsilon$  stand.

· VERB-STEM AND PRESENT STEM

496. From the verb-stem (or theme) the present stem is formed in several ways. All verbs are arranged in the present system according to the method of forming the present stem from the verb-stem. Verbs are named according to the last letter of the verb-stem (376): 1. Vowel Verbs, 2. Liquid Verbs (including liquids and nasals), 3. Stop Verbs.

I. PRESENT SYSTEM

(PRESENT AND IMPERFECT ACTIVE AND MIDDLE)

497. The present stem is formed from the verb-stem in five different ways. There are, therefore, five classes of present stems. The verb-stem is sometimes the present stem, but usually it is strengthened in different ways. A sixth class consists of irregular verbs, the present stem of which is not connected with the stem or stems of other tenses.

FIRST OR SIMPLE CLASS

498. Presents of the Simple Class are formed from the verb-stem with or without the thematic vowel.

499. (I) Presents with the thematic vowel ( $\omega$ -verbs). The present stem is made by adding the thematic vowel  $\%$  to the verb-stem, as  $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\text{-}\omega$ ,  $\pi\alpha\iota\delta\epsilon\acute{\upsilon}\text{-}\omega$ ,  $\pi\acute{\alpha}\upsilon\text{-}\omega$ ,  $\mu\acute{\iota}\nu\text{-}\omega$ ,  $\pi\acute{\epsilon}\iota\theta\text{-}\omega$ ,  $\phi\acute{\epsilon}\upsilon\gamma\text{-}\omega$ , and the denominative verbs  $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\omega$ ,  $\phi\acute{\iota}\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\omega$ ,  $\beta\alpha\sigma\acute{\iota}\lambda\epsilon\acute{\upsilon}\text{-}\omega$ . For the personal endings, see 463 ff. For the derivation of many of these verbs, see 522.

500. The final vowel of the verb-stem is long in the present indicative, but either long or short in the other tense-stems, of the following verbs in  $-\nu\omega$  or  $-\iota\omega$ .

1. a. Verbs in  $-\nu\omega$  generally have  $\bar{u}$  in Attic in the present; as  $\lambda\acute{\upsilon}\omega$  loose,  $\delta\acute{\delta}\omega$  go under,  $\theta\acute{\upsilon}\omega$  sacrifice (almost always),  $\phi\acute{\delta}\omega$  make grow (usually). Also in  $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\acute{\alpha}\rho\tau\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\beta\rho\epsilon\nu\theta\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\gamma\eta\rho\theta\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\delta\alpha\kappa\rho\acute{\omega}\omega$  (once  $\bar{u}$ ),  $\iota\delta\rho\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\iota\sigma\chi\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\kappa\alpha\tau\tau\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\kappa\acute{\nu}\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,

500. 1. D. Homer has short  $\upsilon$  in  $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\acute{\alpha}\rho\tau\acute{\omega}\omega$ ,  $\beta\rho\acute{\upsilon}\omega$ ,  $\delta\acute{\upsilon}\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\rho\acute{\upsilon}\omega$ ,  $\eta\mu\acute{\upsilon}\omega$ ,  $\tau\alpha\pi\acute{\upsilon}\omega$ ,  $\phi\acute{\rho}\omega$ , and in all denominative verbs except  $\epsilon\rho\eta\tau\acute{\theta}\omicron\nu\omicron\tau\omicron$  and  $\epsilon\pi\acute{\iota}\theta\acute{\theta}\omicron\nu\omicron\sigma\iota$ , where  $\bar{u}$  is metrically necessary; long  $\upsilon$  in  $\xi\acute{\theta}\omega$ ,  $\pi\acute{\iota}\theta\omega$ ,  $\iota\omega$ ; anapest in  $\theta\acute{\upsilon}\omega$  sacrifice ( $\bar{u}$  doubt-κωκῶω, κωλῶω (usually), μῆνῶω, ὀπῶω (ὀπνίω), πτῶω, ῥοομαι, στῶομαι, τρῶω, ῥι; possibly in εἰλῶομαι, ἡμῶω, μῶω, ξῶω, φλῶω; εἰνῶω, μῆρῶομαι, πλῆθῶω (once ῥ), φῆτῶω. ὠρῶω (ῥ) is doubtful.

b. -ωω has υ short in ἀρῶω, ἀρύω, βρύω, κλύω (but κλύθι), μεθύω, and in all verbs in -νωω.

2. Attic has ι in primitive verbs in -ωω, as πρίω, χρίω, χλῖω, but ῖ in τίω. Denominative verbs have ῖ; but ἐσθίω.

501. Several verbs with medial ι, υ in the present, show ῖ or ῥ, ῥ or ῥ in some other tense or tenses. Thus, θλίβω press τέθλιφα, πνίγω choke ἐπνίγην, τρίβω rub τέτριφα ἐτρίβην, τῶφω raise smoke ἐτύφην, ψύχω cool ἐψύχην.

502. Verb-stems having the weak grades α, ι, υ, show the strong grades η, ει, ευ in the present; as τήκ-ω (τᾱκ-) melt, λείπω (λιπ-) leave, φεύγω (φυγ-) flee.

a. To this class belong also λήθω, σήπω, τέθηπα am astonished, 2 aor. ἔταφον, ἀλείφω, (δέδοικα, 703), εἰκω (ἔοικα), (εἰωθα, 563 a), ἐρείκω, ἐρείπω, πείθω, στείβω, στείχω, φειδομαι; ἐρεύνομαι, κεύθω, πεύθομαι, τεύχω.

503. Present Stems in -ε%- for ευ%- . — The strong form ευ before the thematic vowel became εφ (εφ) and then ε (20 a, 43) in the verbs θέω run θεύσομαι, νέω swim ἔνευσα, πλέω sail ἔπλευσα, πνέω breathe ἔπνευσα, ῥέω flow ῥεύσομαι, χέω pour κέχυκα, κέχυμαι, ἐχύθη.

504. (II) Presents without the thematic vowel (μ-verbs). The personal ending is added directly to the verb-stem, which is often reduplicated. The verb-stem shows different vowel grades, strong forms η, ω in the singular, weak forms ε (α), ο in the dual and plural. Thus τί-θη-μι, τί-θε-μεν; ῖ-στη-μι for σι-στη-μι (= σι-στᾱ-μι), ῖ-στα-μεν; δί-δω-μι, δί-δο-μεν.

a. All verbs in μ (enumerated 723 ff) belong to this class except those in -νύμ (523 f) and -νημ (523 g).

SECOND OR T CLASS (VERBS IN -πτω)

505. The present stem is formed by adding -τ%- to the verb-stem, which ends in π, β, or φ. The verb-stem is ascertained from the second aorist (if there is one) or from a word from the same root.

ful), θῶω rush on, rage, λῶω (rarely λῶω), ποικνῶω, ῥοομαι. Pindar has υ short in θῶω sacrifice, ισχύω, λῶω, μανῶω, ῥῶω, ῥοομαι, in presents in -νωω, and in denominative verbs.

2. Hom. has ῖ in the primitives πίομαι and χρίω; but τίω and τίω (τείω?); -ίω in denominatives (except μῆνιε B 769). κοίω, ὀομαι are from κοι(σ)-ίω, δι(σ)-ιομαι.

3. Where Attic has ῥ, ῖ in the present, and Epic ῥ, ῖ, the former are due to the influence of ῥ, ῖ in the future and aorist.

503 D. These verbs end in -νωω in Aeolic (πνεύω etc.). Epic πλείω, πτείω have ε by metrical lengthening (28 1.).

κόπτω cut,	verb-stem κοπ-	in 2 aor. pass. ἐ-κόπ-ην.
βλάπτω injure,	" " βλαβ-	" " ἐ-βλάβ-ην.
καλύπτω cover,	" " καλυβ-	" " καλύβ-η hut.
ρίπτω throw,	" " ριφ-, ρίφ-	" 2 aor. pass. ἐ-ρρίφ-ην.

a. ἀσπράπτω lighten, χαλέπτω oppress may be from -πιω (117, 507).

506. Some of the verbs of this class add ε in the present or other tenses, as ῥιπτέω throw, πεκτέω comb, τύπτω strike τυπήσω.

THIRD OR IOTA CLASS

507. The present stem is formed by adding -ι%- to the verb-stem and by making the necessary euphonic changes (109-116).

I. PRESENTS IN -ιω

508. Dental Verb-stems.—Verb-stems in δ unite with ι to form presents in -ιω (116), as φράζω tell (φραδ-ιω), ἐλπίζω hope (ἐλπιδ-), κομίζω carry (κομιδ-ή a carrying), ὀζω smell (ὀδ-μή odour), καθίζομαι seat myself (ἕδ-ος seat).

a. σφίζω save (for σῶ-ιζω) forms its tenses partly from the verb-stem σω-, partly from the verb-stem σῶ-.

509. Stems in γ.—Some verbs in -ιω are derived from stems in γ preceded by a vowel; as ἀρπάζω seize for ἀρπαγ-ιω (cp. ἀρπαγ-ή seizure), κράζω cry out (2 aor. ἔκραγον). See 116, other examples 623 γ III.

a. νίζω wash makes its other tenses from the verb-stem νίβ- (fut. νίψω, cp. Hom. νίπτομαι).

510. A few verbs with stems in γγ lose one γ and have presents in -ιω; as κλάζω scream (κλαγγ-ή), fut. κλάγξω; σαλπίζω sound the trumpet ἐσάλπιγξα (also λάζω sob, πλάζω cause to wander).

511. ῥεγίω, ἐργίω yield ῥέζω do (poetic) and ἐρδω (Ionic and poetic). See 116.

512. Most verbs in -ιω are not formed from stems in δ or γ, but are due to analogy. See 516, 623 γ III, 866. 6.

II. PRESENTS IN -ιτω (IONIC AND LATER ATTIC -ισσω, 78)

513. Palatal Verb-stems.—Stems ending in κ or χ unite with ι to form presents in -ιτω (-ισσω).

φυλάττω guard from φυλακ-ιω (φυλακ-ή guard (112)); κηρύττω proclaim from κηρύκ-ιω (κηρυξ, κήρυκ-ος); ταραττω disturb from ταραχ-ιω (ταραχ-ή confusion).

a. πέττω cook is for πεκ-ιω; all other tenses are made from πεπ-.

508 D. Aeolic has -σδω for -ζω.

514. Several verbs showing forms in  $\gamma$  seem to unite  $\gamma$  with  $\iota$  to form presents in  $-\tau\omega$  ( $-\sigma\omega$ ). Thus ἀλλάττω change, μάττω knead, πλήττω strike (with the 2 aorists passive ἡλλάγ-ην, ἐμάγ-ην, ἐπλήγ-ην), πράττω do (2 perf. πέπραγα, 571), τάττω arrange (τάγ-ος commander).

a. So δράττομαι grasp, νάττω compress (515 b), πύττω push, πτύσσω fold, σάττω load, σῦριττω pipe, σφάττω kill, φράττω fence. πράττω has the late perf. πέπραχα.

515. Some presents in  $-\tau\omega$  ( $-\sigma\omega$ ) are formed from stems in  $\tau$ ,  $\theta$  like those from  $\kappa$ ,  $\chi$ .

Poet. ἐρέσσω roue (ἐρέτ-ης rouer) aor. ἤρεσα; poet. κορύσσω arm (κόρυς κόρυθ-ος helmet), imperf. ἐκόρυσσε.

a. So also βλίττω take honey, πάττω sprinkle, πτίττω pound, and perhaps πλάττω form; also ἀφάσσω Hdt., and poetic ἱμάσσω, λαφύσσω, λίσσομαι.

b. νάττω compress (ναγ-, ναδ-) ἔναξα, νένασμαι and νέναγμαι. Cp. 514 a.

516. Formations by Analogy. — a. As  $\gamma$  +  $\iota$  and  $\delta$  +  $\iota$  unite to form  $\zeta$ , none of the verbs in  $-\tau\omega$  can be derived from  $-\gamma\iota\omega$  or  $-\delta\iota\omega$ . Since the future and aorist of verbs in  $-\zeta\omega$  might often seem to be derived from stems in  $\kappa$ ,  $\chi$ , or  $\tau$ ,  $\theta$ , uncertainty arose as to these tenses: thus the future σφάξω (σφαγ-σω) from Epic σφάζω slay (σφαγ-ιω) was confused in formation with φυλάξω (φυλακ-σω), and a present σφάττω was constructed like φυλάττω. Similarly, Attic ἀρπάδω (-ομαι) for Epic ἀρπάξω; and so in place of (poetic) ἀρμόξω fit (ἀρμοδ-) the form ἀρμόττω was constructed.

III. LIQUID AND NASAL STEMS

517. (I) Presents in  $-\lambda\omega$  are formed from verb-stems in  $\lambda$ , to which  $\iota$  is assimilated (110). Thus, ἀγγέλλω announce (ἀγγελ-ιω), στέλλω send (στελ-ιω).

518. (II) Presents in  $-\alpha\iota\omega$  and  $-\alpha\iota\rho\omega$  are formed from verb-stems in  $-\alpha\nu$  and  $-\alpha\rho$ , the  $\iota$  being thrown back to unite with the vowel of the verb-stem (111). Thus, φαίνω show (φαν-ιω), ὀνομαίνω name (ὀνομαν-ιω), χαίρω rejoice (χαρ-ιω).

a. Many verbs add  $-\iota\omega$  to the weak form of the stem, as ὀνομαίν-ω for ὀνομαν-ιω from ὀνομν-ιω, cp. nomen (35 b).

b. Hom. has κῦδαίνω and κῦδάνω honour, μελαίνω blacken and μελάνω grow black. δλίσθαίνω slip is late for δλίσθάνω.

c. The ending  $-\alpha\iota\omega$  has been attached, by analogy, in θερμαίνω make hot, etc. (620 III, 866.7). Likewise  $-\ῦ\omega$  (519) in poetic ἀρτόνω prepare, parallel to ἀρτόω (in composition), by analogy to βαρόνω weigh down, ἡδόνω sweeten.

516 D. Homer has many cases of this confusion; as πολεμίζω (πολεμδ-) but πολεμίζω. In Doric the  $\xi$  forms from  $-\zeta\omega$  verbs are especially common, as χωρίζω separate, χωρίζω, ἐχωρίζω. παίζω sport has (late) ἐπαίξα.

519. (III) Presents in -εινω, -ειρω, -ῖνω, -ῖρω, -ῦνω, and -ῖρω are formed from stems in εν, ερ, ιν, ιρ, υν, υρ with  $\frac{1}{2}\%$ - added. Here  $\frac{1}{2}$  disappears and the vowel preceding ν or ρ is lengthened by compensation ( $\epsilon$  to  $\epsilon\iota$ ;  $\iota$  to  $\iota\iota$ ;  $\upsilon$  to  $\upsilon\iota$ ). See 37 a, 111.

τείνω stretch (τεν-ιω), φθείρω destroy (φθερ-), κρίνω (κριν-), οικτίρω pity (οικτιρ-) generally written οικτερω, ἀμύνω ward off (ἀμυν-), μαρτύρομαι call to witness (μαρτυρ-).

a. ὀφείλω (ὀφελ-) owe, am obliged is formed like τείνω, φθείρω in order to distinguish it from ὀφείλλω (ὀφελ-) increase formed regularly. Hom. has usually Aeolic ὀφέλλω in the sense of ὀφείλω. δαίρω flay (δαρ-ιω) is parallel to δέρ-ω (499).

520. Verb-stems in -av- for (av, -af-). — Two verbs with verb-stems in -av have presents in -aw from -αιφω out of -af-ιω (38 a): καίω burn (καυ-, καφ-), fut. καύ-σω; and κλαίω weep (κλαυ-, κλαφ-), fut. κλαύ-σομαι. Others 624 b.

a. Attic prose often has κάω and κλάω, derived from αιφ before ει (κᾰεις, and, with  $\bar{a}$  extended to the 1 person, κᾰω). Cp. 396.

521. Addition of  $\epsilon$ . — The following verbs add  $\epsilon$  in one or more tense-stems other than the present: βάλλω throw, καθίζω sit, κλαίω weep, δίζω smell, ὀφείλω owe, am obliged, χαίρω rejoice.

522. Contracted Verbs and Some Verbs in -ιω, -υω. — a. Verbs in -aw, -ew, -ow, which for convenience have been treated under the first class, properly belong here,  $\frac{1}{2}$  ( $y$ ) having been lost between vowels. Thus, τίμας from τίμα-ιω (τιμᾱ-), οἰκῶ dwell from οἰκε-ιω (οἰκε- alternate stem to οἰκο-, 229 b), δηλόω from δηλο-ιω. So in denominatives, as poetic μηνίω am wrath (μηνι-ιω), φθιθῶ sow (φθινυ-ιω). Primitives in -ιω, -υω are of uncertain origin. Cp. 608, 624.

N. — The rare spellings δλνίω, θνίω, μεθνίω, φνίω indicate their origin from -ιω.

b. So with stems in long vowels: δρῶ do from δρα-ιω, ζῶ live from ζη-ιω (cp. §96), χρῶ give oracles from χρη-ιω (2 pers. χρηῖς, 394).

FOURTH OR N CLASS

523. The present stem of the N class is formed from the verb-stem by the addition of a suffix containing ν.

a.  $\nu\%$ - is added: δάκ-νω bite, τέμ-νω cut.

So δδνω, κάμνω, πίνω, πίτνω poet., τίνω, φθάνω, φθίνω.

b.  $\alpha\nu\%$ - is added: αἰσθ-άν-ομαι perceive, ἀμαρτ-άν-ω err.

So αἰξάνω, βλαστάνω, δαρθάνω, ἀπεχθάνομαι, οἰδάνω, ὀλισθάνω, ὀφλισκάνω (526).

c.  $\alpha\nu\%$ - is added and a nasal ( $\mu$ ,  $\nu$ , or  $\gamma$  nasal) inserted in the verb-stem: λα-μ-β-άν-ω (λαβ-) take, λα-ν-θ-άν-ω escape notice (λαθ-), τυ-γ-χ-άν-ω happen (τυχ-). So ἀνθάνω please (ἄθ-), θιγγάνω touch (θιγ-), κιγχάνω find (κιχ-), λαγχάνω obtain by lot (λαχ-), μανθάνω learn (μαθ-), πυνθάνομαι inquire (πυνθ-).

d.  $\nu\epsilon\%$ - is added: βῦ-νέ-ω stop up (also βύω), ικ-νέ-ο-μαι come (also ικω), 519 D. Aeolic has here -εννω, -ερρω, -ιννω, -ιρρω, -υννω, -υρρω (37 D. 3); for τείνω, it has καίνω; cp. Doric φθαίρω for φθείρω.

κυ-νέ-ω kiss, ἀμπ-ισχ-νέ-ο-μαι have on, ὑπ-ισχ-νέ-ο-μαι promise (cp. ἰ-σχ-ω for σι-σχ-ω, 493 a).

e. -νν%- is added: ἐλαύνω drive for ἐλα-ν-ω.

f. -νν (-ννν after a short vowel) is added (second class of μ-verbs, 414): δείκ-νῦ-μι show (δεικ-, present stem δεικνῦ-), ζεύγ-νῦ-μι yoke (ζευγ-), δαλλῦμι destroy (for δαλ-νῦ-μι, 77 a); κερά-νῦ-μι mix (κερα-), σκεδά-νῦ-μι scatter (σκεδα-). Others 729 ff. Some of these verbs have presents in -νω (746).

N. 1. — The forms in -νῦμι spread from ξνῦμι, σβέννῦμι, which are derived from ἐσ-νῦμι, σβεσ-νῦμι.

N. 2. — Some verbs in -νω are formed from -νρ%- for -νχ%-; as Hom. τίνω, φθίνω, φθάνω, δίνωμαι from τι-νρ-ω, etc., (87 D. 1). Attic τίνω, etc. dropped the ρ.

g. -να, -νη are added (third class of μ-verbs 412); as in (poetic) δάμ-νη-μι I conquer, δάμ-να-μεν we conquer (δαμ-), and in σκιδ-νη-μι (rare in prose for σκεδάννῦμι) scatter. The verbs of this class are chiefly poetic (Epic), and most have alternative forms in -αω. See 737.

In two further divisions there is a transition to the Iota Class.

h. -ιν%- for -νι%- is added: βαίνω go (βα-νι-ω), κερδαίνω gain (κερδα-νι-ω). τετραίνω dore (τετρα-νι-ω). So poetic βαίνω sprinkle. For the added ν, cp. δάκ-νω (523 a). See 518 a.

i. -αιν%- for -ανι%- is added: δσφραίνομαι smell (δσφραν-ι-ομαι), Hom. ἀλιταίνομαι sin (also ἀλιτράινω). See 518 a.

524. A short vowel of the verb-stem is lengthened in the case of some verbs to form one or more of the tense-stems other than the present. Thus, λαμβάνω (λαβ-) take λήψομαι (ληβ-); δάκνω (δακ-) bite δήξω (δηκ-). So λαγχάνω, λανθάνω, τυγχάνω, πυνθάνομαι (πυνθ-) inquire, fut. πεύσομαι (πενθ-).

a. ζεύγνῦμι yoke, πηγνῦμι fasten, ῥηγνῦμι break have the strong grade in all tenses except the 2 pass. system. μετγνῦμι mix (commonly written μτγνῦμι) has μτγ- only in the 2 perf. and 2 pass. systems.

525. Addition of ε and ο. — a. Many verbs add ε to the verb-stem to form all the tenses except present, 2 aorist, and 2 perfect; as αἰσθάνομαι, ἀμαρτάνω, ἀνδάνω, αἰξάνω, ἀπευχθάνομαι, βλαστάνω, θαρβάνω, κιγχάνω, μαρθάνω, δολισθάνω, δφλισκάνω. One or more tenses with ε added are formed by κερδαίνω, δαλλῦμι, δσφραίνομαι, στόρνῦμι, τυγχάνω.

b. δυνῦμι swear has ὁμο- in all systems except the present and future, as ὁμοσα, ὁμώμοκα, but fut. ὁμοῖμαι from ὁμεομαι.

FIFTH OR INCEPTIVE CLASS (VERBS IN -σκω)

526. The present stem is formed by adding the suffix -σκ%- to the verb-stem if it ends in a vowel; -ισκ%- if it ends in a consonant. Thus, ἀρέ-σκω please, εὕρ-ισκω find.

a. This class is called inceptive (or inchoative) because some of the verbs belonging to it have the sense of beginning or becoming (cp. Lat. -esco); as γηράσκω grow old. But very few verbs have this meaning.

b. In θνήσκω die, μμνήσκω remind, -ισκω was later added to verb-stems ending in a vowel. The older forms are θνήσκω, μμνήσκω.

c. The verb-stem is often reduplicated in the present; as γι-γνώ-σκω know, βι-βρώ-σκω eat, δι-δρά-σκω run away. Poetic ἀρ-αρ-ίσκω flit, poetic ἀπ-αφ-ίσκω deceive, have the form of Attic reduplication. μίσγω may stand for μ-(μ)ίσγω.

d. A stop consonant is dropped before -σκω (99); as δι-δά(κ)-σκω teach (cp. δι-δάκ-τός), ἀλύ(κ)-σκω avoid, λα(κ)-σκω speak. πάσχω suffer is for πα(θ)-σκω (126).

e. The present stem often shows the strong grades ω (weak o) and ā or η (weak a). See b, c. Weak grades appear in φάσκω say, βδσκω feed.

f. On the iteratives in -σκω see 495.

527. The following verbs belong to this class (poetic and Ionic forms are starred) :

- a. Vowel stems : ἀλδήσκω* (ἀλδη-), ἀναβιάσσομαι* (βιω-), ἀρέσκω (ἀρε-), βάσκω* (βα- for βγ-, 35 b), βιβρώσκω (βρο-), βλώσκω* (μολ-, μλο-, βλο-, 130 D.), βδσκω (βδ-), γενειάσκω (cp. γενειά), γηράσκω (γηρα-), γιγνώσκω (γνο-), δεδίσκομαι frighten, διδράσκω (δρα-), ήβδσκω (ήβα-), ήλάσκω* (ήλα-), θνήσκω (θαν-, θνα-), θρήσκω* (θορ-, θρο-), ήλάσσομαι (ήλα-), κικλήσκω* (καλε-, κλη-), κύσσομαι* (κυ-), μεθύσκω (μεθυ-), μιμνήσκω (μνα-), πιπίσκω* (πι-), πιπράσκω (πρα-), πινύσκω* (πινυ-), πιφαύσκω* (φau-), τιτρώσκω (τρο-), φάσκω (φα-), χάσκω* (χα-).
- b. Consonant stems : ἀλίσσομαι (άλ-ο-), ἀλύσκω* (άλυκ-), ἀμβλίσκω (ἀμβλ- ἀμβλο-), ἀμπλακίσκω* (ἀμπλακ-), ἀνᾶλίσκω (αν-ᾶλ-ο-), ἀπαφίσκω* (ἀπ-αφ-), ἀραρίσκω* (ἀρ-), δεδίσκομαι* welcome (δε-δικ-) and δηδίσκομαι (usually written δειδ-) welcome, διδάσκω (διδαχ-), εἶσκω (εἶκ-), ἐπαυρίσκω* (αὐρ-), εὐρίσκω (εὐρ-ε-), λάσκω* (λακ-), μίσγω* (μγ-), ὀφλισκάνω (ὀφλ-ε-), πάσχω (παθ-), στερίσκω (στερ-ε-), τιτύσσομαι* (τι-τυκ-), ὕλάσκω* (ὕλακ-), χρητίζομαι* (χρη-).

528. Addition of ε and ο. — στερίσκω deprive (cp. στέρομαι) makes all the other tense-stems from στερε-; εὐρίσκω has εὐρε- except in the present and 2 aorist. — ἀλίσσομαι am captured (άλ-) adds ο in other tense-stems.

SIXTH OR MIXED CLASS

529. This class includes some irregular verbs, one or more of whose tense-stems are quite different from others, as Eng. am, was, be, Lat. sum, fui. For the full list of forms see the List of Verbs.

1. αἰρέω (αἶρε-, ἐλ-) take, fut. αἰρήσω, ἦρηκα, etc., 2 aor. εἶλον.
2. εἶδον (εἶδ-, ἰδ-) saw, ἰδίδι, 2 aorist (with no present act.); 2 pl. οἶδα know (794). Middle εἶδομαι (poetic). εἶδον is used as 2 aor. of ὁράω (see below).
3. εἶπον (εἶπ-, ἐρ-, ρε-) spoke, 2 aor. (no pres.); fut. (ἐρέω) ἐρῶ, perf. ἐ-ρη-κα, ἔρημαι, aor. pass. ἐρρήθην. The stem ἐρ- is for ρε-, seen in Lat. ver-bum. (Cp. 492.) ρε- is for ρε, hence ἐρημαι for ρε-ρρη-μαι.
4. ἔρχομαι (ἐρχ-, ἐλευθ-, ἐλυθ-, ἐλθ-), go. Fut. ἐλεύσομαι (usually poet.), 2 perf. ἐλήλυθα, 2 aor. ἤλθον. The Attic future is εἰμι shall go (774). The imp. perf. and the moods of the pres. other than the indic. use the forms of εἰμι.

526 c. D. Hom. has εἶσκω liken for ρεϕι(κ)-σκω, also ἴσκω from φι(κ)-σκω, τιτύ(κ)-σσομαι prepare, δε-δί(κ)-σσομαι welcome.

5. ἐσθίω (ἐσθ-, ἐδ-, φαγ-) eat, fut. ἔδομαι (541), pf. ἐδήδοκα, -ἐδήδεσμαι, ἡδέσθην, 2 aor. ἔφαγον.
6. ὄρώ (ὄρα-, ὀπ-, ριδ-) see, fut. ὄψομαι, perf. ὠράκα or ὀράκα, perf. mid. ὠράμαι or ὠμμαι (ὠπ-μαι), ὠφθην, 2 aor. ὠδον (see 2 above).
7. πάσχω (παθ-, πενθ-) suffer, fut. πέσομαι for πενθ-σομαι (100), 2 pf. πέπονθα, 2 aor. ἔπαθον. (See 528 d.)
8. πίνω (πι-, πο-) drink, from πι-ν-ω (523 a), fut. πιτομαι (541), pf. πέπωκα, 2 aor. ἔπιον, imp. πιδι (486. 1, a, 687).
9. τρέχω (τρέχ- for θρεχ- (125 g), δραμ-, δραμε-) run, fut. δραμοῦμαι, pf. δεδράμηκα, 2 aor. ἔδραμον.
10. φέρω (φερ-, οί-, ἐνεκ-, by reduplication and syncope ἐν-ερεκ and ἐνεγκ-) bear; fut. οίσω, aor. ἤνεγκα, perf. ἐν-ήροχ-α (446, 478), ἐν-ήνεγ-μαι, aor. pass. ἠνέχθην.
11. ἠνέμομαι (ἠνε-, πρια-) buy, fut. ἠνήσομαι, perf. ἠνήμαι, ἠνηθήην. For ἠνησά-μην the form ἠπριάμην is used.

530. Apart from the irregularities of Class VI, some verbs may, by the formation of the verb-stem, belong to more than one class, as βαίνω (III, IV), δοσφαίνομαι (III, IV), ὀφλισκάω (IV, V).

531. Many verbs have alternative forms, often of different classes, as κῦδαίνω honour, ἔω ἰκάνω come, μελάν-ω grow black, μελαίνω (μελαν-ω) blacken, κλάζω (κλαγγ-) scream, σφάζω σφάττω slay (516). Cp. also ἀνύω accomplish, ἀρύω ἀρύτω draw water, Hom. ἐρύκω, ἐρύκάνω, ἐρύκανάω restrain. Cp. 866. 10.

II. FUTURE SYSTEM

(FUTURE ACTIVE AND MIDDLE)

532. Many, if not all, future forms in σ are in reality subjunctives of the first aorist. λύσω, παιδεύσω, λείψω, στήσω are alike future indicative and aorist subjunctive in form. In poetry and in some dialects there is no external difference between the future indicative and the aorist subjunctive when the latter has (as often in Hom.) a short mood-sign (457 D.); e.g., Hom. βήσομεν, ἀμείψεται, Ionic inscriptions ποιήσει.

533. The future stem is formed by adding the tense-suffix -σ% (-εσ% in liquid stems, 535) to the verb-stem: λύ-σω, I shall (or will) loose, λύσομαι; θή-σω from τί-θη-μι place; δείξω from δείκ-νύ-μι show.

a. In verbs showing strong and weak grades (476) the ending is added to the strong stem: λείπω λείψω, τήκω τήξω, πνέω πνεύσομαι (508), δίδωμι δώσω.

534. Vowel Verbs. — Verb-stems ending in a short vowel lengthen the vowel before the tense suffix (α to η except after ε, ι, ρ). Thus, τιμάω, τιμήσω; ἰάω, ἰάσω; φιλέω, φιλήσω.

a. On χράω give oracles, χράομαι use, ἀκροάομαι hear, see 487 a.

b. For verbs retaining a short final vowel, see 488.

534 D. Doric and Aeolic always lengthen α to ᾱ (τιμάω).

b. In verbs with stems originally ending in -σ Hom. often has σσ in the future: ἀνύω ἀνύσσεσθαι, τελέω τελέσσω; by analogy δallῶ ὀλέσσω (and ὀλέσω, ὀλείται).

535. Liquid Verbs. — Verb-stems ending in λ, μ, ν, ρ, add -εσ%; then σ drops and ε contracts with the following vowel.

φαίνω (φαν-) show, φανῶ, φανείς from φαν-έ(σ)ω, φαν-έ(σ)εις; στέλλω (στελ-) send, στελοῦμαι, στελεῖτε from στελ-έ(σ)ομαι, στελ-έ(σ)ετε. See p. 128.

536. σ is retained in the poetic forms κέλω (κέλλω land, κελ-), κύρω (κύρω meet, κυρ-), θέρωμαι (θέρωμαι warm myself, θερ-), ὄρω (ὄρνυμι rouse, ὀρ-). So also in the aorist. See ἀραρίσκω, εἴλω, κείρω, φθείρω, φέρω in the List of Verbs.

537. Stop Verbs. — Labial (π, β, φ) and palatal (κ, γ, χ) stops at the end of the verb-stem unite with σ to form ψ or ξ. Dentals (τ, δ, θ) are lost before σ (98).

κόπ-τ-ω (κοπ-) cut, κόψω, κόβομαι; βλάπ-τ-ω (βλαβ-) injure, βλάψω, βλάβομαι; γράφ-ω write, γράψω, γράβομαι; πλέκ-ω weave, πλέξω, πλέβομαι; λέγ-ω say, λέξω, λέβομαι; ταραττω (ταραχ-) disturb, ταράξω, ταράβομαι; φράζω (φραδ-) say, φράσω; πείθω (πιθ-, πειθ-) persuade, πείσω, πείσομαι.

a. When ε or ο is added to the verb-stem, it is lengthened to η or ω: as βόλομαι (βουλ-ε-) wish βουλήσομαι, ἀλίσκομαι (άλ-ο-) am captured ἀλώσομαι. So also in the first aorist and in other tenses where lengthening is regular.

538. Attic Future. — Certain formations of the future are called Attic because they occur especially in that dialect in contrast to the later language; they occur also in Homer, Herodotus, and in other dialects.

539. These futures usually occur when σ is preceded by δ or ε and these vowels are not preceded by a syllable long by nature or position. Here σ is dropped and -δω and -έω are contracted to -ῶ. When ι precedes σ, the ending is ι-(σ)έω which contracts to -ῶ.

a. καλέω call, τελέω finish drop the σ of καλέσω καλέσομαι, τελέσω τελέσομαι and the resulting Attic forms are καλῶ καλοῦμαι, τελῶ (τελοῦμαι poetic).

b. ἐλαύνω (ελα-) drive has Hom. ἐλάω, Attic ἐλῶ. — καθέζομαι (καθεδ-) sit has Attic καθεδοῦμαι. — μάχομαι (μαχ-ε-) fight has Hom. μαχέσομαι (and μαχήσομαι), Attic μαχοῦμαι. — δαλλῦμι (δλ-ε-) destroy has Hom. δάλεω, Attic δαλῶ.

c. All verbs in -αννῦμι have futures in -δ(σ)ω, -ῶ. Thus, σκεδάννυμι (σκεδα-) scatter, poet. σκεδάσω, Attic σκεδῶ. Similarly some verbs in -εννῦμι: ἀμφιέννυμι (ἀμφι-) clothe, Epic ἀμφίεω, Attic ἀμφιῶ; σπórννυμι (στορ-ε-) spread, late στορίσω, Attic στοριῶ.

d. A very few verbs in -αῖω have the contracted form. βιβάζω (βιβαδ-) cause to go usually has Attic βιβῶ from βιβάσω. So ἐξετάωμεν = ἐξετάσομεν from ἐξετάζω examine.

e. Verbs in -ιῖω of more than two syllables drop σ and insert ε, thus making ι-(σ)έω, ι-(σ)έομαι, which contract to -ῶ and -ιούμαι, as in the Doric future (540).

535 D. These futures are often uncontracted in Homer (βαλέω, κτενέεις, ἀγγέλωσιν); regularly in Aeolic; in Hdt. properly only when ε comes before ο or ω.

537 D. Doric has -ξω from most verbs in -ῖω (516 D.).

539. b. D. For Hom. -ωω for -αω, see 645.

So νομίζω (νομῖδ-) consider makes νομῶ, νομῆ-ω, νομῶ and in like manner νομῶμαι, both inflected like ποιῶ, ποιῶμαι. So ἐθιοῦσι, οἰκιοῦντες from ἐθίζω accustom, οἰκίζω colonize. But σχίζω (σχιδ-) split makes σχίσω. νομῶ etc. are due to the analogy of the liquid verbs.

N. — Such forms in Attic texts as ἐλάσω, τελέσω, νομίσω, βιβάσω are erroneous.

540. Doric Future. — Some verbs, which have a future middle with an active meaning, form the stem of the future middle by adding -σε%, and contracting -σέομαι to -σοῦμαι. Such verbs (except νέω, πίπτω) have also the regular future in -σομαι.

κλαίω (κλαν-, 520) weep κλαυσοῦμαι, νέω (νυ-, νευ-) swim νευσοῦμαι (doubtful), πλέω (πλυ-, πλεν-) sail πλενσοῦμαι, πνέω (πνυ-, πνεν-) breathe πνενσοῦμαι, πίπτω (πετ-) fall πεσοῦμαι, πυνθάνομαι (πυθ-, πευθ-) peussomai (once), φεύγω (φυγ-, φευγ-) φευξοῦμαι, χέζω (χεδ-) χεσοῦμαι.

a. The inflection of the Doric future is as follows: —

λῦσῶ, -σοῦμαι	λῦσοῦμες, -σοῦμεθα	λῦσῶν, -σοῦμενος
λῦσεῖς, -σῇ	λῦσεῖτε, -σεῖσθε	λῦσειν, -σεῖσθαι
λῦσει, -σεῖται	λῦσούντι, -σούνται

b. These are called Doric futures because Doric usually makes all futures (active and middle) in -σέω -σῶ, -σέομαι -σοῦμαι.

c. Attic πεσοῦμαι (Hom. πεσέομαι) from πίπτω fall comes from πετεομαι. Attic ἐπεσον is derived from 2 aor. ἐπετον (Dor. and Aeol.) under the influence of πεσοῦμαι.

541. Futures with Present Forms. — The following verbs have no future suffix, the future thus having the form of a present: ἔδομαι (ἐδ-) eat, πίομαι (πι-) drink, χέω (χυ-) and χέομαι, pour. See 529. 5, 8.

a. These are probably old subjunctives which have retained their future meaning. In ἔδομαι and πίομαι the mood-sign is short (457 D.). Hom. has βέομαι or βελομαι live, δῆω find, κῆω (written κέω) lie, ἐξάνω achieve, ἐρῶω draw, τανύω stretch, and ἀλεύεται avoid. νέομαι go is for νεομαι.

III. FIRST (SIGMATIC) AORIST SYSTEM

(FIRST AORIST ACTIVE AND MIDDLE)

542. The first aorist stem is formed by adding the tense suffix -σα to the verb-stem: ἔλυσ-α I loosed, λύσω, λύσαιμι; ἔδειξ-α I showed, from δείκ-νυ-μ. See 666.

539 D. Hom. has δεικῶ, κομῶ, κτεριῶ; and also τελῶ, καλέω, ἐλάω, ἀντιῶ, δαμῶσι (645), ἀνῶω, ἐρύουσι, ταῖουσι. Hdt. always uses the -ῶ and -ιῶμαι forms. Homeric futures in -εω have a liquid before ε, and are analogous to the futures of liquid verbs.

540 D. Hom. ἔσσειται (and ἔσσειται, ἔσεται, ἔσται). In Doric there are three forms: (1) -σέω (and -σῶ), -σέομαι (and -σοῦμαι); and often with eu from eo as -εὔντι, -εὔμεν; (2) -σίω with i from e before o and ω; (3) the Attic forms.

543 D. Mixed Aorists. — Hom. has some forms of the first aorist with the thematic vowel (ε) of the second aorist; as ἀξετε, ἀξεσθε (ἀγω lead), ἐβήσето, a. In verbs showing strong and weak grades (476), the tense-suffix is added to the strong stem: παίθω ἔπεισα, τήκω ἔτηξα, πνέω ἔπνευσα, ίστημι (στα-, στη-) ἔστησα, ἐσθησάμην.

N.—τίθημι (θε-, θη-) place, δίδωμι (δο-, δω-) give, ἵημι (ἰ-, ῥ-) send have aorists in -κα (ἔθηκα, ἔδωκα, ἤκα in the singular: with κ rarely in the plural). See 755.

543. Vowel Verbs.—Verb-stems ending in a vowel lengthen a short final vowel before the tense-suffix (a to η except after ε, ι, ρ). Thus, τιμάω ἐτίμησα, εἰώω εἰῶσα (431), φιλέω ἐφίλησα.

a. χέω (χυ-, χεν-, χερ-) pour has the aorists ἔχεα, ἐχεάμην (Epic ἔχενα, ἐχενάμην) from ἐχευσα, ἐχευσαμην.

b. For verbs retaining a short final vowel see 488.

544. Liquid Verbs.—Verb-stems ending in λ, μ, ν, ρ lose σ and lengthen their vowel in compensation (37): a to η (after ε or ρ to ᾶ), e to αι, i to ι, υ to ῦ.

φαίνω (φαν-) show, ἔφην for ἐφανσα; περαίνω (περαν-) finish, ἐπέρανα for ἐπερανσα; στέλλω (σ텔-) send, ἔστειλα for ἔστελσα; κρίνω (κριν-) judge, ἔκρινα for ἐκρινσα; ἄλλομαι (ἄλ-) leap, ἤλαμην for ἤλσαμην.

a. Some verbs in -αινω (-αν-) have -ᾶνα instead of -ηνα; as γλυκαίνω sweeten ἐγλύκαῖνα. So ισχναίνω make thin, κερδαίνω gain, κοιλαίνω hollow out, λιπαίνω fatten, ὀργαίνω be angry, πεπαινω make ripe. Cp. 30 a.

b. The poetic verbs retaining σ in the future (536) retain it also in the aorist.

c. αἶρω (ἀρ-) raise is treated as if its verb-stem were ἀρ- (contracted from ἀερ- in ἀείρω): aor. ἦρα, ἔρω, ἔραιμι, ἄρον, ἄραι, ἔρας, and ἤραμην, ἔρωμαι, ἔραμην, ἔρασθαι, ἔράμενος.

d. ἦνγκα is used as the first aorist of φέρω bear. εἴπα is rare for εἶπον (549).

545. Stop Verbs.—Labial (π, β, φ) and palatal (κ, γ, χ) stops at the end of the verb-stem unite with σ to form ψ or ξ. Dentals (τ, δ, θ) are lost before σ (cp. 98).

πέμπω send ἔπεμψα, ἐπεμψάμην; βλάπτω (βλαβ-) injure ἔβλαψα; γράφω write ἔγραψα, ἐγραψάμην; πλέκω weave ἔπλεξα, ἐπλεξάμην; λέγω say ἔλεξα; ταράττω (ταραχ-) disturb ἐτάραξα, ἐταραξάμην; poetic ἔρυσσω (ἔρετ-) rouse; πείθω (πειθ-) tell ἔπειρασα, ἐπειρασάμην; πείθω (πιθ-, πειθ-, ποιθ-) persuade ἔπεισα.

a. On forms in σ from stems in γ see 516.

imper. βήσεο (βαίνω go), ἐδύσετο (δύω set), ἔξον (ἔκω come), οἶσε, οἶσετε, οἶσέμεν, οἶσέμεται (φέρω bring), imper. ὄρσεο rise (ὀρνύμι rouse).

548 a. D. Homeric ἤλευάμην and ἤλεάμην avoided, ἔηκα burned (Att. ἔκαυσα), ἔσσενα drove, also have lost σ.

548 b. D. Hom. often has original σσ, as γελάω ἐγέλασσα, τελέω ἐτέλεσσα; in others by analogy, as δύλλω ὄλεσσα, θυμῶμι θυμοσσα, καλέω κάλεσσα.

544 D. Hom. has Ionic -ηνα for -ᾶνα after ε or ρ. Aeolic assimilates σ to a liquid; as ἔκρινα, ἀπίστελλα, ἐνέμματο, συνέρραισα (= συνεῖρα). Cp. Hom. ὀφέλλε (ὀφέλλω incense).

545 D. Hom. often has σσ from dental stems, as ἐκόμισσα ἐκομισάμην (κομίζω). Doric has -ξα from most verbs in -ζω: Hom. also has ξ (ἤρπαξε). See 516 D.

IV. SECOND AORIST SYSTEM

(SECOND AORIST ACTIVE AND MIDDLE)

546. The second aorist is formed without any tense-suffix and only from the simple verb-stem. Only primitive verbs (372) have second aorists.

547. (I) Ω-Verbs. — Ω-verbs make the second aorist by adding % to the verb-stem, which regularly ends in a consonant. Verbs showing vowel gradations (476) use the weak stem (otherwise there would be confusion with the imperfect).

λείπω (λιπ-, λειπ-) leave ἔλιπον, -ἐλιπόμην; φεύγω (φυγ-, φεύγ-) flee ἔφυγον; πέτομαι fly ἐπτόμην (476 a); λαμβάνω (λαβ-) take ἔλαβον.

548. a. Vowel verbs rarely form second aorists, as the irregular αἰρέω seize (εἶλον, 529. 1), ἐσθίω eat (ἔφαγον), ὁράω (εἶδον). ἔπιον drank (πίνω) is the only second aorist in prose from a vowel stem and having thematic inflection.

b. Many ω-verbs with stems ending in a vowel have second aorists formed like those of μ-verbs. These are enumerated in 687.

549. Verbs of the First Class (499) adding a thematic vowel to the verb-stem form the second aorist (1) by reduplication (494), as ἄγω lead ἤγαγον, and εἶπον probably for ἐ-φε-φετ-ον; (2) by syncope (493), as πέτομαι fly ἐπτόμην, ἐγείρω (ἐγερ-) rouse ἤγρόμην, ἔπομαι (σεπ-) follow ἐσπόμην, imperf. εἰπόμην from ἐ-σεπομην, ἔχω (σεχ-) have ἔσχον; (3) by using α for ε (476 b) in poetic forms (490), as τρέπω turn ἔτραπον; (4) by metathesis (492), as poet. δέркоμαι see ἔδρακον.

550. (II) Μ-Verbs. — The stem of the second aorist of μ-verbs is the verb-stem without any thematic vowel. In the indicative active the strong form of the stem, which ends in a vowel, is regularly employed. The middle uses the weak stem form.

546 D. Hom. has more second aorists than Attic, which favoured the first aorist. Some derivative verbs have Homeric second aorists classed under them for convenience only, as κτυπέω sound ἔκτυπον; μῦκάομαι roar ἔμυκον; στυγέω hate ἔστυγον. These forms are derived from the pure verb-stem (485 d, 553).

547 D. Hom. often has no thematic vowel in the middle voice of ω-verbs (ἐδέγμην from δέχομαι receive). See 634, 688.

549 D. (1) Hom. has (ἐ)κέκλετο (κέλο-μαι command), ἔλαβον (λήθ-ω lie hid), ἐπέφραδε (φράζω tell), πεπιθεῖν (πειθ-ω persuade). ἠρόκακον (ἐρόκ-ω check), ἠνάπα-πον and ἐνέπικον (ἐνίπτω chide, ἐνιπ-) have unusual formation. (2) ἐπλ-ό-μην (πέλο-μαι am, come, πελ-). (3) ἔπραθον (πέρθ-ω sack), ἔταμον (τέμ-ν-ω cut). (4) βλήτο (βάλλω hit, 128 a).

ἵστημι (στα-, στη-) set, second aorist ἵστην, ἵστης, ἵστη, ἵστητον, ἵστήτην, ἵστημεν, ἵστητε, ἵστησαν; middle ἑθέμην from τίθημι (θε-, θη-) place, ἑδδμην from δίδωμι (δο-, δω-) give.

551. Originally only the dual and plural showed the weak forms, which are retained in the second aorists of τίθημι, δίδωμι, and ἵημι: ἔθεμεν, ἔδομεν, εἶμεν (ἐ-έ-μεν), and in Hom. βάτην (also βήτην) from ἔβην went. Elsewhere the weak grades have been displaced by the strong grades, which forced their way in from the singular. Thus, ἔγρον, ἔφθν in Pindar (= ἔγρω-σαν, ἔφῶ-σαν), which come from ἐγρων(τ), ἐφῶν(τ) by 40. So Hom. ἔτλδν, ἔβδν. Such 3 pl. forms are rare in the dramatic poets.

a. For the singular of τίθημι, δίδωμι, ἵημι, see 755; for the imperatives, 759; for the infinitives, 760.

552. No verb in -ῶμι has a second aorist in Attic from the stem in v.

553. The difference between an imperfect and an aorist depends formally on the character of the present. Thus ἔ-φην said is called an 'imperfect' of φη-μί: but ἔ-στην stood is a 'second aorist' because it shows a different tense-stem than that of ἵστημι. Similarly ἔ-φερον is 'imperfect' to φέρω, but ἔ-τεκον 'second aorist' to τίκτω because there is no present τεκω. ἔστιχον is imperfect to στίχω, but second aorist to στείλω. Cp. 546 D.

NOTE ON THE SECOND AORIST AND SECOND PERFECT

554. a. The second aorist and the second perfect are usually formed only from primitive verbs (372). These tenses are formed by adding the personal endings (inclusive of the thematic or tense vowel) to the verb-stem without any consonant tense-suffix. Cp. ἔλιπον with ἐλύ-σα, ἐτράπη-ην with ἐτρέφ-θη-ν (τρέπω turn), γέγραφα with ἔλυ-κα.

b. The second perfect and second aorist passive are historically older than the corresponding first perfect and first aorist.

c. τρέπω turn is the only verb that has three first aorists and three second aorists (596).

d. Very few verbs have both the second aorist active and the second aorist passive. In cases where both occur, one form is rare, as ἔτυπον (once in poetry), ἐτύπην (τύπτω strike).

e. In the same voice both the first and the second aorist (or perfect) are rare, as ἔφθασα, ἔφθην (φθάνω anticipate). When both occur, the first aorist (or perfect) is often transitive, the second aorist (or perfect) is intransitive (819); as ἔστησα I erected, i.e. made stand, ἔστην I stood. In other cases one aorist is used in prose, the other in poetry: ἔπεισα, poet. ἔπειθον (πείθω persuade); or they occur in different dialects, as Attic ἐτάφην, Ionic ἐθάφθην (θάπτω bury); or one is much later than the other, as ἔλειψα, late for ἔλιπον.

551 D. Hom. has ἔκταδν I slew (κτείνω, κταν-) with δ taken from ἔκταμεν, and ὄτα he wounded (ὀτρύνω).

V. FIRST (K) PERFECT SYSTEM

(FIRST PERFECT AND PLUPERFECT ACTIVE)

555. The stem of the first perfect is formed by adding -κα to the reduplicated verb-stem. λέ-λυ-κα I have loosed, ἐ-λε-λύκη I had loosed.

a. The κ-perfect is later in origin than the second perfect and seems to have started from verb-stems in -κ, as ἐ-οικ-α (= ἐ-φοικ-α) from εἶκω resemble.

b. Verbs showing the gradations εἰ, εὐ: οἰ, οὐ: ι, υ (476) have εἰ, εὐ; as πείθω (πιθ-, πειθ-) persuade πέπεικα (560). But δέδοικα fear has οἰ (cp. 564).

556. The first perfect is formed from verb-stems ending in a vowel, a liquid, or a dental stop (τ, δ, θ).

557. Vowel Verbs.—Vowel verbs lengthen the final vowel (if short) before -κα, as τιμά-ω honour τε-τίμη-κα, ἐά-ω permit εἰᾶ-κα, ποιέ-ω make πε-ποίη-κα, τίθημι (θε-, θη-) place τέ-θη-κα, δίδωμι (δο-, δω-) give δέ-δω-κα.

558. This applies to verbs that add ε (485). For verbs that retain a short final vowel, see 488. (Except σβέννυμι (σβε-) extinguish, which has ἔσβηκα.)

559. Liquid Verbs.—Many liquid verbs have no perfect or employ the second perfect. Examples of the regular formation are φαίνω (φαν-) show, πέφαγκα, ἀγγέλλω (ἀγγελ-) announces, ἤγγελα.

a. Some liquid verbs drop ν; as κέκρικα, κέλικα from κρίνω (κριν-) judge, κλίνω (κλιν-) inclines. τείνω (τεν-) stretch has τέτακα from τετγκα.

b. Monosyllabic stems change ε to α; as ἔσταλκα, ἔφθαρκα from στέλλω (στελ-) send, φθείρω (φθερ-) corrupt.

N. For α we expect ο; α is derived from the middle (ἔσταλμαι, ἔφθαρμαι).

c. All stems in μ and many others add ε (485); as νέμω (νεμ-ε), distribute νεμέμηκα, μέλω (μελ-ε) care for μεμέληκα, τυγχάνω (τυχ-ε) happen τετύχηκα.

d. Many liquid verbs suffer metathesis (492) and thus get the form of vowel verbs; as βάλλω (βαλ-) throw βέβληκα; θνήσκω (θαν-) die τέθνηκα; καλέω (καλε-, κλη-) call κέκληκα; κάμνω (καμ-) am weary κέκμηκα; τέμνω (τεμ-) cut τέτμηκα. Also πίπτω (πετ-, πτο-) fall πέπτωκα. See 128 a.

555 b. D. Hom. δειδω (used as a present) is for δε-δφο(ι)-α. δειδ- was written on account of the metre when ρ was lost. Hom. δέδια is for δε-δ(ρ)-α with the weak root that is used in δέδιμεν. See 703 D.

557 D. 1. Hom. has the κ-perfect only in verbs with vowel verb-stems. Of these some have the second perfect in -α, particularly in participles. Thus κε-κμηώς, Attic κεκμηκώς (κάμ-ν-ω am weary); κεκορηώς (κορέ-ννυμι satiate); πεφύκασι and πεφύασι (φύω produce).

2. In some dialects a present was derived from the perfect stem; as Hom. δνώγω, Theocr. δεδοίκω, πεφύκει (in the 2 perf.: Theocr. πεπόνθω). Inf. τεθνάκειν (Aeol.), part. κεκλήγοντες (Hom.), πεφρίκων (Pind.).

3. From μέμηκα (μηκάμαι bleat) Hom. has the plup. ἐμέμηκον.

560. Stop Verbs. — Dental stems drop  $\tau$ ,  $\delta$ ,  $\theta$  before  $-κα$ ; as  $\piείθω$  ( $\piιθ$ -,  $\piειθ$ -,  $\ποιθ$ -) persuade πέπεικα, κομίζω ( $\κομιδ$ -) carry κεκόμικα.

VI. SECOND PERFECT SYSTEM

(SECOND PERFECT AND PLUPERFECT ACTIVE)

561. The stem of the second perfect is formed by adding  $\alpha$  to the reduplicated verb-stem: γέ-γραφ-α I have written (γράφ-ω).

562. The second perfect is almost always formed from stems ending in a liquid or a stop consonant, and not from vowel stems.

a. ἀκήκοα ( $\ἀκούω$  hear) is for ἀκηκο(ϝ)-α ( $\ἀκοϝ$ - =  $\ἀκοχ$ -, 48).

563. Verb-stems showing variation between short and long vowels (476) have long vowels in the second perfect ( $\alpha$  is thus regularly lengthened). Thus,  $\tauήκω$  ( $\tauακ$ -,  $\tauηκ$ -) melt τέτηκα,  $\κράζω$  ( $\κραγ$ -) cry οὐτέ κέκρᾶγα,  $\φαίνω$  ( $\φαν$ -) show πέφνηκα have appeared (but πέφαγκα have shown),  $\ρήγνυμι$  ( $\ραγ$ -,  $\ρηγ$ -,  $\ρωγ$ -, 477 c) break ῥρρωγα.

a.  $\epsilonῴθα$  am accustomed (=  $\sigmaε-σρωθ$ -α) has the strong form  $\omega$  (cp.  $\etaθος$  custom, 123); Hom.  $\epsilonἶθω$  (Attic  $\epsilonἰθίζω$  accustom).

564. The second perfect has  $ο$ ,  $οι$  when the verb-stem varies between  $\alpha$ ,  $\epsilon$ ,  $ο$  (478, 479) or  $\iota$ ,  $ει$ ,  $οι$  (477 a):  $\tauρέφ-ω$  ( $τρεφ$ -,  $τροφ$ -,  $τραφ$ -) nourish τέτροφα,  $\λείπω$  ( $λιπ$ -,  $λειπ$ -,  $λοιπ$ -) leave λέλοιπα,  $\πείθω$  ( $\πιθ$ -,  $\πειθ$ -,  $\ποιθ$ -) persuade πέποιθα trust.

565. Similarly verbs with the variation  $\upsilon$ ,  $\epsilonυ$ ,  $ου$  (476) should have  $ου$ ; but this occurs only in Epic  $\epsilonιλήλουθα$  (= Att.  $\epsilonλῆλυθα$ ); cp.  $\epsilonλεῖ(θ)$ -σομαι. Other verbs have  $\epsilonυ$ , as  $\phiεύγω$  flee πέφευγα.

566. After Attic reduplication (446) the stem of the second perfect has the weak form;  $\ἀλειφω$  ( $\ἀλειφ$ -,  $\ἀλιφ$ -) anoint ἀλήλιφα.

567. Apart from the variations in 563–566 the vowel of the verb-stem remains unchanged: as  $\gammaέγραφα$  ( $\γράφω$  write),  $\κῆκῡφα$  ( $\κῡπτω$  stoop,  $\κῡφ$ -).

568. The meaning of the second perfect may differ from that of the present; as  $\epsilonγρήγορα$  am awake from  $\epsilonγείρω$  wake up,  $\sigmaέσηρα$  grin from  $\sigmaαίρω$  sweep. The second perfect often has the force of a present; as  $\πέποιθα$  trust ( $\πέπεικα$  have persuaded). See 819.

569. Aspirated Second Perfects. — In many stems a final  $\pi$  or  $\beta$  changes to  $\phi$ : a final  $\kappa$  or  $\gamma$  changes to  $\chi$ . ( $\phi$  and  $\chi$  here imitate verb-stems in  $\phi$  and  $\chi$ , as  $\tauρέφω$ ,  $\δρύντω$ .)

561 D. Hom. has several forms unknown to Attic:  $\deltaέδονκα$  ( $\δουν-ε-ω$  sound),  $\ἐολπκα$  ( $\ἐλπ-ω$  hope),  $\ἐοργα$  ( $\ἐρίζω$  work),  $\προ-βέβουλα$  ( $\βούλομαι$  wish),  $\μέμηλα$  ( $\μέλω$  care for).

562 D. But  $\deltaέδια$  fear from  $\deltaφι$ -. See 555 b. D., 703.

569 D. Hom. never aspirates  $\pi$ ,  $\beta$ ,  $\kappa$ ,  $\gamma$ . Thus  $\kappaεκοφῶς$  = Att.  $\kappaῡπ-τ-ω$  cut). The aspirated perfect occurs once in Hdt. ( $\ἐπεκρόμει$  1. 86); but is unknown in Attic until the fifth century B.C. Soph. Tr. 1009 ( $\ἀνατρέφας$ ) is the only example in tragedy.

κόπτω (κοπ-) cut κέκοφα, πέμπ-ω send πέπομφα, βλάπτω (βλαβ-) injure βέβλαφα, τρίζω (τρίβ-) rub τέτριψα, φυλάττω (φυλακ-) guard πεφύλαχα; τρέφ-ω (τρεφ-) nourish τέτροφα; ὀρύττω (ὀρυχ-) dig ὀρύρυχα.

570. Most such stems have a short vowel immediately before the final consonant; a long vowel precedes e.g. in δεῖκ-νῦ-μι δέδειχα, κηρόττω (κηρύκ-) -κεκηρύχα, πτήσσω (πτήκ-) ἔπτηχα. τέτριφα and τέθλιφα show ι in contrast to ι in the present (τρίβω, θλίβω). στέργω, λάμπω do not aspirate (ἔστοργα, poet. λέλαμπα).

571. The following verbs have aspirated second perfects: ἄγω, ἀλλάττω, ἀνολίγω, βλάπτω, δείκνυμι, διώκω (rare), θλίβω, κηρόττω, κλέπτω, κόπτω, λαγχάνω, λαμβάνω, λάπτω, λέγω collect, μάττω, μειγνύμι, πέμπω, πλέκω, πράττω, πτήσσω, τάττω, τρέπω, τρίζω, φέρω (ἐνήνοχα), φυλάττω. ἀνολίγω or ἀνολιγνύμι has two perfects: ἀνέψα and ἀνέψαγα. πράττω do has πέπρωγα have done and fare (well or ill), and (generally later) πέπρωχα have done.

572. Second Perfects of the μ-form. — Some verbs add the endings directly to the reduplicated verb-stem. Such second perfects lack the singular of the indicative.

ἵστημι (στα-, στη-) set, 2 perf. stem ἑστα-: ἑστα-μεν, ἑστα-τε, ἑστά-σι, inf. ἑστά-ναι; 2 plup. ἑστα-σαν (417). The singular is supplied by the forms in -κα; as ἑστηκα. These second perfects are enumerated in 704.

573. Stem Gradation. — Originally the second perfect was inflected throughout without any thematic vowel (cp. the perfect middle), but with stem-gradation: strong forms in the singular, weak forms elsewhere. -α (1 singular) was introduced in part from the aorist and spread to the other persons. Corresponding to the inflection of οἶδα (794) we expect πέποιθα, πέποιθα, πέποιθε, πέπιστον, πέπιθμεν, πέπιστε, πεπίθασι (from πεπιθγσι). Traces of this mode of inflection appear in Hom. γεγάτην (from γεγυγτην, 35 b) γέγαμεν from γέγονα; ἔικτον, ἔικτην, ἔικώς from ἔοικα; ἐπέπιθμεν; μέμαμεν from μέμονα; πέπασθε (for πεπαθτε = πεπρῑτε) from πέπονθα (other examples 704, 705). So the masc. and neut. participles have the strong forms, the feminine has the weak forms (μεμηκώς, μεμακυῖα as εἰδώς, ἰδυῖα).

VII. PERFECT MIDDLE SYSTEM

(PERFECT AND PLUPERFECT MIDDLE AND PASSIVE, FUTURE PERFECT PASSIVE)

574. The stem of the perfect and pluperfect middle and passive is the reduplicated verb-stem, to which the personal endings are directly attached. λέλυ-μαι I have loosed myself or have been loosed, ἔλελύ-μην; δέδο-μαι (δί-δω-μι give), δέδειγ-μαι (δείκ-νῦ-μι show). On the euphonic changes of consonants, see 409.

574 D. A thematic vowel precedes the ending in Hom. μέμβλεται (μέλω care for), ὀρώρεται (ὀρῶμι rouse).

575. The stem of the perfect middle is in general the same as that of the first perfect active as regards its vowel (557), the retention or expulsion of ν (559 a), and metathesis (559 d).

τιμά-ω honor τετιμή-μαι έτετιμήμην; ποιέ-ω make πεποίη-μαι έπεποίημην; γράφ-ω write γέγραμ-μαι; κρίνω (κριν-) judge κέκρι-μαι; τείνω (τεν-) stretch τέτα-μαι; φθείρω (φθερ-) corrupt έφθαρ-μαι; βάλλω (βαλ-) throw βέβλη-μαι έβεβλήμην; πείθω (πιθ-, πειθ-, ποιθ-) persuade πέπεισμαι έπεπείσμην.

576. The vowel of the perfect middle stem should show the weak form when there is variation between ε (ει, ευ) : ο (οι, ου) : α (ι, υ). The weak form in α appears regularly in verbs containing a liquid (479): that in υ, in πέπνυμαι from πνυθάνομαι (πνυθ-, πενυθ-) learn, poet. έσσυμαι hasten from σεύω (συ-, σεν-) urge.

577. The vowel of the present has often displaced the weak form, as in πέπλεγμαi (πλέκ-ω weave), λέλειμμαi (λείπ-ω leave), πέπεισμαi (πείθ-ω persuade), έξυγμαi (ξέγγ-νύ-μι yoke).

578. A final short vowel of the verb-stem is not lengthened in the verbs given in 488 a. ε is added (485) in many verbs. For metathesis see 492; for Attic reduplication see 446.

579. ν is retained in endings not beginning with μ, as φαίνω (φαν-) show, πέφανται, πέφανθε. Before -μαι, we have μ in ώξυνμαι from όξυνω (όξυν-) sharpen, but usually ν is replaced by σ. On the insertion of σ, see 489.

580. Future Perfect. — The stem of the future perfect is formed by adding -σ%- to the stem of the perfect middle. A vowel immediately preceding -σ%- is always long, though it may have been short in the perfect middle.

λθ-ω loose, λελό-σμαι I shall have been loosed (perf. mid. λελό-μαι), δέ-ω bind δεδθ-σμαι (perf. mid. δέδε-μαι), γράφ-ω write γεγράψ-ομαι, καλέω call κεκλή-σμαι.

581. The future perfect usually has a passive force. The active meaning is found where the perfect middle or active has an active meaning (1946, 1947).

κεκτήσμαι shall possess (κέκτημαι possess), κεκράξομαι shall cry out (κέκράγα cry out), κεκλάγξομαι shall scream (κέκλαγγα scream), μυμήσμαι shall remember (μύμνημαι remember), πεπαύσμαι shall have ceased (πέπαυμαι have ceased).

582. Not all verbs can form a future perfect; and few forms of this tense occur outside of the indicative: διαπεπολεμησόμενον Thuc. 7. 25 is the only sure example of the participle in classical Greek. The infinitive μυμήσεσθαι occurs in Hom. and Attic prose.

583. The periphrastic construction (601) of the perfect middle (passive) participle with έσμαι may be used for the future perfect, as έψευσμένος έσμαι I shall have been deceived.

590 D. Hom. has δεδέξομαι, μυμήσμαι, κεκλήση, κεχολώσεται; κεκαθήσμαι, πεφιδήσεται are from reduplicated aorists.

584. Future Perfect Active.—The future perfect active of most verbs is formed periphrastically (600). Two perfects with a present meaning, ἵστηκα I stand (ἵστημι set) and τέθνηκα I am dead (θνήσκω), form the future perfects ἵστηξω I shall stand, τεθνήξω I shall be dead.

VIII. FIRST PASSIVE SYSTEM (ΘΗ PASSIVE) (FIRST AORIST AND FIRST FUTURE PASSIVE)

FIRST AORIST PASSIVE

585. The stem of the first aorist passive is formed by adding -θη (or -θε) directly to the verb-stem: ἐλύθη I was loosed, ἐφάνθη I was shewn (φαίνω, φαν-), ἐδόθη I was given (δίδωμι, δο-, δω-).

a. -θη appears in the indicative, imperative (except the third plural), and infinitive; -θε appears in the other moods. -θη is found before a single consonant, -θε before two consonants or a vowel except in the nom. neuter of the participle.

586. The verb-stem agrees with that of the perfect middle herein:

a. Vowel verbs lengthen the final vowel of the verb-stem, as τε-τίμη-μαι, ἐ-τίμή-θη. On verbs which do not lengthen their final vowel, see 488.

b. Liquid stems of one syllable change ε to α, as τέ-τα-μαι, ἐ-τά-θη (τείνω stretch, τεν-). But στρέφω turn, τρέπω turn, τρέφω nourish have ἐστρέφθη, ἐπρέφθη, ἐθρέφθη (rare), though the perfect middles are ἔστραμμαι, τέτραμμαι, τέθραμμαι.

c. Primitive verbs showing in their stems the gradations ε (ει, ευ) : ο (οι, ου) : α (ι, υ) have a strong form, as ἐτρέφθη from τρέπω (τρεπ-, τροπ-, τραπ-) turn, ἐλείφθη from λείπω (λιπ-, λειπ-, λοιπ-) leave, ἐπλεύσθη from πλέω (πλυ-, πλευ-) sail.

d. Primitive verbs showing in their stems a variation between ε : η and ο : ω have, in the first aorist passive, the short vowel. Thus, τίθημι (θε-, θη-) έτέθη, δίδωμι (δο-, δω-) έδωθη.

e. Final ν is dropped in some verbs: κέ-κρι-μαι, έκρίθη. See 491.

f. The verb-stem may suffer metathesis: βέ-βλη-μαι, έβλή-θη. See 492.

g. Sigma is often added: κε-κέλευσ-μαι, έκελεύσ-θη. See 489.

587. Before θ of the suffix, π and β become φ; κ and γ become χ (82 c); τ, δ, θ become σ (83). φ and χ remain unaltered.

λείπ-ω έλειφ-θη, βλάπτω (βλαβ-) έβλάφ-θη; φυλάττω (φυλακ-) έφυλάχ-θη. άγω ήχ-θη; κομίζω (κομιδ-) έκομίσ-θη, πείθω έπείσ-θη; γράφω έγράφ-θη, ταράττω (ταραχ-) έταράχ-θη.

584 D. Hom. has κεχαρήσω and κεχαρήσομαι from χαίρω (χαρ-) rejoice.

585 a. D. For -θησαν we find -θεν in Hom., as διέκριθεν.

586 b. D. έστράφθη is Ionic and Doric; Hom. and Hdt. have έτρέφθη from τρέπω. Hom. has έτάρφθη and έτέρφθη from τέρπω gladden.

586 e. D. Hom. has έκλινθη and έκλίθη, έκρίνθη and έκρίθη; ιδρύνθη = Att. ιδρόθη (ιδρύω erect), άμπνύθη (άναπνέω revive).

588.  $\theta$  of the verb-stem becomes  $\tau$  in  $\epsilon\text{-}\tau\epsilon\text{-}\theta\eta\nu$  for  $\epsilon\text{-}\theta\epsilon\text{-}\theta\eta\nu$ , and in  $\epsilon\text{-}\tau\upsilon\text{-}\theta\eta\nu$  for  $\epsilon\text{-}\theta\upsilon\text{-}\theta\eta\nu$  from  $\tau\iota\theta\eta\mu\iota$  ( $\theta\epsilon\text{-}$ ,  $\theta\eta\text{-}$ ) place and  $\theta\theta\omega$  ( $\theta\upsilon\text{-}$ ,  $\theta\upsilon\text{-}$ ) sacrifice. See 125 c.

FIRST FUTURE PASSIVE

589. The stem of the first future passive is formed by adding  $\sigma\%$ - to the stem of the first aorist passive. It ends in  $\text{-}\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ . Thus,  $\pi\alpha\iota\delta\epsilon\upsilon\theta\eta\text{-}\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$  I shall be educated,  $\lambda\upsilon\theta\eta\text{-}\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$  I shall be loosed.

$\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\alpha\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\eta\theta\eta\nu$   $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\eta\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\delta\theta\eta\nu$   $\epsilon\acute{\alpha}\delta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\lambda\epsilon\acute{\iota}\pi\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\acute{\iota}\phi\theta\eta\nu$   $\lambda\epsilon\acute{\iota}\phi\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\pi\epsilon\acute{\iota}\delta\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\pi\epsilon\acute{\iota}\sigma\theta\eta\nu$   $\pi\epsilon\acute{\iota}\sigma\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\tau\epsilon\acute{\iota}\lambda\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\tau\acute{\alpha}\theta\eta\nu$   $\tau\alpha\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\tau\acute{\alpha}\tau\tau\omega$ ,  $\epsilon\tau\acute{\alpha}\chi\theta\eta\nu$   $\tau\alpha\chi\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu\iota$ ,  $\epsilon\tau\acute{\epsilon}\theta\eta\nu$   $\tau\epsilon\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omega\mu\iota$ ,  $\epsilon\delta\delta\theta\eta\nu$   $\delta\odot\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ ;  $\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\kappa\upsilon\mu\iota$ ,  $\epsilon\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\theta\eta\nu$   $\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\theta\eta\sigma\sigma\alpha\iota$ .

IX. SECOND PASSIVE SYSTEM (H PASSIVE)

(SECOND AORIST AND SECOND FUTURE PASSIVE)

SECOND AORIST PASSIVE

590. The stem of the second aorist passive is formed by adding  $\eta$  (or  $\epsilon\text{-}$ ) directly to the verb-stem. Thus,  $\epsilon\beta\lambda\acute{\alpha}\beta\eta\nu$  I was injured from  $\beta\lambda\acute{\alpha}\pi\tau\omega$  ( $\beta\lambda\alpha\beta\text{-}$ ).

a.  $\eta$ - appears in the indicative, imperative (except the third plural), and infinitive;  $\epsilon\text{-}$  appears in the other moods.  $\eta$ - is found before a single consonant,  $\epsilon\text{-}$  before two consonants or a vowel except in the nom. neut. of the participle.

591. The second aorist passive agrees in form with the second aorist active of  $\mu$ -verbs; cp. intransitive  $\epsilon\chi\acute{\alpha}\rho\eta\nu$  rejoiced with  $\epsilon\sigma\tau\eta\nu$  stood. The passive use was developed from the intransitive use.

592. Primitive verbs showing in their stems the grades  $\epsilon\text{:}\circ\text{:}\alpha$  have a. Thus an  $\epsilon$  of a monosyllabic verb-stem becomes  $\alpha$ , as in  $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\text{-}\omega$  weave  $\epsilon\pi\lambda\acute{\alpha}\kappa\eta\nu$ ,  $\epsilon\lambda\epsilon\upsilon\text{-}\tau\omega$  steal  $\epsilon\kappa\lambda\acute{\alpha}\pi\eta\nu$ ,  $\phi\theta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\rho\omega$  ( $\phi\theta\epsilon\rho\text{-}$ ) corrupt  $\epsilon\phi\theta\acute{\alpha}\rho\eta\nu$ ,  $\sigma\tau\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\lambda\omega$  ( $\sigma\tau\epsilon\lambda\text{-}$ ) send  $\epsilon\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\lambda\eta\nu$ . But  $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omega$  collect has  $\epsilon\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\eta\nu$ .

593. Primitive verbs showing in their stems a variation between a short and long vowel have, in the second aorist passive, the short vowel. Thus  $\tau\acute{\eta}\kappa\omega$  ( $\tau\alpha\kappa\text{-}$ ,  $\tau\eta\kappa\text{-}$ ) melt  $\epsilon\tau\acute{\alpha}\kappa\eta\nu$ ,  $\rho\acute{\eta}\gamma\gamma\upsilon\mu\iota$  ( $\rho\alpha\gamma\text{-}$ ,  $\rho\eta\gamma\text{-}$ ,  $\rho\omega\gamma\text{-}$ ) break  $\epsilon\rho\rho\acute{\alpha}\gamma\eta\nu$ .

a. But  $\pi\lambda\acute{\eta}\tau\tau\omega$  ( $\pi\lambda\alpha\gamma\text{-}$ ,  $\pi\lambda\eta\gamma\text{-}$ ) strike has  $\epsilon\pi\lambda\acute{\alpha}\gamma\eta\nu$  only in composition, as  $\epsilon\zeta\epsilon\pi\lambda\acute{\alpha}\gamma\eta\nu$ ; otherwise  $\epsilon\pi\lambda\acute{\eta}\gamma\eta\nu$ .

594. The second aorist passive is the only aorist passive formed in Attic prose by  $\alpha\gamma\upsilon\mu\iota$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\gamma\eta\nu$ ),  $\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\phi\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\rho\acute{\alpha}\phi\eta\nu$ ),  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\acute{\alpha}\rho\eta\nu$ ),  $\theta\acute{\alpha}\pi\tau\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\acute{\alpha}\phi\eta\nu$ ),  $\kappa\acute{\omicron}\pi\tau\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\omicron\pi\eta\nu$ ),  $\mu\alpha\acute{\iota}\lambda\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\mu\acute{\alpha}\lambda\eta\nu$ ),  $\pi\acute{\iota}\tau\gamma\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\pi\pi\acute{\iota}\gamma\eta\nu$ ),  $\rho\acute{\alpha}\pi\tau\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\rho\acute{\alpha}\phi\eta\nu$ ),  $\rho\acute{\epsilon}\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\rho\acute{\upsilon}\eta\nu$  active),  $\rho\acute{\eta}\gamma\gamma\upsilon\mu\iota$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\rho\rho\acute{\alpha}\gamma\eta\nu$ ),  $\sigma\acute{\eta}\pi\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\acute{\alpha}\gamma\eta\nu$ ),  $\sigma\acute{\kappa}\acute{\alpha}\pi\tau\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\kappa\acute{\alpha}\phi\eta\nu$ ),  $\sigma\pi\epsilon\acute{\iota}\rho\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\pi\acute{\alpha}\rho\eta\nu$ ),  $\sigma\tau\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\lambda\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\lambda\eta\nu$ ),  $\sigma\phi\acute{\alpha}\zeta\omega$  or  $\sigma\phi\acute{\alpha}\tau\tau\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\phi\acute{\alpha}\gamma\eta\nu$ ),  $\sigma\phi\acute{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\sigma\phi\acute{\alpha}\lambda\eta\nu$ ),  $\tau\acute{\upsilon}\phi\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\tau\acute{\upsilon}\phi\eta\nu$ ),  $\phi\theta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\rho\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\phi\theta\acute{\alpha}\rho\eta\nu$  pass. and intr.),  $\phi\acute{\omicron}\omega$  (in subj.  $\phi\upsilon\acute{\omega}$ ),  $\chi\alpha\acute{\iota}\rho\omega$  ( $\acute{\epsilon}\chi\acute{\alpha}\rho\eta\nu$  active).

599 D. Hom. has no example of the first future passive. To express the idea of the passive future the future middle is used. See 802. Doric shows the active endings in both futures passive:  $\delta\epsilon\acute{\iota}\chi\theta\eta\sigma\omicron\upsilon\iota\tau\iota$ ,  $\acute{\alpha}\nu\alpha\gamma\rho\alpha\phi\eta\sigma\epsilon\acute{\iota}$ .

590 a. D. For  $\text{-}\eta\sigma\alpha\iota$  we generally find  $\text{-}\epsilon\iota$  (from  $\text{-}\eta\tau\iota$ , 40) in Hom.; also in Doric.

595. Both the first aorist passive and the second aorist passive are formed by ἀλείφω (ἡλείφθην), ἀλλάττω (-ἡλλάχθην, ἡλλάγην), βάπτω (ἐβάφην), βλάπτω (ἐβλάφθην, ἐβλάβην), βρέχω (ἐβρέχθην), ζεύγνυμι (ἐζύγην), θλίβω (ἐθλίφθην), κλέπτω (ἐκλάπην), κλίνω (-εκλίην), κρύπτω (ἐκρύφθην), λέγω collect (διελέχθην, but συνελέγην), μάττω (ἐμάγην), μείγνυμι (ἐμίγην), πηγνύμι (ἐπάγην), πλέκω (ἐπλάκην), πλῆττω (ἐπλήγην and -επλάγην), ρίπτω (ἐρρίφθην, ἐρρίφην), στερίσκω (ἐστερήθην), στρέφω (ἐστράφην), τάττω (ἐτάχθην), τήκω (ἐτάκην), τρέπω (ἐτρέπην pass. and intr.), τρέφω (ἐτρέφην pass. and intr.), τρίβω (ἐτρίβην, ἐτρίφθην), φαίνω (ἐφάνθην was shown, ἐφάνην appeared), φράγνυμι (ἐφράχθην), ψύχω (ἐψύχην). Most of these verbs use either the one in prose and the other in poetry, the dialects, or late Greek. Only the forms in common prose use are inserted in brackets.

596. Only those verbs which have no second aorist active show the second aorist passive; except τρέπω, which has all the aorists: active ἐτρεψα and ἐτραπον turned; middle ἐτρεψάμην put to flight, ἐτραπόμην turned myself, took to flight; passive ἐτρέφθην was turned, ἐτράπην was turned and turned myself.

SECOND FUTURE PASSIVE

597. The stem of the second future passive is formed by adding -σ%- to the stem of the second aorist passive. It ends in -ησομαι. Thus, βληθήσομαι I shall be injured from βλάπτω (βλαβ-) ἐβλάβην.

κόπ-τ-ω, ἐκόπην κοπήσομαι; γράφω, ἐγράφην γραφήσομαι; φαίνω, ἐφάνην ἠφανήσομαι; φθείρω, ἐφθάρην φθαρήσομαι; πήγνυμι, ἐπάγην παγήσομαι.

598. Most of the verbs in 594, 595 form second futures passive except ἀγνύμι, ἀλείφω, βάπτω, βρέχω, ζεύγνυμι, θλίβω, κλέπτω, μάλω, μάττω, ράπτω. But many of the second futures appear only in poetry or in late Greek, and some are found only in composition.

PERIPHRASTIC FORMS

a. For the perfect or pluperfect active indicative the forms of the perfect active participle and εἰμι or ἦν may be used: as λευκῶς εἰμι for λέλυκα, λευκῶς ἦν for ἐλελύκη. So βοηθηθέντες ἦσαν for ἐβεβοηθήκεσαν (βοηθέω come to aid); εἰμι τεθηκῶς for τέθηκα I have placed; γεγραφῶς ἦν for ἐγεγράφη I had written; πεπονηθῶς ἦν I had suffered. Such forms are more common in the pluperfect and in general denote state rather than action.

b. For the perfect active a periphrasis of the aorist participle and ἔχω is sometimes used, especially when a perfect active form with transitive meaning is lacking; as στήσας ἔχω I have placed (ἐστηκα, intransitive, stand), ἐρασθεὶς ἔχω I have loved. So often because the aspirated perfect is not used, as ἔχεις ταραξῆς thou hast stirred up. Cp. habeo with the perfect participle.

597 D. Hom. has only δαήσσαι (ἐδάην learned), μυχθήσθαι (μείγνυμι mix).

c. In the perfect active subjunctive and optative the forms in -κω and -κοιμι are very rare. In their place the perfect active participle with ᾷ and ειην is usually employed: λελυκώς (λελοιπώς) ᾷ, ειην. Other forms than 3 sing. and 3 pl. are rare. Cp. 691, 694.

d. The perfect or pluperfect passive is often paraphrased by the perfect participle and ἐστί or ἦν; as γεγραμμένον ἐστί it stands written, ἐστί δεδομένον it stands resolved, παρηγγελέμενον ἦν = παρήγγελτο (παράγγελλω give orders).

e. In the third plural of the perfect and pluperfect middle (passive) the perfect middle participle with εισι (ἦσαν) is used when a stem ending in a consonant would come in direct contact with the endings -νται, -ντο. See 408.

f. The perfect subjunctive and optative middle are formed by the perfect middle participle with ᾷ or ειην: λελυμένος ᾷ, ειην.

g. The perfect imperative of all voices may be expressed by combining the perfect participle with ἴσθι, ἔστω (697). λελυκώς ἴσθι loose, etc., εἰρημένον ἔστω let it have been said, γεγονώς ἔστω P. L. 951 c, γεγονότες ἔστωσαν P. L. 779 d.

h. Periphrasis of the infinitive is rare: τεθνηκότα εἶναι to be dead X. C. 1. 4. 11.

600. Future Perfect Active.—The future perfect active of most verbs is formed by combining the perfect active participle with ἔσομαι shall be. Thus, γεγραφώς ἔσομαι I shall have written, cp. scriptus ero. For the two verbs which do not use this periphrasis, see 584.

a. The perfect middle participle is used in the case of deponent verbs: ἀπολελογημένος ἔσομαι And. 1. 72.

601. Future Perfect Passive.—The future perfect passive may be expressed by using the perfect middle (passive) participle with ἔσομαι shall be. Thus, ἔψευσμένος ἔσεσθε you will have been deceived.

FIRST CONJUGATION OR VERBS IN Ω

602. Verbs in -ω have the thematic vowel -ε (-ω/η) between the tense-stem and the personal endings in the present system. The name "ω-conjugation," or "thematic conjugation," is applied to all verbs which form the present and imperfect with the thematic vowel.

603. Inflected according to the ω-conjugation are all thematic presents and imperfects; those second aorists active and middle in which the tense-stem ends with the thematic vowel; all futures, all first aorists active and middle; and most perfects and pluperfects active.

604. Certain tenses of verbs ending in -ω in the first person present indicative active, or of deponent verbs in which the personal endings are preceded by the thematic vowel, are inflected without the thematic vowel, herein agreeing with μ-verbs. These tenses are: all aorists passive; all perfects and pluperfects middle and passive; a few second perfects and pluperfects active; and those second aorists active and middle in which the tense-stem does not end with the thematic vowel. But all subjunctives are thematic.

605. Verbs in -ω fall into two main classes, distinguished by the last letter of the verb-stem:

1. Vowel verbs: a. Uncontracted verbs. b. Contracted verbs.
  2. Consonant verbs: a. Liquid verbs. b. Stop (or mute) verbs.
- N. Under 2 fall also (c) those verbs whose stems ended in σ or φ (624).

606. Vowel Verbs.—Vowel verbs usually do not form second aorists, second perfects, and second futures in the passive. A vowel short in the present is commonly lengthened in the other tenses. Vowel verbs belong to the first class of present stems (498–504; but see 612).

607. Vowel Verbs not contracted.—Vowel verbs not contracted have verb-stems ending in ῖ, ῡ, or in a diphthong (αι, ει, αυ, ευ, ου).

(ι) ἐσθίω eat, πρίω saw, χρίω anoint, poet. δίω fear, τίω honour (500. 2); (υ) ἀνύω accomplish, μεθύω am intoxicated, λύω loose, θύω sacrifice, φύω produce, κωλύω hinder (and many others, 500. 1 a); (αι) κναιω scratch, παιω strike, πταίω stumble, παλαιω wrestle, ἀγαλομαι am indignant, δαίω kindle, δαίωμα divide, λιλαίωμα desire eagerly, poet. μαίωμα desire, ναιω dwell, ραιω strike; (ει) κλέψω (later κλείω) shut, σειώ shake, Epic κειώ split and rest; (αυ) αἴω kindle, θραύω break, ἀπολαύω enjoy, παύω make cease (παύομαι cease), poet. λαύω rest; (ευ) βασιλεύω am king, βουλεύω consult (βουλεύομαι deliberate), θηρεύω hunt, κελεύω order, λείω stone, παιδεύω educate, χορεύω dance, φονεύω slay. Most verbs in -εω are either denominatives, as βασιλεύω from βασίλειος; or are due to the analogy of such denominatives, as παιδεύω. γεύομαι taste is a primitive. θέω run, πέω swim, πλέω sail, πνέω breathe, ρέω flow, χέω pour have forms in ευ, υ; cp. poet. σειώ urge, ἀλεύω avert, ἀχέω am grieved; (ου) ἀκούω hear, κολούω dock, κρούω beat, λούω wash.

608. Some primitive vowel verbs in -ιω, -υω (522) formed their present stem by the aid of the suffix ι(γ), which has been lost. Denominatives in -ιω, -υω, -εω regularly added the suffix, as poet. μηνί-ω am wroth from μηνι-ω (μῆνι-ς wrath), poet. δακρύω weep (δάκρυ tear), poet. φίτν-ω beget from φίτν-ω, μεθύω am drunk, βασιλεύω am king. Poet. δηρίομαι, μαστίω, μητιομαι, κηκίω, ἀχλύω, γηρύω, ιθύω.

609. The stem of some of the uncontracted vowel verbs originally ended in σ or φ (624).

610. Some verbs with verb-stems in vowels form presents in -ω (523), as πίνω drink, φθίνω perish; and in -σκω (526).

611. Vowel Verbs contracted.—Vowel verbs that contract have verb-stems ending in α, ε, ο, with some in ᾱ, η, ω.

612. All contracted verbs form their present stem by the help of the suffix ι(γ), and properly belong to the Third Class (522).

613. Some contracted verbs have verb-stems which originally ended in σ or φ (624).

614. Liquid Verbs. — Liquid verbs have verb-stems in λ, μ, ν, ρ.

The present is rarely formed from the simple verb-stem, as in μέν-ω remain; ordinarily the suffix ι (y) is added, as in στέλλω (στελ-ιω) send, κρίνω (κρίν-ιω) judge, κτείνω (κτεν-ιω) slay, φαίνω (φαν-ιω) show.

615. A short vowel of the verb-stem remains short in the future but is lengthened in the first aorist (544). Thus:

- a. α in the future, η in the aorist: φαίνω (φαν-) show, φανῶ, ἔφηναι. In this class fall all verbs in -αίνω, -αίρω, -αλλω.
- b. ε in the future, αι in the aorist: μέν-ω remain, μενῶ, ἔμεινα; στέλλω (στελ-) send, στελεῶ, ἔστειλα. Here belong verbs in -ελλω, -εμω, -εμνω, -ερω, -ερω, -ενω, -ενω.
- c. ι in the future, ι in the aorist: κλίνω (κλιν-) incline, κλινῶ, ἔκλινα. Here belong verbs in -ιλλω, -ίνω, -ίρω.
- d. υ in the future, υ in the aorist: σῶρω (συρ-) drag, σῶρῶ, ἔσῶρα. Here belong verbs in -ύρω, -ύνω.

For the formation of the future stem see 535, of the aorist stem see 544.

616. For the perfect stem see 559. Few liquid verbs make second perfects. On the change of ε, α of the verb-stem to ο, η in the second perfect, see 478, 484. Liquid verbs with futures in -ῶ do not form future perfects.

617. Monosyllabic verb-stems containing ε have α in the first perfect active, perfect middle, first aorist and future passive and in all second aorists, but ο in the second perfect. Thus, φθείρω (φθερ-) corrupt, ἔφθαρκα, ἔφθαρμαι, ἐφθάρην, but δι-έφθορα have destroyed (819).

618. A few monosyllabic stems do not change ε to α in the 2 aor., as τέμνω cut ἔτεμον (but ἔταμον in Hom., Hdt. etc.), γίγνομαι (γεν-) become ἐγενόμην. See also θέλω, θέρομαι, κέλωμαι, root φεν-. Few liquid verbs form second aorists.

619. Stems of more than one syllable do not change the vowel of the verb-stem.

620. List of Liquid Verbs. — The arrangement is according to the classes of the present stem. Words poetic or mainly poetic or poetic and Ionic are starred.

- I. βούλομαι (βουλ-ε-), ἐθέλω (ἐθει-ε-), εἰλέω* (εἰλ-ε-), ἱλλω*, μέλλω, μέλω, πέλομαι*, φιλέω (Epic φιλ-). — βρέμω*, γέμω, δέμω*, θέρμω*, νέμω, τρέμω, and γαμέω (γαμ-ε-). — γίγνομαι (γεν-ε-), μένω, μίμνω* (μεν-), πένομαι, σθένω*, στένω, and γεγωνέω* (γεγων-ε-). — Verbs in -εμω and -ενω have only pres. and imperf., or form their tenses in part from other stems. — δέρω, ἔρομαι (ἐρ-ε-), ἔρρω (ἐρρ-ε-), θέρομαι*, στέρομαι, φέρω, ἐπαυρέω*, (ἐπαυρ-ε-), and κυρέω* (κυρ-ε-), τορέω* (τορ-ε-).

614 D. πεφύρσεσθαι in Pindar is made from φύρσω (φῶρω knead).

All other denominatives in -αίνω are due to analogy; as ἀγριαίνω, αδαίνω, γλυκαίνω, δυσχεραίνω, ἐχθραίνω, θερμαίνω, ἰσχυαίνω, κερδαίνω, κοιλαίνω, κῶδαίνω*, λαιαίνω, λευκαίνω*, μαραίνω, μαργαίνω*, μαιαίνω, μωραίνω, ξηραίνω, ὀρμαίνω*, ὀσφραίνομαι, πεπαίνω, περαίνω, πικραίνω, ρυπαίνω, τετραίνω, ὕγαινω, ὑδραίνω*, ὑφαίνω, χαλεπαίνω. — ἀλαείνω*, γεινομαι*, ἐρεείνω*, θείνω*, κτείνω, πειρείνω*, στείνω*, τείνω, φασείνω*. — κλίνω (κλι-ν-), κρίνω (κρι-ν-), ὀρίνω*, στίνομαι (Xenoph.), ὠδίνω. — αἰσχόνομαι, ἀλγόνω, ἀρτύνω*, βαθύνω, βαρύνω, βραδύνω*, ἡδύνω, θαρσύνω, ἰθύνω*, λεπτόνω, ὀξύνω, ὀρτύνω*, πλύνω. — αἶρω, ἀσπαίρω, γεραίρω*, ἐναίρω*, ἐχθαίρω*, καθαίρω, μαρμαίρω*, μεγαίρω*, σαίρω*, σκαίρω, τεκμαίρομαι, χαίρω (χαρ-ε-), ψαίρω. — ἀγείρω, ἀμείρω*, δείρω, ἐγείρω, εἰρομαι*, -εἶρω join, εἶρω* say, ἱμείρω*, κείρω, μείρομαι, πείρω*, στείρω, τείρω*, φθείρω. — οἰκτείνω (miswritten οἰκτείρω). — κινῶρομαι*, μαρτῶρομαι, μινῶρομαι*, μορμῶρω*, μόρω*, ὀδῶρομαι, ὀλοφῶρομαι, πορφῶρω*, σῶρω, φῶρω*.

IV. a. κάμνω, τέμνω; b. ὀφλισκάνω (ὀφλ-ε-); h. βαίνω, κερδαίνω, τετραίνω (also Class III); i. ὀσφραίνομαι (ὀσφρ-ε-), also Class III. V. See 527.

621. Stop Verbs. — Many verb stems end in a stop (or mute) consonant.

The present is formed either from the simple verb-stem, as in πλέκ-ω weave, or by the addition of τ or ι (y) to the verb-stem, as in βλάπτω (βλαβ-) injure, φυλάττω (φυλακ-ιω) guard. All tenses except the present and imperfect are formed without the addition of τ or ι to the verb-stem; thus, βλάψω from βλαβ-σ-ω, φυλάξω from φυλακ-σ-ω.

622. Some monosyllabic stems show a variation in the quantity of the stem vowel ι or υ, as τρέβω rub perf. τέρριφα, ψύχω cool 2 aor. pass. ἐψύχην, τήκω melt (Doric τάκω) 2 aor. pass. ἐτάκην. Cp. 475, 477 c, 500. Many monosyllabic stems show qualitative vowel gradation: ι ε ι; υ ευ ου; α η ω; α ε ο. For examples see 477-484.

623. List of Stop Verbs. — The arrangement of the examples is by classes of the present stem. Words poetic or mainly poetic or poetic and Ionic are starred. The determination of the final consonant of the verb-stem of verbs in -ίζω, -ττω (poetic, Ionic, and later Attic -σσω) is often impossible (616).

Thus (1) from -σ-ω: ἀκούω, αὖν burn, γέω, εὔω, ζέω, θραύω, κρούω, νίσσομαι* (ν-ισσομαι, cp. νόσ-τος), ξέω, σείω, τρέω*; (2) from -σ-ιω (488 d): ἀγαίωμαι*, αἰδέομαι, ἀέτομαι (Hom. ἀκείωμαι), ἀρκέω, γελάω, κείω* split, κλείω* (i.e. κλεέω) celebrate, κοίω*, λιλαίωμαι*, μαίωμαι*, ναίω* dwell, νικέω (Hom. νικείω), οἰνοβαρείω*, ὀδομαι (from ὀδομαι), πενθέω (Hom. πενθείω), πτίττω (πτισ-ιω), τελέω (Hom. τελείω), and some others that do not lengthen the vowel of the verb-stem (488).

Also others, such as ἀρέσκειω (ἀρεσ-), ἐννῦμι, ζώννῦμι, σβέννῦμι (732). — σ is retained in τέρσομαι*.

- b. ρ-stems (from -ρ-ιω): γαίω*, δαίω* kindle, καίω (520), κλαίω (520), ναιώ* swim, ροιόω 222. — For the loss of ρ in θέω, etc., see 43, 503.

INFLECTION OF Ω-VERBS

625. Verbs which end in ω in the first person present indicative active, and deponent verbs in which the personal endings are preceded by the thematic vowel, have the following peculiarities of inflection:

a. The thematic vowel usually appears in all tenses except the perfect and pluperfect middle (passive) and the aorist passive (except in the subjunctive). These three tenses are inflected like μ-verbs.

b. The present and future singular active end in -ω, -εις, -ει (463). The ending -μ appears only in the optative.

c. The thematic vowel ο unites in the indicative with the ending -ντι, and forms -ουσι (463 d).

d. The third plural active of past tenses ends in -ν.

e. The imperative active has no personal ending in the second person singular except -ο-ν in the first aorist.

f. Except in the perfect and pluperfect the middle endings -σαι and -σο lose σ and contract with the final vowel of the tense-stem (465 a, b). In the optative contraction cannot take place (λύοι-(σ)ο, λύσαι-(σ)ο).

g. The infinitive active has -ειν (for -ε-εν) in the present, future, and second aorist; -ε-ναι in the perfect; and -αι in the aorist.

h. Active participles with stems in -οντ- have the nominative masculine in -ων.

626. In 627–716 the method of inflection of all ω-verbs, both vowel and consonant, is described. The examples are generally taken from vowel verbs, but the statements hold true of consonant verbs.

Forms of ω-verbs which are inflected according to the non-thematic conjugation are included under the ω-verbs.

PRESENT AND IMPERFECT ACTIVE AND MIDDLE (PASSIVE)

For the formation of the present stem see 497–531.

627. Indicative. — Vowel and consonant verbs in -ω inflect the present by attaching the primary endings (when there are any) to the present stem in -% (-ω/-η). λῶω, τῶω (τῶα-ω), φαίω, λείω. The imperfect attaches the secondary endings to the present stem with the augment. See the paradigms, pp. 114, 120. For the active forms -ω, -εις, -ει, see 463.

628. -η and -ει are found in the pres. fut. mid. and pass., fut. perf. pass. ε-(σ)αι yields η (written EI in the Old Attic alphabet, 2 a), which is usually given as the proper spelling in the texts of the tragic poets, whereas ει is printed in the texts of prose and comedy. ει was often written for η (η) after 400 B.C., as in ἀγαθεὶ τύχει, since both had the sound of a close long e. It is often impossible to settle the spelling; but βούλει wishest, οἷει thinkest, and ὄψει shall see (from ὄρω) have only the -ει forms. -ει is sometimes called Attic and Ionic in contrast to -η of the other dialects, including the Koine.

629. Subjunctive. — The present subjunctive adds the primary endings to the tense-stem with the long thematic vowel. For the endings -ης, -η see 463. Thus, λῶω, -ης, -η, τῶω (= τῶα-ης), τῶω (= τῶα-η), φαίωμεν, -ητε, -ωσι (from -ωντι). Middle λῶμαι, λῶη (= λῶη-σαι), λῶη-ται; τῶα-σθον (= τῶα-σθον); φαίνω-μεθα, φαίνη-σθε, φαίνω-νται.

630. Optative. — To the tense-stem ending in the thematic vowel (always o) are added the mood-sign -ι- (-ι-ε-) or -ιη- (459, 460) and the secondary personal endings (except -μ for -ν, where the mood sign is -ι-, 459). In the 3 pl. we have -ι-ε-ν.

a. The final vowel of the tense-stem (o) contracts with the mood suffix (ι), o-ι becoming οι. Thus λῶοιμ (λῶο-ι-μ), λῶοις (λῶο-ι-ς), λῶοιεν (λῶο-ι-ε-ν), λῶοιμην (λῶο-ι-μην), λῶοιο (λῶο-ι-σο).

631. Imperative. — The present imperative endings are added to the tense-stem with the thematic vowel ε (o before -ων). The 2 pers. sing. active has no ending, but uses the tense-stem instead (παῖδε, φαῖνε). In the middle -σο loses its σ (466, 2 a); λῶου from λῶε-σο, φαῖνου from φαῖνε-σο. On the forms in -εωσαν and -εσθωσαν for -οντων and -εσθων, see 466, 2 b.

632. Infinitive. — The present stem unites with -εν: λῶε-εν = λῶειν, λείπε-εν = λείπειν. In the middle (passive) -σθαι is added: λῶε-σθαι, λείπε-σθαι.

633. Participle. — The present participle adds -ντ- to the present stem ending in the thematic vowel o. Stems in -οντ have the nominative singular in -ων. Thus masc. λῶων from λῶοντ-ς, fem. λῶουσα from λῶοντ-ια, neut. λῶον from λῶοντ-ς. See 301 a and N.

634. A few ω-verbs in the present and imperfect show forms of the μ-conjugation. These are usually Epic.

δέχομαι, 3 pl. δέχεται await for δεχται, part. δέγμενος, imperf. ἐδέγμην. But these are often regarded as perfect and pluperfect without reduplication. ἐδέγμην 633 D. Severer Doric has ἐχην and ἐχεν; Milder Doric has ἐχαιν; Aeolic has ἐχην. Hom. has ἀμύνειν, ἀμυνέμεναι, ἀμυνέμεν.

633 D. Aeolic has fem. -οισα in the present and second aorist (37 D. 3), λῶοισα, λῶοοισα.

in some passages is a second aorist (688). — ἔδω eat (529. 5), inf. ἔδμεναι. — έρω (or εἰρώ) in εἰρώσεται. — λούται wash is from λόεται, not from λούω (cp. 398 a). — οἶμαι think is probably a perfect to οἶομαι (oi-o). — οὐτάω wound in οὐτα, οὐτάμεναι is 2 aor. — φέρω bear, imper. φέρετε.

CONTRACT VERBS

635. Verbs in -αω, -εω, -οω contract the final α, ε, ο of the verb-stem with the thematic vowel -ο/ε (-ω/η) in the present and imperfect tenses. Thus, τίμάω τιμῶ, ποιέω ποιῶ, δηλόω δηλῶ; ἐτίμαον ἐτίμων, ἐποίηον ἐποίηον, ἐδήλοον ἐδήλουν. The rules of contraction are given in 49-55; the paradigms, p. 120.

a. Open forms of -εω verbs occur in the lyric parts of tragedy.

636. Subjunctive. — The subjunctive adds the primary endings. For the contractions see 59.

637. Optative. — δοι becomes ῶ, εῖοι and δοι become οῖ. Thus, -δο-ι-μι = -ῶμι, -αο-ι-ν = -ῶην, -αο-ι-μην = -ῶμην; -εο-ι-μι = -οῖμι, -εο-ι-ν = -οῖην, -εο-ι-μην = -οῖμην; -οο-ι-μι = -οῖμι, -οο-ι-ν = -οῖην, -οο-ι-μην = -οῖμην. Thus, τίμα-οι-ν (τίμαο-ι-ν), τιμώ-οι-ν (τιμαιο-ι-ν), ποιέ-οι-ν (ποιέο-ι-ν), ποιεῖ-οι-ν (ποιέο-ι-ν).

638. In the singular -αω verbs usually end in -ῶην, -ῶης, -ῶη, rarely in -ῶμι, -ῶς, -ῶ. -εω verbs usually end in -οῖην, -οῖης, -οῖη, rarely in -οῖμι, -οῖς, -οῖ (-οῖ chiefly in Plato).

639. In the dual and plural -αω verbs usually end in -ῶτον, -ῶτην, -ῶμεν, -ῶτε, -ῶεν, rarely in -ῶητον, -ῶήτην, -ῶήμεν, -ῶητε, -ῶησαν. -εω verbs usually end in -οῖτον, -οῖτην, -οῖμεν, -οῖτε, -οῖεν, rarely in -οῖητον, -οῖήτην, -οῖήμεν, -οῖητε, -οῖησαν.

640. Few cases of the optative of -οω verbs occur. In the sing. both -οῖην and -οῖμι are found; in the plur. -οῖμεν, -οῖτε, -οῖεν. For ρίγ-ωην from ρίγ-ωω shiver see 641.

641. Several contract verbs have stems in -ᾱ, -η, -ω.

These are the verbs of 394, 398 with apparently irregular contraction, and διδ-ω do; with presents made from -ᾱ-ιω, -η-ιω, -ω-ιω. Thus, from ζῆ-ω, ζῆεις, ζῆει and χρή-μαι, χρεῖ(σ)ται, χρεῖται come ζῶ, ζῆς, ζῆ and χρῶμαι, χρῶ, χρῆται; so διδ-ω, πειν-ω from διδ-ῆ-εν, πειν-ῆ-εν. ιδρῶ, ρίγ-ω (398) derive the forms in ω and φ from ιδρ-ω, ρίγ-ω (ιδρῶ, ρίγ-ω from ιδρ-ωσ-ιω, ρίγ-ωσ-ιω). The forms in -οω are from the weaker stems ιδρ-οσ-, ρίγ-οσ-.

641 D. Hom. has διδῶν, πεινῶν, πεινήμεναι, μνᾶμαι, χρεῶν (Mss. χρείων) uttering oracles, γελῶ, ἰδρῶ. The verbs in 394, except διδ-ω and πεινῶ, have stems in η and ᾱ (36 e); thus, in Hdt., χρᾶται from χράεται, but χρεῶ imper., χρεώμενος from χρη-ο, χορηόμενος by 34. Hom. and Ion. ζῶ has the stem ζω (ζω-ιω). Hdt. has ζῆν, διψῆν, but κνᾶν, σμᾶν.

CONTRACT VERBS IN THE DIALECTS

642. -aw Verbs in Homer. — Hom. leaves -aw verbs open 64 times, as ραιεῶν, -δουσι, ἔλδει, δοιδίδουσα, γοδοίμεν, τηλεθάοντας. When contracted, -aw verbs have the Attic forms, as ὀρῶ, ὀρεῖς, ὀρεῖ; as πειρῶ makest trial from πειράε-(σ)αι from πειράομαι; ἤρῳ didst pray from ἡράε-(σ)ο from ἡράομαι.

643. When uncontracted, verbs in -aw often show in the Mss. of Hom., not the original open forms, but "assimilated" forms of the concurrent vowels, ae, aei, aeη giving a double a sound by a prevailing over the e sound; ao, aw, aoi, aou giving a double o sound by the o sound prevailing over the a. One of the vowels is commonly lengthened, rarely both.

= (2) ae: μνάεσθαι = μνάασθαι, ἡγάεσθε = ἡγάασθε.

ae = (1) ae: ὀράεις = ὀράας, ἔδει = ἔάq.

= (2) ae: μενοινάει = μενοινάq.

= (2) aeη: μνάη woolest 2 sing. mid. = μνάq.

= (2) ao: ἡβάντες = ἡβώντες, μνάοντο = μνώοντο.

= (2) aw: μενοινάw = μενοινών.

aou = (1) ow: ὀράουσα = ὀρώσα, ὀράουσι = ὀρώσι, ἑλάου (from ἑλάεο imper. of ἑλάομαι) = ἑλῶ.

N. — ἑλῶ from ἑλάεο wander is unique. γελώντες is from γελῶw (641).

644. The assimilated forms are used only when the second vowel (in the unchanged form) stood in a syllable long by nature or position. Hence ὀρωμεν, ὀραατε, ὀραατο, do not occur for ὀρόμεν, etc. (μνωόμενος for μνάόμενος is an exception.) The first vowel is lengthened only when the metre requires it, as in ἡβώντες for ἡβάντες — υ — υ. Thus two long vowels do not occur in succession except to fit the form to the verse, as μενοινών for μενοινάw; but ἡβώοιμ, not ἡβώωμ. When the first vowel is metrically lengthened, the second vowel is not lengthened, though it may be long either in a final syllable (as in μενοινάq) or when it represents the spurious diphthong ou from -οντ- (as in ἡβώωσα, δράώσι for ἡβάουσα, δράουσι from -οντ-ια, -οντι).

645. The assimilated forms include the "Attic" future in -aw from -aw (539); as ἑλῶσι (= ἑλῶσι), κρεμῶ, δαμῶ, δαμῶσι.

646. The assimilated forms are found only in the artificial language of Homer, Hesiod, and their imitators, and nowhere in the living speech. They are commonly explained as derived from the contracted forms by a process of 'distraction,' and as inserted in the text for the sake of the metre. Thus ὀρεῖς, βοῶντες, the spoken forms which had taken the place of original δράεις, βοδόντες, in the text, were expanded into *δράε*s, βοδώντες, by repetition of the α and ο. While the restoration of the original uncontracted forms is generally possible, and is adopted in several modern editions, a phonetic origin of many of the forms in question is still sought by some scholars who regard δρῶ as an intermediate stage between δράω and δρῶ. It will be observed, however, that the forms in 648 can be derived only from the unassimilated forms.

647. In the imperfect contraction generally occurs, and assimilation is rare.

648. Some verbs show εο for αο, as ἦτεον, τρόπεον, μενέεον, ποτέονται. Cp. 649, 653.

649. -αω verbs in Herodotus. — Hdt. contracts -αω verbs as they are contracted in Attic. In many cases before an ο sound the Mss. substitute ε for α (τολμέω, δρέων, ἐφοίτεον). This ε is never found in all the forms of the same verb, and the Mss. generally disagree on each occurrence of any form. — Hdt. always has -ψην, -ψμην, in the optative.

650. -εω verbs in Homer. — a. Hom. rarely contracts εω and εο (except in the participle). In a few cases ευ appears for εο, as ποιεῦμην; rarely for εον, as τελεῦσι. When the metre allows either -εε and -εει, or -ει, the open forms are slightly more common. ει is often necessary to admit a word into the verse (as ἡγείσθαι, ἐφίλει), and is often found at the verse-end. -ε-αι, -ε-ο, in the 2 sing. mid. may become -εῖαι, -εῖο, or -εαι, -εο, by the expulsion of one ε; as μυθεῖαι or μυθεῖο sayest, aldest thou regard.

c. On -ημεναι in Hom. see 657.

651. -εω verbs in Herodotus. — a. Hdt. generally leaves εο, εω, εον, open, except when a vowel precedes the ε, in which case we find ευ for εο (ἀγνοεύντες). In the 3 plur. -έουσι is kept except in ποιεῦσι. For -έ-εο in the 2 sing. mid. we find -έ-ο in αἰτέο. εε, εει, in stems of more than one syllable, are usually uncontracted in the Mss., but this is probably an error. δεῖ it is necessary and δεῖν are never written otherwise. — The Ion. ευ for εο, εον, occurs rarely in tragedy.

b. In the optative Hdt. has -έοι after a consonant, as καλέοι, but -οῖ after a vowel, as ποιοῖμι, ποιοῖ.

652. Verbs in -οω. — a. Hom. always uses the contracted forms except in the case of such as show assimilation like that in -αω verbs.

(2) ωο : ὑπνῶντας = ὑπνῶντας.

οοι = οφ : δηῖδοιεν = δηῖδωφεν.

b. Hdt. contracts -οω verbs as in Attic. Forms with ευ for ου, as δικαιεῦσι, δικαίευν, are incorrect.

653. Doric. — Doric (59 D.) contracts αε and αη to η; αιε and αη to η; αο, αω, to ᾶ except in final syllables: τίμῶ, τίμῆς, τίμῃ, τίμᾶμες, τίμῃτε, τίμᾶντι, τίμη, τίμῃν. Monosyllabic stems have ω from α + ο or α + ω. Some verbs in -αω have alternative forms in -εω (648), as δρέω, τῖμέω.

654. The contractions of -ew verbs in Doric may be illustrated thus:

Severer Doric	Milder Doric
φιλέω, φιλῶ, φιλέω	φιλέω, φιλῶ
φιλεῖς, φιλές(?)	φιλεῖς, φιλές(?)
φιλεῖ	φιλεῖ
φιλέομεν, φιλομεν, φιλλέομεν, φιλλόμεν	φιλέομεν, φιλοῦμεν, φιλεῖομεν
φιλήτε	φιλέετε
φιλέοντι, φιλοῦντι, φιλόντι	φιλέοντι, φιλοῦντι, φιλεῦντι

a. ω for εο is a diphthong. ευ for εο is common in Theocritus. In Cretan (= γ) for ε is often expelled (κοσμόντες = κοσμέοντες).

655. Verbs in -ow contract οο and οε to ω in Severer Doric and to ου in Milder Doric.

656. Aeolic. — In Aeolic contract verbs commonly pass into the μ-conjugation: τίμαιμι, -αις, -αι, τίμᾶμεν, τίμᾶτε, τίμαισι, imperfect, έτιμᾶν, έτιμᾶς, έτιμᾶ, etc. inf. τίμᾶν, part. τίμᾶις, -αντος, mid. τίμᾶμαι, inf. τίμᾶμεναι. So φιλημι, φιλημεν, φίλητε, φίλεισι, έφιλην, inf. φίλην, part. φίλεις, -εντος. Thus δρημι from δρέω = Att. δράω, κάλημι, αἶνῃμι. So also δήλωμι, 3 pl. δήλοισι, inf. δήλων. Besides these forms we find a few examples of the earlier inflection in -aw, -ew, -ow, but these forms usually contract except in a few cases where ε is followed by an ο sound (ποτέονται). From other tenses, e.g. the fut. in -ησω, η has been transferred to the present in ἄδικῃω, ποθῃω.

657. Hom. has several cases of contract verbs inflected according to the μ-conjugation in the 3 dual: σῦλή-την (σῦλάω σοῦ), προσανδή-την (προσανδάω speak to), ἀπειλή-την (ἀπειλέω threaten), ὀμαρτή-την (ὀμαρτέω meet); also σάω 3 sing. imperf. (σαόω keep safe). In the infinitive -ημεναι, as γοήμεναι (γοάω), πειρήμεναι (πειράω, 641), φιλήμεναι (φιλέω), φορήμεναι and φορήναι (φορέω). But ἀγίρέω has ἀγίρέμεναι.

FUTURE ACTIVE AND MIDDLE (532 ff.). FUTURE PERFECT (580 ff.)

658. All vowel and consonant verbs in -ω inflect the future alike.

a. The only future perfect active from an ω-verb is τεθνήξω shall be dead (584), which is inflected like a future active. Ordinarily the periphrastic formation is used: λελυκώς ἔσομαι shall have loosed. The future perfect passive (λελῶσομαι shall have been loosed) is inflected like the future middle. The periphrastic forms and the future perfect passive rarely occur outside of the indicative.

660. Optative. — The inflection is like the present: λύσο-ι-μι, λύσο-ι-μεν. In the optative singular of liquid verbs, -ι-γ-ν, -ι-γ-ς, -ι-γ, in the dual and plural -ι-τον,

-ι-την, -ι-μεν, -ι-τε, -ι-εν, are added to the stem ending in the thematic vowel ο; thus φαίνο-ιην = φαίνοιην, φαίνο-ι-μεν = φαίνοίμεν. So in Attic futures in -άξω, as βιβάξω (539 d) cause to go: βιβάξην, -ψης, -ψη, pl. βιβῶμεν.

661. Infinitive. — The future infinitive active adds -εν, as λῶσειν from λῶσε-εν, φαεῖν from φανε(σ)ε-εν. The infinitive middle adds -σθαι, as λῶσε-σθαι, φανῆσθαι, from φανε(σ)ε-σθαι.

662. Participle. — The future participle has the same endings as the present: λῶσων λῶσουσα λῶσον, φανῶν φανούσα φανούν; middle, λῶσόμενος, φανόμενος.

FIRST AND SECOND FUTURE PASSIVE (589, 597)

663. All verbs inflect the first and second future passive alike, that is, like the future middle.

664. The indicative adds -μαι to the stem ending in -θησο- or -ησο-, as λυθήσο-μαι, φανήσο-μαι. For the two forms of the second person singular see 628. The optative adds -ι-μην, as λυθησο-ι-μην, φανησο-ι-μην. The infinitive adds -σθαι, as λυθή-σε-σθαι, φανή-σε-σθαι. The participle adds -μενος, as λυθησόμενος, φανησόμενος.

FIRST AORIST ACTIVE AND MIDDLE (542)

665. All vowel and consonant ω-verbs inflect the first aorist alike.

666. Indicative. — The secondary endings of the first aorist active were originally added to the stem ending in -σ-; thus, ἐλῶσμ, ἐλῶς-ς, ἐλῶς-τ, ἐλῶς-μεν, ἐλῶς-τε, ἐλῶς-ντ. From ἐλῶσμ came ἐλῶσα (by 35 c), the α of which spread to the other forms except in the 3 sing., where ε was borrowed from the perfect.

a. In the middle the secondary endings are added to the stem ending in -σα-. For the loss of σ in -σο, see 465 b.

667. Subjunctive. — In the subjunctive the long thematic vowel -ω/η- is substituted for the α of the indicative, and these forms are inflected like the present subjunctive: λῶσω λῶσωμαι, φῆνω φῆνωμαι. For the loss of σ in -σαι see 465 a.

668. Optative. — To the stem ending in α the mood-suffix ι is added, making αι, to which the same endings are affixed as in the present: λῶσα-ι-μι = λῶσαιμι, λῶσα-ι-μην = λῶσαιμην, φῆνα-ι-μι = φῆναιμι. The inflection in the middle is like that of the present. For the loss of σ in -σο see 465 b. — In the active -εας, -ειε, -ειαν are more common than -αις, -αι, -αιεν.

661 D. Hom. has ἀξέμεναι, ἀξέμεν, ἀξειν. Doric has -ην, -ειν; Aeolic has -ην.

667 D. Hom. has forms with the short thematic vowel, as ἐρύσσομεν, ἀλγῆσете, νέμεσῆσете; μυθήσομαι, ἐφάψαι, ἱασόμεσθα, δηλήσεται. In such forms aorist subjunctive and future indicative are alike (532). Pindar has βάσομεν, αὐδάσομεν (457 D.).

668 D. Hom. has both sets of endings, but that in αι is rarer. In the drama -εας is very much commoner than -αις. -αις is most frequent in Plato and Xeno-

669. Imperative. — The regular endings (463) are added to the stem in -σα (or -α in liquid verbs) except in the active and middle 2 sing., in which -ον and -αι take the place of -α: λῦσον λῦσάτω, λῦσαι λῦσάσθω, φῆρον φηράτω, φῆραι φηράσθω.

670. Infinitive. — The aorist active infinitive ends in -αι, which is an old dative: the middle ends in -σθαι: λῦσαι λῦσα-σθαι, φῆραι φήνα-σθαι, πλέξει πλέξα-σθαι.

671. Participle. — The active participle adds -ντ like the present: masc. λῦσας from λῦσαντ-ς, fem. λῦσασα from λυσαντ-ια, neut. λῦσαν from λῦσαν(τ). See 301. The middle ends in -μενος: λῦσά-μενος, φηρά-μενος.

FIRST AND SECOND AORIST PASSIVE (585, 590)

672. All vowel and consonant verbs in -ω inflect the aorists passive alike, that is, according to the μ-conjugation, except in the subjunctive.

a. Vowel verbs rarely form second aorists that are passive in form, as πέω ῥέω, ἔρρωην (808). But πέω is properly not a vowel verb (see 503).

673. Indicative. — The indicative adds the active secondary endings directly to the tense stem ending in -θη- (first aorist) or -τη- (second aorist). The inflection is thus like that of the imperfect of a verb in -μι.

ἄλσθη-ν	ἔλθη-ν			ἄλσθη-μεν	ἔλθε-μεν
ἄλσθη-ς	ἔλθη-ς	ἄλσθη-τον	ἔλθε-τον	ἄλσθη-τε	ἔλθε-τε
ἄλσθη	ἔλθη	ἄλσθη-την	ἔλθε-την	ἄλσθη-σαν	ἔλθε-σαν

a. For -σαν we find -ν from -ν(τ) in poetical and dialectic forms before which η has been shortened to ε (40), thus ὤρμηθεν from ὤρμηθησαν from ὀρμάω urge.

674. Subjunctive. — The subjunctive adds -ω/η- to the tense stem ending in -θε- or -ε-, and contracts: λυθῶ, -ῆς, -ῆ, etc., from λυθέω, -ῆς, -ῆ, etc.; φανῶ, -ῆς, -ῆ from φανέω, -ῆς, -ῆ, etc.

675. Optative. — The optative adds -ι- or -ιη- to the tense-stem ending in -θε- or -ε-, and contracts. In the singular -ιη- is regular; in the dual and plural -ι- is generally preferred. Thus λυθείην from λυθε-ιη-ν, φανείην from φανε-ιη-ν, phon. less common in poetry, and very rare in the orators. Neither Thuc. nor Hdt. has -αις. -αι is rare in prose, most examples being in Plato and Demosthenes. Hdt. has no case. In Aristotle -αι is as common as -ειε. -αίεν is very rare in poetry, in Thuc. and Hdt., but slightly better represented in Xenophon and the orators. -εαιεν is probably the regular form in the drama. — The forms in -εας, -ειε, -εαιε are called "Aeolic," but do not occur in the remains of that dialect.

671 D. Aeolic has -αις, -αισα, -αν (87 D. 8).

674 D. Hdt. leaves ew open (αλπεθῶ, φανέωσι) but contracts ειη, ειη (φανῆ). Hom. has some forms like the 2 aor. subj. of μ-verbs. Thus, from δαμνάω (δάμνημι) συδδύε: δαμῆω, -ῆς, -ῆ, -ῆε. So also δαήω (δα-learn), σαπήν (σῆπω cause to rot), φανῆν (φαίω shine), τραπήομεν (τέρπω amuse). The spellings with α (e.g. δαμῆω, δαῖω) are probably incorrect.

λυθεῖτον from λυθέ-ι-τον, φανεῖτον from φανέ-ι-τον, λυθεῖμεν from λυθέ-ι-μεν, φανεῖν from φανέ-ι-ε-ν. The inflection is like that of the present optative of a μ-verb.

λυθε-ιη-ν	τιθε-ιη-ν			λυθε-ι-μεν	τιθε-ι-μεν
λυθε-ιη-ς	τιθε-ιη-ς	λυθε-ι-τον	τιθε-ι-τον	λυθε-ι-τε	τιθε-ι-τε
λυθε-ιη	τιθε-ιη	λυθε-ι-την	τιθε-ι-την	λυθε-ι-ε-ν	τιθε-ι-ε-ν

a. -ειμεν is used only in prose (but Plato and Isocrates have also -εῖμεν). -ειητε is almost always found in the Mss. of prose writers; -εῖτε occurs only in poetry (except from μ-verbs). -εῖν is more common in prose than -εισαν.

676. Imperative.—The endings of the imperative are added to the tense-stem ending in -θη- or -η-. Before -ντων, -θη- and -η- become -θε- and -ε- (λυθέντων, φανέντων). For -τι instead of -θι in the first aorist (λύθητι) see 125 b.

677. Infinitive.—-ναι is added to the tense-stem in -θη- or -η-: λυθῆ-ναι, φανῆ-ναι.

678. Participle.—The participle adds -ντ, as masc. λυθείς from λυθεντ-ς, fem. λυθείσα from λυθεντ-σα, neut. λυθέν from λυθεν(τ). See 301. So φανείς, etc.

SECOND AORIST ACTIVE AND MIDDLE (546)

679. Most verbs in -ω inflect the second aorist according to the ω-conjugation; some inflect it according to the μ-conjugation.

680. The inflection of most second aorists of ω-verbs is like that of an imperfect of ω-verbs in the indicative, and like that of a present in the other moods.

ἔ-λιπο-ν	ἔ-λῴο-ν	λίπε	λῴο
ἔ-λιπό-μην	ἔ-λῴό-μην	λιποθ (424 b. 2)	λῴου
λίπεω	λῴω	λιπεῖν (λιπέ-εν, 424 c)	λῴειν (λῴε-εν)
λίπεω-μαι	λῴω-μαι	λιπέ-σθαι	λῴε-σθαι λιπο-ί-μην	λῴο-ί-μην	λιπών	λῴων
		λιπό-μενος	λῴό-μενος

For the loss of σ in -σο in the second person singular see 465 b.

681. A number of ω-verbs form their second aorists without a thematic vowel, herein agreeing with the second aorists of μ-verbs. Cp. ἔδυν p. 140. The second aorist of γι-γνώ-σκω κνω is inflected as follows.

677 D. Hom. has -μεναι, as ὁμοιωθήμεναι, δαήμεναι (and δαῆναι). Doric has -μεν, Aeolic -ν (μεθύσθην = μεθυσθήναι).

680 D. Hom. has the infinitives εἰπέμεναι, εἰπέμεν, εἰπεῖν. For θανέειν (Attic θανεῖν) etc., θανέειν should be read. -εῖν in Hdt. is erroneous. Doric has -ῆν, as μολῆν (βλώσκειν γο). Aeolic has -ην, as λάβην.

682. The indicative is inflected like ἔσθην (p. 138); the subjunctive, like δῶ (p. 138).

ἔγνω-ν	ἔγνω-μεν	γνώ	γνώ-μεν
ἔγνω-ς	ἔγνω-τον	γνώ-ς	γνώ-τον
ἔγνω-τε	ἔγνω-τε	γνώ-τε	γνώ-τε
ἔγνω-σαν	ἔγνω-σαν	γνώ-σαν	γνώ-σαν

a. We expect ἐγνωτον, ἐγνωμεν, etc. (551), but the strong stem γνω- has been transferred to the dual and plural. So also in ἔβην, ἔφθην, ἔδλυν. — Subjunctive βῶ, βῆς, βῆ, βῆτον, βῶμεν, βῆτε, βῶσι. On the formation of the subjunctive see 757 D.

683. The optative is inflected like δοίην (p. 138).

γνοίην	γνοίμεν or γνοίημεν
γνοίης	γνοίτον or γνοίητον
γνοίη	γνοίτην or γνοίήτην γνοίεν or γνοίησαν

a. So βαίην, βαίτον or βαίητον, βαίμεν or βαίημεν. In the 2 plur. the Mss. of prose writers have only -ιητε (γνοίητε, -βαίητε); but -ιητε is not attested by the evidence of verse.

684. The imperative is inflected like στήθι (p. 139).

γνώθι, γνώτω	γνώτον, γνώτων	γνώτε, γνώτων
--------------	----------------	---------------

a. In composition διδγνώθι, ἀνάβηθι (423). For βῆθι (from βαίνω) -βᾶ in composition occurs in poetry, as ἀνάβᾶ.

685. The infinitive adds -ναι, as γινῶναι from γινῶ-ναι (like στήναι from στή-ναι). In composition διαγινῶναι (426 d).

686. The participle adds -ντ-, as masc. γνούς from γνουντ-s, fem. γνούσα from γνουντ-ια, neut. γνόν from γνον(τ). See 301. In composition διαγνούς (426 d).

a. Before ντ the long vowel ω is regularly shortened to ο by 40.

687. The following ω-verbs have second aorists of the μ form.

ἀλίσκομαι (ἀλ-ο-) am captured, ἔάλων or ἔλων (ἀλῶ, ἀλοίην, ἀλῶναι, ἀλούς).

βαίνω (βα-), go, ἔβην (βῶ, βαίην, βῆθι and also -βᾶ in composition, βῆναι, βᾶς).

βίωω (βιο-) live, ἔβιον (βιῶ, βιψήην, βιῶναι, βιώς). Hom. βιώτω imper.

γηράσκω (γηρα-) grow old, γηράναι poet., γηράς Hom.

γινώσκω (γνο-, γνω-) know, ἔγνων (γνώ, γνοίην, γνώθι, γινῶναι, γνούς).

διδράσκω (δρα-) run, only in composition, ἐδράν (-δρῶ, -δραίην, -δράναι, -δράς).

Hdt. has ἔδρην, δρήναι, δράς in composition.

δύω (δύ-) enter ἔδυν entered inflected p. 140 (δύω, opt. Hom. δέη and ἐκδύμεν for δύν-η, ἐκδύ-ι-μεν; δύθι, δύναι, δύς).

688 D. ἔγνω, from ἐγνων(τ) by 40, is found in Pind. Hom. has ἔδυν, ἔτλαν, ἔκταν; Pind. ἔφυν. — Hom. has βᾶτην and βᾶτην. — Hom. has βλήται, ἀλεται. — Subj.: Hom. has γνώω ἀλῶω, γνώης γνώς, γνώη γνώ, ἐμβήη ἀναβῆ, γνώτον, γνώωμεν, γνώμεν φθέωμεν, γνώωσι γνώσι βῶσι φθέωσι.

689 D. Hom. has γνώμεναι, δόμεναι, κτάμεναι, and -κτάμεν.

κτείνω (κτεν-, κτα-) kíllē, éktañ, éktaís, éktaĩ, éktaíμεν, 3 pl. éktañ 551 D, subj. κτέωμεν, inf. κτάμεναι κράμεναι, part. κτάς; éktaíμεν was killed (κτάσθαι, κτάμενος); all poetic forms.

πέτομαι (πετ-, πτε-, πτα-) fly, poet. épτην (πταίην, πτάς), middle épταíμεν (πτάσθαι, πτάμενος). πτῶ, πτῆθι, πτῆναι are late.

πίνω (πι-) drink, πῖθι imper.

σκέλλω in ἀποσκέλλω (σκελ-, σκελ-) dry up, ἀποσκελήραι.

τλα- endure, fut. τλήσομαι, poetic ἐτλην (τλῶ, τλαίην, τλήθι, τλήναι, τλᾶς).

φθάω (φθα-) anticipate, ἔφθην (φθῶ, φθαίην, φθῆναι, φθᾶς).

φύω (φῦ-) produce, ἔφῦν was produced, att (φύω subj., φύναι, φός 308).

688. The following ω-verbs have in poetry (especially in Homer) second aorists of the μ form: ἄλλομαι (ἄλσο, ἄλτο), ἀπαυράω (ἀπούρᾱς), ἀραρίσκω (ἀρμενος), ἄω (ἄμεναι), βάλλω (ἐνυμβλήτην, ἐβλητο), βιβρώσκω (ἐβρων), root γεν- (γέντο grasped), δέχομαι (δέκτο), Epic κιχάνω (ἐκίχην, κιχῆω, κιχείη, κιχῆναι and κιχήμεναι, κιχείς and κιχήμενος; properly from κίχημι), κλάω (ἀπόκλᾶς), κλύω (κλύθι, κέκλυθι), κτίζω (κτίμενος), root λεχ- (ἔλεκτο laid himself to rest), λύω (λύτο), οὔτάω (οὔτα, οὔτάμενος), πάλλω (πάλτο), πελάζω (ἐπλήμην), πέρθω (πέρθαι = περθ-σθαι), πλώω (ἔπλων), πνῦ- (ἄμπνυτο revived), πτήσσω (καταπτήτην), σεύω (ἐσσύμην, ἔσυτο, σύμενος), φθίνω (ἐφθίμην), χέω (ἐχόμην, χύμενος).

FIRST AND SECOND PERFECT AND PLUPERFECT ACTIVE (555, 561)

689. All vowel and consonant verbs in -ω inflect the first perfect alike. Some verbs in -ω inflect the second perfect according to the ω-conjugation, others inflect it according to the μ-conjugation.

690. Indicative. — Originally the endings were added to the stem without any thematic vowel. Of this unthematic formation a few traces survive (573). In the 2 p. sing. the ending is -s, but originally -θα; in the 3 pl. -κᾶσι stands for κα-νσι out of κα-ντι (100). Thus λέλυκα, -as, -e, πέπομφα, -as, -e, etc. The periphrastic combination occurs in the indicative (599 a).

691. Subjunctive. — The perfect subjunctive is commonly formed periphrastically by the perfect active participle and ᾷ, ῆς, ῆ, etc. Thus λελυκώς (γεγραφώς) ᾷ, etc., λελυκότες (γεγραφότες) ᾷμεν, etc. Of the periphrastic forms only the 1 and 3 sing., 2 and 3 plur. are attested.

692. Instances of the simple perfect subjunctive (λελύκω, γεγράφω) are very rare. The simple form is made by substituting the thematic vowel ω/η for α in the tense-stem. Only the sing. and the 3 plur. are attested from ω-verbs.

693. Besides εἶδῶ (οἶδα) and ἐστῆκη, etc., Attic prose has only about 16 occurrences of the simple perf. subj., and from the following verbs only: βαίνω, δέδια, ἐγείρω, ἐοικα, ἐνήσκω, λαμβάνω, λανθάνω, πάσχω, ποιῶ, φύω. Hippocr. has forms from βιβρώσκω, πονῶ, τύχω. There are about 30 occurrences in the poetry. Attic prose writers show about 25 cases of the periphrasis from all  $\omega$ -verbs.

694. Optative. — The perfect optative is commonly formed periphrastically by the perfect active participle and είη, εἴη, εἴη, etc. Thus λελυκώς (γεγραφώς) εἴη, etc., λελυκότες (γεγραφότες) εἴμεν, etc. The dual is exceedingly rare.

695. Occasionally the simple forms are used (λελύκοιμι, γεγράφοιμι). These are formed by adding the mood-sign i, and the endings, to the tense-stem with the thematic vowel (o). All the -ιη-forms are attested; of the -i-forms only the 3 sing. and 1 and 3 plur.

696. Of the simple optative there are about 25 occurrences in Attic prose, and from the following verbs only: ἀποχωρῶ, ἐξαπατῶ, εἰσβάλλω, παραδίδωμι, ἵκω, -εστήκοι, ὑπηρετῶ, θηῆσκω, λαθάνω, καταλείπω, ποιῶ, πάσχω, προέρχομαι, ἐμπίπτω, φθω. In the poets there are about 16 occurrences. Prose writers show about 106 occurrences of the periphrastic forms.

697. Imperative. — The usual form of the first perfect imperative is periphrastic: λελυκώς ἔσθι, ἔστω, etc. No classical Attic writer uses the simple forms.

698. The second perfect is rare, and occurs only in the case of verbs which have a present meaning. From active verbs inflected according to the  $\omega$ -conjugation there occur κεχήμετε gape, Ar. Ach. 133 (χάσκω, χαν-), and κεκράγετε screech, Vesp. 416 (κράζω). Most second perfects show the  $\mu$  form and have present meaning, as τεθνάθι (Hom.) τεθνάτω from θηῆσκω die, δέδιδι from δέδια fear, and κέκράχθι from κράζω in Aristophanes. Most such second perfects are poetical.

700. Participle. — The suffixes of the perfect participle in the nominative are -(ς)ώς, -υία, -(ς)ός, as λελυκώς, λελοιπώς. See 301 c, d, 309.

701. Pluperfect Active. — The pluperfect is formed by adding -εα, -εας, -εε, -ετον, -ετην, -εμεν, -ετε, -εσαν to the reduplicated stem. By contraction from ἐλελυκεα, -εας, -εε come the forms ἐλελύκη, -ης -ει(ν). In the later language ει spread from the 3 sing. and was used throughout, as ἐλελύκειν, -εις, -ει, -ειτον, -είτην, -ειμεν, -ειτε, and very late -εισαν. The best Mss. of Demosthenes have -ειν in 1 sing. Instead of the simple pluperfect we find periphrastic forms, 699 a.

SECOND PERFECTS OF THE $\mu$ -FORM

702. A few  $\omega$ -verbs form their second perfects in the dual and plural without a by adding the endings directly to the stem. Herein these forms agree with the second perfect of  $\mu$ -verbs (417). In the singular a is used.

699 D. Doric has -ην and -ειν, as δεδύκην = δεδυκέναι, γεγάκειν = γεγοτέναι. Aeolic has -ην, as τεθνάκην.

700 D. In the 2 perf. Hom. sometimes has -ῶτ-ος for -ότ-ος, as κεκμηῶς, -ῶτος (κάμω am weary). In the 2 perf. Hom. sometimes has a for Attic η in the feminine, as ἀρηρώς ἀραρινία from ἀρηρα (ἀραρίσκω sit). See 573. Aeolic inflects the perfect participle as a present in -ων, -οντος. Thus Hom. κεκλήγοντας for κεκλήγοντας (κλάζω scream), Pind. πεφρίκοντας (φρίττω shudder).

703. The second perfect δέδια I fear usually has the forms of the first perfect δέδοικα in the singular, less frequently in the plural.

Perfect	Pluperfect	Subjunctive
δέδοικα or δέδια	δέδεοίκεν or δέδεϊν	δέδω (rare)
δέδοικας or δέδιος	δέδεοίκεσθ or δέδεϊσθ	Optative δέδοικε or δέδιε	δέδεοίκεν or δέδεϊν	δέδω(ι)ν (rare)
δέδωτον	δέδεϊτον	Imperative
δέδωτον	δέδεϊτην	δέδωθι (poet.)
		Infinitive
δέδμεν or δεδόκαμεν	δέδεμεν	δέδιναι or δεδοικέναι
δέδωτε or δεδόκατε	δέδεωτε	Participle
δέδωσι or δεδόκωσι	δέδωσαν or δεδόκωσαν	δέδως, -ως, -ός or δεδοικώς, -ως, -ός.

704. Other second perfects inflected like δέδια are the following:

- βαίρω* (βα-) go, 1 perf. βέβηκα have gone, stand fast regular; 2 perf. 3 pl. βεβᾶσι (poet.), subj. 3 pl. βεβῶσι, inf. βεβάναι (poet. and Ion.), part. βεβῶς (contracted from βεβαῶς) βεβῶσα, gen. βεβῶτος.
- γίγνομαι* (γεν-, γα-) become, 2 perf. γέγονα am regular; 2 perf. part. poet. γεγώς (contracted from γεγαῶς), γεγῶσα, gen. γεγῶτος.
- θνήσκω* (θαν-, θνα-) die, 1 perf. τέθνηκα am dead regular; 2 perf. du. τέθνατον, pl. τέθναμεν, τέθνατε, τεθνᾶσι, 2 plup. 3 pl. τέθνασαν, 2 perf. opt. τεθναίην, imper. τεθνάτω, inf. τεθνάειν, part. τεθνεώς, -εῶσα, -εός, gen. -εῶτος.
- δοικα* (φε-φοικ-α) am like, appear (ικ-, εικ-) has the μ forms δοικμεν (poet.), αἰῶσι for δοικ-σ-ασι (poet. and in Plato). δοικα (έψηκη plup.) has also the foll. forms: δοικω, δοικοιμι, δοικέναι (εικέναι poet.), δοικώς (εικώς also in Plato).
- κράζω* (κραγ-) cry out, 2 perf. κέκρᾶγα as present, imper. κέκρᾶχθι and κεκράγετε, a thematic form (both in Aristoph.).

705. Other verbs with second perfects of the μ-form (chiefly Homeric) are: ἀνωγα (ἀνωχθι), βιβρώσκω (βεβρώτες), ἐγείρω (ἐγρήγορα), ἔρχομαι (εἰλήλυθμεν).

708 D. The root of δέδια is δρι-, strong forms δρι-, δρι-. Hom. has δία, διον feared, fled; for δέδοικα, δέδια he has δειδοικα, δειδία, etc. (once δεδιᾶσι). Here ει is due to metrical lengthening. δειδω, a present in form, is really a perfect for δε-δφο(ι)-α.

704 a. D. Hom. has 3 pl. βεβᾶσι, inf. βεβᾶμεν, part. βεβαῶς, βεβανία, gen. βεβαῶτος; 2 plup. βεβασαν.

b. Hom. has γεγάτε and γεγάσι, inf. γεγάμεν, part. γεγαῶς, γεγανία; 2 plup. έκεγάτην.

c. Hom. τέθναθι, τεθνάμεναι and τεθνάμεν, τεθνηώς -ηῶτος and -ηῆτος, fem. τεθνηύης.

d. Hom. imperf. είκε, 2 perf. 3 du. ἔικτο, 2 plup. έφκει έικτην, έοικεσαν, part. έοικώς (εικώς Φ 254), εικνία and έικνία (ειοικνίας Σ 418); mid. ἔικτο, έικτο. Hdt. has οικα, εικώς.

μέμονα (μεμαώς), πάσχω (πέποσθε), πείθω (ἐπέπιθμεν), πίπτω (πεπτώς), root δα-leapn (δεδαώς), root τλα- (τέτλαμεν, τετλαίην, τέτλαθι, τετλάμεναι and τετλάμεν, τετλήώς).

PERFECT AND PLUPERFECT MIDDLE AND PASSIVE (574)

706. All vowel and consonant verbs in -ω inflect the perfect middle according to the μ-conjugation.

707. Indicative. — The perfect middle is inflected by adding the primary middle endings directly to the tense-stem, herein agreeing with the μ-conjugation. The pluperfect adds the secondary middle endings. In vowel verbs the formation is simple, as in λέλυ-μαι, ἐλελύ-μην. But in consonant verbs, the consonant at the end of the stem comes into collision with the consonant at the beginning of the ending; hence certain euphonic changes described in 409. The periphrastic form occurs in the 3 pl. and sometimes in the 3 sing. (599 d, e).

a. Stems in ν avoid the forms -ν-σαι, -ν-σο; thus, from φαίνω, instead of πέφανναι, ἐπέφανσο the periphrastic πεφασμένος εἰ, ἦσθα were probably used.

710. Optative. — The perfect middle optative is commonly formed by the periphrasis of the perfect middle participle and εἴην, εἴης, εἴη, etc. Thus λελυμένος εἴην, etc.

711. Some verbs add -ι-μην, -ο-ι-μην to the tense-stem (709). — a. κτάομαι (κτα-) acquire, perf. κέκτημαι possess (1946): opt. κεκτῆ-ι-μην = κεκτῆμην, κεκτῆ-ι-σο = κεκτῆσο, κεκτῆ-ι-το = κεκτῆτο. Less frequent and doubtful are κεκτῶμην, -ῶο, -ῶτο, -ῶμεθα from κεκτῆ-ο-ι-μην, etc.

b. μιμνήσκω (μνα-) remind, perf. μέμνημαι remember; opt. μεμνη-ι-μην = μεμνήμην, μεμνη-ι-σο = μεμνήσο, μεμνη-ι-το = μεμνήτο, etc. The forms μεμνήμην, -ῶο, -ῶτο, etc., from μεμνη-ο-ι-μην, etc., are uncommon and suspected.

c. καλέω (καλε-, κλη-) call, perf. κέκλημαι am called (1946); opt. κέκλη-ι-μην, etc. = κεκλήμην, κεκλή-ι-το, κεκλήτο, κεκλήμεθα.

d. βάλλω (βαλ-, βλη-) throw, perf. διαβέβλημαι, opt. διαβεβλήσθε.

N.—The forms in -ήμην, etc., have the μ-form; the doubtful -ῶμην, etc., belong to the ω-conjugation.

706 D. Hdt. has μεμνώμεθα, and this form may be read in ξ 168.

711 D. Hom. has λελύτο σ 238 = λελύ-ι-το (cp. δαίνυτο). Pind. has μαμναίατο. μέμνοιο in Xen. is from μέμνομαι.

712. Imperative. — In the third person singular the perfect meaning is regularly retained, as εἰρήσθω let it have been said. The 2 sing. and pl. are generally found only in the case of perfects with a present meaning, as μέμνησθε remember! μὴ πεφύβησθε do not be afraid! ἔπαυσο stop! See 698.

a. The dual and 3 pl. are apparently wanting. The 2 sing. in -νσο from stems in -ν does not occur. For ἔπαυσο, πεφασμένος ισθι was probably used.

713. Attic prose writers have ἀναβεβλήσθω, ἀποκεκρίσθω, εἰρήσθω, ἐκτῆσθω, ἐφέσθω, κείσο, -κείσθω, κέκτησο, μέμνησθε, πεπαίσθω, πεπεράνθω, πεποίησο, πεπράσθω, πεφάσθω, πεφύβησθε, τετάχθω, τετολμήσθω.

714. Instead of the simple forms of the imperative we find the periphrastic use of the perfect participle and ισθι, ἔστω, etc. (599 g). Thus εἰρημένον ἔστω = εἰρήσθω.

715. Infinitive. — The perfect infinitive adds -σθαι, as λελύσθαι. Consonant stems lose the σ by 103, as λελείφθαι, πεπράχθαι (406), ἐληλέγχθαι, πεφάνθαι (407).

716. Participle. — The perfect participle adds -μένος, as λελυμένος, λελειμμένος, πεπράγμένος (406, 407). On the σ of πεφασμένος see 409 d.

SECOND CONJUGATION OR VERBS IN MI

717. Verbs in -μι usually have no thematic vowel between the tense-stem and the personal endings in the present system (except in the subjunctive). The name "μi-conjugation," or "non-thematic" conjugation," is applied to all verbs which form the present and imperfect without the thematic vowel.

718. Of verbs ending in -μι the following tenses are inflected according to the μi-conjugation (except in the subjunctive): all non-thematic presents and imperfects; all aorists passive; all perfects and pluperfects middle; those second aorists active and middle in which the tense-stem does not end with the thematic vowel; one verb (ἴστημι) in the second perfect and pluperfect active.

719. Certain tenses of verbs ending in -μι in the first person present indicative active, or in -μαι in the present middle (and passive) when not preceded by the thematic vowel, are inflected according to the ω-conjugation. These tenses are: all futures, all first aorists active and middle, most perfects and pluperfects active, and all subjunctives. Verbs in -νμι regularly inflect the subjunctive and the optative according to the ω-conjugation. Furthermore, the 2 sing. in the present and 2 and 3 sing. in the imperfect active of certain verbs, and some other forms, follow the ω-conjugation (746).

720. Verbs in -μι add the endings directly either to the verb-stem (here a root) or after the suffixes νν or νη. Hence three classes are to be distinguished.

A. Root class; as φημί say, verb-stem (and root) φα-, φη-. This class often shows reduplication in the present and imperfect, as δίδωμι give.

N. — Two verbs have verb-stems ending in a consonant: εἰμι am (ἐσ-μι) and ἔμαι sit (ἦσ-μαι).

B. -νυ- class; as δείκνυμι show, verb-stem δεικ-, present stem δεικνῦ-.

C. A few verbs, mainly poetical, add να-, νη-; as σκιδνῆμι σκιδναμεν scatter, δάμνημι δάμναμεν, subdue.

721. Deponent verbs without the thematic vowel are inflected according to the μ-conjugation.

PRESENT SYSTEM

722. Verbs in -μι belong to the first or simple class (504) or to the fourth class (523).

FIRST OR SIMPLE CLASS

723. The present is made by adding the personal endings directly to the verb-stem, which is a root. This verb-stem may be used in its pure form or it may be reduplicated.

a. Some verbs of this class with no active have a verb-stem of more than one syllable (usually two syllables).

724. Unreduplicated Presents: εἰμι (ἐσ-) am, εἶμι (ι-, εΙ-) go, ἔμαι (ἦσ-) sit, ἔμι say (ἦ said, 3 sing.), κείμει (κει-) lie, φημί (φα-, φη-) say, χρήι it is necessary (793); and poet. ἄημι (ἀη-) blow.

725. Deponents. — ἀγαμαι (and ἀγάδομαι) admire, δέαμαι appear, δλεμαι flee, make flee (cp. δίω), δύναμαι am able (737 a), ἐπισταμαι understand, ἐραμαι love (poet. for έρω), ἔπταμαι fly (late, see 726 a), κρέμαμαι hang (intrans.), ὀνομαι insult, πέταμαι (poet. by-form of πέτομαι) fly, ἐπιδάμην bought a second aorist, στυγμαι affirm.

a. Other such forms are Hom. ἔμαι (φτεμαι) strive, ἔρυμαι and ἔρυμαι rescue, Ion. λάβνυμαι take. ἐπίσσηται II 243 owes its η to such non-present forms as ἐπιστήσομαι.

726. Reduplicated Presents. — δίδημι bind (rare for δέω), δίδωμι (δο-, δω-) give, ἔημι (έ-, ἦ-) send, ἔστημι (στα-, στη-) set, κίχρημι (χρα-, χρη-) lend, ὀόστημι (όνα-, όνη-) benefit, πύπλημι (πλα-, πλη-) fill, πύπρημι (πρα-, πρη-) burn, τίθημι (θε-, θη-) place.

a. Also poetic βίβημι (βα-, βη-) go, in Hom. βιβάς striding, δύζημαι (also Ion.) seek, for δυδίζημαι by 116 (cp. ζητέω seek), ἔημι (ἔλα-, ἔλη- for σίσλα-, σισλη-) am propitious. ἔπταμαι (late) for πέτομαι fly is an analogue of ἔσταμαι and is not properly reduplicated. τέτρημι bore is late.

727. Verbs in -μι reduplicate with ι in the present. See 414, 447. πύμπλημι and πύμπρημι may lose the inserted nasal in compounds of έν, but only when έν takes the form έμ-; as έμπύπλημι, but ένεπύμπλασαν. Doric has κίγχημι. In δ-ή-νη-μι the reduplication takes place after a vowel (verb-stem όνα-, όνη-).

a. Reduplication is in place only in present and imperfect; but Hom. has διδωσομεν.

FOURTH CLASS

728. Most μ-verbs of the fourth class add -νν (after a vowel, -ννν) to the verb-stem.

729. Verb-stems in -α: κερά-ννῦμι mīx, κρεμά-ννῦμι hang (intrans.), πετά-ννῦμι spread, σκεδά-ννῦμι scatter.

730. Verb-stems in ε (for εσ): ἐ-ννῦμι (in prose ἀμφιέ-ννῦμι) clothe, κορέ-ννῦμι satiate, σβέ-ννῦμι extinguish.

731. Verb-stems in ω: ζώ-ννῦμι gird, βό-ννῦμι strengthen, στρώ-ννῦμι spread.

732. All the forms in -ννῦμι started from verb-stems ending in σ: ἐννῦμι from ἐσ-νῦμι, σβέννῦμι from σβεσ-νῦμι, ζώννῦμι from ζωσ-νῦμι. All the other verbs are analogues of these.

734. Poetic verbs: αἰ-ννμαι take, ἀ-νῦμι complete (ἀνύω), ἀχ-ννμαι am troubled, γά-ννμαι rejoice, δαλ-νῦμι entertain, καλ-ννμαι excel, κί-ννμαι move myself (cp. κινέω), ὀρέγ-νῦμι reach, τά-ννμαι stretch, with νν carried into other tenses (τανύω), τί-ννμαι (cp. Epic τινω from τι-νν-ω) better τείννμαι, chastise.

735. The verbs whose verb-stem ends in a liquid or nasal often form the tenses other than the present by adding ε or ο, as δallῦμι (from δallῦμι) ἔλεσα, δallέκα (δall-ε), δμνῦμι ἔμοσα (δμ-ο).

736. νῦμι-verbs form only the present and imperfect according to the μ-conjugation; with the exception of σβέ-ννῦμι, which has 2 aor. ἔσβην. The 2 aorist passive and 2 future passive are rare, as ρήγνῦμι ἐρράγην ἐκραγήσομαι, ζεύγνῦμι ἔζυγην.

737. -ννμι class. A few verbs add νν in the singular, να- in the plural, to the verb-stem. These verbs are almost entirely poetical or dialectical; and show by-forms in -ναω. They are:

δάμνημι (δαμνάω) subdue, κίρνημι (κίρνάω also Epic) mīx, κρίμνημι (miswritten κρήμνημι) suspend, πέρνημι sell, πίτνημι (πετνάω) spread, σκίδνημι (and κίδνημι) scatter.

738 D. From verbs in -νῦμι second aorists middle are formed in Hom. by only three verbs: μελγνῦμι (commonly written μτγνῦμι) mīx ἔμικτο, δρνῦμι rouse ἔρτο, πήγνῦμι freeze κατέπηκτο.

a. Only in the middle: μάρναμαι ῥῆγῃ, πιλναμαι (πιλνάω) approach. In δύναμαι am able, να has grown fast (cp. δυνατός).

738. Stem Gradation.—Verbs of the root class show in the stem vowel a variation between strong and weak grades in the present and imperfect indicative active. The singular has the strong grade, the dual and plural have the weak grade. The optative active and most middle forms have the weak grade.

a. η strong (original and Dor. ā), α weak; φημί φαμέν, ἔφην ἔφαμεν; ἴσθημι ἴσταμεν, ἴστην ἴσταμεν; δάμνημι δάμναμεν.

b. η strong, ε weak: τίθημι τίθεμεν, ἐτίθην ἐτίθεμεν; ἴημι ἴεμεν.

c. ω strong, ο weak: δίδωμι δίδομεν.

d. αι strong, ι weak (cp. λείπω ἔλιπον): εἰμι will go, ἵμην. The grades αι, οι, ι appear in εἰδῶ, subjunctive of οἶδα know, pl. ἴσμεν for ἴδμεν (799).

739. In the second aorist ἔστην I stood the strong form has been carried from the singular through the dual and plural of the indicative. The strong stem occurs also in the imperative (στήθι, στήτε) and infinitive (σῆναι).

740. The second aorist infinitive shows the weak stem: θεῖναι from θέ-εναι, δοῦναι from δό-εναι. Cp. 469 N. σῆναι is, however, from στή-εναι (469 c. N.).

741. A few root verbs retain the strong grade η throughout. Thus, poet. ἔημι blow ἀημεν; ἀέντες is from ἀηντες by 40; δίξημαι seek (poet. δίξεσθαι is from διζομαι); πιμπλημι fill 2 aor. ἐνεπλήμην, opt. ἐμπλήμην.

743. The ending ν varies between strong νῦ and weak νῷ. Thus δείκνῦμι δείκνυμεν, ἐδείκνῦν ἐδείκνυμεν.

INFLECTION OF MI-VERBS

744. Verbs in -μι differ in inflection from verbs in -ω in the present and second aorist systems and (rarely) in the second perfect system. Verbs in -μι have the following peculiarities of inflection:

a. The endings -μι and -σι (for original -τι) occur in the present indicative active: τίθῃ-μι, τίθῃ-σι; φη-μί φη-σί.

b. The 3 plural present indicative active has generally the ending -ᾱσι, from α-ασι, as τιθέᾱσι, ἰσᾱσι. So in the 2 perf. active ἐστᾱσι.

c. The 3 plural of active past tenses has -σαν: ἐτίθε-σαν.

d. The imperative ending -θι is sometimes retained: φα-θι, στή-θι; some forms never had it: τίθει, ἴσθῃ.

e. The middle endings -σαι and -σο regularly retain σ: τιθε-σαι, ἐτίθε-σο.

N. — But not in the subjunctive or optative; and usually not in the second aorist; as τιθῇ for τιθέῃ-σαι, τιθεῖω for τιθέ-ῖ-σο, ἔθου for ἔθε-σο.

f. The infinitive active has -ναι: τιθέ-ναι, διδῶ-ναι; the 2 aorist active has -εναι rarely: θεῖναι for θέ-εναι, δοῦναι for δό-εναι.

g. Active participles with stems in -οντ have the nominative sing. masc. in -ούς (301 a, 307 a): διδούς, διδόν-ος.

745. Forms of -μ verbs which are inflected according to the thematic conjugation are included under the Second Conjugation.

746. μ-verbs may pass into the ω inflection elsewhere than in the subjunctive. a. Verbs in -νῦμ often inflect the present and imperfect active (not the middle) from a present in -νύω; as δεικνύω (but usually δεικνῦμι), δεικνύεις, δεικνύει, imperf. ἐδεικνυον, -ες, -ε, etc.; imper. δεικνυε, inf. δεικνύνειν, part. δεικνύων.

b. τίθῃμι, ἰσθῃμι, δίδωμι, ἔθῃμι, etc., show some ω-forms in pres. (and imperf.) indic. opt. imper. and infin.; but the forms τιθέω, ιστέω, δίδω, ἔω, do not occur in the 1 sing.

c. In the present and second aorist optative of τίθῃμι and ἔθῃμι there is a transition to the ω-conjugation but not in the 1 and 2 singular. The accent is differently reported: (1) as if the presents were τιθέω, ἔω; (2) as if the presents were τίθω, ἔω. Thus:

Active: ἀφίετε for ἀφίετε, ἀφίετε for ἀφίετε. — Middle: τιθοῖτο, ἐπιθοίμεθα, συνθοῖτο, ἐπιθοῖντο (also accented τίθοιτο, ἐπιθοῖντο); προοῖτο, προοῖσθε, προοῖντο (also accented πρόοιτο, πρόοιντο). Hdt. has -θέιτο and -θείτο. The form in -οῖτο for -εῖτο occurs especially in Plato.

d. The Mss. vary between τιθῶμαι and τιθωμαι, ἀποθῶμαι and ἀπόθωμαι (426 f).

e. Some other μ-verbs show alternative ω-forms, as πιμπλάω, -εω (πιμπλημι), πιπράω (πιμπρημι), Hom. ἀγάμαι (ἀγαμαι), and ἰλάμαι (ἰλημι). So often with -ημι verbs (737), as δαμνῆ and δάμνησι, ἐκίρῃ and κίρῃ.

PRESENT AND IMPERFECT ACTIVE AND MIDDLE (PASSIVE)

747. Present Indicative. — a. The primary personal endings are added to the stem with the strong form in the singular and the weak form in the dual and plural.

b. In the 2 sing. τίθης, ἔης, ισθης, δεικνῦς, etc., σ has been added to the stem. This σ is obscure in origin, but cannot be derived from -σι. τιθεῖς is rare.

c. 3 sing. τίθῃσι, ισθῃσι, etc., with -σι for -τι (463 c).

d. 3 plur. τιθέασι, ισθάσι, etc., from τιθέ-αντι, ισθά-αντι (463 d).

e. For the retention of σ in τιθε-σαι, etc., see 465 a, b, and N. 2.

f. δίδομαι in the middle present and imperfect is used only in composition, as ἀποδίδομαι. But the simple form occurs in the passive.

748 D. The tragic poets never have the ω-forms; the poets of the Old Comedy seldom; those of the New Comedy often have the ω-forms. — Plato usually has -νῶσι. Hom. has ζεύγνυν (and ζεύγνυσαν, ὥρνυν, ὥμυνε, ὁμνύτω, etc.). Hdt. usually keeps the μ-forms, but has some ω-forms in 2, 3 sing. 3 pl. present indic. and part., and 1 sing., 3 pl. imperfect. Doric usually has the ω-forms; Aeolic has ζεύγνῦ, and δμνῦν infin.

747 D. 1. Hom. has τίθησθα, τίθησι and τιθεῖ, τιθεῖσι; διδούς and διδόισθα, δίδωσι (usually) and διδού, δίδοδσι, ῥηγνύσι from ῥηγνῦν-τι, ῥάσι they go and ῥάσι they are. On ἰσάσκε see 495. Mid. ἐμάρπαι from μαρπαιμαι.

748. Imperfect. — ἐτίθεις ἐτίθει, ἐδίδουν ἐδίδους ἐδίδου (for ἐδίδων, -ως, -ω) are thematic forms (746 b). For the imperfect of δύναμαι and ἐπίσταμαι see 465 b, N. 1. For the retention of σ in ἐτίθεσο see 465 b.

749. Subjunctive. — Attic τιθῶ, etc., are derived by contraction from the forms of the weak stem to which the thematic vowel ω/η has been added. Thus τιθέω, -ῃς, -ῃ, τιθέωμεν, -ῃτε, -ῃσι; δίδω, -ῃς, -ῃ, δίδωμεν, -ῃτε, -ῃσι. ιστῶ is derived from ιστέω. See 746 b. Verbs in -νῦμι regularly inflect the subjunctive like ω-verbs: δεικνύω, -ῃς, -ῃ.

a. Similarly the middle (passive) forms are derived from τιθέω-μαι τιθέη-(σ)αι, etc., δίδω-μαι δίδῃ-(σ)αι, ιστέω-μαι ιστέη-(σ)αι, etc. For the loss of σ in -σαι see 465 a. -νῦμι verbs inflect the mid. subj. like λδωμαι.

b. δύναμαι am able, ἐπίσταμαι understand, κρέμαμαι hang, and ἄγαμαι admire put ω/η in place of the stem-vowel so that there is no contraction: δύνωμαι, δύνῃ, δύνῃται, δυνώμεθα, etc. So, too, ἐπριάμην, πρίωμαι (757 a).

c. Traces of -νται in -νῦμι verbs are very rare: ῥήγνυται Hipponax 19; cp. διασεδάπνυται P. Ph. 77 b.

750. Present Optative. — The optative active has the secondary endings and the mood sign -ιη- in the singular, -ι- (-ιε- 3 pl.) in the dual and plural. In the dual and plural the longer (-ιη-) forms are rare. Thus τιθείην (τιθε-ιη-ν), τιθείμεν (τιθέ-ι-μεν), ιστάην (ιστα-ιη-ν) ισταῖεν (ιστά-ιε-ν). The shorter forms in dual and plural occur in poetry and prose, the longer forms only in prose.

a. The middle (passive) has the secondary endings and the mood sign -ι- throughout: τιθείμην (τιθε-ι-μην), ισταίμην (ιστα-ι-μην), ισταίμεθα (ιστα-ι-μεθα), διδόιτο (διδό-ι-ντο). On τιδοίτο, etc., see 746 c.

b. The accent follows 424 c, N. 1 (τιθείτο not τίθειτο). But the verbs of 749 b are exceptional: δύναιο δύναιτο; and so δυναο δυναιτο from δνήρημι benefit (424 c, N. 2).

751. Present Imperative. — τίθει and δίδου are formed (cp. πολεῖ and δῆλον) from τιθε-ε, δίδο-ε. ιστη and δείκνυ show the stronger stem forms.

For the middle endings and the retention of σ, see 466. 2. a. — On the forms τιθέσσαν for τιθέντων, τιθέσθωσαν for τιθέσθων, see 466. 2. b.

2. Hdt. has τιθεί τιθείσι; ιστᾶ is doubtful; διδούς, διδοί, διδοῦσι, ἱᾶσι ἱᾶσι, -νῦσι and -νῦσι. Middle: -αται and -ατο (imperf.) for -νται, -ντο in τιθέαται ἐπιθέατο, ιστέαται ιστέατο, δυνέαται ἐδυνέατο. -αται, -ατο have been transferred from the perfect and pluperfect of consonant stems, such as γεγράφαται, ἐγεγράφατο (465 f).

3. Doric has ιστάμυ, and ᾶ for η in all tenses (σταῶσ, ἑσταῶσα, ἑσταῶν); -τι in 3 sing. τιθῇτι; -ντι in 3 pl. τιθεντι, δίδοντι.

4. Aeolic has τιθη, τιθη, τιθωσι; ιστᾶς, ιστᾶ; δίδως, δίδω; δάμνᾶς.

748 D. Hom. has ἐτίθει, ἐδίδους, ἐδίδου. — Hdt. has ὑπερετίθεα 1 sing., ἐδίδουν, ἐδίδου, ιστᾶ and ἀνίστη (both in Mss.). — In poetry -ν occurs for -σαν as τίθεν, ιστᾶν, δίδον (464 e. D.).

749 D. Dor. has τιθέω, -έωμεν, but contracts ε + η to η; pl. διδῶντι (and τιθῶντι). Dor. has δύνᾶμαι, ιστᾶται; Hdt. ἐνίστηται, ἐπιστέωνται, δυνέωνται.

750 D. Hom. has the μ-forms δαινύτο and δαινύατο, Plato has πηγνύτο.

751 D. Hom. has ιστη and καθίστᾶ, δίδωθι, ἐμπίπληθι, δυνυθι, δυνυθι, ιστασο and ισταο. τιθου, ιστω occur in the drama. Pind. has δίδου (active).

753. Present Participle. — The active adds -ντ-, the middle -μενος. Thus τιθεῖς (τιθε-ντ-ς), τιθείσα (τιθε-ντ-χα) ; τιθέ-μενος. For δεικνός we find δεικνόνων.

THE FUTURES

754. The futures of verbs in -μι do not differ in formation and inflection from those of verbs in -ω.

τίθημι: θήσω, θήσομαι, τεθήσομαι ; ίστημι: στήσω, στήσομαι, σταθήσομαι, έστήξω ; ίημι: ήσω, -ήσομαι, -έθήσομαι ; δίδωμι: δώσω, -δώσομαι, δοθήσομαι ; δεικνύμι: δείξω, δείξομαι, δειχθήσομαι, δεδειξομαι (late) or δεδειγμένος έσομαι ; μειγνύμι: μείξω, -μυθήσομαι, μυγήσομαι (poet.), μμείξομαι (poet.) ; πρήνυμι: πήξω, παγήσομαι.

a. έστήξω is the only future perfect from a μι-verb (584).

FIRST AORIST ACTIVE AND MIDDLE

755. The verbs τίθημι, ίημι, δίδωμι form the singular active of the first aorist in -κ-α, thus, έθηκα, έδωκα, ήκα. The forms of the second aorist (756) are generally used in the dual and plural and in the other moods.

a. The form in κ rarely appears outside of the singular, chiefly in the 3 pl., as έδωκαν (= έδωσαν), less frequently in the 1 and 2 pl., as έδώκαμεν, -ατε.

b. That κ was not a suffix but a part of an alternative root appears from a comparison of θηκ- in έθηκα and perf. τέθηκα with fēc- in fēcī.

c. ίστημι has έστησα I set, placed (mid. έστησάμην), to be distinguished from 2 aor. έστην I stood.

d. έθηκάμην is un-Attic ; ήκάμην (in comp.) is rare and probably found only in the indic. ; έδωκάμην is very late.

SECOND AORIST ACTIVE AND MIDDLE

756. Indicative. — τίθημι, ίημι, δίδωμι use the short grade forms in dual and plural active: έθε-τον, έθε-μεν, έθε-σαν ; εί-τον, εί-μεν, εί-σαν (for έ-έ-τον, etc.) ; έ-δο-μεν, έ-δο-σαν. In the singular the κ-forms, έθηκα, ήκα, έδωκα, are used. ίστημι has έστην, έστης, έστη (for έστητ, 464 c), έστημεν, etc. (p. 138).

a. σβέννυμι extinguish is the only verb in -νυμι forming a second aorist (έσβην, σβῶ, σβελην, σβήθι, σβήναι, σβέλς).

752 D. Hom. has -μεναι or -ναι preceded by η in άήμεναι άήναι from άημι δίου, τιθήμεναι, κιχήμεναι and κιχήναι as from κίχημι. Also ιστάμεναι (and ιστάμεν), ζευγνύμεναι (and ζευγνύμεν, once ζευγνύμεν). -μεν after a short vowel, as τιθέμεν, διδόμεν (once διδούμαι). Doric has τιθέμεν, διδόμεν. Theognis has τιθεῖν, συναιῖν.

753 D. Hom. has τιθήμενος K 34.

755 D. Hom. has έθηκαν, έδωκαν, έθήκαμεν, θήκατο ; Hdt. συνθήκαυτο ; Pind. θηκάμενος.

756 D. Hom. has older -ν for -σαν in έστάν (he uses έστησαν also), Dor. has έθεν, έσταν, έδον. For the iterative στά-σκε, δδ-σκον see 495.

b. The middle uses the weak stems -θε-, -ι-, -δο- in ἐ-θέ-μην, -ειμην (for ἐ-ι-μην), ἐ-δδ-μην (only in composition). For the loss of σ in -σο (ἔθου, ἔδου) see 465 b.

c. In prose the only uncompounded second aorists middle are ἐπριάμην brought (pres. ᾠπρῶμαι) and ᾠρήμην derived benefit (ὀνίρημι). ᾠρήμην keeps η (poet. δρησο, δρήμεσος). ἰστημι does not make the form ἰσταμην.

757. Second Aorist Subjunctive. — All the forms of the 2 aor. subj. are due to contraction of the thematic vowel with the weak stem-vowel. Thus θῶ, etc., from θέω, θέης, θέη, θέωμεν, etc.; ῶ, etc., from ἔω, ἔης, ἔωσι; δῶ, etc., from δῶω, δῶης, δῶη; στῶ, etc., from στῆώ, στῆης, etc., with ε from η before a vowel. Cp. 682.

a. ἐπριάμην has πρίωμαι with ω/η in place of the final vowel of the stem (749 b).

758. Second Aorist Optative. — The forms of the optative of the second aorist are made and inflected like those of the present except for the reduplication. Thus, in the active: θείην (θε-ι-η-ν), σταίην (στα-ι-η-ν), δοίμεν (δδ-ι-μεν), δοίεν (δδ-ι-ε-ν). The shorter forms are preferred in the dual and plural, and poetry has only these; prose admits either the longer or the shorter forms.

a. In the 2 pl. cases of -ιητε (δοίητε) are more numerous than -ετε; but they usually lack metrical warrant.

b. Second aorists of stems in ν lack the optative in Attic.

c. In the middle: θείμην (θε-ι-μην), δοίμην (δδ-ι-μην), -ειμην (ἐ-ι-μην). For δοίμεθα see 746 c. For the accent of πρίω see 424 c, N. 2.

759. Second Aorist Imperative. — On θέ-ς, δδ-ς, ἐ-ς, see 466. 1. b. These verbs show the weak form of the stem (θέ-τω, θέ-ντων). ἰστημι and σβέννυμι have -θι in στῆ-θι, σβῆ-θι. For στῆ-θι the poets may use -στᾶ in composition, as ἀπὸστᾶ stand off.

a. The middle adds -σο, which loses its σ after a short vowel, as in θοῦ for θέ-σο, δοῦ for δδ-σο, πρίω (and poet. πρίω-σο). σ is not dropped after a long vowel (δρησο). Cp. 465 b, N. 2.

c. D. In poetry: ἐπτάμην (prose ἐπτόμην) from πέταμαι fly; Hom. πλήτο approached, ἔβλητο was hit (others, 688).

757 D. The subjunctive shows traces of an earlier double form of inflection:

1. With short thematic vowel: θήεις, θήει, θήετον, θήομεν, θήετε, θήουσι. Homer: θήομεν, στήομεν, -στήετον, κιχθήομεν, δώομεν, ἀποθήομαι.

2. With long thematic vowel: θήω, θήης, θήη, θήητον, θήωμεν, θήητε, θήωσι. Hom. θήω, θήης, θήη, στήης, στήη, ἀνήη, δῶη or δῶσι, περιστήωσι, δῶσι.

By shortening of the long vowel of the stem we obtain a third form:

3. θέω, θέης, θέη, θέητον, θέωμεν, θέητε, θέωσι. Hom. ἄφῆη, θέωμεν, στέωμεν, Hdt. θέω, θέωμεν, θέωσι, θέωμαι, στέωμεν, ἀποστέωσι, Aeolic θέω.

4. From 3 are derived the contracted forms θῶ, θῆς, θῆη, etc. Hom. ἀναστῆη, δῶς, δῶ or δῶσι, δῶμεν; Dor. δῶντι; Hdt. -θῆη, -θῆται; δῶμεν, -δῶτε, δῶσι.

N. — In Hom. the Mss. often have ει for η of the stem, as θεῖω, βείω, θελομεν, κηχείομεν.

758 D. Hom. has σταίησαν P 783, the only case of -ιη outside of the singular; δῶη (for δν-ιη), ἐκδύμεν (for -δδ-ι-μεν), and φθίτο (for φθλ-ι-το) from φθίνω perish.

759 D. Hom. has θεῖο and ἔσθεο.

b. In composition περίθες, ἀπόδος, παράστηθι, ἐνθού, προδοῦ; but κατάθου, περίδου, περίδοσθε (426 b-c).

c. For the 3 pl. θέωσαν, δότωσαν, ἔσθωσαν, see 466. 2. b.

760. Second Aorist Infinitive.—The active adds -εαι in θεῖναι (θέ-εαι), στήναι (στή-εαι), δοῦναι (δό-εαι), εἶναι (ἐ-εαι). The middle adds -σθαι, as θέσθαι.

761. Second Aorist Participle.—The active adds -ντ like the present: θεῖς (θε-ντ-ς), θεῖσα (θε-ντ-ια), θὲν (θε-ντ); στής (στα-ντ-ς), στάσα (στα-ντ-ια), στάν (στα-ντ). The middle adds -μενος, as θέ-μενος.

FIRST AND SECOND PERFECT (AND PLUPERFECT) ACTIVE

762. Indicative.—The perfect of τίθηναι is τέθηκα. A later form τέθεικα, not found on Attic inscriptions till after 200 B.C. and due to the analogy of εἶκα, still appears in some texts. τέθεικα is Doric. For καθέσταναι Attic used καταστήσας ἔχω (cp. 599 b).

a. The dual and plural of the second perfect and pluperfect of ίστημι (417) are formed without κ: ἔστατον, ἔσταμεν (without augment in the pluperf.), ἐστᾶσι from ἐ-στα-ασι, pluperf. ἔστα-σαν. The singular is supplied by the 1 perf. ἔστηκα I stand.

763. Subjunctive.—ἐστήκω and ἐστῶ appear in prose and poetry, ἐστηκῶς ὃ in prose.

764. Optative.—ἐστήκοιμι occurs in comp. in prose, ἀφειστώτες εἰεν in Plato, τεθῆκῶς εἴης and δεδωκῶτες εἰεν in Demosthenes. ἐσταίην is poetical.

765. Imperative.—ἔσταθι is poetical.

766. Infinitive and Participle.—ἐστάναι and ἐστῶς are much more common than ἐστηκέναι and ἐστηκῶς.

PERFECT MIDDLE (PASSIVE)

767. τέθειμαι even in composition is rare and is unknown on Attic inscriptions. For the pass. perf. κείμεαι (791) was used. Doric has τέθειμαι.

IRREGULAR MI-VERBS

768. εἰμί (ἐσ-, cp. Lat. es-se) am has only the present and future systems.

760 D. Hom. has θέμεναι, θέμεν; στήμεναι; δόμεναι, δόμεν; and θεῖναι, στήναι, δοῦναι. Dor. has θέμεν, δόμεν, στάμεν.

766 D. Hom. has ἐστάμεναι and ἐστάμεν, ἐσταῶς, -αῖος. Hdt. has ἐστεῶς, -εῶτος. Doric has -εῖα for -νῖα (ἐστάκεῖα).

768 D. 1. Homer has the following forms:

Pres. ind. 2 sing. ἐσσί and εἰς, 1 pl. εἰμέν, 3 pl. (εἰσί, and) ἔασ: not enclitic.

Imperf. ἦα, ἦα, ἦον, 2 sing. ἦσθα, ἔησθα, 3 sing. ἦεν, ἔην, ἦην, ἦν (rare), 3 pl. ἦσαν, ἔσαν; iterative (495) ἔσκον (for ἐσ-σκον).

3	εἰσὶ	ᾶσι	εἴησαν or εἴεν	ἔστων	ῆσαν
Infinitive	εἶναι	Participle ὢν, οἶσα, ὄν, gen. ὄντος, οἶσθης, ὄντος, etc. (305)

FUTURE (with middle forms)

ἔσμαι, ἔσῃ (or ἔσαι), ἔσται, ἔσσεσθαι, ἔσσεσθαι, ἐσόμεθα, ἔσεσθε, ἔσονται, opt. ἐσόμεν, inf. ἔσσεσθαι, part. ἐσόμενος, -η, -ον.

a. The imperative 3 pl. ἔστωσαν occurs in Plato and Demosthenes; ὄντων in Plato and on inscriptions.

b. In composition ὢν retains its accent, as ἀπὼν, ἀποῖσα, ἀπόντος, etc.; and so ἔσται, as ἀπέσται (426 e).

769. The optative forms εἴμεν, εἴητε, εἴησαν are found only in prose writers. εἴμεν occurs in poetry and Plato, εἴτε only in poetry, εἴεν in poetry and prose and more frequently than εἴησαν.

770. The indicative εἰμί is for *ἐσ-μι (37); εἶ is for *ἐσσι (originally ἐσ-σι, 463 b); ἐσ-σι retains the original ending τι; εἰσὶ is for (σ-)εντι, cp. Lat. sunt; ἐσμέν, with σ before μ despite 105; the σ is due to the influence of ἐστέ. The subjunctive ᾶ is for ἔω, from ἐσ-ω; the optative εἴην is for ἐσ-την; εἴμεν for ἐσ-ι-μεν, cp. Lat. simus. The infinitive εἶναι is for ἐσ-ναι; the participle ὢν is for ἐών, from ἐσ-ων.

Subj. ἔω, ἔης, 3 sing. ἔῃ, ἔῃσι, ῆσι, 3 pl. ἔωσι (twice ᾶσι); μέτεμι has 1 sing. μετέω, and μετέω (with metrical lengthening).

Opt. εἴην, etc., also ἔωσι, ἔω; Imper. 2 sing. ἔσ-σο (middle form), ἔστω, 3 pl. ἔστων.

Inf. εἶναι and ἔμμεναι (for ἐσ-μεναι), ἔμμεν, also ἔμμεναι, ἔμμεν.

Part. ἐών, οἶσα, ὄν, etc., rarely the Attic forms.

Fut. often with σσ: ἔσσομαι and ἔσομαι; 3 sing. ἔσεται, ἔσται, ἔσσεται, also ἐσσεῖται (as in Dor.), ἔσσεσθαι, ἐσόμενος.

2. Herodotus has pres. ind. 2 sing. εἶς, 1 pl. εἴμεν; imperf., the Attic forms and εἶ, 2 sing. ἔας, 2 pl. ἔατε; iterative ἔσκον; subj. ἔω, ἔωσι; opt. once ἐν-έωι, εἴησαν, less freq. εἴεν; part. ἐών.

3. Dor. pres. ind. 1 sing. ἡμί and εἰμί, 2 sing. ἐσσί, 1 pl. ἡμέτι and εἰμέτι (Pind. εἰμέτι), 3 pl. ἐσσι; imperf. 3 sing. ῆς (for ῆσ-τ), 1 pl. ῆμεν, 3 pl. ῆσαν and ῆν; inf. ῆμεν, εἴμεν; part. ἐών and fem. ἔασσα, pl. ἔντες. Fut. ἐσσεύμαι, -ῆ, -ῆται or -εῖται, ἐσσεύεται (540 D.).

4. Aeolic ἔμμι out of ἐσμι; imper. ἔσσο, part. ἔων, ἔσσα (Sappho); imperf. ἔων.

771. Old Attic ῆ is from ῆα (Hom.) = ῆσθμ, i.e. ἐσ- augmented + the secondary ending μ, which becomes α by §5 c. ῆς for ῆσθα is rare. The 3 pl. was originally ῆν, contracted from ῆεν (Hom.); this ῆν came to be used as 3 sing. By analogy to ῆμεν ῆσθε the 1 sing. ῆν was formed.

772. Inflected according to the ω-conjugation are the subjunctive, the participle ών, and several dialect forms.

773. εἶμι (i-, ei-; cp. Lat. i-re) go has only the present system.

PRESENT					IMPERFECT

2	ἔτε	ἔητε	λοιτε	ἔτε	ῆτε
3	ἔσσι	ἔωσι	λοιεν	λόντων	ῆσαν or ῆσαν

Infinitive: λέναι. Participle: λών, λοθσα, λών, gen. λόντος, λοόσης, λόντος, etc.

Verbal Adjectives: ιτός (poet.), ιτέος, ιτητέος.

a. The imperative 3 pl. ἔωσαν occurs rarely in Xenophon and Plato.

b. The participle λών is accented like a second aorist. The accent of the simple form of participle and infinitive is kept in composition, as παριών, παριούσα, ἀπιέναι. Otherwise the compounds have recessive accent so far as the rules allow: πάρεμι, ἀπεισι, but ἀπῆα, προσῆμεν.

774. εἶμι in the indicative present means I shall go, I am going. See 1880. For I go ἔρχομαι is used in the present indicative, but not (in prose) in the imperfect, or in the other moods. The scheme of moods and tenses is as follows: Present: indic. ἔρχομαι, subj. ἔω, opt. λοιμὺ or λοίην, imper. ἔθι, inf. λέναι, part. λών. Imperfect: ῆα. Future: εἶμι, ἐλευσόμεν, ἐλεύσεσθαι, ἐλευσόμενος.

775. In the imperfect the older prose writers usually have ῆα, ῆσθα, ῆειν, the later have ῆεν, ῆεις, ῆει. The plural forms ῆμεν and ῆετε are not classical. Prose writers seem to prefer ῆσαν to ῆσαν. The η here is the stem ει augmented.

776. The part., the subjv., and the opt. are inflected with the thematic vowel; and so also some of the dialectal forms.

777 D. Hom. has 2 sing. εἴσθα (Hesiod εἶς); subj. ἔσθα and ἔης, ἔσιν and ἔη, ἔμεν and ἔμεν; opt. λεῖη and λοι; infin. λέναι, λέμεν, and λέναι (twice). Imperf.: 1 sing. ῆα, ἀπῆιον, 3 sing. ῆει, ῆε, ῆει (at the verse-end, ῆε?), ἔε; dual ἔτην, pl. ῆμεν, ῆσαν, ἐπῆσαν, ἔσαν, ῆιον. For ῆα, ῆει, ῆσαν some write ῆεα, ῆεε, ῆεσαν. Future: εἴσομαι Ω 482, ο 213. ῆέσομαι Ξ 8 and ῆέσατο, ῆέσατο probably come from ῆεμαι strive (778).

Hdt.: ῆα, ῆει, ῆεσαν (Mss.), but η for ει is correct.

777. ἔημι (ε-, ἦ-) send is inflected nearly like τίθημι (p. 135). The inflection of the present and second aorist systems is as follows:

777 D. 1. In Hom. ἔημι usually has the initial ε short. Present: -εἶς, ἔησι and -εἶ, εἶσι: from ε-ντι, inf. λέμεναι and -λέμεν. Imperf.: -εἶν, -εἶς, -εἶ, 3 pl. ἔει. Future: ἔσω, once εἰ-έσει. First Aorist: ἦκα and ἔηκα, ἐνέκαμεν once, ἦκαν once. Second Aorist: for the augmented εἰ-forms Hom. has usually the unaugmented ε; as ἔσαν, ἔντο. In the subjunctive μεθεῖω, μεθήγ, ἀφῆγ, μεθῶμεν.

2. Hdt. has -εἶ (accented -εἶ), εἶσι, imperf. -εἶ, perf. ἀνέωνται for ἀνέονται, part. με-μετ-ι-μένος for μεθειμένος.

3. Dor. has perf. ἔωκα, ἔωμαι.

Future : — ἔμμε in prose only in composition ; — ἔμμε only in composition.

First Aorist : ἔμμε in prose usually in comp., — ἔμμε ; both only in the indic.

Perfect Active : — εἶς only in composition.

Perfect Middle (Passive) : — εἶς (plup. — εἶς), — εἶς, — εἶς, — εἶς, only in composition.

Aorist Passive : — εἶς, — εἶς, — εἶς, — εἶς, only in composition.

Future Passive : — εἶς, only in composition.

Verbal Adjectives : — εἶς, — εἶς, only in composition.

778. Since ἔμμι is reduplicated (probably for σι-ση-μι) the initial ε should be short, as it is in Hom. (rarely in Attic poetry). ι is probably due to confusion with the ι of Hom. ἔμμι (εἶμι) strive, a meaning that ἔμμι occasionally shows in Attic. ἔμμι meaning hasten occurs only in the present and imperfect.

779. ε is for ε + ε in the second aorist active (ε-ε-μεν = εἶμεν), perfect active (ε-ε-κα = εἶκα), perfect middle (ε-ε-μαι = εἶμαι), second aorist passive (ε + ε-θην = εἶθην). In the aorists ε is the augment, in the perfects the first ε is the reduplication of the weak stem ε. The first aorist ε-κα has the strong stem form. Present subj. ἔμμι, ἔμμε, etc., are for ἔμμι, ἔμμε, etc. ; aor. subj. εἶς, εἶς, etc., are for εἶς, εἶς, etc.

780. Much confusion exists in the Mss. as regards the accentuation. Thus for ἔμμι we find ἔμμι, and in Hom. ἔμμι (present), as if from ἔμμι. See 746 c.

781. For ἔμμι, ἔμμε and ἔμμι, ἔμμε, ἔμμι (also accented ἔμμι, etc.) see 746 c.

782. The imperfect of ἀφίημι is either ἀφίην or ἡφίην (450).

783. φημί (φα-, φη-, cp. Lat. fū-rī) say, say yes, or assent is inflected in the present as follows:

	PRESENT			IMPERFECT

2	φατέ	φῆτε	φαίητε	φάτε	ἔφατε
3	φασί	φῶσι	φαίεν or φαίησαν	φάντων	ἔφασαν

Inf. : φάναι ; Partic. : poet. φᾶς, φᾶσα, φάν (Attic prose φάσκων) ; Verbal

Adj. : φάτος (poet.), φάτος.

Future : φήσω, φήσων, φήσω.

First Aorist : ἔφησα, φήσω, φήσαιμι, —, φήσαι, φήσῃς.

Perf. Pass. Imper. : πεφάσθω let it be said.

784. All the forms of the present indicative except φῆς are enclitic (181 c). — In composition σύμφημι, σύμφης (but the Mss. often have συμφῆς and συμφῆς), συμφῶ, σύμφαθι.

785. In the optative φαίτε does not occur, perhaps by chance (461, 683 a). φαίμεν, φαίεν are ordinary Attic ; φαίημεν, φαίησαν are rare.

786. Middle forms in present, imperfect, and future are dialectic.

787. οὐ φημι means refuse (Lat. nego). In the meaning assert, φάσκω is commonly used outside of the indicative. In the meaning say often, φάσκω is used. ἔφησα and φήσω are aor. and fut. in the meanings say yes and assent. ἔφην, ἔφη (and φάναι) often correspond to Lat. inquam, inquit.

788. ἔφην and φῶ, φαίην may have an aoristic force. ἔφην and poet. ἐφάμην are both imperfect and second aorist.

789 D. 1. Hom. has φῆσθα for φῆς ; subj. φῆη and φῆσι (463 c. D) for φῆ ; imperf. ἔφην, φῆν, ἔφησθα, φῆσθα, ἔφης, φῆς, 3 s. ἔφην, rarely φῆ, 1 pl. φαμέν, 3 pl. ἐφασαν, φάσαν, ἔφαν, φάν.

2. Doric φᾶμι, φᾶτι, φᾶντι ; imperf. ἔφᾶ, φᾶ ; inf. φάμεν ; fut. φάσω, φάσομαι ; aor. ἐφᾶσα.

3. Aeolic φᾶμ or φαῖμ, φαῖσθα, 3 s. φαῖσι, 3 pl. φαῖσι.

790 D. Middle forms of φημί are rare or unknown in Attic (Plato has perf. imper. πεφάσθω), but common in other dialects ; yet the pres. indicative middle is rare. Hom. has imperf. ἐφάμην, ἔφατο or φάτο, etc., imper. φάο, φάσθω, etc., inf. φάσθαι (and in choral poetry), part. φάμενος (also in Hdt.). These middle forms are active in meaning.

789. ἵμαι (ἵσ-) sit is inflected only in the present system. The σ of the verb-stem appears only before -ται, -το.

The subjunctive and optative are wanting; present infinitive ἵσθαι; participle ἵμενος.

a. Uncompounded ἵμαι occurs only in Epic, tragedy, and Herodotus. The missing tenses are supplied by ἕζομαι, ἕζω and ἕζομαι.

790. In place of ἵμαι we find usually κάθ-ημαι in Attic prose and comedy. κάθημαι sometimes is perfect in meaning (I have sat, I have been seated). The σ of the verb-stem does not appear except before -το.

Infinitive: καθήσθαι; Participle: καθήμενος.

a. The imperative has κάθου in comedy for κάθησο. In the imperfect ἐκαθήμην is used about as often as καθήμην.

b. The missing tenses are supplied by καθέζομαι, καθίζω, καθίζομαι.

791. κείμαι (κει-) lie, am laid, regularly used in the present and imperfect instead of the perfect and pluperfect passive of τίθημι place.

789 D. Hom. has εἶται, and ἔται (twice), εἶτο, and ἔτο once (once ἦτο). ἦ- is probably the correct spelling for εἰ-.

790 D. Hom. has 3 pl. καθέλατο (καθήατο?). Hdt. has κατέταται, κατέτατο; καθῆστο not καθήτο.

791 D. Hom. has 3 pl. pres. κείται, κέαται, κέονται; imperf. κείντο, κείατο, κέατο, iter. κέσκετο; subj. κῆται, and κείται for κε(ι)-ε-ται; fut. κείσομαι.

	Indic.	Subj.	Opt.	Imper.	Indic.
Sing. 1	οἶμαι				ἔκειμην
2	οἶσθαι			οἶσο	ἔκεισο
3	οἶται	οἶηται	οἶντο	οἶσθε	ἔκειτο
Dual 2	οἶσθον			οἶσθον	ἔκεισθον
3	οἶσθον			οἶσθων	ἔκεισθην

2	οἶσθε	(δια)οἶησθε		οἶσθε	ἔκεισθε
3	οἶνται	(κατα)οἶωνται	(προσ)οἶντο	οἶσθων	ἔκειντο

Infinitive: οἶσθαι; Participle: οἶμενος.

Future: οἶσομαι, οἶσῃ or οἶσαι, οἶσεται, etc.

a. In the subjunctive and optative οἶ- becomes οἶ- before a vowel (43).

b. Compounds have recessive accent in the present indicative and imperative: παράκειμαι, παράκεισο, but παράκεισθαι.

792. ἡ-μί (cp. Lat. a-lo) say occurs only in the present and imperfect 1 and 3 sing., and is used in parentheses (as Lat. inquam, inquit).

Forms: ἡμί, ἡσί; ἡν, ἡ. Examples: παῖ, ἡμί, παῖ boy, I say, boy! (emphatic repetition). ἡν δ' ἐγώ said I, ἡ δ' ὅς said he (1113).

793. χρή it is necessary is really an indeclinable substantive meaning necessity with the verb understood. In the present indicative ἐστὶ is to be supplied. Elsewhere χρή unites with the form of the verb to be supplied; as subj. χρή (χρή + ῆ), opt. χρεῖν (χρή + εἶν), inf. χρήναι (χρή + εἶναι), part. indeclinable χρών (χρή + ων); imperf. χρήν (χρή + ῆν), and less commonly ἐχρήν with an augment because the composite character of χρήν was forgotten, fut. χρήσται (χρή + ἔσται).

a. ἀπὸχρή it suffices has pl. ἀποχρώσι, part. ἀποχρών, -χρώσα, -χρών, imperf. ἀπέχρη, fut. ἀποχρήσει, aor. ἀπέχρησε.

794. οἶδα (ιδ, ειδ-ε, οιδ originally with ε; cp. Lat. video) know is a second perfect with the meaning of a present, and formed without reduplication. The second perfect and second pluperfect are inflected as follows:

792 D. Hom has ἡ, Doric ἡρί, Aeolic ἡσι.

793 D. Hdt. has χρή, χρήν, χρήναι, but ἀποχρήν, ἀποχρᾶν.

794 D. 1. Hom. has οἶδας a 337, ἰδμεν, ἰδᾶσι (ἰσᾶσι for ἰδᾶσι I 36); subj. εἰδέω τ 236 and ἰδέω (? ᾤ 235), εἰδομεν and εἰδετε with short thematic vowels; inf. ἰμεναι, ἰμεν; part. εἰδῶν and ἰδῶν. Pluperf. ἦδεα, ἦδησθα τ 93, ἦλδεις (-ης?) X 230 with η as augment (433), ἦδη, ἦδεε, ἦλδεις ι 206, 3 pl. ἰσαν for ἰδ-σαν. Fut. ἰσομαι, inf. εἰδησέμεν and -σειν.

2. Hdt. has οἶδας, ἰδμεν and οἶδαμεν (rarely), οἶδᾶσι, subj. εἰδέω, plup. ἦδεα, ἦδεε (ἦδαι?), -ἦδέατε, ἦδεσαν, fut. εἰδήσω.

3. Dor. has ἰδᾶμι (pl. ἰσαμεν, ἰσαντι) and οἶδα. Boeotian has ἰττω for ἰστω. Aeolic has φοῖδημι and οἶδα.

SECOND PERFECT					SECOND PLUPERFECT
	Indic.	Subj.	Opt.	Imper.	Indic.
Sing. 1	οἶδα	εἰδῶ	εἰδείην		ᾔδει	or ᾔδειν
2	οἶσθα	εἰδῆς	εἰδείης	ἴσθι	ᾔδεισθα	or ᾔδεις
3	οἶδε	εἰδῆ	εἰδείη	ἴτω	ᾔδει(ν)
Dual 2	ἴστων	εἰδῆτων	εἰδείτων	ἴστων	ᾔστων
3	ἴστων	εἰδῆτων	εἰδείτην	ἴτων	ᾔστην
Plur. 1	ἴμεν	εἰδῶμεν	εἰδείμεν or εἰδείημεν		ᾔσμεν	or ᾔδαμεν
2	ἴτε	εἰδῆτε	εἰδείτε	ἴτε	ᾔστε	ᾔδετε
3	ἴωσι	εἰδώσι	εἰδείν	εἰδείσαν ἴων	ᾔσαν	ᾔδεσαν

Infinitive εἰδέναι; Participle εἰδώς, εἰδυῖα, εἰδός (309); Verbal Adj. ἴστος; Future εἴσομαι. Compound σένοιδα am conscious of.

795. The verb-stem has the meaning find out; hence the perfect οἶδα means I have found out and hence I know.

796. In Ionic and late Greek we find οἶδας, οἶδαμεν, etc. These forms are rare in Attic. οἶσθας occurs in comedy.

797. In the optative dual and plural prose writers have either the shorter or the longer forms; the poets only the shorter forms.

798. Pluperfect ᾔδειν, ᾔδεις occur in later Attic (Demosthenes), but are suspicious in earlier writers. ᾔδεισθα occurs in the best Mss. of Plato and elsewhere, but it is less correct Attic. ᾔδης is incorrect. ᾔδει is rare. ᾔστων, ᾔστην are almost entirely poetic. In the plural ᾔδαμεν, ᾔδετε, ᾔδεσαν are post-classical. ᾔδεμεν, ᾔδετε occur rarely in the Attic poets.

799. οἶσθα is from οἶδ + θα; ἴτε from ἴδ + τε; ἴσθι from ἴδ + θι (83). ἴμεν (older ἰμεν) gets its σ from ἴστε (87). ἴωσι is from ἴδ + σαισι, with σ from (Hom.) ἴσαν = ἴδ-σαν with the ending -σαν (cp. εἰῶσι 704 d). ᾔδῃ is for ᾔ-εἰδῃ with η as augment (438).

PECULIARITIES IN THE USE OF THE VOICE-FORMS, ETC.

800. Some verbs in the present appear in classical Greek in the active voice only, as βαίνω go, ἔρπω creep, τρέω tremble; others in the middle only, as ἄλλομαι leap, βούλομαι wish, κάθημαι sit, κείμει lie.

801. Outside of the present some active verbs show middle forms especially in the future, as βήσομαι shall go, ἀκούσομαι shall hear (805); and some verbs exclusively or chiefly deponent show active forms especially in the perfect, as γίγνομαι become γέγονα, μαίνομαι rage μέμνηνα, δέркоμαι poet., 2 aor. ἔδρακον, perf. δέδορκα.

802. For the passive voice the middle forms sufficed in most cases; many middle futures are still used passively (807), as ἀδικήσο-

803 D. Hom. has ἐκτάμην was killed, ἐσχόμην was stayed. Cp. also ᾔδεσάμην and αἰδεσθην (αἰδέομαι respect), οἰσατο and οἰσθήν (οἰομαι think), ἐχολώσάμην and ἐχολώθην (χολώω enrage).

μαι shall be wronged; and traces of the passive use of the aorist middle appear in Hom., as ἔβλητο was hit. This use was largely abandoned when -ην and -θην came to be used as special marks of the passive. Originally neither -ην nor -θην was passive in meaning.

803. The second aorist in -ην is primarily intransitive and shows active inflection (as ἔστην stood). Many so-called passive forms are in fact merely intransitive aorists of active verbs, as ἔρρόην from ῥέω flow, κατεκλίην from κατα-κλίνω lie down, and do not differ in meaning from the aorists of deponent verbs, as ἐμάτην from μαίνομαι rage.

804. The aorists in -θην that are called passive are often active or middle in meaning, as ἡσθην took pleasure in from ἡσδομαι, ἤσχύνθην felt ashamed from αἰσχύνω disgrace, αἰσχύνομαι am ashamed; ὠργισθην became angry from ὀργίζω anger.

FORMS OF ONE VOICE IN THE SENSE OF ANOTHER

805. Future Middle with Active Meaning.—Many verbs have no active future, but use instead the future middle in an active sense: λαμβάνω take λήψομαι, γινώσκω know γνώσομαι.

a. Most such verbs denote a physical action, as the action of the vocal organs; the action of the organs of sight, hearing, smell, touch; the action of throat, mouth, lips; bodily activity in general, voluntary or involuntary; and other aspects of the physical side of human organism.

806. In the following list of active verbs with middle futures those marked * have also an active future; those marked † sometimes have an active future in late Greek. All verbs adding -α- to form the present stem (523, b, c) have a middle future except αἰδάνω, λαυθάνω, ὀφλισκάνω. Verbs denoting praise or blame usually have both an active and a middle future.

†ἀκούς	†γελάω	*ἐμέω	*κλαίω	τοίμωζω	πλέω	†τλάω (ἐτλην)

βαδίζω	δειδω	*θιγγάνω	λάσκω	παίζω	†σιωπῶ	*φθάνω
βαίρω	(see 708)	-θησκω	μανθάνω	πάσχω	σκώπτω	χάσκω
†βίβω	-διδράσκω	θρῦσκω	*νέω	†πηδάω	†σπουδάζω	χέζω *βλέπω	*διώκω	κάμνω	νέω σιωπῇ	πίνω	(late)	*χαρέω
βλάσκω	*ἐγκωμιάζω	κι(γ)χάνω

a. Compounds of χωρέω with ἀπο-, συγ-, παρα-, προσ- have both active and middle futures; other compounds have only the active futures.

807. Future Middle with Passive Meaning.—In many verbs the future middle has the meaning of the future passive, as ἀδικέω wrong, ἀδικήσομαι shall be wronged.

808. The following verbs commonly use the future middle in a passive sense. (All of these have the future passive in late Greek, except ἀμφισβητέω, εἶω, εἰργώ, ἐπιδρεύω, οἰκέω, παιδαγωγέω, προαγορεύω, στρεβλώω, στυγέω.)

ἀγνέω not to know	εἰργώ shut	μαστιγίσκω whip	στρεβλώω rack ἀγωνίζομαι contend	ἐκπλύνω wash out	οἰκέω inhabit	στυγέω hate (poet.)
ἀδικέω wrong	ἐπιδρεύω lie in wait	ὁμολογέω agree	ταράττω disturb ἀμφισβητέω dispute	for	ὀνειδίζω reproach	τηρέω guard ἀπολγνύμι open, C.I.A.	ἐπιβουλεύω plot	παιδαγωγέω educate	τρέφω nourish
2. 1054 (not found in literature)	ἀγανίστω against	πολεμέω wage war	τρίβω rub
ἄρχω rule	ἐχθαίρω hate	προαγορεύω foretell	ὕω rain διδάσκω teach	ἔχω have		φιλέω love
εἶω permit	θεραπεύω tend		φυλάττω guard
	κωλύω prevent	σταθμάω measure

809. Some verbs use in a passive sense both a future middle form and a future passive form; on the difference in meaning see 1738.

ἄγω lead, ἄξομαι, ἀχθήσομαι.	μαρτυρέω bear witness, μαρτυρήσομαι, μαρτυρηθήσομαι.

810. Middle Deponents.—Deponent verbs whose aorists have an active or middle meaning with middle forms are called middle deponents. The aorist passive of such verbs, when it occurs, has a passive force. Thus αἰτιάομαι accuse, ἡτιώσάμην accused, ἡτιάσθην was accused. Others 813 c.

811. Passive Deponents.—Deponent verbs whose aorists have the passive form but the active or middle meaning are called passive deponents; as βούλομαι wish, aor. ἐβουλήσθην. The future is usually middle in form. Most passive deponents express mental action of some sort.

812. In the following list verbs marked * have a future passive form and also a future middle form; as διαλέγομαι converse, aor. διελέχθην conversed, fut. διαλέξομαι and διαλεχθήσομαι shall converse. But ἡδομαι take pleasure in has only ἡσθήσομαι, and ἡττάομαι yield to, am worsted has only ἡττηθήσομαι. Verbs with † have also an aorist middle, but it is less common, or poetic, or late Greek.

 *ἰσδομαι feel shame, ἦδέσθην ἀάδομαι (usu. poet.) wander, ἡλήθην

a. Some verbs use either the aorist middle or aorist passive without distinction, as ἐταλίζομαι δινοῦαι, πᾶγματεῖομαι am engaged in.

b. Some verbs use both, but prefer the aorist middle, as ἀποκρίνομαι answer, ἀπολογέομαι speak in defence, μέφομαι blame.

c. Some verbs use the aorist passive in an active or middle sense, as ἀπορέομαι doubt, pass. be disputed, aor. ἡπορήθην; πειράω prove, πειράομαι try, aor. ἐπειράθην (less often ἐπειράσθην), fut. πειράσομαι and πειράσθσομαι. ἐράω (poet. ἔραμαι) love has ἡράσθην fell in love with, fut. ἐρασθήσομαι.

813. Deponents with Passive Meaning. — Some deponent verbs have a passive meaning. This is avoided by good writers in the present and imperfect or future passive, is not frequent in the aorist, but is common in the perfect and pluperfect passive. Thus ἀπεκρίνεται (ἀπεκρίθη) ταῦτα this answer is (was) made is not good Greek. Few verbs show the passive meaning in most of these tenses; as ὠνόμοι buy, am bought, ἐωνήθην was bought, ἐώνημαι have bought, have been bought.

a. Present and Imperfect: ἀγωνίζομαι contend, am contended for, βιάζομαι force, am forced, λυμάλωμαι maltreat, am maltreated, ὠνόμοι buy, am bought.

b. Future Passive: ἀπαρτέομαι deny, ἀπαρηθήσομαι, ἐργάζομαι work, do, ἐργασθήσομαι.

c. Aorist Passive: These verbs (middle deponents, 810) have also an aorist middle; the aorist passive is used in a passive sense: ἀγωνίζομαι contend, αἰτίζομαι harass, αἰνίττομαι speak darkly, αἰτιάομαι accuse, ἀκτέομαι heal, βιάζομαι force, δέχομαι receive, δωπέομαι present, ἐργάζομαι work, do, ἡγέομαι lead, θεδομαι behold, ἰδομαι heal, κτάομαι acquire, λυμάλωμαι maltreat, λωβόομαι abuse, μιμέομαι imitate, ολοφύρομαι lament, προφασίζομαι feign an excuse, χρδομαι use, ὠνόμοι buy. ἀποκρίνομαι has ἀπεκρίνατο answered, ἀτεκρίθην usu. means was separated.

d. Perfect and Pluperfect: These verbs use the perfect middle in the middle or the passive sense: ἀγωνίζομαι contend, αἰνίττομαι speak darkly, αἰτιάομαι accuse, ἀποκρίνομαι answer, ἀπολογέομαι make a defence, βιάζομαι force, ἐνθύμέομαι consider, ἐργάζομαι work, do, εὔχομαι pray, ἡγέομαι lead, κτάομαι acquire, λωβέομαι abuse, μηχανάομαι devise, μίμνημι imitate, παρρησιάζομαι speak boldly, πολιτεύομαι act as (discharge the duties of) a citizen, πραγματεύομαι am engaged in, σκέπτομαι view, χράομαι use, ὠτέομαι buy.

814. Active Verbs with Aorist Passive in a Middle Sense.—The aorist passive of some active verbs has a reflexive or middle sense, either sometimes or always. Thus εὐφραίνω gladden, ἡυφράνθην rejoiced, κινέω move, ἐκινήθην was moved or moved myself, φαίνω show, ἐφάνην showed myself, appeared (ἐφάνθην usually was shown).

819. In some verbs showing 1st and 2nd aorist, or 1st and 2nd perfect, the first tenses are generally transitive, the second tenses generally intransitive. The future active of these verbs is transitive. In some transitive verbs the perfect (usually the 2nd perf.) is intransitive.

ἐγείρω: trans. rouse, wake up, ἐγερῶ, ἡγείρω, etc.; intrans. ἐγείρομαι wake, am awake, ἐγερθήσομαι, ἡγέρθη, 2 aor. ἡγρόμην awoke, 2 perf. ἐγρήγορα am awake.

ἵστημι set: trans. στήσω shall set, 1 aor. ἔστησα set, ἐστάθην was set, ἵσταμαι set for myself, στήσομαι, ἵστησάμην. So also ἵσταμαι set myself, stand, στήσομαι.

N. — The same distinction prevails in the compounds: ἀνίστημι raise up, ἀνέστην stood up, ἀφίστημι set off, cause to revolt, ἀπέστην stood off, revolted, ἀφέστηκα am distant, am in revolt; ἐφίστημι set over, ἐπέστην set myself over, ἐφέστηκα am set over; καθίστημι set down, establish, κατέστην established myself, became established, καθέστηκα am established. ## PART III

FORMATION OF WORDS

822. Inflected words generally consist of two distinct parts: a stem and an inflectional ending (191):

δῶρο-ν gift, stem δωρο-, inflectional ending ν; λύο-μεν we loose, stem λῖο-, inflectional ending μεν.

a. The inflectional endings of nouns and verbs, and the formation of verbal stems, have been treated under Inflection. The formation of words, as discussed here, deals primarily with the formation of noun-stems, of verbal stems derived from nouns, and of compound words. Uninflected words (adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions, and particles) are mostly of pronominal origin and obscure; such adverbs as show case forms are mentioned in 341 ff.

823. Some stems are identical with roots (root-stems, 193) to which only an inflectional ending, or no ending at all, has been added.

βοῦ-ς ox, cow	μῦ-ς mouse	ἔ-ς hog, sow
εἷς one (stem εἶν-)	ναῦ-ς ship	φλόξ flame (φλέγ-ω burn )
θῆρ wild beast (gen. θηρ-ός)	ὄψ voice (stem ὀπ-)	χεῖρ hand (gen. χειρ-ός)
κλέψ thief (κλέπ-τ-ω steal )	πούς foot (stem ποδ-)	χθών earth (stem χθον-)

824. Most stems are derived from roots by the addition of one or more formative suffixes.

δῶρο-ν gift, stem δωρο-, root δω (δί-δω-μι give), suffix πο-.
 γραμ-ματ-εύ-ς scribe, stem γραμματεν-, root γραφ-, suffixes ματ and ευ.

a. Most words are therefore built up from root, suffix, and inflectional ending by a process of composition analogous to that seen in compounds (869 ff.), in which the union of the various elements yields an idea different from that seen in each of the parts.

825. A stem is primary if only one suffix is added to the root (δῶρο-ν); secondary, when more than one suffix is added to the root (γραμ-ματ-εύ-ς).

826. There are two kinds of stems: noun-stems (substantive and adjective) and verb-stems.

827. Words containing a single stem are called simple words, as λόγος speech; words containing two or more stems are called compound words, as λογο-γράφος speech-writer.

828. According to the character of the suffix words are called:

- a. Primitive (or Primary): formed by the addition of a suffix either to a root or to a verb-stem to which a vowel, usually ε, has been added (485, 486).

Root γραφ: γράφ-ω write, γραφ-ή writing, γραφ-εὺς writer, γράμ-μα something written, γραμ-μή line.

Verb-stem γεν-ε in γενέ-σθαι become (ἐγενόμην, γί-γνομαι): γένε-σις gene-sis, origin; τέρε-ς (τέρω bore): τέρε-τρον gimlet, instrument for boring.

- b. Denominative (or Secondary): formed from a noun-stem (substantive or adjective) or adverb.

γραμ-ματ-εὺς writer (stem γραμματ-, nom. γράμμα); εὐδαιμον-ία happiness (stem εὐδαιμον-, nom. εὐδαιμων); δικαιο-σύνη justice, δικαιο-ς just (δικαί-ω right); φιλ-ιος friendly (φίλο-ς dear); δουλό-ω enslave (δοῦλο-ς slave); παλαι-ός ancient, of old date, from the adverb παλαι long ago.

829. Suffixes forming primitive words are called primary suffixes; suffixes forming denominative words are called secondary suffixes.

a. The distinction between primary and secondary suffixes is not original and is often neglected. Thus, in δεινός terrible (δει- fear), νο is a primary suffix; in σκοτεινός dark (σκότος, 858. 11), it is secondary. So English -able is both primary (readable) and secondary (companionable).

b. It is often difficult to determine whether a suffix is added to a verb-stem or to a noun-stem: ισχυρός strong (ισχύ-ς strength, ισχύ-ω am strong).

c. A primitive word may be formed from a verb-stem which is itself denominative: τοξευ-τής bowman from τοξεύ-ω shoot with the bow, derived from τόξον bow. A primitive may be formed with a suffix derived from a denominative: φλεγ-υρός burning (φλέγ-ω burn) with υρ from λιγυ-ρός (λιγός) shrill.

d. A denominative often has no corresponding primitive; sometimes the latter has been lost, sometimes it was presumed for the purpose of word-formation by the imitative process always at work in the making of language. Thus, δέν-υ-ο-ν bed, from δεν-υ-ο-ν (δέμ-ω build, construct).

830. To determine the root all suffixes must be removed from the stem until only that part remains which contains the fundamental idea.

a. Most roots are noun-roots or verb-roots; but originally a root was neither noun or verb (198). Some roots are pronominal, and express direction or position. Greek has many words whose roots cannot be discovered. The form of a root in Greek is not necessarily that which Comparative Grammar shows was common to the cognate languages.

b. Since the origin of many words, even with the help of the cognate languages, is uncertain, we are often at a loss where to make the dividing line between root and suffix. Suffixes are often preceded by a vowel which may be regarded as a part of the suffix or as an expansion of the root (by some scholars regarded as a part of the root itself).

831. Changes of the root-vowel. — a. The root-vowel is sometimes strong, sometimes weak : α, ει (weak ι); αυ, ου (weak υ); η or ω (weak α or ε). λαίμ-μα remaining, λοιπ-ός remaining, cp. λείπ-ω, ἔ-λειπ-ον; ζυγ-ος yoke, cp. ζυγ-νύ-μι, ζυγ-όν yoke; σπουδ-ή zeal, σπεύδ-ω hasten; λήθ-η forgetfulness, λανθάνω (λαθ-) forget; θθ-ος disposition, ἔθ-ος custom, habit; ρωχ-μός cleft, ρήγ-νύ-μι break (ῥηγ-, ῥηγ-, ῥωγ-). Cp. 86.

b. ε often varies with ο, sometimes with α; η sometimes varies with ω. γόν-ος offspring, γί-γν-ομαι (γεν-); τόν-ος tone, τείνω (τεν-) stretch; τραφ-ερός well-fed, τροφ-ή nourishment, τρέφ-ω nourish; ἀρωγ-ός helping, ἀρήγ-ω help. Cp. 86.

832. Root-determinatives. — A consonant standing between root and suffix (or ending), and not modifying the meaning of the root, is called a root-determinative.

πέ-θ-ρον pedestal, from βαίνω go (βα-); ἔσ-θ-ω (poetical for ἐσθίω) eat, for ἔθ-ω, cp. Ionic ἔθ-ω; πλή-θ-ω (poet.) am full, πλήθ-ος crowd, πληθ-ὤρη satiety, cp. πλ-πλη-μι; στα-θ-μός day's journey, στάθ-μη a rule, from ἵστημι (στα-); σφ-χ-ω wipe, cp. σμάω wipe. — On the insertion of σ, see 836.

a. The origin of root-determinatives is obscure. In part they may be relics of roots, in part due to the analogy of words containing the consonants in question.

833. Suffixes. — A suffix is a formative element added to a root (or to a stem) and standing between the root and the ending. Suffixes limit or particularize the general meaning of the root; but only in a few cases is the distinct meaning of the suffix known to us.

a. The origin of the Greek suffixes is often obscure; of those inherited from the parent language only some were employed to make new words; others were formed by Greek itself (productive suffixes). From the analogy of the modern languages we infer that some suffixes were once independent words, which, on becoming a part of a compound, lost their signification. Thus -hood, -head in childhood, godhead are derived from Old Eng. 'hād,' Gothic 'haidus' character, nature; -ship in ownership, courtship, comes from a lost word meaning 'shape'; -ly in friendly from Old Eng. 'líc' body. So -ώδης meaning smelling (ὀίω), as in ἐρώδης fragrant, acquired a range of meaning originally inappropriate to it by passing into the general idea of 'full of,' 'like,' as in ποιώδης grassy (ρόιω), λοιμώδης pestilential (λοιμώω), σφηκώδης wasp-like (σφήξ). This suffix is distinct from -ειδής having the form of, like (898 a).

Conversely, many suffixes, themselves insignificant, acquired a definite meaning by reason of the root with which they were associated. — Irrespective of its meaning, one word may serve as a model for the creation of another word; as starvation, constellation, etc., are modelled on contemplation, etc.

b. Many dissyllabic suffixes, due to a combination of the final letter or letters of the stem and an original monosyllabic suffix, adapt themselves to independent use. Cp. ego-tism for ego-ism because of patriot-ism, -able in laughable and probable (from proba-bilis). Thus, patronymics in -άδης, -αδης 845. 2, 3; words in -αυα 843 b. 5; -αῖος 858. 2 a; -εῖον 851. 1; -έσπερος 816; -έρης 843 a. N.; -ῆς 858. 3; -ῆιος 858. 2 b; -εῖος 858. 2 a; -εῖς 858. 3; -εῖον 852. 2; -ῆης 843 a. N., 844. 2 a; -εῖμος 858. 9; -έρης 843 a. N., 844. 2 a; and many others.

c. Simple suffixes are often added to case forms or adverbs, thus producing, by contamination, dissyllabic suffixes; as ἀρχαῖ-ο-ς ancient 858. 2 a; παλαι-ός of old date 828 b, ἐαρι-νός vernal 858. 12; φυσικ-ός natural 858. 6 b; cp. ἐν-άλι-ο-ς marine (ἀλι).

d. Many compound suffixes are formed by the union of two suffixes, new stems being created by the addition of a suffix to a stem, as: τηρ-ω 851. 2, ισκ-ω 852. 6, ισκ-ιδω 854. See 854.

e. Suffixes often show gradations: τηρ, τωρ, τερ, τρ (36 N. 1) as in δο-τήρ, δώ-τωρ, δότευρα (out of δότερ-ια) giver; ψάλ-τρ-ια harp-player; μὴν μν: λι-μήν harbour, λι-μν-η lake; μωρ μαρ: τέκ-μωρ, τέκ-μαρ goal; ωρ ρ: ὕδ-ωρ water, ὕδ-ρᾱ hydra; ων αν: τέκτ-ων carpenter, fem. τέκταινα, from τεκταν-ια; and in λέων lion, fem. λέαινα (843 b. 5).

834. Changes in stems.—Various changes occur when a suffix is added to a stem.

a. The final vowel of a stem is contracted with the initial vowel of a suffix: ὀφιδίον small snake (ὀφι- + ιδίον from ὀφι-ς). So when a consonant is dropped at the end of a stem: αἰδο-ῖο-ς venerable (αἰδώς reverence, stem αἰδοσ-), βασιλε-ῖᾱ kingdom (βασιλεύς king, stem βασιλεφ- for βασιλεχ-, 43), ἀστε-ῖο-ς refined (ἀστὺ city, stem ἀστεφ- for ἀστευ-, 43). Cp. 858. 2.

b. A long final vowel of a stem may be shortened before the initial vowel of a suffix: δικᾶ-ω-ς just, δικη right, stem δικᾶ-. (Properly δίκαι is an old case form, 833 c, to which -ο-ς is added.)

c. A final vowel or diphthong may be dropped before the initial vowel of a suffix: σοφ-ῖᾱ wisdom (σοφός wise), τίμ-ω-ς honoured, costly (τίμη honour, stem τίμᾶ-), βασιλ-ικ-ός royal (βασιλεύς king), πολίτ-ικ-ός civic (πολίτης citizen, stem πολίτᾱ-).

d. The final letter or letters of a consonant stem may be dropped: σωφρο-σύνη temperance, moderation (σώφρων temperate, stem σωφρον-), μελ-ύδριον little song (μέλ-οι song, μελεσ-), ἀληθ-ινός genuine (ἀληθής -ές true). So apparently in the case of a vowel stem in δεσπό-συνος belonging to the master (δεσπότης).

e. The final consonant of a stem undergoes regular euphonic change before the initial consonant of a suffix: βλέμ-μα glance (βλέπω look), δικασ-τής a judge (δικαδ-της, from δικάζω judge, stem δικαδ-), πῶ-τι-ς faith (= πῶθ-τι-ς, from πείθ-ω persuade, stem πῶθ-), λέξις style (= λεγ-σι-ς, from λέγω speak).

f. Stems in ο have an alternative in ε (cp. ἱππο-ς, voc. ἵππε; 229 b). This ε often appears in denominatives: οἰκέ-ω dwelt, οἰκέ-της house-servant, οἰκέ-ῖο-ς domestic (οἶκος house).

g. Derivatives of ā stems may apparently show ω in place of ā; as στρατιώ-της soldier (στρατιᾶ army), Ἰταλιώ-της an Italiote, Greek inhabitant of Italy (<sup>1</sup>Ιταλία Italy). See 843 a, N. Stems in ā have η in τίμη-εις honoured (τίμη, stem τίμᾶ-).

h. Vowel stems, especially those derived from verbs, often lengthen a final short vowel before a suffix beginning with a consonant: ποιη-μα poem, ποιη-σι-ς poetry, ποιη-τής poet, ποιη-τι-κός creative, poetical (ποιέ-ω make); δεσμώ-της prisoner (δεσμός, δεσμά fetters). Verbs with stems in α, ε, ο usually show in derivatives the stem vowel as found in the tenses other than the present; as δηλώ-ω manifest, fut. δηλώ-σω, δῆλω-σι-ς manifestation; ἀρόω plough, fut. ἀρό-σω, ἀρο-σι-ς arable land, ἀρο-τήρ ploughman; εὗρ-ισκ-ω find out, fut. εὗρ-ή-σω, εὗρ-η-μα discovery, but εὗρ-ε-σις discovery, εὗρ-ε-τής discoverer.

i. Vowel stems sometimes insert a vowel before a suffix beginning with a consonant: πολι-τή-της, Ionic for πολι-της citizen, πολι-ε-θρο-ν (poetic) city.

j. Consonant stems, and vowel stems not ending in ο, often show ο before a suffix in denominatives; a stem in -ον is thus replaced by one in -ο: σωφρο-σύνη temperance (σώφρων temperate, σωφρον-); αἷμα-θ-εις bloody (αἷμα, -τος blood) and σκι-θ-εις shadowy (σκιᾶ shadow) by analogy to δολβ-εις wily, 858. 3. Cp. 873-875.

835. Several substantives are formed by reduplication: ἀγ-ωγ-ή training (ἀγ-ω lead), ἐδ-ωδ-ή food (Ionic ἐδ-ω eat), γί-γᾱς, -αρτος giant. Some, by metathesis (128 a): τμή-σι-ς cutting (τέμ-ν-ω cut).

836. Insertion of sigma. — Between root (or stem) and suffix σ is often found, and in some cases it has become attached to the suffix. This parasitic letter spread from the perfect middle, where it is properly in place only in stems in τ, δ, θ, or σ; as in σχι-σ-μός cleaving with σ from ἐ-σχι-σ-μαι by analogy to ἐ-σχιω-ται for ἐ-σχιδ-ται (σχίζω cleave). In -σ-της the transference was made easier by words like σχιω-τός cloven for σχιδ-τός. This σ appears before many suffixes, and usually where the perfect middle has acquired it (489).

μα: σπά-σ-μα sprasm (σπάω rend, ἐσπασμαι), κέλευ-σ-μα command (κελεύω command, κεκέλευσμαι), μία-σ-μα stain (μιαίνω stain, μεμiasμαι). — μο: στα-σ-μός = στά-σ-μα, κελευ-σ-μός command. — μη: δύ-σ-μη setting (δύω set). — της: κελευ-σ-τής signal-man, ὀρχη-σ-τής dancer (ὀρχέ-ομαι dance), δυνά-σ-της lord (δύνα-μαι am able). Also in δρα-σ-τήριος efficacious (δράω do), ὀρχη-σ-τρά dancing-place, πλη-σ-μόνη fulness. -σ-μ has displaced δμ, -θ-μ (832) in ὀσμῆ odour (earlier ὀδμή), ῥυ-σ-μός (and ῥυ-θ-μός) rhythm.

837. Insertion of tau. — In a few words τ is inserted before the suffixes μο, μα, μη, μην. Thus, ἐφ-ε-τ-μή command (ἐφίημι, root ἐ, ή), λαϊ-τ-μα depth of the sea, ἀν-τ-μή and ἀν-τ-μην breath (ἀνιμι blow). In ἐρετ-μόν oar the τ may be part of the verb-stem (ἐρέσσω, 515), and have spread thence to the other words.

FORMATION OF SUBSTANTIVES

838. Some suffixes have a special significance; of these the most important are given in 839-856. But suffixes commonly used with a special function (such as to denote agency, action, instrument, etc.) are not restricted to this function. Only a few have one function, as τερο to denote comparison.

a. The instrument may be viewed as the agent, as in ῥαι-σ-τήρ hammer, lit. smasher, from ῥαί-ω smash. τρο (863. 16) may express the agent, instrument, or place. Suffixes used to denote actions or abstract ideas often make concrete words, as τροφ-ή nurture and nourishment, ἀγγελ-ιά message (cp. Eng. dwelling, clothing). πορθμείον means ferry, ferry-boat, ferryman's fee. Words originally denoting an agent have lost that meaning, as πα-τήρ father (orig. protector), and in many cases the original force is changed.

AGENCY

a. The primary suffixes τᾱ, τηρ, τορ, τρο, εν, denoting the agent or doer of an action, are masculine.

1. τῆ (nom. -τῆς): κρι-τῆς judge (κρίνω decide, κρι-), κλέπ-τῆς thief (κλέπ-τω steal), ποιη-τῆς poet, i.e. maker (ποιέ-ω make), αἰλη-τῆς flute-player (αἰλέ-ω play the flute), μαθ-η-τῆς pupil (μανθάνω learn, μαθ-ε-), ἐκ-έ-τῆς suppliant (ἐκ-έ-ομαι come, ἐκ-).
2. τῆρ (nom. -τῆρ): δο-τῆρ giver (δί-δω-μι give, δο-, δω-), σω-τῆρ saviour (σώ-ζω save).
3. τωρ (nom. -τωρ): ρή-τωρ orator (εἶπ-ω shall say, έρ-, ρε-), εί-ρη-κα have spoken, κτίσ-τωρ founder (κτίζω found, κτιδ-), σημάντωρ commander, poet. (σημαίνω give a signal, σημαν-).
4. τρος (nom. -τρος): ἰα-τρό-ς physician (ἰά-ομαι heal).
5. ευ (nom. -εύς): γραφ-εύς writer (γράφ-ω write), τεκ-εύς father (τεκνέω beget, τεκ-).

b. The primary suffixes τριδ, τριά, τειρά, τιδ are feminine.

1. τριδ (nom. -τρίς): αἰλη-τρίς female flute-player.
2. τριά (nom. -τρια): ποιή-τρια poetess (late), ψάλ-τρια female harper (ψάλλω play the harp, ψαλ-).
3. τειρά (nom. -τειρα from τερ-χα): σώ-τειρα fem. of σω-τῆρ, δό-τειρα fem. of δο-τῆρ.
4. τιδ (nom. -τις): ἐκ-έ-τις female suppliant fem. of ἐκ-έ-τῆς.

c. The same root or verb-stem may have different suffixes denoting the agent: γεν-έ-της, γεν-ε-τήρ, γεν-έ-τωρ begetter; μαθ-η-τρίς, or μαθ-ή-τρια female pupil, fem. of μαθ-η-τῆς.

d. Words in -τηρ, -τρης, -ευς are oxytone. Words in -τωρ, -τειρα, -τρια have recessive accent. Words in -της are oxytone or paroxytone.

e. See also ον (nom. -ων) 861. 18.

840. NAMES OF ACTIONS AND ABSTRACT SUBSTANTIVES

a. Substantives denoting actions often express abstract ideas, and names of actions and verbal abstracts are often used concretely. The following suffixes (except μο, nominative -μός, and εω, nominative -εω) form feminines; all are primary except ῖα in some words.

1. τι (nom. -τις): πειθ-τις faith (πειθ-ω persuade, πιθ-), φά-τις rumour (φημί say, φά-).
2. σι (nom. -σις): λέξις style (λέγ-ω speak), ποίη-σις poetry (ποιέ-ω make), φθι-σις decay (φθί-νω decay), δίδ-σις act of giving or gift (δί-δω-μι give, δο-, δω-), θέ-σις placing (τι-θῆ-μι place, θε-, θη-), τά-σις tension (for τῆ-σις 85 b, from τείνω stretch, τεν-). σι is derived from τι after a vowel (115).
3. ῖα (nom. -ῖα): in substantives from verbs in -αῖω out of -αδ-ιω; as δοκιμασίᾱ examination (δοκιμάζω examine, δοκ μαδ-).
4. τω (nom. -τός 863 a. 17): rare, poetic and dialectic, ἐδ-η-τός eating (poet. ἔδ-ω eat), βοη-τός shouting (βοά-ω shout).
5. μο (nom. -μός, masc.): διωγ-μός pursuit (διώκ-ω pursue), πταρ-μός sneezing (πτάρ-νυ-μαι sneeze). On θ-μο see 832, σ-μο 836, τ-μο 837. Cp. 861. 1.

6. πᾶ (nom. -μη): γνώ-μη knowledge (γι-γνώ-σκω know), φή-μη report, omen (φή-μι say), τι-μή honour (poet. τι-ω honour), μνή-μη memory (μυ-μνή-σκω remind). See also 861. 1.
7. πα (nom. -μᾶ): τόλ-μα daring (τλή-ναι dare).
8. φο (nom. -ος, neut.): δέ-ος fear, ῥίγ-ος cold.
9. ια (nom. -ιᾶ): primitive, from verb-stems, as μαρ-ιᾶ madness (μαίνομαι rage, madden). Denominative: ἡγεμον-ιᾶ sovereignty (ἡγεμών leader), εὐεργεσία kind service (εὐεργετ-ια from εὐεργέτης doer of good deeds). Without any noun-stem: πολιορκία siege (πολιορκέω besiege). Verbs in -εω derived from substantives, as παιδεύ-ω educate (παῖς child), show abstracts in -εῖα for ε(υ)-ιᾶ (43): παιδείᾶ education, στρατεῖᾶ campaign (στρατεύομαι take the field), βασιλείᾶ reign, kingdom (βασίλευ-ω am king).
10. α, α: see 859. 1, 2.

b. Many feminine substantives expressing the abstract notion of the adjective are derived from adjective stems (a few from substantive or verb stems). Many of these denominatives express quality, cp. Eng. -ness, -hood.

1. ια (nom. -ιᾶ): from adjectives in -ης and -ος, -ους, as ἀλήθεια truth for ἀληθεσ-ια from ἀληθής true; ἔνδεια want for ἐνδε(ε)σ-ια from ἐνδεής needy, 44 a, 292 d; εὐνοια kindness for εὐνο(ο)-ια from εὐνοος kind.
2. ια (nom. -ιᾶ): εὐδαιμον-ιᾶ happiness (εὐδαίμων happy), συμμαχία alliance (σύμμαχος fighting along with), σοφ-ιᾶ wisdom (σοφός wise). Since τ becomes σ before ιᾶ we have ἀθανασία immortality (ἀθάνατος immortal). Cp. 859. 6.
3. συνια (nom. -σύνη): δικαιο-σύνη justice (δικαιο-ς just). Abstracts in -συνη are properly fem. of adj. in -συνος, as γηθο-σύνη joy (γηθό-συνος joyful). -σύνη by analogy in μαντ-σύνη art of divination (μάντις seer). See 865. 7.
4. της (nom. -της): φιλό-της, -τητος friendship (φιλος friend), ἰσό-της, -τητος equality (ἰσο-ς equal), νεό-της youth (νέος young), παχύ-της thickness (παχύς thick).
5. αδ (nom. -άς): abstract substantives of number, as τρι-άς, -άδος triad (τρεῖς). μόν-άς, -άδος unit (μόνος alone, single). See also 863 b. 8.

c. Some neuter abstracts express quality: τάχ-ος speed (ταχύς swift), εὐρ-ος width (εὐρύς broad). See 840 a. 8.

d. A feminine adjective is used substantively in poet. πινυτή wisdom from πινυτός wise; with recessive accent in ἔχθρᾶ enmity from ἐχθρός hostile, θερμῆ warmth from θερμός warm.

e. Some compound adjectives in -ής yield (by analogy) abstracts in -ιᾶ not in -εῖα; as δρυχία misfortune from δρυχ-ής unfortunate. Fluctuation often occurs, as in κακοῦθεια κακοθηῖα malignity from κακο-ῆθης ill-disposed; Old Attic ἀληθειᾶ (= Ion. ἀληθειῇ) for ἀλήθεια.

841.

ion), θεράπ-αινα handmaid (θεράπ-ων attendant), Λάκ-αινα woman of Laconia (Λάκ-ων a Laconian). By analogy, in o stems: λύκ-αινα she-wolf (λύκο-ς). -αινα stands for -αν-ία, -αν being a weak form of -ων (833 e, 35 b).

N. — Names of dealers in anything usually end in -πώλης, -ου; fem. -πωλῖς, -ίδος (πωλέω sell), as βιβλιο-πώλης bookseller (βιβλίο-ν book), σίτο-πώλης grain-dealer (σίτο-ς grain), ἀρτό-πωλῖς bread-woman (ἀρτο-ς bread). Cp. also καπηλῖς under id.

844.

- a. The endings -ιτης, -ωτης are due to analogy; see 843 a. N.

PATRONYMICS

Patronymics, or denominative proper names denoting descent from a father or ancestor, are formed from proper names of persons by means of the following suffixes:

1. ῥῆ (nom. -δης, masc.), δ (nom. -ς, fem.):

Βορέᾶ-δης son of Boreas fem. Βορέᾶ-ς, -δος from Βορέᾱ-ς

Stems in ā shorten ā to a; from such forms arose

2. ᾱδῆ (nom. -ᾱδης, masc.), ᾱδ (nom. -ᾱς, fem.):

Θεστι-ᾱδης son of Thestius fem. Θεστι-ᾱς, -ᾱδος from Θέστιω-ς

From this type arose a new formation:

3. ιδῆ (nom. -ιδης, masc.), ιδῆ (nom. -ιάς, fem.):

Φεργη-ιδῆς son of Pheres fem. Φεργη-ιάς, -ιάδ-ος from Φέρης (-ητος)

Περση-ιδῆς son of Perseus (fem. Περση-ίς, -ιδ-ος) from Περσεύ-ς

Τελαμων-ιδῆς son of Telamon from Τελαμών (-ωνος)

4. ιδ (nom. -ιδης, masc.), ιδ (nom. -ις, fem.):

Τανταλ-ιδης	son of Tantalus	fem. Τανταλ-ις , -ιδ-ος from Τάνταλος

Λητο-ιδης	son of Leto	fem. Λητω-ις , -ιδ-ος from Λητώ (379)

Stems in ο drop ο; stems in ευ (ην) drop υ; stems in αι (ωι) drop ι.

5. ιον or ιων (poetic and rare; nom. -ιων, masc.):

6. ιων or ιν (poetic and rare; nom. -ιωνη or -ινη, fem.):

Ἀκρισ-ιωνη daughter of Ἀκρίσιος      Ἀδρηστ-ινη daughter of Ἀδρηστο-

846. Variations occur especially in poetry: a. Hom. Πηλε-ιδης, Πηλε-τδης, Πηλη-ιδδης, and Πηλε-των, son of Πηλεύς; Ἄτρε-ιδης, Ἄτρε-τδης, and Ἄτρε-των, son of Ἄτρεύς.

b. Two patronymic endings: Ταλα-ιον-ιδης son of Ταλαός.

847. A patronymic may include the father, as Πεισιστρατῖδαι the Peisistratidae (Peisistratus and his sons).

848. Most genuine patronymics are poetical and belong to the older language. In the classical period patronymics rarely indicate descent in the case of historical persons; as Εὐρίπιδης, Ἀριστείδης.

849. Metronymics denote descent from the mother, as Δᾶνα-τδης son of Δᾶνᾱ, Φίλυρ-ιδης son of Φιλύρᾱ.

850. Relationship is sometimes denoted by the suffixes ιδε (nom. -ιδεύς son of) and ιδῆ (nom. -ιδῆ daughter of); as ἀδελφ-ιδούς nephew, ἀδελφ-ιδῆ niece (ἀδελφός brother).

PLACE

851. Place may be expressed by the secondary suffixes

DIMINUTIVES

852. Diminutives are denominatives formed from the stems of substantives by various secondary suffixes.

1. ις (nom. -ιος, neut.): παιδ-ιο-ν little child (παῖς, παιδ-ής), ὀρνιθ-ιο-ν small bird (ὄρνις, ὀρνιθος), ἀσπιδ-ιο-ν small shield (ἀσπίς, ἀσπίδ-ος).

N.—Trisyllabic words are paroxytone if the first syllable is long by nature or position.

2. ιδ-ιο (nom. -ιδιον, neut.): derived from such words as ἀσπιδ-ιο-ν; as ξίφ-ιδιο-ν dagger (ξίφος sword, stem ξίφεσ-), βο-ιδιο-ν small cow (βοῦς), οἰκίδιο-ν small house, οἶκι + ιδιον (οἰκία), ἰχθῦδι-ον small fish (ἰχθύς). See 833 b.

6. ωκο, ωκία (nom. -ισκος, masc., -ισκη, fem.): ἀνθρωπ-ισκος manikin, παιδ-ισκος young boy, παιδ-ισκη young girl. From this comes -ισκ-ιο in ἀσπιδ-ισκιο-ν small shield.

853. Many other diminutives occur, as ακνῆ: in πιθάκη wine-jar (πίθος); αἰ, ἰς: in ἑμαξίς, -ιδος small wagon (ἑμαξα), νησις, -ῶτος islet (νῆσος); ιδ-εν: of the young of animals, as λυκ-ιδεύς wolf's whelp (λύκος), also ὠιδεύς son's son, grand-son (οἶος); ιχο: ὀρτάλιχος young bird (ὀρτάλις) chick; ιχνῆ: κυλίχη (and κυλίχιον, κυλίχης) small cup (κύλιξ). Rare or late are -ακίδιον, -άσιον, -άφιον, -ιδάριον, -ισκάριον, ιον, 861. 19, -ύλος, and over 25 others. See λο, 860. 1.

854. Diminutives are often combined: παιδ-ισκ-άριον stripling, μειράκ-ιον, μειρακ-ίσκος, μειρακ-ύλλ-ιον, μειρακ-υλλ-ιδιον stripling (μειράξ lass), χλαν-ισκ-ιδιον cloaklet (χλάνις), ζυθάρμιον insect (ζῷον animal).

855. Some words, especially such as denote parts of the body, are diminutive in form, but not in meaning; as κράνιον skull, θηρίον beast (= θήρ), πίδιον plait (πίδος ground), all in Homer, who has no diminutives. Diminutives often employed tend to lose their diminutive value.

856. Diminutives may express affection, familiarity, daintiness, and sometimes pity or contempt (cp. dar-ling, lord-ling). See the examples under 852, and also πατρ-ιδιον daddy (πατήρ), ἀδελφ-ιδιο-ν dear little brother, Σωκρατ-ιδιον dear Socky, ἀνθρώπ-ιον manikin. Some endings often have an ironical force, as πλούτ-ᾶξ rich churi, γάστρ-ων fat-belly.

FORMATION OF ADJECTIVES

857. Adjectives are formed by the same suffixes as are used in substantives, the same formation producing in one case a substantive, in another an adjective. Many words formed with certain suffixes (ω, μω, νο, ρα, το) are used as adjectives or as abstract substantives (usually feminine or neuter). Thus φιλία friendly or friendship; so στέφανος crown (στέφω encircle) was originally an adjective. Many suffixes have no characteristic signification.

Adjectives are either primitive (from roots or verb-stems) or denominative (from substantives or other adjectives). But this distinction is often obliterated and difficult to determine.

858. The following are the chief adjectival suffixes:

1. ο, α (nom. -ο-s, -η or -ᾱ, -ο-ν): primary: λοιπ-ός remaining (λείπ-ω leave, λείπ-, λειπ-, λοιπ-); λευκ-ός bright (λέσσω shine, λευκ-ω).
2. ω, ιω: a common suffix expressing that which pertains or belongs in any way to a person or thing. By union with a preceding stem vowel we have αίω, εἰω, οἰω, φῶ, υἰω.

Primary (rare): ἄγ-ω-s sacred (ἄγος expiation); with a comparative force: ἄλλος other (ἄλ-ω-s alius), μέσος middle (μεθ-ω-s medius, 113).

Secondary in τιμ-ω-s worthy, costly (τιμή honour); φιλ-ω-s friendly (φίλο-s dear); ὄρθ-ω-s steep (ὄρθ-s straight); πλούσ-ω-s rich (πλοῦτο-s riches, 115); δικα-ω-s just (δικ-η right, 834 b); οἰκ-ῖο-s domestic (οἶκος house, 834 f); πάτρ-ω-s hereditary (πατήρ father, πατρ-, 262); βασιλ-ω-s royal (βασίλει-s king); θερε-ω-s of summer (θέρος, stem θερε-s); αἰδο-ῖο-s venerable (αἰδώς shame, stem αἰδο-s, 266); ἥρως heroic (ἥρω-s hero, ἥρω-f, 267); πῆχυ-ω-s a cubit long (πῆχυ-s, 268). The feminines are often abstract substantives, as φιλ-ιά friendship.

- a. The ending -αῖος has been transferred from ᾱ stems, as in χερσ-αῖος of or from dry land (χέρσ-ος). The form ι-αῖος occurs: δραχμ-ιαῖος worth a drachma (δραχμή). -εῖος has become independent in ἀνδρ-εῖος manly (ἀνήρ). On gentiles in -ιος, see 844. 3.
  - b. Ionic η-ῖο (nom. -ῆιος), properly from stems in ευ (γν), as Hom. χαλκῆ-ῖος brazen (pertaining to a χαλκεύ-s brazier; Attic χάλκεος, -οῦς, see 858. 4), βασιλῆ-ῖος royal; and transferred in Ionic to other stems, as in πολεμῆ-ῖος warlike, ἀνθρωπῆ-ῖος human (Attic ἀνθρώπειος), ἀνδρῆ-ῖος manly.
3. εντ for φερτ (nom. -εις) forms denominative adjectives denoting fulness or abundance (mostly poetic).
τιμῆ-εις (τιμῆ-s) honoured, and by analogy δενδρ-ηεις woody (δένδρο-s tree); χαρῆ-εις graceful (χάρι-s), δόλδ-εις wily (δόλο-s), and by analogy αἱματ-όεις bloody (αἷμα, -ατ-ος blood, 834 j), ἰχθυ-όεις full of fish. κρυ-όεις chilling (κρύ-ος chill). Also in εὐρώ-εις mouldy (εὐρώ-s, -ῶτος).
  4. εο (nom. -εος, -οῦς, 290) forms denominative adjectives denoting material: χρῶστος, χρῦστος golden (χρῦσός-s gold).

- a. eo is derived from ε-ω, seen in χρῶσιος (poetic). Here ε is part of the stem (834 f). On -ησιος see 858. 2 b.
5. ω (nom. -ής, -έτι): primitive: ψεύδ-ής false (ψεύδ-ω deceive), σαφ-ής clear, πρην-ής prone, ὕγι-ής healthy. Very common in compounds, as ἀσφαλ-ής unharmed, secure (ἀ-priv. + σφαλ- in σφάλλω trip).
6. ω, αω, ωο (nom. -κος, very common, cp. 864. 1): many denominatives formed by these suffixes denote relation, many others fitness or ability.
- a. Denominatives: μαντι-κό-ς prophetic (μάντι-ς prophet); φυσι-κό-ς natural (φύσι-ς nature); θηλυ-κό-ς feminine (θῆλυ-ς female); Δαρείω-κό-ς Darcic (Δαρείω-ς Darius).
- b. From φυσι-κό-ς, etc., ωο was taken as an independent suffix in μουσ-ικό-ς musical (μουσα muse); βαρβαρ-ικό-ς barbaric (βάρβαρο-ς barbarian, foreigner); διδασκαλ-ικό-ς able to teach (διδάσκαλο-ς teacher); μαθηματ-ικό-ς fond of learning (μάθημα, -ματος thing learnt); Κεραμε-ικό-ς Potters' quarter, Ceramicus (κεραμεύ-ς potter); βασιλ-ικό-ς royal (βασιλεύ-ς king); ἥρω-ικό-ς heroic, from ἥρω(ς), -ος hero; Ἀχαι-ικό-ς or Ἀχᾶ-ικό-ς (38) Achaeian (Ἀχαιώ-ς Achaeian).
- N.—ἀρχ-ικό-ς able to rule (ἀρχ-ή), γραφ-ικό-ς able to write or draw (γραφ-ή), need not be derived directly from the root.
- c. Κορινθι-ακό-ς Corinthian (Κορίνθ-ιος Corinthian); σπονδει-ακό-ς consisting of spondees (σπονδ-εῖος spondee).
- d. τ-ικό represents ικό added to the verbal in τῶ (cp. also μαθηματ-ικό-ς). Thus, λεκ-τικ-ό-ς suited to speaking (λέγ-ω speak); αἰσθη-τικ-ό-ς capable of feeling (αἰσθ-άνομαι feel); ἀριθμη-τικ-ό-ς skilled in numbering (ἀριθ-μέω to number); πράκ-τικ-ό-ς practical, able to do (πράττω do); σκεπ-τικ-ό-ς reflective (σκεπ-τ-ομαι look carefully, consider). Added to a noun-stem: ναυ-τικ-ό-ς nautical (ναῦ-ς ship).
7. λο (nom. -λο-ς): primary (usually active) and secondary. Cp. 860. 1. ## DENOMINATIVE VERBS

The formation of primitive verbs (372) is treated in 496-529, 607-624, 722-743.

866. Denominative verbs are formed from the stems of nouns (substantives or adjectives). Verbs lacking such a noun-stem are made on the model of the ordinary denominative verb. The principal terminations are as follows:

1. -αω: derived chiefly from words with  $\bar{a}$  stems (a few from words of the second declension). Verbs in  $-αω$  denote to do, to be, or to have, that which is expressed by the stem.

τίμά-ω honour (τιμή, stem τιμά-), ἀριστά-ω breakfast (ἀριστο-ν breakfast), τολμά-ω dare (τόλμα daring, stem τολμά-), κομά-ω wear long hair (κόμη hair). κοιμά-ω, lull to sleep, has no primitive noun.

On  $-αω$  and  $-αω$  denoting a desire or a bodily condition, see 868 b.

2. -εω: derived chiefly from  $\%$ -stems (834 f), and thence extended to all kinds of stems. Verbs in  $-εω$  denote a condition or an activity, and are often intransitive.

οἰκέ-ω dwell (οἶκος house, οἰκ%-), φιλέ-ω love (φίλος dear, φιλ%-), ὑπηρετέω serve (ὑπηρέτης servant, ὑπερετά-), εὐτυχετέω am fortunate (εὐτυχής fortunate, εὐτυχες-), μισέ-ω hate (μίσος hate, μῖσος-), σωφρονέω am temperate (σώφρων), μαρτυρέω bear witness (μάρτυς, -υρ-ος).

a. Some  $εω$ -verbs from  $εσ$ -stems have older forms in  $-είω$  (624 a).

3. -οω: chiefly derived from  $ο$ -stems. Verbs in  $-οω$  are usually factitive, denoting to cause or to make.

δηλό-ω manifest, make clear (δῆλος), δουλό-ω enslave (δοῦλος), ζηλό-ω emulate (ζῆλος emulation), ζημιό-ω punish (ζημία damage), μαστιγέω whip (μάστιξ, -ίγος whip). ἀρόω plough has no primitive.

On the formation of the present stem of verbs in  $-αω$ ,  $-εω$ ,  $-οω$ , see 522.

4. -ευω: derived from substantives from  $ευ$ -stems (607) and thence extended to other stems.  $ευω$ -verbs usually denote a condition, sometimes an activity.

βασιλεύ-ω am king, rule (βασιλεύς), βουλεύ-ω counsel (βουλή), κινδυνεύ-ω venture, incur danger (κινδύνος), παιδεύ-ω educate (παῖς boy, girl), θεραπεύ-ω attend (θεράπων attendant).

5. -υω (rare): from  $υ$ -stems, as δακρύ-ω weep (δάκρυ tear). Cp. 608.

6. -ίζω, -ιζω: derived originally from stems in  $\delta$  or  $\gamma$  (as ἐλπίζω hope = ἐλπιδ-ω, ἀπαράζω seize = ἀπαργ-ω), and thence widely extended to other stems (cp. 623  $\delta$ ,  $\gamma$ ). Such verbs denote action.

γυμνάζω exercise (γυμνάς, -άδ-ος stripped, naked); ἀναγκάζω compel (ἀνάγκη necessity); ἀτιμάζω dishonour (ἀτίμος); βιάζομαι use force (βία force); θαυμάζω wonder (θαῦμα); φροντίζω take care (φροντίς); ὕβριζω insult (ὕβρις outrage); νομίζω consider (νόμος custom, law); τοιχίζω fortify (τείχος wall, stem τειχεσ-); χαρίζομαι do a favour (χάρις, -ιτος favour).

βαθύνω deepen (βαθύς deep), ταχύνω hasten (ταχύς swift), αἰσχύνω disgrace (αἶσχος shame), θαρσύνω encourage (θάρρος courage).

9. On other denominatives in λω, νω, ρω, see 620, III; on inceptives see 526-528.

10. Parallel formations are frequent, often with different meanings.

ἀριστάω take a midday meal, ἀριστίζω give a midday meal; ἀτιμάω, (poet.) ἀτιμῶ, ἀτιμάζω dishonour; δουλόω enslave, δουλεύω am a slave; εὐδαιμονέω am happy, εὐδαιμονίζω account happy, congratulate; θαρρέω am courageous, θαρρύνω encourage; ὀρκέω, ὀρκίζω make one swear an oath; ὀρμάω urge on, ὀρμαίνω (poet.) ponder; ὀρμέω lie at anchor, ὀρμίζω anchor trans. # COMPOUND WORDS

869. A compound word is formed by the union of two or more parts; as λογο-γράφος speech-writer, δι-έξοδος outlet (lit. way out through).

a. Compounds of three or more parts usually fall into two separate units; as βατραχο-μύο-μαχία battle of the frogs-and-mice. Such compounds are common in comedy; as στρεφο-δικο-πανουργία rascally perversion of justice.

b. In a compound word two or more members are united under one accent; as in blackberry contrasted with black berry. Most compounds in Greek, an inflected language, are genuine compounds, not mere word-groups such as are common in English, which is for the most part devoid of inflections.

c. Every compound contains a defining part and a defined part. The defining part usually precedes: εὐ-τυχής fortunate, as opposed to δυσ-τυχής unfortunate. The parts of a compound stand in various syntactical relations to each other, as that of adjective or attributive genitive to a substantive, or that of adverb or object to a verb, etc. Compounds may thus be regarded as abbreviated forms of syntax. Cp. 895 a, 897 N. 1.

FIRST PART OF A COMPOUND

870. The first part of a compound may be a noun-stem, a verb-stem, a numeral, a preposition or adverb, or an inseparable prefix.

a. The use of stems in composition is a survival of a period in the history of language in which inflections were not fully developed.

FIRST PART A NOUN-STEM

871. First Declension (ā-stems).—The first part may

a. end in ā or η (rarely): ἀγορᾶ-νόμος clerk of the market (ἀγορά), νίκη-φόρος bringing victory (νίκη).

b. end in o: δικο-γράφος writer of law-speeches (δίκη justice). Here o is substituted for ā of the stem by analogy to o-stems.

N.—Compounds of γῆ earth have γεω- (for γη- by 34); as γεω-μέτρης surveyor (land-measurer); μετρέω measure). Doric has γᾶ-μέτρης. Cp. 224 a.

c. lose its vowel before a vowel: κεφαλ-αλγής causing head-ache (κεφαλή head, ἄλγος pain).

872. Second Declension (o-stems).—The first part may

a. end in o: λογο-γράφος speech-writer.

b. end in ā or η (rarely): ἐλαφν-βόλος deer-shooting (ἐλαφος, βάλλω). Here η is due to the analogy of ā-stems.

c. lose o before a vowel: μὀν-αρχος monarch (sole ruler: μόνος alone, ἄρχω rule).

N.—Words of the 'Attic' declension may end in ω, as ρεω-κόρος custodian of a temple (ρεός).

873. Third Declension (consonant stems).—The first part may

- a. show the stem (ι, υ, αυ, ου): μαντι-πόλο-ς inspired (μάντι-ς seer, πείλω, cp. -κολος), ιχθυ-βόλο-ς catching-fish (ιχθύς, βάλλω), βου-κόλο-ς ox-herd (βοῦ-ι, -κολο-ι, cp. Lat. colo, and 131).

N.—A few consonant stems retain the consonant: μελάγ-χολο-ς dipped in black bile (μελάς, χολή). See also 876.

- b. add ο to the stem: σωματ-ο-φύλαξ body-guard (σῶμα body, φυλάττω guard), μητρ-ό-πολις mother-city, metropolis (μήτηρ, πόλις), φυσι-ο-λόγο-ς natural philosopher (φύσι-ις nature), ιχθυ-ο-πώλη-ς fishmonger (ιχθύς, πωλέω sell).
- c. add ᾱ (rarely η): ποδ-ά-νιπτρο-ν water for washing the feet (ποῦς, νίπτω), λαμπαδ-η-δρομῖα torch-race.

874. Compounds of πᾶς all usually show πᾶν, as πάν-σοφο-ς (and πᾶς-σοφο-ς 101 b) all-wise, παρ-ρησιᾶ frankness ('all-speaking'); but also παντ- in πάντ-αρχο-ς all-ruling; and παντ-ο- in παντ-ο-πώλιο-ν bazaars (πωλέω sell).

875. Neuter stems in ματ usually show ματ-ο, as ἀγαματ-ο-ποιό-ς sculptor (ἀγαλμα statue, ποιέω make). Some have μα, as ὄνομα-κλυτό-ς of famous name; some show μο for ματο, as αἰμο-ρραγία hemorrhage (αἷμα, -ατος blood, ρήγνυμι break, 80).

876. Stems in εσ (nom. -ης or -ος) usually drop εσ and add ο; as ψευδ-ο-μαρτυρία false testimony (ψευδ-ής); and so stems in ασ, as κρεο-φάγο-ς flesh-eating (κρέας, φαγεῖν 529. 5). Some stems in εσ and ασ retain εσ and ασ (in poetry), as σάκεο-πάλο-ς wielding a shield (σάκος, πάλλω), σελασ-φόρο-ς light-bringing (σέλας, φέρω); some add ι (for sake of the metre), as ὄρεσ-ι-τροφο-ς mountain-bred (ὄρος, τρέφω); these may belong to 879.

877. Other abbreviations: γαλα-θηνό-ς nurse (γαλακτ- milk, θή-σθαι give suck), μελι-ηδής honey-sweet (μελιτ-), κελαι-νεφής black with clouds from κελαινό-ς black (cp. 129 c) and νέφος cloud.

878. Words once beginning with φ or σ.—When the second part consists of a word beginning with digamma, a preceding vowel is often not elided: κακο-εργό-ς (Epic) doing ill (later κακούργος) from φέρω-ν work; μηρο-ειδής crescent-shaped (μήνη moon, φειδός shape); τιμᾶ-ορο-ς (later τιμωρός) avenging (τιμῆ honour, φορέω observe, defend).—Compounds of -οχος, from ἔχω have (orig. σέχω, -οχος) contract: κληροῦχο-ς holding an allotment of land (κλήρο-ι lot), πολι-οῦχο-ς protecting a city (for πολι-ο-οχος).

879. Flectional Compounds.—A compound whose first part is a case form, not a stem, is called a flectional compound (cp. sportsman, kinsfolk): (1) nominative: τρεῖς-καί-δεκα thirteen; (2) genitive: Διόσ-κουροι Dioscuri (sons of Zeus), Ἑλλήσ-ποντος Helle's sea, Πελοπόν-νησος (for Πελοπος-νησος, 105 a) Pelops' island; (3) dative: δορί-ληπτος won by the spear; (4) locative: ὁδοι-πόρο-ς wayfarer, Πυλοῖ-γενής born in Pylus.—From such compounds derivatives may be formed, as Ἑλλησπόντιος of the Hellespont, θεοσεχθρία hatred of the gods.

FIRST PART A VERB-STEM

880. Some compounds have as their first part a verb-stem (cp. break-water, pick-pocket, catch-penny). Such compounds are usually poetic adjectives. The verb-stem is usually transitive and has the form that appears in the present or aorist.

881. Before a vowel the verb-stem remains unchanged or drops a final vowel; before a consonant it adds ε, ο, or ι: φέρ-ασπις shield-bearing, μισ-άνθρω-τοι man-hating (μισέ-ω), ἐκ-ε-χειρῶ (125 d) holding of hands, truce, λιπ-ο-στρατιά desertion of the army, ἵκ-ε-βουλος prevailing in the Senate, ἀρχ-ι-τέκτων master-builder.

882. The verb-stem adds σι (before a vowel, σ). Some insert ε before σι (σ): σω-σι-πολις saving the state (σώζω), βή-σπις craven, lit. throwing away a shield (βή-τ-ω), δηξι-θύμος (and δακ-έ-θύμος) heart-eating (δάκ-ν-ω), ἐλκ-ε-σί-τελος with long train, lit. trailing the robe (cp. ἐλκ-ε-χίτων)

a. This ε is the vowel added in many verb-stems (485).

FIRST PART A NUMERAL

883. The first part of a compound is often a numeral: δί-πους biped, τρί-πους tripod (having three feet), τέθρ-ιππον four-horse chariot, πέντ-ἄθλον contest in five events.

FIRST PART A PREPOSITION OR ADVERB

884. A preposition or adverb is often the first part of a compound: εἰσ-οδος entrance, ἀπο-φείγω flee from, εὐ-τυχής happy, ἀει-μνηστος ever to be remembered.

a. Except when the substantive is treated as a verbal (as in εἰσ-οδος entrance, cp. εἰσ-ίειναι enter), prepositions are rarely compounded with substantives. Thus, σύν-δουλος fellow-slave, ὑπο-διδάσκαλος (= ὁ ὑπὸ τινι δ.) under-teacher; also ἰπρ-λέυκος whitish.

b. The ordinary euphonic changes occur. Observe that πρό before may contract with ο or ε to ου: προέχω or προῦχω hold before (cp. 449 b). See 124 a.

c. η sometimes is inserted after a preposition or takes the place of a final vowel: ὑπερ-ή-φανος conspicuous, ἐπ-ή-βολος having achieved.

d. Akin to adverbial compounds are some in φιλ-ο, as φιλο-μαθής one who gladly learns.

FIRST PART AN INSEPARABLE PREFIX

885. Several prefixes occur only in composition:

1. ἀ(ν)- (ἀν- before a vowel, δ- before a consonant; alpha privative) with a negative force like Lat. in-, Eng. un- (or -less): ἀν-άξιος unworthy (= οὐκ ἄξιος), ἀν-όμοιος unlike, ἀν-ώδυνος anodyne (ὀδύνη pain, cp. 887), ἀ-νομις silly, ἀ-τιμος unhonoured, ἀ-θεος godless, γάμος ἀγαμος marriage that is no marriage. ἀ- is also found before words once beginning with digamma or sigma: ἀ-ηδής unpleasant (ἡδύς), ἀ-όρατος unseen (φωράω), ἀ-σπλος without shields (σπλον), and, by contraction with the following vowel, ἄκων (ἀ-τέκων unwilling). But ἀν- often appears: ἀν-ελπίστος (and ἀ-ελπίστος) unhoped for (ἐλπής), ἀν-σπλος without shield.

a. δ-, ἀν- (for γ, 35 b) represent weak forms of I. E. ne 'not.'

2. ἡμι- half (Lat. semi-): ἡμι-κύκλιος semi-circular (κύκλιος), ἡμι-θλιος half as much again (θλιος whole), ἡμι-θνήs half-dead.
3. δυσ- (opposed to εὖ well) ill, un-, mis-, denoting something difficult, bad, or unfortunate, as δυσ-τυχής unfortunate, δυσ-χερής hard to manage, δυσ-δαίμων of ill fortune (contrast εὖ-τυχής, εὖ-χερής, εὖ-δαίμων), δυσ-άρεστος ill-pleased, Δύσ-παριs ill-starred Paris.
4. δ- (or δ-) copulative denotes union, likeness (cp. Lat. con-); δ-κόλουθος attendant, agreeing with (κείμενος path: i.e. going on the same road), δ-τάλαντος of the same weight, δ-πᾶs all together. A variation of δ-copulative is δ-intensive: δ-τετής stretched (τείνει stretch), δ-πεδός level (πίεσιs ground).
  - a. δ-copulative stands for σα- (from συμ 20, 35 c), and is connected with δμα, ὁμοῦ, and ὁμο- together.
5. νη- (poetic) with the force of a negative (cp. Lat. nē): νη-ποιος unavenged (ποιή punishment), νη-πενθής freeing from pain and sorrow (πένθος). In some cases νη- may be derived from ν (not) and the η of the second part, as ν-ῆστis not eating (poetic ἔδ-ω, cp. 387).
6. ἀρι-, ἐρι- (poetic) with intensive force (cp. ἀρι-στος best), ἀρι-πρετής very distinguished (πρέπω), ἐρι-τίμος precious.
7. ἀγα- (poetic) intensive (cp. ἀγαν very): ἀγά-στονος loud wailing (στένω groan).
8. [α-, δα- (poetic) intensive (for δια = δια- very, 116): [α-μαρής very courageous (μέτροs courage), δά-σκιος thick-shaded (σκιᾶ).

LAST PART OF A COMPOUND

386. Compound Substantives and Adjectives.—The last part of a noun-compound consists of a noun-stem or of a verb-stem with a noun-suffix.

387. Nouns beginning with α, ε, ο lengthen these vowels (α and ε to η, ο to ω) unless they are long by position. στρατ-ηγός army-leading, general (στρατός, άγω), εὖ-ήνεμος with fair wind (εὖ well, άνεμος), ξεν-ηλασία driving out of foreigners (ξένος, έλαύνω), άν-ώνυμος nameless (άν-, όνομα), άν-ώμαλος uneven (άν-, όμαλός).

a. Some compounds of άγω lead show α: λοχ-αγός captain (λόχος company).

b. By analogy to the compound the simple form sometimes assumes a long vowel: άνεμύεσσα windy. Cp. 28 D.

c. Lengthening rarely occurs when a preposition or πᾶs precedes: συν-ωμοσία conspiracy (δυνῖμι swear), παν-ήγυριs general assembly (άγυριs = άγορά).

d. The lengthening in 387 is properly the result of early contraction (στρατο + αγος). On the pattern of such contracted forms irrational lengthening occurs when the first part of the compound ends in a consonant, as δυσ-ηλεγής (for δυσ-αλογής) cruel from άλέγω care for.

388. A noun forming the last part of a compound often changes its final syllable.

N. Masculine or feminine nouns of the second or third declensions usually remain unaltered: έρ-θεος inspired, ά-παιs childless.

a. -ος, -η, -ον: form compound adjectives from nouns of the first declension, neuters of the second declension, nouns of the third declension, and from many verb-stems. δ-τιμος dishonoured (τιμή), σύν-δειπνος companion at table (δειπνόν meal), ἀν-αιμος bloodless (αἷμα, 876), ἑκατόν-χειρος hundred-handed (χείρ), δασυ-φόρος bringing tribute (φέρω), γεω-γράφος geographer 871 b. N. (γράφω), ἰχθυο-φάγος fish-eating (φαγεῖν 529. 5).

b. -ης, -ες: form compound adjectives from nouns of the first and third declensions, and from many verb-stems: ἀ-τυχής unfortunate (τύχη), δεκα-ετής of ten years (έτος), εὐ-αΐδής beautiful in form (εἶδος), εὐ-μαθής quick at learning (μαθάνω, μαθ-), ἀ-φανής invisible (φαίνω, φαν-).

c. Other endings are -ης (gen. -ου), -της, -τηρ: γεω-μέτρης surveyor (871 b. N.), νομο-θέτης law-giver (νόμος, τίθημι, θε-), μηλο-βοτήρ shepherd (μήλος, βόσκω feed).

d. Neuters in -μα make adjectives in -μων: πράγμα thing, ἀ-πράγμων inactive. φρήν mind becomes φρων: εὐ-φρων well-minded, cheerful.—πατήρ father becomes πάτωρ: ἀ-πάτωρ fatherless, φιλο-πάτωρ loving his father.

e. Compounds of γῆ land end in -γειος, -γειω: κατά-γειω subterranean, λεπτό-γειω of thin soil.—Compounds of ναῦς ship, κέρας horn, γῆρας old age end in -ως, as περι-νεως supercargo, ὑψί-κερω lofty-antlered (163 a), ἀ-γήρω free from old age.

889. The last member of a compound is often a verbal element that is not used separately: ἀγαλματ-ο-ποιός statue-maker, sculptor, ὑπ-ήκοος subject (ἀκούω hear, ἀκήκοα), λογο-γράφος speech-writer. -φορος bringing, -δομος building, -δρομος running are used separately in the meanings tribute, building, race.

890. An abstract word can enter into composition only by taking a derivative ending (usually -ια) formed from a real or assumed compound adjective: ναῦς ship, μάχη fight = ναῦ-μαχος, whence ναυ-μαχία naval battle; εὖ well, βουλή counsel = εὐ-βουλος, whence εὐ-βουλία good counsel; ἀν- neg., ἀρχή rule = ἀν-αρχος, whence ἀν-αρχία anarchy; εὖ well, πράξις doing = *εὐπράξις, whence εὐ-πράξια well-doing. Contrast εὐ-βουλία with προ-βουλή forethought, εὐ-λογία eulogy with πρό-λογος prologue.

a. Only after a preposition does an abstract word remain unchanged: προ-βουλή forethought. Exceptions are rare: μισθο-φόρᾱ receipt of wages (μισθός, φόρᾱ).

891. Compound Verbs.—Verbs can be compounded directly only by prefixing a preposition, as συμ-μάχομαι fight along with.

a. A preposition (πρό-θεσις) derived its name from this use as a prefix. Originally all prepositions were adverbs modifying the verb, and in Homer are partly so used. See 1638, 1639. Cp. upheave and heave up.

892. All compound verbs not compounded with prepositions are denominatives (ending in -ω) and formed from real or assumed compound nouns. From ναῦς ship and μάχη fight comes ναύμαχος fighting in ships, whence ναυμαχέω fight in ships; so οἰκοδομέω build a house from οἰκο-δόμος house-builder (οἶκος, δέμω). Contrast ἀνα-τεῖλω bring over, convince with ἀ-πιστέω disbelieve (ἀ-πισ-τος); ἀντι-λέγω speak against with ὁμο-λογέω agree (ὁμόλογος agreeing).—εὖ ἀγγέλλω announce good news cannot form a verb εὐαγγέλλω.

a. ἀτίμως (ἀτίω) dishonour, δακρυχέω shed tears are exceptions. ἀν-ομοίω make unlike is not from ἀν- and ὁμοίω but from ἀν-ομοίως unlike.

ACCENT OF COMPOUNDS

893. Compounds generally have recessive accent, as φιλό-τιμος loving-honour (τιμή). But there are many exceptions, e.g. — a. Primitives in -ά, -ή, -ής, -εύς, -μός, and -έος usually keep their accent when compounded; except dissyllabic words in -ά, -ή, -ής whose first part is not a preposition. Thus, κριτής judge, πιοκριτής actor, ονειροκριτής interpreter of dreams.

b. Compound adjectives in -ης, -ες are usually oxytone: εὖ-γενής well-born.

894. Compounds in -ος (not -τος or -κος) formed by the union of a noun or adverb and the stem of a transitive verb are:

a. oxytone, when they have a long penult and an active meaning: στρατ-ηγός general.

b. paroxytone, when they have short penult and an active meaning: πατρο-κτόνος parricide, λιθό-βόλος throwing-stones, λαιμο-τόμος throat-cutting, ὕδρο-φόρος water-carrier.

c. proparoxytone, when they have a short penult and passive meaning: πατρώ-κτονος slain by a father, λιθό-βολος pelted with stones, λαιμό-τομος with throat cut, αὐτό-γραφος written with one's own hand.

N. — Active compounds of -οχος (ἐχ-ω, 878), -αρχος (ἀρχ-ω), -σῦλος (σῦλά-ω rob), -πορθος (πέρθ-ω destroy) are proparoxytone; ἡνι-οχος (rein-holder) chariot-eer, ἵππ-αρχος commander of horses, ιερό-σῦλος temple-robber, πολι-πορθος sacking cities. βαβδούχος staff-bearer (βαβδός) is contracted from βαβδό-οχος.

MEANING OF COMPOUNDS

895. Compound nouns (substantives and adjectives) are divided, according to their meaning, into three main classes: determinative, possessive, and prepositional-phrase, compounds.

a. The logical relation of the parts of compounds varies so greatly that boundary-lines between the different classes are difficult to set up, and a complete formal division is impossible. The poets show a much wider range of usage than the prose-writers.

896. Determinative Compounds. — In most determinative compounds the first part modifies or determines the second part: the modifier stands first, the principal word second.

Thus by hand-work a particular kind of work is meant, as contrasted with machine-work; cp. speech-writer and letter-writer, race-horse and horse-race.

a. The first part may be an adjective, an adverb, a preposition, an inseparable prefix, or, in a few cases, a substantive.

897. There are two kinds of determinative compounds.

(1) Descriptive determinative compounds. — The first part defines or explains the second part in the sense of an adjective or adverb. (This class is less numerous than the second class.)

ἀκρό-πολις upper city, citadel (ἀκρᾶ πόλις), δμώ-δουλος fellow-slave (δμοῦ δουλέων, cp. 885. 4 a), ὀψι-γονος late-born (ὀψέ γενόμενος), προ-βουλή forethought, ἀμφιθέατρον amphitheatre (a place-for-seeing round about), ἀ-γράφος not written (οὐ γεγραμμένος).

a. Copulative compounds are formed by the coördination of two substantives or adjectives: ἰατρὸς-μάρτυς physician and seer, γλυκὸς-πικρὸς sweetly-bitter. Similar is deaf-mute. So also in numerals: δω-δεκα two (and) ten = 12.

b. Comparative compounds (generally poetic) are μελι-γῆδης honey-sweet (μέλι, ἡδύς), ποδ-ήνεμος Iris Iris, with feet swift as the wind. Cp. eagle-eyed, goldfish, blockhead. Such compounds are often possessive (898), as ροδο-δάκτυλος rosy-fingered, χρῦσο-κόμες golden-haired.

(2) Dependent determinative compounds. — A substantive forming either the first or the second part stands in the sense of an oblique case (with or without a preposition) to the other part.

Accusative: λογο-γράφος speech-writer (λόγους γράφων), στρατ-ηγός army-leading, general (στρατὸν ἄγων), φιλ-άνθρωπος loving mankind (φιλῶν ἀνθρώπους), δεισι-δαίμων superstitious (δεδιώς τοὺς δαίμονας); cp. pickpocket, sightseer, pains-taking, soothsayer, laughter-loving.

Genitive: στρατὸς-πέδον camp (στρατοῦ πέδον ground on which an army is encamped). In ἄξιό-λογος worthy of mention (ἄξιός λόγου) the defining part stands second (869 c) and is governed by the adjective part like a preposition (cp. 899). Cp. ringmaster, law-officer, jest-book.

(Ablative): ἀνεμο-σκεπής sheltering from the wind; cp. land-breeze, sea-breeze.

Dative: ἰσο-θεός godlike (ἴσος θεῷ); cp. churchgoer, blood-thirsty.

(Locative): οἰκο-γενής born in the house (ἐν οἷκῳ γενόμενος), ὁδο-πόρος way-farer (879); cp. heart-sick.

N. 1. — The Greeks did not think of any actual case relation as existing in these compounds, and the case relation that exists is purely logical. The same form may be analysed in different ways, as φιλάνθρωπος = φιλῶν ἀνθρώπους or = φίλος ἀνθρώπων.

N. 2. — Such compounds may often be analysed by a preposition and a dependent noun: θεό-δητος god-buill (ὑπὸ τῶν θεῶν δμητός).

898. Possessive Compounds. — In possessive compounds the first part defines the second as in determinatives; but the whole compound is an adjective expressing a quality, with the idea of possession understood. In most possessive compounds the idea of having (ἔχων) is to be supplied.

So, in English, redbreast is a bird having a red breast, the first part being an attribute of the second.

ἀργυρό-τοξος having a silver bow; μακρό-χειρ having long arms, long-armed; θεο-εὐδής having the appearance (εἶδος) of a god, godlike; σώ-φρων having sound mind, temperate; τέτθρ-ιππος having four horses; ὁμό-τροπος of like character (ὁμο- occurs only in compounds, but note ὁμοίος like); πολυ-κέφαλος many-headed; εὐ-τυχής having good fortune, fortunate; δεκα-ετής lasting ten years (cp. a two-year-old); ἀμφι-κίων having pillars round about; ἐν-θεός inspired (having a god within: ἐν αὐτῷ θεῶν ἔχων).

a. Adjectives in -ειδής from ειδος form (αστερο-ειδής star-like, ιχθυο-ειδής fish-like, μην-ο-ειδής crescent, πολυ-ειδής of many kinds, σφαιρο-ειδής spherical) are to be distinguished from those in -ώδης derived from ὀζω smell (883 a).

b. English possessive compounds in -ed apply that ending only to the compound as a whole and not to either member. In Milton: deep-throated, white-handed, open-hearted; in Keats: subtle-cadenced. Besides those in -ed there are others such as Bluebeard.

c. Many possessive compounds begin with δ(ν)- negative or δυο- ill; as δ-παις childless (having no children or not having children, παῖδας οὐκ ἔχων), δ-τιμος dishonoured (having no honour), δός-βουλος ill advised (having evil counsels).

899. Prepositional-phrase Compounds. — Many phrases made of a preposition and its object unite to form a compound and take on adjectival inflection. Such compounds are equivalent to the phrases in question with the idea of being or the like added.

ἀπ-οικος colonist (away from home: ἀπ' οἴκου); ἐγχειρίδιος in the hand, dagger (ἐν χειρὶ); ἐγχώριος native (in the country: ἐν χώρᾳ); ἐπιθαλάττιος dwelling on the coast (ἐπὶ θαλάττῃ); ἐφ' ἑστίας on the hearth (ἐφ' ἑστία); κατάγειος underground, cp. subterranean (κατὰ γῆς); παρά-δοξος contrary to opinion (παρὰ δόξαν); παρά-φρων out of one's mind, Lat. de-mens (παρὰ τὴν φρένα); ὑπ-εύθυνος under liability to give account (ὑπ' εὐθύνας); οὐ προὔδοις gone (= πρὸ δόου γενόμενος, cp. 124 a).

a. From such phrases are derived verbs and substantives: ἐγχειρίσω put into one's hands, entrust, διαχειρίσω have in hand, manage (διὰ χειρῶν), διαπᾶσων octave-scale (ἡ διὰ πᾶσων χορδῶν συμφωνία the concord through all the notes). By analogy to ἐκποδῶν out of the way (ἐκ ποδῶν) come ἐμπροδῶν in the way and ἐμπόδιος impeding, ἐμπροδίσω impede.

b. The compounds of 899 represent bits of syntax used so frequently together that they have become adherent.

PART IV

SYNTAX

DEFINITIONS

900. A sentence expresses a thought. Syntax (σύνταξις arranging together) shows how the different parts of speech and their different inflectional forms are employed to form sentences.

901. Sentences are either complete or incomplete (904).

902. Every complete sentence must contain two members :

1. The Subject: the person or thing about which something is said.
2. The Predicate: what is said about the subject.

Thus, τὸ θέρος (subj.) ἐτελεύτη (pred.) the summer | came to an end T. 3. 102, ἡλθε (pred.) κήρυξ (subj.) a herald | came 3. 113.

903. Complete sentences are simple, compound, or complex. In the simple sentence subject and predicate occur only once. A compound sentence (2162) consists of two or more simple sentences coördinated: τῇ δ' ἑσπεραίῃ ἐπορεύοντο διὰ τοῦ πεδίου, καὶ Τισσαφέρνης εἵπετο but on the next day they marched through the plain and Tissaphernes kept following them X. A. 3. 4. 18. A complex sentence (2173) consists of a main sentence and one or more subordinate sentences: ὅποτε δέοι γίγνεται διαβαίνειν, ἔσπευδεν ἕκαστος whenever it was necessary to cross a bridge, every one made haste 3. 4. 20.

904. Incomplete sentences consist of a single member only. Such sentences stand outside the structure of the sentence. The chief classes of incomplete sentences are

- a. Interjections, such as δ, φεῖ, αἰαί, ὦμοι.
- b. Asseverations which serve as a predicate to a sentence spoken by another: yea yes, surely, no, μάλιστα certainly, καλῶς very well!
- c. Headings, titles: Κόρον Ἀράβας the Expedition of Cyrus, Ἀντιγόνη the Antigone, συμμαχία Ἀθηναίων καὶ Θετταλῶν the Alliance of the Athenians and Thessalians C. I. A. 4. 2. 59 b.
- d. Vocatives (1283), and nominatives used in exclamation (1288).
- e. Exclamations without a verb: δεῦρο hither!

N.—Examples of such incomplete sentences in English are oh, assuredly, no wonder, right about face, away, fire!

905. True impersonal verbs (932) have a grammatical subject in the personal ending; but the real subject is properly an idea more or less vague that is present to the mind of the speaker. Similar in nature are infinitives used in commands (2013).

SYNTAX OF THE SIMPLE SENTENCE

906. The most simple form of sentence is the finite verb: ἐσ-τί he-is, λέγο-μεν we-say, ἐπε-σθε you-follow.

Here the subject is in the personal ending, the predicate in the verbal stem. No other single word than a verb can of itself form a complete sentence.

907. The subject of a sentence is a substantive or one of its equivalents.

908. Equivalents of the Substantive.—The function of the substantive may be assumed by a pronoun, adjective (in masculine and feminine more frequently with the article), numeral, participle, relative clause (οἱ ἐλήφθησαν τῶν πολεμίων ταῦτὰ ἡγγελλον those of the enemy who were captured made the same report X. A. 1. 7. 13); by the article with an adverb (οἱ τότε the men of that day), or with the genitive (τὰ τῆς τύχης the incidents of fortune, fortune (1299)); by a prepositional phrase (οἱ ἀμφὶ τὸν Σωκράτη Socrates and his followers; ἐπὶ μέγα a great part), a preposition with a numeral (ἔφθγον περὶ ὀκτακοσίων about eight hundred took to flight X. H. 6. 5. 10); by an infinitive with or without the article (1984, 2025); and by any word or phrase viewed merely as a thing (τὸ ἔμεις θαν λέγω, τὴν πόλιν λέγω when I say You, I mean the State D. 18. 88). Cp. 1153 g. (Furthermore, by a clause in a complex sentence, 2189. 1.)

909. The predicate of a sentence is always a verb. The verb may either stand alone, as in Περικλῆς ἀπῆλθε Pericles departed; or it may have certain modifiers, called complements to the predicate (nouns, participles, adverbs), as Περικλῆς ἀπῆλθε πρῶτος first (ὀργιζόμενος in anger; τότε then). Cp. 924.

910. Predicate Nouns.—Nouns (substantival or adjectival) are often used as complements to the predicate. Thus,

a. A predicate substantive is a substantive forming part of the predicate and asserting something of its substantive: Περικλῆς ἡρέθη στρατηγός Pericles was elected general, εἰλεσθε ἐκείνον πρεσβευτήν you elected him envoy L. 13. 10.

b. A predicate adjective is an adjective forming part of the predicate and asserting something of its substantive: ὁ ἀνὴρ δίκαιός ἐστι the man is just, ἐνόμισαν Περικλέα εὐτυχῇ they thought Pericles fortunate.

911. A predicate substantive or adjective may often be distinguished from an attributive (912) in that the former implies some form of εἶναι be. Thus, πρεσβευτήν and εὐτυχῇ in 910. After verbs signifying to name or call, εἶναι is sometimes expressed (1615).

912. Attributive Adjective.—An attributive adjective is an adjective simply added to a noun to describe it, and not forming any part of an assertion made about it: ὁ δίκαιος ἀνὴρ the just-man.

913. All adjectives that are not attributive are predicate. So πρῶτοι ἀφίκοντο they were the first to arrive (1042 b), τούτῳ φίλῳ χρώμαι I treat this man as a friend (= οὗτος, ὃ χρώμαι, φίλος ἐστί).

914. Under adjectives are included participles: ὁ μέλλων (attrib.) πόλεμος the future war, ταῦτα εἰπὼν (pred.) ἀπῆειν saying this he went off, ὁρῶ σε κρύπτοντα (pred.) I see you hiding.

915. Predicate substantives, adjectives, and participles, in agreement either with subject or object, are more common in Greek than in English, and often call for special shifts in translation: μετεώρους ἐξεκόμισαν τὰς ἀμάξας they lifted the wagons and carried them out X. A. 1. 5. 8. Cp. 1579.

916. Appositive. — An appositive is a noun added to another noun or to a pronoun to describe or define it: Μιλτιάδης ὁ στρατηγός Miltiades, the general, ὑμῖς οἱ ἱερεῖς you, the priests, τοῦτο, ὃ σὺ εἶπες, ἀεὶ πάρεστι, σχολή this, which you mentioned, is always present, (I mean) leisure P. Th. 172 d.

917. Copula. — An indeterminate verb that serves simply to couple a predicate substantive or adjective to the subject is called a copula:
Ξενοφῶν ἦν Ἀθηναῖος Xenophon was an Athenian.

a. The most common copulative verbs are εἶναι be and γίγνεσθαι become.
Many other verbs serve as copulas: καθίστασθαι become, πεφύκέναι, ὑπάρχειν, πέλειν (poetical) be, δοκεῖν seem, φαίνεται appear, καλεῖσθαι, ὀνομάζεσθαι, ἀκούειν, κλθεῖν (poetical) be called, τυγχάνειν, κυρεῖν (poet.) happen, turn out, αἰρεῖσθαι be chosen, νομίζεσθαι be regarded, κρίνεσθαι be judged, and the like.

918. a. The copula is strictly the predicate or is a part of the predicate with its supplements.

b. The above verbs may also be complete predicates: ἔστι θεός there is a god.

c. For the omission of the copula, see 944.

d. A predicate substantive or adjective stands in the same case as the subject when coupled to it by a copulative verb (939).

e. For εἶναι added to a copulative verb, see 1615.

919. Object. — A verb may have an object on which its action is exerted. The object is a substantive (or its equivalent, 908) in an oblique case. An object may be direct (in the accusative) or indirect (in the genitive or dative): Κύρος δώσει ἑξ μνᾶς (direct) τῷ δούλῳ (indirect) Cyrus will give six minae to the slave, ἔλαβον τῆς ζώνης (indirect) τὸν Ὀρόντην (direct) they took hold of Orontas by the girdle X. A. 1.
6. 10.

920. Transitive and Intransitive Verbs. — Verbs capable of taking a direct object are called transitive because their action passes over to an object. Other verbs are called intransitive.

a. But many intransitive verbs, as in English, are used transitively (1558, 1559), and verbs usually transitive often take an indirect object (1341 ff., 1460 ff., 1471 ff.).

KINDS OF SIMPLE SENTENCES

921. Simple sentences have six forms: Statements; Assumptions, Commands, Wishes; Questions; and Exclamations. Of these, Assumptions, Commands, and Wishes express will. See 2153 ff.

EXPANSION OF THE SIMPLE SENTENCE

922. The subject and the predicate may be expanded by amplification or qualification:

923. Expansion of the Subject. — The subject may be expanded: A. By amplification: Ξενίας καὶ Πασιῶν ἀπέπλευσαν Xenias and Pasion sailed away. B. By qualification: 1. By an attributive adjective, ὁ ἀγαθὸς ἀνὴρ the good man, an attributive substantive denoting occupation, condition, or age, ἀνὴρ στρατηγός a captain (986), an adjective pronoun or numeral: ἡμέτερος φίλος a friend of ours, δύο παῖδες two children. 2. By the genitive of a noun or substantive pronoun (adnominal or attributive genitive): στέφανος χρυσοῦ a crown of gold, ὁ πατὴρ ἡμῶν our father. 3. By a prepositional phrase: ὁδὸς κατὰ τοῦ γηλόφου a way down the hill. 4. By an adverb: οἱ νῦν ἄνθρωποι the men of the present day. 5. By an appositive (916). A substantive in any case may be qualified like the subject.

924. Expansion of the Predicate. — The predicate may be expanded: A. By amplification: οἱ λοχαγοὶ ἀπῆλθον καὶ ἐποιοῦν οὕτω the captains departed and did so. B. By qualification: 1. By the oblique case of a noun, a substantive pronoun, or a numeral. This is called the object (919, 920). Thus: ὁρῶ τὸν ἄνδρα I see the man, φωνῇ ἀκούω I hear a voice, εἰπετο τῷ ἡγεμόνι he followed the guide, ἀγαπᾷ ἡμᾶς he loves us, ἐνίκησε τὴν μάχην he won the battle (cognate accusative, 1567), ἔδωκα δέκα I gave ten. The oblique case may be followed by an adnominal genitive or a dative: ὁρῶ πολλοὺς τῶν πολιτῶν I see many of the citizens. 2. By a preposition with its appropriate case: ἦλθον ἐπὶ τὰς σκηνάς they went to their tents. 3. By an infinitive: ἐθέλει ἀπελθεῖν he wishes to depart. 4. By a participle: ἀρξομαι λέγων I will begin my speech. 5. By an adverb or adverbial expression: εἰς ἱστω let him know well, τῆς νυκτὸς ἦλθε he came during the night, ἀπῆλθε τριταῖος he departed on the third day (1042). On complements to the predicate, see 909.

AGREEMENT: THE CONCORDS

925. There are three concords in simple sentences:

1. A finite verb agrees with its subject in number and person (949).
2. A word in apposition with another word agrees with it in case (976).
3. An adjective agrees with its substantive in gender, number, and case (1020).

(For the concord of relative pronouns, see 2501.)

926. Apparent violation of the concords is to be explained either by
 a. Construction according to sense, where the agreement is with the real gender or number (e.g. 949 a, 950-953, 958, 996, 997, 1013, 1044, 1050, 1055 a, 1058 b); or by

b. Attraction, when a word does not have its natural construction because of the influence of some other word or words in its clause (e.g. 1060 ff., 1239, 1978, 2465, 2502, 2522 ff.). This principle extends to moods and tenses (2183 ff.).

THE SUBJECT

927. The subject of a finite verb is in the nominative: Kûpos ἐβόα Cyrus called out.

928. The subject nominative may be replaced

a. By a prepositional phrase in the accusative: ἐνθὺμεισθε καθ' ἑκάστους τε καὶ ὅμπαντες consider individually and all together T. 7. 64.

b. By a genitive of the divided whole (1318): Πελληνεῖς δὲ κατὰ Θεσπιδᾶς γενόμενοι ἐμάχοντό τε καὶ ἐν χώρᾳ ἐπίπτον ἑκατέρων the Pellentians who were opposed to the Thespians kept up the contest and several on both sides fell on the spot X. H. 4. 2. 20.

OMISSION OF THE SUBJECT

929. An unemphatic pronoun of the first or second person is generally omitted: λέγε τὸν νόμον read the law (spoken to the clerk of the court) D. 21. 8.

930. An emphatic pronoun is generally expressed, as in contrasts: σὺ μὲν κείνον ἐκδέχου, ἐγὼ δ' ἀπείμι do thou wait for him, but I will depart S. Ph. 123. But often in poetry and sometimes in prose the pronoun is expressed when no contrast is intended. The first of two contrasted pronouns is sometimes omitted: ἀλλὰ, εἰ βοῦλει, μὲν' ἐπὶ τῷ στρατεύματι, ἐγὼ δ' ἐθέλω πορεύεσθαι but, if you prefer, remain with your division, I am willing to go X. A. 8. 4. 41. Cp. 1190, 1191.

931. The nominative subject of the third person may be omitted

a. When it is expressed or implied in the context: ὁ πατὴρ φοβεῖται μὴ τὰ τέχαρα πάθῃ your father is afraid lest he suffer death X. C. 3. 1. 22.

b. When the subject is indefinite, especially when it is the same person of thing as the omitted subject of a preceding infinitive (937 a): ἡ τοῦ οἰεσθαι εἰδέναι (ἀμαθία), ἃ οὐκ οἶδεν the ignorance of thinking one knows what one does not know P. A. 29 b. Often in legal language: ὁ νόμος, ὃς κελεύει τὰ αὐτοῦ ἐξεῖναι διαθέσθαι ὅπως αὖ ἐθέλῃ the law, which enjoins that a man has the right to dispose of his property as he wishes Is. 2. 13.

c. When a particular person is meant, who is easily understood from the situation: τοὺς νόμους ἀναγνώσεται he (the clerk) will read the laws Aes. 3. 15.

d. When it is a general idea of person, and usually in the third person plural of verbs of saying and thinking: ὡς λέγουσιν as they say D. 5. 18. So φᾶσι they say, οἰεῖται people think; cp. αἰνῶν, ferunt, tradunt.

- e. In descriptions of locality: ἦν δὲ κρημνῶδες for it (the place) was steep T. 7. 84.
 f. In impersonal verbs (932, 934).

932. Impersonal Verbs (905).—The subject of a true impersonal verb is a vague notion that cannot be supplied from the context: ὄψε ἦν it was late, καλῶς ἔχει it is well, ἦδη ἦν ἀμφὶ ἀγορᾶν πλήθουσιν it was already about the time when the market-place is full X. A. 1. 8. 1, αὐτῷ οὐ προνυχῶρει it (the course of events) did not go well with him T. 1. 109.

933. An impersonal verb the subject of which may be derived from the context is called quasi-impersonal.

a. When the indefinite it anticipates an infinitive or subordinate proposition which forms the logical subject (1985). So with δοκεῖ it seems, συμβαίνει it happens, ἔξεστι it is permitted, πρέπει, προσέχει it is fitting, φαίνεται it appears, ἐγένετο it happened, εἰσφει me venit me in mentem, δηλοῖ it is evident, etc. Thus, ὁμᾶς προσέχει προθυμοτέρους εἶναι it behooves you to be more zealous X. A. 3. 2. 15, εἰσφει αὐτοῖς ὅπως ἂν ὁκλαδὲ ἀφίκωνται it came into their thoughts how they should reach home 6. 1. 17.

b. So also with χρή, δεῖ it is necessary; as, δεῖ σ' εἰθεῖν you ought to go (lit. to go binds you). The impersonal construction with -τέον is equivalent to δεῖ (2152 a): βοηθητέον ἐστὶ τοῖς πράγμασιν ὑμῖν you must rescue the interests at stake D. 1. 17.

934. In some so-called impersonal verbs the person is left unexpressed because the actor is understood or implied in the action. So a. In expressions of natural phenomena originally viewed as produced by a divine agent: βροντᾷ tonat, βει pluit, νεφει ningit, χειμάζει it is stormy, ἔσειε it shook, there was an earthquake. The agent (Ζεὺς, ὁ θεός) is often (in Hom. always) expressed, as Ζεὺς ἀστράπτει Juppiter fulget.

b. When the agent is known from the action, which is viewed as alone of importance: σαλπίζει the trumpet sounds (i.e. ὁ σαλπικτῆς σαλπίζει the trumpeter sounds the trumpet), ἐκήρυξε proclamation was made (scil. ὁ κήρυξ), σημαίνει the signal is given (scil. ὁ κήρυξ or ὁ σαλπικτῆς).

935. In impersonal passives the subject is merely indicated in the verbal ending: λέγεται τε καὶ γράφεται speeches (λόγοι) and writings (γράμματα) are composed P. Phae. 261 b. This construction is relatively rare, but commonest in the perfect and pluperfect: οὐκ ἄλλως αὐτοῖς πεπύνηται their labour has not been lost P. Phae. 232 a, ἔπει αὐτοῖς παρεσκεύαστο when their preparations were completed X. H. 1. 3. 20.

936. Subject of the Infinitive.—The subject of the infinitive is in the accusative: ἐκέλευον αὐτοὺς πορεύεσθαι they ordered that they should proceed X. A. 4. 2. 1.

- a. See 1975. On the nominative subject of the infinitive, see 1973.

937. Omission of the Subject of the Infinitive.—The subject of the infinitive is usually not expressed when it is the same as the subject or object (direct or indirect) of the principal verb: ἔφη εἴθελειν he said he was willing X. A. 4. 1. 27 (contrast dixit se velle), πάντες αἰτοῦνται τοὺς θεοὺς τὰ φαῦλα ἀπο- τρέπειν everybody prays the gods to avert evil X. S. 4. 47, δοῖ μοι τρεῖς ἡμέρας ἀρξαι αὐτοῦ grant me the control of him for three days X. C. 1. 3. 11. Cp. 1060, 1973.

a. An indefinite subject of the infinitive (τινά, ἀνθρώπους) is usually omitted. Cp. 981 b, 1980.

CASE OF THE SUBJECT: THE NOMINATIVE

938. The nominative is the case of the subject; the oblique cases, with the exception of the adnominal genitive (1290 ff.) and adnominal dative (1502), are complements of the predicate.

939. The nominative is the case of the subject of a finite verb and of a predicate noun in agreement with the subject. Πρόξενος παρῆν Proxenus was present X. A. 1. 2. 3, Κλέαρχος φυγὰς ἦν Clearchus was an exile 1. 1. 9.

a. On the nominative subject of the infinitive, see 1973; in exclamations, 1288.

940. Independent Nominative. — The nominative may be used independently in citing the names of persons and things: προσείληφε τὴν τῶν πονηρῶν κοινὴν ἐπωνυμίαν σύκοφάντης he received the common appellation of the vile, i.e. 'informer' Aes. 2. 99, τὸ δ' ὑμεῖς δταν λέγω, λέγω τὴν πόλιν when I say You, I mean the State D. 18. 88. Cp. 908. (The accus. is also possible.) So in lists (cp. 904 c): τίθῃμι δύο ποιητικῆς εἰδῆς · θεῖα μὲν καὶ ἀνθρωπίνη I assume two kinds of poetry: the divine and the human P. Soph. 266 d.

941. A sentence may begin with the nominative as the subject of the thought in place of an oblique case: οἱ δὲ φίλοι, ἅν τις ἐπιστήται αὐτοῖς χρῆσθαι, τί φήσομεν αὐτοὺς εἶναι; but as for friends, if one knows how to treat them, what shall we call them? X. O. 1. 14 (for τοὺς δὲ φίλους . . . τί φήσομεν εἶναι).

a. On the nominative in suspense see under Anacoluthon (Index).

942. In referring to himself in letters a man may use his own name in the nominative, either in apposition to the first person contained in the verb (976), or as subject of a verb in the third person: Θεμιστοκλῆς ἦκω παρὰ σέ I, Themistocles, have come to you T. 1. 137, Ἀρταξέρξης νομίζει Artaxerxes thinks X. H. 5. 1. 31.

a. A speaker referring to himself in the third person usually soon reverts to the first person (D. 18. 79).

943. When there is no danger of obscurity, the subject may shift without warning: μῖαν μὲν ναὺν λαμβάνουσι, τὰς δ' ἄλλὰς οὐκ ἐδυνήθησαν, ἀλλ' ἐποφεύγουσιν they captured one ship; the rest they were unable to capture; but they (the ships) escaped T. 7. 25, τῶν νόμων αὐτῶν ἀκούετε τί κελεύουσι καὶ τί παραβηθήκασι hear what the laws themselves command and what transgressions they (my opponents) have committed D. 69. 115.

THE PREDICATE

Omission of the Verb

944. Ellipsis of the Copula. — The copulative verb εἶναι is often omitted, especially the forms ἐστί and εἰσί. This occurs chiefly

a. In general or proverbial statements: κοινή ἡ τύχη καὶ τὸ μέλλον δόρατος chance is common to all and the future cannot be scanned L. 1. 29; b. in expressions of necessity, duty, etc.: ἀνάγκη φυλάττεσθαι it is necessary to be on our guard D. 9. 6. So with ὥρᾱ, καιρὸς, εἰκὸς, χρεῶν, δέον, verbals in -τέον (2162), as θεραπευτέον τοὺς θεοὺς we must serve the gods X. M. 2. 1. 28; c. with various adjectives: ἄξιος, δυνατός, πρόθυμος, δίκαιος, ὁλος, φροῦδος, ἔτοιμος; thus, ἡ ψυχὴ δουλεῖν ἑτοίμη the soul is ready to be a servant P. Phae. 262 a, εἰ τις ἐπερωτῇ πότερον κρεῖττον if anybody should ask whether it is better X. M. 1. 1. 9.

945. Other forms of εἶναι are less commonly omitted: κοινωνεῖν ἔτοιμος (scil. εἰμί), οἶμαι δὲ καὶ Λάχητα τόνδε (scil. ἔτοιμον εἶναι) I am ready to assist you and I think that Laches here is also ready P. Lach. 180 a, οὐ σὺ λογογράφος (scil. εἶ); are you not a speech-writer? D. 19. 250, νύξ ἐν μέσῳ (scil. ἦν) the night was half gone Aes. 3. 71, ἄτοπα λέγεις καὶ οὐδαμῶς πρὸς σοῦ (scil. ὄντα) you are talking absurdly and not at all like yourself X. M. 2. 3. 15, τοῖς θεοῖς μεγίστη χάρις (scil. ἔστω) to the gods let our heartiest thanks be given X. C. 7. 5. 72. Cp. 1041.

946. In lively discourse the form of a verb signifying to do, speak, come, go, etc., may be omitted for brevity. The ellipsis is often unconscious and it is frequently uncertain what is to be supplied to complete the thought. Thus, τί ἄλλο (scil. ἐποίησαν) ἢ ἐπεβούλευσαν; what else did they do except plot against us? T. 8. 39, οὐδὲν ἄλλο (scil. ποιῶν) ἢ πόλιν τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀπολείπων doing nothing else except leaving his native city 2. 16, ἵνα τί (scil. γένηται); to what purpose? D. 19. 257, περὶ μὲν τούτου κατὰ σχολήν (scil. λέξω) about this by and by 24. 187, μή μοι γε μύθους (scil. λέξητε) none of your legends for me! Ar. Vesp. 1179, ἀλλ' (σκέψασθε) ἕτερον but consider another point L. 13. 79, ὦ φίλε Φαῖδρε, ποῖ δὴ (scil. εἶ) καὶ πόθεν (scil. ἔκει) ; my dear Phaedrus whither, I beg of you, are you going and whence do you come? P. Phae. 227 a, οὐκ ἐς κόρακας (scil. ἐρρήσεις); will you not be off to the crows? Ar. Nub. 871, πρὸς σε (scil. ἱκετεύω) γονάτων I entreat thee by thy knees E. Med. 824. Cp. 1599.

947. Καὶ ταῦτα and that too takes up a preceding expression: ἀγριωτέροισιν αὐτοὺς ἀπέφηνε . . . καὶ ταῦτ' εἰς αὐτόν he made them more savage and that too towards himself P. G. 516 c; often with concessive participles (2083): Μένην δ' οὐκ ἐζήτηε, καὶ ταῦτα παρ' Ἀριαίου ὦν τοῦ Μένωνος ξένου he did not ask for Menon and that too although he came from Ariaeus, Menon's guest-friend X. A. 2. 4. 15. Cp. 1246, 2083.

948. A verb that may easily be supplied from the context is often omitted. Thus, εἰὼν μάθω, παύσομαι (scil. ποιῶν) ὃ γε ἄκων ποιῶ if I learn better, I shall leave off doing what I do unintentionally P. A. 26 a, ἀμελήσῃς ὥστε οἱ πολλοὶ (scil. ἐπιμελοῦνται) not caring for what most men care for 36 b, εἰὼν αὖθις ζητήσετε ταῦτα, οὕτως (scil. ἔχοντα) ἐυρήσετε if you inquire about this later, you will find that it is so 24 b. See under Brachylogy (Index).

CONCORD OF SUBJECT AND PREDICATE

949. A finite verb agrees with its subject in number and person.

Thus, τοῦτο τὸ ψήφισμα ἐγένετο this bill was passed L. 13. 56, ὃ δέδοικ' ἐγὼ μὴ πάθῃς ὑμῖς which I fear lest you may suffer D. 9. 65, ἣν δ' ἀποψηφίσονται οἱ ἄλλοι, ἔπιμεν ἅπαντες τοῦμπαλιν but if the rest vote against (following), we shall all return back again X. A. 1. 4. 15, τῷ ξένῳ τῷδε φίλῳ ἐστὸν ἐμῷ these two strangers are friends of mine P. G. 487 a.

a. The verbal predicate, when a copulative verb (917), may be attracted to the number of a predicate noun, which often stands between subject and verb: τὸ χωρίον τοῦτο, ὅπερ πρότερον Ἐννέα ὁδοὶ ἐκαλοῦντο this place which was formerly called Nine Ways T. 4. 102, ἅπᾶν τὸ μέσον τῶν τευχῶν ἦσαν στάδιοι τρεῖς the entire space between the walls was three stades X. A. 1. 4. 4. So with the participles of such copulative verbs: τὴν ἡδονὴν διώκετε ὥς ἀγαθὸν ὄν (for οὐσαν) you chase after pleasure as if it were a good P. Pr. 354 c.

WITH ONE SUBJECT

Subject in the Singular, Verb in the Plural

950. With singular collective substantives (996) denoting persons and with like words implying a plural, the verb may stand in the plural.

Thus, τὸ στρατόπεδον ἐν αἰτίᾳ ἔχοντες τὸν Ἄγιν ἀνεχώρουν the army returned holding Agis at fault T. 5. 60, τοιαῦτα ἀκούσασα ἡ πόλις Ἀγησιλάῳ εἰλοντο βασιλεῦ the city, after hearing such arguments, chose Agesilaus king X. H. 3. 3. 4. So with βουλὴ senate, μέρος part, πλῆθος multitude, δῆμος people, δῆλος throng.

951. So with ἕκαστος: τῶν ἑαυτοῦ ἕκαστος καὶ παίδων καὶ χρημάτων ἀρχοῦσι every man is master of his own children and property X. R. L. 6. 1.

952. If ἕκαστος, ἑκάτερος, ἄλλος are added in apposition to a plural subject, the verb generally remains plural: ἐγὼ τε καὶ σὺ μακρὸν λόγον ἑκάτερος ἀπετελείμεν both you and I have carried on a long controversy P. Pr. 361 a. If the verb follows the apposition, it may be singular: οὗτοι μὲν ἄλλος ἄλλα λέγει these say, some one thing, some another X. A. 2. 1. 15. Cp. 982.

953. A subject in the singular, followed by a clause containing the preposition μετὰ with, rarely takes a plural verb: Ἀλκιβιάδης μετὰ Μαντιθέου ἵππων ἐπιφορσάντες ἀπέδρᾶσαν Alcibiades and Mantitheus escaped because they were well provided with horses X. H. 1. 1, 10.

Subject in the Dual, Verb in the Plural

954. The first person dual agrees in form with the first person plural (462).

955. A dual subject may take a plural verb: Ξενοφῶντι προσέτρεχον δύο νεανίσκῳ two youths ran up to Xenophon X. A. 4. 3. 10. In the orators the dual verb is almost always used.

956. The dual and plural verb may alternate: αἵρεσιν εἰλέτην τε καὶ διεπράξαντο the two souls have made their choice and put it into effect P. Phae. 256 c.

957. The neuter dual may be followed by the dual, the plural, or the singular verb (A 104, 200, M 466).

Subject in the Plural, Verb in the Singular

958. A neuter plural subject is regarded as a collective (996), and has its verb in the singular: καλὰ ἦν τὰ σφάγια the sacrifices were propitious X. A. 4. 3. 19.

N. — The neuter plural seems to have been originally in part identical in form with the feminine singular in ā, and to have had a collective meaning.

959. A plural verb may be used when stress is laid on the fact that the neuter plural subject is composed of persons or of several parts: τὰ τέλη τῶν Λακεδαιμονίων αὐτὸν ἐξέπεμψαν the Lacedaemonian magistrates despatched him T. 4. 88, φανερὰ ἦσαν καὶ ἵππων καὶ ἀνθρώπων ἵχνη πολλά many traces both of horses and of men were plain X. A. 1. 7. 17.

a. With the above exception Attic regularly uses the singular verb. Homer uses the singular three times as often as the plural, and the plural less frequently with neuter adjectives and pronouns than with substantives. In some cases (B 135) the metre decides the choice.

960. Following the construction of δοκεῖ ταῦτα, we find δόξαν ταῦτα when it had been thus decided X. A. 4. 1. 13, and also δόξαντα ταῦτα X. H. 3. 2. 19. See 2078 a.

961. Pindaric Construction. A masculine or feminine plural subject occasionally is used with ἔστι, ἦν, γίγνεται, as: ἔστι καὶ ἐν ταῖς ἄλλαις πόλεσιν ἀρχόντες τε καὶ δῆμος there are in the other cities too rulers and populace P. R. 402 e. The verb usually precedes, and the subject is still undetermined; hence the plural is added as an afterthought. (Cp. Shakesp. "far behind his worth | Comes all the praises.") In Greek poetry this construction is rarely used with other verbs. On ἔστιν cf., see 2513.

a. ἦν was originally plural (464 e. D), and seems to survive in that use.

Subject in the Plural, Verb in the Dual

962. A plural subject may take a dual verb when the subject is a pair or two pairs: αἱ ἵπποι δραμέτην the span of mares ran Ψ 392.

a. This is common when δύο, ἀμφω, ἀμφότεροι are used with a plural subject: δύο ἄνδρες προσελθόντε "Ἀγιδι διελεγέσθην μὴ ποιεῖν μάχην" two men coming to Agis urged him not to fight T. 5. 59. But even with these words the plural is preferred. The neuter plural with δύο rarely takes the dual verb (P. Tim. 56 e).

WITH TWO OR MORE SUBJECTS

963. (I) When the subjects are different individuals or things and stand in the third person

964. With two subjects in the singular, the verb may be dual or plural: Κριτίας καὶ Ἀλκιβιάδης ἐδυνάσθην ἐκείνῳ χρωμένῳ συμμάχῳ τῶν ἐπιθυμιῶν κρατεῖν Critias and Alcibiades were able to keep control of their appetites by the help of his example X. M. 1. 2. 24, Εὐρυμέδων καὶ Σοφοκλῆς ἀφικόμενοι ἐς Κέρκυραν ἐστράτευσαν on their arrival in Corcyra Eurymedon and Sophocles proceeded to make an attack T. 4. 46.

965. In Homer the verb may intervene between the subjects (Alcmanic Construction): εἰς Ἀχέροντα Πυριφλεγέθων τε ρέουσιν Κώκυρς τε Pyriphlegethon and Cocytus flow into Acheron κ 518.

966. The verb may agree with the nearest or most important of two or more subjects. The verb may be placed

a. Before both subjects: ἦκε μὲν ὁ Θερσαγόρας καὶ ὁ Ἐξέκεστος εἰς Λέσβον καὶ ῥέουσιν ἐκεῖ Thersagoras and Execestus came to Lesbos and settled there D. 23. 143.

b. After the first subject: ὁ τε Πολέμαρχος ἦκε καὶ Ἀδείμαντος καὶ Νικηράτος καὶ ἄλλοι τινὲς Polemarchus came and Adimantus and Niceratus and certain others P. R. 327 b, Φαλῖνος ῥέχτο καὶ οἱ σὺν αὐτῷ Phalinus and his companions departed X. A. 2. 2. 1.

c. After both subjects: τὸ βουλευτήριον καὶ ὁ δῆμος παροράται the senate and the people are disregarded Aes. 3. 250. (Cp. Shakesp. "my mistress and her sister stays.")

967. (II) With several subjects referring to different persons the verb is in the plural; in the first person, if one of the subjects is first person; in the second person, if the subjects are second and third person: ὑμεῖς δὲ καὶ ἐγὼ τάδε λέγομεν but you and I say this P. L. 661 b, ἡμεῖς καὶ οὐδὲ οὐκ ἄλλην ἂν τινα δυνάμεθα ψῆδην ᾄδειν we and these men could not sing any other song 666 d, οὐ σὺ μόνος οὐδὲ οἱ σοὶ φίλοι πρῶτοι ταύτην δόξαν ἔσχετε not you alone nor your friends are the first who have held this opinion 888 b.

968. But the verb may be singular if it refers to the nearer or more important or more emphatic subject: παρίειμι καὶ ἐγὼ καὶ οὗτος Φρύνισκος καὶ Πολυκράτης I am present and so are Phryniscus here and Polycrates X. A. 7. 2. 29.

969. The verb may agree in person with the nearer or more important subject: σὺ τε γὰρ Ἕλλην εἰ καὶ ἡμεῖς for you are a Greek and so are we X. A. 2. 1. 16.

970. With subjects connected by the disjunctives ἢ or, ἢ—ἢ either—or, οὔτε—οὔτε neither—nor, the verb agrees in number with the nearer subject when each subject is taken by itself: οἷτε σὺ οὐτ' ἄν ἄλλος οὐδεὶς δύναιτ' ἀντειπεῖν neither you nor anybody else could reply X. M. 4. 4. 7.

971. When the subjects are taken together, the plural occurs: ἃ Δημοφῶν ἢ Θερριππίδης ἔχουσι τῶν ἐμῶν what Demophon or Therippides have of my property D. 27. 12. This is unusual.

972. When ἢ than unites two subjects, if the verb follows ἢ, it agrees with the second subject: τύχη δὲ βέλτιον ἢ ἡμεῖς ἡμῶν αὐτῶν ἐπιμελούμεθα fortune always takes better care of us than we do of ourselves D. 4. 12.

CONCORD OF PREDICATE SUBSTANTIVES

973. A predicate substantive agrees with its subject in case: Μιλτιάδης ἦν στρατηγός Miltiades was a general.

974. A predicate substantive may agree in gender and number with its subject; but this is often impossible: τύχη τὰ θνητῶν πράγματα the affairs of mortals are chance Trag. frag. p. 782, πάντ' ἦν Ἀλέξανδρος Alexander was everything D. 23. 120.

975. A predicate substantive or adjective agrees with the subject of the governing verb when the subject of the infinitive is omitted because it is the same as that of the governing verb (937): οὐχ ὁμολογήσω ἀκλητος ἔκειν I shall not admit that I have come uninvited P. S. 174 d, εἴπερ ἀξιούμεν ἐλεύθεροι εἶναι if indeed we claim to be free X. C. 8. 1. 4.

On the agreement of demonstrative and relative pronouns with a predicate substantive, see 1239, 2502 e.

APPPOSITION

976. Concord. — An appositive (916) agrees in case with the word it describes: κόλακι, δεινῷ θηρίῳ καὶ μεγίστῃ βλάβῃ to a flatterer, a terrible beast and a very great source of injury P. Phae. 240 b. An appositive also agrees in case with the pronoun contained in a verb: Ταλθύβιος, ἦκω, Δαναίδων ὑπηρέτης I, Talthybius, have come, the servant of the Danaids E. Hec. 503. Cp. 942.

977. An appositive to a possessive pronoun stands in the genitive, in agreement with the personal pronoun implied in the possessive: τὸν ἐμὸν (= ἐμοῦ) τοῦ τάλαιπῶρου βίον the life of me, wretched one Ar. Plut. 38, τὰ ἐμέτερ' (= ἐμῶν) αὐτῶν κομείσθε you will regain your own Dt 4. 7. Cp. 1200. 2. b, 1202. 2. b.

978. An appositive in the genitive may follow an adjective equivalent to a genitive: Ἀθηναῖος (= Ἀθηνῶν) ὢν, πόλει τῆς μεγίστης being an Athenian, a citizen of the greatest city P. A. 29 d.

979. Agreement in number between the appositive and its noun is unnecessary and often impossible: Θῆβαι, πόλις ἀστυγέτων Thebes, a neighbouring city Aes. 8. 133. So with δῶρα in poetry: γάμος, χρῦσῃς Ἀφροδίτης δῶρα, marriage, gift of golden Aphrodite Theognis 1293.

980. An appositive to two substantives is dual or plural: θάρρος καὶ φόβος, ἀφρονε ξυμβούλω daring and fear, two unintelligent counsellors P. Tim. 69 d, ὕπνος πόνος τε, κῆριοι συνωμῶται sleep and toil, supreme conspirators A. Eum. 127.

981. Partitive Apposition (σχήμα καθ' ὅλον καὶ μέρος, construction of the whole and part). The parts are represented by the appositives, which stand in the same case as the whole, which is placed first to show the subject or object of the sentence: τῷ ὁδῷ, ἣ μὲν εἰς μακάρων νήσους, ἣ δ' εἰς τάρταρον two roads, the one to the Islands of the Blest, the other to Tartarus P. G. 524 a (distributive apposition). The appositives are generally in the nominative (ὁ μὲν, ἡ δέ; οἱ μὲν, οἱ δέ), rarely in the accusative.

a. The whole may stand in the singular: λέγεται ψυχὴ ἡ μὲν τοῦν ἔχειν, ἡ δὲ διανοεῖν; with regard to the soul, is one said to have intelligence, the other folly? P. Ph. 93 b.

902. To the word denoting the whole the appositive may be a collective singular (adjunctive apposition): οὔτοι μὲν ἄλλος ἄλλα λέγει these say, some one thing, some another X. A. 2. 1. 15 (cp. ἡρώτων δὲ ἄλλος ἄλλο P. Charm. 153 c), οἱ στρατηγοὶ βραχέως ἕκαστος ἀπελογήσατο each of the generals defended himself briefly X. H. 1. 7. 5. Cp. 952.

903. The apposition may be limited to one or more parts: Πελοποννήσιοι καὶ οἱ ἐξίμαχοι τὰ δύο μέρη two-thirds of the Peloponnesians and the allies T. 2. 47. Often with participles: (οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι) ἀνεμήθησαν καὶ τοῦδε τοῦ ἔπους, φάσκοντες οἱ πρεσβύτεροι πάλαι ἔδεσθαι the Athenians belhought themselves of this verse too, the old men saying that it had been uttered long before T. 2. 54.

904. In partitive apposition emphasis is laid on the whole, which is stated at once as the subject or object of the sentence. In the genitive of the divided whole (1306) emphasis is laid on the parts; thus, τῶν πόλεων αἱ μὲν τυραννοῦνται, αἱ δὲ δημοκρατοῦνται, αἱ δὲ ἀριστοκρατοῦνται of states some are despotic, others democratic, others aristocratic P. R. 338 d.

905. Construction of the Whole and Part in Poetry.—In Homer and later poets a verb may take two objects, one denoting the person, the other the part especially affected by the action: τὸν δ' ἄορι πλῆξ' αὐχένα him he smote in the neck with his sword A 240, ἥ σε πόδας νίψει she will wash thy feet τ 356. But the accusative of the part, often explained as an appositive, was an external object (1564 b) that became an accusative of respect (1601 a). In Ἀχαιοῖσιν δὲ μέγα σθένος ἔμβαλ' ἐκάστω καρδίῃ and she set mighty strength in the heart of each of the Achaeans A 11, ἐκάστω is a partitive appositive, καρδίῃ is local dative and grammatically independent of Ἀχαιοῖσιν. The construction is very rare in prose: τοῖς υἱαῖσιν ἀντρὶν ἀρετὴ παραγενομένη ταῖς ψυχαῖς if virtue is imparted in the souls of their sons P. Lach. 190 b.

906. Attributive Apposition.—A substantive may be used as an attributive to another substantive. This is common with substantives denoting occupation, condition, or age (usually with ἀνὴρ, ἄνθρωπος, γυνή): ἀνὴρ ῥήτωρ a public speaker, ἀνὴρ τύραννος a despot, πρεσβῦται ἄνθρωποι old men, γράυς γυνή an old woman. So also πελτασταὶ Θράκες Thracian targeteers X. A. 1. 2. 9, δλεθρος Μακεδῶν a scoundrel of a Macedonian D. 9. 31, Ἕλλην (for Ἑλληνικός), as οἱ Ἕλληνες πελτασταί the Greek targeteers X. A. 6. 5. 26.

a. In standard prose Ἕλλην is used as an adjective only of persons (in poetry also of things).

b. The addition of ἀνὴρ often implies respect: ἄνδρες στρατιῶται fellows soldiers X. A. 1. 3. 3, οἱ ἄνδρες δικάσται jurymen, gentlemen of the jury D. 27. 1. (Cp. foemen.) The addition of ἄνθρωπος often implies contempt: ἄνθρωπος γόβης a juggling fellow Aes. 2. 153.

c. Many of the substantives thus qualified by an attributive substantive were originally participles, as γέρων ἀνὴρ an old man P. Lys. 223 b.

987. Descriptive Apposition. — Here the appositive describes something definite that has just been mentioned: ἡ ἡμετέρα πόλις, ἡ κοινὴ καταφυγὴ τῶν Ἑλλήνων our city, the common refuge of the Greeks Aes. 3. 134.

988. Explanatory Apposition. — Here the appositive explains a general or vague statement: τοῦτου τιμῶμαι, ἐν πρυτανείῳ σιτήσεως I propose this as the penalty, maintenance in the Prytaneum P. A. 37 a, μεγίστου κακοῦ ἀπαλλαγὴ, πονηρίας deliverance from the greatest of evils, vice P. G. 478 d. So in geographical statements: Κύπρον Ἰκᾶνε . . . ἐς Πάφον she came to Cyprus, to Paphos θ 362; cp. ἐς Δωριᾶς, Βοιών to the territory of the Dorians in which Boeum lies T. 1. 107.

989. In Homer the substantival article at the beginning of a sentence may be followed by an appositive noun at or near the end: ἡ δ' ἀέκονσ' ἄμα τοῖσι γυνὴ κίεν but she, the woman, went unwillingly with them A 348.

990. τοῦτο, αὐτὸ τοῦτο, αὐτό, ἐκεῖνο often introduce emphatically a following substantive (or an equivalent, 908): ἐκεῖνο κερδαίνειν ἡγείται, τὴν ἡδονήν this (namely) pleasure it regards as gain P. R. 606 b. Cp. 1248.

991. Apposition to a Sentence. — A noun in the nominative or accusative may stand in apposition to the action expressed by a whole sentence or by some part of it.

a. The appositive is nominative when a nominative precedes: ἐμέθον· ἱκαρὴ πρόφασις I was tipsy, a sufficient excuse Philemon (Com. frag. 2. 531).

b. The appositive is accusative, and states a reason, result, intention, effect, or the like: ῥήψι ἀπὸ πόργου, λυγρὸν θάνατον will hurl thee from the battle-ment, a grievous death Ω 735, Ἑλένην κτάνωμεν, Μενέλαω λύπην πικράν let us slay Helen and thus cause a sore grief to Menelaus E. Or. 1105, εὐδαιμονίης, μισθὸν ἡδίστων λόγων blest be thou — a return for thy most welcome tidings E. El. 231.

N. — The appositive accusative is often cognate (1563 f.): ὁρᾷς Εὐρύσθεᾶ, δειπτον ὅτιν θου beholdest Eurystheus, an unexpected sight E. Heracl. 930.

992. An effect or result may be denoted by an appositive in other cases: ἐπιδῶν προσδεῖσθαι μοι δοκεῖ μῦθων ἔτι τινῶν we need, it seems, some further words to act as a spell P. L. 903 b.

993. From the construction in 991 b arose many adverbial accusatives (1606 ff.) such as χάριν on account of, πρόφασιν in pretence, δωρεὰν gratis; as δεῖ τις δὲ Τρώων ἐπὶ νηυσὶ φέροιτο . . . χάριν Ἑκτορος whosoever of the Trojans rushed at the ships as a favour to Hector (for Hector's sake) O 744.

994. Many neuter words are used in apposition to a sentence or clause, which they usually precede. Such are ἀμφότερον, ἀμφότερα both, τὸ δεινότατον the most dreadful thing, δυοῖν θάτερον or θάτερα one or the other, τὸ ἐναντίον the contrary, τὸ κεφάλαιον the chief point, τὸ λεγόμενον as the saying is, οὐδέτερον neither thing, σημεῖον δέ sign, τεκμήριον δέ evidence, τὸ τελευταῖον the last thing, τὸ τῆς παροιμίας as the proverb

τὴν, αὐτὸ τοῦτο this very thing, ταὐτὸ τοῦτο this same thing. Thus, τοὺς ἀμφότερα ταῦτα, καὶ εὐνοὺς τῇ πόλει καὶ πλουσίους those who are both loyal to the State and rich D. 18. 171, εἶπεν ὅτι δεῖ δυοῖν θάτερον, ἢ κείνους ἐν Ολύνθῳ μὴ οἰκεῖν ἢ αὐτὸν ἐν Μακεδονίᾳ he said that one of two things was necessary — either that they should not live at Olynthus or he himself in Macedon 9. 11, τὸ δὲ μέγιστον, πόλεμον ἀντ' εἰρήνης ἔχοντες and what is worst of all, having war instead of peace T. 2. 65, ἀλλ' ἢ, τὸ λεγόμενον, κατόπιν ἐορτῆς ἤκομεν; but have we come 'after a feast' as the saying is? P. G. 447 a, τοῦτο αὐτὸ τὸ τοῦ Ὀμήρου in these very words of Homer P. A. 34 d.

995. Very common are introductory relative clauses forming a nominative predicate of the sentence that follows: ὁ δὲ πάντων δεινότατος but what is most terrible of all L. 30. 29. ἐστὶ is regularly omitted (944). Such relative clauses are followed by an independent sentence, a clause with ὅτι, by ὅτε γάρ, ὅταν, ὅταν γάρ, &c. Similarly τὸ δ' ἐσχατον πάντων, ὅτι but what is worst of all P. Ph. 66 d, etc.

PECULIARITIES IN THE USE OF NUMBER

996. Collective Singular. — A noun in the singular may denote a number of persons or things: ὁ Μῆδος the Medes T. 1. 69, τὸ Ἑλληνικόν the Greeks 1. 1, τὸ βαρβαρικόν the barbarians 7. 29, ἡ πλίνθος the bricks 3. 20, ἵππον ἔχω εἰς χιλίαν I have about a thousand horse X. C. 4. 6. 2, μυρία ὀκτὶς ten thousand heavy armed X. A. 1. 7. 10. On the plural verb with collectives, see 950. Cp. 1024, 1044.

a. So with the neuter participle: τὸ μαχόμενον almost = οἱ μαχόμενοι the combatants T. 4. 86.

b. The name of a nation with the article may denote one person as the representative (King, etc.) of a class: ὁ Μακεδών the Macedonian (Phillip) D. 7. 6.

997. The inhabitants of a place may be implied in the name of the place: Λέσβος ἀπέστη βουληθέντες καὶ πρὸ τοῦ πολέμου Lesbos revolted, having wished to do so even before the war T. 3. 2.

998. Distributive Singular. — The singular of abstract nouns may be used distributively (rarely with concrete substantives): ὅσοι δίκαιοι ἐγένοντο ἐν τῷ ἑαυτῶν βίῳ all who proved themselves just in their lives P. A. 41 a, διάφοροι τὸν τρόπον different 'n character T. 8. 96. The distributive plural (1004) is more common than the distributive singular: cp. νεῶναι τὰς ὄψεις youths in appearance L. 10. 29 with ἡδεῖς τὴν ὄψιν pleasing in appearance P. R. 452 b.

999. Dual. — The dual is chiefly employed of two persons or things which, by nature or association, form a pair: ὀφθαλμῷ the eyes (both eyes), χεῖρε the hands, ἵππῳ a span of horses. The addition of ἀμφω both indicates that the two things belong together: δύο emphasizes the number. Both ἀμφω and δύο were early used with the plural. The dual died out in the living speech of Attica by 300 B.C. Aeolic has no dual, and Ionic lost it very early. In Hom. the dual is used freely, and often in conjunction with the plural.

1000. Plural. — The plural of proper names, of materials, and of abstracts is used to denote a class. (1) of proper names: Θησέας men like Theseus P. Th. 169 b. (2) of materials: here the plural denotes the parts, the different kinds of a thing, a mass, etc.: τόξα bow Hdt. 3. 78, πύροι, κριθαί wheat, barley X. A. 4. 5. 26, οἶνοι wines 4. 4. 9, κρέα meat Ar. Ran. 553 (κρέας piece of meat), ἡλιοι hot days T. 7. 87, ξύλα timber T. 7. 25. (3) of abstracts: here the plural refers to the single kinds, cases, occasions, manifestations of the idea expressed by the abstract substantive; or is referred to several persons: ἀγνωμοσύναι misunderstandings X. A. 2. 5. 6, θάλη degrees of heat X. M. 1. 4. 13. Used in the plural, abstract nouns may become concrete, as ταφαί funeral T. 2. 34 (ταφή sepulture), εὐφροσύνη good cheer X. C. 7. 2. 28 (εὐφροσύνη mirth), χάριτες proofs of good will, presents D. 8. 53, εὐνοιαί cases of benevolence, presents D. 8. 25.

a. Many concrete substantives are commonly used only in the plural: πύλαι gate, θύραι door, τὰ Ὀλύμπια the Olympic festival; and in poetry δῶματα house, κλίμακες ladder, λέκτρα bed; cp. 1006.

b. The plural, especially in poetry, may correspond to the English indefinite singular: ἐπὶ ναυσὶ by ship.

1001. In Homer the plural denotes the various forms in which a quality is manifested: τεκτοσύναι the arts of the carpenter ε 250. In poetry, often of feelings, emotions, etc.: μαῖαι (attacks of) madness A. Pr. 879.

1002. οὐδέτερες (μηδέτερες) denotes classes of men, states, nations (D. 5. 15).

1003. The neuter plural is often used even in reference to a single idea or thought in order to represent it in its entirety or in its details, as τὰ ἀληθῆ the truth. This is very common with neuter pronouns: ἐχειρονόμουν δέ· ταῦτα γὰρ ἠπιστάμην but I waved my arms, for I knew how to do this X. S. 2. 19, διὰ ταχέων quickly P. A. 32 d.

a. Thucydides is fond of the neuter plural of verbal adjectives used impersonally: ἐψηφίσαντο πολεμητέα εἶναι they voted that it was necessary to make war T. 1. 88, ἀδύνατα ἦν it was impossible 4. 1. Cp. 1052.

1004. Distributive Plural. — Abstract substantives are often used distributively in the plural: σιγαὶ τῶν νεωτέρων παρὰ πρεσβυτέρους the silence of the younger men in the presence of their elders P. R. 425 a.

1005. Names of towns and parts of the body are sometimes plural: Ἀθῆναι Athens, Θῆβαι Thebes, στήθη and στέρνα breast (chiefly poetic). The name of the inhabitants is often used for the name of a city: Δελφοί D. 5. 25.

1006. Plural of Majesty (poetic). — The plural may be used to lend dignity: θρόνοι throne S. Ant. 1041, σκήπτρα scepter A. Ag. 1265, δῶματα dwelling ε 6; παιδικά favourite in prose (only in the plural form).

1007. Here belongs the allusive plural by which one person is alluded to in the plural number: δεσποτῶν θανάτοις by the death of our lord A. Ch. 52, παθούσα πρὸς τῶν φιλάτων I (Clytaemnestra) having suffered at the hands of my dearest ones (Orestes) A. Eum. 100.

1008. Plural of Modesty. — A speaker in referring to himself may use the first person plural as a modest form of statement. In prose, of an author: ἐννοιά τοῦ ἡμῖν ἐγένετο the reflection once occurred to me X. C. 1. 1. 1. In tragedy, often with interchange of plural and singular: εἰ καλῶμεσθα μὴ μαθεῖν ἃ βούλομαι if I (Creusa) am prevented from learning what I wish E. Ion 391, ἱκετεύομεν ἀμφὶ σὺν γενεῖα . . . προσπίπνων I entreat thee, as I grasp thy beard E. H. F. 1206. See 1009.

1009. In tragedy, if a woman, speaking of herself, uses the plural verb (1008), an adjective or participle, in agreement with the subject, is feminine singular or masculine plural: ἥλιον μαρτυρόμεσθα, δρῶσ' ἃ δρᾶν οὐ βούλομαι I call the sun to witness, that I am acting against my will E. H. F. 858, ἀρκούμεν ἡμεῖς οἱ προθνήσκοντες σέθεν it is enough that I (Alcestis) die in thy stead E. Alc. 383.

1010. εἰπέ, φέρε, ἄγε may be used as stereotyped formulas, without regard to the number of persons addressed: εἰπέ μοι, ὦ Σώκρατες τε καὶ ἑμεῖς οἱ ἄλλοι tell me, Socrates and the rest of you P. Eu. 283 b.

1011. One person may be addressed as the representative of two or more who are present, or of his family: Ἀντίνο', οὐ πως ἔστιν . . . μεθ' ἡμῖν δαίτυσθαι Antinous, it is in no wise possible to feast with you β 310, ὦ τέκνον, ἥ πάρεσται; my children, are ye here? S. O. C. 1102. So in dramatic poetry, the coryphaeus may be regarded as the representative of the whole chorus, as ὦ ξένοι, μὴ μ' ἀρώγ' τίς εἰμι strangers (addressed to the whole chorus) do not ask (the singular of the coryphaeus) me who I am S. O. C. 207.

1012. Greek writers often shift from a particular to a general statement and vice versa, thus permitting a free transition from singular to plural, and from plural to singular: οὐδὲ τότε συγχαίρει ὁ τύραννος ἐνδεστέροις γὰρ οὐσι ταπεινότεροις ἀνδράσι οὐνοται χρῆσθαι not even then does the despot rejoice with the rest; for the more they are in want, the more submissive he thinks to find them X. Hi. 5. 4.

PECULIARITIES IN THE USE OF GENDER

1013. Construction according to the Sense (928 a). — The real, not the grammatical, gender often determines the agreement: ὦ φίλατ', ὦ περισσὰ τιμηθεὶς τέκνον O dearest, O greatly honoured child E. Tro. 735 (this use of the attributive adjective is poetical), τὰ μειράκια πρὸς ἀλλήλους διαλεγόμενοι the youths conversing with one another P. Lach. 180 e, ταῦτ' ἔλεγεν ἡ ἀναιδής αὐτῇ κεφαλῇ, ἐξηλυθώς this shameless fellow spoke thus when he came out D. 21. 117.

1014. So in periphrases: ἱς Τηλεμάχου ἐς πατέρα ἰδὼν mighty Telemachus, gazing at his father π 476, τὸ δὲ τῶν πρεσβυτέρων ἡμῶν . . . χαίροντες τῇ ἐκείνων ταυτῇ we the elders delighting in their sport P. L. 657 d.

1015. The masculine is used for person in general: οὐκ ἀνέξεται τίς κτονταί ἄλλους, οὐκ ἔχουσ' αὐτὴ τέκνα unfruitful herself, she will not endure that others bear children E. And. 712, ὁπότερος ἂν ᾖ βελτίων, εἴθ' ὁ ἀνὴρ εἴθ' ἡ γυνή which ever of the two is superior, whether the man or the woman X.O. 7.27. So οἱ γονεῖς parents, οἱ παῖδες children. See 1055.

See also 1009, 1050.

PECULIARITIES IN THE USE OF PERSON

1016. τίς or πᾶς may be used in the drama with the second person of the imperative: ἴτω τις, εἰσάγγελλε go, one of you, announce E. Bacch. 173.

1017. The second person singular is used to designate an imaginary person, as in proverbs: ψυχῆς ἐπιμελοῦ τῆς σεαυτοῦ care for thy. own soul Men. Sent. 551, and in such phrases as εἶδες ἂν you would have seen (1784 a), ἡγήσαιο ἂν you might think, as credideris (1824).

a. Hdt. uses the second person in directions to travellers (2.30).

See also 942.

ADJECTIVES

1018. Adjectives modify substantives (including words used substantively, 908), and substantive pronouns. Adjectives are either attributive (912) or predicate (910).

1019. The equivalents of an adjective are: a participle (οἱ παρόντες πολῖται the citizens who are present); a noun in apposition (Δημοσθένης ὁ ρήτωρ Demosthenes the orator, i.e. not Δημοσθένης ὁ στρατηγός, ὑμεῖς οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι you Athenians); an oblique case (στέφανος χρυσοῦ a crown of gold, τῆς ἀδῆς γνώμης ἐγώ I am illtempered); an oblique case with a preposition (αἱ ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ πόλεις the cities in Asia); an adverb (οἱ πάλαι the ancients). (Furthermore, a clause in a complex sentence: τὸ τελεῖσμα, δὲ ἦν αὐτόθι, αἰρούσι they captured the fortress which was there; cp. 2542.)

1020. Concord. — An adjective agrees with its substantive in gender, number, and case. This holds true also of the article, adjective pronouns, and participles: thus, A. Attributive: ὁ δίκαιος ἀνὴρ the just man, τοῦ δικαίου ἀνδρός, τὸ δικαίον ἄνδρε, οἱ δίκαιοι ἄνδρες, etc., αὗτος ὁ ἀνὴρ this man, τούτου τοῦ ἀνδρός, etc., ἡ φιλοῦσα θυγάτηρ the loving daughter. B. Predicate: καλὸς ὁ ἀγών the prize is glorious, ταῦτ' ἐστὶν ἀληθῆ these things are true, αἱ ἀρισταὶ δοκοῦσαι εἶναι φύσεις the natures which seem to be best X. M. 4. 1. 3.

On the agreement of demonstrative pronouns used adjectively with a predicate substantive, see 1239. For relative pronouns, see 2501.

ATTRIBUTIVE ADJECTIVES

ADJECTIVES USED SUBSTANTIVELY

1021. An attributive adjective (or participle) generally with the article, often dispenses with its substantive, and thus itself acquires the value of a substantive.

a. This occurs when the substantive may be supplied from the context ; when it is a general notion ; or when it is omitted in common expressions of a definite character, when the ellipsis is conscious.

1022. Masculine or feminine, when the substantive is a person : ὁ δίκαιος the just man, δίκαιος a just man, οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι the Athenians, οἱ πολλοί the many, the rabble, οἱ ὀλίγοι the oligarchical party, οἱ βουλόμενοι all who will, ἡ καλή the beautiful woman, ἡ τεκοῦσα the mother (poet., E. Alc. 167), ἐκκλησιάζουσαι women in assembly.

1023. Neuter, when the substantive idea is thing in general : τὸ ἀγαθόν the (highest) good P. R. 506 b (but τὰ ἀγαθὰ good things L. 12. 33), τὸ ἀληθές truth P. G. 473 b, τὸ κοινόν the commonwealth Ant. 3. β. 3, τὸ ἐσόμενον the future Aes. 3. 165, τὸ λεγόμενον as the saying is T. 7. 68, ἀμφὶ μέσον ἡμέρας about mid-day X. A. 4. 4. 1, ἐπὶ πολὺ over a wide space T. 1. 18.

1024. In words denoting a collection (996) of persons or facts : τὸ ὑπῆκοον the subjects T. 6. 69, τὸ βαρβαρικόν the barbarian force X. A. 1. 2. 1, τὸ συμμαχικόν the allied forces T. 4. 77 (and many words in -ικόν), τὰ Ἑλληνικά Greek history T. 1. 97 ; and in words denoting festivals (τὰ Ὀλύμπια the Olympian games X. H. 7. 4. 28).

1025. With participles, especially in Thucydides : τὸ ὀργιζόμενον τῆς ὀργῆς their angry feelings T. 2. 59, τῆς πόλεως τὸ τιμώμενον the dignity of the State 2. 63. The action of the verb is here represented as taking place under particular circumstances or at a particular time. These participles are not dead abstractions, but abstract qualities in action.

1026. A substantivized adjective may appear in the neuter plural as well as in the neuter singular : τὰ δεξιὰ τοῦ κέρατος the right of the wing X. A. 1. 8. 4, τῆς Σαλαμῖνος τὰ πολλά the greater part of Salamis T. 2. 94, ἐπὶ πλείστον ἀνθρώπων to the greatest part of mankind 1. 1, ἐς τοῦτο δυστυχίως to this degree of misfortune 7. 86 (cp. 1325).

a. On the construction of τῆς γῆς ἡ πολλή the greater part of the land T. 2. 56, see 1313.

1027. In common expressions a definite noun is often implied (such as ἡμέρᾱ day, ὁδός way, χείρ hand).

a. Masculine : κόλπος gulf, ὁ Ἴόνιος the Ionian gulf T. 6. 34, στρατός force, ὁ περὶ the land force 1. 47.

b. Feminine : γῆ land (χώρα country) — ἀπὸ τῆς αὐτῶν from their own country T. 1. 15 ; οὐθ' ἡ Ἑλλὰς οὐθ' ἡ βάρβαρος neither Greece nor barbaric land D. 9. 27 ; γνώμη judgment : κατὰ τὴν ἐμὴν according to my opinion Ar. Eccl. 153, ἐκ τῆς νικώσης according to the prevailing opinion X. A. 6. 1. 18 ; δίκη suit : ἐρήμην κατηγορούντες bringing an accusation in a case where there is no defence P. A. 18 c ; ἡμέρᾱ day : τὴν ὑστεραίαν the next day X. C. 1. 2. 11, τῇ προτεραίᾳ the day before L. 19. 22 ; κίρας wing : τὸ εὐώνυμον the left wing T. 4. 96 ; μερίς part : εἰκοστή a twentieth 6. 54 ; μοῖρα portion : ἡ πεπωμένη (I. 10. 61) or ἡ εἰμαυμένη (D. 18. 205) the allotted portion, destiny ; ναῦς ship : ἡ τριήρης the ship with three banks of oars ; ὁδός way : εὐθείᾳ by the straight road P. L. 716 a, τὴν ταχίστην by the shortest way X. A. 1. 3. 14; τέχνη art: μουσική the art of music P. L. 668 a; χείρ hand: ἐν δεξιᾷ on the right hand X. A. 1. 5. 1, ἐξ ἀριστερᾶς on the left 4. 8. 2; ψήφος vote: τὴν ἐναντιᾶν Νικίᾳ ἔθετο he voted in opposition to Nicias P. Lach. 184 d.

1028. The context often determines the substantive to be supplied: τοὺς ἀνέκραγον ὡς ὀλίγας (πληγὰς) παύειν they shouted that he had dealt him (too, 1063) few blows X. A. 5. 8. 12, τρία τάλαντα καὶ χιλιάς (δραχμαίς) three talents and a thousand drachmas D. 27. 34; cp. a dollar and twenty (cents). Cp. 1572.

1029. From such substantivized adjectives arose many prepositional and adverbial expressions of whose source the Greeks themselves had probably lost sight. Many of these seem to be analogues of phrases once containing ὁδός: τὴν ἄλλως ψηφίζεσθε you vote to no purpose D. 19. 181 (i.e. the way leading elsewhere than the goal), ἀπὸ τῆς πρώτης at the very beginning T. 7. 43, ἀπὸ τῆς ἰσῆς on an equality 1. 15, ἐξ ἐναντιᾶς from an opposite direction, facing 7. 44.

AGREEMENT OF ATTRIBUTIVE ADJECTIVES

1030. An attributive adjective belonging to more than one substantive agrees with the nearest: τὸν καλὸν κάγαθὸν ἄνδρα καὶ γυναῖκα εὐδαίμονα εἶναι φημι the perfect man and woman are happy I maintain P. G. 470 e. In some cases it is repeated with each substantive (often for emphasis): ἐν σώμῃ ἔχων καὶ ψυχὴν μίαν having one body and one soul D. 19. 227.

1031. But occasionally the adjective agrees with the more important substantive: ὁ σίγλος δύναιται ἐπὶ ὀβολοῦ καὶ ἡμιωβόλιον Ἀττικοῦς the siglus is worth seven and a half Attic obols X. A. 1. 5. 6.

1032. Of two adjectives with one substantive, one may stand in closer relation to the substantive, while the other qualifies the expression thus formed: πόλις ἐρήμη μεγάλη a large deserted-city X. A. 1. 5. 4.

1033. If one substantive has several attributive adjectives, these are sometimes added without a conjunction (by Asyndeton): κρέα ἄρνεα, ἐρίφεια, χοίρεια flesh of lambs, kids, swine X. A. 4. 5. 31. This is commoner in poetry, especially when the adjectives are descriptive: ἔγχος βριθὺ μέγα στιβαρόν a spear heavy, huge, stout II 141.

1034. Two adjectives joined by καί may form one combined notion in English, which omits the conjunction. So often with πολλός to emphasize the idea of plurality: πολλὰ κάγαθά many blessings X. A. 5. 6. 4, πολλὰ καὶ δεινὰ many dreadful sufferings D. 37. 57.

a. καλὸς κάγαθός means an aristocrat (in the political sense), or is used of a perfect quality or action (in the moral sense) as T. 4. 40, P. A. 21 d.

1035. An attributive adjective is often used in poetry instead of the attributive genitive: βλή Ἡρακλεΐη B 658 the might of Heracles (cp. "a Niobe daughter" Tennyson); rarely in prose: ποταμός, εὖρος πλεθριαῖος a river, a plethron in width X. A. 4. 6. 4.

1036. An attributive adjective belonging logically to a dependent genitive is often used in poetry with a governing substantive: νεῖκος ἀνδρῶν ζῶναιμον kindred strife of men S. A. 793 (for strife of kindred men). Rarely in prose in the case of the possessive pronoun: ἐν τῷ ὑμετέρῳ δσθενεὶ τῆς γνώμης in the weakness of your purpose T. 2. 61.

1037. An attributive adjective may dispense with its substantive when that substantive is expressed in the context: μετέχει τῆς καλλίστης (τέχνης) τῶν τεχνῶν he shares in the fairest of the arts P. G. 448 c.

1038. A substantivized participle may take the genitive rather than the case proper to the verb whence it is derived: βασιλέως προσήκοντες relations of the king T. 1. 128; contrast Περικλῆς ὁ ἐμὸς προσήκων Pericles my relation X. H. 1. 7. 21.

1039. Adjectives used substantively may take an attributive: οἱ ὑμέτεροι δυσμενεῖς your enemies X. H. 5. 2. 33.

PREDICATE ADJECTIVES

1040. The predicate adjective is employed

a. With intransitive verbs signifying to be, become, and the like (917): ἡ δὲ χάρις δόλος γεγένηται the favour has been concealed Aes. 3. 233. So with active verbs which take a preposition: νόμους ἔθεσθε ἐπ' ἀθέλοις τοῖς ἀδικήσουσι you have enacted laws with regard to offenders who are unknown D. 21. 30.

b. With transitive verbs: (1) to qualify the object of the verb directly and immediately: τοὺς κακοὺς χρηστοὺς νομίζειν to judge bad men good S. O. T. 609, (2) to express the result of the action (the proleptic use, 1579). So with αὔξειν grow, raise with μέγας great, μετέωρος on high, ὑψηλός high, μακρὸς large.

1041. With verbs of saying and thinking the predicate adjective is usually connected with its noun by εἶναι, with verbs of perceiving, showing, by ὥν (2106): οὐδένα γὰρ οἶμαι δαιμόνων εἶναι κακόν for I think no one of the gods is base E. I. T. 391, θελοῖ ψευδῆ τὴν διαθήκην ὅσων it shows that the will is false D. 45. 34. But εἶναι is sometimes omitted (945), as τὰς γὰρ καλὰς πράξεις ἀπάσαις ἀγαθὰς ὡμολογήσαμεν for we have agreed that all honourable actions are good P. Pr. 359 e. On the omission of ὥν, see 2117. For εἶναι with verbs of naming and calling, see 1615.

1042. Several adjectives of time, place, order of succession, etc., are used as predicates where English employs an adverb or a preposition with its case: ἀφικνουῦνται τριταῖοι they arrive on the third day X. A. 5. 3. 2, κατέβαινον σκοταῖοι they descended in the dark 4. 1. 10. In such cases the adjective is regarded as a quality of the subject; whereas an adverb would regard the manner of the action.

a. Time, place: χρόνιος late, ὁρθριος in the morning, δευτεραίος on the second day, ποσταῖος how many days? ὑπαίθριος in the open air.

b. Order of succession: πρῶτος, πρότερος first, ὕστερος later, μέσος in the midst, τελευταῖος last, ὕστατος last.

N.—When one action is opposed to another in order of sequence, the adverbs πρῶτον, πρότερον, ὕστατον, etc., not the adjectives πρῶτος, etc., must be used: πρῶτον μὲν ἐδάκρυε πολλὸν χρόνον . . . εἰτα δὲ ἔλαξε τοιαύδε first he wept for a long time, then he spoke as follows X. A. 1.3.2. Hence distinguish πρῶτος τῇ πόλει προσέβαλε he was the first to attack the city.

πρώτῃ τῇ πόλει προσέβαλε the city was the first place he attacked.

πρῶτον τῇ πόλει προσέβαλε his first act was to attack the city.

The same rule applies in the case of μόνος, μόνον, as μόνῃ τὴν ἐπιστολὴν ἔγραψα this is the only letter I wrote, μόνον ἔγραψα τὴν ἐπιστολὴν I only wrote (but did not send) the letter. But this distinction is not always observed (Aes. 3.69).

1043. So also with adjectives of degree, mental attitude, manner, etc.: φέρονται οἱ λίθοι πολλοὶ the stones are thrown in great numbers X. A. 4.7.7, τοὺς νεκροὺς ὅσποσινδους ἀπέδοσαν they restored the dead under a truce T. 1.63, οἱ θεοὶ εὐμενέως πέμπουσὶ σε the gods send you forth favourably X. C. 1.6.2. So with μέγας high, ἄσμενος gladly, ἐκούσιος, ἐκὼν willingly, ὀρκιος under oath, αἰφνίδιος suddenly. On ἄλλος, see 1272.

AGREEMENT OF PREDICATE ADJECTIVES (AND PARTICIPLES)

WITH ONE SUBJECT

1044. A circumstantial participle (2054) referring to a collective noun (906) may be plural: τὸ στράτευμα ἐπορίζετο σίτον κόπτοντες τοὺς βοῦς the army provided itself with provisions by killing the cattle X. A. 2.1.6. So after οὐδεὶς, as οὐδεὶς ἐκοιμήθη (= πάντες ἐν ἀγρυπνίᾳ ἦσαν) τοὺς ἀπολωλότας περνούσας no one slept because they were all bewailing the dead X. H. 2.2.3. Cp. 950.

1045. A plural participle may be used with a dual verb: ἐγελασάτην ἀμφω βλέψαντες εἰς ἀλλήλους both looked at each other and burst out laughing P. Eu. 273 d. A dual participle may be used with a plural verb: ποῦ ποτ' ἐνὶ τῇ οὐρανῷ; where in the world are we? E. I. T. 777.

1046. A dual subject may be followed by a plural predicate adjective or participle: εἰ γὰρ τις φαίη τῷ πόλει τούτῳ πλείστων ἀγαθῶν αἰτίας γεγενῆσθαι ἢ if any one should assert that these two cities have been the cause of very many blessings I. 12.156.

1047. A predicate adjective is neuter singular when the subject is an infinitive, a sentence, or a general thought: ἡδὺ πολλοὺς ἐχθροὺς ἔχειν; is it pleasant to have many enemies? D. 19.221, δῆλον δ' ὅτι ταῦτ' ἰστὶν ἀληθῆ it is clear that these things are true 2.19.

1048. A predicate adjective referring to a masculine or feminine singular subject is often neuter singular and equivalent to a substantive. This occurs chiefly in statements of a general truth, where the subject refers to a whole class, not to an individual thing. Thus, καλὸν εἰρήνη peace is a fine thing D. 19.336, ἀπιστον ταῖς πολίταῖς ἡ τυραννίς despotism is an object of mistrust to free states 1. 5, μῖζον πόλιν ἐνὸς ἀνδρός the state is larger than the individual P. R. 368 e. So also in the plural (1056).

1049. So with names of places: ἔστι δὲ ἡ Χαϊρώνεια ἔσχατον τῆς Βοιωτίας Chaeironea is on the frontier of Boeotia T. 4. 76.

1050. A predicate superlative agrees in gender either with the subject or (usually) with a dependent genitive: νόσων χαλεπώτατος φθόνος envy is the most fell of diseases Men. fr. 535, σύμβουλος ἀγαθὸς χρησιμώτατον ἀπάντων τῶν κτημάτων a good counsellor is the most useful of all possessions I. 2. 53.

1051. For a predicate adjective used where English has an adverb, cp. 1042.

1052. A predicate adjective is often used in the neuter plural (especially with verbal adjectives in -τός and -τέος in Thucydides and the poets): ἐπειδὴ εἶτομα ἦν, ἀνήγετο when (all) was ready, he put out to sea T. 2. 56, ἀδύνατα ἦν τοῖς Λοκροῦς ἀμύνεσθαι it was impossible to resist the Locrians 4. 1, ἐδόκει ἐπιχειρητέα εἶναι they decided to make the attempt 2. 3. Cp. 1003 a.

WITH TWO OR MORE SUBJECTS

1053. With two or more substantives a predicate adjective is plural, except when it agrees with the nearer subject: φόβος καὶ νόμος ἱκανὸς ἔρωτα κωλύειν fear and the law are capable of restraining love X. C. 5. 1. 10, πολλῶν δὲ λόγων καὶ θορύβου γιγνομένου there arising much discussion and confusion D. 3. 4. See 968.

1055. When the persons are of different gender, the masculine prevails: ὡς εἶδε πατέρα τε καὶ μητέρα καὶ ἀδελφοὺς καὶ τὴν ἑαυτοῦ γυναῖκα αἰχμαλώτους γεγενημένους, ἐδάκρυσε when he saw that his father and mother and brothers and wife had been made prisoners of war, he burst into tears X. C. 3. 1. 7.

a. But persons are sometimes regarded as things: ἔχω αὐτῶν καὶ τέκνα καὶ γυναῖκας φρουρούμενα I have their children and wives under guard X. A. 1. 4. 8.

1056. With substantives denoting things of like gender a predicate adjective is of the same gender and plural. A neuter plural with the singular verb is often preferred: εὐγένειαί τε καὶ δυνάμεις καὶ τίμαι θηλά ἐστιν ἀγαθὰ ὄντα noble birth and power and honour are clearly good things P. Eu. 279 b.

1057. When the things are of different gender, a predicate adjective is neuter plural with singular verb: λίθοι τε καὶ πλίνθοι καὶ ξύλα καὶ κέραμος ἀτάκτως ἐρριμμένα οὐδὲν χρήσιμά ἐστιν stones and bricks and pieces of wood and tiles thrown together at random are useless X. M. 3. 1. 7.

1058. When the substantives denote both persons and things, a predicate adjective is — a. plural, and follows the gender of the person, if the person is more important, or if the thing is treated as a person: γράδια καὶ γερόντια καὶ πρόβατα ὀλίγα καὶ βοῦς καταλειμμένους old women and old men and a few sheep and oxen that had been left behind X. A. 6. 3. 22, ἡ τύχη καὶ Φίλιππος ἦσαν τῶν ἔργων κύριοι Fortune and Philip were masters of the situation Aes. 2. 118,

b. or is neuter plural if the person is treated like a thing: ἡ καλλίστη πολιτεία τε καὶ ὁ κάλλιστος ἀνὴρ λοιπὰ ἀν' ἡμῖν εἰη διελθεῖν we should still have to treat of the noblest polity and the noblest man P. R. 562 a.

1059. The verbal and the adjective predicate may agree with the first of two subjects as the more important: Βρασιδᾶς καὶ τὸ πλῆθος ἐπὶ τὰ μετέωρα τῆς πόλεως ἐπάρετο βουλόμενος κατ' ἀκρᾶς ελεῖν αὐτήν Brasidas with the bulk of his troops turned to the upper part of the city wishing to capture it completely T. 4. 112.

For further uses of predicate adjectives, see 1150 ff., 1168 ff., 2647.

ATTRACTION OF PREDICATE NOUNS WITH THE INFINITIVE TO THE CASE OF THE OBJECT OF THE GOVERNING VERB

1060. When the subject of the infinitive is the same as a genitive or dative depending on the governing verb, it is often omitted.

1061. A predicate adjective referring to a genitive regularly stands in the genitive, but a predicate substantive or participle generally stands in the accusative in agreement with the unexpressed subject of the infinitive: Κόρου ἐδέοντο ὡς προθυμώτατον γενέσθαι they entreated Cyrus to show himself as zealous as possible X. H. 1. 5. 2, ὑπὸ τῶν δεομένων μου προστάτην γενέσθαι by those who begged me to become their chief X. C. 7. 2. 23, δέομαι ὑμῶν ἐβελῆσαι μου ἀκούσαι, ὑπολογιζομένους τὸ πλῆθος τῶν αἰτιῶν I beg of you that you be willing to listen to me, paying heed to the number of charges Aes. 2. 1.

For predicate nouns in the nominative or accusative in agreement with omitted subject of the infinitive, see 1973-1975.

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES (AND ADVERBS)

POSITIVE

1063. The positive, used to imply that something is not suited or inadequate for the purpose in question, is especially common before an infinitive with or without ὥστε (ὡς): (τὸ ὕδωρ) ψυχρόν

ἔστιν ὥστε λούσασθαι the water is too cold for bathing X. M. 3. 13. 3, ἦτες ὀλίγοι ἀμύνειν ships too few to defend T. 1. 50, μακρὸν ἂν εἴη μοι λέγειν it would take too long for me to state And. 2. 15.

1064. A positive adjective followed by the genitive of the same adjective has, in poetry, the force of a superlative: κακὰ κακῶν woe of woes S. O. C. 1238.

1065. μᾶλλον ἢ rather than, more . . . than may be used after a positive: προθύμως μᾶλλον ἢ φίλως more prompt than kindly A. Ag. 1591.

COMPARATIVE

1066. The comparative expresses contrast or comparison. Thus, δεξιτέρος is right in contrast to its opposite, ἀριστερός left. Cp. 1082 b. Usually comparison is expressed, as εὖ τε καὶ χεῖρον well or ill T. 2. 35.

a. When the positive precedes, μᾶλλον alone may stand for the comparative; as in ἐκεῖνοί τε ἀξιοὶ ἐπαίνου καὶ ἔτι μᾶλλον (i.e. ἀξιώτεροι) οἱ πατέρες they are worthy of praise and still more worthy are our fathers T. 2. 38.

b. The persons or things with which comparison is made may include all others of the same class: ἡμῶν δὲ γεραίτερος the elder (= eldest) of us X. C. 5. 1. 6.

1067. The comparative is sometimes used merely as an intensive and does not differ essentially from the positive: τούτων καταδείστερος at a disadvantage with (inferior to) these men D. 27. 2.

1068. For the use of μᾶλλον instead of the comparative, and μάλιστα instead of the superlative, see 323. When either form can be used, that with μᾶλλον or μάλιστα is more emphatic. Thucydides sometimes uses πλέον (τι), τὸ πλέον instead of μᾶλλον.

1069. The comparative degree may be followed by the genitive (1431) or by ἢ than: σοφώτερος ἐμοῦ or σοφώτερος ἢ ἐγώ wiser than I. The genitive may precede or follow the comparative. With ἢ, the persons or things compared usually stand in the same case, and always so when they are connected by the same verb: φιλῶ γὰρ οὐ σὲ μᾶλλον ἢ δόμους ἐμούς for I do not love thee more than my own house E. Med. 327.

a. The genitive is usual if two subjects would have the same verb in common; as οἱ Κρήτες βραχύτερα τῶν Περσῶν ἐτόξευον the Cretans shot a shorter distance than the Persians (= ἢ οἱ Πέρσαι) X. A. 3. 3. 7.

b. When two objects have the same verb in common: if the object stands (1) in the accusative, the genitive is preferred, as ἐμοὶ δοκεῖ Κύριος, οὓστινας ἂν ὀρεῖ ἀγαθός, φιλεῖν οὐδὲν ἤττον ἐαυτοῦ Cyrus seems to me to love all whom he finds excellent quite as much as he loves himself X. C. 2. 3. 12, but the accusative is not uncommon, as E. Med. 327 quoted above; (2) in the dative, the genitive is frequent, as προσήκει μοι μᾶλλον ἑτέρων . . . ἀρχειν it behooves me rather than others to rule T. 6. 16; (3) in the genitive, the genitive is very rare (X. M. 4. 3. 10). Here ἢ is preferred to the genitive for the sake of euphony: οἱ γὰρ πονηροὶ πολὺ πλεόνων εὐεργεσιῶν ἢ οἱ χρηστοὶ (not τῶν χρηστῶν) δεύονται for the wicked need more favours than the good X. M. 2. 6. 27.

c. The genitive is often used where ἥ would be followed by some other case than nominative or accusative, or by a preposition: ταῦτα τοῖς ὁπλίταις οὐχ ἥσσον τῶν ναυτῶν (= ἡ τοῖς ναύταις) παρακελεύομαι I address these exhortations to the hoplites not less than to the sailors T. 7. 63, (δεῖ βλέπειν) εἰς τὴν ἐμπειρίαν μᾶλλον τῆς ἀρετῆς (= ἡ εἰς τὴν ἀρετὴν) we must look at skill more than (at) courage Aristotle, Politics 1300 b 5.

d. ἐλάττων (χείρων, ἐνδεέστερος, ὕστερος, etc.) οὐδενὸς inferior to none, greater than all; here ἥ is not used). Thus, δουλεύειν δουλειᾷ οὐδεμᾶς ἥττον αἰσχροῦ to endure a most disgraceful slavery X. M. 1. 5. 6.

1070. The word following ἥ may be the subject of a new verb (expressed or understood): ἡμεῖς ὑπὸ κρείττονος διδασκάλου πεπαιδευμένα ἢ οὗτοι we have been educated by a better teacher than they (have been) X. C. 2. 3. 13; but this word is more often attracted into the case of the preceding word: τινὲς καὶ ἐκ δεινότερων ἢ τοιῶνδε (= ἡ τοιάδε ἐστίν) ἐσώθησαν some have been rescued from dangers even greater than these T. 7. 77. The genitive is also common without ἥ: λέγων οὕτω . . . τοῦτον ἥδιον οἶνον ἐπιτύχοι saying that he had never met with sweeter wine than this X. A. 1. 9. 25.

1071. ὥς for ἥ is rare, and suspected by some. But cp. A. Pr. 629, P. A. 30 b, 38 d, R. 526 c.

1072. μᾶλλον ἢ may be used though a comparative precedes: αἰρετώτερόν ἐστι μαχομένους ἀποθνήσκειν μᾶλλον ἢ φεύγοντας σφῆσθαι it is more desirable for men to die fighting (rather) than to save themselves by running away X. C. 3. 3. 51. Here μᾶλλον ἢ is to be taken with the verb.

1073. Instead of the genitive or ἥ, the prepositions ἀντί, πρό (w. gen.) or πρὸς, παρὰ (w. accus.) are sometimes used with the comparative: κατεργάσασθαι αἰρετώτερον εἶναι τὸν καλὸν θάνατον ἀντὶ τοῦ αἰσχροῦ βίου to make a noble death more desirable than (instead of) a shameful life X. R. L. 9. 1, μὴ παῖδας περὶ πλεονος ποιοῦν πρὸ τοῦ δικαίου do not consider children of more account than (before) justice P. Cr. 54 b, χειμῶν μείζων παρὰ τὴν καθεστηκυῖαν ὥρᾱν a cold too severe for (in comparison with) the actual time of year T. 4. 6.

1074. In statements of number and measure ἥ may be omitted after the adverbial comparatives πλέον (πλεῖν) more, ἐλάττων (μείον) less, which do not alter their case and number: πέμπει οὐκ ἐλάττων δέκα φέροντας πῦρ he sends not less than ten men carrying fire X. H. 4. 5. 4, πόλις πλέον πεντακισχίλιων ἀνδρῶν a city of more than 5000 men 5. 3. 16. Even when ἥ is kept, πλέον (πλεῖν), etc., remains unchanged: ἐν πλεῖν (= πλεοσιν) ἡ διακοσίαις ἔτεσιν in more than 200 years D. 24. 141, τοξότᾱς πλεῖν ἡ ἑκοσι μῦριάδας more bowmen than 20 myriads X. C. 2. 1. 6.

a. In place of the adverbial πλέον, etc., we find also the adjectival forms with or without ἥ or with the genitive: τοξότᾱς πλείους ἢ τετρακισχίλιους more bowmen than 4000 X. C. 2. 1. 5, ἔτη γεγονῶς πλείω ἐβδομήκοντα more than 70 years old P. A. 17 d, ἱππέᾱς πλείους τριακοσίων more than 300 horse X. H. 1. 3. 10.

1075. The genitive sometimes occurs together with ἥ, and either when the genitive has a separate construction, or is a pronoun to which the ἥ clause stands as an appositive, or of which it is explanatory. Thus, προφεῖ πλέον . . . ἡ δέκα σταδίων he advanced more than ten stades X. H. 4. 6. 5 (here πλέον is treated as a substantive), τίς γὰρ ἂν γένοιτο ταύτης μανίᾳ μείζων ἢ . . . ἡμᾶς κακῶς ποιεῖν; for what madness could be greater than (this) . . . to use us ill? Is. 1. 20. Cp. 1070.

1076. Compendious Comparison. — The possessor, rather than the object possessed, may be put in the genitive after a comparative: εἰ δ' ἡμῖς ἱππικὸν κτησαίμεθα μὴ χείρον τούτων (= τοῦ τούτων ἱππικοῦ) but if we should raise a cavalry-force not inferior to theirs X. C. 4. 3. 7.

1077. Comparison with a Noun representing a clause. — When one person or thing is to be compared, not with another person or thing in regard to its quality, but with an entire idea expressed by a clause (e.g. ἢ ὥστε with the infinitive, ἢ ὥς with the potential optative, or ἢ and a finite verb), this clause may be abridged into a substantive or a participle. Thus, πρᾶγμα ἐλπίδος κρείσσον ἀν' ἑκείνῃ beyond our expectations (too great to be expected) T. 2. 64, προσωτέρω τοῦ καιροῦ προΐδντες advancing further than the proper measure (i.e. further than they should have gone) X. A. 4. 3. 34, ὡς τῶν γε παρόντων οὐκ ἂν πρᾶξαντες χείρον in the belief that they could not fare worse than at present (ἢ τὰ παρόντα ἐστίν) T. 7. 67.

1078. Reflexive Comparison. — The comparative followed by the reflexive pronoun in the genitive is used to denote that an object displays a quality in a higher degree than usual. The degree of increase is measured by comparison with the subject itself. αὐτοῖς αὐτῶν εὐμαθέστερον γίγνεται they learn more easily than before I. 15. 267, πλουσιώτεροι ἐαυτῶν γινόμενοι becoming richer than they were before T. 1. 8. Cp. 1093.

1079. Proportional Comparison. — After a comparative, ἢ κατὰ with the accusative (1690. 2 c), or ἢ ὥστε, ἢ ὥς, rarely ἢ alone, with the infinitive (not with the indicative), denote too high or too low a degree: ὅπλα ἔτι πλείω ἢ κατὰ τοὺς νεκροὺς ἐλήφθη more arms were taken than there were men slain T. 7. 45, φοβοῦμαι μὴ τι μείζων ἢ ὥστε φέρειν δύνασθαι κακὸν τῇ πόλει συμβῇ I fear lest there should befall the State an evil too great for it to be able to bear X. M. 3. 5. 17 (2264).

1080. Double Comparison. — Two adjectives (or adverbs) referring to the same subject, when compared with each other, are both put in the comparative; ἢ is always used: ἢ εἰρήνη ἀναγκαιοτέρα ἢ καλλίων a peace inevitable rather than honourable Aes. 3. 69, συντομώτερον ἢ σαφέστερον διαλεχθῆναι to discourse briefly rather than clearly I. 6. 24.

a. μᾶλλον may be used with the first adjective in the positive (cp. 1065), and ἢ before the second: πρόθυμος μᾶλλον ἢ σοφωτέρᾳ with more affection than prudence E. Med. 485.

1081. A comparative may follow a positive to mark the contrast with it: καὶ μᾶρὰ καὶ μείζω both small and great(er) D. 21. 14.

1082. The comparative may stand alone, the second part being implied.

a. That which is exceeded is indicated by the sense only: οἱ σοφώτεροι the wiser (those wiser than the rest); ἐν εἰρήνῃ αἱ πόλεις ἀμείνους τὰς γνώμας ἔχουσιν in time of peace States are actuated by higher convictions (than in time of war) T. 8. 82. So τι νεώτερον something new (more recent than that already known) P. Pr. 310 a (often = a calamity or a revolutionary movement); ὑστερον ἢκαν they came too late T. 7. 27; and often where we supply is usual (right, fitting, etc.).

b. The Hom. θηλύτεραι γυναῖκες implies a comparison with men. In Κύρος . . . ἐγγόνῳ μητρὸς ἀμείνονος, πατρὸς δὲ ὑποδεστέρου Cyrus was born of a mother of superior, but of a father of inferior race (Hdt. 1. 91) the comparison is between the qualities of mother and father respectively. Cp. 318 b.

c. The comparative denotes excess: μείζουσιν ἔργοις ἐπιχειροῦντες οὐ μικροῖς κακοῖς περιπίπτουσι by entering upon undertakings too great they encounter no slight troubles X. M. 4. 2. 35.

d. The comparative is used to soften an expression (rather, somewhat): ἀγροικότερον somewhat boorishly P. G. 486 c, ἀμελέστερον ἐπορεύετο he proceeded rather carelessly X. H. 4. 8. 36. Here the quality is compared with its absence or with its opposite.

1083. The comparative is often used where English requires the positive: ὃ γὰρ χεῖρον πολλὰκις ἀκούειν for 'tis not a bad thing to hear often P. Ph. 105 a.

1084. Strengthened forms. — The comparative may be strengthened by ἔτι, πολλῶ, μακρῶ (1513), πολύ (1609), πολὺ ἔτι, etc. μᾶλλον is sometimes used with the comparative: αἰσχυνηροτέρῳ μᾶλλον τοῦ δέοντος more dashful than they ought to be P. G. 487 b. So the correlative ὅσῳ, ὅσον: ὅσῳ μείζους εἰσὶ τὰς ὕβεις, τοσούτῳ μᾶλλον ὀργῆς ἀξιοὶ εἰσὶ the braver they are to appearances, the more they deserve our anger L. 10. 29.

SUPERLATIVE

1085. The superlative expresses either the highest degree of a quality (the relative superlative: ὁ σοφώτατος ἀνὴρ the wisest man) or a very high degree of a quality (the absolute superlative, which does not take the article: ἀνὴρ σοφώτατος a very wise man). The relative superlative is followed by the genitive of the person or thing surpassed (1315, 1434). On the agreement, see 1050.

a. The class to which an individual, marked by the superlative, belongs, may be designated by a genitive of the divided whole (1315): ὁ σοφώτατος τῶν Ἑλλήνων the wisest of the Greeks. So often by πάντων: πάντων ἀνθρώπων ἀγνομόνιστατοι the most senseless of all men Lyc. 54. On the superlative with ἄλλων, see 1434.

b. With two the comparative exhausts all the degrees of comparison: hence πρότερος and πρώτος, ὑστερος and ὑστατος, ἐκάτερος each of two, and ἐκαστος each of several, are carefully to be distinguished.

1086. Strengthened Forms. — The superlative may be strengthened by prefixing ὅτι or ὥς, rarely ἦ (also ὅσον or ὅπως in poetry): ὅτι πλείστοι as many men as possible, ὅτι τάχιστα as quickly as possible, ἦ ἀριστον the very best way X. C. 7. 5. 82 (ὅπως ἀριστα A. Ag. 800). ὅτι or ὥς is always added when a preposition precedes the superlative: ὥς εἰς στενώτατον into as narrow compass as possible X. O. 18. 8. ὥς and ὅτι may be used together: ὥς ὅτι βέλτιστον ἐμὲ γινέσθαι for me to become as good as may be P. S. 218 d.

a. With ὥς and ἥ, rarely with ὅσην (not with ὅτι), a form of δύναμαι or αἰός τι εἶμι, etc., may be employed: διηγήσομαι ὑμῖν ὥς ἂν δύναμαι διὰ βραχυτάτων I will relate to you in the briefest terms I can I. 21. 2.

1087. οἷος may strengthen the superlative: ὁρῶντες τὰ πράγματα οὐχ οἷα βέλτεστα ἐν τῇ πόλει ὄντα observing that affairs are not in the very best state in the city L. 13. 23. If ὅσος or ὅπόσος take the place of οἷος, a form, or a synonym, of δύναμαι is usually added: ἤγαγον· συμμάχους ὅπόσους πλείστους ἐδυνάμην I brought the very largest number of allies I could X. C. 4. 5. 29. ὅποῖος is rare (Thuc., Plato).

1088. εἰς ἀνὴρ in apposition to the person designated may be added to strengthen the superlative: Ἀντιφῶν πλείστα εἰς ἀνὴρ δυνάμενος ὠφελεῖν Antiphon being able to render (most aid as one man) aid beyond any other man T. 8. 68.

1089. ἐν τοῖς is used before the superlative in all genders and numbers (esp. in Hdt., Thuc., Plato): ὦμῃ ἡ στάσις . . . ἔδοξε μᾶλλον, διότι ἐν τοῖς πρώτῃ ἐγένετο the revolution seemed the more cruel since it was the first T. 3. 81, ἐν τοῖς πλείεσται δὴ νῆες ἔμ' αὐτοῖς ἐγένοντο they had the very largest number of ships 3. 17.

1090. μάλιστα, or πλείστον, μέγιστον, occurs with the superlative: οἱ μάλιστα ἀνοήτατοι the very stupidest P. Tim. 92 a. In poetry βαθυ- has the effect of a superlative: βαθύπλουτος exceeding rich A. Supp. 555.

1091. καί even, πολλῶ, μακρῶ (1513), πολύ (1609), παρὰ πολὺ, πάντα (τὰ πάντα), the correlative ὅσῳ also strengthen the superlative.

1092. In poetry (rarely in prose) a superlative may be strengthened by the addition of the genitive of the same adjective in the positive: ὃ κακῶν κάκιστε oh, vilest of the vile S. O. T. 834.

1093. Reflexive comparison (cp. 1078) occurs with the superlative: ἀμβλύτατα αὐτὸς αὐτοῦ ὁρᾷ his sight is at its dullest P. L. 715 d.

ADVERBS

1094. Adverbs are of two kinds

a. Ordinary adverbs, denoting manner, degree, time, place, etc. Ordinary adverbs qualify verbs, adjectives, other adverbs, and (rarely) substantives: ὀπισθεν γινόμενος getting behind X. A. 1. 8. 24, εὐθὺς ἐβόᾳ straightway he shouted 1. 8. 1, φανερὸν ἤδη already clear L. 4. 6, πολὺ θᾶττον much more quickly X. A. 1. 5. 2, εὖ μάλα very easily 6. 1. 1, εἰκότως τρόπον τινά in a way reasonably D. 8. 41, μάλα συμφορά a great misfortune X. C. 4. 2. 5, μάλα στρατηγός an excellent general X. H. 6. 2. 39.

b. Sentence adverbs (or particles) are adverbs that affect the sentence as a whole or give emphasis to particular words of any kind. Greek has many sentence adverbs, some of which are treated more fully under Particles.

Such are words of interrogation (ἦ, ἄρα, μὴν); of affirmation and confidence (ὅθ' now, indeed, ὅθ'α surely, γέ at least, even, ἦ really, μήν in truth, νῆ surely, tol surely); of uncertainty (ίσως, πού, τάχα perhaps); of negation (οὐ, μή, οὐτοι, μήτοι, etc.); of limitation (ἀν 1761 ff.).

1095. The equivalents of an ordinary adverb are: an oblique case (ἐβασίλευεν εἰκοσὶν ἔτη he reigned for twenty years, 1581, 1582; ἀκούειν σπουδῇ to listen attentively, τῇ ὑστεραίᾳ ἐπορεύοντο they proceeded on the next day, and many other datives, 1527 b; ἦκε τὴν ταχίστην he came in the quickest way, and many other accusatives, 1606–1611); an oblique case with a preposition (διὰ τάχους ἦλθε he came quickly = ταχέως, ἀπ' οἴκου ὀρμῶμαι I start from home = οἰκοθεν, ἐν τῷ ἐμφανῇ clearly, ἐδίδου πρὸς τὴν ἀξίαν he gave according to merit = ἀξίως, πρὸς βίαν forcibly = βιαίως); a participle (γελῶν εἶπε he said with a laugh, laughingly). (Furthermore, a clause in a complex sentence, as εἰσπηδήσαντες . . . θᾶπτον ἢ ὥς τις ἀν' ᾧετο leaping in more quickly than one would have thought X. 1. 5. 8; cp. 2189. 3.)

1096. In the attributive position an ordinary adverb may serve as an adjective: ἐν τῷ πλησίον παραδείσῳ in the neighbouring park X. A. 2. 4. 16, ὁ ἐκείθεν ἄγγελος the messenger from that quarter P. R. 619 b, παραχῇ ἢ τότε the confusion of that time L. 6. 35. See 1153 e. n.

1097. a. An ordinary adverb qualifying a verb is often so used that it may be referred to the subject or object of the sentence where an adjective could stand. Thus, ὥστε . . . ὑπολαμβάνεσθαι μείζονως ἢ κατὰ τὴν ἀξίαν so as to be regarded as greater (lit. in a greater way) than (according to) their deserts I. 11. 24.

b. δίχα and χωρὶς apart, ἐκός far, ἐγγός near and some other ordinary adverbs supply, with εἶναι or γίγνεσθαι, the place of missing adjectives. Thus, χωρὶς σοφιά ἐστὶν ἀνδρείᾱ wisdom is different from courage P. Lach. 195 a.

1098. For adjectives used adverbially, see 1042; for degrees of comparison, 345, 1068; for the genitive or dative after adverbs, 1437 ff., 1499 ff.; for adverbs used as prepositions, 1700 ff.; for a relative adverb used with names of things as an equivalent of a relative pronoun preceded by ἐν, ἐς, see 2499.

THE ARTICLE—ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT

1099. The article ὁ, ἡ, τό, was originally a demonstrative pronoun, and as such supplied the place of the personal pronoun of the third person. By gradual weakening it became the definite article. It also served as a relative pronoun (1105). (Cp. Germ. der, demonstrative article and relative; French le from ille.) ὁ as a demonstrative is still retained in part in Attic prose (1106), while the beginnings of its use as the article are seen even in Homer (1102).

ὁ, ἡ, τό IN HOMER

1100. In Homer ὁ, ἡ, τό is usually a demonstrative pronoun and is used substantively or adjectively; it also serves as the personal pronoun of the third person: ἀλλὰ τὸ θαυμάζω but I marvel at this δ 655, τὸν λωβητῆρα ἐπισβόλον this prating brawler B 275, τὴν δ' ἐγὼ οὐ λύσω but her I will not release A 29.

1101. In its substantival use  $\delta$  either marks a contrast or recalls the subject (the anaphoric use). But with  $\alpha\lambda\lambda\acute{\alpha}$ ,  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}$ ,  $\alpha\upsilon\tau\acute{\alpha\rho}$  the subject is generally changed. It often precedes an explanatory relative clause:  $\tau\omega\upsilon\upsilon\iota\ \omicron\iota\ \tau\omega\upsilon\upsilon\iota\ \beta\rho\omicron\tau\omicron\iota\ \epsilon\iota\sigma\iota$  of those who are now mortal men A 272.

1102.  $\delta$ ,  $\eta$ ,  $\tau\acute{o}$  often approaches to its later use as the definite article or is actually so used:  $\tau\acute{o}\nu\ \mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\ .\ .\ .\ \tau\acute{o}\nu\ \delta'\ \epsilon\tau\epsilon\rho\omicron\upsilon$  E 145 (cp. 1107). a. The substantive often stands in apposition, and is added, as an afterthought, to the demonstrative (especially  $\delta$   $\delta\acute{\epsilon}$ ) which is still an independent pronoun:  $\alpha\upsilon\tau\acute{\alpha\rho}\ \delta\ \tau\omicron\iota\sigma\iota\ \gamma\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega\upsilon\iota\ \omicron\delta\delta\omicron\iota\ \eta\gamma\epsilon\mu\acute{o}\nu\epsilon\upsilon\epsilon\iota$  but he, the old man, was leading the way for them  $\omega$  225. In some cases the appositive is needed to complete the sense:  $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\iota\ \tau\acute{o}\ \gamma\epsilon\ \kappa\alpha\lambda\delta\epsilon\ \acute{\alpha}\kappa\omicron\upsilon\epsilon\mu\epsilon\iota\ \epsilon\sigma\tau\iota\iota\ \delta\omicron\iota\delta\omicron\upsilon$  since this—to listen to a minstrel—is a good thing a 370. b. Often with adjectives and participles used substantively, with pronouns, and adverbs; especially when a contrast or distinction is implied:  $\omicron\iota\ \acute{\alpha}\lambda\lambda\omicron\iota$  the others  $\Phi$  371,  $\tau\acute{\alpha}\ \epsilon\sigma\sigma\acute{o}\mu\epsilon\upsilon\alpha$  the things that are to be A 70,  $\tau\acute{o}\ \pi\acute{\alpha}\rho\omicron\varsigma$  formerly N 228. The attributive adj. before the noun:  $\tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \sigma\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \tau\eta\gamma\ \Psi$  572,  $\tau\acute{\alpha}\ \mu\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\iota\sigma\tau\alpha\ \acute{\alpha}\epsilon\theta\lambda\alpha$  the greatest prizes  $\Psi$  640; and in apposition:  $\text{Ἴρυν τὸν ἀλγίτην}$  Irus, the beggar  $\sigma$  333. Hom. has  $\pi\alpha\tau\acute{\eta}\rho\ \omicron\upsilon\mu\acute{o}\varsigma$   $\Theta$  360 (but does not use  $\delta\ \pi\alpha\tau\acute{\eta}\rho\ \delta\ \epsilon\mu\acute{o}\varsigma$ ).

1103. In Hom.  $\delta$  contrasts two objects, indicates a change of person, or a change of action on the part of the same person. Attic  $\delta$  defines.

1104. The transition from the demonstrative to the article is so gradual that it is often impossible to distinguish between the two. Ordinarily Homer does not use the article where it is required in Attic prose. The Epic use is adopted in general by the lyric poets and in the lyric parts of tragedy. Even in tragic dialogue the article is less common than in prose. Hdt. has  $\delta\ \delta\acute{\epsilon}$  and he,  $\delta\ \gamma\acute{\alpha}\rho$  for he.

$\delta$ , $\eta$ , $\tau\acute{o}$ AS A RELATIVE

1105. The demonstrative  $\delta$ ,  $\eta$ ,  $\tau\acute{o}$  is used as a relative pronoun in Homer only when the antecedent is definite (cp. that):  $\tau\epsilon\upsilon\chi\epsilon\alpha\ \delta'\ \epsilon\acute{\xi}\epsilon\nu\acute{\alpha}\rho\iota\zeta\epsilon$ ,  $\tau\acute{\alpha}\ \omicron\iota\ \pi\acute{o}\rho\epsilon\ \chi\acute{\alpha}\lambda\kappa\epsilon\omicron\varsigma$  Ἀρης he stripped off the arms that brazen Ares had given him H 146. The tragic poets use only the forms in  $\tau$ , and chiefly to avoid hiatus or to produce position:  $\kappa\tau\epsilon\acute{\iota}\nu\omicron\upsilon\sigma\alpha\ \tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \omicron\upsilon\ \chi\rho\acute{\eta}\ \kappa\tau\alpha\iota\acute{\nu}\iota$  slaying those whom it is not right to slay E. And. 810. ( $\omicron = \omicron\varsigma$  E. Hipp. 525.) On the use in Herodotus, see 338 D. 3.

$\delta$ , $\eta$ , $\tau\acute{o}$ AS A DEMONSTRATIVE IN ATTIC PROSE

1106. The demonstrative force of  $\delta$ ,  $\eta$ ,  $\tau\acute{o}$  survives chiefly in connection with particles ( $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu$ ,  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}$ ,  $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}$ ,  $\tau\omicron\iota$ ; and with  $\kappa\alpha\iota$  preceding  $\delta$ ).

1107.  $\delta$  is a demonstrative commonly before  $\mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu$ ,  $\delta\acute{\epsilon}$ , and especially in contrasted expressions:  $\delta\ \mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\ .\ .\ .\ \delta\ \delta\acute{\epsilon}$  the one, this . . . the other, that, as in  $\omicron\iota\ \mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\ \epsilon\pi\omicron\rho\epsilon\beta\omicron\iota\omicron\tau\omicron$ ,  $\omicron\iota\ \delta'\ \epsilon\iota\pi\omicron\tau\omicron$  the one party proceeded, the other followed X. A. 3. 4. 16.

1108. The reference may be indefinite; in which case  $\tau\iota\varsigma$  is often added:  $\tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\ \acute{\alpha}\pi\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\tau\epsilon\iota\upsilon$ ,  $\tau\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \delta'\ \acute{\epsilon}\xi\acute{\epsilon}\beta\alpha\lambda\epsilon\iota$  some he put to death, and others he expelled X. A. 1. 1. 7.  $\omicron\iota\ \mu\acute{\epsilon}\nu\ \tau\iota\varsigma\ \acute{\alpha}\pi\acute{\epsilon}\theta\eta\eta\sigma\kappa\omicron\upsilon$ ,  $\omicron\iota\ \delta'\ \acute{\epsilon}\phi\epsilon\upsilon\gamma\omicron\upsilon$  some were killed, but others escaped C. 3. 2. 10.

1109. With prepositions the order is usually inverted: ἐκ μὲν τῶν, εἰς δὲ τὰ (1663 a).

1110. In late writers (but in Demosthenes) the relative is used as in 1107: ὥστε, ἃς μὲν ἀναίρων, εἰς ἃς δὲ τοὺς φυγάδας κατὰγων destroying some cities, into others bringing back their exiles D. 18. 71 (the first instance).

1111. Note the adverbial expressions: τὸ (τὰ) μὲν . . . τὸ (τὰ) δέ on the one hand . . . on the other hand, partly . . . partly (so also τοῦτο μὲν . . . τοῦτο δέ 1256); τὸ δέ τι partly, τῇ μὲν . . . τῇ δέ in this way . . . in that way, τὸ δέ whereas (1112), τῷ τοι therefore.

1112. ὁ δέ, ἡ δέ, τὸ δέ (without a preceding μὲν clause) often mean but (or and) he, she, this. In the nominative the person referred to is usually different from the subject of the main verb: Κύρος δίδωσιν αὐτῷ μύλους δαρεικοὺς· ὁ δὲ λαβὼν τὸ χρῆσιν κ.τ.λ. Cyrus gives him (Clearchus) 10,000 darics; and he taking the money, etc. X. A. 1. 1. 9, ταῦτα ἀπαγγέλλουσι τοῖς στρατιώταις· τοῖς δὲ ὑποψία ἦν ὅτι ἄγοι πρὸς βασιλέα they report this to the soldiers; and they had a suspicion that he was leading (them) against the king X. A. 1. 3. 21, τὸ δ' οὐκ ἔστι τοιοῦτον whereas this is not so P. A. 37 a.

VARIOUS USES OF ὁ (ὅς), ἡ (ἥ), τό DEMONSTRATIVE

1113. As a personal pronoun, chiefly after καί, and in the nominative: καὶ ὁ (ἡ) and he (she): καὶ οἱ εἶπον and they said X. A. 7. 6. 4. Also in ἡ δ' ὁ and he said P. R. 327 c (792). So καὶ τὸν (τὴν) used as the accusative of καὶ ὁ, as subject of a following infinitive in indirect discourse: καὶ τὸν εἰπεῖν and (he said that) he said P. S. 174 a.

1114. In the nominative ὁ, ἡ, are usually thus written. Some write δ, ῆ, οἱ, αἱ when these words are used as demonstratives; but δ μὲν . . . δ δέ is rare.

a. The forms ὁ, ἡ, here apparently relatives with an older demonstrative force, may be in reality demonstratives, ὁ being the demonstrative (article) ὁ to which the nominative sign -ς has been added. From this ὁ may be derived, by analogy, the demonstrative use of δ, and of οἱ, οἷς in fixed expressions (1110).

1115. Also in τὸν καὶ τὸν this one and that one L. 1. 23, τὸ καὶ τὸ this and that D. 9. 68, τὰ καὶ τὰ D. 21. 141, οὔτε τοῖς οὔτε τοῖς neither to these nor to those P. L. 701 e. In the nom. ὁς καὶ ὁς such and such an one Hdt. 4. 68.

1116. In an oblique case before the relatives ὅς, ὅσος, ὅσος: τὸν τε Εὐθύκριτον . . . καὶ τὸν ὅς ἔφη δεσπότης τοῦτον εἶναι, μάρτυρας παρέξομαι and as witness I will produce both Euthycritus and the man who said he was his master L. 23. 8, ὁπότεραι τοῦ ὅ ἔστιν ἴσον he aims at that which is equal P. Ph. 75 b, and often in Plato in defining philosophical terms.

1117. Rarely with prepositions, except in πρὸ τοῦ (or πρὸ τοῦ) before this time T. 1. 118. On ἐν τοῖς with the superlative, see 1089.

ὁ, ἡ, τό AS AN ARTICLE (the) IN ATTIC (ESPECIALLY IN PROSE)

1118. The article ὁ, ἡ, τό marks objects as definite and known, whether individuals (the particular article) or classes (the generic article). The context must determine the presence of the generic article.

a. There is no indefinite article in Greek, but a, an is often represented by tis (1267).

THE PARTICULAR ARTICLE

1119. The particular article denotes individual persons or things as distinguished from others of the same kind. Thus, μαίνεται ἄνθρωπος the man is mad (a definite person, distinguished from other men) P. Phae. 268 c.

1120. Special uses of the particular article. The particular article defines a. Objects well known : ὁ τῶν ἐπὶ σοφώτατος Σόλων Solon the wisest of the Seven (Sages) P. Tim. 20 d.

b. Objects already mentioned or in the mind of the speaker or writer (the anaphoric article) : εἶπον οὖν τάλαντον ἀργυρίου ἔτοιμος εἶην δοῦναι . . . ὁ δὲ λαβὼν τὸ τάλαντον κ.τ.λ. I said that I was ready to give him a talent of silver . . . and he taking the talent, etc. L. 12. 9-10.

c. Objects specially present to the senses or mind (the deictic article) : λαβὲ τὸ βιβλίον take the book P. Th. 148 c, βουλόμενος τὴν μάχην ποιῆσαι wishing to fight the battle T. 4. 91. Hence the article is regularly used with demonstrative pronouns (1176).

N.—The foregoing (a-c) uses recall the old demonstrative force of the article. Words that ordinarily have no article may receive the article when this older force is present.

d. Objects particularized by an attributive or by a following description : ὁ δῆμος ὁ Ἀθηναίων the people of the Athenians Aes. 3. 116, λέγε τὴν ἐπιστολὴν, ἣν ἔπεμψεν read the letter that he sent D. 18. 39. Cp. 1178 d.

e. Objects marked as usual or proper under the circumstances : τὸ μέρος τῶν ψήφων ὁ διώκων οὐκ ἔλαβεν the prosecutor did not get the (requisite) part of the votes D. 18. 103.

f. Objects representative of their class (the distributive article, which resembles the generic use ; often translated by a, each) : ὑπισχνεῖται δώσειν τρία ἡμιδάρικα τοῦ μηνὸς τῷ στρατιώτῃ he promises to give each soldier three half-darics a month X. A. 1. 3. 21. But the article may be omitted : καὶ εἰλοντο δέκα, ἓνα ἀπὸ φύλης and they chose ten, one from (each) tribe X. H. 2. 4. 23.

1121. The article often takes the place of an unemphatic possessive pronoun when there is no doubt as to the possessor : Κῦρος καταπηδήσας ἀπὸ τοῦ ἄρματος τὸν θώρακα ἐνέδω Cyrus leaped down from his chariot and put on his breastplate X. A. 1. 8. 3.

THE GENERIC ARTICLE

1122. The generic article denotes an entire class as distinguished from other classes. Thus, ὁ ἄνθρωπος man (as distinguished from other beings), οἱ γέροντες the aged ; δεῖ τὸν στρατιώτην φοβεῖσθαι μᾶλλον τὸν ἄρχοντα ἢ τοὺς πολεμίους the (a) soldier should fear his commander rather than the enemy X. A. 2. 6. 10, πονηρὸν δὲ σὺκοφάντης the informer is a vile thing D. 18. 242.

1123. In the singular the generic article makes a single object the representative of the entire class; in the plural it denotes all the objects belonging to a class. The generic article is especially common, in the plural, with adjectives used substantively: οὐκ ἂν τις εἴποι ὡς τοὺς κακοὺργους καὶ ἀδίκους εἶα καταγελᾶν no one could say that he permitted the malefactor and the wrongdoer to deride him X. A. 1. 9. 13.

1124. The Article with Participles.—A participle with the article may denote an entire class: ὁ βουλόμενος any one who wishes. Cp. 2050, 2052.

ὁ τυχὼν any chance comer, ὁ ἡγησόμενος a guide, οὐκ ἀπορήσετε τῶν ἐθελήσόντων ὑπὲρ ὑμῶν κινδυνεύειν you will not be in want of those who will be willing to encounter danger for you D. 20. 186, οἱ λογοποιοῦντες newsmongers 4. 49. The same sense is expressed by πᾶς δ with a participle or adjective. On the article with a participle in the predicate, see 1152.

a. When the reference is to a particular occasion, the article may be particular (2052); as ὁ λέγων the speaker on a definite occasion.

THE ARTICLE WITH NUMERALS

1125. The article may be used with cardinal numerals

a. When the numeral states the definite part of a whole (expressed or understood): ἀπῆσαν τῶν λόγων δώδεκα ὄντων οἱ τρεῖς of the companies, numbering twelve (in all), there were absent three X. H. 7. 5. 10, εἷς παρὰ τοὺς δέκα one man in (comparison with) ten X. O. 20. 16, τῶν πέπτε τὰς δύο μοίρας two fifths T. 1. 10, δύο μέρη two thirds 3. 15. (The genitive is omitted when the denominator exceeds the numerator by one.)

b. When the numeral is approximate: ἔμειναν ἡμέρας ἀμφὶ τὰς τριάκοντα they remained about thirty days X. A. 4. 8. 22, γεγονότες τὰ πενήκοντα ἔτη about fifty years of age X. C. 1. 2. 13.

c. When the number is used abstractly (without reference to any definite object): ὅπως μὴ εἰπῇς ὅτι ἔστιν τὰ δώδεκα δις ἕξ beware of saying 12 is twice 6 P. R. 387 b.

N. Ordinals usually omit the article and regularly do so in statements of time in the dative (1540): δευτέρῳ μηνὶ τὴν πόλιν ἐτείχιζον in the second month they fortified the city T. 8. 64.

FLUCTUATION IN THE USE OF THE ARTICLE: OMISSION OF THE ARTICLE

1126. The article is often omitted (1) in words and phrases which have survived from the period when ὁ, ἡ, τό was a demonstrative pronoun; (2) when a word is sufficiently definite by itself; (3) when a word expresses a general conception without regard to its application to a definite person. The generic article is frequently omitted, especially with abstracts (1132), without appreciable difference in meaning. Its presence or absence is often determined by the need of distinguishing subject from predicate (1150), by the rhythm of the sentence, etc.

1127. The article is omitted in many adverbial designations of time, mostly with prepositions (except ἡμέρας by day, νυκτός by night).

Thus, περὶ μέσας νύκτας about midnight, ἀμα ἔω just before daylight, ὥρα ἔσται at the season of the year. So with δρόμος daybreak, δειλὴ afternoon, εἰσπέρα evening, ἔαρ spring; and ἐκ παιδῶν from childhood. Most of the above cases are survivals of the older period when the article had a demonstrative force.

1128. The article is very often omitted in phrases containing a preposition: ἐν ἀρχῇ τοῦ λόγου in the beginning of the speech D. 37. 23, ἔξω βελῶν out of reach of the missiles X. A. 3. 4. 15, Ἡῖονα τὴν ἐπὶ Στρυμόνι Eion on the Strymon T. 1. 98.

1129. Words denoting persons, when they are used of a class, may omit the article. So ἄνθρωπος, στρατηγός, θεός divinity, god (ὁ θεός the particular god). Thus, πάντων μέτρον ἀνθρώπος ἐστίν man is the measure of all things P.-Th. 178 b.

1130. Adjectives and participles used substantively have no article when the reference is general: μέσον ἡμέρας midday X. A. 1. 8. 8, ψυχρόν cold, θερμόν heat P. S. 186 d, πέμψαι προκαταληφμένους τὰ ἄκρα to send men to preoccupy the heights X. A. 1. 3. 14. Rarely when an adverb is used adjectively: τῶν ἐχθρῶν ἄρῃν ὀλεθρος the utter destruction of the enemy D. 19. 141.

THE ARTICLE WITH ABSTRACT SUBSTANTIVES

1131. Abstract substantives generally have the article: ἡ ἀρετὴ μᾶλλον ἢ ἡ φύγη σώζει τὰς ψυχὰς valour rather than flight saves men's lives X. C. 4. 1. 5.

1132. The names of the virtues, vices, arts, sciences, occupations often omit the article: τί σωφροσύνη, τί μανία; what is temperance, what is madness? X. M. 1. 1. 16, ἀρχὴ φιλίας μὲν ἔπαινος, ἐχθρὰς δὲ ψόγος praise is the beginning of friendship, blame of enmity I. 1. 33. Similarly μουσικὴ music, γεωργία agriculture. So also with δόξα opinion, νοῦς mind, τέχνη art, νόμος law.

1133. The article must be used when reference is made to a definite person or thing or to an object well known: ἡ τῶν Ἑλλήνων εὖνοια the goodwill of the Greeks Aes. 3. 70, (ὁμῖν) ἡ σχολή your usual idleness D. 8. 53.

1134. The article may be omitted in designations of space; as βάθος depth, ῥυθός height; also μέγεθος size, πλῆθος size, amount. γένος and δνομα, used as accusatives of respect (1600), may omit the article.

1135. The article may be omitted with some concrete words conveying a general idea, as ψυχή soul, σῶμα body (but the parts of the body regularly have the article).

THE ARTICLE WITH PROPER NAMES

1136. Names of persons and places are individual and therefore omit the article unless previously mentioned (1120 b) or specially marked as well known: Θουκυδίδης Ἀθηναῖος Thucydides an Athenian T. 1. 1, τοὺς στρατιωτὰς αὐτῶν, τοὺς παρὰ Κλέαρχον ἀπελθόντας, εἰὰ Κῦρος τὸν Κλέαρχον ἔχειν their soldiers who seceded to Clearchus, Cyrus allowed Clearchus to retain X. A. 1. 4. 7, ὁ Σόλων D. 20. 90, οἱ Ἡράκλεις the Heracleses P. Th. 169 b.

1137. Names of deities omit the article, except when emphatic (τῇ τὸν Δία by Zeus) or when definite cults are referred to: τὸ τῆς Ἀθηνᾶς ἔδος the sanctuary of Athena (at Athens) I. 15. 2. Names of festivals vary in prose writers (no article in inscriptions): Παραθήναια the Panathenaea (but Παραθηναίοις τοῖς μικροῖς at the Lesser Panathenaea L. 21. 4). Names of shrines have the article.

1138. Names of nations may omit the article, but οἱ Ἕλληνες is usual when opposed to οἱ βάρβαροι the barbarians. When nations are opposed, the article is usually absent: ὁ πόλεμος Ἀθηναίων καὶ Πελοποννησίων T. 2. 1 (but ὁ πόλεμος τῶν Πελοποννησίων καὶ Ἀθηναίων 1. 1). The name of a nation without the article denotes the entire people. Names of families may omit the article: Ἀσκληπιάδαι P. R. 406 a.

1139. Continents: ἡ Εὐρώπη Europe, ἡ Ἀσία Asia. Other names of countries, except those originally adjectives (as ἡ Ἀττική Attica), omit the article (Λιβύη Libya). γῆ and χώρα may be added only to such names as are treated as adjectives: ἡ Βοιωτία (γῆ) Boeotia. The names of countries standing in the genitive of the divided whole (1311) usually omit the article only when the genitive precedes the governing noun: Σικελίας τὸ πλεῖστον the most of Sicily T. 1. 12. The article is generally used with names of mountains and rivers; but is often omitted with names of islands, seas (but ὁ Πόντος the Pontus), and winds. Names of cities usually omit the article. Names of cities, rivers, and mountains often add πόλις, ποταμός, ὄρος (1142 c). The article is omitted with proper names joined with αὐτοῖς used predicatively (1206 b): αὐτοῖς Ἀθηναῖοι the Athenians themselves T. 4. 78.

1140. Several appellatives, treated like proper names, may omit the article: βασιλεὺς the king of Persia (ὁ βασιλεὺς is anaphoric (1120 b) or refers expressly to a definite person). Titles of official persons: πρυτάνεις the Prytans, στρατηγοὶ the Generals. Names of relationship, etc.: πατήρ father, ἀνὴρ husband, γυνή wife (but the article is needed when a definite individual is spoken of). Thus: ἦκον δὲ τῷ μὲν μήτηρ, τῷ δὲ γυνὴ καὶ παῖδες to one there came his mother, to another his wife and children And. 1. 48. So also πατρίς fatherland.

1141. Similarly in the case of words forming a class by themselves, and some others used definitely: ἥλιος sun, οὐρανός heaven, ἄραι seasons, κεραυνός thunder, θάνατος death; ἄστυ, πόλις city, ἀκρόπολις citadel, ἀγορά market-place, τείχος city-wall, πρυτανεῖον prytaneum, νῆσος island (all used of definite places), θάλαττα sea as opposed to the mainland, but ἡ θάλαττα of a definite sea; similarly γῆ earth, land.

1142. When the name of a person or place is defined by an appositive (916) or attributive, the following distinctions are to be noted:

a. Persons: Περδίκκᾱς Ἀλεξάνδρου Perdiccas, son of Alexander T. 2. 99: the official designation merely stating the parentage. Δημοσθένης ὁ Ἀλκισθένου (the popular designation) distinguishes Demosthenes, the son of Alcisthenes (T. 3. 91) from other persons named Demosthenes. (Similarly with names of nations.)

b. Deities: the article is used with the name and with the epithet or (less often) with neither: τῷ Διὶ τῷ Ὀλυμπίῳ to Olympian Zeus T. 5. 31, Διὶ ἐλευθερίῳ to Zeus guardian of freedom 2. 71.

c. Geographical Names are usually treated as attributives, as  $\delta$  Εὐφράτης the river Euphrates X. A. 1. 4. 11, ἡ Βόλβη λίμνη lake Bolbe T. 4. 103. In a very few cases (six times in Thuc.)  $\delta$  is omitted with the name of a river when ποταμός is inserted; but Hdt. often omits  $\delta$ . With the names of mountains the order is τὸ Πήλιον ὄρος Mt. Pelion Hdt. 7. 129 when the gender agrees, but otherwise ἐς τὸ ὄρος τὴν Ἰστώνην to Mt. Istosne T. 3. 85 (rarely as ὄπδ τῇ Αἰτῇ τῷ ὄρει at the foot of Mt. Aetna T. 3. 116). With names of islands, towns, etc., the order varies: τὸ Παρθένιον πόλισμα the town of Parthenium X. A. 7. 8. 21; ἡ Ψυττάλεια νῆσος the island of Psyllalea Hdt. 8. 95; Τραγία ἡ νῆσος the island of Tragia T. 1. 116; τοῦ Πειραιῶς τοῦ λιμένος of the harbour of Peiraeus T. 2. 93; τὸ φρούριον τὸ Δάβδαλον fort Labdalon 7. 3. The city of Mende would be Μένδη πόλις, ἡ Μένδη ἡ πόλις, Μένδη ἡ πόλις.

OTHER USES OF THE ARTICLE

1143. A single article, used with the first of two or more nouns connected by and, produces the effect of a single notion: οἱ στρατηγοὶ καὶ λοχαγοὶ the generals and captains (the commanding officers) X. A. 2. 2. 8, τὰς μεγίστας καὶ ἐλαχίστας πλῆθεις the largest and the smallest ships (the whole fleet) T. 1. 10, ἡ τῶν πολλῶν διαβολὴ τε καὶ φθόνος the calumny and envy of the multitude P. A. 28 a. Rarely when the substantives are of different genders: περὶ τὰς αὐτῶν ψυχὰς καὶ σώματα concerning their own lives and persons X. A. 3. 2. 20.

1144. A repeated article lays stress on each word:  $\delta$  Θραξ καὶ  $\delta$  βάρβαρος the Thracian and the barbarian D. 23. 132 (here the subject remains the same), οἱ στρατηγοὶ καὶ οἱ λοχαγοὶ the generals and the captains X. A. 7. 1. 13.

1145. Instead of repeating a noun with the article it may suffice to repeat the article:  $\delta$  βίος  $\delta$  τῶν ιδιωτευόντων ἢ  $\delta$  τῶν τυραννεύοντων the life of persons in a private station or that of princes I. 2. 4.

1146. A substantive followed by an attributive genitive and forming with it a compound idea, usually omits the article: τελευτὴ τοῦ βίου (the) end of his life ('life-end' as life-time) X. A. 1. 1. 1. (Less commonly ἡ τελευτὴ τοῦ βίου X. A. 1. 9. 30.) Cp. 1295 a.

1147. When the genitive dependent on a substantive is a proper name: μετὰ Εὐβοῆς ἀλωσιν after the capture of Euboea T. 2. 2, and μετὰ τὴν Λέσβου ἀλωσιν after the capture of Lesbos 8. 51. A preceding genitive thus often takes the place of the article: διὰ χρόνου πλῆθος by reason of the extent of time T. 1. 1.

1148. Concrete coördinated words forming a copulative expression may omit the article: πρὸς οὖν παίδων καὶ γυναικῶν ἱκετεύω ὑμᾶς by your children and wives I beseech you L. 4. 20, πόλιν καὶ οἰκίας ἡμῖν παράδοτε surrender to us your city and houses T. 2. 72, ἱέρειαι καὶ ἱερεῖς priestesses and priests P. R. 461 a. Cp. man and wife, horse and rider.

1149. An appositive to the personal pronouns of the first and second persons has the article when the appositive would have it (as third person) with the pronoun omitted: ὑμεῖς οἱ ἡγεμόνες πρὸς ἐμὲ πάντες συμβάλλετε do you, captains, all confer with me (οἱ ἡγεμόνες συμβάλλουσι) X. C. 6. 2. 41, οὐ σφόδρα χρώμεθα οἱ Κρήτες τοῖς ξένοις ποιήμασι we Cretans do not make very much use of foreign poems P. L. 680 c, χαίρω ἀκούων ἑμῶν τῶν σοφῶν I delight in listening to you sages P. Ion 582 d.

THE ARTICLE AND A PREDICATE NOUN

1150. A predicate noun has no article, and is thus distinguished from the subject: καλεῖται ἡ ἀκρόπολις ἔτι ὑπ' Ἀθηναίων πόλις the acropolis is still called 'city' by the Athenians T. 2. 15.

1151. Predicate comparatives and superlatives, possessive pronouns, and ordinals have no article: ᾤμην τὴν ἑμαυτοῦ γυναῖκα πᾶσων σωφρονεστάτην εἶναι I thought that my wife was (the) most virtuous of all L. 1. 10, Χαίρεφῶν ἐμὸς ἐταῖρος ἦν Chaerephon was a friend of mine P. A. 21 a. Cp. 1125 d.

1152. Even in the predicate the article is used with a noun referring to a definite object (an individual or a class) that is well known, previously mentioned or hinted at, or identical with the subject: οἱ δ' ἄλλοι ἐπιχειροῦσι βάλλειν τὸν Δέξιππον ἀνακαλοῦντες τὸν προδότην the rest try to strike Dexippus calling him 'the traitor' X. A. 6. 6. 7, οἱτοὶ ἦσαν οἱ φεύγοντες τὸν ἑλεγχον these men were those who (as I have said) avoided the inquiry Ant. 6. 27. οἱ τιθέμενοι τοὺς νόμους οἱ ἀσθενεῖς ἄνθρωποι εἰσι καὶ οἱ πολλοὶ the enactors of the laws are the weak men and the multitude P. G. 488 b, ὥππτενε δὲ εἶναι τὸν διαβάλλοντα Μένωνα he suspected that it was Menon who traduced him X. A. 2. 5. 28 (here subject and predicate could change places). So also with ὁ αὐτός the same (1209 a), ὅδερον one of two (69), τοῦναντίον the opposite.

SUBSTANTIVE-MAKING POWER OF THE ARTICLE

1153. The article has the power to make substantival any word or words to which it is prefixed.

a. Adjectives: ὁ σοφός the wise man, τὸ δίκαιον justice.

b. Participles (with indefinite force): ὁ βουλόμενος whoever wills, the first that offers. Cp. 1124.

N. 1. — Such participial nouns appear in active, middle, and passive forms, and admit the distinctions of tense: οἱ ἐθελήσοντες μένειν those who shall be willing to remain X. H. 7. 5. 24.

N. 2. — Thucydides often substantivizes the neuter participle to form abstract expressions: τῆς πόλεως τὸ τιμώμενον the dignity of the State 2. 63. Such participial nouns denote an action regulated by time and circumstance. Contrast τὸ δεδιός fear (in actual operation) 1. 36 with τὸ δέος (simply fear in the abstract).

c. Preposition and case: οἱ ἐπὶ τῶν πρᾶγμάτων those in power, the government D. 18. 247, οἱ ἐν τῇ ἡλικίᾳ those in the prime of life T. 6. 24.

d. With the genitive, forming a noun-phrase (1299): τὰ τῶν στρατιωτῶν the condition of the soldiers X. A. 3. 1. 20, τὰ τῆς ὀργῆς the outbursts of wrath T. 2. 60.

e. Adverbs: οἱ τ' ἔνδον συνελαμβάνοντο καὶ οἱ ἐκτὸς κατεκόπησαν those who were inside were arrested and those outside were cut down X. A. 2. 5. 32. Similarly οἱ τότε the men of that time, οἱ ἐκεῖ the dead, οἱ παλαιοὶ the ancients.

N. — An adverb preceded by the article may be used like an adjective: ὁ δροῦς κυβερνήτης the good pilot P. R. 341 c. The article is rarely omitted.

f. Infinitives : καλοῦσι γε ἀκολασίαν τὸ ὑπὸ τῶν ἡδονῶν ἀρχεσθαι they call intemperance being ruled by one's pleasures P. Ph. 68 e.

g. Any single word or clause : τὸ ὑμεῖς δταν λέγω, τὴν πόλιν λέγω when I say You, I mean the State D. 18. 88, ὑπερβᾶς τὸ δίκας ὑπεχέτω τοῦ φόβου omitting (the words) 'let him submit to judgment for the murder' D. 23. 220.

POSITION OF THE ARTICLE

Attributive Position of the Article

1154. A word or group of words standing between the article and its noun, or immediately after the article if the noun, with or without the article, precedes, is an attributive. Thus, ὁ σοφὸς ἀνὴρ, ὁ ἀνὴρ ὁ σοφός, or ἀνὴρ ὁ σοφός (cp. 1168).

1155. This holds true except in the case of such post-positive words as μέν, δέ, γέ, τέ, γάρ, δή, οἶμαι, οὖν, τοίνυν; and τις in Hdt. : τῶν τις Περσέων one of the Persians 1. 85. In Attic, τις intervenes only when an attributive follows the article : τῶν βαρβάρων τινὲς ἱππέων some of the barbarian cavalry X. A. 2. 5. 32.

1156. Adjectives, participles, adverbs, and (generally) prepositions with their cases, if preceded by the article, have attributive position.

1157. (1) Commonly, as in English, the article and the attributive precede the noun : ὁ σοφὸς ἀνὴρ the wise man. In this arrangement the emphasis is on the attributive. Thus, τῇ πρώτῃ ἡμέρᾳ on the first day T. 3. 96, ἐν τῷ πρὸ τοῦ χρόνου in former times D. 53. 12, τὸν ἐκ τῶν Ἑλλήνων εἰς τοὺς βαρβάρους φόβον ἰδὼν seeing the terror inspired by the Greeks in the barbarians X. A. 1. 2. 18.

1158. (2) Less often, the article and the attributive follow the noun preceded by the article : ὁ ἀνὴρ ὁ σοφὸς the wise man. Thus, τὸ στράτευμα τὸ τῶν Ἀθηναίων the army of the Athenians T. 8. 50, ἐν τῇ πορείᾳ τῇ μέχρι ἐπὶ θάλατταν on the journey as far as the sea X. A. 5. 1. 1. In this arrangement the emphasis is on the noun, as something definite or previously mentioned, and the attributive is added by way of explanation. So τοὺς κύνας τοὺς χαλεποὺς διδέωσι they tie up the dogs, the savage ones (I mean) X. A. 5. 8. 24.

1159. (3) Least often, the noun takes no article before it, when it would have none if the attributive were dropped : ἀνὴρ ὁ σοφός the wise man (lit. a man, I mean the wise one). Thus, μάχαις ταῖς πλεοῖσι in the greater number of battles T. 7. 11, σύνειμι μὲν θεοῖς, σύνειμι δὲ ἀνθρώποις τοῖς ἀγαθοῖς I associate with gods, I associate with good men X. M. 2. 1. 32. In this arrangement the attributive is added by way of explanation; as in the last example : with men, the good (I mean).

1160. A proper name, defining a preceding noun with the article, may itself have the article : ὁ ἀδελφὸς δ' Ἀρεθούσιος (his) brother Arethusius D. 53. 10. Cp. 1142 c. An appositive to a proper name has the article when it designates a characteristic or something well known : ὁ Σόλων ὁ παλαιὸς ἦν φιλόδημος Solon of ancient times was a lover of the people Ar. Nub. 1187, Πάσιων ὁ Μεγαρεὺς Pasion, the Megarian X. A. 1. 4. 7.

1161. The genitive of a substantive limiting the meaning of another substantive may take any one of four positions:—

a. τὸ τοῦ πατρὸς βιβλίον the father's book (very common). Thus, ἡ τῶν τεθνεώτων ἀρετὴ the valour of the dead L. 12. 36.

b. τὸ βιβλίον τοῦ τοῦ πατρὸς (less common). Thus, ἡ οἰκία ἡ Σίμωνος the house of Simon L. 8. 32.

c. τοῦ πατρὸς τὸ βιβλίον (to emphasize the genitive or when a genitive has just preceded). Thus, τῆς νίκης τὸ μέγεθος the greatness of the victory X. H. 6. 4. 19.

d. τὸ βιβλίον τοῦ πατρὸς (very common). Thus, ἡ τόλμα τῶν λεγόντων the effrontery of the speakers L. 12. 41. The genitive of the divided whole (1306) is so placed or as in c.

N. 1. — A substantive with no article is sometimes followed by the article and the attributive genitive: ἐπὶ σκηνὴν ἰόντες τὴν Ζενοφῶντος going to the tent (namely, that) of Xenophon X. A. 6. 4. 19. Cp. 1159.

1162. The order bringing together the same forms of the article (περὶ τοῦ τοῦ πατρὸς βιβλίου) is avoided, but two or three articles of different form may stand together: τὸ τῆς τοῦ ξαίροντος τέχνης ἔργον the work of the art of the wool-carder P. Pol. 281 a.

1163. The attributive position is employed with the possessive pronouns and the possessive genitives of the reflexive and demonstrative pronouns (1184), αὐτός meaning same (1173), and πᾶς expressing the sum total (1174).

1164. Two or more attributives of a substantive are variously placed: (1) εἰς τὰς ἄλλας Ἀρκαδικὰς πόλεις to the other Arcadian cities X. H. 7. 4. 38. (2) τὸ ἐν Ἀρκαδίᾳ τὸ τοῦ Διὸς τοῦ Λυκαίου ἱερὸν the sanctuary of Lycean Zeus in Arcadia P. R. 585 d. (3) ἐς τὸν ἐπὶ τῷ στόματι τοῦ λιμένος στενοῦ ὄντος τὸν ἕτερον πύργον to the other tower at the mouth of the harbour which was narrow T. 8. 90. (4) ἐν τῇ οἰκίᾳ τῇ Χαρμοῖδου τῇ παρὰ τὸ Ὀλυμπεῖον in the house of Charmides by the Olympieum And. 1. 16. (5) ἀπὸ τῶν ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ πόλεων Ἑλληνίδων from the Greek cities in Asia X. H. 4. 3. 15. (6) πρὸς τὴν ἐκ τῆς Σικελίας τῶν Ἀθηναίων μεγάλην κακοπραγίαν with regard to the great failure of the Athenians in Sicily T. 8. 2. (7) τὸ τεῖχος τὸ μακρὸν τὸ νότιον the long southern wall And. 3. 7.

1165. A relative or temporal clause may be treated as an attributive: Σόλων ἐμίσει τοὺς ὅλους οὗτος ἀνθρώπους Solon detested men like this man here D. 19. 254.

1166. Position of an attributive participle with its modifiers (A = article, N = noun, P = participle, D = word or words dependent on P): (1) APND: τὸν ἐφειστηκότα κινδύνον τῇ πόλει the danger impending over the State D. 18. 176. (2) APDN: τοὺς περιεστηκότας τῇ πόλει κινδύνους D. 18. 179. (3) ADPN: τὸν τότε τῇ πόλει περιστάσαντα κινδύνον D. 18. 188. (4) NADP: ἔτοιμον ἔχει δύναμιν τὴν . . . καταδουλωσομένην ἅπαντας he has in readiness a force to enslave all D. 8. 46.

1167 a. Especially after verbal substantives denoting an action or a state an attributive prepositional phrase is added without the article being repeated: τῇ μεγάλῃ στρατείᾳ Ἀθηναίων καὶ τῶν συμμάχων ἐς Αἴγυπτον the great expedition of the Athenians and their allies to Egypt T. 1. 110.

b. A word defining a substantivized participle, adjective, or infinitive may be placed before the article for emphasis: καὶ ταῦτα τοὺς εἰδότας καλοῦμεν and we will summon those who have knowledge of this D. 57. 65, τούτων τοῖς ἐναντίοις with the opposite of these T. 7. 75.

Predicate Position of Adjectives

1168. A predicate adjective either precedes or follows the article and its noun: σοφὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ or ὁ ἀνὴρ σοφός the man is wise.

Thus, ἀτελεῖ τῇ νικῇ ἀνέστησαν they retired with their victory incomplete T. 8. 27, ψιλὴν ἔχων τὴν κεφαλὴν with his head bare X. A. 1. 8. 6, τὰς τριῆρεις ἀφελκυσαν ands they towed off the ships without their crews T. 2. 93.

a. This is called the predicate position, which often lends emphasis.

1169. A predicate adjective or substantive may thus be the equivalent of a clause of a complex sentence: ἀθάνατον τὴν περὶ αὐτῶν μνήμην καταλείψουσιν they will leave behind a remembrance of themselves that will never die I. 9. 3, ἐτήρετο πόσον τι ἄγοι τὸ στράτευμα he asked about how large the force was that he was leading (= πόσον τι εἴη τὸ στράτευμα δ' ἄγοι 2647) X. C. 2. 1. 2, παρ' ἐκόντων τῶν συμμάχων τὴν ἡγεμονίαν ἔλαβον they received the leadership from their allies (being willing) who were willing to confer it I. 1. 17.

1170. A predicate expression may stand inside an attributive phrase: ὁ δεινὸς (pred.) λεγόμενος γεωργός he who is called a skilful agriculturist X. O. 19. 14. This is common with participles of naming with the article.

1171. The predicate position is employed with the demonstratives οὗτος, ἐκεῖνος, and ἀμφω, ἀμφοτέρως, ἐκάτερος, and ἐκαστος; with the possessive genitives of personal and relative pronouns (1185, 1196) and of αὐτός (1201); with αὐτός meaning self (1206 b); with the genitive of the divided whole (1306), as τούτων οἱ πλείστοι the most of these X. A. 1. 5. 13, οἱ ἀριστοὶ τῶν περὶ αὐτόν the bravest of his companions 1. 8. 27; and with πᾶς meaning all (1174 b).

a. This wise man is οὗτος ὁ σοφὸς ἀνὴρ, ὁ σοφὸς ἀνὴρ οὗτος (and also ὁ σοφὸς οὗτος ἀνὴρ).

PECULIARITIES OF POSITION WITH THE ARTICLE

1172. Adjectives of Place. — When used in the predicate position (1168) ἄκρος (high) means the top of, μέσος (middle) means the middle of, ἐσχάτος (extreme) means the end of. Cp. summus, medius, extremus.

Attributive Position

τὸ ἄκρον ὄρος the lofty mountain ἡ μέση ἀγορὰ the central market
ἡ ἐσχάτη νῆσος the farthest island

Predicate Position

ἄκρον τὸ ὄρος } the top of τὸ ὄρος ἄκρον } the mountain μέση ἡ ἀγορὰ } the centre of ἡ ἀγορὰ μέση } the market ἐσχάτη ἡ νῆσος } the verge of ἡ νῆσος ἐσχάτη } the island

Thus, περὶ ἀκρῶν ταῖς χερσὶ χειρῖδες gloves on the fingers (points of the hands) X. C. 8. 8. 17, διὰ μέσου τοῦ παραδείσου πεῖ flows through the middle of the park X. A. 1. 2. 7. The meaning of the predicate position is also expressed by (τὸ) ἄκρον τοῦ ὄρους, (τὸ) μέσον τῆς ἀγορᾶς, etc.

1173. μόνος, ἡμῶς. — (1) Attributive: ὁ μόνος παῖς the only son, αἱ ἡμίσεις χάριτες half-favours. (2) Predicate: μόνος ὁ παῖς (or ὁ παῖς μόνος) παίζει the boy plays alone, ἡμῶς ὁ βίος (or ὁ βίος ἡμῶς) ἡμῶς half of life, τὰ ἄρματα τὰ ἡμίσεις half of the chariots.

αὐτός: (1) Attributive: ὁ αὐτός ἀνὴρ the same man. (2) Predicate: αὐτὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ or ὁ ἀνὴρ αὐτὸς the man himself.

1174. πᾶς (and in the strengthened forms πᾶς, σὺμπᾶς all together). a. In the attributive position πᾶς denotes the whole regarded as the sum of all its parts (the sum total, the collective body): οἱ πάντες πολῖται the whole body of citizens, ἡ πᾶσα Σικελία the whole of Sicily, ἀποκτείνει τοὺς πάντας Μυτιληναίους to put to death the entire Mitylenean population T. 8. 36.

N. — Hence, with numbers, οἱ πάντες, τὰ σὺμπαντα in all: ἑξακόσιοι καὶ χθιοὶ οἱ πάντες 1600 in all T. 1. 60.

b. In the predicate (and usual) position πᾶς means all: πάντες οἱ πολῖται or (often emphatic) οἱ πολῖται πάντες all the citizens (individually), περὶ πάντας τοὺς θεοὺς ἡσεβήκασι καὶ εἰς ἀπᾶσαν τὴν πόλιν ἡμαρτήκασιν they have committed impiety towards all the gods and have sinned against the whole State L. 14. 42.

c. Without the article: πάντες πολῖται all (conceivable) citizens, μισθωσάμενοι πάντας ἀνθρώπους hiring every conceivable person L. 12. 60.

N. 1. — In the meaning pure, nothing but, πᾶς is strictly a predicate and has no article: κύκλῳ φρουρούμενος ὑπὸ πάντων πολεμίων hemmed in by a ring of guards all of whom are his enemies (= πάντες ὑφ' ὧν φρουρεῖται πολέμοι εἰσι) P. R. 579 b. So πᾶσα κακία utter baseness.

N. 2. — The article is not used with πᾶς if the noun, standing alone, would have no article.

N. 3. — In the singular, πᾶς often means every: σὺν σοὶ πᾶσα ὁδὸς εὐπορος with you every road is easy to travel X. A. 2. 5. 9, πᾶσα θάλασσα every sea T. 2. 41.

1175. ὅλος: (1) Attributive: τὸ ὅλον στράτευμα the whole army; (2) Predicate: ὅλον τὸ στράτευμα (or τὸ στράτευμα ὅλον) the army as a whole, τὴν νύκτα ὅλην the entire night. With no article: ὅλον στράτευμα a whole army, ὅλα στρατεύματα whole armies.

1176. The demonstrative pronouns οὗτος, ὅδε, ἐκεῖνος, and αὐτός self, in agreement with a noun, usually take the article, and stand in the predicate position (1168): οὗτος ὁ ἀνὴρ or ὁ ἀνὴρ οὗτος (never ὁ οὗτος ἀνὴρ) this man, αὐτὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ or ὁ ἀνὴρ αὐτός the man himself (ὁ αὐτὸς ἀνὴρ the same man 1173).

1177. One or more words may separate the demonstrative from its noun: ὁ τοῦτου ἔρωι τοῦ ἀνθρώπου the love of this man P. S. 213 c. Note also τῶν οἰκείων τινὲς τῶν ἐκείνων some of their slaves (some of the slaves of those men) P. A. 33 d.

1178. οὗτος, ὅδε, ἐκεῖνος sometimes omit the article.

a. Regularly, when the noun is in the predicate: αὕτη ἔστω ἱκανὴ ἀπολογία let this be a sufficient defence P. A. 24 b, οἶμαι ἐμὴν ταύτην πατρίδα εἶναι I think this is my native country X. A. 4. 8. 4.

b. Usually, with proper names, except when anaphoric (1120 b): ἐκεῖνος Θουκυδίδης that (well-known) Thucydides Ar. Ach. 708.

c. Usually, with definite numbers: ταύτας τριάκοντα μνᾶς these thirty minae D. 27. 23.

d. Optionally, when a relative clause follows: ἐπὶ γῇν τήνδε ἤλθομεν, ἐν ᾗ οἱ πατέρες ἡμῶν Μήδων ἐκράτησαν we have come against this land, in which our fathers conquered the Medes T. 2. 74.

e. In the phrase (often contemptuous) οὗτος ἀνὴρ P. G. 505 c; and in other expressions denoting some emotion: ἀνθρώπος οὗτος D. 18. 243.

f. Sometimes, when the demonstrative follows its noun: ἐπίγραμμα τόδε T. 6. 59. So often in Hdt.

g. Frequently, in poetry.

1179. ἀμφω, ἀμφοτέρω both, ἑκάτερος each (of two), ἕκαστος each (of several) have the predicate position. But with ἕκαστος the article is often omitted: κατὰ τὴν ἡμέραν ἐκάστην (day by day and) every day, καθ' ἐκάστην ἡμέραν every day.

1180. The demonstratives of quality and quantity, τοιοῦτος, τοίσδε, τοσοῦτος, τοσούδε, τηλικούτος, when they take the article, usually follow it: τῶν τοσοῦτων καὶ τοιούτων ἀγαθῶν of so many and such blessings D. 18. 305, τοῦτο τὸ τοιοῦτον ἔθος such a practice as this 21. 123. ὁ δεῖνα such a one (336) regularly takes the article.

a. But the predicate position occurs: τοσαύτη ἡ πρώτη παρασκευὴ πρὸς τὸν πόλεμον διέπλει so great was the first armament which crossed over for the war T. 6. 44.

1181. An attributive, following the article, may be separated from its noun by a pronoun: ἡ πάλαι ἡμῶν φύσις our old nature P. 8. 189 d, ἡ στενὴ αὕτη ὁδός (for αὕτη ἡ στενὴ ὁδός) this narrow road X. A. 4. 2. 6.

1182. Possessive pronouns take the article only when a definite person or thing is meant, and stand between article and noun: τὸ ἐμὸν βιβλίον my book, τὰ ἡμέτερα βιβλία our books.

a. But names of relationship, πόλις, πατρίς, etc., do not require the article (1140).

1183. The article is not used with possessive pronouns or the genitive of personal and reflexive pronouns (cp. 1184, 1185):

a. When no particular object is meant: ἐμὸν βιβλίον or βιβλίον μου a book of mine.

b. When these pronouns belong to the predicate: μαθητῆς γέγονα σοί I have become a pupil of yours P. Euth. 5 a, οὐ λόγους ἐμαντοῦ λέγων not speaking words of my own D. 9. 41.

POSITION OF THE GENITIVE OF PRONOUNS AND THE ARTICLE

1184. In the attributive position (1154) stands the genitive of the demonstrative, reflexive, and reciprocal pronouns. τὸ τούτου βιβλίον or τὸ βιβλίον τὸ τούτου his book, τὸ ἐμαντοῦ βιβλίον or τὸ βιβλίον τὸ ἐμαντοῦ my own book; μετεπέμψατο τὴν ἐαυτοῦ θυγατέρα καὶ τὸν παῖδα αὐτῆς he sent for his daughter and her child X. C. 1. 3. 1.

a. The type τὸ βιβλίον τούτου is rare and suspected except when another attributive is added: τῇ νῦν ὕβρει τούτου D. 4. 3. The types τὸ βιβλίον ἐμαντοῦ (Hdt. 6. 23) and τὸ αὐτοῦ βιβλίον (T. 6. 102) are rare.

1185. In the predicate position stands

a. The genitive of the personal pronouns (whether partitive or not): τὸ βιβλίον μου (σου, αὐτοῦ, etc.), or μου (σου, αὐτοῦ, etc.) τὸ βιβλίον when other words precede, as ὅς ἔχει σου τὴν ἀδελφὴν who has your sister to wife And. 1. 50.

b. The genitive of the other pronouns used partitively.

N. 1. — Homer does not use the article in the above cases, and often employs the orthotone forms (σεῖο μέγα κλέος thy great fame π 241). Even in Attic ἐμοῦ for μου occurs (ἐμοῦ τὰ φορτία my wares Ar. Vesp. 1398).

N. 2. — The differences of position between 1184 and 1185 may be thus illustrated:

My book is pretty: καλὸν ἐστὶ τὸ βιβλίον μου.

καλὸν ἐστὶ μου τὸ βιβλίον.

My pretty book: τὸ καλὸν μου βιβλίον.

They read their books: τὰ ταυτῶν βιβλία ἀναγινώσκουσιν.

INTERROGATIVES, ἄλλος, πῶς, ἄλλως WITH THE ARTICLE

1186. The interrogatives τίς, ποῖος may take the article when a question is asked about an object before mentioned: ΣΩ. νῦν δὲ ἑκείνα, ὃ Φαῖδρε, δυνάμεθα κρίνειν. ΦΑΙ. τὰ ποῖα; ΣΟΚ. Now at last we can decide those questions. ΠΗ. (The) what questions? P. Phae. 277 a.

1187. So even with a personal pronoun: A. δεῦρο δὲ εὐθὺ ἡμῶν . . . B. ποῖ λέγεις καὶ παρὰ τίνας τοὺς ὅμᾱς; A. Come hither straight to us. B. Whither do you mean and who are you that I am to come to (you being who)? P. Lys. 203 b.

1188. ἄλλος other. — ὁ ἄλλος in the singular usually means the rest (ἡ ἄλλη Ἑλλάς the rest of Greece); in the plural, the others (οἱ ἄλλοι Ἕλληνες the other (ceteri) Greeks, but ἄλλοι Ἕλληνες other (alii) Greeks). A substantivized adjective or participle usually has the article when it stands in apposition to οἱ ἄλλοι: τὰ ἄλλα τὰ πολιτικά the other civic affairs X. Hi. 9. 5. On ἄλλος, ὁ ἄλλος (sometimes ἕτερος) besides, see 1272.

1189. πῶς, ἄλλως: τὸ πῶς usually means the great(er) part, οἱ πολλοὶ the multitude, the vulgar crowd; πλείους several, οἱ πλείους the majority, the mass; πλείστοι very many, οἱ πλείστοι the most; ὀλίγοι few, οἱ ὀλίγοι the oligarchs (as opposed to οἱ πολλοί). Note πῶς predicative: ἐπεὶ ἑώρα πολλά τὰ κρέα when he saw that there was abundance of meat X. C. 1. 3. 6.

PRONOUNS*THE PERSONAL PRONOUNS

1190. The nominative of the personal pronoun is usually omitted except when emphatic, e.g. in contrasts, whether expressed or implied: ἐπεὶ ὑμεῖς ἐμοὶ οὐ θέλετε πείθεσθαι, ἐγὼ σὺν ὑμῖν ἕρομαι since you are not willing to obey me, I will follow along with you X. A. 1. 3. 6. In contrasts the first pronoun is sometimes omitted (930).

1191. Where there is no contrast the addition of the pronoun may strengthen the verb: εἰ μὴδὲ τοῦτο βούλει ἀποκρίνασθαι, σὺ δὲ τοῦντιθέον λέγε if you do not wish to reply even to this, tell me then X. C. 5. 5. 21.

1192. The forms ἐμοῦ, ἐμοί, and ἐμέ and the accented forms of the pronoun of the second person (325 a) are used when emphatic and usually after prepositions: καὶ πεισῆς ἐμέ πρῶτὰ ἔδωκός μοι καὶ ἔλαβες παρ' ἐμοῦ and after prevailing on me you gave me pledges of faith and received them from me X. A. 1. 6. 7. Cp. 187 N. 2. On the reflexive use of the personal pronouns of the first and second persons, see 1222-1224.

1193. ἐγώ, σύ (ἐμός, σός) are rarely used of an imaginary person ('anybody'): D. 9. 17, X. R. A. 1. 11.

1194. The nominative of the pronoun of the third person is replaced by ἐκείνος (of absent persons), ὅδε, οὗτος (of present persons), ὁ μὲν . . . ὁ δέ (at the beginning of a sentence), and by αὐτός in contrasts. The oblique cases of the foregoing replace ὁ, etc., which in Attic prose are usually indirect reflexives (1228, 1229). ὁ and ἐ in Attic prose occur chiefly in poetical passages of Plato; in Attic poetry they are personal pronouns. The pronoun of the third person is very rare in the orators.

1195. Homer uses τε, οί, etc., as personal pronouns (= αὐτοῦ, αὐτῶ, etc., in Attic), in which case they are enclitic: διὰ μαντοσύνην, τήν οἱ πῶρ Φοῖβος by the art of divination, which Phoebus gave to him A 72. Homer also uses τε, οί, etc., either as direct (= ταυτοῦ, etc., 1218) or as indirect reflexives (= αὐτοῦ, etc., 1225). In the former case they are orthotone; in the latter, either enclitic or orthotone. Thus, οἱ ταῖδα τοιούτῳ γέλῳτε he begat a son like unto himself E 800, οὗ τινά φησιν ὁμοῖον ὅμαρσι Δαναῶν he says there is no one of the Danaans like unto himself I 306. Hdt. agrees with Hom. except that ὁ, οί are not direct reflexives and orthotone; οἵσι (not οῖσι) is reflexive.

THE POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS

For the article with a possessive pronoun see 1182-1183.

1196. The possessive pronouns (330) of the first and second persons are the equivalents of the possessive genitive of the personal pronouns: ἐμός = μου, σός = σου, ἡμέτερος = ἡμῶν, ὁμέτερος = ὁμῶν.

a. When the possessives refer to a definite, particular thing, they have the article, which always precedes (1182); the personal pronouns have the predicate position (1185). Distinguish ὁ ἐμός φίλος, ὁ φίλος ὁ ἐμός, ὁ φίλος μου my friend from φίλος ἐμός, φίλος μου a friend of mine.

b. A word may stand in the genitive in apposition to the personal pronoun implied in a possessive pronoun. See 977.

1197. A possessive pronoun may have the force of an objective genitive (cp. 1831) of the personal pronoun: φιλικῇ τῇ ἐμῇ out of friendship for me X. C. 3. 1. 28. (φιλικῇ ἡ ἐμῇ usually means my friendship (for others)).

1198. The possessive pronouns of the first and second persons are sometimes reflexive (when the subject of the sentence and the possessor are the same person), sometimes not reflexive.

1199. FIRST AND SECOND PERSONS SINGULAR

1. Not reflexive (adjective my, thy (your); pronoun mine, thine (yours)).

ἐμέ, σός: ὁρᾷ τὸν ἐμὸν φίλον he sees my friend, ὁρᾷ τὸν σὸν πατέρα she sees your father, στέργει τὸν ἐμὸν πατέρα he loves my father (or τὸν πατέρα τὸν ἐμὸν or πατέρα τὸν ἐμόν; or τὸν πατέρα μου or μου τὸν πατέρα), οἱ ἐμοὶ ὀφθαλμοὶ καλλίους ἂν τῶν σῶν εἴησαν my eyes will prove to be more beautiful than yours X. S. 6. 5.

2. Reflexive (my own, thine (your) own).

a. ἑαυτοῦ, σεαυτοῦ, in the attributive position (very common): ἔλαβον τὸν ἐμαυτοῦ μισθόν (or τὸν μισθὸν τὸν ἐμαυτοῦ) I received my (own) pay, τὸν ἀδελφὸν τὸν ἐμαυτοῦ ἐπεμψα I sent my (own) brother Aes. 2. 94, κἀπὶ τοῖς σαυτῆς κακοῖσι κἀπὶ τοῖς ἐμοῖς γελᾷς; art thou laughing at thine own misery and at mine? S. El. 879.

b. ἐμός, σός (less common): στέργω τὸν ἐμὸν πατέρα I love my (own) father, στέργεις τὴν σὴν μητέρα you love your (own) mother, ἡ ἐμὴ γυνὴ my wife X. C. 7. 2. 28, ἀδελφός τῆς μητρὸς τῆς ἐμῆς brother of my mother And. 1. 117.

c. ἐμός αὐτοῦ, σός αὐτοῦ (poetical): τὸν ἐμὸν αὐτοῦ πατέρα (β 45, S. O. T. 416).

d. μου, σου (rare): τὸν πατέρα μου Ant. 1. 23.

N. — When the possessor is not to be mistaken, the article alone is placed before the substantive and the possessive or reflexive pronoun is omitted (cp. 1121). Thus, στέργεις τὸν πατέρα you love your (own) father, στέργει τὸν πατέρα he loves his (own) father, στέργουσι τὸν πατέρα they love their (own) father.

1200. FIRST AND SECOND PERSONS PLURAL

1. Not reflexive (adjective our, your; pronoun ours, yours).

a. ἡμέτερος, ὑμέτερος: ὁ ἡμέτερος φίλος our friend (more common than ὁ φίλος ἡμῶν), ὁ ὑμέτερος φίλος your friend (more common than ὁ φίλος ὑμῶν), ἵστασιν ποιούμενοι ἢ ὑμῶν ἢ τῶν ὑμετέρων τινός making a search for you or for anything of yours L. 12. 30.

2. Reflexive (our own, your own).

a. ἡμέτερος, ὑμέτερος (common): στέργομεν τὸν ἡμέτερον φίλον we love our own friend, στέργετε τὸν ὑμέτερον φίλον you love your own friend.

b. Usually the intensive αὐτῶν is used with ἡμέτερος, ὑμέτερος in agreement with ἡμῶν (ὑμῶν) implied in the possessive forms. This gives a stronger form of reflexive. Thus:

ἡμέτερος αὐτῶν, ὑμέτερος αὐτῶν: στέργομεν τὸν ἡμέτερον αὐτῶν φίλον we love our own friend, οἰκοδομημα ἢ τῶν φίλων τινὶ ἢ ἡμέτερον αὐτῶν a house either for some one of our friends or our own P. G. 514 b; στέργετε τὸν ὑμέτερον αὐτῶν φίλον you love your own friend, διδάσκετε τοὺς παῖδας τοὺς ὑμετέρους αὐτῶν teach your own children I. 3. 57.

c. ἡμῶν, ὑμῶν (rare): αἰτιώμεθα τοὺς πατέρας ἡμῶν let us accuse our (own) fathers P. Lach. 179 c.

d. ἡμῶν αὐτῶν, ὑμῶν αὐτῶν (very rare): δίκαιον ἡμᾶς . . . φαίνεσθαι μῦθε ἡμῶν αὐτῶν τῆς δόξης ἐνδεστέροις it is not right for us to show ourselves inferior to our own fame T. 2. 11, τὰ τῶν ἵππων καὶ τὰ ὑμῶν αὐτῶν ὅπλα the equipments both of your horses and yourselves X. C. 6. 3. 21.

1201.

THIRD PERSON SINGULAR

1. Not reflexive (his, her, its).

- a. αὐτοῦ, αὐτῆς, αὐτοῦ in the predicate position (very common): ὁρῶ τὸν φίλον αὐτοῦ (αὐτῆς) I see his (her) friend, γινώσκων αὐτοῦ τὴν ἀνδρείαν knowing his courage P. Pr. 310 d.
- b. ἐκεῖνον, etc., or τοῦτον, etc. in the attributive position (very common): ὁρῶ τὸν ἐμὸν φίλον, οὐ τὸν ἐκεῖνου I see my friend, not his, ἀφικνούνται παρ' Ἀριαίου καὶ τὴν ἐκεῖνου στρατιάν they come up with Ariaeus and his army X. A. 2. 2. 8, παρεκάλεσέ τινας τῶν τοῦτου ἐπιτηδεῖων he summoned some of his friends L. 3. 11.
- c. εἰ, ἡ, ἐν, Hom. ἐός, ἐή, ἐόν (poetical): τὴν γῆμαν ἐὼν διὰ κάλλος he married her because of her beauty λ 282. Hom. has εἰ rarely for αὐτοῦ, αὐτῆς.

2. Reflexive (his own, her own).

- a. αὐτοῦ, αὐτῆς, in the attributive position (very common): στέργει τὸν αὐτοῦ φίλον he loves his own friend, ὁρᾷ τὴν αὐτῆς μητέρα she sees her own mother, τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀδελφὴν δίδωσι Σεύθῃ he gives his own sister in marriage to Scythas T. 2. 101, ὑβρίζει γυναῖκα τὴν αὐτοῦ he misuses his own wife And. 4. 15. This is the only way in prose to express his own, her own.
- b. εἰ (έός): poetical. Sometimes in Homer εἰ (έός) has the sense of own with no reference to the third person (1230 a).
- c. εἰ αὐτοῦ, αὐτῆς (poetical): ἐν αὐτοῦ πατέρα (K 204).

1202.

THIRD PERSON PLURAL

1. Not reflexive (their).

- a. αὐτῶν in the predicate position (very common): ὁ φίλος αὐτῶν their friend.
- b. ἐκεῖνων, τοούτων in the attributive position (very common): ὁ τοούτων (ἐκεῖνων) φίλος their friend, διὰ τὴν ἐκεῖνων ἀπιστίαν because of distrust of them And. 3. 2.
- c. σφείων (Ionic): Hdt. 5. 58.

2. Reflexive (their own).

- a. αὐτῶν (very common): στέργουσι τοὺς αὐτῶν φίλους they love their own friends, τῶν αὐτῶν συμμάχων κατεφρόνου they despised their own allies X. H. 4. 4. 7.
- b. σφέτερος αὐτῶν, the intensive αὐτῶν agreeing with σφῶν implied in σφέτερος (common): οἰκέτᾱς τοὺς σφετέρους αὐτῶν ἐπικαλοῦνται they call their own slaves as witnesses Ant. 1. 30.
- c. σφῶν αὐτῶν, without the article (rare): τὰ ὀνόματα διαγράφονται σφῶν αὐτῶν προσγραφῆναι they contrived that their own names were added L. 13. 72. Cp. 1234. τὸν σφῶν αὐτῶν is not used.
- d. σφέτερος (rare in prose): Βοιωτοὶ μέρος τὸ σφέτερον παρέλχοντο the Boeotians furnished their own contingent T. 2. 12.

e.  $\sigma\phi\omega\upsilon$  in the predicate position, occasionally in Thucydides, as τοὺς συμμάχους ἐδέεισαν  $\sigma\phi\omega\upsilon$  they were afraid of their own allies 6.14. Cp. 1228 N. 2.

1203. Summary of possessive forms (poetical forms in parenthesis).

a. Not reflexive

my	ἐμός	μου	our	ἡμέτερος	ἡμῶν
thy	σός	σου	your	ὁμέτερος	ὁμῶν
his, her	(δς Hom., rare)	αὐτοῦ, -ῆς	their		αὐτῶν
		(εὖ Hom., rare)			(σφέων Ionic)

N. — ἡμέτερος and ὁμέτερος are more used than ἡμῶν and ὁμῶν.

b. Reflexive

my own	ἐμός (ἐμός αὐτοῦ, -ῆς)	ἐμαυτοῦ, -ῆς	our own	ἡμέτερος	ἡμέτερος αὐτῶν thy own	σός (σός αὐτοῦ, -ῆς)	σεαυτοῦ, -ῆς	your own	ὁμέτερος	ὁμέτερος αὐτῶν his, her			their own	σφέτερος	σφέτερος αὐτῶν own	(δς) (δς αὐτοῦ, -ῆς)	ἐαυτοῦ, -ῆς		(rare)	ἐαυτῶν, σφῶν (poet. and Ionic)				(rare),
					σφῶν αὐτῶν

N. — In the plural ἡμῶν αὐτῶν, ὁμῶν αὐτῶν are replaced by ἡμέτερος αὐτῶν, ὁμέτερος αὐτῶν, and these forms are commoner than ἡμέτερος, ὁμέτερος. σφέτερος αὐτῶν is less common than ἐαυτῶν. σφέτερος in poetry may mean mine own, thine own, your own.

THE PRONOUN αὐτός

1204. αὐτός is used as an adjective and as a pronoun. It has three distinct uses: (1) as an intensive adjective pronoun it means self (ἴσος). (2) As an adjective pronoun, when preceded by the article, it means same (ἴδεν). (3) In oblique cases as the personal pronoun of the third person, him, her, it, them (εὐν, εαμ, ἰδ, εος, εας, εα).

1205. Only the first two uses are Homeric. In Hom. αὐτός denotes the principal person or thing, in opposition to what is subordinate, and is intensive by contrast: αὐτὸν καὶ θεράποντα the man himself and his attendant Z 18 (cp. σώσας αὐτὸν καὶ παῖδας P. G. 511 e and see 1208 d). On αὐτός as a reflexive, see 1228 a; on αὐτός emphatic with other pronouns, see 1233 ff.

1206. αὐτός is intensive (self)

a. In the nominative case, when standing alone: αἰτοὶ τὴν γῆν ἔσχεον they (the Athenians) seized the land themselves T. 1. 114. Here αὐτός emphasizes the word understood and is not a personal pronoun.

b. In any case, when in the predicate position (1168) with a substantive, or in agreement with a pronoun: αὐτὸς ὁ ἀνὴρ, ὁ ἀνὴρ αὐτός the man himself, αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἀνδρός, τοῦ ἀνδρός αὐτοῦ, etc.

1207. With a proper name or a word denoting an individual, the article is omitted: αὐτὸς Μένων Menon himself X. A. 2. 1. 5, πρὸ αὐτοῦ βασιλεὺς in front of the Great King himself 1. 7. 11.

1208. The word emphasized may be an oblique case which must be supplied: ἔλεγε δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς ὁ Βρασιδᾶς τῇ Θεσσαλῶν γῇ καὶ αὐτοῖς (scil. τοῖς Θεσσαλοῖς) φίλος ὦν ἔειπεν and Brasidas himself also said that he came as a friend to the country of the Thessalians an to the Thessalians themselves T. 4. 78, δεῖ τοῖσιν τοῦτ' ἡδὲ σκοπεῖν (scil. ἡμῶς) αὐτοῖς we must forthwith consider this matter ourselves D. 2. 2.

1209. Special renderings of the emphatic αὐτός:

a. By itself, in itself, unaided, alone, etc.: αὐτὴ ἡ ἀλήθεια the naked truth Aca. 3. 207, τὸ πλεον τοῦ χωρίου αὐτὸ κατρεπὸν ὑπῆρχε the greater part of the place was strong in itself (without artificial fortification) T. 4. 4. On αὐτοῖς ἀνδράσι men and all, see 1525. αὐτό with a noun of any gender is used by Plato to denote the abstract idea of a thing: αὐτὸ τὸ καλὸν ideal beauty R. 493 e, αὐτὸ δικαιοσύνη ideal justice 472 c.

b. Just, merely: αὐτὸ τὸ δεόν just what we want X. A. 4. 7. 7, αὐτὰ τὰδε merely this T. 1. 139.

c. Voluntarily: ἀνδρας οἱ καὶ τοῖς μὴ ἐπικαλουμένοις αὐτοῖ ἐπιστρατεύουσι men who uninvited turn their arms even against those who do not ask their assistance T. 4. 60.

d. The Master (said by a pupil or slave): Αὐτὸς ἔφα the Master (Pythagoras) said it (ipse dixit) Diog. Laert. 8. 1. 46, τίς οὗτος; Αὐτός. τίς Αὐτός; Σωκράτης Who's this? The Master. Who's the Master? Socrates Ar. Nub. 220.

e. With ordinals: ἡμέθῃ πρεσβευτῆς δέκατος αὐτός he was chosen envoy with nine others (i.e. himself the tenth) X. H. 2. 2. 17.

1210. After the article, in the attributive position (1154), αὐτός in any case means same.

Thus ὁ αὐτὸς ἀνὴρ, rarely (ὁ) ἀνὴρ ὁ αὐτός the same man; τοῦ αὐτοῦ θέρους in the same summer T. 4. 58, τὰ αὐτὰ ταῦτα these same things X. A. 1. 1. 7, οἱ τοῦ αὐτοῦ αἰεὶ περὶ τῶν αὐτῶν λόγων λέγοντες the people who are continually making the same speeches about the same things Ant. 5. 50.

a. So as a predicate: ἐγὼ μὲν ὁ αὐτός εἰμι, ἔμεῖς δὲ μεταβάλλετε I am the same, it is you who change T. 2. 61.

1211. In Hom. αὐτός, without the article, may mean the same: ἦρχε δὲ τῷ αὐτῇ ὁδῷ, ὥστερ' οἱ ἄλλοι and he guided him by the same way as the others had gone θ 107.

1212. αὐτός when unemphatic and standing alone in the oblique cases means him, her, it, them. ἐκέλευον αὐτὴν ἀπείναι they ordered her to depart L. 1. 12.

1213. Unemphatic αὐτοῦ, etc., do not stand at the beginning of a sentence.

1214. αὐτοῦ, etc., usually take up a preceding noun (the anaphoric use): καλεῖς δὲ Δάμνικτον λέγω πρὸς αὐτὸν thus summoning Damnicippus, I speak to him as follows L. 12. 14. But an oblique case of αὐτός is often suppressed where English employs the pronoun of the third person: ἐμπιπλὰς ἀπάντων τὴν γνώμην ἀπέτεμε having satisfied the minds of all he dismissed them X. A. 1. 7. 8.

1215. αὐτοῦ, etc., may be added pleonastically; περᾶσομαι τῷ πάππῳ, κράτιστος ὁν ἱππέος, συμμαχεῖν αὐτῷ I will try, since I am an excellent horseman, to be an ally to my grandfather X. C. 1. 3. 15.

1216. αὐτοῦ, etc., are emphatic (= αὐτοῦ τοῦτου, etc.) in a main clause when followed by a relative clause referring to αὐτοῦ, etc.: εἰρηκας αὐτό, δι' ὅπερ ἔγωγες

τὰ ἐμὰ ἔργα πλείστου ἀξία νομίζω εἶναι you have mentioned the very quality for which I consider my work worth the highest price X. M. 3. 10. 14. But when the relative clause precedes, αὐτοῦ, etc., are not emphatic: οὓς δὲ μὴ εὕρισκον, κεκοτάφισαν αὐτοῖς ἐποίησαν they built a cenotaph for those whom they could not find X. A. 6. 4. 9.

1217. αὐτοῦ, etc., are often used where, after a conjunction, we expect the oblique case of a relative pronoun: ὁ μὴ οἶδε μὴδ' ἔχει αὐτοῦ σφραγίδα which he does not know nor does he have the seal of it P. Th. 192 a.

THE REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS

1218. Direct Reflexives. — The reflexive pronouns are used directly when they refer to the chief word (usually the subject) of the sentence or clause in which they stand.

γινώθι σεαυτὸν learn to know thyself P. Charm. 164 e, σφάττει ἐαυτήν she kills herself X. C. 7. 3. 14, καθ' ἐαυτοὺς βουλευσάμενοι τὰ ὅπλα παρέδωκαν καὶ σφᾶς αὐτοῖς after deliberating apart by themselves they surrendered their arms and themselves (their persons) T. 4. 38. Less commonly the reference is to the object, which often stands in a prominent place: τοὺς δὲ περιόκτους ἀφῆκεν ἐπὶ τὰς ἐαυτῶν πόλεις but the perioeci he dismissed to their own cities X. H. 6. 5. 21.

1219. The direct reflexives are regular in prose if, in the same clause, the pronoun refers emphatically to the subject and is the direct object of the main verb: ἐμαυτὸν (not ἐμέ) ἐπαινῶ I praise myself. The usage of poetry is freer: στένω σὲ μᾶλλον ἢ μέ I mourn thee rather than myself E. Hipp. 1409.

1220. The reflexives may retain or abandon their differentiating force. Contrast the third example in 1218 with παρέδωκαν σφᾶς αὐτοῖς they surrendered (themselves) T. 7. 82.

1221. The reflexives of the first and second persons are not used in a subordinate clause to refer to the subject of the main clause.

1222. The personal pronouns are sometimes used in a reflexive sense: θρηνοῦντός τέ μου καὶ λέγοντος πολλὰ καὶ ἀνάξια ἐμοὶ wailing and saying much unworthy of myself P. A. 38 e (contrast ἀκούσει πολλὰ καὶ ἀνάξια σουτοῦ you will hear much unworthy of yourself P. Cr. 53 e), δοκῶ μοι ἀδύνατος εἶναι I (seem to be) think I am unable P. R. 368 b (less usually δοκῶ ἐμαυτῷ). So in Hom.: ἐγὼν ἐμέ λῶσομαι I will ransom myself K 378. Cp. 1195.

1223. ἐμέ, σέ, not ἐμαυτὸν, σεαυτὸν, are generally used as subject of the infinitive: ἐγὼ οἶμαι καὶ ἐμέ καὶ σὲ τὸ ἀδικεῖν τοῦ ἀδικεῖσθαι κάκιον ἡγεῖσθαι I think that both you and I believe that it is worse to do wrong than to be wronged P. G. 474 b.

1224. The use in 1222, 1223 generally occurs when there is a contrast between two persons, or when the speaker is not thinking of himself to the exclusion of others. Cp. 1974.

1225. Indirect Reflexives. — The reflexive pronouns are used indirectly when, in a dependent clause, they refer to the subject of the main clause.

'Ορέστης ἔπεισεν Ἀθηναίους ἑαυτὸν κατὰγειν Orestes persuaded the Athenians to restore him(self) T. 1. 111, ἐβούλετο ὁ Κλέαρχος ἅπαν τὸ στράτευμα πρὸς ἑαυτὸν ἔχειν τὴν γνώμην Clearchus wished the entire army to be devoted to himself X. A. 2. 5. 29. Cp. sibi, se.

1226. When the subject of the leading clause is not the same as the subject of the subordinate clause or of the accusative with the infinitive (1975), the context must decide to which subject the reflexive pronoun refers: (ὁ κατήγορος) ἔφη . . . ἀπαγγέλλοντα τοὺς νέους αὐτὸν . . . οὕτω διατιθέναι τοὺς ἑαυτῷ συνόντας κ.τ.λ. the accuser said that, by persuading the young, he (Socrates) so disposed his (i.e. Socrates') pupils, etc. X. M. 1. 2. 52.

1227. ἑαυτοῦ, etc., are rarely used as indirect reflexives in adjectival clauses: τὰ ναυάγια, ὅσα πρὸς τῇ ἑαυτῶν (γῇ) ἦν, ἀνέλιοντο they took up the wrecks, as many as were close to their own land T. 2. 92.

1228. Instead of the indirect ἑαυτοῦ, etc., there may be used a. The oblique cases of αὐτός: ἐπειράτο τοὺς Ἀθηναίους τῆς ἐς αὐτὸν ὀργῆς παραλῦν he tried to divert the Athenians from their anger against himself T. 2. 65. When ἑαυτοῦ, etc. precede, αὐτοῦ, etc. are usual instead of the direct reflexive: τὴν ἑαυτοῦ γνώμην ἀπεφαινετο Σωκράτης πρὸς τοὺς ὁμιλοῦντας αὐτῷ Socrates was wont to set forth his opinion to those who conversed with him X. M. 4. 7. 1.

b. Of the forms of the third personal pronoun, οἱ and σφίσι (rarely οὗ, σφεῖς, σφῶν, and σφᾶς). Thus, ἡρώτῃ αὐτὴν εἰ ἐθελήσει διακονῆσαι οἱ he asked her if she would be willing to do him a service Ant. 1. 16, τοὺς παῖδας ἐκέλευεν τοῦ Κύρου δεῖσθαι διαπραξέσθαι σφίσι they ordered their boys to ask Cyrus to get it done for them X. C. 1. 4. 1, κελεύουσι γὰρ ἡμᾶς κοινῇ μετὰ σφῶν πολεμεῖν for they urge us to make war in common with them And. 3. 27, ἔφη δέ, ἐπειδὴ οὗ ἐκβῆναι τὴν ψυχὴν . . . ἀφικεῖσθαι σφᾶς εἰς τόπον τινὰ δαίμονιον he said that when his soul had departed out of him, they (he and others) came to a mysterious place P. R. 614 b. See 1195.

N. 1. — σφεῖς may be employed in a dependent sentence if the pronoun is itself the subject of a subordinate statement, and when the reference to the subject of the leading verb is demanded by way of contrast or emphasis: εἰσαγαγὼν τοὺς ἄλλους στρατηγούς . . . λέγειν ἐκέλευεν αὐτοὺς ὅτι οὐδὲν ἂν ἦττον σφεῖς ἀγάγοιεν τὴν στρατιάν ἢ Ξενοφῶν after bringing in the rest of the generals he urged them to say that they could lead the army just as well as Xenophon X. A. 7. 5. 9. Here αὐτοί (ἑαυτοί) is possible. In the singular αὐτός is necessary.

N. 2. — Thucydides often uses the plural forms in reference to the nearest subject: τοὺς ξυμμάχους ἐδέδισαν σφῶν they were afraid of their own allies (= σφῶν αὐτῶν) 5. 14.

N. 3. — ἑαυτοῦ, etc., are either direct or indirect reflexives, οἱ and σφίσι are only indirect reflexives.

1229. οἱ, σφίσι, etc., and the oblique cases of αὐτός are used when the subordinate clause does not form a part of the thought of the principal subject. This is usual in subordinate indicative clauses, and very common in ὅτι and ὡς clauses, in indirect questions, and in general in subordinate clauses not directly dependent on the main verb: τῶν πρέσβων, οἱ σφίσι (1481) περὶ τῶν σπονδῶν ἐνυχον ἀπόντες, ἡμέλουν they thought no more about their envoys, who were absent on the subject of the truce T. 5. 44, ἐφοβοῦντο μὴ ἐπιβοῶντο αὐτοῖς οἱ πολέμοι they were afraid lest the enemy should attack them(selves) X. A. 3. 4. 1.

1230. The reflexive pronoun of the third person is sometimes used for that of the first or second: δεῖ ἡμᾶς ἀνερίσθαι ἑαυτοὺς we must ask ourselves P. Ph. 78 b, παράγγελλε τοῖς ἑαυτοῦ give orders to your men X. C. 6. 3. 27.

a. In Homer δὲ his is used for ἐμός or σός: οὕτοι ἔγωγε ἥ γαίης δύναιμαι γλυκερώτερον ἄλλο ἰδέσθαι I can look on nothing sweeter than my own land i. 28.

1231. Reciprocal Reflexive. — The plural forms of the reflexive pronouns are often used for the reciprocal ἀλλήλων, ἀλλήλοις, etc.: ἡμῖν αὐτοῖς διαλεξόμεθα we will converse with (ourselves) one another D. 48. 6.

1232. But the reciprocal must be used when the idea 'each for or with himself' is expressed or implied: μᾶλλον χαίρουσιν ἐπὶ τοῖς ἀλλήλων κακοῖς ἢ τοῖς αὐτῶν ἰδίοις ἀγαθοῖς (= ἢ ἐπὶ τοῖς αὐτοῦ ἕκαστος ἀγαθοῖς) they take greater pleasure in one another's troubles than each man in his own good fortune I. 4. 168, οὔτε γὰρ ἑαυτοῖς οὔτε ἀλλήλοις ὁμολογοῦσιν they are in agreement neither with themselves nor with one another P. Phae. 237 c. Reciprocal and reflexive may occur in the same sentence without difference of meaning (D. 48. 9). The reflexive is regularly used when there is a contrast (expressed or implied) with ἄλλοι: φθονοῦσιν ἑαυτοῖς μᾶλλον ἢ τοῖς ἄλλοις ἀνθρώποις they envy one another more than (they envy) the rest of mankind X. M. 3. 5. 16.

αὐτός EMPHATIC OR REFLEXIVE WITH OTHER PRONOUNS

1233. Of the plural forms, ἡμῶν αὐτῶν, etc. may be either emphatic or reflexive; αὐτῶν ἡμῶν, etc. are emphatic only; but σφῶν αὐτῶν is only reflexive (αὐτῶν σφῶν is not used). In Hom. αὐτόν may mean myself, thyself, or himself, and ἰ αὐτόν, οἱ αὐτῶ, etc. are either emphatic or reflexive.

1234. ἡμῶν (ὑμῶν, σφῶν) αὐτῶν often mean 'their own men,' 'their own side': φυλακὴν σφῶν τε αὐτῶν καὶ τῶν ξυμμάχων καταλιπόντες leaving a garrison (consisting) of their own men and of the allies T. 5. 114.

1235. αὐτός, in agreement with the subject, may be used in conjunction with a reflexive pronoun for the sake of emphasis: αὐτοὶ ἐφ' ἑαυτῶν ἐχώρουν they marched by themselves X. A. 2. 4. 10, αὐτὸς . . . ἑαυτὸν ἐν μέσῳ κατετίθετο τοῦ στρατοπέδου he located himself in the centre of the camp X. C. 8. 5. 8.

1236. αὐτός may be added to a personal pronoun for emphasis. The forms ἐμὲ αὐτόν, αὐτόν με, etc. are not reflexive like ἐμαυτόν, etc. Thus, τοὺς παῖδας τοῦ ἐμοῦς ἥσχυσε καὶ ἐμὲ αὐτόν ὕβρισε he disgraced my children and insulted me myself L. 1. 4. Cp. αὐτῷ μοι ἐπέσσυτο he sprang upon me myself E 459. Cp. 329 D.

1237. The force of αὐτός thus added is to differentiate. Thus ἐμὲ αὐτόν means myself and no other, ἐμαυτόν means simply myself without reference to others. ὑμᾶς αὐτοὺς is the usual order in the reflexive combination; but the differentiating you yourselves (and no others) may be ὑμᾶς αὐτοὺς or αὐτοὺς ὑμᾶς.

THE DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS

1238. The demonstrative pronouns are used substantively or adjectively: οὗτος, or οὗτος ὁ ἀνὴρ, this man.

1239. A demonstrative pronoun may agree in gender with a substantive predicated of it, if connected with the substantive by a copulative verb (917) expressed or understood: αὕτη (for τοῦτο) ἀρίστη διδασκαλίᾳ this is the best manner of learning X. C. 8. 7. 24, εἰ δέ τις ταύτην (for τοῦτο) εἰρήνην ὑπολαμβάνει but if any one regards this as peace D. 9. 9.

a. But the unattracted neuter is common, especially in definitions where the pronoun is the predicate: τοῦτ' ἐστὶν ἡ δικαιοσύνη this is (what we call) justice P. R. 432 b. So οὐχ ὕβρις ταῦτ' ἐστὶ; is not this insolence? Ar. Ran. 21.

1240. οὗτος and ὅδε this usually refer to something near in place, time, or thought; ἐκεῖνος that refers to something more remote. οὗτος and ὅδε are emphatic, deictic (333 g) forms (this here).

1241. Distinction between οὗτος and ὅδε. — ὅδε hic points with emphasis to an object in the immediate (actual or mental) vicinity of the speaker, or to something just noticed. In the drama it announces the approach of a new actor. ὅδε is even used of the speaker himself as the demonstrative of the first person (1242). οὗτος iste may refer to a person close at hand, but less vividly, as in statements in regard to a person concerning whom a question has been asked. When ὅδε and οὗτος are contrasted, ὅδε refers to the more important, οὗτος to the less important, object. Thus, ἀλλ' ὅδε βασιλεὺς χωρεῖ but lo! here comes the king S. Ant. 155, αὕτη πέλας σοῦ here she (the person you ask for) is near thee S. El. 1474, καὶ ταῦτ' ἀκούειν κἄτι τῶνδ' ἀλγίονα so that we obey both in these things and in things yet more grievous S. Ant. 64. See also 1245. οὗτος has a wider range of use than the other demonstratives.

1242. ὅδε is used in poetry for ἐγώ: τῆσδε (= ἐμοῦ) γε ζῶσης ἔτι while I still live S. Tr. 305. Also for the possessive pronoun of the first person: εἰ τις τοῦσδ' ἀκούσεται λόγους if any one shall hear these my words S. El. 1004.

1243. οὗτος is sometimes used of the second person: τίς οὗτος; who's this here? (= who are you?) Ar. Ach. 1048. So in exclamations: οὗτος, τί ποιεῖς; you there! what are you doing? Ar. Ran. 198.

1244. τάδε, τάδε πάντα (ταῦτα πάντα) are used of something close at hand: οὐκ ἴωνες τάδε εἰσὶν τὸν λαόν the people here are not Ionians T. 6. 77.

1245. οὗτος (τοιοῦτος, τοσοῦτος, and οὕτως) generally refers to what precedes, ὅδε (τοιόσδε, τοσούδε, τηλικόσδε, and ὡδε) to what follows.

Thus, τοιάδε ἔλεξεν he spoke as follows, but τοιαῦτα (τοσαῦτα) εἰπὼν after speaking thus. Cp. ὁ Κύρος ἀκούσας τοῦ Γωβρύου τοιαῦτα τοιάδε πρὸς αὐτὸν ἔλεξε Cyrus after hearing these words of Gobryas answered him as follows X. C. 5. 2. 31.

1246. καὶ οὗτος meaning (1) he too, likewise; (2) and in fact, and that too, points back: Ἀγίᾱς καὶ Σωκράτης . . . καὶ τοῦτω ἀπεθανέτην Agiās and Socrates . . . they too were put to death X. A. 2. 6. 80; ἀπὸρων ἐστὶ . . . καὶ τοῦτων πονηρῶν it is characteristic of men without resources and that too worthless 2. 5. 21 (cp. 1320). On καὶ ταῦτα see 947.

1247. But οὗτος, etc. sometimes (especially in the neuter) refer to what follows, and ὅδε, etc. (though much less often) refer to what precedes: μετὰ δὲ τοῦτον εἶπε τοσοῦτον but after him he spoke as follows X. A. 1. 3. 14, τοιούτους λόγους εἶπεν he spoke as follows T. 4. 58, τοιάδε παρακαλενόμενος exhorting them thus (as set forth before) 7. 78, ὡδε θάπτουσιν they bury them thus (as described before) 2. 34, οὕτως ἔχει the case is as follows (often in the orators).

1248. οὗτος (especially in the neuter τοῦτο) may refer forward to a word or sentence in apposition: ὡς μὴ τοῦτο μόνον ἐννοῶνται, τί πελοῦνται that they may not consider this alone (namely) what they shall suffer X. A. 3. 1. 41. So also οὕτως. ἐκείνος also may refer forward: ἐκεῖνο κερδαίνειν ἡγείται τὴν ἡδονήν this (namely) pleasure, it regards as gain P. R. 806 b. Cp. 990.

1249. οὗτος (τοιούτος, etc.) is regularly, ὅδε (τοιόσδε, etc.) rarely, used as the demonstrative antecedent of a relative: ὅταν τοιαῦτα λέγῃς, ἃ οὐδεὶς ἂν φήσκειν ἀνθρώπων when you say such things as no one in the world would say P. G. 473 e. οὗτος is often used without a conjunction at the beginning of a sentence.

1250. When ὅδε retains its full force the relative clause is to be regarded as a supplementary addition: οὐ δὴ οὖν ἐνεκα λέγω ταῦτα πάντα τόδ' ἐστὶ but here's the reason why I say all this! P. Charm. 165 a.

1251. The demonstratives οὗτος, etc., when used as antecedents, have an emphatic force that does not reproduce the (unemphatic) English demonstrative those, e.g. in you released those who were present. Here Greek uses the participle (τοὺς παρόντας ἀπελίσσατε L. 20. 20) or omits the antecedent.

1252. οὗτος (less often ἐκείνος) may take up and emphasize a preceding subject or object. In this use the pronoun generally comes first, but may be placed after an emphatic word: ποιήσαντες στήλην ἐψηφίσαντο εἰς ταύτην ἀναγράφειν τοὺς δαιτυμένους having made a slab they voted to inscribe on it (the names of the) offenders Lyc. 117, ἃ ἂν εἴπῃς, ἔμμενε τούτοις whatever you say, hold to it P. R. 345 b. The anaphoric αὐτός in its oblique cases is weaker (1214).

1253. τοῦτο, ταῦτα (and αὐτό) may take up a substantive idea not expressed by a preceding neuter word: οἱ τὴν Ἑλλάδα ἡλευθέρωσαν· ἡμεῖς δὲ οὐδ' ἡμῖν αὐτοῖς βεβαιούμεν αὐτό (i.e. τὴν ἐλευθερίαν) who freed Greece; whereas we cannot secure this (liberty) even for ourselves T. 1. 122.

1254. οὗτος (less frequently ἐκείνος) is used of well known persons and things. Thus, Γοργίας οὗτος this (famous) Gorgias P. Hipp. M. 282 b (cp. ille), τούτους τοὺς στυκοφάντας these (notorious) informers P. Cr. 45 a (cp. iste), τὸν Ἀριστείδην ἐκείνον that (famous) Aristides D. 3. 21, Καλλίαν ἐκείνον that (infamous) Callias 2. 19. ἐκείνος may be used of a deceased person (P. R. 348 a).

1255. When, in the same sentence, and referring to the same object, οὗτος (or ἐκείνος) is used more than once, the object thus designated is more or less emphatic: ὁ θεὸς ἐξαιρούμενος τούτων τὸν νοῦν τούτοις χρῆται ὑπηρέταις the god deprives them of their senses and employs them as his ministers P. Ion 534 c. For the repeated οὗτος (ἐκείνος) an oblique case of αὐτός is usual.

1257. ἐκεῖνος refers back (rarely forward, 1248), but implies remoteness in place, time, or thought.

Κύρος καθορᾷ βασιλεῆα καὶ τὸ ἀμφ' ἐκεῖνον στίφος Cyrus perceives the king and the band around him X. A. 1. 8. 26, ῥῆς ἐκεῖναι ἐπιπλέουσιν yonder are ships sailing up to us T. 1. 51.

1258. ἐκεῖνος may refer to any person other than the speaker and the person addressed; and may be employed of a person not definitely described, but referred to in a supposed case. It is even used of the person already referred to by αὐτός in an oblique case: ἂν αὐτῷ διδῶς ἀργύριον καὶ πείθῃς ἐκεῖνον if you give him money and persuade him P. Pr. 310 d. ἐκεῖνος, when so used, usually stands in a different case than αὐτός. The order ἐκεῖνος . . . αὐτός is found: πρὸς μὲν ἐκείνους οὐκ εἶπεν ἦν ἔχει γνώμην, ἀλλ' ἀπέπεμψεν αὐτούς he did not tell them the plan he had, but dismissed them X. H. 3. 2. 9.*

1259. When used to set forth a contrast to another person, ἐκεῖνος may even refer to the subject of the leading verb (apparent reflexive use): ὅταν ἐν τῇ γῇ ὀρώσιν ἡμᾶς θηούρας τε καὶ τᾶκείνων φθειρόντας when they (the Athenians) see us (the Dorians) in their land plundering and destroying their property (= τὰ ἑαυτῶν) T. 2. 11, ἔλαξε τοῖς Χαλδαίοις διὲ ἦκοι οὔτε ἀπολέσαι ἐπιθυμῶν ἐκείνους οὔτε πολεμεῖν δεόμενος he said to the Chaldeans that he had come neither with the desire to destroy them (ἐκείνους is stronger than αὐτούς) nor because he wanted to war with them X. C. 3. 2. 12.

1260. In the phrase ὅδε ἐκεῖνος, ὅδε marks a person or thing as present, ἐκεῖνος a person or thing mentioned before or well known: ὅδ' ἐκεῖνος ἐγώ lo! I am he S. O. C. 188. Colloquial expressions are τοῦτ' ἐκεῖνο there it is! (lit. this is that) Ar. Ach. 41, and τόδ' ἐκεῖνο I told you so E. Med. 98.

1261. Distinction between οὗτος and ἐκεῖνος. — When reference is made to one of two contrasted objects, οὗτος refers to the object nearer to the speaker's thought, or to the more important object, or to the object last mentioned. Thus, ὥστε πολὺ ἂν δικαίωτερον ἐκείνοις τοῖς γράμμασιν ἢ τοῦτοις πιστεύετε so that you must with more justice put your trust in those lists (not yet put in as evidence) than in these muster-rolls (already mentioned) L. 16. 7, εἰ δὲ τοῦτό σοι δοκεῖ μικρὸν εἶναι, ἐκεῖνο κατανόησον but if this appear to you unimportant, consider the following X. C. 5. 5. 29. ἐκεῖνος may refer to an object that has immediately preceded: καὶ (δεῖ) τὸ βέλτιστον εἰ, μὴ τὸ ῥᾶστον, ἀπαντας λέγειν· ἐπ' ἐκεῖνο μὲν (i.e. τὸ ῥᾶστον) γὰρ ἡ φύσις αὐτῇ βαδιεῖται, ἐπὶ τοῦτο δὲ (τὸ βέλτιστον) τῷ λόγῳ δεῖ προάγεσθαι διδάσκοντα τὸν ἀγαθὸν πολίτην it is necessary that all should speak what is always most salutary, not what is most agreeable; for to the latter nature herself will incline; to the former a good citizen must direct by argument and instruction D. 8. 72.

THE INTERROGATIVE PRONOUNS

1262. The interrogative pronouns are used substantively τίς; ὅτις? or adjectively τίς ἀνὴρ; what man?

1263. The interrogatives (pronouns and adverbs, 340, 346) are used in direct and in indirect questions. In indirect questions the indefinite relatives ὅστις, etc., are generally used instead of the interrogatives.

τί βούλεται ἡμῖν χρῆσθαι; for what purpose does he desire to employ us? X. A. 1. 3. 18, οὐκ οἶδα δ τι ἂν τις χρῆσαιτο αὐτοῖς I do not know for what service any one could employ them 3. 1. 40, A. πηνίκ' ἐστὶν ἄρα τῆς ἡμέρας; B. ὀπηνίκα; A. What's the time of day? B. (You ask), what time of day it is? Ar. Av. 1499.

N. — For peculiarities of Interrogative Sentences, see 2866, 2868.

1264. τί is used for τίνα as the predicate of a neuter plural subject when the general result is sought and the subject is considered as a unit: ταῦτα δὲ τί ἐστίν; but these things, what are they? Aes. 3. 187. τίνα emphasizes the details: τὶν' ὁν ἐστὶ ταῦτα; D. 18. 246.

1265. τίς asks a question concerning the class, τί concerning the nature of a thing: εἰπέ τίς ἡ τέχνη say of what sort the art is P. G. 449 a, τί σωφροσύνη, τί πολιτικός; what is temperance, what is a statesman? X. M. 1. 1. 16, φθόνον δὲ σκοπῶν δ τι εἴη considering what envy is (quid sit invidia) X. M. 3. 9. 8.

THE INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

1266. The indefinite pronoun τις, τι is used both substantively (some one) and adjectively (any, some). τις, τι cannot stand at the beginning of a sentence (181 b).

1267. In the singular, τις is used in a collective sense: everybody (for anybody); cp. Germ. man, Fr. on: ἀλλὰ μῦσεῖ τις ἐκείνον but everybody detests him D. 4. 8. ἐκαστός τις, πᾶς τις each one, every one are generally used in this sense. τις may be a covert allusion to a known person: δῶσει τις δίκην some one (i.e. you) will pay the penalty Ar. Ran. 554. It may also stand for I or we. Even when added to a noun with the article, τις denotes the indefiniteness of the person referred to: ὅταν δ' ὁ κύριος παρῇ τις, ὑμῶν ὅστις ἐστὶν ἡγεμών κτλ. but whenever your master arrives, whoever he be that is your leader, etc. S. O. C. 289. With a substantive, τις may often be rendered a, an, as in ἕτερός τις δυνάστης another dignitary X. A. 1. 2. 20; or, to express indefiniteness of nature, by a sort of, etc., as in εἰ μὲν θεοὶ τινές εἰσιν οἱ δαίμονες if the 'daimones' are a sort of gods P. A. 27 d.

1268. With adjectives, adverbs, and numerals, τις may strengthen or weaken an assertion, apologize for a comparison, and in general qualify a statement: δεινός τις ἄνθρωπος a very terrible man P. R. 598 c, μύωψ τις a sort of gad-fly P. A. 30 e, σχεδόν τι pretty nearly X. O. 4. 11, τριάκοντά τινες about 30 T. 8. 73. But in παρεγένοντό τινες δύο ρῆς the numeral is appositional to τινές (certain, that is, two ships joined them) T. 8. 100.

1269. τις, τι sometimes means somebody, or something, of importance: τὸ δοκεῖν τινὲς εἶναι the seeming to be somebody D. 21. 218, ἔδοξε τι λέγειν he seemed to say something of moment X. C. 1. 4. 20.

1270. τι is not omitted in θαυμαστὸν λέγεις what you say is wonderful P. L. 657 a. ἥ τις ἢ οὐδείς means few or none X. C. 7. 5. 45, ἥ τι ἢ οὐδέν little or nothing P. A. 17 b.

THE ADJECTIVE PRONOUNS ἄλλος AND ἕτερος

1271. ἄλλος strictly means other (of several), ἕτερος other (of two). On ὁ ἄλλος, οἱ ἄλλοι see 1188.

a. ἕτερος is sometimes used loosely for ἄλλος, but always with a sense of difference; when so used it does not take the article.

1272. ἄλλος, and ἕτερος (rarely), may be used attributively with a substantive, which is to be regarded as an appositive. In this sense they may be rendered besides, moreover, as well: οἱ ἄλλοι Ἀθηναῖοι the Athenians as well (the others, i.e. the Athenians) T. 7. 70, τοὺς ὀπλιτᾶς καὶ τοὺς ἄλλους ἱππῆας the hoplites and the cavalry besides X. H. 2. 4. θ, γέρων χωρεῖ μεθ' ἑτέρου νεᾶνίου an old man comes with (a second person, a young man) a young man besides Ar. Eccl. 849. Cp. "And there were also two other malefactors led with him to be put to death" St. Luke 23. 32.

1273. ἄλλος other, rest often precedes the particular thing with which it is contrasted: τὰ τε ἄλλα ἐτίμησε καὶ μῦθους ἔδωκε δᾶρκεύς he gave me ten thousand darics besides honouring me in other ways (lit. he both honoured me in other ways and etc.) X. A. 1. 3. 3, τῷ μὲν ἄλλῳ στρατῷ ἡσυχάζειν, ἑκατὸν δὲ πελταστὰς προπέμπει with the rest of the army he kept quiet, but sent forward a hundred peltasts T. 4. 111.

1274. ἄλλος followed by another of its own cases or by an adverb derived from itself (cp. alius aliud, one . . . one, another . . . another) does not require the second half of the statement to be expressed: ἄλλος ἄλλα λέγει one says one thing, another (says) another X. A. 2. 1. 15 (lit. another other things). So ἄλλοι ἄλλως, ἄλλοι ἄλλοθεν.

a. Similarly ἕτερος, as συμφορὰ ἐτέρᾳ ἐτέρους πιάζει one calamity oppresses one, another others E. Alc. 893.

1275. After ὁ ἄλλος an adjective or a participle used substantively usually requires the article: τὰλλα τὰ μέγιστα the other matters of the highest moment P. A. 22 d. Here τὰ μέγιστα is in apposition to τὰλλα (1272). οἱ ἄλλοι πάντες οἱ, τὰλλα πάντα τὰ sometimes omit the final article.

1276. ὁ ἄλλος often means usual, general: παρὰ τὸν ἄλλον τρόπον contrary to my usual disposition Ant. 3. β. 1.

THE RECIPROCAL PRONOUN

1277. The pronoun ἀλλήλων expresses reciprocal relation: ὡς δ' αἰδέτην ἀλλήλους ἡ γυνή καὶ ὁ Ἀβραδάτας, ἡσπάζοντο ἀλλήλους when Abradatas and his wife saw each other, they mutually embraced X. C. 6. 1. 47.

1278. To express reciprocal relation Greek uses also (1) the middle forms (1726); (2) the reflexive pronoun (1231); or (3) a substantive is repeated: ἀνὴρ θανὲν ἄνδρα man fell upon man O 328.

On Relative Pronouns see under Complex Sentences (2493 ff.).

THE CASES

1279. Of the cases belonging to the Indo-European language, Greek has lost the free use of three: instrumental, locative, and ablative. A few of the forms of these cases have been preserved (341, 1449, 1535); the syntactical functions of the instrumental and locative were taken over by the dative; those of the ablative by the genitive. The genitive and dative cases are therefore composite or mixed cases.

N.—The reasons that led to the formation of composite cases are either (1) formal or (2) functional. Thus (1) χώρᾳ is both dat. and loc.; λόγῳ represents the instr. λόγῳ and the loc. λόγῳ; in consonantal stems both ablative and genitive ended in -ος; (2) verbs of ruling may take either the dat. or the loc., hence the latter case would be absorbed by the former; furthermore the use of prepositions especially with loc. and instr. was attended by a certain indifference as regards the form of the case.

1280. Through the influence of one construction upon another it often becomes impossible to mark off the later from the original use of the genitive and dative. It must be remembered that since language is a natural growth and Greek was spoken and written before formal categories were set up by Grammar, all the uses of the cases cannot be apportioned with definiteness.

1281. The cases fall into two main divisions. Cases of the Subject: nominative (and vocative). Cases of the Predicate: accusative, dative. The genitive may define either the subject (with nouns) or the predicate (with verbs). On the nominative, see 938 ff.

1282. The content of a thought may be expressed in different ways in different languages. Thus, πειθω σε, but persuadeo tibi (in classical Latin): and even in the same language, the same verb may have varying constructions to express different shades of meaning.

VOCATIVE

1283. The vocative is used in exclamations and in direct address: ὦ Ζεῦ καὶ θεοί oh Zeus and ye gods P. Pr. 310 d, ἀνθρώπε my good fellow X. C. 2. 2. 7. The vocative forms an incomplete sentence (904 d).

a. The vocative is never followed immediately by δέ or γάρ.

1284. In ordinary conversation and public speeches, the polite ὦ is usually added. Without ὦ the vocative may express astonishment, joy, contempt, a threat, or a warning, etc. Thus ἀκούεις Ἀισχίνῃ; d'ye hear, Aeschines? D. 18. 121. But this distinction is not always observed, though in general ὦ has a familiar tone which was unsuited to elevated poetry.

1286. In late poetry a predicate adjective may be attracted into the vocative : ὦβρε κῦρε γένουαι blessed, oh boy, mayest thou be Theocr. 17. 66. Cp. Matutine pater seu Iane libentius audis Hor. S. 2. 6. 20.

1287. By the omission of σύ or ὁμοίς the nominative with the article may stand in apposition to a vocative : ὦ ἄνδρες οἱ παρόντες you, gentlemen, who are present P. Pr. 387 c, ὦ Κύρε καὶ οἱ ἄλλοι Πέρσαι Cyrus and the rest of you Persians X. C. 3. 8. 20 ; and in apposition to the pronoun in the verb : ὁ παῖς, ἀκολούθει boy, attend me Ar. Ran. 521.

1288. The nominative may be used in exclamations as a predicate with the subject unexpressed : ὦ πικρὸς θεοῖς oh loathed of heaven S. Ph. 254, φίλος ὦ Μενέλαε oh dear Menelaus Δ 189 ; and connected with the vocative by and : ὦ πόλις καὶ δῆμος oh city and people Ar. Eq. 273. In exclamations about a person : ὦ γενναῖος oh the noble man P. Phae. 227 c.

α. οὗτος is regular in address : οὗτος, τί πράξεις, ὦ Ξανθία ; ho there, I say, Xanthias, what is the matter with you ? Ar. Vesp. 1 ; ὦ οὗτος, Ἀῆς ho there, I say, Ajax S. Aj. 89.

GENITIVE

1289. The genitive most commonly limits the meaning of substantives, adjectives, and adverbs, less commonly that of verbs.

Since the genitive has absorbed the ablative it includes (1) the genitive proper, denoting the class to which a person or thing belongs, and (2) the ablative genitive.

a. The name genitive is derived from casus genitivus, the case of origin, the inadequate Latin translation of γενική πρῶσις case denoting the class.

THE GENITIVE PROPER WITH NOUNS

(ADNOMINAL GENITIVE)

1290. A substantive in the genitive limits the meaning of a substantive on which it depends.

1291. The genitive limits for the time being the scope of the substantive on which it depends by referring it to a particular class or description, or by regarding it as a part of a whole. The genitive is akin in meaning to the adjective and may often be translated by an epithet. Cp. στέφανος χρυσοῦ with χρυσοῦς στέφανος, φόβος πολέμου with πολέμος φόβος, τὸ εἶδος πλέθρου with τὸ εἶδος πλεθριαῶν (1035). But the use of the adjective is not everywhere parallel to that of the genitive.

1292. In poetry a genitive is often used with βιά, μένος, σθένος might, etc., instead of the corresponding adjective : βίη Διομήδεος mighty Diomedes E 781.

1293. In poetry δέμας form, κάρᾱ and κεφαλὴ head, etc., are used with a genitive to express majestic or loved persons or objects : Ἰσμήνης κάρᾱ S. Ant. 1.

1294. χρῆμα thing is used in prose with a genitive to express size, strength, etc. : σφενδονητῶν πάμπολύ τι χρῆμα a very large mass of slingers X. C. 2. 1. 6. Cp. 1322.

1295. The genitive with substantives denotes in general a connection or dependence between two words. This connection must often be determined (1) by the meaning of the words, (2) by the context, (3) by the facts presupposed as known (1301). The same construction may often be placed under more than one of the different classes mentioned below; and the connection between the two substantives is often so loose that it is difficult to include with precision all cases under specific grammatical classes.

a. The two substantives may be so closely connected as to be equivalent to a single compound idea: τελευτῇ τοῦ βίου 'life-end' (cp. life-time) X. A. 1. 1. 1. Cp. 1146.

b. The genitive with substantives has either the attributive (1154), or, in the case of the genitive of the divided whole (1306), and of personal pronouns (1185), the predicate, position (1168).

1296. Words denoting number, especially numerals or substantives with numerals, often agree in case with the limited word instead of standing in the genitive: φόρος τέσσαρα τάλαντα a tribute of four talents T. 4. 57 (cp. 1323), ἐς τὰς ναῦς, αἱ ἐφρούρουν δύο, καταφυγόντες fleeing to the ships, two of which were keeping guard 4. 113. So with οἱ μὲν, οἱ δέ in apposition to the subject (981).

GENITIVE OF POSSESSION OR BELONGING

1297. The genitive denotes ownership, possession, or belonging: ἡ οἰκία ἡ Σίμωνος the house of Simon L. 3. 32, ὁ Κύρου στόλος the expedition of Cyrus X. A. 1. 2. 5. Cp. the dative of possession (1476).

1299. The possessive genitive is used with the neuter article (singular or plural) denoting affairs, conditions, power, and the like: τὸ τῶν ἐφόρων the power of the ephors P. L. 712 d, τὸ τῆς τέχνης the function of the art P. G. 450 c, τὸ τοῦ Σόλωνος the maxim of Solon P. Lach. 188 b, ἀδελφὰ τὰ τῶν πολέμων the chances of war are uncertain T. 2. 11, τὰ τῆς πόλεως the interests of the State P. A. 36 c, τὰ τοῦ δήμου φρονεῖ is on the side of the people Ar. Eq. 1216. Sometimes this is almost a mere periphrasis for the thing itself: τὸ τῆς τύχης chance D. 4. 12 τὰ τῆς σωτηρίας safety 23. 163, τὸ τῆς ὁσιᾶς, ὅτι δὴ ποτ' ἐστὶ the quality of holiness, whatever it is 21. 126, τὸ τῶν πρεσβυτέρων ἡμῶν we elders P. L. 657 d. So τὸ τούτου S. Aj. 124 is almost = οὗτος, as τοῦμόν is = ἐγώ or ἐμέ. Cp. L. 8. 19.

1300. The genitive of possession may be used after a demonstrative or relative pronoun: τοῦτό μου διαβάλλει he attacks this action of mine D. 18. 28.

1301. With persons the genitive may denote the relation of child to parent, wife to husband, and of inferior to superior: Θουκυδίδης ὁ Ὀλόρου Thucydides, the son of Olorus T. 4. 104 (and so υἱός is regularly omitted in Attic official documents), Διὸς Ἀρτεμῖς Artemis, daughter of Zeus S. Aj. 172, ἡ Σμίκυθιως Μελιστική Melistiche wife of Smicythion Ar. Eccl. 46, Λυδὸς ὁ Φερεκλέους Lydus, the slave of Pherecles And. 1. 17, οἱ Μένωνος the troops of Menon X. A. 1. 5. 13 (οἱ τοῦ Μένωνος στρατιῶται 1. 5. 11).

a. In poetry we may have an attributive adjective: Τελαμώνιος Αἰᾶς (= Αἰᾶς ὁ Τελαμώνιος) B 528. Cp. 846 f.

1302. The word on which the possessive genitive depends may be represented by the article: ἀπὸ τῆς ἑαυτῶν from their own country (γῆς) T. 1. 15 (cp. 1027 b). A word for dwelling (οἰκία, δῶμος, and also λερόν) is perhaps omitted after ἐν, εἰς, and sometimes after ἐξ. Thus, ἐν Ἀρίφρονος at Ariphron's P. Pr. 320 a, ἐν Διονύσου (scil. λερῶ) at the shrine of Dionysus D. 5. 7, εἰς διδασκάλου φοιτᾶν to go to school X. C. 2. 3. 9, ἐκ Πατροκλέους ἔρχομαι I come from Patroclus's Ar. Plut. 84. So, in Homer, εἰν(εἰς) Ἀἰδῶ.

1303. Predicate Use.—The genitive may be connected with the noun it limits by means of a verb.

Ἱπποκράτης ἐστὶ οἰκίᾳς μεγάλης Hippocrates is of an influential house P. Pr. 316 b, Βοιωτῶν ἡ πόλις ἔσται the city will belong to the Boeotians L. 12. 58, ἡ Ζελεὶδ ἐστὶ τῆς Ἀσιᾶς Zelea is in Asia D. 9. 43, οὐδὲ τῆς αὐτῆς Θράκης ἐγένοντο nor did they belong to the same Thrace T. 2. 29, ἃ δικάζει τοῦ ψηφίσματος, ταῦτ' ἐστὶν the clauses in the bill which he attacks, are these D. 18. 56.

1304. The genitive with εἶμι may denote the person whose nature, duty, custom, etc., it is to do that set forth in an infinitive subject of the verb: περίαν φέρειν οὐ παντός, ἀλλ' ἀνδρὸς σοφοῦ 'tis the sage, not every one, who can bear poverty Men. Sent. 463, δοκεῖ δικαίου τοῦτ' εἶναι πολιτροῦ this seems to be the duty of a just citizen D. 8. 72, τῶν νικῶντων ἐστὶ καὶ τὰ ἑαυτῶν σφῆναι καὶ τὰ τῶν ἡττημένων λαμβάνειν it is the custom of conquerors to keep what is their own and to take the possessions of the defeated X. A. 3. 2. 39.

1305. With verbs signifying to refer or attribute, by thought, word, or action, anything to a person or class. Such verbs are to think, regard, make, name, choose, appoint, etc.

λογίζου . . . τὰ δ' ἄλλα τῆς τύχης deem that the rest belongs to chance E. Alc. 789, τῶν θλευθερωτάτων οἰκῶν νομισθεῖσα deemed a daughter of a house most free E. And. 12, ἐμὲ γράφει τῶν ἱππεύειν ὑπερεπιθυμούντων put me down as one of those who desire exceedingly to serve on horseback X. C. 4. 3. 21, τῆς πρώτης τάξεως τεταγμένους assigned in the first class L. 14. 11, τῆς ἀγαθῆς τύχης τῆς πόλεως εἶναι ῥιθμῷ I reckon as belonging to the good fortune of the State D. 18. 254, εἰ δὲ τινες τὴν Ἀσιᾶν ἑαυτῶν ποιοῦνται but if some are claiming Asia as their own X. Ages. 1. 33, νομίζει ὑμᾶς ἑαυτοῦ εἶναι he thinks that you are in his power X. A. 2. 1. 11.

GENITIVE OF THE DIVIDED WHOLE (PARTITIVE GENITIVE)

1306. The genitive may denote a whole, a part of which is denoted by the noun it limits. The genitive of the divided whole may be used with any word that expresses or implies a part.

1307. Position.—The genitive of the whole stands before or after the word denoting the part: τῶν Θρακῶν πελτασταὶ targeteers of the Thracians T. 7. 27, οἱ ἄποροι τῶν πολῖτῶν the needy among the citizens D. 18. 104; rarely between the limited noun and its article: οἱ τῶν ἀδίκων ἀφικνούμενοι those of the unrighteous who come here P. G. 526 c. Cp. 1161 N. 1.

1308. When all are included there is no partition : so in οὔτοι πάντες all of these, all these, τέτταρες ἡμεῖς ἡμεν there were four of us, τὸ πᾶν πλῆθος τῶν ὀπλιτῶν the entire body of the hoplites T. 8. 93, ὅσοι ἐστὲ τῶν ὁμολῶν as many of you as belong to the 'peers' X. A. 4. 6. 14.

1309. The idea of division is often not explicitly stated. See third example in 1310.

1310. (I) The genitive of the divided whole is used with substantives.

μέρος τι τῶν βαρβάρων some part of the barbarians T. 1. 1, οἱ Δωριεῖς ἡμῶν those of us who are Dorians 4. 61. The governing word may be omitted : Ἀρχιάς τῶν Ἡράκλειδων Archias (one) of the Heraclidae T. 6. 3. To an indefinite substantive without the article may be added a genitive denoting the special sort : Φεραύλας Πέρσης τῶν δημοτῶν Pheraulas, a Persian, one of the common people X. C. 2. 3. 7.

1311. Chorographic Genitive. — τῆς Ἀττικῆς ἐς Οἰκόνην to Oenoe in Attica T. 2. 18 (or ἐς Οἰκόνην τῆς Ἀττικῆς, not ἐς τῆς Ἀττικῆς Οἰκόνην), τῆς Ἰταλίας Λοκροί the Locrians in Italy 3. 86. The article, which is always used with the genitive of the country (as a place well known), is rarely added to the governing substantive (τὸ Κήναιον τῆς Εὐβοίας Cenaeum in Euboea T. 3. 93).

οἱ ἀδικοὶ τῶν ἀνθρώπων the unjust among men D. 27. 68 (but always οἱ θνητοὶ ἀνθρώποι), μόνος τῶν πρυτάνων alone of the prytans P. A. 32 b, ὅλγοι αὐτῶν few of them X. A. 3. 1. 3, τῶν ἄλλων Ἑλλήνων ὁ βουλόμενος whoever of the rest of the Greeks so desires T. 3. 92. So τὸ καταντικρὺ αὐτῶν τοῦ σπηλαίου the part of the cavern facing them P. R. 515 a. For nihil novi the Greek says οὐδὲν καινόν.

1313. Adjectives denoting magnitude, and some others, may conform in gender to the genitive, instead of appearing in the neuter : ἔτεμον τῆς γῆς τὴν πολλήν they ravaged most of the land T. 2. 56, τῆς γῆς ἡ ἀρίστη the best of the land 1. 2. This construction occurs more frequently in prose than in poetry.

1314. But such adjectives, especially when singular, may be used in the neuter : τῶν Ἀργείων λογάδων τὸ πολὺ the greater part of the picked Argives T. 5. 73, ἐπὶ πολὺ τῆς χώρᾱς over a great part of the land 4. 3.

1315. (III) With comparatives and superlatives.

ἡμῶν ὁ γεραίτερος the elder of us X. C. 5. 1. 6 (1066 b), οἱ πρεσβύτατοι τῶν στρατηγῶν the oldest of the generals X. A. 3. 3. 11, σίτω πάντων ἀνθρώπων πλείω χρώμεθ' ἐπιστάκτω we make use of imported grain more than all other people D. 18. 87. So with a superlative adverb : ἡ ναὺς ἀριστά μοι ἐπλεῖ πάντος τοῦ στρατοπέδου my ship was the best sailer of the whole squadron L. 21. 6.

1316. In poetry this use is extended to positive adjectives : ἀριδείκτος ἀνδρῶν conspicuous among men A 248, ὦ φίλᾱ γυναικῶν oh dear among women E. Alc. 460. In tragedy an adjective may be emphasized by the addition of the same adjective in the genitive : ἀρρητ' ἀρρήτων horrors unspeakable S. O. T. 465. Cp. 1064.

1317. (IV) With substantive pronouns and numerals.

οἱ μὲν αὐτῶν, οἱ δ' οὐ some of them and not others P. A. 24 e, οἱ ὕστερον ἐλήφθησαν τῶν πολεμίων those of the enemy who were taken later X. A. 1. 7. 18, οὐδεὶς ἀνθρώπων no one in the world P. S. 220 a, τι τοῦ τείχους a part of the wall T. 7. 4, τις θεῶν one of the gods E. Hec. 164 (τις θεός a god X. C. 5. 2. 12), ἐν τῶν πολλῶν one of the many things P. A. 17 a; rarely after demonstrative pronouns: τοῖτοις τῶν ἀνθρώπων to these (of) men T. 1. 71.

a. With ὅλγοι and with numerals ἀπό and ἐξ are rarely added: ἐκ τριῶν ἐν one of three S. Tr. 734. ἐξ with superlatives is also rare. See also 1688. 1 c.

1318. The genitive of the divided whole may do duty as the subject of a finite verb (928 b) or of the infinitive: (ἐφασαν) ἐκμειγνύμαι σφῶν πρὸς ἐκεῖνους they said that some of their number associated with them X. A. 3. 5. 16.

1319. Predicate Use. — ἦν δ' αὐτῶν Φαλῖνος and among them was Phalinx X. A. 2. 1. 7, Σόλων τῶν ἐπτὰ σοφιστῶν ἐκλήθη Solon was called one of the Seven Sages I. 15. 235, τῶν ἀποπτῶτων ἀνελθί it would be very strange D. 1. 26; and often with verbs signifying to be, become, think, say, name, choose. With some of these verbs εἰς with the genitive may be used instead of the genitive alone.

GENITIVE OF QUALITY

1320. The genitive to denote quality occurs chiefly as a predicate.

ἐὼν τρόπου ἡσυχίου being of a peaceful disposition Hdt. 1. 107, οἱ δέ τινες τῆς αὐτῆς γνώμης ὀλίγοι κατέφυγον but some few of the same opinion fled T. 3. 70, ταῦτα παμπόλλων ἐστὶ λόγων this calls for a thorough discussion P. L. 642 a, θεωρήσας αὐτόν, μὴ ὅποτέρου τοῦ λόγου, ἀλλ' ὅποτέρου τοῦ βίου ἐστὶν consider, not the manner of his speech, but the manner of his life Aes. 3. 168, εἰ δοκεῖ ταῦτα καὶ δαπάνης μεγάλης καὶ πόνων πολλῶν καὶ πρᾶγματείας εἶναι if these matters seem to involve great expense and much toil and trouble D. 8. 48.

a. The attributive use occurs in poetry: χόρτων εὐδένδρων Εὐρώπᾳς Europe with its pastures amid fair trees E. I. T. 134, λευκῆς χιόνος πτέρυξ a wing white as snow (of white snow) S. Ant. 114.

1321. The use of the genitive to express quality, corresponding to the Latin genitive, occurs in the non-predicate position, only when age or size is exactly expressed by the addition of a numeral (genitive of measure, 1325). The Latin genitive of quality in mulier mirae pulchritudinis is expressed by γυνὴ θαυμασιᾷ κάλλος (or τοῦ κάλλους), γυνὴ θαυμασιᾷ ἰδεῖν, γυνὴ ἔχουσα θαυμάσιον σχῆμα, etc.

GENITIVE OF EXPLANATION (APPOSITIVE GENITIVE)

1322. The genitive of an explicit word may explain the meaning of a more general word.

Ἰδίου πέλις E 642, as urbs Romae, ἀέλλαι παντοίων ἀνέμων blasts formed of winds of every sort e 292. This construction is chiefly poetic, but in prose we find ἰὸς μέγα χροῖμα a monster (great affair, 1294) of a boar Hdt. 1. 36, τὸ ὅρος τῆς Ἰσθμῆς Mt. Isthme T. 4. 46 (very rare, 1142 c). An articular infinitive in the genitive often defines the application of a substantive: ἀμαθία ἡ τοῦ οἰσθαῖ εἶδέναι ἃ οὐκ οἶδεν the ignorance of thinking one knows what one does not know P. A. 29 b.

a. But with ὄνομα the person or thing named is usually in apposition to ὄνομα: τῷ δὲ νεωτάτῳ ἐθέμην ὄνομα Καλλίστρατον I gave the youngest the name Callistratus D. 48. 74.

GENITIVE OF MATERIAL OR CONTENTS

1323. The genitive expresses material or contents.

ἔρκος ὀδόντων the fence (consisting) of the teeth Δ 850, κρήνη ἡδέος ὕδατος a spring of sweet water X. A. 6. 4. 4, σωροὶ σίτου, ξύλων, λίθων heaps of corn, wood, stones X. H. 4. 4. 12, ἑξακόσια τάλαντα φόρου six hundred talents in taxes T. 2. 13 (cp. 1296).

1324. Predicate Use: στεφάνους ῥόδων ὄντας, ἀλλ' οὐ χρυσοῦ crowns that were of roses, not of gold D. 22. 70, ἐστρωμένη ἐστὶ ὁδὸς λίθου a road was paved with stone Hdt. 2. 138, and often with verbs of making, which admit also the instrumental dative. Hdt. has ποιεῖσθαι ἀπὸ and ἐκ τινος.

GENITIVE OF MEASURE

1325. The genitive denotes measure of space, time, or degree.

ὀκτώ σταδίων τεῖχος a wall eight stades long T. 7. 2, πέντε ἡμερῶν σῖτα provisions for five days 7. 43 (cp. fossa pedum quindecim, exilium decem annorum). Less commonly with a neuter adjective or pronoun: ἐπὶ μέγα ἐχώρησαν δυνάμεις they advanced to a great pitch of power T. 1. 118, τι δόξης some honour (aliquid famae) 1. 5, ἀμέχανον εὐδαιμονίας (something infinite in the way of happiness) infinite happiness P. A. 41 c (with emphasis on the adj.). But the phrases eis τοῦτο, eis τοσοῦτο ἀφικέσθαι (ἔκειν, ἐλθεῖν, προσβαλεῖν, usually with a personal subject) followed by the genitive of abstracts are common: eis τοῦτο θράσους ἀφίκετο he reached such a pitch of boldness D. 21. 194, ἐν παντὶ ἀθῦμίας in utter despondency T. 7. 55, ἐν τούτῳ παρασκευῆς in this stage of preparation 2. 17, κατὰ τοῦτο καιροῦ at that critical moment 7. 2. The article with this genitive is unusual in classical Greek: eis τοῦτο τῆς ἡλικίας to this stage of life L. 5. 3. Some of these genitives may also be explained by 1306.

1326. Under the head of measure belongs amount: δυοῖν μναῖν πρόσοδος an income of two minae X. Vect. 3. 10. Cp. 1296, 1323.

1327. Predicate Use.—ἐπειδὴν ἐτὼν ᾧ τις τριῶντα when a man is thirty years old P. L. 721 a, τὰ τεῖχη ἦν σταδίων ὀκτώ the walls were eight stades long T. 4. 66.

SUBJECTIVE AND OBJECTIVE GENITIVE

1328. With a verbal noun the genitive may denote the subject or object of the action expressed in the noun.

a. Many of these genitives derive their construction from that of the kindred verbs: τοῦ ὕδατος ἐπιθυμία desire for water T. 2. 52 (1340), χόλος υἱός anger because of his son O 138 (1405). But the verbal idea sometimes requires the accusative, or (less commonly) the dative.

1329. In poetry an adjective may take the place of the genitive: νόστος ἐ βασιλεως the return of the king A. Pers. 8. Cp. 1291.

1330. The Subjective Genitive is active in sense: τῶν βαρβάρων φόβος the fear of the barbarians (which they feel: οἱ βάρβαροι φοβούνται) X. A. 1.2. 17, ἡ βασιλέως ἐπιρκία the perjury of the king (βασιλεὺς ἐπιρκεῖ) 8. 2. 4, τὸ ὀργιζόμενον τῆς γνώμης their angry feelings T. 2. 59 (such genitives with substantive participles are common in Thucydides; cp. 1158 b, N. 2).

1331. The Objective Genitive is passive in sense, and is very common with substantives denoting a frame of mind or an emotion: φόβος τῶν Εἰλωτῶν the fear of the Helots (felt towards them: φοβούνται τοὺς Εἰλωτας) T. 3. 54, ἡ τῶν Ἑλλήνων εὖνοια good-will towards the Greeks (εὖνοεῖ τοῖς Ἑλλήσι) X. A. 4. 7. 20, ἡ τῶν καλῶν συνουσία intercourse with the good (σύνεσι τοῖς καλοῖς) P. L. 888 a.

a. The objective genitive often precedes another genitive on which it depends: μετὰ τῆς ξυμμαχίας τῆς αἰρήσεως with the request for an alliance T. 1. 82.

1332. Various prepositions are used in translating the objective genitive: ὁ θεῶν πόλεμος war with the gods X. A. 2. 5. 7, ὅρκοι θεῶν oaths by the gods E. Hipp. 657, θεῶν εὐχαί prayers to the gods P. Phae. 244 e, ἀδικημάτων ὀργή anger at injustice L. 12. 20, ἐγκράτεια ἡδονῆς moderation in pleasure L. 1. 21, ἡ τῶν ἡδονῶν νίκη victory over pleasures P. L. 840 c, τρόπαια βαρβάρων memorials of victory over barbarians X. A. 7. 6. 36, παραιτήσεις τῶν ξυναλλαγῶν exhortations to reconciliation T. 4. 59, μῦθος φίλων tidings about friends S. Ant. 11, σοῦ μῦθος speech with thee S. O. C. 1161. In θανάτου λύσις release from death i. 421, μεταπανωλή πολέμου respite from war T 201, it is uncertain whether the genitive is objective or ablative (1392).

1333. The objective genitive is often used when a prepositional expression, giving greater precision, is more usual: τὸ Μεγαρέων ψήφισμα the decree relating to (περὶ) the Megarians T. 1. 140, ἀπόβασις τῆς γῆς a descent upon the land (ἐς τὴν γῆν) 1. 108, ἀπόστασις τῶν Ἀθηναίων revolt from the Athenians (ἀπὸ τῶν Ἀθηναίων) 8. 5.

1334. For the objective genitive a possessive pronoun is sometimes used: ἐν χάριν for thy sake P. Soph. 242 a, διαβολὴ ἡ ἐμὴ calumniation of me P. A. 20 e. ὁ ἐμὸς φόβος is usually objective: the fear which I inspire. (But σοῦ μῦθος speech with thee S. O. C. 1161.)

1335. Predicate Use. — οὐ τῶν κακούργων οἶκτος, ἀλλὰ τῆς δικῆς compassion is not for wrong-doers, but for justice E. fr. 270.

GENITIVE OF VALUE

1336. The genitive expresses value.

ἑρὰ τριῶν ταλάντων offerings worth three talents L. 30. 20, χιλίων δραχμῶν δίκην I am defendant in an action involving a thousand drachmas D. 55. 25.

1337. Predicate Use: τοὺς αἰχμαλώτους τοσοῦτων χρημάτων λύσθαι to ransom the captives at so high a price D. 19. 222, τριῶν δραχμῶν ποτηρὸς ὢν a threepenny rogue 19. 200.

TWO GENITIVES WITH ONE NOUN

1338. Two genitives expressing different relations may be used with one noun.

οἱ ἄνθρωποι διὰ τὸ αὐτῶν δέος τοῦ θανάτου καταψεύδονται by reason of their fear of death men tell lies P. Ph. 85 a, Διονύσου πρεσβυτῶν χορός a chorus of old men in honour of Dionysus P. L. 665 b, ἡ τοῦ Ἀλάχης τῶν πῶν ἀρχή Laches' command of the fleet T. 3. 115, ἡ Φαίακων προεικίσις τῆς Κερκύρας the former occupation of Corcyra by the Phaeacians 1. 25.

GENITIVE WITH VERBS

1339. The genitive may serve as the immediate complement of a verb, or it may appear, as a secondary definition, along with an accusative which is the immediate object of the verb (920, 1392, 1405).

1340. The subject of an active verb governing the genitive may become the subject of the passive construction: Νικήρατος ἐρῶν τῆς γυναικὸς ἀντερᾶται Niceratus, who is in love with his wife, is loved in return X. S. 8. 3. Cp. 1745 a.

THE GENITIVE PROPER WITH VERBS

THE PARTITIVE GENITIVE

1341. A verb may be followed by the partitive genitive if the action affects the object only in part. If the entire object is affected, the verb in question takes the accusative.

Ἀδρήστοιο δ' ἔγημε θυγατρῶν he married one of Adrastus' daughters Ξ 121, τῶν πῶλων λαμβάνει he takes some of the colts X. A. 4. 5. 35, λαβόντες τοῦ βαρβαρικοῦ στρατοῦ taking part of the barbarian force 1. 5. 7, κλέπτουσι τοῦ ὄρους seizing part of the mountain secretly 4. 6. 15 (cp. τοῦ ὄρους κλέψαι τι 4. 6. 11), τῆς γῆς ἔτεμον they ravaged part of the land T. 2. 56 (cp. τὴν γῆν πᾶσαν ἔτεμον 2. 57 and ἔτεμον τῆς γῆς τὴν πολλήν 2. 56), κατεῖλε τῆς κεφαλῆς he had a hole knocked somewhere in his head Ar. Vesp. 1428 (τὴν κεφαλὴν κατεῖλεν to have one's head broken D. 54. 35).

1342. With impersonals a partitive genitive does duty as the subject: πολέμου οὐ μετὴν αὐτῇ she had no share in war X. C. 7. 2. 28, ἐμοὶ οὐδαμῶθεν προσήκει τούτου τοῦ πράγματος I have no part whatever in this affair And. 4. 34. Cp. 1318.

1343. The genitive is used with verbs of sharing.

πάντες μετείχον τῆς ἐορτῆς all took part in the festival X. A. 5. 3. 9, μετέδιδσαν ἀλλήλοις ὦν (= τούτων δ) εἶχον ἕκαστοι they shared with each other what each had 4. 5. 6, τὸ ἀνθρώπινον γένος μετέληφεν ἀθανασίας the human race has received a portion of immortality P. L. 721 b, σίτου κοινοῦν to take a share of food X. M. 2. 6. 22, δικαιοσύνης οὐδὲν ἡμῶν προσήκει you have no concern in righteous dealing X. H. 2. 4. 40, πολιτεία, ἐν ᾗ πένησιν οὐ μέτεστιν ἀρχῆς a form of government in which the poor have no part in the management of affairs P. R. 550 c. So with μεταλαγχάνειν get a share (along with somebody else), συναίρεσθαι and κοινοῦσθαι take part in, μεταίτεῖν and μεταποιεῖσθαι demand a share in.

tion in the greatest blessings X. Hi. 2. 6, τούτων μεταίτει τὸ μέρος he demands his share of this Ar. Vesp. 972.

a. With μέτεστι the part may be added in the nominative: μέτεστι χθμῖν τῶν πεπραγμένων μέρος ye too have had a share in these doings E. I. T. 1299.

1345. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to touch, take hold of, make trial of.

1347. Verbs of beseeching take the genitive by analogy to verbs of touching: ἐμὲ λισσέσκετο γούνων she besought me by (clasping) my knees I 451 (cp. γαστέρον ἐφάμενος λισσεσθαι beseech by touching his chin K 454).

1348. The genitive is used with verbs of beginning.

a. Partitive: ἔφη Κύρον ἀρχειν τοῦ λόγου ὧδε he said that Cyrus began the discussion as follows X. A. 1. 6. 5, τοῦ λόγου ἤρχετο ὧδε he began his speech as follows 3. 2. 7. On ἀρχειν as distinguished from ἀρχεσθαι see 1784. 5.

b. Ablative (1391) denoting the point of departure: σέο δ' ἀρξομαι I will make a beginning with thee I 97. In this sense ἀπὸ or ἐξ is usually added: ἀρξάμενοι ἀπὸ σοῦ D. 18. 297, ἀρξομαι ἀπὸ τῆς ἱατρικῆς λέγων I will make a beginning by speaking of medicine P. S. 186 b.

1349. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to aim at, strive after, desire (genitive of the end desired).

ἀνθρώπων στοχάζεσθαι to aim at men X. C. 1. 6. 29, ἐπιέμενοι τῶν κερδῶν desiring gain T. 1. 8, πάντες τῶν ἀγαθῶν ἐπιθυμοῦσιν all men desire what is good P. R. 438 a, τὸ ἐρᾶν τῶν καλῶν the passionate love of what is noble Aes. 1. 137, πεινῶσι χρημάτων they are hungry for wealth X. S. 4. 36, πόλις ἐλευθερίᾳ διψήσασα a state thirsting for freedom P. R. 562 c. So with ἀστέυειν shoot at (poet.), λαλεσθαι desire (poet.), γλίχεσθαι desire. φιλεῖν love, ποθεῖν long for take the accusative.

1350. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to reach, obtain (genitive of the end attained).

τῇ ἀρετῇ ἐφικέσθαι to attain to virtue I. 1. 5, οἱ ἀκονισταὶ βραχύτερα ἡκόντιζον ἢ ὡς ἐξικνέσθαι τῶν σφενδονητῶν the javelin-throwers did not hurl far enough to reach the slingers X. A. 3. 3. 7, σπονδῶν ἔτυχε he obtained a truce 3. 1. 28.

So with κυρεῖν obtain (poet.), κληρονομεῖν inherit, ἀποτυγχάνειν fall to lot. τυγχάνειν, when compounded with ἐν, ἐπί, παρά, περί, and σύν, takes the dative. λαγχάνειν obtain by lot usually takes the accusative.

a. This genitive and that of 1349 form the genitive of the goal.

1351. The genitive of the thing obtained may be joined with an ablative genitive (1410) of the person: οὐ δὲ δὴ πάντων οὐλόμεθα τεύχεσθαι ἔπαυρον in a case where we expect to win praise from all men X. A. 5. 7. 33. But where the thing obtained is expressed by a neuter pronoun, the accusative is employed.

1352. It is uncertain whether verbs signifying to miss take a partitive or an ablative genitive: οὐδεὶς ἡμάρτανεν ἀνδρός no one missed his man X. A. 3. 4. 15, σφαλέντες τῆς δόξης disappointed in expectations T. 4. 85.

1353. Verbs of approaching and meeting take the genitive according to 1343 or 1349. These verbs are poetical. Thus, ἀντιῶν ταύρων for the purpose of obtaining (his share of) bulls a 25, ἀντήσω τοῦδ' ἀνέρος I will encounter this man II 423, πέλδσαι πῶν to approach the ships S. Aj. 709. In the meaning draw near to verbs of approaching take the dative (1463).

1354. The genitive is used with verbs of smelling.

δῖω μύρου I smell of perfume Ar. Eccl. 524. So πνέειν μύρου to breathe (smell of) perfume S. fr. 140.

1355. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to enjoy, taste, eat, drink.

ἀπολαύομεν πάντων τῶν ἀγαθῶν we enjoy all the good things X. M. 4. 3. 11, εὖωχοῦ τοῦ λόγου enjoy the discourse P. R. 352 b, ὀλίγοι σίτου ἐγεύσαντο few tasted food X. A. 3. 1. 3. So (rarely) with ἡδεσθαι take pleasure in.

a. Here belong ἐσθίειν, πίνειν when they do not signify to eat up or drink up: ὥμῶν ἐσθίειν αὐτῶν to eat them alive X. H. 3. 3. 6, πίνειν οἶνω drink some wine x 11, as boire du vin (but πίνειν οἶνον drink wine ζ 5, as boire le vin). Words denoting food and drink are placed in the accusative when they are regarded as kinds of nourishment.

1356. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to remember, remind, forget, care for, and neglect.

τῶν ἀπόντων φίλων μέμνησο remember your absent friends I. 1. 26, βοδλομαὶ δ' ὑμᾶς ἀναμνησάι τῶν ἐμοὶ πεπραγμένων I desire to remind you of my past actions And. 4. 41, δέδοικα μὴ ἐπιλαθώμεθα τῆς οἰκαδὲ ὁδοῦ I fear lest we may forget the way home X. A. 3. 2. 25, ἐπιμελούμενοι οἱ μὲν ὑποζυγίων, οἱ δὲ σκευῶν some taking care of the pack animals, others of the baggage 4. 3. 30, τῆς τῶν πολλῶν δόξης δεῖ ὑμᾶς φροντίζειν we must pay heed to the world's opinion P. Cr. 48 a, τί ἡμῖν τῆς τῶν πολλῶν δόξης μέλει; what do we care for the world's opinion? 44 c, τοῖς σπουδαίοις οὐχ ὁλόν τε τῆς ἀρετῆς ἀμελεῖν the serious cannot disregard virtue I. 1. 48, μηδεὶς ὀλιγωρεῖτε μηδὲ καταφρονεῖτε (cp. 1385) τῶν προστεταγμένων neither neglect nor despise any command laid on you 3. 48.

1357. So with μνημονεύειν remember (but usually with the accus., especially of things), ἀμνημονεύειν not to speak of, κηδεσθαι care for, ἐντρέπεσθαι give heed to, ἐνθυμῆσθαι think deeply of, προορᾶν make provision for (in Hdt.), μεταμέλει μοι it repents me, καταμελεῖν neglect.

1358. Many of these verbs also take the accusative. With the accus. μνησθαι means to remember something as a whole, with the gen. to remember something about a thing, bethink oneself. The accus. is usually found with verbs of remembering and forgetting when they mean to hold or not to hold in memory, and when the object is a thing. Neuter pronouns must stand in the accus. ἐπιλανθάνεσθαι forget takes either the genitive or the accusative, λανθάνεσθαι (usually poetical) always takes the genitive. μέλει it is a care, ἐπιμέλεσθαι care for, μνησθαι think about may take περὶ with the genitive. οἶδα generally means I remember when it has a person as the object (in the accusative).

1359. Verbs of reminding may take two accusatives: ταῦθ' ὑπέμνησ' ὁμᾶς I have reminded you of this D. 19. 25 (1628).

1360. With μέλει, the subject, if a neuter pronoun, may sometimes stand in the nominative (the personal construction): ταῦτα θεῶ μελήσει God will care for this P. Phae. 238 d. Except in poetry the subject in the nominative is very rare with other words than neuter pronouns: χοροὶ πᾶσι μέλουνσι P. L. 835 e.

τινὸς ἤκουσ' εἰπόντος I heard somebody say D. 8. 4, ἀκούσαντες τῆς σάλπιγγος hearing the sound of the trumpet X. A. 4. 2. 8, ἀκούσαντες τὸν θόρυβον hearing the noise 4. 4. 21, ἀκροώμενοι τοῦ ᾄδοντος listening to the singer X. C. 1. 3. 10, ὅσοι ἀλλήλων ἔνιεν all who understood each other T. 1. 3, ἐπειδὴν συνίῃ τις τὰ λεγόμενα when one understands what is said P. Pr. 325 c (verbs of understanding, συνιέναι and ἐπίστασθαι, usually take the accus.), κρομμύων ὀσφραίνομαι I smell onions Ar. Ran. 654.

a. A supplementary participle is often used in agreement with the genitive of the person from whom something is heard: λέγοντος ἐμοῦ ἀκροᾶσονται οἱ νέοι the young men will listen when I speak P. A. 87 d.

b. The accusative is almost always used when the thing heard is expressed by a substantivized neuter adjective or participle, but the genitive plural in the case of οἶτος, ὄδε, αὐτός, and ὅς is frequent.

1362. A double genitive, of the person and of the thing, is rare with ἀκοῦειν: τῶν ὑπὲρ τῆς γραφῆς δικαίων ἀκοῦειν μου to listen to my just pleas as regards the indictment D. 18. 9.

1363. ἀκοῦειν, αἰσθάνεσθαι, πυνθάνεσθαι, meaning to become aware of, learn, take the accusative (with a participle in indirect discourse, 2112 b) of a personal or impersonal object: οἱ δὲ Πλαταιῆς, ὡς ᾔσθοντο ἔνδον τε θυτὰς τοὺς Θηβαίους καὶ περικυλλημένην τὴν πόλιν but the Plataeans, when they became aware that the Thebans were inside and that the city had been captured T. 2. 3, πυνθόμενοι Ἀρταξέρξην τεθνηκότα having learned that Artaxerxes was dead 4. 50.

a. To hear a thing is usually ἀκούειν τι when the thing heard is something definite and when the meaning is simply hear, not listen to.

1365. ἀκούειν, κλύειν, πυνθάνεσθαι τινος may mean to hear about, hear of: εἰ δέ κε τεθνηῶτος ἀκούσης but if you hear that he is dead a 289, κλῶν σοῦ hearing about thee S. O. C. 307, ὡς ἐπύθοντο τῆς Πύλου κατειλημμένης when they heard of the capture of Pylos T. 4. 6. For the participle (not in indirect discourse) see 2112 a. περί is often used with the genitive without the participle.

1366. In the meaning heed, hearken, obey, verbs of hearing generally take the genitive: ἀκουε πάντων, ἐκλέγου δ' ἀ συμφέροι listen to everything, but choose that which is profitable Men. Sent. 566, τῶν πλεμίων ἀκούειν to submit to enemies X. C. 8. 1. 4. πείθεσθαι takes the genitive, instead of the dative, by analogy to this use (Hdt. 6. 12, T. 7. 73). (On the dative with ἀκούειν obey see 1465.)

1367. αἰσθάνεσθαι takes the genitive, or (less frequently) the accusative, of the thing immediately perceived by the senses: τῆς κραυγῆς ᾗσθοντο they heard the noise X. H. 4. 4. 4, ᾗσθετο τὰ γυγνώμενα he perceived what was happening X. C. 8. 1. 4. The genitive is less common than the accusative when the perception is intellectual: ὡς ᾗσθοντο τειχιζόντων when they heard that they were progressing with their fortification T. 5. 83. Cp. 1363.

1368. Some verbs, ordinarily construed with the accusative, take the genitive by the analogy of αἰσθάνεσθαι, etc.: ἔγνω ἄτοπα ἐμοῦ ποιοῦντος he knew that I was acting absurdly X. C. 7. 2. 18, ἀγνοοῦντες ἀλλήλων ὃ τι λέγομεν each of us mistaking what the other says P. G. 517 c. This construction of verbs of knowing (and showing) occurs in Attic only when a participle accompanies the genitive.

1369. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to fill, to be full of. The thing filled is put in the accusative.

οὐκ ἐμπλήσετε τὴν θάλατταν τριήρων; will you not cover the sea with your triremes? D. 8. 74, ἀναπλήσαι αἰτιῶν to implicate in guilt P. A. 32 c, τροφῆς εὐπορεῖν to have plenty of provisions X. Vect. 6. 1, τριήρης σεσαγμένη ἀνθρώπων a trireme stowed with men X. O. 8. 8, ὕβρεως μεστοῦσθαι to be filled with pride P. L. 713 c. So with πλήθειν, πληροῦν, γέμειν, πλουτεῖν, βιβθεῖν (poet.), βρύειν (poet.).

a. Here belong also χεῖρ στάζει θνηλῆς Ἄρεος his hand drips with sacrifice to Ares S. El. 1423, μεθυσθεὶς τοῦ νέκταρος intoxicated with nectar P. S. 208 b, ἡ πηγὴ βεῖ ψυχροῦ ὕδατος the spring flows with cold water P. Phae. 230 b. The instrumental dative is sometimes used.

1370. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to rule, command, lead.

θεῶν τὸ θελόντων ἀρχειν it is divine to rule over willing subjects X. O. 21. 12, τῆς θαλάττης ἐκράτει he was master of the sea P. Menex. 239 e, Ἔρως τῶν θεῶν βασιλεύει Love is king of the gods P. S. 195 c, ἡγήετο τῆς ἐξόδου he led the expedition T. 2. 10, στρατηγεῖν τῶν ξένων to be general of the mercenaries X. A.

2. 6. 28. So with τυραννεῖν be absolute master of, ἀνδρᾶσιν be lord of (poet.), ἡγεμονεῖν be commander of. This genitive is connected with that of 1402.

1371. Several verbs of ruling take the accusative when they mean to conquer, overcome (so κρατεῖν), or when they express the domain over which the rule extends; as τὴν Πελοπόννησον πειράσθαι μὴ ἐλάσσω ἐξηγεῖσθαι try not to lessen your dominion over the Peloponnese T. 1. 71. ἡγεῖσθαι τινι means to be a guide to any one, show any one the way. Cp. 1537.

GENITIVE OF PRICE AND VALUE

1372. The genitive is used with verbs signifying to buy, sell, cost, value, exchange. The price for which one gives or does anything stands in the genitive.

ἀργυρίου πρίασθαι ἢ ἀποδοῦναι ἵππον to buy or sell a horse for money P. R. 333 b, Θεμιστοκλέῃ τῶν μεγίστων δωρεῶν ἡξίωσαν they deemed Themistocles worthy of the greatest gifts I. 4. 154, οὐκ ἀνταλλακτέον μοι τὴν φιλοτιμίαν οὐδενὸς κέρδους I must not barter my public spirit for any price D. 19. 223. So with τάττειν rate, μισθοῦν let, μισθοῦσθαι hire, ἐργάζεσθαι work, and with any verb of doing anything for a wage, as οἱ τῆς παρ' ἡμερῶν χάριτος τὰ μέγιστα τῆς πόλεως ἀπολωλεκότες those who have ruined the highest interests of the State to purchase ephemeral popularity D. 8. 70, πόσου διδάσκει; πέντε μνῶν for how much does he teach? for five minae P. A. 20 b, οἱ Χαλδαῖοι μισθοῦ στρατεύονται the Chaldaeans serve for pay X. C. 3. 2. 7.

a. The instrumental dative is also used. With verbs of exchanging, ἀντί is usual (1683).

1373. To value highly and lightly is περὶ πολλοῦ (πλεονος, πλειστου) and περὶ ὀλίγου (ἐλάττωτος, ἐλαχίστου) τιμᾶσθαι or ποιεῖσθαι: τὰ πλειστου ἄξια περὶ ἐλαχίστου ποιεῖται, τὰ δὲ φανόττερα περὶ πλεονος he makes least account of what is most important, and sets higher what is less estimable P. A. 30 a. The genitive of value, without περὶ, is rare: πολλοῦ ποιῶμαι ἀκηκοέναι ἃ ἀκήκοα Πρωταγόρου I esteem it greatly to have heard what I did from Protagoras P. Pr. 328 d.

a. The genitive of cause is rarely used to express the thing bought or that for which pay is demanded: οὐδένα τῆς συνοσιᾶς ἀργύριον πράττει you charge nobody anything for your teaching X. M. 1. 6. 11, τρῆς μναὶ διφρίσκου three minae for a small chariot Ar. Nub. 81.

1374. In legal language τιμᾶν τινι θανάτου is to fix the penalty at death (said of the jury, which is not interested in the result), τιμᾶσθαι τινι θανάτου to propose death as the penalty (said of the accuser, who is interested), and τιμᾶσθαι τινος to propose a penalty against oneself (said of the accused). Cp. τιμᾶται μοι ὁ ἀνὴρ θανάτου the man proposes death as my penalty P. A. 36 b, ἀλλὰ δὴ φνιγῆς τιμῆσωμαι; ἴσως γὰρ ἂν μοι τούτου τιμῆσαίτε but shall I propose exile as my penalty? for perhaps you (the jury) might fix it at this 37 c. So θανάτου with κρίνειν, δικαίνειν, ὑπάγειν. Cp. 1379.

GENITIVE OF CRIME AND ACCOUNTABILITY

1375. With verbs of judicial action the genitive denotes the crime, the accusative denotes the person accused.

αἰτιάσθαι ἀλλήλους τοῦ γεγενημένου to accuse one another of what had happened X. Ages. 1. 33, διώκω μὲν κακηγορίᾳς, τῇ δ' αὐτῇ ψήφῳ φόβου φεύγω I bring an accusation for defamation and at the same trial am prosecuted for murder L. 11. 12, ἐμὲ ὁ Μέλητος ἀσεβείᾳς ἐγράψατο Meletus prosecuted me for impiety P. Euth. 5 c, δώρων ἐκρίθησαν they were tried for bribery L. 27. 3. On verbs of accusing and condemning compounded with κατὰ, see 1385.

1376. So with ἀμύνεσθαι and κολάζειν punish, εἰσάγειν and προσκαλεῖσθαι summon into court, αἰρεῖν convict, τιμωρεῖσθαι take vengeance on. With τιμωρεῖν avenge and λαγχάνειν obtain leave to bring a suit, the person avenged and the person against whom the suit is brought are put in the dative. So with δικάζεσθαι τινὶ τιμῶς to go to law with a man about something.

1377. Verbs of judicial action may take a cognate accusative (δίκην, γραφήν), on which the genitive of the crime depends: γραφήν ὕβρεως καὶ δίκην κακηγορίας φέυξεται he will be brought to trial on an indictment for outrage and on a civil action for slander D. 21. 32. From this adnominal use arose the construction of the genitive with this class of verbs.

1378. ἀλίσκεσθαι (ἀλῶναι) be convicted, ὀφλισκάειν lose a suit, φεύγειν be prosecuted are equivalent to passives: ἐάν τις ἀλῶ κλοπῆς . . . κἂν ἀστρατείας τις ὀφλῇ if any one be condemned for theft . . . and if any one be convicted of desertion D. 24. 103, ἀσεβείᾳς φεύγοντα ὑπὸ Μελήτου being tried for impiety on the indictment of Meletus P. A. 85 d. ὀφλισκάειν may take δίκην as a cognate accus. (ὥφληκέναι δίκην to be cast in a suit Ar. Av. 1457); the crime or the penalty may stand in the genitive (with or without δίκην), or in the accusative: ὅσοι κλοπῆς ἢ δώρων ὀφλοῖεν all who had been convicted of embezzlement or bribery And. 1. 74, ὅφ' ὑμῶν θανάτου δίκην ὀφλῶν having incurred through your verdict the penalty of death, ὑπὸ τῆς ἀληθείας ὥφληκότες μοχθηρίᾳ condemned by the truth to suffer the penalty of wickedness P. A. 39 b.

1379. With verbs of judicial action the genitive of the penalty may be regarded as a genitive of value: θανάτου κρίνουνσι they judge in matters of life and death X. C. 1. 2. 14. So ὑπάγειν τινα θανάτου to impeach a man on a capital charge X. H. 2. 3. 12; cp. τιμᾶν θανάτου 1374.

a. With many verbs of judicial action περί is used.

GENITIVE OF CONNECTION

1380. The genitive may express a more or less close connection or relation, where περί is sometimes added.

With verbs of saying or thinking: τί δὲ ἵππων οἶε; but what do you think of horses? P. R. 459 b. Often in poetry: εἰπὲ δέ μοι πατρός but tell me about my father λ 174, τοῦ κασιγνήτου τί φῆς; what dost thou say of thy brother? S. El. 317.

1381. The genitive is often used loosely, especially at the beginning of a construction, to state the subject of a remark: ἵππος ἦν κακουργῇ, τὸν ἵππῳ κακίζομεν· τῆς δὲ γυναίκος, εἰ κακοποιεῖ κτλ. if a horse is vicious, we lay the fault to the groom; but as regards a wife, if she conducts herself ill, etc. X. O. 3. 11, ὡσαύτως δὲ καὶ τῶν ἄλλων τεχνῶν and so in the case of the other arts too P. Charm. 165 d, τί δὲ τῶν πολλῶν καλῶν; what about the many beautiful things? P. Ph. 78 d.

GENITIVE WITH COMPOUND VERBS

1382. The genitive depends on the meaning of a compound verb as a whole (1) if the simple verb takes the genitive without a preposition, as ὑπελκεῖν wilhdraw, παρᾶλδαι release, παραχωρεῖν surrender (1392), ἐφίεσθαι desire (1349); or (2) if the compound has acquired through the preposition a signification different from that of the simple verb with the preposition: thus ἀπογρόντες τῆς ἐλευθερίας despairing of freedom L. 2. 46 cannot be expressed by γρόντες ἀπὸ τῆς ἐλευθερίας. But it is often difficult to determine whether the genitive depends on the compound verb as a whole or on the preposition contained in it.

1383. A verb compounded with a preposition taking the dative or accusative may take the genitive by analogy of another compound verb whose preposition requires the genitive: so ἐμβαλεῖν ὄρων to set foot on the boundaries S. O. C. 400 by analogy to ἐπιβαλεῖν τῶν ὄρων P. L. 778 e.

1384. Many verbs compounded with ἀπὸ, πρό, ὑπέρ, ἐπὶ, and κατὰ take the genitive when the compound may be resolved into the simple verb and the preposition without change in the sense: τοὺς συμμάχους ἀποτρέψαντες τῆς γνώμης dissuading the allies from their purpose And. 3. 21, προαπεστάλησαν τῆς ἀποστάσεως they were despatched before the revolt T. 3. 5, πολλοῖς ἡ γλῶττα προτρέχει τῆς διαβολῆς in many people the tongue outruns the thought I. 1. 41, (οἱ πολέμοι) ὑπεράδθηται ἡμῶν the enemy are stationed above us X. A. 5. 1. 9, τῷ ἐπιβάντι πρώτῳ τοῦ τείχους to the first one setting foot on the wall T. 4. 116. This use is most frequent when the prepositions are used in their proper signification. Many compounds of ὑπέρ take the accusative.

a. This use is especially common with κατὰ against or at: μὴ μου κατέλῃς don't speak against me P. Th. 149 a, κατεψεύσατό μου he spoke falsely against me D. 18. 9, ψευδῇ κατεγλώττιζέ μου he mouthed lies at me Ar. Ach. 380. The construction in 1384 is post-Homeric.

1385. The verbs of accusing and condemning (cp. 1375) containing κατὰ in composition (καταγιγνώσκειν decide against, καταδικάζειν adjudge against, καταψηφίζεσθαι vote against, κατακρίνειν give sentence against) take a genitive of the person, and an accusative of the penalty. κατηγορεῖν accuse, καταγιγνώσκειν and καταψηφίζεσθαι take a genitive of the person, an accusative of the crime: καταγνώμαι δωροδοκίᾳ ἐμοῦ to pronounce me guilty of bribery L. 21. 21, τοῦτου δειλίᾳ καταψηφίζεσθαι to vote him guilty of cowardice 14. 11, τῶν διαφυγόντων θάνατον καταγόντες having condemned the fugitives to death T. 6. 60; person, crime, and penalty: πολλῶν οἱ πατέρες μηδισμοῦ θάνατον κατέγνωσαν our fathers passed sentence of death against many for favouring the Persians I. 4. 157. The genitive is rarely used to express the crime or the penalty: παραθύμων αὐτοῦ κατηγορεῖν to accuse him of proposing unconstitutional measures D. 21. 5; cp. ἀνθρώπων καταψηφισθέντων θάνατον men who have been condemned to death P. R. 558 a.

1386. In general, prose, as distinguished from poetry, repeats the preposition contained in the compound; but κατὰ is not repeated.

1387. Passive. — θάνατον αὐτῶν κατεγνώσθη sentence of death was passed on them L. 13.89 (so κατεψηφισμένος ἦν μου ὁ θάνατος X. Ap. 27), κατηγορεῖτο αὐτοῦ οὐχ ἥκιστα μηδισμός he was especially accused of favouring the Persians T. 1. 95.

FREE USES OF THE GENITIVE

1388. Many verbs ordinarily construed with the accusative are also followed by a genitive of a person, apparently dependent on the verb but in reality governed by an accusative, generally a neuter pronoun or a dependent clause. Thus, τὰδ' αὐτοῦ ἀγαμαί I admire this in him X. Ages. 2. 7, τοῦτο ἐταίρω 'Αγησίδαο I praise this in Agesilaus 8. 4, αὐτῶν ἐν ἐθαύμασα I was astonished at one thing in them P. A. 17 a, 'Αθηναῖοι σφῶν ταῦτα οὐκ ἀποδέχονται the Athenians will not be satisfied with them in this T. 7. 48, ὁ μέφορται μάλιστα ἡμῶν which they most censure in us 1. 84, εἰ ἀγασαι τοῦ πατρὸς ὅσα πέπραχε if you admire in my father what he has done (the actions of my father) X. C. 3. 1. 15, διαθεώμενοι αὐτῶν δσιν χώρᾱν ἔχουεν contemplating how large a country they possess X. A. 3. 1. 19, θαυμάζω τῶν στρατηγῶν ὅτι οὐ πειρῶνται ἡμῖν ἐκπορίζειν σιτηρέσιον I wonder that the generals do not try to supply us with money for provisions 6. 2. 4, ἐπερόησε δὲ αὐτῶν καὶ ὡς ἐπηρώτων ἀλλήλους he took note also how they asked each other questions X. C. 5. 2. 18. So with θεωρεῖν observe, ὑπονοεῖν feel suspicious of, ἐνθυμέσθαι consider, etc.

1389. From such constructions arose the use of the genitive in actual dependence on the verb without an accusative word or clause: ἀγασαι αὐτοῦ γοῦ admire him X. M. 2. 6. 33, θαυμάζω τῶν ὑπὲρ τῆς ἰδίας δόξης ἀποθηήσκειν ἐθελόντων I wonder at those who are willing to die in defence of their personal opinions I. 6. 93. The use in 1389 recalls that with αἰσθάνεσθαι (1367). On ἀγασθαι, θαυμάζειν with the genitive of cause, see 1405.

1390. A form of the genitive of possession appears in poetry with verbal adjectives and passive participles to denote the personal origin of an action (cp. 1298): κελῆς διδασκὰ taught of her S. El. 344, ἐκδιδάχθεις τῶν κατ' οἶκον informed by those in the house S. Tr. 934, πληγῆς θυγατρὸς struck by a daughter E. Or. 497. Cp. δίδωτορος given of God; and "beloved of the Lord."

On the genitive absolute, see 2070.

THE ABLATIVAL GENITIVE WITH VERBS

1391. The same verb may govern both a true genitive and an ablatival genitive. So ἀρχεσθαι to begin (1348 a) and to start from, ἔχασθαι to hold to (1345) and to keep oneself from. In many cases it is difficult to decide whether the genitive in question was originally the true genitive or the ablatival genitive, or whether the two have been combined; e.g. in κυνὴ βίνοῦ ποιητὴ a cap made of hide K 262, κύπελλον ἐδέξατο ἡ ἀλόχοιο he received a goblet from his wife Ω 305. So with verbs to hear from, know of (1364, 1411), and verbs of emotion (1405), the partitive idea, cause, and source are hard to distinguish. Other cases open to doubt are verbs of missing (1352), being deceived (1392) and the exclamatory genitive (1407).

GENITIVE OF SEPARATION

1392. With verbs signifying to cease, release, remove, restrain, give up, fail, be distant from, etc., the genitive denotes separation.

ἄγειν τῶν πόνων to cease from toil I. 1. 14, ἐπιστήμη χωριζομένη δικαιοσύνης knowledge divorced from justice P. Menex. 246 e, μεταστὰς τῆς Ἀθηναίων συμμαχίας withdrawing from the alliance with the Athenians T. 2. 67, παύσαντες αὐτὸν τῆς στρατηγίας removing him from his office of general X. H. 6. 2. 18, ἀρκεσθαι τῆς ἀγορᾶς to be excluded from the forum I. 6. 24, σῶσαι κακοῦ to save from evil S. Ph. 919, ἐκώλυον τῆς πορείας αὐτόν they prevented him from passing X. Ages. 2. 2, πᾶς ἀσκὸς δύο ἀνδρας ἔξει τοῦ μὴ καταδύναι each skin will keep two men from sinking X. A. 3. 5. 11, λόγου τελευτᾶν to end a speech T. 3. 59, τῆς ἐλευθερίας παραχωρῆσαι Φιλίππῳ to surrender their freedom to Philip D. 18. 68, οὐ πόνων ἴψιετο, οὐ κινδύνων ἀφίστατο, οὐ χρημάτων ἐφείδετο he did not relax his toil, stand aloof from dangers, or spare his money X. Ages. 7. 1, ψευσθέντες τῶν ἐλπίδων disappointed of their expectations I. 4. 58 (but cp. 1352), ἡ νῆσος οὐ πολὺ διέχουσα τῆς ἡπείρου the island being not far distant from the main- land T. 3. 51.

1393. Several verbs of separation, such as ἐλευθεροῦν (especially with a personal subject), may take ἀπό or ἐξ when the local idea is prominent. Many take also the accusative.

1394. The genitive, instead of the accusative (1628), may be used with verbs of depriving: ἀποστερεῖ με τῶν χρημάτων he deprives me of my property I. 17. 35, τῶν ἄλλων ἀφαιρούμενοι χρήματα taking away property from others X. M. 1. 5. 3.

1395. The genitive of the place whence is employed in poetry where a compound verb would be used in prose: βάθρων ἵστασθε rise from the steps S. O. T. 142 (cp. ὑπανίστανται θάκῳ they rise from their seats X. S. 4. 31), χθονὸς δαίρᾶς raising from the ground S. Ant. 417.

1396. The genitive with verbs signifying to want, lack, empty, etc. may be classed with the genitive of separation.

τῶν ἐπιτηδίων οὐκ ἀπορήσομεν we shall not want provisions X. A. 2. 2. 11, ἔταινον οὐποτε σπανίζετε you never lack praise X. Hi. 1. 14, ἀνδρῶν τάνδε πόλιν κενῶσαι to empty this city of its men A. Supp. 660. So with ἐλλείπειν and στέρεσθαι lack, ἐρημοῦν deliver from.

1398. δέομαι I want, request may take the genitive, or the accusative (regularly of neuter pronouns and adjectives), of the thing wanted; and the genitive of the person: ἐρωτώμενος θρου δέοιτο, Ἄσκῳ, ἔφη, διαχίλιον δέσσομαι being asked what he needed, he said 'I shall have need of two thousand skins' X. A. 3. 5. 9, τοῦτο ὑμῶν δέομαι I ask this of you P. A. 17 c. The genitive of the thing and of the person is unusual: δέόμενοι Κόρου ἄλλος ἄλλης πράξεως petitioning Cyrus about different matters X. C. 8. 3. 19.

1399. δεῖ (impersonal) is frequently used with genitives of quantity: πολλοῦ δεῖ οὕτως εἶχειν far from that being the case P. A. 35 d, οὐδὲ πολλοῦ δεῖ D. 8. 42 (only in D.) and οὐδ' ὀλίγου δεῖ no, far from it D. 19. 184. δεῖν may be omitted (but not with πολλοῦ), leaving ὀλίγου and μικροῦ in the sense of almost, all but:

ἀλίγου πάντες almost all P. R. 552 d, ἀλίγου ἄλλαν τὴν πόλιν they all but took the city T. 8. 35. On δεῖν used absolutely, see 2012 d; on δέων with numerals, 350 c.

1400. δεῖ μοι τινος means I have need of something. In place of the dative (1467) an accusative of the person is rarely allowed in poetry on the analogy of δεῖ with the infinitive (1985): οὐ πόνου πολλοῦ με δεῖ I have need of no great toil E. Hipp. 23 (often in E.). The thing needed is rarely put in the accusative: εἴ τι δέοι τῷ χορῷ if the chorus need anything Ant. 6. 12 (here some regard τι as nominative). Cp. 1562.

GENITIVE OF DISTINCTION AND OF COMPARISON

1401. The genitive is used with verbs of differing.

ἀρχων ἀγαθὸς οὐδὲν διαφέρει πατρὸς ἀγαθοῦ a good ruler differs in no respect from a good father X. C. 8. 1. 1.

1402. With verbs signifying to surpass, be inferior to, the genitive denotes that with which anything is compared.

τίμας τούτων ἐπλεονεκτεῖτε you had the advantage over them in honours X. A. 3. 1. 37, ἥττωτο τοῦ ὕδατος they were overpowered by the water X. H. 5. 2. 5, ὑστερεῖν τῶν ἔργων to be too late for operations D. 4. 38, ἡμῶν λειψθέστες inferior to us X. A. 7. 7. 31. So with πρσβεύειν hold the first place, ἀριστεύειν be best (poet.), μειοῦσθαι fall short of, μειονεκτεῖν be worse off, ἐλαττοῦσθαι be at a disadvantage. κᾶσθαι τινος is chiefly poetic. ἡτᾶσθαι often takes ὑπό. Akin to this genitive is that with verbs of ruling (1370), which are often derived from a substantive signifying ruler.

1403. Many verbs compounded with πρό, περί, ὑπέρ denoting superiority take the genitive, which may depend on the preposition (1384): τάχει περιεγένοιτο αὐτοῦ you excelled him in speed X. C. 3. 1. 19, γνώμῃ προέχειν τῶν ἐναντιῶν to excel the enemy in spirit T. 2. 62, τοῖς ὅπλοις αὐτῶν ὑπερφέρομεν we surpass them in our infantry 1. 81. So with περιεῖναι, ὑπερέχειν. προτιμᾶν, προκρίνειν, and προαιρεῖσθαι prefer, προεστηκέναι be at the head of certainly take the genitive by reason of the preposition. ὑπερβάλλειν and ὑπερβαίνειν surpass take the accusative.

1404. The object compared may be expressed by πρό, ἀντί with the genitive, or by παρά, πρὸς with the accusative. See under Prepositions. That in which one thing is superior or inferior to another usually stands in the dative (1513, 1515).

GENITIVE OF CAUSE

1405. With verbs of emotion the genitive denotes the cause. Such verbs are to wonder at, admire, envy, praise, blame, hate, pity, grieve for, be angry at, take vengeance on, and the like.

ἐθαύμασα τῆς τόλμης τῶν λεγόντων I wondered at the hardihood of the speakers L. 12. 41, τοῦτον ἀγασθεὶς τῆς πραότητος admiring him for his mildness X. C. 2. 3. 21, ζηλώ σε τοῦ νοῦ, τῆς δὲ δειλίας στυγῶ I envy thee for thy prudence, I hate thee for thy cowardice S. El. 1027, σέ νῦδαιμόνισα τοῦ τρόπου I thought you happy because of your disposition P. Cr. 43 b, συγχαίρω τῶν γεγενημένων I share the joy at what has happened D. 15. 15, ἀνέχεσθαι τῶν οικείων ἀμελουμένων to put up with the neglect of my household affairs P. A. 31 b, τὸν ξένον δίκαιον αἰνέσαι προθυμίᾳ it is right to praise the stranger for his zeal E. I. A. 1371, οὐκοι' ἀνδρὶ τῷδε κηρῦκευμάτων μέμνη never wilt thou blame me for my tidings A. Sept. 651, τοῦ πάθους φέπειν αὐτόν he pitied him for his misery X. C. 5. 4. 32, οὐδ' εἰκὸς χαλεπῶς φέρειν αὐτῶν nor is it reasonable to grieve about them T. 2. 62, οὐκέτι ὦν οὔτοι κλέπτουσιν ἐργίστεθε, ἀλλ' ὦν αὐτοὶ λαμβάνετε χάριν lote you are no longer angry at their thefts, but you are grateful for what you get yourselves L. 27. 11, τιμωρήσασθαι αὐτοὺς τῆς ἐπιθέσεως to take revenge on them for their attack X. A. 7. 4. 28. Here belongs, by analogy, συγγιγνώσκειν αὐτοῖς χρὴ τῆς ἐπιθυμίας it is necessary to for- give them for their desire P. Eu. 306 c (usually συγγιγνώσκειν τὴν ἐπιθυμίαν τιμᾶ ἢ ἐπιθυμίᾳ τινός).

a. The genitive of cause is partly a true genitive, partly ablative.

1406. With the above verbs the person stands in the accusative or dative. Some of these verbs take the dative or ἐπὶ and the dative (e.g. ἀλγεῖν, στένειν, ἔχθεσθαι, φθονεῖν) to express the cause of the emotion. See the Lexicon.

1407. The genitive of cause is used in exclamations and is often preceded by an interjection: φεῦ τοῦ ἀνδρός alas for the man! X. C. 3. 1. 39, τῆς τύχης my ill luck! 2. 2. 3. In tragedy, the genitive of a pronoun or adjective after αἶμοι or ἔμοι refers to the second or third person. For the first person the nominative is used (αἶμοι τάλαινα ah me, miserable! S. Ant. 554).

1408. Allied to the genitive of cause is the genitive of purpose in τοῦ with the infinitive (esp. with μή, 2032 e), and in expressions where ἐνεκα is usually employed, as ἡ πᾶσ' ἀπάτῃ συνεσκευάσθη τοῦ περὶ Φωκέως δόλεβρου the whole fraud was contrived for the purpose of ruining the Phocians D. 19. 76.

1409. Closely connected with the genitive of cause is the genitive with verbs of disputing: οὐ βασιλεῖ ἀντιποιούμεθα τῆς ἀρχῆς we have no dispute with the king about his empire X. A. 2. 1. 23, ἡμφισβήτησεν Ἐρεχθεὶ τῆς πόλεως he disputed the possession of the city with Erechtheus I. 12. 193, ἂρ' οὐν μὴ ἡμῖν ἐναντιώσεται τῆς ἀπαγωγῆς; well then he will not oppose us about the removal (of the army), will he? X. A. 7. 6. 5. ἀντιποιεῖσθαι claim may follow 1349 (τῆς πόλεως ἀντε-ποιούντο they laid claim to the city T. 4. 122). Verbs of disputing are sometimes referred to 1343 or 1349.

GENITIVE OF SOURCE

1410. The genitive may denote the source.

πίθων ἡφύσσετο οἶνος wine was broached from the casks ψ 306, Δαρείου καὶ Παρυατίδος γίγνονται παῖδες δύο of Darius and Parysatis are born two sons X. A.
 1. 1. 1, ταῦτα δέ σου τυχόντες obtaining this of you 6. 6. 32, μάθε μου καὶ τάδε learn this also from me X. C. 1. 6. 44.

1411. With verbs of hearing from and the like the genitive is probably ablative rather than partitive (1364): ἐμοῦ ἀκούσθετε πᾶσαν τὴν ἀλήθειαν from me you shall hear the whole truth P. A. 17 b, τούτων πυνθάνομαι διτι οὐκ ἀβατόν ἐστι τὸ ὄρος
I learn from these men that the mountain is not impassable X. A. 4. 6. 17, τοιαυτὰ τον παρόντος ἔκλυον such a tale I heard from some one who was present S. El. 424, εἰδέναι δέ σου χρήσω I desire to know of thee S. El. 668.

a. Usually (except with πυνθάνεσθαι) we have παρά (ἀπό rarely), ἐξ or πρὸς (in poetry and Hdt.) with verbs of hearing from.

b. The genitive with εἶναι in πατὴρ δ' εἰμὶ ἀγαθός I am of a good father φ 109, τοιούτων μὲν ἔστε προγόνων of such ancestors are you X. A. 3. 2. 13 is often regarded as a genitive of source, but is probably possessive.

GENITIVE WITH ADJECTIVES

1412. The genitive is used with many adjectives corresponding in derivation or meaning to verbs taking the genitive.

1413. The adjective often borrows the construction with the genitive from that of the corresponding verb; but when the verb takes another case (especially the accusative), or when there is no verb corresponding to the adjective, the adjective may govern the genitive to express possession, connection more or less close, or by analogy. Many of the genitives in question may be classed as objective as well as partitive or ablatival. Rigid distinction between the undermentioned classes must not be insisted on.

1414. Possession and Belonging (1297). — ὁ ἔρως κοινὸς πάντων ἀνθρώπων love common to all men P. S. 205 a (cp. κοινωνεῖν 1343), ἱερὸς τοῦ αὐτοῦ θεοῦ sacred to the same god P. Ph. 85 b, οἱ κινδύνοι τῶν ἐφεστηκότων ἴδιοι the dangers belong to the commanders D. 2. 28. So with οἰκείος and ἐπιχώριος peculiar to. κοινός (usually), οἰκείος inclined to, appropriate to, and ἴδιος also take the dative (1499).

1415. Sharing (1348). — σοφίᾳ μέτοχος partaking in wisdom P. L. 689 d, ἰσάμοιροι πάντων having an equal share in everything X. C. 2. 1. 31, ὕβρεις ἀμοιροί having no part in wantonness P. S. 181 c. So ἀκληροί without lot in, ἀμέτοχοι not sharing in.

1416. Touching, Desiring, Attaining, Tasting (1345, 1350, 1355). — ἀψανστος ἔγχους not touching a spear S. O. T. 969, χάρις ὧν πρόθυμοι γεγενήμεθα gratitude for the objects of our zeal T. 3. 67, παιδείᾳ ἐπήβολοι having attained to (possessed of) culture P. L. 724 b, ἐλευθερίᾳ ἀγευστος not tasting freedom P. R. 576 a. So δόσεως passionately desirous of.

1417. Connection. — ἀκόλουθα ἀλλήλων dependent on one another X. O. 11. 12, τὰ τούτων ἀδελφά what is akin to this X. Hi. 1. 22, τῶν προειρημέτων ἐπόμεναι ἀποδείξεις expositions agreeing with what had preceded P. R. 504 b, φέγγος ὕπνου διάδοχον light succeeding sleep S. Ph. 867. All these adjectives take also the dative; as does συγγενής akin, which has become a substantive.

1418. Capacity and Fitness. — Adjectives in -ικός from active verbs, and some others: παρασκευαστικὸν τῶν εἰς τὸν πόλεμον τὸν στρατηγὸν εἶναι χρὴ καὶ παρασκευαστικὸν τῶν ἐπιτηδείων τοῖς στρατιώταις the general must be able to provide what is needed in war and to supply provisions for his men X. M. 3. 1. 6. So διδασκαλικός able to instruct, πρακτικός able to effect. Here may belong γάμον ὥρατᾳ ripe for marriage X. C. 4. 6. 9.

1419. Experience (1345). — ὁδῶν ἔμπειρος acquainted with the roads X. C. 6. 3. 35, τῆς θαλάσσης ἐπιστήμων acquainted with the sea T. 1. 142, ἰδιώτης τούτων τὸ ἔργον unskilled in this business X. O. 3. 9. So with τρίβων skilled in, τυφλὸς blind, ἀπειρος unacquainted, ἀγύμναστος unpractised, ἀπαιδευτος uneducated, ἀήθης unaccustomed, ὀψιμαθὴς late in learning, φιλομαθὴς fond of learning.

1420. Remembering, Caring For (1356). — κακῶν μνήμονες mindful of crime A. Eum. 382, ἐπιμελὴς τῶν φίλων attentive to friends X. M. 2. 6. 35, ἀμνηστων τῶν κινδύνων unmindful of dangers Ant. 2. a. 7; and, by analogy, συγγνώμων τῶν ἀνθρωπίνων ἀμαρτημάτων forgiving of human errors X. C. 6. 1. 37. So ἀμελὴς careless of, ἐπιλήσμων forgetful of.

1421. Perception (1361). — Compounds in -ήκοος from ἀκούω: λόγων καλῶν ἐπήκοοι hearers of noble words P. So συνήκοος hearing together, κατήκοος obeying. ἐπήκοος, κατήκοος, and ὕπνῃκοος also take the dative.

1422. Fulness (1369). — χαρὰς ἡ πόλις ἦν μεστή the city was full of rejoicing D. 18. 217, παράδεισος ἀγρίων θηρίων πλήρης a park full of wild beasts X. A. 1. 2. 7, πλουσιώτερος φρονήσεως richer in good sense P. Pol. 261 e, φιλόδωρος εὐμελείας generous of good-will P. S. 197 d, ἀπληστος χρημάτων greedy of money X. C. 8. 2. 20. So with ἐμπλεως, σύμπλεως. πλήρης may take the dative.

1423. Ruling (1370). — ταύτης κύριος τῆς χώρας master of this country D. 3. 16, ἀκρατὴς ὀργῆς unrestrained in passion T. 3. 84. So with ἐγκρατὴς master of, αὐτοκράτωρ complete master of, ἀκράτωρ intemperate in.

1424. Value (1372). — τάπης δέξια δέκα μινῶν a rug worth ten minae X. A. 7. 3. 27, δόξα χρημάτων οὐκ ὠνητὴ reputation is not to be bought for money I. 2. 32. So with ἀντάξιος worth, ισόβροπος in equal poise with (T. 2. 42), ἀξίохρεως sufficient, ἀξίως unworthy. ἀξίον τι with the infinitive denotes it is meet for a person to do something or the like.

1425. Accountability (1375). — ἀτιως τοῦτων accountable for this P. G. 447 a, ἐνοχος λιποταξίου liable to a charge of desertion L. 14. 5, ἀσεβελᾶς ὑπόδικος subject to a trial for impiety P. L. 907 e, ὑποτελὴς φόρου subject to tribute T. 1. 19, τοῦτων ὑπεύθυνος ὑμῖν responsible to you for this D. 8. 69, ἀθῶοι τῶν ἀδικημάτων unpunished for offences Lyc. 79. ἐνοχος usually takes the dative, and so ὑπεύθυνος meaning dependent on or exposed to. The above compounds of ὑπό take the genitive by virtue of the substantive contained in them.

1426. Place. — ἐναντίος opposite and a few other adjectives denoting nearness or approach (1353) may take the genitive, chiefly in poetry: ἐναντίοι ἔσαν Ἀχαιῶν they stood opposite the Achaeans P 343. Cp. τοῦ Πόντου ἐπικάρσιαι at an angle with the Pontus Hdt. 7. 36. ἐναντίος usually takes the dative.

1427. Separation (1392). — φίλων ἀγαθῶν ἔρημοι deprived of good friends X. M. 4. 4. 24, ψυχὴ ψιλὴ σώματος the soul separated from the body P. L. 899 a, φειδωλοὶ χρημάτων sparing of money P. R. 548 b (or perhaps under 1356), ἐλῆς καθαρὸν clear of undergrowth X. O. 16. 13, ἀπαυστος γῶν never ceasing lamentations E. Supp. 82. So with ἐλεύθερος free from, ἀγνός pure from, innocent of, ὀρφανὸς bereft of, γυμνός stripped of, μόνος alone.

1428. Compounds of alpha privative. — In addition to the adjectives with alpha privative which take the genitive by reason of the notion expressed in the verb, or by analogy, there are many others, some of which take the genitive because of the idea of separation, especially when the genitive is of kindred meaning and an attributive adjective is added for the purpose of more exact definition. Thus, ἀτίμος deprived of, ἀπαθής not suffering, ἀτελής free from (1392): as τῆμης ἀτίμος deprived of honour P. L. 774 b, ἀπαις ἀρρένων παίδων without male children I. 12. 126, τοῦ ἡδίστου θεάματος θάλατος not seeing the most pleasant sight X. M. 2. 1. 31, ἀφῶνος τῆσδε τῆς ἀρᾶς without uttering this curse S. O. C. 865. This is more frequent in poetry than prose.

a. So when the adjectives are passive: φίλων ἀκλειτος unloved by friends S. Ant. 847, cp. κακῶν δυσδαιμοντος οὐδὲς no one is hard for evil fortune to capture S. O. C. 1722. The genitive with adjectives in alpha privative is sometimes called the genitive of relation.

1429. Want (1396). — ἄρματα κενὰ ἡνόχων chariots deprived of their drivers X. A. 1. 8. 20, ἐνδεὴς ἀρετῆς lacking virtue P. R. 381 c. So with πένης poor, ἐλλειπής and ἐπιδεής lacking.

1430. Distinction (1401). — διάφορος τῶν ἄλλων different from the rest P. Par. 160 d, ἕτερον τὸ ἡδὺ τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ pleasure is different from what is good P. G. 500 d, ἄλλα τῶν δικαίων at variance with justice X. M. 4. 4. 25 (ἄλλος is almost a comparative). So with ἀλλοῖος and ἀλλότριος alien from (also with dat. unfavourable to, disinclined to). διάφορος with dative means at variance with.

1431. Comparison (1402). — Adjectives of the comparative degree or implying comparison take the genitive. The genitive denotes the standard or point of departure from which the comparison is made, and often expresses a condensed comparison when actions are compared. Thus, ἥττων ἀμαθῆς σοφοῦ, δειλὸς ἀνδρείου an ignorant man is inferior to a wise man, a coward to a brave man P. Phae. 239 a, κρείττον ἐστὶ λόγου τὸ κάλλος τῆς γυναικὸς the beauty of the woman is too great for description X. M. 3. 11. 1, 'Επύθαξ προτέρᾳ Κόρου πέντε ἡμέραις ἀφίκετο Epyaxa arrived five days before Cyrus X. A. 1. 2. 25, καταδεστέραν τὴν δόξαν τῆς ἐλπίδος ἔλαβεν the reputation he acquired fell short of his expectation I. 2. 7. So with δεύτερος, ὑστεραίος, περιττός. Comparatives with ἤ, 1069.

1432. So with multiplicatives in -πλοῦς and -πλάσιος: διπλάσια ἀπέδωκεν ὧν ἔλαβεν it returned double what it received X. C. 8. 3. 38. So with πολλοστός.

1434. The superlative with the genitive is both partitive and ablative; the latter, when a thing is compared with many things taken singly. Thus, σοφώτατος ἀνθρώπων P. A. 22 c means wisest among men (part.) and wiser than any other single man. The partitive idea is the stronger. The comparative and the superlative idea are both expressed in ἀνὴρ ἐπικεικὴς υἱὸν ἀπολέσας ὁσεν ῥᾶστα τῶν ἄλλων a reasonable man will bear the loss of a son more easily than other men (and most easily of all men) P. R. 803 e, στρατεὶά μεγίστη τῶν πρὸ αὐτῆς an expedition greater than any preceding it T. 1. 10, τῶν ἄλλων ὕστατοι the last among nations D. 8. 72. Cp. μόνος τῶν ἄλλων = alone of all D. 21. 223.

1435. Cause (1405). — εὐδαίμων τοῦ τρόπου happy because of his disposition P. Ph. 58 e, δείλαιος τῆς συμφορᾶς wretched because of thy lot S. O. T. 1347, βάλαιοι θαυμάσια τοῦ μεγέθους dates wonderful for their size X. A. 2. 3. 15, περίφοβος τοῦ καταφορηθῆναι fearful of becoming an object of contempt P. Phae. 239 b. So with τάλας and τλήμων wretched.

1436. Free Use. — a. Compound adjectives formed of a preposition and substantive may take a genitive dependent on the substantive: σκηνῆς ὑπανλος under the shelter of the tent S. Aj. 796 (= ὑπὸ αὐλῇ). Frequent in poetry.

b. Some adjectives are freely used with the genitive in poetry, as γάμοι Παρίδος ὀλέθριοι φίλων the marriage of Paris bringing ruin on his friends A. Ag. 1156. This is rare in prose: τὸ πῦρ ἐπικούρου ψύχους fire that protects against cold X. M. 4. 3. 7, κακοῦργος μὲν τῶν ἄλλων, ἐαυτοῦ δὲ κακοῦργότερος doing evil to the others but more to himself 1. 5. 3, ὁ τῆς Ἑλλάδος ἀλιτήριος the curse and destroyer of Greece Aes. 3. 157. These adjectives are practically equivalent to substantives. Cp. amans patriae.

GENITIVE WITH ADVERBS

1437. The genitive is used with adverbs derived from adjectives which take the genitive, and with adverbs akin to verbs followed by the genitive.

τὰ τοῦτου ἐξῆς what comes after this P. R. 390 a (1345), ἐρωτικῶς ἔχουσι τοῦ κερδαίνειν they are in love with gain X. O. 12. 15 (cp. 1349), εὐθὺς Ἀνκελον straight for the Lyceum P. 1438. An adverb with ἔχειν or διακεῖσθαι is often used as a periphrasis for an adjective with εἶναι or for a verb.

1439. The genitive is used with many adverbs (a) of place, (b) of time, (c) of quantity.

a. ἐμβαλεῖν πού τῆς ἐκείνων χώρᾶς to make an attack at some point of their country X. C. 6. 1. 42, ἀσθόμενος οὗ ἦν κακοῦ perceiving what a plight he was in D. 23. 156, ὁ προεληλυθὺς ἀσελγείας to what a pitch of wanton arrogance he has come 4. 9, ἐνταῦθα τῆς πολιτείας at that point of the administration 18. 62, εἰδέναι θεοῦ γῆς ἔστιν to know where in the world he is P. b. πηρὶ ἐστὶν ἄρα τῆς ἡμέρας; at what time of day? Ar. Av. 1498, τῆς ἡμέρας ὀψέ late in the day X. H. 2. 1. 23.

c. τῶν τοιούτων ἄδην enough of such matters P. Charm. 153 d, τούτων ἄλυ enough of this X. C. 8. 7. 25.

1440. Most of the genitives in 1439 are partitive. Some of the adverbs falling under 1437 take also the dative (ἀγχι, ἐγγύς, πλησίον in the poets, ἐξῆς, ἐφεξῆς).

1441. The genitive is used with adverbs of manner, especially with the intransitive ἔχω, ἦκω (Hdt.). The genitive usually has no article: ὥς τάχους ἕκαστος εἶχεν as fast as each could (with what measure of speed he had) X. H. 4. 5. 15, ὥς ποδῶν εἶχον as fast as my legs could carry me Hdt. 6. 116, ἔχοντες εἰς φρενῶν being in their right minds E. Hipp. 462, εἰ σώματος ἔξειν to be in good bodily condition P. R. 404 d (cp. 407 c, τοὺς ὑγιεινῶς ἔχοντας τὰ σώματα those who are sound in body: with the article, 1121), χρημάτων εἰ ἥκοντες well off Hdt. 5. 62, τοῦ πολέμου καλῶς ἔδοκει ἡ πόλις καθίστασθαι . . . τῆς τε ἐπὶ Θράκης παρόδου χρησίμως ἔξειν they thought that the city was well situated for the war and would prove useful for the march along Thrace T. 3. 92.

1442. This use is probably derived from that with adverbs of place: thus πῶς ἔχεις δόξης; in what state of mind are you? P. R. 456 d is due to the analogy of τοῦ δόξης; (cp. οἳτοι γνώμης S. El. 922).

1443. The genitive is used with many adverbs denoting separation. Thus, ἔσται ἡ ψυχὴ χωρὶς τοῦ σώματος the soul will exist without the body P. Ph. 86 e, δίχα τοῦ ὑμετέρου πληθους separate from your force X. C. 6. 1. 8, πρὸς τῶν πηγῶν far from the sources X. A. 3. 2. 22, ἐμποδῶν ἀλλήλοις πολλῶν καὶ ἀγαθῶν prevent one another from enjoying many blessings X. C. 8. 5. 24, ἀθροῦ τῶν στρατιωτῶν without the knowledge of the soldiers X. A. 1. 3. 8. So with ἔξω outside, ἐκτός without, outside, ἐπᾶν across, κρύφα unknown to.

GENITIVE OF TIME AND PLACE

1444. Time.—The genitive denotes the time within which, or at a certain point of which, an action takes place. As contrasted with the accusative of time (1582), the genitive denotes a portion of time. Hence the genitive of time is partitive. Cp. τὸν μὲν χειμῶνα ἔει ὁ θεός, τοῦ δὲ θέρος χρῆσκονται τῷ ὕδατι during the (entire) winter the god rains, but in (a part of) summer they need the water Hdt. 3. 117.

ἡμέρας by day, νυκτός at or by night, μεσημβρίας at midday, δελτης in the afternoon, ἑσπέρης in the evening, θέρος in summer, χειμῶνος in winter, ἡρος in spring, ὁπώρας in autumn, τοῦ λοιποῦ in the future. The addition of article or attributive usually defines the time more exactly. Thus, οὐκοῦν ἡδὲ μὲν θέρος ψυχτεῖν ἔχειν, ἡδὲ δὲ χειμῶνος ἀλγεινὴν; is it not pleasant to have (a house) cool in summer, and warm in winter? X. M. 3. 8. 9, ὤχετο τῆς νυκτός he departed during the night X. A. 7. 2. 17, καὶ ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτός ἄγων ἐπὶ τοὺς πολεμίους both by day and by night leading against the enemy 2. 6. 7, ἔλεγον τοῦ λοιποῦ μικροῦ ἵσταται ἀνομιλᾶς ἀρξαι they said that for the future (at any time in the future) it should no longer be permitted to set an example of lawlessness 5. 7. 34. (Distinguish τὸ λοιπὸν for the (entire) future 3. 2. 8.) ἐντός within is sometimes added to the genitive.

1445. The addition of the article may have a distributive sense: δραχμὴν ἑλάμβανε τῆς ἡμέρας he received a drachm a day T. 3. 17.

1446. The genitive may denote the time since an action has happened or the time until an action will happen: οὐδεὶς μὲ πω ἠρώτηκε καινὸν οὐδὲν πολλῶν ἐτῶν for many years nobody has put a new question to me P. G. 448 a, βασιλεὺς οὐ μαχεῖται δέκα ἡμερῶν the king will not fight for ten days X. A. 1. 7. 18.

1447. The genitive may or may not denote a definite part of the time during which anything takes place; the dative fixes the time explicitly either by specifying a definite point in a given period or by contracting the whole period to a definite point; the accusative expresses the whole extent of time from beginning to end: cp. τῇ δὲ ὑστεραίᾳ οἱ μὲν Ἀθηναῖοι τὸ τε πρόστειον εἶλον καὶ τὴν ἡμέραν ἀπᾶσαν ἐδῆσαν τὴν γῆν, οἱ τε τριακῶσιαι τῶν Σκισσῶν τῆς ἐπιούσης νυκτὸς ἀπεχώρησαν on the next day the Athenians captured the suburb and laid waste the land for that entire day, while the three hundred Scionaeans departed in the course of the following night T. 4. 130; ἡμέρα δὲ ἀρξάμενοι τρίτῃ ὡς οἰκοθεν ὤρμησαν, ταύτην τε εἰργάζοντο καὶ τὴν τετάρτην καὶ τῆς πέμπτης μέχρι ἀπλοσίου beginning on the third day after their departure, they continued their work (all) this day and the fourth, and on the fifth until the mid-day meal 4. 90.

a. The genitive of time is less common than the dative of time (1539) with ordinals, or with ὅδε, οὗτος, ἐκεῖνος; as ταύτης τῆς νυκτὸς T. 6. 97, P. Cr. 44 a, ἐκείνου τοῦ μηνὸς in the course of that month X. M. 4. 8. 2. For θέρος we find ἐν θέρει rarely and, in poetry, θέρει. T. 4. 133 has both τοῦ αὐτοῦ θέρος and ἐν τῷ αὐτῷ θέρει in the course of the same summer; cp. Ἰσος ρέει ἐν τε θέρει καὶ χειμῶνι ὁ Ἰστρος Hdt. 4. 50 and Ἰστρος Ἰσος ρέει θέρος καὶ χειμῶνος 4. 48 (the Ister flows with the same volume in summer and winter).

1448. Place.—The genitive denotes the place within which or at which an action happens. This is more frequent in poetry than in prose.

πεδίῳ διωκόμεν to chase over the plain E 222, Ἰξεν τοίχου τοῦ ἐτέροιο he was sitting by the other wall (lit. in a place of the wall) I 219, λελουμένος Ὀκεανοῖο having bathed in Oceanus E 6, οὔτε Πύλου ἱερῆς οὔτ' Ἀργεὺς οὔτε Μυκῆνης neither in sacred Pylos nor in Argos nor in Mycenae φ 108, τόνδ' εἰσεδέξω τειχεῶν θου didst admit this man within the walls E. Phoen. 451, ἵκναι τοῦ πρόσω to go forward X. A. 1. 8. 1, ἐπετάχυνον τῆς ὁδοῦ τοὺς σχολαίτερον προσόντας they hastened on their way those who came up more slowly T. 4. 47; λαῖᾱς χειρὸς οἰκοῦσι they dwell on the left hand A. Pr. 714 (possibly ablative).

1449. Many adverbs of place are genitives in form (αὐτοῦ there, τοῦ where ? οὐδαμοῦ nowhere). Cp. 341.

DATIVE

1450. The Greek dative does duty for three cases: the dative proper, and two lost cases, the instrumental and the locative.

a. The dative derives its name (ἡ δοτική πρῶσις, casus datus) from the use with διδόναι (1469).

1451. The dative is a necessary complement of a verb when the information given by the verb is incomplete without the addition of the idea expressed by the dative. Thus, πειθεται he obeys, calls for the addition of an idea to complete the sense, as τοῖς νόμοις the laws.

1452. The dative as a voluntary complement of a verb adds something unessential to the completion of an idea. Thus, αὐτοῖς οἱ βάρβαροι ἀπῆλθον the barbarians departed—for them (to their advantage). Here belongs the dative of interest, 1474 ff.

1453. But the boundary line between the necessary and the voluntary complement is not always clearly marked. When the idea of the action, not the object of the action, is emphatic, a verb, usually requiring a dative to complete its meaning, may be used alone, as πειθεται he is obedient.

1454. With many intransitive verbs the dative is the sole complement. With transitive verbs it is the indirect complement (dative of the indirect or remoter object, usually a person); that is, it further defines the meaning of a verb already defined in part by the accusative.

1455. Many verbs so vary in meaning that they may take the dative either alone or along with the accusative (sometimes the genitive). No rules can be given, and English usage is not always the same as Greek usage.

1456. The voice often determines the construction. Thus, πειθεῖν τινά to persuade some one, πειθεσθαι τινι to persuade oneself for some one (obey some one), κελεῖν τινὰ ταῦτα ποιεῖν to order some one to do this, παρακελεῖσθαι τινι ταῦτα ποιεῖν to exhort some one to do this.

DATIVE PROPER

1457. The dative proper denotes that to or for which something is or is done.

1458. It is either (1) used with single words (verbs, adjectives, and sometimes with adverbs and substantives) or (2) it serves to define an entire sentence; herein unlike the genitive and accusative, which usually modify single members of a sentence. The connection between dative and verb is less intimate than that between genitive or accusative and verb.

1459. The dative proper is largely personal, and denotes the person who is interested in or affected by the action; and includes 1461–1473 as well as 1474 ff. The dative proper is not often used with things; when so used there is usually personification or semi-personification.

THE DATIVE DEPENDENT ON A SINGLE WORD

DATIVE AS DIRECT COMPLEMENT OF VERBS

1460. The dative may be used as the sole complement of many verbs that are usually transitive in English. Such are βοηθεῖν τοῖσιν ἡδικημένοις to help the wronged E. I. A. 79, οὐκ ἂν ἠνώχλει οὖν ἡμῖν he would not now be troubling us D. 3. 5, ἀπὲρ τοῦ συνεργεῖν ἑαυτοῖς τὰ συμφέροντα ἐτραπέζουσιν ἀλλήλοις instead of coöperating for their mutual interests, they revile one another X. M. 3. 5. 16, εἰ τοῖς πλείοσιν ἀρέσκειν ἐσμεν, τοῖσδ' ἂν μόνοις οὐκ ὀρθῶς ἀπαρέσκειμεν if we are pleasing to the majority, it would not be right if we should displease them alone T. 1. 38, εὖνοεῖν τοῖς κακόνους to be friendly to the ill-intentioned X. C. 8. 2. 1, ἐμοὶ ὀργίζονται they are angry at me P. A. 23 c, τῷ Θηράμενῃ ἠπειλοῦν they threatened Theramenes T. 8. 92, οὐ φθονῶν τοῖς πλουτοῖς not cherishing envy against the rich X. A. 1. 9. 19.

1462. Some verbs of benefiting and injuring take the accusative (ὠφελεῖν, βλάπτειν, 1591 a); μισεῖν τινα hate some one. ὑστελεῖν, συμφέρειν be of advantage take the dative.

1463. (II) To meet, approach, yield.

ἐκεῖ δὲ ἀπήγγησαν αὐτοῖς οἱ στρατηγοὶ but when the generals met them X. A. 2. 3. 17, περιτυγχάνει Φιλοκράτης he meets Philocrates X. H. 4. 8. 24, ποιοῖς οὐ χρὴ θηρίοις πελάζειν what wild beasts one must not approach X. C. 1. 4. 7, σὸ δ' εἰς ἀνάγκη καὶ θεοῖσι μὴ μάχου yield to necessity and war not with heaven E. fr. 716. On the genitive with verbs of approaching, see 1363.

1464. (III) To obey, serve, pardon, trust, advise, command, etc.

τοῖς νόμοις πείθου obey the laws I. 1. 16, τῷ θυμῷ ξυμφορῶ ὑπακούειν to be subservient to your interests T. 5. 98, ἂν μηδεμῶ δουλεύης τῶν ἡδονῶν if you are the slave of no pleasure I. 2. 20, ἐπίστευον αὐτῷ αἱ πόλεις the cities trusted him X. A. 1. 9. 8, στρατηγῷ στρατιώταις παραινῶντι a general advising his men P. Ion 540 d, τῷ Μῦσῳ ἐσήμηνε φεύγειν he ordered the Mysian to flee X. A. 5. 2. 30, τῷ Κλεάρχῳ ἐβόά ἀγειν he shouted to Clearchus to lead X. A. 1. 8. 12.

1465. κελεύειν command (strictly impel) may be followed in Attic by the accusative and (usually) the infinitive; in Hom. by the dative either alone or with the infinitive. Many verbs of commanding (παργγέλλειν, διακελεύεσθαι) take in Attic the accusative, not the dative, when used with the infinitive (1996 π.). ὑπακούειν (and ἀκούειν = obey) may take the genitive (1366).

1466. (IV) To be like or unlike, compare, besit.

τοιούτοις τοιοῦτοις to be like such men P. R. 349 d, τί οὖν πρέπει ἀνδρὶ πένητι; what then befits a poor man? P. A. 36 d.

1467. The dative of the person and the genitive of the thing are used with the impersonals δεῖ (1400), μέτεστι, μέλει, μεταμέλει, προσήκει. Thus, μισθοφόρων ἀνδρὶ τυράνῳ δεῖ a tyrant needs mercenaries X. Hi. 8. 10, ὡς οὐ μετὸν αὐτοῖς Ἐπιδάμῳ inasmuch as they had nothing to do with Epidamnus T. 1. 28, οὐχ ὥν ἐβόατο μετέμελεν αὐτῷ he did not repent of his acts of violence And. 4. 17, τούτῳ τῇς Βοιωτίας προσήκει οὐδέν he has nothing to do with Boeotia X. A. 3. 1. 31. ἔξεστί μοι it is in my power does not take the genitive. For the accusative instead of the dative, see 1400. Cp. 1344.

a. For δοκεῖ μοι it seems to me (mihi videtur), δοκῶ μοι (mihi videor) may be used. b. For other cases of the dative as direct complement see 1476, 1481.

1468. An intransitive verb taking the dative can form a personal passive, the dative becoming the nominative subject of the passive. Cp. 1745.

DATIVE AS INDIRECT COMPLEMENT OF VERBS

1469. Many verbs take the dative as the indirect object together with an accusative as the direct object. The indirect object is commonly introduced in English by to.

Κύρος δίδωσιν αὐτῷ ἕξ μηνῶν μισθόν Cyrus gives him pay for six months X. A. 1.1.10, τῷ Ἑρκανίῳ ἵππον ἐδωρήσατο he presented a horse to the Hyrcanian X. C. 8.4.24, τὰ δὲ ἄλλα διακείμαι τοῖς στρατηγοῖς to distribute the rest to the generals X. A. 7.5.2, μικρὸν μεγάλῳ εἰκάσαι to compare a small thing to a great thing T. 4.36, πέμπων αὐτῷ ἄγγελον sending a messenger to him X. A. 1.3.8, ὑπισχροῦμαι σοι δέκα τάλαντα I promise you ten talents 1.7.18, τοῦτο σοὶ δ' ἐφίεμαι I lay this charge upon thee S. Aj. 116, παρήναι τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις τοιαύδε he advised the Athenians as follows T. 6.8, ἐμοὶ ἐπιτρέψαι ταύτην τὴν ἀρχήν to entrust this command to me X. A. 6.1.31, λέγειν ταῦτα τοῖς στρατιώταις to say this to the soldiers 1.4.11 (λέγειν πρὸς τινα lacks the personal touch of the dative, which indicates interest in the person addressed). A dependent clause often represents the accusative.

1470. Passive.—The accusative of the active becomes the subject of the passive, the dative remains: ἐκέλευε αὐτῇ ἡ χώρᾳ ἐδόθη this land was given to her X. H. 3.1.6.

DATIVE AS DIRECT OR INDIRECT COMPLEMENT OF VERBS

1471. Many verbs may take the dative either alone or with the accusative.

οὐδενὶ μέμφομαι I find fault with no one D. 21.190, τί ἂν μοι μέμφοιο; what fault would you have to find with me? X. O. 2.15; ὑπηρετῶ τοῖς θεοῖς I am a servant of the gods X. C. 8.2.22, Ἐρωτι πᾶν ὑπηρετεῖ he serves Eros in everything P. S. 190 c; παρακαλεῖονται τοῖς περὶ νίκης ἀμυλλωμένοις they exhort those who are striving for victory I. 9.79, ταῦτα τοῖς ὁπλίταις παρακαλεῖομαι I address this exhortation to the hoplites T. 7.63; ὀνειδίζετε τοῖς ἀδικοῦσιν you reproach the guilty L. 27.16 (also accus.), Θηβαίοις τὴν ἀμαθίαν ὀνειδίζουσι they upbraid the Thebans with their ignorance I. 15.248; θεοῖς εὐχόμενοι having prayed to the gods T. 3.58, εὐχόμενοι τοῖς θεοῖς τάγαθὰ having prayed to the gods for success X. C. 2.3.1 (cp. αἰτεῖν τινα τι, 1028). So ἐπιτιμᾶν (ἐγκαλεῖν) τινι to censure (accuse) some one. ἐπιτιμᾶν (ἐγκαλεῖν) τί τινι censure something in (bring an accusation against) some one. So ἀπειλεῖν threaten; and ἀμύνειν, ἀλέξειν, ἀρήγειν ward off (τινὶ τι in poetry, 1483).

1472. τιμωρεῖν (poet. τιμωρεῖσθαι) τινι means to avenge some one (take vengeance for some one), as τιμωρήσειν σοι τοῦ παιδὸς ὑπισχροῦμαι I promise to avenge you because of (on the murderer of) your son X. C. 4.6.8, εἰ τιμωρήσει

Πατρόκλῳ τὸν φόνον if you avenge the murder of Patroclus P. A. 28 c. τιμωρεῖσθαι (rarely τιμωρεῖν) τινα means to avenge oneself upon some one (punish some one).

1473. For the dative of purpose (to what end?), common in Latin with a second dative (dono darr), Greek uses a predicate noun: έκεινῳ ἡ χώρα δώρον ἐδόθη the country was given to him as a gift X. H. 8. 1. 6. The usage in Attic inscriptions (ἡλοι ταῖς θύραις nails for the doors C. I. A. 2, add. 834 b, 1, 38) is somewhat similar to the Latin usage. Cp. 1502.

a. The infinitive was originally, at least in part, a dative of an abstract substantive, and served to mark purpose: τίς τ' ἄρ σφωε θεῶν ἐπιδι ξυτήκε μάχεσθαι; who then of the gods brought the twain together (for) to contend in strife? A 8. Cp. "what went ye out for to see?" St. Matth. 11. 8.

DATIVE AS A MODIFIER OF THE SENTENCE

DATIVE OF INTEREST

1474. The person for whom something is or is done, or in reference to whose case an action is viewed, is put in the dative.

a. Many of the verbs in 1461 ff. take a dative of interest. 1476 ff. are special cases.

1475. After verbs of motion the dative (usually personal) is used, especially in poetry: χείρας ἐμολ ὀρέγοντας reaching out their hands to me μ 257, ψυχὰς Ἀΐδι προέσπεν hurled their souls on to Hades (a person) A 3; rarely, in prose, after verbs not compounded with a preposition: σχόντες (scil. τὰς ναῦς) Ῥηγίῳ putting in at Rhegium T. 7. 1. Cp. 1485.

1476. Dative of the Possessor.—The person for whom a thing exists is put in the dative with εἶναι, γίγνεσθαι, ὑπάρχειν, φῦναι (poet.), etc., when he is regarded as interested in its possession.

ἄλλοις μὲν χρήματά ἐστι, ἡμῖν δὲ ξύμμαχοι ἀγαθοί others have riches, we have good allies T. 1. 86, τῷ δικαίῳ παρὰ θεῶν δῶρα γίγνεται gifts are bestowed upon the just man by the gods P. R. 613 e, ὑπάρχει ἡμῖν οὐδὲν τῶν ἐπιτηδείων we have no supply of provisions X. A. 2. 2. 11, πᾶσι θνᾶτοῖς ἔφυ μόρος death is the natural lot of all men S. El. 860.

1477. So with verbs of thinking and perceiving: τὸν ἀγαθὸν ἀρχοντα βλέποντα νόμον ἀνθρώποις ἐνόμισεν Cyrus considered that a good ruler was a living law to man X. C. 8. 1. 22, θαρροῦσι μάλιστα πολέμοιοι, όταν τοῖς ἐναντίοις πράγματα τυτθάνωνται the enemy are most courageous when they learn that the forces opposed to them are in trouble X. Hipp. 5. 8.

1478. In the phrase ὀνομά (ἐστὶ) τινι the name is put in the same case as ὄνομα. Thus, ἔδοξα ἀκοῦσαι ὀνομα αὐτῷ εἶναι Ἀγάθωνα I thought I heard his name was Agathon P. Pr. 315 e. ὀνομά μοι ἐστι and ὄνομα (ἐπωνυμίαν) ἔχω are treated as the passives of ὀνομάζω. Cp. 1322 a.

1480. The dative of the possessor denotes that something is at the disposal of a person or has fallen to his share temporarily. The genitive of possession lays stress on the person who owns something. The dative answers the question what is it that he has?, the genitive answers the question who is it that has something? The uses of the two cases are often parallel, but not interchangeable. Thus, in Κύρος, ὃν σὺ ἔσει τὸ ἀπὸ τοῦδε Cyrus, to whom you will henceforth belong X. C. 6. 1. 6, ψ would be inappropriate. With a noun in the genitive the dative of the possessor is used (τῶν ἐκατέρους ξυμμάχων T. 2. 1); with a noun in the dative, the genitive of the possessor (τοῖς ταυτῶν ξυμμάχοις 1. 18).

1481. Dative of Advantage or Disadvantage (dativus commodi et incommodi).—The person or thing for whose advantage or disadvantage, anything is or is done, is put in the dative. The dative often has to be translated as if the possessive genitive were used; but the meaning is different.

ἐπειδὴ αὐτοῖς οἱ βάρβαροι ἐκ τῆς χώρας ἀπῆλθον after the barbarians had departed (for them, to their advantage) from their country T. 1. 80, ἄλλο στράτευμα αὐτῷ συνέλεγετο another army was being raised for him X. A. 1. 1. 9, ἄλλῳ δ' τοιοῦτος πλουτεῖ, καὶ οὐχ ταυτῷ such a man is rich for another, and not for himself P. Menex. 246 e, στεφανοῦσθαι τῷ θεῷ to be crowned in honour of the god X. H. 4. 3. 21, Φιλιστιδῆς ἐπράττε Φιλίππῳ Philistides was working in the interest of Philip D. 9. 59, τὰ χρήματ' αὐτῷ ἀνθρώποις κακῶν money is a cause of misery to mankind E. Fr. 682, οἱ Θράκες οἱ τῷ Δημοσθένει ὀστερήσαντες the Thracians who came too late (for, i.e.) to help Demosthenes T. 7. 29, ἥδε ἡ ἡμέρᾳ τοῖς Ἕλλησι μεγάλων κακῶν ἀρξῇ this day will be to the Greeks the beginning of great sorrows 2. 12, ἀν τις σοι τῶν οἰκετῶν ἀποδρῇ if any of your slaves runs away X. M. 2. 10. 1.

a. For the middle denoting to do something for oneself, see 1719.

b. In the last example in 1481, as elsewhere, the dative of a personal pronoun is used where a possessive pronoun would explicitly denote the owner.

1482. A dative, dependent on the sentence, may appear to depend on a substantive: σοὶ δὲ δώσω ἄνδρα τῇ θυγατρὶ to you I will give a husband for your daughter X. C. 8. 4. 24. Common in Hdt.

1483. With verbs of depriving, warding off, and the like, the dative of the person may be used: τὸ συστρατεύειν ἀφελεῖν σφίσιν ἐδεθήσαν they asked him to relieve them (lit. take away for them) from serving in the war X. C. 7. 1. 44, Δαναοῖσιν λοιγὸν ἀμύον ward off ruin from (for) the Danaï A 456. So ἀλέξαι τινὶ τι (poet.). Cp. 1392, 1628.

1484. With verbs of receiving and buying, the person who gives or sells may stand in the dative. In δέχεσθαι τι τιμῇ (chiefly poetic) the dative denotes the interest of the recipient in the donor: Θέμιστι δέκτο δέπας she took the cup from (for, i.e. to please) Themis O 87. So with πόσου πριμάλ σοι τὰ χοιρίδια; at what price am I to buy the pigs of you? Ar. Ach. 812.

1485. With verbs of motion the dative of the person to whom is properly a dative of advantage or disadvantage: ἦλθε τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις ἡ ἀγγελία the message came to (for) the Athenians T. 1. 61. Cp. 1475.

1486. Dative of Feeling (Ethical Dative).—The personal pronouns of the first and second person are often used to denote the interest of the speaker, or to secure the interest of the person spoken to, in an action or statement.

μνησθέ μοι μη θορυβεῖν pray remember not to make a disturbance P. A. 27 b, ἀμυνότεροι γενήσονται ὑμῖν οἱ νέοι your young men will grow less cultivated P. R. 546 d, τοιοῦτο ὑμῖν ἐστὶ ἡ τυραννὶς such a thing, you know, is despotism Hdt. 5. 92 η, Ἀρταφέρνης ὑμῖν Ἀρταφέρνης, you know, is Hystaspes' son 5. 30. The dative of feeling may denote surprise: ὦ μήτηρ, ὡς καλὸς μοι ὁ πάππος oh mother, how handsome grandpa is X. C. 1. 3. 2. With the dative of feeling cp. "knock me here" Shakesp. T. of Sh. 1. 2. 8, "study me how to please the eye" L. L. L. 1. 1. 80. τοὶ surely, often used to introduce general statements or maxims, is a petrified dative of feeling (= σοί).

a. This dative in the third person is very rare (αὐτῇ in P. R. 843 a).

b. This construction reproduces the familiar style of conversation and may often be translated by I beg you, please, you see, let me tell you, etc. Sometimes the idea cannot be given in translation. This dative is a form of 1481.

1487. ἐμοὶ βουλομένῳ ἐστὶ, etc. — Instead of a sentence with a finite verb, a participle usually denoting inclination or aversion is added to the dative of the person interested, which depends on a form of εἶναι, γίγνεσθαι, etc.

τῷ πλήθει τῶν Πλαταιῶν οὐ βουλομένῳ ἦν τῶν Ἀθηναίων ἀφίστασθαι the Plataean democracy did not wish to revolt from the Athenians (= τὸ πλῆθος οὐκ ἐβούλετο ἀφίστασθαι) T. 2. 8 (lit. it was not for them when wishing), ἂν βουλομένοις ἀκοῦειν ἡ τοιούτοις, μνησθήσομαι if these men (the jury) desire to hear it, I shall take the matter up later (= ἂν οὗτοι ἀκοῦειν βούλωνται) D. 18. 11, ἐπαλέθωμεν, εἰ σοὶ ἡδομένῳ ἐστὶν let us go back if it is your pleasure to do so P. Ph. 78 b, εἰ μὴ ἀσμένους ὑμῖν ἀφίγμαι if I have come against your will T. 4. 85, Νικία προσδεχομένῳ ἦν τὰ παρὰ τῶν Ἐγεσταιῶν Nicias was prepared for the news from the Egestaeans 6. 46, ἦν δὲ οὐ τῷ Ἀγησιλάῳ ἀχθόμενῳ this was not displeasing to Agesilaus X. H. 5. 3. 13. Cp. quibus bellum volentibus erat.

ἐμοὶ καὶ τοῦτοις πέπρακται has been done by (for) me and these men D. 19. 205, ἐπειδὴ αὐτοῖς παρεσκεύαστο when they had got their preparations ready T. 1. 46, τοσαῦτά μοι εἰρήσθω let so much have been said by me L. 24. 4, ἐψηφίσθαι τῇ βουλῇ let it have been decreed by the senate C. I. A. 2. 55. 9.

a. With verbal adjectives in -τός and -τός (2149): τοῖς οἰκοὶ ζηλωτός envied by those at home X. A. 1. 7. 4, ἡμῖν γ' ὑπὲρ τῆς ἐλευθερίας ἀγωνιστέον we at least must struggle to defend our freedom D. 9. 70. For the accus. with -τέον, see 2152 a.

1489. The usual restriction of the dative to tenses of completed action seems to be due to the fact that the agent is represented as placed in the position of viewing an already completed action in the light of its relation to himself (interest, advantage, possession).

1490. The dative of the agent is rarely employed with other tenses than perfect and pluperfect: λέγεται ἡμῖν is said by us P. L. 715 b, τοῖς Κορκυραίοις οὐχ ὁραῶντο the ships were not seen by (were invisible to) the Corcyraeans T. 1. 51; present, T. 4. 64, 109; aorist T. 2. 7.

1491. The person by whom (not for whom) an action is explicitly said to be done, is put in the genitive with ὑπό (1698. 1. b).

1492. The dative of the personal agent is used (1) when the subject is impersonal, the verb being transitive or intransitive, (2) when the subject is personal and the person is treated as a thing in order to express scorn (twice only in the orators: D. 19. 247, 57. 10).

1493. ὑπό with the genitive of the personal agent is used (1) when the subject is a person, a city, a country, or is otherwise quasi-personal, (2) when the verb is intransitive even if the subject is a thing, as τῶν τειχῶν ὑπὸ τῶν βαρβάρων πεπτωκότων the walls having been destroyed by the barbarians Aes. 2. 172, (3) in a few cases with an impersonal subject, usually for the sake of emphasis, as ὡς ἑταῖρᾶ ἦν . . . ὑπὸ τῶν ἄλλων οἰκείων καὶ ὑπὸ τῶν γειτόνων μεμαρτύρηται that she was an hetæra has been testified by the rest of his relatives and by his neighbours Is. 3. 13.

a. νικᾶσθαι, ἡττᾶσθαι to be conquered may be followed by the dative of a person, by ὑπό τινος, or by the genitive (1402).

1494. When the agent is a thing, not a person, the dative is commonly used whether the subject is personal or impersonal. If the subject is personal, ὑπό may be used; in which case the inanimate agent is personified (see 1698. 1. x. 1). ὑπό is rarely used when the subject is impersonal. ὑπό is never used with the impersonal perfect passive of an intransitive verb.

DATIVE OF RELATION

1495. The dative may be used of a person to whose case the statement of the predicate is limited.

φεύγειν αὐτοῖς ἀσφαλέστερόν ἐστιν ἢ ἡμῖν it is safer for them to flee than for us X. A. 3. 2. 19, τριήρει ἐστὶν εἰς Ἡράκλειαν ἡμέρας μακρὰς πλοῦς for a trireme it is a long day's sail to Heraclea 6. 4. 2. Such cases as δρόμος ἐγένετο τοῖς στρατιώταις the soldiers began to run X. A. 1. 2. 17 belong here rather than under 1476 or 1488.

a. ὡς restrictive is often added: μακρὰ ὡς γέροντι ὁδὸς a long road (at least) for an old man S. O. C. 20, σωφροσύνης δὲ ὡς πληθεῖ οὐ τὰ τοιαῦτα μέγιστα; for the mass of men are not the chief points of temperance such as these? P. R. 389 d.

1496. Dative of Reference. — The dative of a noun or pronoun often denotes the person in whose opinion a statement holds good.

γάμους τοὺς πρώτους ἐγάμει Πέρσῃ δὲ Δᾶρείῳ Darius contracted marriages most distinguished in the eyes of the Persians Hdt. 3. 88, πᾶσι νικᾶν τοῖς κριταῖς to be victorious in the judgment of all the judges Ar. Av. 445, πολλοῖσιν οἰκτρὸς pitiful in the eyes of many S. Tr. 1071. παρά is often used, as in παρὰ Δᾶρείῳ κριτῇ in the opinion of Darius Hdt. 3. 160.

1497. The dative participle, without a noun or pronoun, is frequently used in the singular or plural to denote indefinitely the person judging or observing. This construction is most common with participles of verbs of coming or going and with participles of verbs of considering.

ἡ Θράκη ἐστὶν ἐπὶ δεξιὰ εἰς τὸν Πόντον εἰσπλέοντι Thrace is on the right as you sail into the Pontus X. A. 6. 4. 1, ἔλεγον ὅτι ἡ ὁδὸς διαβάντι τὸν ποταμὸν ἐπὶ Λυδῶν φέροι they said that, when you had crossed the river, the road led to Lydia 3. 5. 15, οὐκ οὖν ἀποπον διαλογιζομένοις τὰς δωρεὰς νῦν πλείους εἶναι; is it not strange, when we reflect, that gifts are more frequent now? Aes. 3. 179, τὸ μὲν ἔξωθεν ἀπτομένη σῶμα οὐκ ἄγαν θερμὸν ἦν if you touched the surface the body was not very hot T. 2. 49, πρὸς ὠφέλειαν σκοπομένην ὁ παυνέτης τοῦ δικαίου ἀληθεύει if you look at the matter from the point of view of advantage, the panegyrist of justice speaks the truth P. R. 589 c. So (ὡς) συνελόντι εἰπεῖν (X. A. 3. 1. 38) to speak briefly (lit. for one having brought the matter into small compass), συνελόντι D. 4. 7.

a. The participle of verbs of coming or going is commonly used in statements of geographical situation.

b. The present participle is more common than the aorist in the case of all verbs belonging under 1497.

1498. Dative of the Participle expressing Time. — In expressions of time a participle is often used with the dative of the person interested in the action of the subject, and especially to express the time that has passed since an action has occurred (cp. "and this is the sixth month with her, who was called barren" St. Luke i. 36).

ἀποροῦντι δ' αὐτῷ ἔρχεται Προμηθεύς Prometheus comes to him in his perplexity P. R. 321 c, Ξενοφῶντι πορευομένῳ ὁ ἱππεὺς ἐντυγχάνουσι πρεσβύταις while Xenophon was on the march, his horsemen fell in with some old men X. A. 6. 3. 10. The idiom is often transferred from persons to things: ἡμέραι μάλιστα ἦσαν τῇ Μυτιλήνῃ ἐβλῶκυιά ἐπτά, ὅτ' ἐς τὸ Ἐμβάτον κατέπλευσαν about seven days had passed since the capture of Mytilene, when they sailed into Embatium T. 3. 29. This construction is frequent in Hom. and Hdt. The participle is rarely omitted (T. 1. 13.).

a. A temporal clause may take the place of the participle: τῇ στρατιᾷ, ἀφ' οὗ ἐξέπλευσεν εἰς Σικελίαν, ἥδη ἐστὶ δύο καὶ πενήτηντα ἔτη it is already fifty-two years since the expedition sailed to Sicily Is. 6. 14.

DATIVE WITH ADJECTIVES, ETC.

1499. Adjectives, adverbs, and substantives, of kindred meaning with the foregoing verbs, take the dative to define their meaning.

Βασιλεῖ φιλοὶ friendly to the king X. A. 2. 1. 20, εὖνοι τῷ δήμῳ well disposed to the people And. 4. 16, τοῖς νόμοις ἔνωχος subject to the laws D. 21. 35, ἐχθρὸν ἐλευθερίᾳ καὶ νόμοις ἐναντίον hostile to liberty and opposed to law 6. 25, ξυμμαχία τίσσουσι relying on the alliance T. 6. 2, φόρῳ ὑπήκοοι subject to tribute 7. 57, ἦν ποίητε ὁμοία τοῖς λόγοις if you act in accordance with your words 2. 72, στρατὸς ἰσος καὶ παραπλήσιος τῷ προτέρῳ an army equal or nearly so to the former 7. 42.

ἀδελφὰ τὰ βουλεύματα τοῖς ἔργοις plans like the deeds L. 2. 64, ἀλλήλοις ἀντιμωίας in a way unlike to each other P. Tim. 86 d. For substantives see 1502.

a. Some adjectives, as φίλος, ἑχθρός, may be treated as substantives and take the genitive. Some adjectives often differ slightly in meaning when they take the genitive.

1500. With ὁ αὐτός the same.—τὴν αὐτὴν γνώμην ἐμοὶ εἶχειν to be of the same mind as I am L. 3. 21, τοῦ αὐτοῦ ἐμοὶ πατὴρ of the same father as I am D. 40. 34, ταῦτα φρονῶν ἐμοὶ agreeing with me 18. 304.

1501. With adjectives and adverbs of similarity and dissimilarity the comparison is often condensed (brachylogy): ὁμοίαν ταῖς δούλαις εἶχε τὴν ἐσθῆτα she had a dress on like (that of) her servants X. C. 5. 1. 4 (the possessor for the thing possessed, = τῇ ἐσθῇτι τῶν δουλῶν), Ὀρφεὶ γλῶσσα ἢ ἑναντία a tongue unlike (that of) Orpheus A. Ag. 1629.

a. After adjectives and adverbs of likeness we also find καί, ὥσπερ (ὡςπερ). Thus, παθεῖν ταῦτόν ὅπερ πολλὰκις πρότερον πεπόνθατε to suffer the same as you have often suffered before D. 1. 8, οὐχ ὁμοίως πεποιτῆκᾱσι καὶ Ὅμηρος they have not composed their poetry as Homer did P. Ion 531 d.

1502. The dative after substantives is chiefly used when the substantive expresses the act denoted by the kindred verb requiring the dative: ἐπιβουλὴ ἐμοὶ a plot against me X. A. 5. 6. 29, διάδοχος Κλεάνδρῳ a successor to Cleander 7. 2. 5, ἡ ἐμὴ τῷ θεῷ ὑπηρεσία my service to the god P. A. 80 a. But also in other cases: φιλιὰ τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις friendship for the Athenians T. 5. 5, ὕμνοι θεοῖς hymns to the gods P. R. 607 a, ἐφόδια τοῖς στρατευομένοις supplies for the troops D. 3. 20, ἥλοι ταῖς θύραις nails for the doors (1473).

a. Both a genitive and a dative may depend on the same substantive: ἡ τοῦ θεοῦ δόσις ὑμῖν the god's gift to you P. A. 30 d.

INSTRUMENTAL DATIVE

1503. The Greek dative, as the representative of the lost instrumental case, denotes that by which or with which an action is done or accompanied. It is of two kinds: (1) The instrumental dative proper; (2) The comitative dative.

1504. When the idea denoted by the noun in the dative is the instrument or means, it falls under (1); if it is a person (not regarded as the instrument or means) or any other living being, or a thing regarded as a person, it belongs under (2); if an action, under (2).

1505. Abstract substantives with or without an attributive often stand in the instrumental dative instead of the cognate accusative (1577).

INSTRUMENTAL DATIVE PROPER

1506. The dative denotes instrument or means, manner, and cause.

1507. Instrument or Means.—ἔβαλλέ με λίθοις he hit me with stones L. 3. 8 ἤτοι τῇ ἀξίῳ he hurls his ax at him (hurls with his ax) X. A. 1. 5. 12, ταῖς μαχαίραις κόπτοντες hacking them with their swords 4. 6. 26, οὐδὲν ἦνε τοῖς he accomplished nothing by this D. 21. 104, ἐζημίωσαν χρήμασιν they punished him by a fine T. 2. 65, ἔντρος πολλῶν (ὑδατι) during a heavy rain X. H. 1. 1. 16 (984). So with δέχασθαι: τῶν πόλεων οὐ δεχομένων αὐτοὺς ἀγορᾷ οὐδὲ ἄσπεϊ, ὑδατι δὲ καὶ ὄρμῃ as the cities did not admit them to a market nor even into the town, but (only) to water and anchorage T. 6. 44. Often with passives: ἠκοδομημένοι πλῆθει built of bricks X. A. 2. 4. 12.

a. The instrumental dative is often akin to the comitative dative: ἀλώμενοι ἡμεῖς καὶ ἐτάροις wandering with his ship and companions λ 161, νηυσὶν οἰχθήσονται they shall go with their ships Ω 731, θυμῷ καὶ βίῃ τὸ πλεον ἐνανμάχον ἢ ἐπιστήμῃ they fought with passionate violence and brute force rather than by a system of tactics T. 1. 49.

b. Persons may be regarded as instruments: φυλαττόμενοι φύλαξι defending themselves by pickets X. A. 6. 4. 27. Often in poetry (S. Ant. 164).

c. Verbs of raining or snowing take the dative or accusative (1570 a).

1508. Under Means fall:

a. The dative of price (cp. 1872): μέρει τῶν ἀδικημάτων τὸν κίνδυνον they freed themselves from the danger at the price of a part of their unjust gains L. 27. 6.

b. Rarely, the dative with verbs of filling (cp. 1369): δάκρυσι πᾶν τὸ στράτευμα πλησθέν the entire army being filled with tears T. 7. 75.

c. The dative of material and constituent parts: κατασκευάσατο ἄρματα τροχοῖς ἰσχυροῖς he made chariots with strong wheels X. C. 6. 1. 29.

1509. χρῆσθαι use (strictly employ oneself with, get something done with; cp. uti), and sometimes νομίζειν, take the dative. Thus, οὔτε τοῖς (τοῖς νομίμοις) χρῆται οὐδ' οἷς ἡ ἄλλη Ἑλλάς νομίζει neither acts according to these institutions nor observes those accepted by the rest of Greece T. 1. 77. A predicate noun may be added to the dative: τοῖς χρῶνται δορυφόροις they make use of them as a body-guard X. H. 5. 3. The use to which an object is put may be expressed by a neuter pronoun in the accus. (1573): τί χρῆσόμεθα τούτῳ; what use shall we make of it? D. 8. 6.

1510. The instrumental dative occurs after substantives: μιμήσει σχήμασι imitation by means of gestures P. R. 397 b.

1511. The instrumental dative of means is often, especially in poetry, reinforced by the prepositions ἐν, σύν, ὑπό: ἐν λόγοις πείθειν to persuade by words S. Ph. 1393, οἱ θεοὶ ἐν τοῖς ἱεροῖς ἐσήμηναν the gods have shown by the victims X. A. 6. 1. 31; σὺν γῆρα βαρεῖς heavy with old age S. O. T. 17; πόλις χερσὶν ὑφ' ἡμετέρῃσιν ἀλωύσα a city captured by our hands B 374.

1512. Dative of Standard of Judgment. — That by which anything is measured, or judged, is put in the dative: ζυμετρήσαντο ταῖς ἐπιβολαῖς τῶν πλίνθων they measured the ladders by the layers of bricks T. 3. 20, τῷδε δῆλον ἦν it was plain from what followed X. A. 2. 3. 1, οἷς πρὸς τοὺς ἄλλους πεποίηκε δει τεκμαίρεσθαι we must judge by what he has done to the rest D. 9. 10, τίμῃ χρῆ κρῖνεσθαι τὰ μέλλοντα καλῶς κριθῆσεσθαι; ἄρ' οὐκ ἐμπειρία τε καὶ φρονησεὶ καὶ λόγῳ; by what standard must we judge that the judgment may be correct? Is it not by experience and wisdom and reasoning ? P. R. 582 a. With verbs of judging τι and ἀπό are common.

1513. Manner (see also 1527).—The dative of manner is used with comparative adjectives and other expressions of comparison to mark the degree by which one thing differs from another (Dative of Measure of Difference).

κεφαλῇ ἐλάττων a head shorter (lit. by the head) P. Ph. 101 a, οὐ πολλαῖς ἡμέραις ὕστερον ἦλθεν he arrived not many days later X. H. 1. 1. 1, ἰόντες δέκα ἡμέραις πρὸ Παναθηναίων coming ten days before the Panathenaic festival T. 5. 47, τοσοῦτῃ ἥδιον ᾧ ὅσῳ πλεῖω κέκτημαι the more I possess the more pleasant is my life X. C. 8. 3. 40, πολλῷ μείζων ἐγίγνετο ἡ βοή ὅσῳ δὴ πλείους ἐγίγνοντο the shouting became much louder as the men increased in number X. A. 4. 7. 23. So with πολλῷ by much, ὀλίγῳ by little, τῷ παντὶ in every respect (by all odds).

a. With the superlative: μακρῷ ἀριστα by far the best P. L. 858 e.

1514. With comparatives the accusatives (1586) τί, τι, οὐδέν, μηδέν without a substantive are always used: οὐδέν ἦττον nil minus X. A. 7. 5. 9. In Attic prose (except in Thuc.) πολύ and ὀλίγον are more common than πολλῷ and ὀλίγῳ with comparatives. Hom. has only πολὺ μείζων.

1515. Measure of difference may be expressed by ἐν τι; ἐς τι, κατὰ τι; or by ἐπὶ τι.

1516. The dative of manner may denote the particular point of view from which a statement is made. This occurs chiefly with intransitive adjectives but also with intransitive verbs (Dative of Respect). (Cp. 1600.)

ἀνὴρ ἡλικία ἐτι νέος a man still young in years T. 5. 43, τοῖς σώμασι τὸ πλεόν ισχύουσα ἢ τοῖς χρήμασι a power stronger in men than in money 1. 121, ἀσθενὴς τῷ σώματι weak in body D. 21. 165, τῇ φωνῇ τρᾶχὺς harsh of voice X. A. 2. 6. 9, φρονήσει διαφέρων distinguished in understanding X. C. 2. 3. 5, τῶν τότε δυνάμει προύχων superior in power to the men of that time T. 1. 9, ὀνόματι σπονδαί a truce so far as the name goes 6. 10.

a. The accusative of respect (1600) is often nearly equivalent to the dative of respect.

1517. Cause.—The dative, especially with verbs of emotion, expresses the occasion (external cause) or the motive (internal cause).

Occasion: τῇ τύχῃ ἐλπιδῶς confident by reason of his good fortune T. 3. 97, θαυμάζω τῇ ἀποκλήσει μου τῶν πυλῶν I am astonished at being shut out of the gates 4. 85, τοῦτοις ἡσθη he was pleased at this X. A. 1. 9. 26, ἡχθόμεθα τοῖς γεγενημένοις we were troubled at what had occurred 5. 7. 20, χαλεπῶς φέρω τοῖς παροῦσι πράγμασι I am troubled at the present occurrences 1. 3. 3. Motive: φιλία καὶ εὐνοία ἐπόμενοι following out of friendship and good will X. A. 2. 6. 13. Occasion and motive: οἱ μὲν ἀπορία ἀκολουθῶν, οἱ δὲ ἀπιστία some (carried their own food) because they lacked servants, others through distrust of them T. 7. 75. ὕβρει καὶ οὐκ ὄνῳ τοῦτο ποιῶν doing this out of insolence and not because he was drunk D. 21. 74.

1518. Some verbs of emotion take ἐπί (with dat.) to denote the cause; so always μέγα φρονεῖν to plume oneself, and often χαίρειν rejoice, λύπείσθαι grieve, ἀγανακτεῖν be vexed, αἰσχύνεσθαι be ashamed. Many verbs take the genitive (1405).

1519. The dative of cause sometimes approximates to a dative of purpose (1473): Ἀθηναῖοι ἐφ' ἡμᾶς ὀρμητῆται Λεοντίνων κατοικίσει the Athenians have set out against us (with a view to) to restore the Leontines T. 6. 33. This construction is common with other verbal nouns in Thucydides.

1520. Cause is often expressed by διὰ with the accusative, ὅπό with the genitive, less frequently by ἀμφί or περί with the dative (poet.) or ὕπερ with the genitive (poet.).

COMITATIVE DATIVE

1521. The comitative form of the instrumental dative denotes the persons or things which accompany or take part in an action.

1522. Prepositions of accompaniment (μετά with gen., σύν) are often used, especially when the verb does not denote accompaniment or union.

1523. Dative of Association.—The dative is used with words denoting friendly or hostile association or intercourse. This dative is especially common in the plural and after middle verbs.

a. κακοῖς ὁμιλῶν κατὰς ἐκβήσῃ κακός if thou associate with the evil, in the end thou too wilt become evil thyself Men. Sent. 274, ἀλλήλοις διεiléγεσθαι we have conversed with each other P. A. 37 a, τῷ πλῆθει τὰ ρηθέντα κοινώσαντες communicating to the people what had been said T. 2. 72, δεόμενοι τοὺς φεύγοντας ξυναλλάξαι σφίσι asking that they reconcile their exiles with them 1. 24, eis λόγους σοι ἐλθεῖν to have an interview with you X. A. 2. 5. 4, μετεσχέκαμεν ὑμῖν θυσίων we have participated in your festivals X. H. 2. 4. 20, ἀλλήλοις σπονδὰς ἐποίησαντο they made a truce with one another 3. 2. 20, αὐτοῖς διὰ φιλιᾶς ἵνα to enter into friendship with them X. A. 3. 2. 8. So with verbs of meeting: προσέρχεσθαι, προστυγχάνειν and ἐντυγχάνειν, ἀπαντᾶν.

b. πολλοῖς ὄλγῳ μαχόμενοι few fighting with many T. 4. 36, Κόρυς πολεμοῦντες waging war with Cyrus 1. 13, ἀμφισβητοῦσι μὲν δι' εὖνοιαν οἱ φίλοι τοῖς φίλοις, ἐρίῳσι δὲ οἱ διάφοροι ἀλλήλοις friends dispute with friends good-naturedly, but adversaries wrangle with one another P. Pr. 337 b, δικὰς ἀλλήλοις δικάζονται they bring lawsuits against one another X. M. 3. 5. 16, διαφέρεσθαι τοῦτοις to be at variance with these men D. 18. 31 (and so many compounds of διὰ), οὐκ ἔφη τοὺς λόγους τοῖς ἔργοις ὁμολογεῖν he said their words did not agree with their deeds T. 5. 55. So also τινὶ διὰ πολέμου (διὰ μάχης, eis χεῖρας) ἵνα, τινὶ ὁμῶς χωρεῖν, etc.

N. 1.—πολεμεῖν (μάχεσθαι) σύν τινι (μετά τινος) means to wage war in conjunction with some one.

N. 2.—Verbs of friendly or hostile association, and especially periphrases with τοιεῖσθαι (πόλεμον, σπονδὰς), often take the accusative with πρός.

1524. Dative of Accompaniment.—The dative of accompaniment is used with verbs signifying to accompany, follow, etc.

ἀκολουθεῖν τῷ ἡγουμένῳ to follow the leader P. R. 474 c, ἔπεσθαι ὑμῖν βούλομαι

I am willing to follow you X. A. 3. 1. 25. μετά with the genitive is often used, as are σύν and ἀμα with the dative.

1525. With αὐτός.—The idea of accompaniment is often expressed by αὐτός joined to the dative. This use is common when the destruction of a person or thing is referred to. Thus, τῶν πῶν μὲν αὐτοῖς ἀνδράσιν one of the ships with its crew T. 4. 14, εἶπεν ἔχειν εἰς τὰς τάξεις αὐτοῖς στεφάνους he bade them come to their posts, crowns and all X. C. 3. 8. 40. The article after αὐτός is rare; and σύν is rarely added (X. C. 2. 2. 9). Hom. has this dative only with lifeless objects.

1526. Dative of Military Accompaniment.—The dative is used in the description of military movements to denote the accompaniment (troops, ships, etc.) of a leader: ἐξελεύσεται τῷ στρατεύματι παντὶ he marches out with all his army X. A. 1. 7. 14. σύν is often used with words denoting troops (T. 6. 62).

a. An extension of this usage occurs when the persons in the dative are essentially the same as the persons forming the subject (distributive use): ἡμῖν ἐπέfolgοντο οἱ πολέμοι καὶ ἱππικῷ καὶ πελταστικῷ the enemy pursued us with their cavalry and peltasts X. A. 7. 6. 29.

b. The dative of military accompaniment is often equivalent to a dative of means when the verb does not denote the leadership of a general.

1527. Dative of Accompanying Circumstance.—The dative, usually of an abstract substantive, may denote accompanying circumstance and manner.

a. The substantive has an attribute: πολλῇ βοῇ προσέεικοντο they attacked with loud shouts T. 4. 127, παντὶ σθένει with all one's might 5. 23, τύχῃ ἀγαθῇ with good fortune C. I. A. 2. 17. 7. So παντὶ (οὐδενί, ἅλλω, τούτῳ τῷ) τρόπῳ. Manner may be expressed by the adjective, as βίαιω θανάτῳ ἀποθνήσκειν to die (by) a violent death X. H. 4. 3 (= βίᾳ).

b. Many particular substantives have no attribute and are used adverbially: θεῖν δρόμῳ to run at full speed X. A. 1. 8. 19, βίᾳ by force, δίκῃ justly, δόλῳ by craft, (τῷ) ἔργῳ in fact, ἡσυχῇ quietly, κομδῇ (with care) entirely, κόσμῳ in order, duly, κύκλῳ round about, (τῷ) λόγῳ in word, προφάσει ostensibly, σιγῇ, σιωπῇ in silence, σπουδῇ hastily, with difficulty, τῇ ἀληθείᾳ in truth, τῷ ὄντι in reality, ὀργῇ in anger, φυχῇ in hasty flight.

N. — When no adjective is used, prepositional phrases or adverbs are generally employed: σὺν κραυγῇ, σὺν δίκῃ, μετὰ δίκης, πρὸς βίαν (or βίαιως).

c. Here belongs the dative of feminine adjectives with a substantive (δδῶ, etc.) omitted, as ταύτῃ in this way, here, ἄλλῃ in another way, elsewhere, πῇ, ᾧ in what (which) way. So δημοσίᾳ at public expense, ἰδίᾳ privately, κοινῇ in common, περὶ on foot.

N. — Some of these forms are instrumental rather than comitative, e.g. ταύτῃ.

1528. Space and Time.—The dative of space and time may sometimes be regarded as comitative.

a. Space: the way by which (qua), as ἐπορεύετο τῇ δδῶ ἣν πρότερον ἐπορεύετο he marched by the road (or on the road?) which he had made before T. 2. 98;
b. Time: κατηγγόρει ὡς ἐκείνη τῷ χρόνῳ περθεῖν she charged that she had been persuaded in (by) the course of time L. 1. 20. Some of these uses are instrumental rather than comitative.

WITH ADJECTIVES, ETC.

1529. Many adjectives and adverbs, and some substantives, take the instrumental dative by the same construction as the corresponding verbs.

σύμμαχος αὐτοῖς their ally D. 9. 58, χώρᾳ δημοῖς τῇ Λακεδαιμονίων a country bordering on that of the Lacedaemonians 15. 22, ἀκόλουθα τοῦτοις conformable to this 18. 257. So κοινός (cp. 1414), σύμφωνος, συγγενής, μεταίτιος, and διάφορος meaning at variance with. — ἐπομένως τῷ νόμῳ conformably to the law P. L. 844 e, δ' ἐξῆς νόμος τούτῳ the law next to this D. 21. 10. Many of the adjectives belonging here also take the genitive when the idea of possession or connection is marked. — ἅμα chiefly in the meaning at the same time. — κοινωνία τοῖς ἀνδράσι intercourse with men P. R. 466 c, ἐπιδρομή τῷ τειχίσματι attack on the fort T. 4. 23.

LOCATIVE DATIVE

1530. The dative as the representative of the locative is used to express place and time.

a. On the instrumental dative of space and time, see 1528.

1531. Dative of Place. — In poetry the dative without a preposition is used to denote place.

a. Where a person or thing is: στὰς μέσῳ ἔρκει taking his stand in the middle of the court Ω 306, γῇ ἔκειτο she lay on the ground S. O. T. 1266, καλεῖν ὄρεσιν to dwell among the mountains O. T. 1451. Often of the parts of the body (Hom. θυμῷ, καρδίῃ, etc.). With persons (generally in the plural): ἀριπρεπῆς Τρῶεσσιν conspicuous among the Trojans Z 477. τοῖσι δ' ἀνέστη A 68 may be rose up among them or a dative proper (for them).

b. Place whither (limit of motion): πρὸς γῆνι fell on the ground E 82, κολεῖν ὅς τοι put thy sword into its sheath κ 333.

1532. After verbs of motion the dative, as distinguished from the locative, denotes direction towards and is used of persons (1485), and is a form of the dative of interest.

1533. Many verbs capable of taking the locative dative in poetry, require, in prose, the aid of a preposition in composition. The limit of motion is usually (1589) expressed by the accusative with a preposition (e.g. εἰς, πρὸς).

1534. In prose the dative of place (chiefly place where) is used only of proper names: Πύθοι at Pytho, Ἴσθμοῖ at the Isthmus, Σαλαμίην at Salamis, Ὀλυμπίᾳς at Olympia, Ἀθήνησι at Athens (inscr.); especially with the names of Attic demes, as Φαληροῖ, Θορικοῖ, Μαραθῶν. But ἐν Μαραθῶν and ἐν Πλαταιαῖς occur. Some deme-names require ἐν, as ἐν Κολῳ.

1535. Many adverbs are genuine locatives, as οἴκοι, πάλοι, πανδημεῖ, Φαληροῖ; Ἀθήνησι, Πλαταιαῖς; others are datives in form, as κύκλῳ, Πλαταιαῖς.

1536. With names of countries and places, ἐν is more common than the locative dative, and, with the above exceptions, the place where is expressed in Attic prose with ἐν.

1537. Verbs of ruling often take the dative, especially in Homer: Μυρμιδόνεσσιν ἀνασσε A 180, Γιγάντεσσιν βασιλευεν η 59, ἤρχε δ' ἄρα σφιν Ἀγαμέμνων Ξ 134. Rarely in prose: ἡγεῖσθαι τινι to serve as guide (leader) to some one, ἐπιστατεῖν τινι to be set over one; ἄρχειν τινι means only = to be archon (Πύθοδ' ὥρου ἀρχοντος Ἀθηναίος T. 2. 2). Cp. 1371.

a. Only when stress is not laid on the idea of supremacy is the dative, instead of the genitive (1370), used with verbs of ruling.

1539. Dative of Time. — The dative without a preposition is commonly used to denote a definite point of time (chiefly day, night, month, year, season) at which an action occurred. The dative contrasts one point of time with another, and is usually accompanied by an attributive.

1540. The dative denotes the time at which an action takes place and the date of an event.

ταύτην μὲν τὴν ἡμέραν αὐτοῦ ἔμειναν, τῇ δὲ ὑστεραίᾳ κτλ. throughout that day they waited there, but on the day following, etc. X. H. 1. 1. 14. So τῇ προτεραίᾳ the day before, τῇ δευτέρᾳ the second day, Ἐλαφηβολιώνος μηνὸς ἕκτη (ἡμέρα) φθίνοντος on the sixth of waning Elaphebolion Aes. 2. 90, ἐν καὶ νῦν on the last of the month D. 18. 29; τρίτῃ μηνί in the third month L. 21. 1, περὶ οὗτοι τῷ ὅτε when summer was coming to an end T. 1. 30, ἐξηκοστῇ ἔτει in the sixtieth year 1. 12; also with ἄρα (χειμῶνος ἄρα in the winter season And. 1. 137).

1542. ἐν is added:

a. To words denoting time when there is no attributive: ἐν τῷ χειμῶνι in winter X. O. 17. 3; cp. 1444. b. When the attributive is a pronoun (sometimes): (ἐν) ἐκέλευε τῇ ἡμέρᾳ. c. To statements of the time within the limits of which an event may take place (where ἐντός with the genitive is common); to statements of how much time anything takes; with numbers, ὀλίγος, πολύς, etc. Thus, ἐν τρισὶν ἡμέραις for (during) three days X. A. 4. 8. 8, οὐ ῥάδιον τὰ ἐν ἅπαντι τῷ χρόνῳ πράχθεντα ἐν μᾶ ἡμέρᾳ δηλωθῆναι it is not easy to set forth in a single day the acts of all time L. 2. 54, ἐξελέσθαι τὴν διαβολὴν ἐν οὕτως ὀλίγῳ χρόνῳ to clear myself of calumny in so brief a time P. A. 19 a. ἐν is rarely omitted in prose, and chiefly when there is an attributive: μᾶ νυκτὶ T. 6. 27. d. Always with adjectives or adverbs used substantively: ἐν τῷ παρόντι, ἐν τῷ τότε. e. To words denoting the date of an event, not a point of time: ἐν τῇ προτέρᾳ πρεσβείᾳ in the first embassy Aes. 2. 123. Thuc. employs ἐν, as ἐν τῇ ὑστεραίᾳ ἐκκλησίᾳ in the assembly held the day after 1. 44, but usu. the simple dative, as μάχη in the battle 3. 54, ἐκείνη τῇ ἐσβολῇ in that incursion 2. 20, τῇ προτέρᾳ ἐκκλησίᾳ in the first assembly 1. 44.

1543. The dative and genitive of time are sometimes employed with only a slight difference (1447 a).

DATIVE WITH COMPOUND VERBS

1544. Many compound verbs take the dative because of their meaning as a whole. So ἀντέχειν hold out against, ἀμφισβητεῖν dispute with (1523 b).

1545. The dative is used with verbs compounded with σύν (regularly), with many compounded with ἐν, ἐπί, and with some compounded with παρά, περί, πρός, and ὑπό, because the preposition keeps a sense that requires the dative.

ἐμβλέψας αὐτῷ looking at him P. Charm. 162 d, ἐλπιδας ἐμποιεῖν ἀνθρώποις to create expectations in men X. C. 1. 6. 19, αὐτοῖς ἐπέπεσε τὸ Ἑλληνικόν the Greek force fell upon them X. A. 4. 1. 10, ἐπέκειντο αὐτοῖς they pressed hard upon them 5. 2. 5, συναδικεῖν αὐτοῖς to be their accomplice in wrong-doing 2. 6. 27, ξυνίσῃσι Μελέτῳ ψευδομένῳ they are conscious that Meletus is speaking falsely (i.e. they know it as well as he does) P. A. 34 b, οὔτοι οὐ παρεγένοντο βασιλεῖ these did not join the king X. A. 5. 6. 8, παρέστω ὑμῖν ὁ κήρυξ let the herald come with us 3. 1. 46, Ξενοφῶντι προσέτρεχον δύο νεῆνισσω two youths ran up to Xenophon 4. 3. 10, ὑποκείσθαι τῷ ἀρχοντι to be subject to the ruler P. G. 510 c.

a. So especially with verbs of motion and rest formed from λέμαι, πίπτειν, τίθεμαι, τρέχειν, εἶναι, γίγνεσθαι, κεῖσθαι, etc.

1546. Some verbs of motion compounded with παρά, περί, ὑπό take the accusative (1559).

1547. Some verbs have an alternative construction, e.g. περιβάλλειν: τινί τι invest a person with something, τί τιτι surround something with something.

1548. Compounds of σύν take the instrumental, compounds of ἐν take the locative dative.

1549. When the idea of place is emphatic, the preposition may be repeated: ἐμμέναντες ἐν τῇ Ἀττικῇ remaining in Attica T. 2. 28; but it is generally not repeated when the idea is figurative: τοῖς ὅρκοις ἐμμένων abiding by one's oath I. 1. 13. μετὰ may be used after compounds of σύν: μετ' ἐμοῦ συνέπλει he sailed in company with me L. 21. 8.

1550. The prepositions are more frequently repeated in prose than in poetry.

ACCUSATIVE

1551. The accusative is a form of defining or qualifying the verb.

a. The accusative derives its name from a mistranslation (casus accusativus) of the Greek (ἡ αἰτιατικὴ πτῶσις, properly casus effectivus, 1554 a).

1552. A noun stands in the accusative when the idea it expresses is most immediately (in contrast to the dative) and most completely (in contrast to the genitive) under the influence of the verbal conception (in contrast to the nominative).

1553. The accusative is the case of the direct object (919). The accusative is used with all transitive verbs (and with some intransitive verbs used transitively), with some verbal nouns, and with adjectives.

1554. The direct object is of two kinds:

a. The internal object (object effected): ὁ ἀνὴρ τύπτει πολλὰς πληγὰς the man strikes many blows.

N. 1. — Here the object is already contained (or implied) in the verb, and its addition is optional. The accusative of the internal object is sometimes called the accusative of content. The object stands in apposition to the result of the verbal action. The effect produced by the verb is either (1) transient, when the object is a nomen actionis, and disappears with the operation of the verb, as in μάχην μάχεσθαι to fight a battle, or (2) permanent, and remains after the verbal action has ceased, as in τεῖχος τευχίζειν to build a wall. The latter form is the accusative of result (1578).

N. 2. — Almost any verb may take one of the varieties of the internal object.

b. The external object (object affected): ὁ ἀνὴρ τύπτει τὸν παῖδα the man strikes the boy.

N. — Here the object is not contained in the verb, but is necessary to explain or define the character of the action in question. The external object stands outside the verbal action.

1555. Many verbs may take an accusative either of the external or of the internal object: τέμνει ὕλην fell timber, τέμνει τὰς τρίχας cut off the hair, τέμνει ὁδὸν open a road, but σπονδὰς or δρκια τέμνειν, with a specialized verbal idea, to make a treaty by slaying a victim (pass. δρκια ἐμήθη), τέμνει ὁδὸν make one's way (poet.), τευχίζειν χωρὸν fortify a place, but τευχίζειν τεῖχος build a wall. Cp. E. Supp. 1060: A. νικῶσα τίςτιν τινα; μαθεῖν χρῆζω σέθεν. B. πάσας γυναῖκας, κτλ. A. Victorious in what victory? This I would learn of thee. B. Over all women. Here the construction shifts from the internal to the external object.

1556. The direct object of an active transitive verb becomes the subject of the passive: ὁ παῖς ὑπὸ τοῦ ἀνδρὸς τύπτεται the boy is struck by the man.

a. The object of a verb governing the genitive or dative as principal object may also become the subject of the passive (1340).

1557. In Greek many verbs are transitive the ordinary English equivalents of which are intransitive and require a preposition. So σιωπᾶν τι, εἰγᾶν τι to keep silence about something.

1558. Many verbs that are usually intransitive are also used transitively in Greek. Thus, ἀρεσεῖν sin against, δυσχεραίνειν be disgusted at, χαίρειν rejoice at, ἡδεσθαι be pleased at, δακρύνειν weep for. Cp. 1596 b.

a. Poetical: ἔρρειν agitate, περὰν πόδα pass on her way E. Hec. 53, πλεῖν sail, κρατίζειν rattle along (κροτεῖν strike Hdt. 6. 58), λάμπειν make shine, χορεύειν θεόν, εἰσσεῖν θεόν celebrate the god by choruses, by dancing.

1559. Many intransitive verbs are used transitively when compounded with a preposition, e.g. ἀναμάχεσθαι fight over again. — ἀπομάχεσθαι drive off, ἀποστρέφειν abandon, ἀποχωρεῖν leave. — διαβαλεῖν pass over, διαπλεῖν sail across, διατρέχεσθαι go through. — εἰσεῖναι come into the mind, εἰσπλεῖν sail into. — ἐκβαλεῖν pass, ἐκτρέπεσθαι get out of the way of, ἐξαναχωρεῖν shun, ἐξίστασθαι avoid. — ἐπιστρατεύειν march against. — καταναυμαχεῖν beat at sea, καταπολεμεῖν subdue completely, καταπολιτεύεσθαι reduce by policy. — μετέρχεσθαι seek, pursue, μετιεῖναι go in quest of. — παραβαλεῖν transgress. — περιεῖναι go round, περιστάσθαι surround. — προσοικεῖν dwell in, προσπαλεῖν sing in praise of. — υπερβαλεῖν omit. — πτερέχεσθαι escape from. — ὑπέρχεσθαι fawn on, ὑποδδεσθαι withstand, ὑποχωρεῖν shun, ὑπρίστασθαι withstand.

1560. Conversely, many verbs that are usually transitive are used intransitively (with gen., dat., or with a preposition). Some of these are mentioned in 1561, 1562, 1565. Sometimes there is a difference in meaning, as ἀρέσκειν = satisfy, with accus., = please, with dat.

1561. The same verb may be used transitively or intransitively, often with little difference of signification. Cp. 1709. This is generally indicated in the treatment of the cases, e.g. αἰσθάνεσθαι τι or τινος perceive something, ἐνδύμεισθαι τι or τινι consider something, μέμψεσθαι τινα or τινι blame some one.

1562. On δεῖ μοι τινος and δεῖ μέ τινος see 1400. With the inf. the accus. is usual (dat. and inf. X. A. 3. 4. 35). χρή μέ τινος is poetical; with the inf. χρή takes the accus. (except L. 28. 10, where some read δικαιούς). (χρή is an old noun; cp. χρεώ, χρεῖα need and 793.)

INTERNAL OBJECT (OBJECT EFFECTED)

COGNATE ACCUSATIVE

1563. The cognate accusative is of two kinds, of which the second is an extension of the first.

1564. (I) The substantive in the accusative is of the same origin as the verb.

πολλήν φλυαρίαν φλυαροῦντα talking much nonsense P. A. 19 c, ξυνέφυγε τήν φυγήν ταύτην he shared in the recent exile 21 a, τήν ἐν Σαλαμῖνι ναυμαχίαν ναυμαχέσας victorious in the sea-fight at Salamis D. 59. 97, τὰς ὑποσχέσεις ὡς ὅτος ἐπιοχέειτο the promises which he made 19. 47, ἡ αἰτία ἦν αἰτιῶνται the charge they bring Ant. 6. 27.

a. Sometimes the verb may be suppressed, as ἡμῖν μὲν εὐχὰς τάδε (εὐχομαι) for us these prayers A. Ch. 142.

1565. The cognate accusative occurs even with adjectives of an intransitive character: μήτε τι σοφὸς ὢν τὴν ἐκείων σοφίαν μήτε ἀμαθὴς τὴν ἀμαθίαν being neither at all wise after the fashion of their wisdom nor ignorant after the fashion of their ignorance P. A. 22 c, ἀτίμους ἐποίησαν ἀτιμίαν τοιαύδε ὥστε κτλ.

they disfranchised them in such a way that, etc. T. 5. 34 (ἀτίμους ἐποίησαν = ἡτίμησαν, cp. 1598).

1566. Passive: πόλεμος ἐπολεμεῖτο war was waged X. H. 4. 8. 1.

1567. (II) The substantive in the accusative is of kindred meaning with the verb.

ἐξῆλθον ἀλλὰς ὁδοῦς they went forth on other expeditions X. H. 1. 2. 17, τὸν ἱερὸν καλούμενον πόλεμον ἐστράτευσαν they waged what is called the Sacred War T. 1. 112, ἡσθένησε ταύτην τὴν νόσον he fell ill of this disease I. 19. 24, ἀνθρώπου φύσιν βλαστῶν born to man's estate S. Aj. 700.

1568. Passive: πόλεμος ἐταράχθη war was stirred up D. 18. 151.

1569. An extension of the cognate accusative appears in poetry with κεῖσθαι, στήναι, καθίζειν and like verbs: τόπον, ὅτινα κεῖται the place in which he is situated S. Ph. 145, τί ἐστῆκε πέτρῃ; why stands she on the rock? E. Supp. 987, τριπόδα καθίζων sitting on the tripod E. Or. 956.

1570. An attributive word is usually necessary (but not in Hom.); otherwise the addition of the substantive to the verb would be tautologous. But the attribute is omitted:

a. When the nominal idea is specialized: φυλακὰς φυλάττειν to stand sentry X. A. 2. 6. 10, φόρον φέρειν to pay tribute 5. 5. 7.

b. When the substantive is restricted by the article: τὸν πόλεμον πολεμεῖν to wage the present war T. 8. 58, τὴν πομπὴν πέμπειν to conduct the procession 6. 56.

c. When a plural substantive denotes repeated occurrences: ἐτρηράρχησε τρηραρχίας he performed the duty of trierarch D. 45. 85.

d. In various expressions: Ὀλύμπια νικᾶν to win an Olympian victory T. 1. 126, τὴν ναυμαχίαν νικῆσαι to be victorious in the sea-fight L. 19. 28, θθεῖν τὰ εὐαγγέλια to offer a sacrifice in honour of good news X. H. 1. 6. 37.

e. In poetry the use of a substantive to denote a special form of the action of the verb is much extended: στάζειν αἷμα to drip (drops of) blood S. Ph. 783, Ἄρη πνεῖν to breathe war A. Ag. 375, πῦρ δεδορκώς looking (a look of) fire τ 446. This use is common, especially in Aristophanes, with verbs signifying the look of another than the speaker: βλέπειν νᾶπυ to look mustard Eq. 631, βλέπειν ἀπιστίαν to look unbelief Com. fr. 1. 341 (No. 309); cp. "looked his faith": Holmes.

1571. The substantive without an attribute is (rarely) added to the verb as a more emphatic form of statement: λῆρον ληρεῖν to talk sheer nonsense Ar. Pl. 517, ὕβριν ὕβριζειν to insult grievously E. H. F. 708. Often in Euripides.

1572. The substantive may be omitted, leaving only the adjectival attribute: παῖσον διπλὴν (scil. πληγὴν) strike twice (a double blow) S. El. 1415, τοῦτον ἀνέκραγον ὥς ὀλιγάς (scil. πληγὰς) παλσειεν they called out that he had dealt him too (1063) few blows X. A. 5. 8. 12. Cp. 1028.

ἡδὺ γελᾶν poet. (= ἡδὺν γέλωτα γελᾶν) to laugh sweetly, μέγα (ψεύδος) ψεύδεται he is a great liar, μέγα φρονήσας ἐπὶ τούτῳ highly elated at this X. A. 3. 1. 27, μείζον φρονεῖ he is too proud 5. 6. 8, τὰ τῶν Ἑλλήνων φρονεῖν to be on the side of the Greeks D. 14. 34, μέγιστον ἐδύναντο had the greatest influence L. 30. 14, δευὰ ὑβρίζειν to maltreat terribly X. A. 6. 4. 2, ταῦτὰ ἐπρεσβέομεν we fulfilled our mission as ambassadors in the same way D. 19. 32, τί βούλεται ἡμῖν χρῆσθαι; what use does he wish to make of us? X. A. 1. 3. 18 (= τίνα βούλεται χρεῖαν χρῆσθαι, cp. χρῆσθαι τινι χρεῖαν P. L. 868 b).

1574. Passive: τοῦτο οὐκ ἐπείσθησαν they were not deceived in this X. A. 2. 2. 13, ταῦτα οὐδεὶς ἀν πείσθεται no one would be persuaded of this P. L. 836 d.

1575. For a cognate accusative in conjunction with a second object, see 1620.

1576. Note the expressions δικάζειν δίκην decide a case, δικάζεσθαι δίκην τινὶ go to law with somebody, διώκειν γραφὴν τινα indict somebody, φεύγειν δίκην τινός be put on one's trial for something; γράφεσθαι τινα γραφὴν indict one for a public offence, φεύγειν γραφὴν be put on one's trial for a public offence. Also ἐγωνίζεσθαι στάδιον (= ἀγῶνα σταδίου) be a contestant in the race-course, νικᾶν στάδιον be victorious in the race-course, νικᾶν δίκην win a case, νικᾶν γνώμην carry a resolution (pass. γνώμην ἡττᾶσθαι), ὀφλεῖν δίκην lose a case.

1577. The (rarer) dative (φόβῳ ταρβεῖν, βιαίῳ θανάτῳ ἀποθνήσκειν, φεύγειν φονγῇ) expresses the cause (1517), manner (1513), or means (1507).

ACCUSATIVE OF RESULT

1578. The accusative of result denotes the effect enduring after the verbal action has ceased.

ἔλκος οὐτάσαι to smite (and thus make) a wound E 361 (so οὐλὴν ἐλαύνειν ψ 74), πρεσβεῖν τὴν εἰρήνην to negotiate the peace (go as ambassadors (πρέσβεις) to make the peace) D. 19. 134, but πρεσβεῖν πρεσβελᾶν to go on an embassy Dinarchus 1. 16, νόμισμα κόπτειν to coin money Hdt. 3. 58, σπονδὰς, or ὀρκία, τέμνειν (1555).

1579. Verbs signifying to effect anything (ἀρῶν raise, αἰξύν exalt, διδάσκειν teach, τρέφειν rear, παιδεύειν train) show the result of their action upon a substantive or adjective predicate to the direct object: σὲ Θῆβαι γ' οὐκ ἐπαίδευσαν κακὸν Thebes did not train thee to be base S. O. C. 919, τοῦτον τρέφειν τε καὶ αἰξύν to nurse and exalt him into greatness P. R. 565 c, ἐποικοδομήσαντες αὐτὸ ὑψηλότερον raising it higher T. 7. 4. Such predicate nouns are called proleptic. Passive: μέγας ἐκ μικροῦ Φίλιππος ᾤξεται Philip has grown from a mean to be a mighty person D. 9. 21. Cp. 1613.

ACCUSATIVE OF EXTENT

1580. The accusative denotes extent in space and time.

1581. Space. — The accusative denotes the space or way over which an action is extended, and the measure of the space traversed.

ἄγειν (στρατιᾶν) στενὰς ὁδοὺς to lead an army over narrow roads X. C. 1. 6. 43, ἐξελάμει σταθμοὺς τρεῖς, παρασάγγας εἰκοσι καὶ δύο he advances three stages, twenty- τις παρασάνγας X. A. 1. 2. 5, ἀπέχει ἡ Πλάταια τῶν Θηβῶν σταδίου ἑβδομήκοντα Plataea is seventy stades distant from Thebes T. 2. 5.

a. This use is analogous to the cognate accusative after verbs of motion (ἐξόδους ἐξελθεῖν, πλεῖν θάλατταν).

1582. Time. — The accusative denotes extent of time.

ἔμεινεν ἡμέρας ἑπτὰ he remained seven days X. A. 1. 2. 6, συμμαχίαν ἐποιήσαντο ἑκατὸν ἔτη they made an alliance for a hundred years T. 3. 114.

1583. The accusative of time implies that the action of the verb covers the entire period. When emphasis is laid on the uninterrupted duration of an action, παρά with the accusative (1692. 3. b) and διὰ with the genitive (1685. 1. b) are used. The accusative of time is rarely employed where the dative (1540) is properly in place: τήνδε τὴν ἡμέραν Aes. 3. 7.

1584. Duration of life may be expressed by γεγονώς: ἔτη γεγονώς ἑβδομήκοντα seventy years old P. A. 17 d. (Also by εἶναι and the genitive, 1327.)

1585. To mark (a) how long a situation has lasted or (b) how much time has elapsed since something happened, an ordinal is used without the article, but often with the addition of οὐτος. The current day or year is included. Thus (a) τὴν μητέρα τελευτήσασαν τρίτον ἔτος τοῦτ' my mother who died two years ago L. 24. 6, ἐπιδεδήμεκε τρίτην ἡδὴ ἡμέραν he has been in the city since day before yesterday P. Pr. 309 d. (b) ἀπηγγέλθη Φίλιππος τρίτον ἢ τέταρτον ἔτος τοῦτ' Ἑραῖον τεῖχος πολιορκῶν this is the third or fourth year since it was announced that Philip was besieging fort Heraeum D. 3. 4.

1586. On the accusative of extent in degree, see 1609. With a comparative we find πολύ and ὀλίγον as well as πολλῶ and ὀλίγῳ (1514); and always τι, τι, οὐδέν with the comparative.

1587. Time and degree are often expressed by prepositions with the accusative. See Prepositions under ἀμφί, ἀνά, διὰ, ἐπὶ, κατά, πρός, ὑπό.

TERMINAL ACCUSATIVE (IN POETRY)

1588. In poetry after verbs of motion the accusative may be used without a preposition to express the goal.

ἄστυ Καδμείων μολῶν having come to the city of Cadmus S. O. T. 35, πέμφομένῃν Ἑλλάδα we will convey her to Greece E. Tro. 888. Of persons in Hom. (especially with ἰκνέομαι, ἰκω, ἰκάνω = reach) and in the lyric parts of the drama: μνηστήρας ἀφίκετο came unto the suitors a 332. Cp. "arrived our coast": Shakesp. In Hdt. 9. 26 φαμέν ἡμέας ἰκνέσθαι means we declare that it befits us.

1589. The limit of motion is also expressed by -δε (ἄστυδε Hom., in prose, Ἀθήναζε = Ἀθήναις + δε; χαμάζε or χαμάζε = χαμαῖς + δε, cp. χαμαί; οὐκαδε) and, regularly in prose, by εἰς, ἐπὶ, παρά, πρός, ὡς (with a person) with the accusative.

EXTERNAL OBJECT (OBJECT AFFECTED)

1590. Of the many transitive verbs taking this accusative the following deserve mention:

1591. (I) To do anything to or say anything of a person.

a. εἶ (καλῶς) ποιεῖν, δρᾶν (rarely with πράττειν), εὐεργετεῖν, δυνάμει, ὠφελεῖν (also with dat.), θεραπεύειν, κακῶς ποιεῖν, κακοῦν, κακουργεῖν, βλάπτειν, ἀδικεῖν, ὕβριζειν, βιάζεσθαι, ἀμείβεσθαι requite, τιμωρεῖσθαι punish, λυμάλνεσθαι (also with dat.), λωβᾶσθαι (also with dat.).

b. εἶ (καλῶς) λέγειν, εὐλογεῖν, κολακεύειν, θωπεύειν, προσκυνεῖν, κακῶς λέγειν, καταλογεῖν, κακηγορεῖν, λοιδορεῖν.

1592. συμφέρειν and ὑσιτελεῖν profit, βοηθεῖν help, λοιδορεῖσθαι rail at take the dat., ἀδικεῖν injure and ὕβριζειν insult also take εἰς τινα or πρὸς τινα.

1593. εἶ (κακῶς) ἀκούειν, πάσχειν are used as the passives of εἶ (κακῶς) λέγειν, ποιεῖν. Cp. 1752.

1594. Many of the above-mentioned verbs take a double accusative (1622).

1595. (II) Verbs expressing emotion and its manifestations,

a. φοβεῖσθαι, δεδίειναι, τρεῖν, ἐκπλήττεσθαι, καταπλήττεσθαι fear, πτήσσειν crouch before, εὐλαβεῖσθαι beware of, θαρρεῖν have no fear of (have confidence in), αἰδεῖσθαι stand in awe of, αἰσχύνεσθαι feel shame before, δυσχεραίνειν be disgusted at, θλαεῖν pity, πενθεῖν, θρηγεῖν, δακρυεῖν, κλάειν (κλαλεῖν) lament, weep over.

b. χαίρειν rejoice at and ἡδεσθαι be pleased to hear take the accus. of a person only in the poets and only with a predicate participle (2100). αἰσχύνεσθαι, χαίρειν, ἡδεσθαι, δυσχεραίνειν usually take the dat. in prose. θαρρεῖν may take the instr. dat. (Hdt. 3. 76).

1596. (III) Verbs of swearing.

ὀμνύναι swear by (τοὺς θεούς, pass. Ζεὺς ὀμώμοται) and swear to (τὸν ὅρκον, pass. ὁ ὅρκος ὀμώμοται). So ἐπιορκεῖν swear falsely by.

a. ὀμνύναι τοὺς θεούς may be an abbreviation of ὀμνύναι ὅρκον (internal object) τῶν θεῶν.

b. The accusative is used in asseverations with the adverbs of swearing μὰ, οὐ μὰ, καὶ μὰ, ἤ.

Nay, by Zeus: μὰ (τὸν) Δία, οὐ μὰ (τὸν) Δία.

Yea, by Zeus: καὶ μὰ (τὸν) Δία, ἤ (τὸν) Δία.

μὰ is negative, except when preceded by καὶ. μὰ may stand alone when a negative precedes (often in a question) or when a negative follows in the next clause: μὰ τὸν Ἀπόλλων, οὐκ Ar. Thesm. 269. μὰ is sometimes omitted after οὐ, and after καὶ: οὐ τὸν Ὀλύμπου S. O. T. 1088, καὶ τὰν κόραν Ar. Vesp. 1438.

c. The name of the deity may be omitted in Attic under the influence of sudden scrupulousness: μὰ τὸν — οὐ σέ γε not you, by — P. G. 466 e.

1597. (IV) Various other verbs.

φάγειν flee from, ἀποδιδράσκειν escape from, ἐνεδρεῖν lie in wait for, φθάνει anticipate, φυλάττεσθαι guard oneself against, ἀμύνεσθαι defend oneself against, λαθάνειν escape the notice of, μένειν wait for, ἐκλείπειν and ἐπιλείπειν give out, fail (τὸ στράτευμα ὁ σίτος ἐπέλιπε corn failed the army X. A. 1. 5. 6).

1598. The accusative is rarely found after verbal nouns and adjectives, and in periphrastic expressions equivalent to a transitive verb. (This usage is post-Homeric and chiefly poetical.)

χοῶς προπομπός (= προέμπουσα) escorting the libations A. Ch. 23, τὰ μετέωρα φροντιστής a speculator about things above the earth P. A. 18 b, ἐπιστήμονες ἦσαν τὰ προσήκοντα they were acquainted with their duties X. C. 3. 3. 9, πόλεμος ἀπορα πόριμος war providing difficulties (things for which there is no provision) A. Pr. 904, πολλὰ συνίστωρ (a house) full of guilty secrets A. Ag. 1090, σὲ φύξιμος able to escape thee S. Ant. 787; ἔξαρκος εἰμι (= ἐξαρκούμαι) τὰ ἐρωτώμενα say 'no' to the question P. Charm. 158 c, τεθναῖσι τῷ δέει τοῦ ἀποστόλου they are in mortal fear of the envoys D. 4. 45; other cases 1612.

οὗτος, ὃ σέ τοι (scil. καλῶ) ho! you there, I am calling you! Ar. Av. 274, μή, πρὸς σε θεῶν τλῆς με προδοῦναι (= μή, πρὸς θεῶν σε αἰτῶ) do not, I implore thee by the gods, have the heart to leave me! E. Alc. 275, μή μοι πρόσφαισι (scil. πάρεχε) no excuse! Ar. Ach. 345. Cp. 946.

FREE USES OF THE ACCUSATIVE

ACCUSATIVE OF RESPECT

1600. To verbs denoting a state, and to adjectives, an accusative may be added to denote a thing in respect to which the verb or adjective is limited.

a. The accusative usually expresses a local relation or the instrument. The word restricted by the accusative usually denotes like or similar to, good or better, bad or worse, a physical or a mental quality, or an emotion.

1601. The accusative of respect is employed

a. Of the parts of the body: ὁ ἄνθρωπος τὸν δάκτυλον ἀλγεί the man has a pain in his finger P. R. 462 d, τυφλὸς τὰ τ' ὦτα τὸν τε νοῦν τὰ τ' ὄμματ' el blind art thou in ears, and mind, and eyes S. O. T. 371, πόδας ὥκεις Ἀχιλλεύς Hom.

N.—The accusative of the part in apposition to the whole (985) belongs here, as is seen by the passive. Cp. τὸν πληγῇ αὐχένα him he smote on the neck A 240 (βάλε θυρόν Ἄρηα κατ' αὐχένα Φ 406) with βέβληται κεφαλῶνα thou art smitten in the abdomen E 284.

b. Of qualities and attributes (nature, form, size, name, birth, number, etc.): διαφέρει γυνή ἀνδρὸς τὴν φύσιν woman differs from man in nature P. R. 463 b, οὐδὲ τοικεῖν θνητὰς ἀθανάτησι δέμας καὶ εἶδος ἐρίζειν nor is it seemly that mortal women should rival the immortals in form and appearance e 213, ποταμὸς, Κύδνος δομα, εἶρος δύο πλέθρων a river, Cydnus by name, two plethra in width X. A. 1. 2. 23 (so with ὕψος, βάθος, μέγεθος), πληθὸς ὡς διαχίλιαι about two thousand in number 4. 2. 2, λέξον ὅστις εἰ γένος tell me of what race thou art E. Bacch. 460.

c. Of the sphere in general: δεινὸι μάχην terrible in battle A. Pers. 27, γένοσθε τὴν διάνοιαν transfer yourselves in thought Aes. 3. 153, τὸ μὲν ἐπ' ἐμοὶ οἴχομαι, τὸ δ' ἐπὶ σοὶ σέσωσμαι so far as I myself was concerned I was lost, but through you am saved X. C. 5. 4. 11. Often of indefinite relations: πάντα κακὸς base in all things S. O. T. 1421, ταῦτα ἀγαθὸς ἕκαστος ἡμῶν, ἀπερ σοφός, ἀ δὲ ἀμαθής, ταῦτα δὲ κακός each one of us is good in matters in which he is skilled, but bad in those in which he is ignorant P. Lach. 104 d.

1602. Very rarely after substantives: χείρας αἰχμητῆς a warrior valiant with (thy) arm π 242, νεῖναι τὰς ὄψεις youths by their appearance L. 10. 29.

1603. For the accusative of respect the instrumental dative (1516) is also employed, and also the prepositions εἰς, κατά, πρός, e.g. διαφέρειν ἀρετῇ or εἰς ἀρετήν.

1604. Not to be confused with the accusative of respect is the accusative after intransitive adjectives (1565) or after the passives of 1632.

1605. The accusative of respect is probably in its origin, at least in part, an accusative of the internal object.

ADVERBIAL ACCUSATIVE

1606. Many accusatives marking limitations of the verbal action serve the same function as adverbs.

1607. Most of these adverbial accusatives are accusatives of the internal object: thus, in τέλος δὲ εἰπε but at last he said, τέλος is to be regarded as standing in apposition to an unexpressed object of the verb — words, which were the end. Many adverbial accusatives are thus accusatives in apposition (991) and some are accusatives of respect (1600). It is impossible to apportion all cases among the varieties of the accusatives; many may be placed under different heads. The use of adjectives as adverbs (μέγα πλούσιος very rich) is often derived from the cognate accusative with verbs (μέγα πλουτεῖν).

1608. Manner. — τρόπον τινά in some way, τίνα τρόπον in what way? τόνδε (τοῦτον) τὸν τρόπον in this way, πάντα τρόπον in every way (also παντὶ τρόπῳ), τὴν ταχίστην (δόδον) in the quickest way, τὴν εὐθείαν (δόδον) straightforward, πρόκα, ὡρεῖν gratis (1616), δίκην after the fashion of (δίκην τοξότου like an archer P. L. 705 e), πρόφασιν in pretence (ἔπλεε πρόφασιν ἐπ' Ἑλλησπόντου he sailed professedly for the Hellespont Hdt. 5. 33), χάριν for the sake of (lit. favour): οὐ τὴν Ἀθηναίων χάριν ἐστρατεύοντο did not engage in the expedition out of good will to the Athenians Hdt. 5. 99, τοῦ χάριν for what reason? Ar. Plut. 53, τὴν σὴν ἦκω χάριν for thy sake I have come S. Ph. 1413. Cp. 993.

1609. Measure and Degree. — μέγα, μέγιστα greatly, πολύ, πολλά much, τὸ πολὺ, τὰ πολλά for the most part, ὅσον as much as, οὐδέν, μηδέν not at all, τοσούτον so much, τί somewhat, ἀρχὴν or τὴν ἀρχὴν at all with οὐ or μή (ἐν τῷ παραχρῆμα οὐκ ἔστιν ἀρχὴν ὁρθῶς βουλευέσθαι it is utterly impossible to deliberate correctly offhand Ant. 5. 73).

1610. Motive. — τί why? τοῦτο, ταῦτα for this reason (cognate accus.): τί ἦλθες quid (cur) venisti = τίνα ἔξιν ἦλθες; τοῦτο χαίρω (= ταύτην τὴν χαρὰν χαίρω) therefore I rejoice, αὐτὰ ταῦτα ἦκω for this very reason have I come P. Pr. 310 e, τοῦτ' ἀχθεσθε for this reason you are vexed X. A. 3. 2. 20.

1611. Time and Succession (1582): τὸ νῦν now, τὸ πάλαι of old, πρότερον before, τὸ πρότερον the former time, πρῶτον first, τὸ κατ' ἀρχαί in the beginning, τὸ πρῶτον in the first place, τὸ τελευταῖον in the last place (for τὸ δεύτερον in a series use ἔπειτα or ἔπειτα δέ), τὸ λοιπὸν for the future, ἀκμήν at the point, just, καιρὸν in season.

TWO ACCUSATIVES WITH ONE VERB

1612. A compound expression, consisting of the accusative of an abstract substantive and ποιῆσθαι, τίθεσθαι, ἔχειν, etc., is often treated as a simple verb; and, when transitive, governs the accusative: τὴν χώρᾱν καταδρομαῖς λεῖλᾱν ἐποιεῖτο (= ἐλήξετο) he ravaged the country by his incursions T. 8. 41, Ἰλίου φθορὰς ψήφους ἔθεντο (= ἐψηφίσαντο) they voted for the destruction of Ilium A. Ag. 814, μομφὴν ἔχω ἐν μὲν πρῶτά σοι (= ἐν μέφομαι) I blame thee first for one thing E. Or. 1089, τὰ δ' ἐν μέσῳ ληστὴν ἵσχεις (= ἐπιλανθάνει) what lies between thou hast no memory of S. O. C. 588. See 1598. So with other periphrases in poetry: τέκνα μηκύνω λόγον (= μακρότερον προσφωνῶ) I speak at length to my children S. O. C. 1120, εἰ δέ μ' ᾤδ' ἀεὶ λόγους ἐξήρχες (= ἤρχου λέγειν) if thou didst always (begin to) address me thus S. El. 556.

EXTERNAL OBJECT AND PREDICATE ACCUSATIVE

1613. Verbs meaning to appoint, call, choose, consider, make, name, show, and the like, may take a second accusative as a predicate to the direct object.

στρατηγὸν αὐτὸν ἀπέδειξε he appointed him general X. A. 1. 1. 2, πατέρα ἐμὲ ἐκαλεῖτε you were wont to call me father 7. 6. 38, αἰρεῖσθαι αὐτὸν τὸν Ἰνδῶν βασιλεῖα δικαστὴν to choose the king of the Indians himself to be arbitrator X. C. 2. 4. 8, οὐ γὰρ δίκαιον οὔτε τοὺς κακοὺς μάτην χρηστοὺς νομίζειν οὔτε τοὺς χρηστοὺς κακοὺς for it is not just to consider bad men good at random, or good men bad S. O. T. 609, Τιμόθεον στρατηγὸν ἔχειροτόνησαν they elected Timotheus general X. H. 6. 2. 11, τὴν σιγὴν σου ξυγχώρησιν θήσω I shall consider your silence as consent P. Crat. 435 b, ἐαυτὸν δεσπότην πεποίηκεν he has made himself master X. C. 1. 3. 18, εἰς ἐμὲ σὸν θεράποντα ποιήσω if you make me your servant X. O. 7. 42, εἰς τοὺς Ἕλληνας σαυτὸν σοφιστὴν παρέχων showing yourself a sophist before the Greeks P. Pr. 312 a, εὐμαθὴ πάντα παρέχειν to render everything easy to learn X. O. 20. 14. Cp. 1579.

1614. The absence of the article generally distinguishes the predicate noun from the object: ἐπηγγέλλετο τοὺς κόλακας τοῦ αὐτοῦ πλουσιωτάτους τῶν πολιτῶν ποιήσκειν he promised to make his flatterers the richest of the citizens L. 28. 4.

1615. Especially in Plato and Herodotus, after verbs signifying to name, to call, the predicate noun may be connected with the external object by (a redundant) εἶναι (911); σοφιστὴν ὀνομάζουσι τὸν ἄνδρα εἶναι they call the man a sophist P. Pr. 311 e, ἐκωνυμῶν ἔχει σμικρὸς τε καὶ μέγας εἶναι he is called both short and tall P. Ph. 102 c. This is due to the analogy of verbs signifying to think or say (1041).

1616. A predicate accusative may stand in apposition to the object: ἔδωκα δωρεᾶν τὰ λύτρα I gave them the price of their ransom as a free gift D. 19. 170.

1617. This use is the source of many adverbial accusatives (993, 1606 ff.).

1618. Passive: both the object and the predicate accusative of the active construction become nominative (1743) in the passive construction: αὐτὸς στρα-τηγὸς ἑαυτὸν he himself was chosen general L. 12. 65, αὐτοὶ κομιοῦνται κληθήσονται they shall themselves be called laugivers P. L. 681 d.

INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL OBJECT WITH ONE VERB

1619. Many verbs take both an internal and an external object.

1620. The external object refers to a person, the internal object (cognate accusative, 1563 ff.) refers to a thing. Here the internal object stands in closer relation to the verb.

ὁ πόλεμος δειμηστον παιδεῖαν αὐτοὺς ἐπαίδευσεν the war taught them a lesson they will hold in everlasting remembrance Aes. 3. 148, τοσοῦτον ἔχθος ἔχθαίρω σε I hate thee with such an hate S. El. 1034, Μελήτρος με ἐγράψατο τὴν γραφὴν ταύτην Meletus brought this accusation against me P. A. 19 b, ἔλκος, τό μιν βάλε the wound that he dealt him E 795 (1578), Μιλτιάδης δ τὴν ἐν Μαραθῶνι μάχην τοὺς βαρβάρους νίκησας Miltiades who won the battle at Marathon over the barbarians Aes. 3. 181, τὸν ἄνδρα τύπτειν τὰς πλεγάς to strike the man the blows Ant. 4. γ. 1, καλοῖ με τοῦτο τὸ ὄνομα they give me this appellation X. O. 7. 3.

1621. Passive (1747): πᾶσαν θεραπειᾶν θεραπεύόμενος receiving every manner of service P. Phae. 255 a, τύπτεσθαι πενήκοντα πλεγάς to be struck fifty blows Aes. 1. 139, ἡ κρίσις, ἣν ἐκρίθη the sentence that was pronounced upon him L. 13. 50, τὰς μάχας, δὺς Πέρσαι ἡττήθησαν ἐγὼ I omit the battles in which the Persians were defeated I. 4. 145, ὄνομα ἐν κεκλημένοι Σικελιώται called by the one name of Sicilians T. 4. 04.

1622. So with verbs signifying to do anything to or say anything of a person (1591): πολλὰ ἀγαθὰ ὑμᾶς ἐποίησεν he did you much good L. 5. 3, ταῦτ' ἐμοὶ ποιοῦσι that's what they are doing to me Ar. Vesp. 696, τὰ τοιαῦτα ἐταυνῶ Ἀγχιλλῶν I praise Agestilaus for such merits X. Ages. 10. 1, τοὺς Κορινθίους πολλὰ τε καὶ κακὰ ἔλεγε he said many bad things about the Corinthians Hdt. 8. 61. For the accusative of the thing, εἰ (καλῶς), κακῶς may be substituted; and εἰς and πρὸς with the accusative occur.

1623. The accusative of the person may depend on the idea expressed by the combination of verb and accusative of the thing (1612); as in τοὺς πολεμίους εἰργάσθαι κακὰ to have done harm to the enemy L. 21. 8 (here εἰργάσθαι of itself does not mean to do anything to a person).

1624. When the dative of the person is used, something is done for (1474), not to him: πάντα ἐποίησαν τοῖς ἀποθανούσιν they rendered all honours to the dead X. A. 4. 2. 23. εἰς or πρὸς with the accusative is also employed.

1625. Passive of 1622: ὅσα ἄλλα ἢ πόλις ἠδικοῦτο all the other wrongs that the State has suffered D. 18. 70.

1626. Verbs of dividing (μέμειν, καταμέμειν, διαμεῖν, τέμνειν) may take two accusatives, one of the thing divided, the other of its parts (cognate accus.). Thus, Κῆρος τὸ στράτευμα κατένειμε δώδεκα μέρη Cyrus divided the army into twelve divisions X. C. 7. 5. 13. εἰς or κατὰ may be used with the accusative of the parts.

1627. Passive: διηγρηται ἡ ἀγορὰ τέτταρα μέρη the Agora is divided into four parts X. C. 1. 2. 4. εἰς and κατὰ may be used with the accusative of the parts.

DOUBLE OBJECT WITH VERBS SIGNIFYING TO ASK, DEMAND, ETC.

1628. Verbs signifying to ask, clothe or undothe, conceal, demand, deprive, persuade, remind, teach, take two objects in the accusative, one of a person, the other of a thing.

οὐ τοῦτ' ἐρωτῶ σε that's not the question I'm asking you Ar. Nub. 641 ; χιτῶνα τὸν αὐτοῦ ἐκέκρινεν ἡμφίεσε he put his own tunic on him X. C. 1. 3. 17, ἰδοὺ δ' Ἀπόλλων αὐτὸς ἐκδίδων ἐμὲ χρηστηρίῳ ἐσθῆτα lo Apollo himself diverts me of my oracular garb A. Ag. 1269 ; τὴν θυγατέρα ἔκρυπτε τὸν θάνατον τοῦ ἀνδρός he concealed from his daughter her husband's death L. 32. 7 ; Κύρον αἰτεῖν πλοῖα to ask Cyrus for boats X. A. 1. 3. 14, ὡς ἐγὼ ποτέ τινα ἢ ἐπράξάμην μισθὸν ἢ ἤτησα that I ever exacted or asked pay of any one P. A. 81 c ; τοῦτων τὴν τιμὴν ἀποστερεῖ με he deprives me of the value of these things D. 28. 13 ; ὁμᾶς τοῦτο οὐ πείθω I cannot persuade you of this P. A. 37 a ; ἀναμνήσω ὁμᾶς καὶ τοὺς κινδύνους I will remind you of the dangers also X. A. 3. 2. 11 ; οὐδεὶς ἐδίδαξέ με ταύτην τὴν τέχνην nobody taught me this art X. O. 19. 16.

1629. Both person and thing are equally governed by the verb. The accusative of the person is the external object ; the accusative of the thing is sometimes a cognate accusative (internal accusative).

1630. Some of these verbs also take the genitive or dative, or employ prepositions. Thus ἐρωτᾶν τινα περὶ τίνος, αἰτεῖν (αἰτεῖσθαι) τι παρὰ τίνος, ἀποστερεῖν or ἀφαιρεῖσθαι τινὰ τίνος (τίνος τι) (1394), or τιτι τι (1483) ; ἀναμνησκειν τινὰ τίνος (1356) ; παιδεύειν τινὰ τιτι or τινὰ εἰς (or πρὸς) with the accusative.

1631. The poets employ this construction with verbs of cleansing (a form of depriving) : χροὰ νίφετο ἄλμην he was washing the brine from his skin § 224, αἷμα κάθηρον Σαρπηδόνα cleansed the blood from Sarpedon II 667. And with other verbs (in tragedy), e.g. τιμωρεῖσθαι avenge on, μετελθεῖν seek to avenge on, μετιέναι execute judgment on, ἐπισκῆπτειν charge.

1632. Passive (1747) : ὑπὸ βασιλέως πεπρωγμένος τοὺς φόρους having had the tribute demanded of him by the king T. 8. 5, ὅσοι ἵππους ἀπεστέρηται all who have been deprived of their horses X. C. 6. 1. 12, οὐκ ἐπείθοντο τὰ ἐσαγγελθέντα they would not credit the news Hdt. 8. 81, μουσικὴν παιδεύθεις having been instructed in music P. Menex. 236 a (here μουσικῇ is possible), οὐδὲν ἄλλο διδάσκεται ἀνθρώποις ἢ ἐπιστήμην man is taught nothing else except knowledge P. Men. 87 c.

1633. The accusative of extent (1580) is freely used in the same sentence with other accusatives, as ὑπερενεγκόντες τὸν Λευκαδίων ἰσθμὸν τὰς ναῦς having hauled the ships across the isthmus of Leucas T. 8. 81.

On the accusative of the whole and part, see 985 ; on the accusative subject of the infinitive, see 1972 ff. ; on the accusative absolute, see 2076. See also under Anacoluthon.

TWO VERBS WITH A COMMON OBJECT

1634. The case of an object common to two verbs is generally that demanded by the nearer : οὐ δεῖ τοῖς παιδοτρέβαις ἐγκαλεῖν οὐδ' ἐκβάλλειν ἐκ τῶν πόλεων we must not accuse the trainer or banish him from the cities P. G. 460 d.

a. The farther verb may contain the main idea : ἐπιτιμᾷ καὶ ἀποδοκιμάζει τισὶ he censures some and rejects them at the scrutiny L. 6. 83.

1635. The construction is usually ruled by the participle, not by the finite verb, when they have a common object but different constructions, and especially when the object stands nearer the participle: τούτῳ δοὺς ἡγεμόνας πορεύεσθαι ἐκέλευσεν ἡσυχῶς having given him guides he ordered him to proceed quietly X. C. 5. 3. 53; and when the common object stands between, as προσπεσόντες τοῖς πρώτοις τρέπουσι falling upon the foremost they put them to flight T. 7. 53.

a. Sometimes the finite verb regulates the construction, as καλέσας παρεκέλευτο τοῖς Ἕλλησι he summoned the Greeks and exhorted them X. A. 1. 8. 11.

PREPOSITIONS

1636. Prepositions define the relations of a substantival notion to the predicate.

a. All prepositions seem to have been adverbs originally and mostly adverbs of place; as adverbs they are case-forms. Several are locatives, as πρὸς.

1637. The prepositions express primarily notions of space, then notions of time, and finally are used in figurative relations to denote cause, agency, means, manner, etc. Attic often differs from the Epic in using the prepositions to denote metaphorical relations. The prepositions define the character of the verbal action and set forth the relations of an oblique case to the predicate with greater precision than is possible for the cases without a preposition. Thus, μετὰ δὲ μνηστῆρων ἔειπε he spake among the suitors ρ 467 specifies the meaning with greater certainty than μνηστῆρων ἔειπε. So ὁ Ἑλλήνων φόβος may mean the fear felt by the Greeks or the fear caused by the Greeks; but with ἐξ or παρὰ (cp. X. A. 1. 2. 18, Lyc. 130) the latter meaning is stated unequivocally. The use of a preposition often serves to show how a construction with a composite case (1279) is to be regarded (genitive or ablative; dative, instrumental, or locative).

1638. Development of the Use of Prepositions. —

a. Originally the preposition was a free adverb limiting the meaning of the verb but not directly connected with it: κατ' ἄρ' ἔξετο down he sate him A 101. In this use the preposition may be called a 'preposition-adverb.'

b. The preposition-adverb was also often used in sentences in which an oblique case depended directly on the verb without regard to the preposition-adverb. Here the case is independent of the preposition-adverb, as in βλεφάρων ἀπὸ δάκρυα πίπτει from her eyelids, away, tears fall ξ 129. Here βλεφάρων is ablative genitive and is not governed by ἀπὸ, which serves merely to define the relation between verb and noun.

c. Gradually the preposition-adverb was brought into closer connection either (1) with the verb, whence arose compounds such as ἀποπίπτειν, or (2) with the noun, the preposition-adverb having freed itself from its adverbial relation to the verb. In this stage, which is that of Attic prose, the noun was felt to depend on the preposition. Hence arose many syntactical changes, e.g.

the accusative of the limit of motion (1588) was abandoned in prose for the preposition with the accusative.

Prepositions have three uses.

1639. (I) Prepositions appear as adverbs defining the action of verbs.

1640. The preposition-adverb usually precedes the verb, from which it is often separated in Homer by nouns and other words: ἡμῖν ἀπὸ λογῶν ἀμύναι to ward off destruction from (for) us A 67, πρὸ γὰρ ἦκε θεὰ the goddess sent her forth A 195, ἔχευ κἀτα γαῖα the earth held him fast B 699.

1641. So, as links connecting sentences, πρὸς δὲ καὶ and καὶ πρὸς and besides, ἐπὶ δὲ and besides, μετὰ δὲ and next, thereupon (both in Hdt.), ἐν δὲ and among the number (Hdt.).

1642. The verb (usually ἔστί or εἰστί, rarely εἰμί) may be omitted: οὐ γὰρ τις μετὰ τοῖς ἀνὴρ for no such man is among them φ 93. Cp. 944.

1643. The preposition-adverb may do duty for the verb in parallel clauses: ἀνδρες ἀνέστην, ἂν μὲν ἄρ' Ἀτρεΐδης . . . ἂν δ' ἄρα Μηριόνης the men rose up, rose up Atreides, rose up Meriones Ψ 886. So in Hdt.

1644. (II) Prepositions connect verbs and other words with the oblique cases of nouns and pronouns.

1645. It is often impossible to decide whether the preposition belongs to the verb or to the noun. Thus, ἐκ δὲ Χρῦσης πηδὸς βῆ A 439 may be Chryseis went out of the ship or Chryseis went-out-from (ἐξέβη) the ship. When important words separate the prep.-adv. from the noun, the prep.-adv. is more properly regarded as belonging with the verb, which, together with the prep.-adv., governs the noun: ἀμφὶ δὲ χαῖραι ὅμοις ἀτσοῦνται and his mane floats-about his shoulders Z 509. The Mss. often vary: τοῖσιν ἐγὼ μεθ' ὀμίλειν (or μεθομίλειν) with these I was wont to associate A 269.

1646. (III) Prepositions unite with verbs (less frequently with nouns and other prepositions) to form compounds. Cp. 886 ff.

a. From this use as a prefix the name 'preposition' (πρόθεσις praepositio) is derived. The original meaning of some prepositions is best seen in compounds.

1647. Improper prepositions (1699) are adverbs used like prepositions, but incapable of forming compounds. The case (usually the genitive) following an improper preposition depends on the preposition alone without regard to the verb; whereas a true preposition was attached originally, as an adverb, to a case depending directly on the verb.

1648. The addition of a preposition (especially διὰ, κατά, σύν) to a verbal form may mark the completion of the action of the verbal idea (perfective action). The local force of the preposition is here often lost. So διαφεύγειν succeed in escaping, καταδιώκειν succeed in pursuing, συντελεῖν accomplish, carry into effect (τελεῖν do, perform).

1649. Two or more prepositions may be used with one verb, either separately, as adverbs, or in composition with the verb. Thus, στή δὲ παρῆξ (or παρ' ἔξ) he stood forth beside him A 486. When two prepositions of like meaning are used in composition, that preposition precedes which has the narrower range: συμμετέχειν take part in with, ἀμφιπεριστέφασθαι to be put round about as a crown. When two prepositions are used with one noun, the noun usually depends on the second, while the first defines the second adverbially; as ἀμφὶ περὶ κρήνην round about a spring B 305. It is often uncertain whether or not two prepositions should be written together.

a. Such compound prepositions are ἀμφιπερὶ, παρῆξ, ὑπὲκ, ἀπὲκ, διέκ, ἀποπρό, διαπρό, περιπρό. Improper prepositions may be used with true prepositions, as μέχρι eis τὸ στρατόπεδον as far as (into) the camp X. A. 6. 4. 26.

1650. Tmesis (τμήσις cutting) denotes the separation of a preposition from its verb, and is a term of late origin, properly descriptive only of the post-epic language, in which preposition and verb normally formed an indissoluble compound. The term 'tmesis' is incorrectly applied to the language of Homer, since in the Epic the prep.-adv. was still in process of joining with the verb.

1651. In Attic poetry tmesis occurs chiefly when the preposition is separated from the verb by unimportant words (particles, enclitics), and is employed for the sake of emphasis or (in Euripides) as a mere ornament. Aristophanes uses tmesis only to parody the style of tragic choruses.

1652. Hdt. uses tmesis frequently in imitation of the Epic; the intervening words are ὃν (= ὅν), enclitics, δέ, μὲν . . . δέ, etc.

1653. In Attic prose tmesis occurs only in special cases: ἀντ' ἃ ποιεῖν (πράσχειν) and ὃν ἃ (κακῶς) ποιεῖν (πράσχειν). Thus, δοῦναι ἃ ποιήσαντας ἡ πόλις ἀντ' ἃ πεποίηκεν all whom the city has requited with benefits for the service they rendered it D. 20. 64. Here ἃ πεποίηκεν is almost equivalent to a single notion.

1654. The addition of a preposition to a verb may have no effect on the construction, as in ἐκβῆναι τῆς νεώς, whereas βῆναι τῆς νεώς originally, and still in poetry, can mean go from-the-ship; or it may determine the construction, as in περγυρεῖσθαι ἐμοῦ to surpass me D. 18. 236. Prose tends to repeat the prefixed preposition: ἐκβῆναι ἐκ τῆς νεώς T. 1. 137.

1655. A preposition usually assumes the force of an adjective when compounded with substantives which do not change their forms on entering into composition, as σύνδοτος a national meeting (δότος). Otherwise the compound usually gets a new termination, generally -ον, -ιον neuter, or -ις feminine, as ἐνύπνιον dream (ὑπνος), ἐπικουρῖς thigh-muscle (γόνυ).

1656. The use of prepositions is, in general, more common in prose than in poetry, which retained the more primitive form of expression.

1657. A noun joined by a preposition to its case without the help of a verb has a verbal meaning: ἀπὸ πάσων ἀρχῶν ἐλευθερίᾳ freedom from all rule P. L. 698 a (cp. ἐλευθερεῖν ἀπὸ τινος).

1658. In general, when depending on prepositions expressing relations of place, the accusative denotes the place (or person) toward which or the place over which, along which motion takes place, the dative denotes rest in or at, the genitive (ablative) passing from. Thus, ἦκω παρὰ σέ I have come to you T. 1. 137, οἱ παρ' ἐαυτῷ βάρβαροι the barbarians in his own service X. A. 1. 1. 5, παρὰ βασιλέως πολλοὶ πρὸς Κύρον ἀπῆλθον many came over from the king to Cyrus 1. 9. 29. The true genitive denotes various forms of connection.

1659. Constructio Praegnans. — a. A verb of motion is often used with a preposition with the dative to anticipate the rest that follows the action of the verb: ἐν τῷ ποταμῷ ἔπεσον they fell (into and were) in the river X. Ages. 1. 32. This use is common with τιθέναι, ἰδρύνειν, καθιστάναι, etc., and with tenses of completed action which imply rest; as οἱ ἐν τῇ νήσῳ ἄνδρες διαβιβηκότες the men who had crossed to (and were in) the island T. 7. 71.

b. A verb of rest is often followed by a preposition with the accusative to denote motion previous to or following upon the action of the verb: παρήσαν εἰς Σάρδεῖς (they came to Sardis and were in the city) they arrived at Sardis X. A. 1. 2. 2, ἐς Κύρην ἐσώθησαν they were saved by reaching Cyrene T. 1. 110, ἡρέθη πρεσβευτὴς εἰς Λακεδαίμονα he was chosen ambassador (to go) to Lacedaemon X. H. 2. 2. 17. Cp. 1692. 1. a.

1660. Stress is often laid on (a) the starting-point or (b) the goal of an action.

a. καταδήσας ἀπὸ δένδρων τοὺς ἵππους tying his horses to (from) trees X. H. 4. 4. 10. By anticipation of the verbal action (attraction of the prep. with the article): τὴν ἀπὸ στρατοπέδου τάξιν ἔλιπε he deserted his post in the army Aes. 3. 159, οἱ ἐκ τῆς ἀγορᾶς καταλιπόντες τὰ ὄνια ἔφυγον the market-people (οἱ ἐν τῇ ἀγορᾷ) left their wares and fled X. A. 1. 2. 18.

b. With verbs of collecting (ἀθροίζειν, συλλέγειν) and enrolling (ἐγγράφειν): εἰς πεδῖον ἀθροίζονται they are mustered in(to) the plain X. A. 1. 1. 2, εἰς ἀνδρας ἐγγράψαι to enrol in(to) the list of men D. 19. 230.

1661. So with adverbs: οπου ἐληλύθαμεν where (= whither, οπου) we have gone X. C. 6. 1. 14, ὅθεν ἀπελίπομεν, ἐπανέλθωμεν let us return to the point whence (= where, οπου) we left off P. Ph. 78 b, ἀγνοεῖ τὸν ἐκείθεν πόλεμον δεῦρο ἤξοντα he does not know that the war in that region will come hither (= τὸν ἐκεῖ πόλεμον ἐκείθεν) D. 1. 15.

1662. Some adverbs and adverbial phrases meaning from are used with reference to the point of view of the observer: ἐκατέρωθεν on either side, ἐξ ἑνὸς καὶ ἐξ ἑνὸς on this side and that, ἐκ δεξιᾶς on the right (a dextra), οἱ ἀπὸ τῆς σκηνῆς the actors, τὸ ἐκ τοῦ ἰσθμοῦ τείχους, τὸ ἐς τὴν Παλλήνην τείχος the wall (seen) from the isthmus, the wall toward (looking to) Pallene T. 1. 64 (of the same wall).

1663. Position. — The preposition usually precedes its noun. It may be separated from it a. By particles (μέν, δέ, γέ, τέ, γάρ, οὐν) and by οἶμαι I think: ἐν οὐν τῇ πόλει P. R. 456 d, εἰς δέ γε οἶμαι τὰς ἄλλας πόλεις to the other cities I think 568 c.

Note that the order τὴν μὲν χώρᾱν (1155) usually becomes, e.g. πρὸς μὲν τὴν χώρᾱν or πρὸς τὴν χώρᾱν μὲν. Demonstrative ὁ μὲν and ὁ δέ, when dependent on a preposition, regularly follow the preposition, and usually with order reversed (1109): ἐν μὲν ἄρα τοῖς συμφωνοῦμεν, ἐν δὲ τοῖς οὐ in some things then we agree, but not in others P. Phae. 263 b.

b. By attributives: εἰς Καύστρου πεδῖον to the plain of the Cayster X. A. 1. 2. 11.

c. By the accusative in oaths and entreaties (with πρός): πρός σε τῆσδε μητρός by my mother here I implore thee E. Phoen. 1665; cp. per te deos oro and see 1699.

N. — A preposition is usually placed before a superlative and after ὡς or ὅτι qualifying the superlative: ὡς ἐπὶ πλείστον τοῦ ὄμιλου over the very greatest part of the throng T. 2. 34. πολύ, πάν, μάλα may precede the preposition and its case: πολύ ἐν πλείονι αἰτία with far better reason T. 1. 35.

1664. In poetry a preposition is often placed between an adjective and its substantive; very rarely in prose (τοιῦδε ἐν τάξει in the following manner P. Crit. 116 c).

1665. περί is the only true preposition that may be placed after its case in Attic prose: σοφίας περί about wisdom P. Phil. 49 a, ὧν ἐγὼ οὐδὲν οὔτε μέγα οὔτε μικρὸν περί ἐπαίω about which I understand nothing either much or little P. A. 19 c. When used with two substantives περί is placed between them: τοῦ ἁγίου τε περί καὶ τοῦ ἀσπίου concerning both that which is holy and that which is unholy P. Euth. 4 e. περί occurs very often in Plato, only once in the orators and possibly twice in Xenophon. On anastrophe, see 175.

a. ἐνεκα and χάριν (usually) and ἄνευ (sometimes) are postpositive. The retention of the postpositive use of περί may be due to the influence of ἐνεκα. In poetry many prepositions are postpositive.

VARIATION OF PREPOSITIONS

1666. The preposition in the second of two closely connected clauses may be different from that used in the first clause either (1) when the relation is essentially the same or (2) when it is different. Thus (1) ἐκ τε τῆς Κερκύρας καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς ἡπείρου from Corcyra and the mainland T. 7. 33, and (2) οὔτε κατὰ γῆν οὔτε διὰ θαλάσσης neither by land nor by (the help of the, the medium of the) sea 1. 2. Cp. 1668.

REPETITION AND OMISSION OF PREPOSITIONS, ETC.

1667. a. For the sake of emphasis or to mark opposition and difference, a preposition is repeated with each noun dependent on the preposition: κατὰ τε πόλεμον καὶ κατὰ τὴν ἄλλην διαίταν in the pursuit of war and in the other occupations of life P. Tim. 18 c.

b. A preposition is used with the first noun and omitted with the second when the two nouns (whether similar or dissimilar in meaning) unite to form a complex: περί τοῦ δικαίου καὶ ἀρετῆς 'concerning the justice of our cause and the honesty of our intentions' T. 3. 10.

c. In poetry a preposition may be used only with the second of two nouns dependent on it: Δελφῶν καὶ Δαυλίας from Delphi and Daulia S. O. T. 734.

1668. In contrasts or alternatives expressed by ἢ, ἢ . . . ἢ, καὶ . . . καὶ, etc., the preposition may be repeated or omitted with the second noun: καὶ κατὰ γῆν καὶ κατὰ θάλατταν both by land and by sea X. A. 1. 1. 7, πρὸς ἐχθρὸν ἢ φίλον to foe or friend D. 21. 114.

1669. When prepositions of different meaning are used with the same noun, the noun is repeated; thus neither upon (the earth) nor under the earth is οὐτ' ἐπὶ γῆς οὐδ' ὑπὸ γῆς P. Menex. 246 d.

1670. In explanatory appositional clauses (988) the preposition may be repeated for the sake of clearness or emphasis; as ἐκ τούτων οἱ ὀνομαστοὶ γίνονται, ἐκ τῶν ἐπιτηδευσάντων ἕκαστα the men of mark come from those who have practised each art P. Lach. 183 c, and commonly after demonstratives. The preposition is not repeated when such an appositional clause is closely connected with what precedes: εἰκὸς μὴδὲ νομίσαι περὶ ἐνὸς μόνου, δουλείᾳς ἀντ' ἐλευθερίᾳς, ἀγωνίζεσθαι nor should you think that you are contending for a single issue alone: to avert slavery instead of maintaining your freedom T. 2. 68. A preposition is usually not repeated before descriptive appositional clauses (987): περὶ χρημάτων λαλεῖς, ἀβεβαίου πράγματος you are talking about wealth, an unstable thing Com. frag. 3. 38 (No. 128).

1671. Before a relative in the same case as a noun or pronoun dependent on a preposition, the preposition is usually omitted: κατὰ ταύτην τὴν ἡλικίαν ἣν ἦν ἐγὼ νῦν he was at that age at which I now am D. 21. 155, φιλεῖται ὑπὸ ᾧν (= τοῦτων ᾧν) is loved by whom it is loved P. Euth. 10 c. But the preposition is repeated if the relative precedes: πρὸς ὃ τις πέφυκε, πρὸς τοῦτο ἕνα πρὸς ἐν ἕκαστον ἔργον δεῖ κομίζειν it is necessary to set each individual to some one work to which he is adapted by nature P. R. 423 d.

1672. In Plato a preposition is often omitted in replies: ἡττώμενος—ὕπὸ τίς; φήσει. τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ, φήσομεν overcome—by what? he will say. By the good, we shall say Pr. 355 c.

1673. The preposition is usually omitted with the main noun or pronoun when it is used in a clause of comparison with ὡς (rarely ὥσπερ) as: δεῖ ὡς περὶ μητρὸς καὶ τροφῆς τῆς χώρας βουλευέσθαι they ought to take thought for their country as their mother and nurse P. R. 414 e; so, usually, when the two members are closely united: ὡς πρὸς εἰδὸς' ἐμὲ σὺ τάληθ' ἔλεγε speak the truth to me as to one who knows Ar. Lys. 993. The preposition is often omitted in the clause with ὡς (ὥσπερ) as, ἢ than: οἱ παρ' οὐδέν οὕτως ὡς τὸ τοιαῦτα ποιεῖν ἀπολώλῃσιν who owe their ruin to nothing so much as to such a course of action D. 19. 263, περὶ τοῦ μέλλοντος μᾶλλον βουλευέσθαι ἢ τοῦ παρόντος to deliberate about the future rather than the present T. 3. 44.

1674. A preposition with its case may have the function of the subject, or the object, of a sentence; or it may represent the protasis of a condition.

Subject: ἔφυγον περὶ ὀκτακοσίου about eight hundred took to flight X. H. 6. 5. 10; (gen. absol.) συμειλεγμένων περὶ ἑπτακοσίου, λαβὼν αὐτοὺς καταβαλεῖ when about seven hundred had been collected he marched down with them 2. 4. 5. Object: διέφθειραν ἐς ὀκτακοσίου they killed about eight hundred T. 7. 32. Protasis: εἴτε δὶδ' ὅτ' ἡμᾶς αὐτοὺς πάσαι ἂν ἀπωλόμην for had it depended on your selves you would have perished long ago D. 18. 49 (cp. 2344).

ORDINARY USES OF THE PREPOSITIONS

1675. Use of the Prepositions in Attic Prose.—

With the accusative only: ἀνά, ἐς.

With the dative only : ἐν, σὺν.

With the genitive only : ἀπρί, ἀπὸ, ἐξ, πρὸ.

With the accusative and genitive : ἀμφί, διὰ, κατὰ, μετὰ, ὑπέρ.

With accusative, genitive, and dative : ἐνί, παρὰ, περὶ, πρὸς, ὑπὲρ.

a. With the dative are also used in poetry : ἀνά, ἀμφί (also in Hdt.), μετὰ. ἀπὸ (ἀπύ), ἐξ (ἐς) take the dative in Arcadian and Cyprian.

b. The genitive is either the genitive proper (of the goal, 1349, 1350, etc.) or the ablative genitive.

c. The dative is usually the locative or the instrumental, rarely the dative proper (as with ἐνί and πρὸς of the goal).

1676. Ordinary Differences in Meaning. —

	GENITIVE	ACCUSATIVE
ἀμφί, περὶ	concerning	round about, near διὰ	through	owing to κατὰ	against	along, over, according to μετὰ	with	after
ὑπέρ	above, in behalf of	over, beyond

	GENITIVE	DATIVE	ACCUSATIVE
ἐνί	on	on	to, toward, for παρὰ	from	with, near	to, contrary to πρὸς	on the side of	at, besides	to, toward ὑπὲρ	by, under	under	under

1677. Certain prepositions are parallel in many uses ; e.g. ἀνά and κατὰ, ἀπρί and πρὸ, ἀπὸ and ἐκ, ἀμφί and περὶ, ὑπέρ and περὶ, ἐνί and πρὸς, σὺν and μετὰ.

1678. The agent is expressed by different prepositions with the genitive : ὑπὲρ of persons and things personified (1698. 1. N. 1) : the normal usage in Attic prose.

παρὰ : here the agent is viewed as the source. The action is viewed as starting near a person, or on the part of a person.

διὰ through : the intermediate agent.

ἀπὸ : indirect agent and source (rare) to mark the point of departure of the action. Chiefly in Thuc.

ἐξ : chiefly in poetry and Hdt. In Attic prose of emanation from a source.

πρὸς : to mark the result as due to the presence (before) of a person ; chiefly in poetry and Hdt.

1679. Means is expressed by διὰ with the genitive (the normal usage in Attic prose), ἀπὸ, ἐξ, ἐν, σὺν. Motive is expressed by ὑπὲρ (gen.), διὰ (accus.), ἕνεκα.

1680. Prepositions in composition (chiefly ἀπὸ, διὰ, κατὰ, σὺν) may give an idea of completion to the action denoted by the verb (1648).

a. For the usage after compound verbs see 1382 ff., 1545 ff., 1559.

LIST OF PREPOSITIONS

1681. ἀμφί (cp. ἀμφω, ἀμφότερος, Lat. ambi-, amb-, am-) originally on both sides (either externally only, or inside and outside), hence about. Cp. the use of περί (1693) throughout. Chiefly poetic, Ionic, and Xenophontic. In Attic prose chiefly with the accusative.

1. ἀμφί with the Genitive

Local (very rare and doubtful): οἱ ἀμφὶ ταύτης οἰκίσσαντες τῆς πόλεως dwellers round about this city Hdt. 8. 104 (only here). Cause: about, concerning: ἀμφὶ σῆς λέγω παιδὸς I speak about thy child E. Hec. 580, ἀμφὶ ὧν εἶχον διαφερόμενοι quarrelling about what they had X. A. 4. 5. 17.

2. ἀμφί with the Dative

Local: ἀμφ' ὅμοισιν ἔχει σάκος he has a shield about his shoulders A 527. Cause: φοβηθεὶς ἀμφὶ τῇ γυναικὶ afraid on account of his wife Hdt. 6. 62, ἀμφὶ φόβῳ by reason of (encompassed by) terror E. Or. 825; Means: ἀμφὶ σοφίᾳ 'with the environment of poetic art' Pind. P. 1. 12. Often in Pindar.

3. ἀμφί with the Accusative

3. ἀνά in Composition

Up (ἀνίστασθαι stand up, ἀναστρέφειν turn upside down), back (ἀναχωρεῖν go back, ἀναμνησκαίω remind), again (ἀναπνεῖν breathe again, ἀναπειράσθαι practise constantly), often with a reversing force (ἀναλβεῖν unloose).

1683. ἀντί: originally in the face of, opposite to; cp. ἀντα, ἐναντίος, Lat. ante (with meaning influenced by post), Germ. Antwort, 'reply.'

In other meanings: Instead of, for, as an equivalent to: ἀντὶ πολέμου εἰρήνη peace instead of war T. 4. 20, τὰ παρ' ἐμοὶ ἐλθεῖν ἀντὶ τῶν οἴκων to prefer what I have to offer you here instead of what you have left at home X. - c. Other relations: (1) Origin, Source: in prose of more remote ancestry: τοὺς μὲν ἀπὸ θεῶν, τοὺς δ' ἐξ αὐτῶν τῶν θεῶν γεγονότας some descended (remotely) from gods, others begotten (directly) of the gods themselves I. 12. 81. (This distinction is not always observed.) Various other relations may be explained as source.
- (2) Author: as agent with passives and intransitives, when an action is done indirectly, through the influence of the agent (ὑπὸ of the direct action of the agent himself). Not common, except in Thuc. (chiefly with πράττεσθαι, λέγεσθαι, and verbs of like meaning): ἐπράχθη ἀπ' αὐτῶν οὐδέν ἔργον nothing was done under their rule T. 1. 17. The starting-point of an action is often emphasized rather than the agent: ἀπὸ πολλῶν καὶ πρὸς πολλοῦς λόγους speeches made by many and to many T. 8. 98.

- (3) Cause (remote): ἀπὸ τοῦτου τοῦ τολμήματος ἐπῆνέθη he was praised in consequence of this bold deed T. 2. 25, ταῦτα οὐκ ἀπὸ τύχης ἐγένετο, ἀλλ' ἀπὸ παρασκευῆς τῆς ἐμῆς this happened not from chance but by reason of the preparations I made L. 21. 10.
- (4) Means, Instrument: στρατεύμα συνέλεξεν ἀπὸ χρημάτων he raised an army by means of money X. A. 1. 1. 9; rarely of persons: ἀπ' αὐτῶν βλάψαι to do injury by means of them T. 7. 29.

- (6) Conformity: ἀπὸ τοῦ ἴσου on a basis of equality T. 8. 10, ἀπὸ ξυμμαχίας ἀδρόνμοι independent by virtue of (according to) an alliance 7. 57.

N.—ἀπὸ with gen. is sometimes preferred to the simple gen., often for emphasis: οἱ λόγοι ἀπ' ὑμῶν the words that proceed from you T. 6. 40, οἱ λόγοι ἀπὸ πολλῶν a few of the many 1. 110 (cp. 1317 a). Thuc. has many free uses of ἀπὸ.

2. ἀπὸ in Composition

From, away, off (ἀπέραι go away, ἀπορῆχθαι wall off), in return, back (ἀποδοῖναι give back what is due, ἀπαίρειν demand what is one's right). Separation involves completion (hence ἀπαῖναι utterly consume, ἀποθεῖναι pay off a vow), or privation and negation (ἀπαγορεύειν forbid, ἀποτυχάνειν miss). Often almost equivalent to an intensive (ἀποφάναι speak out, ἀποδεικνύναι point out, ἀποτολμᾶν dare without reserve).

1685. διὰ (Lesb. ζά) through, originally through and out of, and apart (separation by cleavage), a force seen in comp. (cp. Lat. dis, Germ. zwi-schen).

1. διὰ with the Genitive

- a. Local: through and out of (cp. Hom. διέκ, διαπρό), as δι' ὅμων ἔγχος ἦλθεν the spear went clear through his shoulder Δ 481, ἀκοῦσαι διὰ τέλους to listen from beginning to end Lyc. 16. Through, but not out of: διὰ πολεμίας (γῆς) πορεύεσθαι to march through the enemy's country X. Hi. 2. 8 and often in figurative expressions: διὰ χειρὸς ἔχειν to control T. 2. 13, διὰ στόματος ἔχειν to have in one's mouth (be always talking of) X. C. 1. 4. 25 (also διὰ στόμα).
- † Temporal: of uninterrupted duration, as διὰ νυκτός through the night X. A. 4. 6. 22, διὰ παρρόν constantly T. 2. 49.
- c. Intervals of Space or Time: διὰ δέκα ἐτάλξεω at intervals of ten battlements T. 8. 21, διὰ χρόνου after an interval L. 1. 12, intermittently Aes. 3. 220, διὰ πολλοῦ at a long distance T. 8. 94.
- d. Other relations: Means, Mediation (per): αὐτὸς δι' αὐτοῦ ipse per se D. 48. 15, διὰ τοῦτου γράμματα πέμψας sending a letter by this man Aes. 3. 162. State or feeling: with εἶναι, γίνεσθαι, ἔχειν, of a property or quality: διὰ φόβου εἶσι they are afraid T. 6. 84, δι' ἡσυχίας εἶχεν he kept in quiet 2. 22, εἰσεῖν ἡμῖν διὰ μάχης to meet us in battle 2. 11, ἀδελφὸς διὰ φιλίας εἶναι to enter into friendship with them X. A. 3. 2. 8. Manner: διὰ ταχέως quickly T. 4. 8.

2. διὰ with the Accusative

- a. Local: of space traversed, through, over (Epic, Lyric, tragic choruses): διὰ δώματα through the halls A 600; διὰ νύκτα Θ 510 is quasi-temporal.

- b. Cause: owing to, thanks to, on account of, in consequence of (cp. propter, ob): διὰ τοῦ θεοῦ ἐσώζην I was saved thanks to the gods D. 18. 249, τιμώμενος μὴ δι' ἑαυτὸν, ἀλλὰ διὰ δόξαν προγόνων honoured, not for himself, but on account of the renown of his ancestors P. Menex. 247 b. So in ei μὴ διὰ τινα (τι) had it not been for in statements of an (unsurmounted) obstacle: φαίνεται κρατήσαντες ἀν τῶν βασιλέως πραγμάτων, ei μὴ διὰ Κύρον it seems they would have got the better of the power of the king, had it not been for Cyrus I. 5. 92.
- c. διὰ is rarely used (in place of ἐνεκα) to denote a purpose or object: διὰ τῇ σφετέρᾳ δόξαν for the sake of their honour T. 2. 89, δι' ἐπῆρειαν for spite D. 39. 32 (cp. διὰ νόσον ἐνεκα ὑγιείας on account of disease in order to gain health P. Lys. 218 e).
- d. διὰ with gen. is used of direct, διὰ with accus. of indirect, agency (fault, merit, of a person, thing, or situation). διὰ with gen. is used of an agent employed to bring about an intended result; διὰ with accus. is used of a person, thing, or state beyond our control (accidental agency). (1) Persons: ἐπράξαν ταῦτα δι' Εὐρυμάχου they effected this by the mediation of Eurymachus T. 2. 2, τὰ διὰ τούτους ἀπολωλὸτα what has been lost by (the fault of) these men D. 6. 34. The accus. marks a person as an agent not as an instrument. (2) Things: νόμοι, δι' ὧν ἐλευθέριος ὁ βίος παρασκευασθήσεται laws, by means of which a life of freedom will be provided X. C. 3. 52, διὰ τοῦ νόμου βελτίους γιγνώμενοι ἄνθρωποι men become better thanks to the laws 8. 1. 22. Sometimes there is little difference between the two cases: δι' ὧν ἀπαντ' ἀπώλετο D. 18. 33, δι' οἷς ἀπαντ' ἀπώλετο 18. 35.
- N. — διὰ with gen. (= through) is distinguished from the simple dative (= by): δι' οὗ ὁρῶμεν καὶ ὃ ἀκούομεν P. Th. 184 c.
- e. For διὰ with accus. to express the reason for an action, the dative is sometimes used (1617): τοῖς πεπραγμένοις φοβούμενος τοὺς Ἀθηναίους fearing the Athenians by reason of what had happened T. 3. 98. The dative specifies the reason less definitely than διὰ with the accusative.
- f. When used in the same sentence, the dative may express the immediate, διὰ with the accus. the remoter, cause: ἀσθενεῖα σώματων διὰ τὴν σιτοδείαν ὑπεχώρουν they gave ground from the fact that they were weak through lack of food T. 4. 36.
- g. διὰ with accus. contrasted with ὑπὸ with gen.: φήσομεν αὐτὸ δι' ἐκεῖνα ὑπὸ τῆς αὐτοῦ κακίας ἀπολωλέναι we shall say that it (the body) is destroyed on account of those (remoter) causes (as badness of food) by its own evil (immediately) P. R. 609 e.

3. διὰ in Composition

δια- often denotes intensity, continuance, or fulfilment (διαμένειν remain to the end, διαφθείρειν destroy completely). δια- is common in the reciprocal middle (1726), as in διαλέγεσθαι converse; often of rivalry (οἱ διαπολιτεύμενοι rival statesmen, διακοντίζεσθαι contend in throwing the javelin).

1686. eis, eis into, to, opposed to ἐξ; from ἐν + s (cp. Lat. abs from ab + s). See on ἐν. On eis with the genitive by ellipsis, see 1302.

1. eis with the Accusative only

In the Old Attic alphabet (2 a), generally used in Attica in the fifth century, EZ was written, and this may be either eis or ēs. In the fourth century EIZ was generally written. In Thuc. ēs is printed, but its correctness may be doubted; other Attic prose writers use eis, the poets eis or (less frequently) ēs. It is not true that in poetry ēs is used only before consonants, eis only before vowels.

- a. Local: of the goal: Σικελοὶ ἐξ Ἰταλίας διέβησαν ēs Σικελῶν the Sicels crossed over out of Italy into Sicily T. 6. 2; with a personal object: ἦλθεν ἐκ τῆς Ἀσίας ēs ἀνθρώπων ἀπόρου he came from Asia to (a land of) poor men T. 1. 9, ἐσπέμπει γράμματα ēs (v. l. πρὸς) βασιλέα he dispatches a letter to (the palace of) the king 1. 137 (of sending, etc., to individuals ὡς or πρὸς is used); against: ἐστράτευσαν ēs τὴν Ἀττικὴν they invaded Attica T. 3. 1, πόλεμος τοῖς Κορινθίοις ēs τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις war between the Corinthians and the Athenians 1. 55; with verbs of rest, 1659 b. The idea of motion holds where Eng. uses in or at: τελευτᾶν eis τι to end in T. 2. 51. Extension: Πελοποννησίους διαβαλεῖν ēs τοῖς Ἕλλησι to raise a prejudice against the Peloponnesians among the Greeks T. 3. 109; in the presence of (coram): ēs τὸ κοινὸν λέγειν to speak before the assembly 4. 58.
- b. Temporal: of the goal: up to, until: ēs ἐμὲ up to my time Hdt. 1. 52, ēs τέλος finally 3. 40; at (by) such a time (of a fixed or expected time): ποιεῖν eis τρίτην ἡμέραν commanded them to be present on the third day X. C. 3. 1. 42, ἦκεν eis τριᾶκοστήν ἡμέραν come on the thirtieth day 5. 3. 6. Limit of time attained: eis τοιοῦτον καιρὸν ἀφίγμενοι arriving at such a time L. 16. 5. Extension (over future time): eis τὸν λοιπὸν χρόνον in all future time L. 16. 2.

A. 3. 4. 17, παιδεύειν eis ἀρετὴν to train with a view to virtue P. G. 519 e. Relation to: καλὸν eis στρατιὰν excellent for the army X. C. 3. 3. 6, often in Thuc. (= πρὸς with accus.). Manner: eis καιρὸν in season X. C. 3. 1. 8, eis δυνάμιν to the extent of one's powers 4. 5. 52.

2. eis in Composition

Into, in, to (εἰσβαλεῖν enter, εἰσπάρτειν get in, exact a debt).

1687. ἐν in (poetic ἐνί, εἰν, εἰνί), Lat. in with the abl., en-; opposed to eis into, ἐξ out of. On ἐν with the genitive by ellipsis, see 1302.

1. ἐν with the Dative (Locative) only

- a. Local: in, at, near, by, on, among: ἐν Σπάρτῃ in Sparta T. 1. 128, ἡ ἐν Κορίνθῳ μάχη the battle at Corinth X. Ages. 7. 5, πόλις οἰκουμένη ἐν τῷ Εὐξείνῳ πόντῳ a city built on the Euxine X. A. 4. 8. 22, ἐν τῇ κλίτῃ ἐστηκώς

A. 1. 5. 17.

b. Temporal: in, within, during (cp. 1542): ἐν πέντε ἔτεσιν in five years L. 19. 29, ἐν σπονδαῖς during a truce T. 1. 55, ἐν ᾧ while.

Conformity: ἐν τοῖς ὁμοίοις νόμοις ποιεῖσασσας τὰς κρίσεις deciding according to equal laws T. 1. 77, ἐν ἐμοὶ in my opinion E. Hipp. 1320.

N. — In many dialects, e.g. those north of the Corinthian Gulf (rarely in Pindar), ἐν retains its original meaning of in (with dat.) and into (with accus.). The latter use appears in ἐνδέξια towards the right.

2. ἐν in Composition

In, at, on, among (ἐμπέπτειν fall in or on, ἐντυγχάνειν fall in with, ἐγγελαῶν laugh at, ἐνάπτειν bind on).

1688. ἐξ, ἐκ out, out of, from, from within, opposed to ἐν, εἰς; cp. Lat. ex, e. As contrasted with ἀπό away from, ἐξ denotes from within.

1. ἐξ, ἐκ with the (Ablative) Genitive only

In Arcadian and Cyprian ἐς (= ἐξ) takes the dative.

a. Local: ἐκ Φοινίκης ἐλαύνων marching out of Phoenicia X. A. 1. 7. 12; of transition: ἐκ πλείονος ἐφύγον they fled when at (from) a greater distance 1. 10. 11. On ἐξ in the constructio praegnans, see 1660 a.

b. Temporal: ἐκ τοῦ ἀρίστου after breakfast X. A. 4. 6. 21, ἐκ παιδῶν from boyhood 4. 6. 14.

c. Other relations: immediate succession or transition: ἄλλην ἐξ ἄλλης πόλεως ἀμειβόμενος exchanging one city for another P. A. 37 d, ἐκ πολέμου ποιεόμενος εἰρήνην making peace after (a state of) war D. 19. 133, ἐκ πτωχῶν πλοῦσιοι γίνονται from beggars they become rich 8. 66. Origin: immediate origin (whereas ἀπό is used of remote origin, 1684. 1. c): ἀγαθοὶ καὶ ἐξ ἀγαθῶν noble and of noble breed P. Phae. 246 a. Agent, regarded as the source: with pass. and intr. verbs instead of ὑπὸ (chiefly poetic and in Hdt.): πόλεις ἐκ βασιλέως δεδομένα cities a gift (having been given) of (by) the king X. A. 1. 1. 6, ὁμολογεῖτο ἐκ πάντων it was agreed by all T. 2. 49; but ἐκ is often used with a different force, as ἐκ τῶν τυχόντων ἀνθρώπων συνοικισθῆναι to have been settled by the vulgar (as constituent parts of a whole) Lyc. 62. Consequence: ἐξ αὐτοῦ τοῦ ἔργου in consequence of the fact itself T. 1. 75. Cause or ground of judgment (where the dat. is more usual with inanimate objects): ἐξ οὗ διέβαλλεν αὐτόν for which reason he accused him X. A. 6. 6.

 11. Material: τὸ ἀγκίστρον ἐξ ἀδάμαντος the hook of adamant P. R. 616 c.
 Instrument and means: ἐκ τῶν πόνων τὰς ἀρετὰς κτᾶσθαι to acquire by labour the fruits of virtue T. 1. 123. Conformity: ἐκ τῶν νόμων in accordance with the laws D. 24. 28. ## 2. ἐξ, ἐκ in Composition

Out, from, off, away (cp. ἐξελαύνειν drive out and away); often with an implication of fulfilment, completion, thoroughness, resolution (ἐκπέρθειν sack utterly, ἐκδιδάσκειν teach thoroughly). Cp. 1648.

1689. ἐπὶ (cp. Lat. ob) upon, on, on the surface of; opposed to ὑπὸ under, and to ὑπέρ when ὑπέρ means above the surface of.

1. ἐπὶ with the Genitive

- a. Local: upon: οὐτ' ἐπὶ γῆς οὐδ' ὑπὸ γῆς neither upon the earth nor under the earth P. Menex. 246 d, ἐπὶ θρόνου ἐκαθίστο he seated himself on a throne X. C. 6. 1. 6; of the vehicle (lit. or figur.) upon which: ἐπὶ τῶν ἵππων ὀχεῖσθαι to ride on horseback 4. 5. 58 (never ἐπὶ with dat.), ἐπὶ τῆς ἐμῆς νεώς on my ship L. 21. 6; in the direction of: ἐπὶ Σάρδεων ἔφευγε he fled toward Sardis X. C. 7. 2. 1; in the presence of (cp. παρά with dat.): ἐπὶ μαρτύρων before witnesses Ant. 2. γ. 8. ἐπὶ is rarely used of mere proximity in poetry or standard prose.

N. — In expressions of simple superposition ἐπὶ with the gen. denotes familiar relations and natural position; whereas ἐπὶ with the dat. gives clear and emphatic outlines to statements of the definite place of an object or action, is used in detailed pictures, and marks the object in the dative as distinct from the subject of the verbal action. ἐπὶ with the gen. is colourless and phraseological, and often makes, with the verb or the subject, a compound picture. Even in contrasting two objects ἐπὶ with gen. is used since no special point is made of position. With (unemphatic) pronouns of reference (αὐτοῦ) ἐπὶ with gen. is much more frequent than ἐπὶ with dat. The distinction between the two cases is often the result of feeling; and certain phrases become stereotyped, now with the gen., now with the dat.

- b. Temporal, usually with personal gen.: in the time of: ἐπὶ τῶν προγόνων in the time of our ancestors Aes. 3. 178, ἐπ' ἐμοῦ in my time T. 7. 86, ἐπὶ τοῦ Δεκελικοῦ πολέμου in the Decelean war D. 22. 15.
 c. Other relations: μενεῖν ἐπὶ τῆς ἀνολᾶς τῆς αὐτῆς to persist in the same folly D. 8. 14, & ἐπὶ τῶν ἄλλων ὁρᾶτε, ταῦτ' ἐφ' ἑμῶν αὐτῶν ἀγνοεῖτε what you see in the case of others, that you ignore in your own case I. 8. 114, ἐφ' ἐαυτῶν ἐχώρουν they proceeded by themselves X. A. 2. 4. 10, ἐπὶ τεττάρων four deep 1. 2. 15, οἱ ἐπὶ τῶν πρᾶγματων the men in power D. 18. 247.

2. ἐπὶ with the Dative

- a. Local: on, by: οἰκοῦσιν ἐπὶ τῷ ἰσθμῷ they dwell on the isthmus T. 1. 56, τὸ ἐπὶ θαλάσῃ τείχος the wall by the sea 7. 4. The dat. with ἐπὶ denotes proximity much more frequently than the gen. with ἐπί; but denotes superposition less often than the gen. with ἐπὶ.

- b. Temporal (rare in prose): ἦν ἡλιος ἐπὶ δυσμαῖς the sun was near setting X. A. 7. 3. 34.
- c. Other relations: Succession, Addition: τὸ ἐπὶ τούτῳ γ' ἀποκρίναι answer the next question P. A. 27 b, ἀνέστη ἐπ' αὐτῷ he rose up after him X. C. 2. 3. 7, ἐπὶ τῷ σίτῳ ὄψον relish with bread X. M. 3. 14. 2. Supervision: ἄρχων ἐπὶ τούτοις ἦν there was a commander over them X. C. 5. 3. 58. 1696. σύν (Older Attic ξύν; cp. Ion. ξύνος from κοινός = κοινός, Lat. cum) with.

1. σύν with the Instrumental Dative only.

- a. In standard (i.e. not Xenophontic) prose σύν has been almost driven out of use by μετὰ. It is used (1) in old formulas, as σύν (τοῖς) θεοῖς with the help of the gods, σύν (τοῖς) ὅπλοις in arms, etc. (of things attached to a person), σύν νῷ intelligently; (2) of sum totals (along with, including), as σὺν τοῖς ἔργοις πλέον ἢ δέκα τάλαντα ἔχει he has more than ten talents interest included D. 28. 13.

- b. σύν is usually poetic (rare in comedy) and Xenophontic; it is often used in the formulas of a (1) and of persons and things personified. Its older and poetic meaning is along with (of something secondary or added to the action) and with the help of. So in Xen.: together with, along with: σὺν τῇ γυναίκί δειπνεῖν to sup with your wife X. C. 6. 1. 49; to reinforce the simple dative: ἀκολουθεῖν σὺν τινι, πορεύεσθαι σὺν τινι (1524); with the collateral notion of help: with the aid of, as σὺν ἐκείνῳ μάχεσθαι to fight with his help X. C. 5. 3. 5.
- c. Means and Instrument (regarded as accompaniments of an action: the comitative instrumental): ἡ κτήσις αὐτῶν ἔστιν οὐδαμῶς σὺν τῇ βίῃ, ἀλλὰ μᾶλλον σὺν τῇ εὐεργεσίᾳ they (friends) are acquired, not by forcible means, but by kindness X. C. 8. 7. 13.
- d. Manner: σὺν γέλῳτι ἦλθον they went laughing X. A. 1. 2. 18. In conformity with (opp. to παρά): οὐκ ἐπέτρεψε τῷ δήμῳ παρὰ τοῖς νόμοις ψηφίσασθαι, ἀλλὰ σὺν τοῖς νόμοις ἠναντιώθη κτλ. he did not permit the people to vote contrary to the laws, but, in conformity with them, opposed himself, etc. X. M. 4. 4. 2.

2. σύν in Composition

Together with (συμβιῶν live with, συμπορεύεσθαι march in company with), together (συμβάλλειν conicere), completely (συμπληροῦν fill up), contraction in size (συντρίμνειν cut short), and generally of union or connection. Standard prose uses συν- freely.

Purpose: ὑπὲρ τοῦ ταῦτα λαβεῖν in order to get this D. 8. 44; concerning, about (often = περί in Demos. and the later orators; in inscr. after 300 B.C.): φόβος ὑπὲρ τοῦ μέλλοντος fear for the future T. 7. 71, μὴ περί τῶν δικαίων μηδ' ὑπὲρ τῶν ἑξω πραγμάτων not about your just claims nor about your foreign interests D. 6. 35.

N. 1. — ὑπὸ with the genitive of a thing personifies the thing. The things so personified are (1) words implying a person, as λόγοι, (2) external circumstances, as συμφορά, κινδύνος, νόμος, (3) natural phenomena, as χειμῶν, (4) emotions, as φόβος. The dative may also be employed. See 1493, 1494.

IMPROPER PREPOSITIONS

1699. Improper prepositions do not form compounds (1647).

1700. With the Genitive.

The list below contains some of the adverbial words used as prepositions.

[The more important words are printed in fat type. An asterisk denotes words used only in poetry.]

ἀγχοῦ near, poet. and Ionic (also with dat.). ἄνευ without, except, besides, away from, rarely after its case. ἀντία, ἀντίον facing, against, poet. and Ionic (also with dat.). ἀπὲρ without, apart from, away from. ἄχρι and μέχρι as far as, until (of place, time, and number). δίκεν after the manner of (accus. of δική). *δίχα** apart from, unlike, except. ἐγγός near (with dat. poetical). ἐσω (ἐσω) within. ἐκός far from, poetic and Ionic. ἐκατέρωθεν on both sides of. ἐκτός without. ἐμπροσθεν before. ἐναντίον in the presence of (poet. against, gen. or dat.). ἐνεκα, ἐνεκεν (Ion. ἐνεκα, ἐνεκεν) on account of, for the sake of, with regard to, usually postpositive. From such combinations as τούτου ἐνεκα arose, by fusion, the illegitimate preposition οὐνεκα (found chiefly in the texts of the dramatists). *ἐνερθε** beneath. ἐντός within. ἐξω out of, beyond (of time), except. εὐθεία straight to. καταντικρύ over against. κρούφα, λάθρα unbeknownst to. μεταξὺ between. μέχρι as far as. *νόσι** apart from. ὀπισθεν behind. *πᾶρος** before. *πέρα** near (also with dat.). πέρα beyond (ultra). πέραν across (trans). πλήν except, as πλήν ἀνδραπόδων except slaves X. ἅμα together with, at the same time with. ὁμοῦ together with, close to.

ὧς to, of persons only, used after verbs expressing or implying motion. Probably used especially in the language of the people.

THE VERB: VOICES

ACTIVE VOICE

1703. The active voice represents the subject as performing the action of the verb: λούω I wash.

a. Under action is included being, as ἡ ὁδὸς μακρὰ ἐστὶ the way is long.

1704. Active verbs are transitive or intransitive (920).

1705. The action of a transitive verb is directed immediately upon an object, as τύπτω τὸν παῖδα I strike the boy.

1706. The object of a transitive verb is always put in the accusative (1553).

1707. The action of an intransitive verb is not directed immediately upon an object. The action may be restricted to the subject, as ἄλγῶ I am in pain, or it may be defined by an oblique case or by a preposition with its case, as ἄλγῶ τοῖς πόδας I have a pain in my feet, ἤφ'εκετο εἰς τὴν πόλιν he arrived at the city.

1708. Many verbs are used in the active voice both transitively and intransitively. So, in English, turn, move, change. Cp. 1557 ff.

a. The distinction between transitive and intransitive verbs is a grammatical convenience, and is not founded on an essential difference of nature.

1709. Active verbs ordinarily transitive are often used intransitively:

a. By the ellipsis of a definite external object, which in some cases may be employed, as ἀγειν (τὸ στράτευμα) march, αἶρειν (τὴν ἀγκύραν) hoist the anchor, (τὰς ναῦς) get under sail, start, ἀπαίρειν (τὰς ναῦς, τὸν στρατόν) sail away, march away, διδάγειν (τὸν βίον) live, εὐλαβεῖν (τὸν ἵππον) ride, (τὸ ἄρμα) drive, (τὸν στρατόν) march, καταλθεῖν (τοὺς ἵππους, τὰ ὑποζύγια) halt, κατέχειν (τὴν ναῦν) put in shore, προσέχειν (τὸν νοῦν) pay attention, τελευτᾶν (τὸν βίον) die. The original sense has often been so completely forgotten that it becomes possible to say αἶρειν τῷ στρατῷ set out with the army T. 2. 12, εὐλαβῶν ἰδρῶντι τῷ ἵππῳ riding with his horse in a sweat X. A. 1. 8. 1.

b. πράττειν, ἔχειν with adverbs often mean to keep, to be: εὖ πράττειν fare well, καλῶς ἔχειν be well (bene se habere), ἔχειν οὕτως be so. So when a reflexive pronoun is apparently omitted: ἔχ' αὐτοῦ stop there! D. 45. 28.

c. Many other transitive verbs may be used absolutely, i.e. with no definite object omitted, as νικᾶν be a victor, ἀδικεῖν be guilty. Cp. 'amare' be in love, 'drink' be a drunkard. This is especially the case in compounds, e.g. of ἀλλάττειν, ἀνέειν, διδόναι, κλίνειν, λαμβάνειν, λείπειν, μειγνύναι.

d. In poetry many uncompounded transitive verbs are used intransitively. Many intransitive verbs become transitive when compounded with a prep., especially when the compound has a transferred sense, 1559. In some verbs 1st aorist and 1st perfect are transitive, 2d aorist and 2d perfect are intransitive. Cp. 819.

1710. Instead of the active, a periphrasis with γίγνεσθαι may be used, often to express solemnity. μηῦνται γίγνONTAI they turned informers T. 3. 2, μη ὕβρι-σθης γένη 'do not be guilty of outrage' S. Aj. 1002.

1711. Causative Active.—The active may be used of an action performed at the bidding of the subject: Κῦρος τὰ βασιλεία κατέκαυεν Cyrus burnt down the palace (i.e. had it burnt down) X. A. 1. 4. 10. So with ἀποκτείνειν put to death, θάπτειν bury, οἰκοδομεῖν build, παιδεύειν instruct, ἀνακηρύττειν publicly proclaim.

1712. An infinitive limiting the meaning of an adjective is usually active where English employs the passive (cp. 2006).

MIDDLE VOICE

1713. The middle voice shows that the action is performed with special reference to the subject: λούμαι I wash myself.

1714. The middle represents the subject as doing something in which he is interested. He may do something to himself, for himself, or he may act with something belonging to himself.

1715. The future middle is often (807), the first aorist middle is almost never, used passively.

1716. The object of the middle (1) may belong in the sphere of the subject, as his property, etc.: λούομαι τὰς χεῖρας I wash my hands, or (2) it may be brought into the sphere of the subject: τοῖς ὁπλίταις μετεπέμφαντο they sent for the hoplites, or (3) it may be removed from the sphere of the subject: ἀποδίδωμαι τὴν οἰκίαν I sell my house (lit. give away). Here the object is also the property of the subject.

1717. The Direct Reflexive Middle represents the subject as acting directly on himself. Self is here the direct object. So with verbs expressing external and natural acts, as the verbs of the toilet: ἀλείφεισθαι anoint oneself, λούσθαι wash oneself; and κοσμεῖσθαι adorn oneself, στεφανοῦσθαι crown oneself; γυμνάζεισθαι exercise oneself.

a. The direct reflexive idea is far more frequently conveyed by the active and a reflexive pronoun, 1723.

b. The part affected may be added in the accusative: ἐπαίσατο τὸν μηρόν he smote his thigh X. C. 7. 3. 6.

1718. So with many other verbs, as ἵστασθαι stand (place oneself), τρέ-πεσθαι turn (lit. turn oneself), δηλοῦσθαι show oneself, τάττεσθαι post oneself, ἀπολογεῖσθαι defend oneself (argue oneself off), φαίεσθαι show oneself, appear, παρασκευάζεισθαι prepare oneself, ἀπόλλυσθαι destroy oneself, perish.

1719. The Indirect Reflexive Middle represents the subject as acting for himself, with reference to himself, or with something belonging to himself. Self is often here the indirect object. So πορίζεσθαι pro-vide for oneself (πορίζειν provide), φυλάττεσθαι guard against (φυλάττειν keep guard), αἰρεῖσθαι choose (take for oneself), παρέχεσθαι furnish (παρέχων offer, present).

1720. Cases in which the object is to be removed from the sphere of the subject may be resolved into the dative for oneself (1483): τὴν ἀρεθμίαν ἀποθεσθαι to lay aside your indolence D. 8. 46, ἐτρέφαντο τοὺς ἱππεῖς they routed the cavalry T. 6. 98, τοὺς ἐχθροὺς ἀμύνεσθαι to ward off the enemy for themselves, i.e. to defend themselves against the enemy 1. 144.

1721. The middle often denotes that the subject acts with something belonging to himself (material objects, means, powers). It is often used of acts done willingly. Thus, παρέχεσθαι furnish from one's own resources, ἐπαγγέλλεσθαι promise, make profession of, τίθεσθαι τὴν ψήφον give one's vote, τίθεσθαι τὰ ἔγχα ground arms, ἀποδείξασθαι γνώμην set forth one's opinion, λαμβάνεσθαι τινας put one's hand on (seize) something. Thus, ἐσπασμένοι τὰ ξίφη having drawn their swords X. A. 7. 4. 16, παῖδας ἐκκεκομμένοι ἦσαν they had removed their children T. 2. 78, τροπαῖον στησάμενοι having set up a trophy X. H. 2. 4. 7, ἔγχα τορῖσασθαι to procure arms for themselves T. 4. 9, ὀπλιτᾶς μετεπέμψατο he sent for hoplites 7. 31, γυναῖκα ἡγαγόμεν I married L. 1. 6.

1722. Under the indirect middle belong the periphrases of ποιεῖσθαι with verbal nouns instead of the simple verb (cp. 1754). ποιεῖν with the same nouns means to bring about, effect, fashion, etc.

εἰρήνην ποιεῖσθαι make peace (of one nation at war with another).

εἰρήνην ποιεῖν bring about a peace (between opponents, nations at war: of an individual).

θῆρᾶν ποιεῖσθαι (= θηρᾶν) hunt, θῆρᾶν ποιεῖν arrange a hunt.

λόγον ποιεῖσθαι (= λέγειν) deliver a speech, λόγον ποιεῖν compose a speech.

ναυμαχιᾶν ποιεῖσθαι (= ναυμαχεῖν) fight a naval battle.

ναυμαχιᾶν ποιεῖν bring on a naval battle (of the commander).

ὁδὸν ποιεῖσθαι (= ὁδεύειν) make a journey, ὁδὸν ποιεῖν build a road.

πόλεμον ποιεῖσθαι wage war, πόλεμον ποιεῖν bring about a war.

σπονδὰς ποιεῖσθαι conclude (make) a treaty, or truce.

σπονδὰς ποιεῖν bring about a treaty, or truce.

1723. Active and Reflexive. — Instead of the direct middle the active voice with the reflexive pronoun is usually employed; often of difficult and unnatural actions (especially with αὐτὸς ἑαυτόν, etc.).

τὰ ἔγχα παρέδωκαν καὶ σφᾶς αὐτοὺς they surrendered their arms and themselves T. 4. 38, μισθώσας αὐτὸν hiring himself out D. 19. 29 (not μισθωσάμενος, which means hiring for himself), καταλέλυκε τὴν αὐτὸς αὐτοῦ δυναστεῖαν he himself has put an end to his own sovereignty Aes. 3. 233, ἡττώμενος ἑαυτόν he has dishonoured himself D. 21. 103. But regularly ἀπάγχεσθαι hang oneself (1717).

a. The active and a reflexive pronoun in the gen. or dat. may be used for the simple middle when the reflexive notion is emphatic: καταλείπειν συγγράμματα ἑαυτῶν to leave behind them their written compositions P. Phae. 257 d.

1724. Middle and Reflexive. — The reflexive pronoun may be used with the middle: ἑαυτὸν ἀποκρύπτεσθαι to hide himself P. R. 393 c; often for emphasis, as in contrasts: οἱ μὲν φᾶσι βασιλέα κελύσαι τινα ἐπισφάζαι αὐτὸν Κόρω, οἱ δ' αὐτὸν ἐπισφάσσει some say that the king issued orders for some one to slay him (Artapates) over (the body of) Cyrus, while others say that he slew himself with his own hand X. A. 1. 8. 29, cp. also τί τὴν πόλιν προσήκει ποιεῖν, ἀρχὴν καὶ τυραννίδα τῶν Ἑλλήνων ὁρῶσαν αὐτῷ κατασκευαζόμενον Φίλιππον; what did it be-seem the city to do when it saw Philip compassing for himself dominion and despotic sway over the Greeks? D. 18. 66.

1725. The Causative Middle denotes that the subject has something done by another for himself: ἐγὼ γὰρ σε ταῦτα ἐδίδαξαμην for I had you taught this X. C. 1. 6. 2, παρατίθεσθαι σίτον to have food served up 8. 6. 12, δοῖο ὅπλα ἀφ' ἑρην-ται, ταχὺ ἄλλα ποιήσονται all who have had their arms taken from them will soon get others made 6. 1. 12, αὐτῷ σκηνὴν κατασκευάσατο he had a tent prepared for himself 2. 1. 30.

a. This force does not belong exclusively to the middle; cp. 1711.

1726. Reciprocal Middle.—With a dual or plural subject the middle may indicate a reciprocal relation. So with verbs of contending, conversing (questioning, replying), greeting, embracing, etc. The reciprocal middle is often found with compounds of διὰ.

οἱ ἀθληταὶ ἡγωνίζοντο the athletes contended T. 1. 6, καταστάντες ἐμάχοντο when they had got into position they fought 1. 49, ἀνὴρ ἀνδρὶ διελέγοντο they conversed man with man 8. 98, ἐπιμείγνυσθαι ἀλλήλοις to have friendly intercourse with one another X. C. 7. 4. 5, ταῦτα διακεκομμένοι they will divide this up among themselves
L. 21. 14. So αἰτιάσθαι accuse, λυμάλισθαι maltreat, μίμνεσθαι blame, ἀμυλλᾶσθαι vie, παρακελεύεσθαι encourage one another.

a. The active may also be employed, as πολεμεῖν wage war.

b. Some of these verbs have a passive aorist form, as διελέχθην (812).

1727. The reciprocal relation may also be expressed (1) by the use of the reflexive pronoun (cp. 1724) with the active: φθορούσιν αὐτοῖς they are mutually envious X. M. 3. 5. 16; (2) by the use of ἀλλήλων, etc., with the active: ἀμφι-σβητούμεν ἀλλήλοις we are at variance with one another P. Phae. 263 a; (3) by repetition of the noun: πτωχοὶ πτωχῷ φθονεῖ = beggars envy each other Hesiod W. D. 26. The reflexive pronouns and ἀλλήλων, etc., may also be added to the middle.

1728. Differences between Active and Middle.—As contrasted with the active, the middle lays stress on the conscious activity, bodily or mental participation, of the agent.

In verbs that possess both active and middle: βουλευέσθαι deliberate, βουλευειν plan, σταθμᾶν measure, σταθμάσθαι calculate, σκοπεῖν look at, σκοπεῖσθαι consider, ἔχεσθαι cling to, παύεσθαι cease (1734. 14). The force of the middle often cannot be reproduced in translation (ἀκούεσθαι, τῖμάσθαι, ἀριθμεῖσθαι, ἀπορεῖσθαι), and in some other cases it may not have been felt, as in ὀρεῖσθαι in poetry (προορεῖσθαι occurs in prose).

a. Many such verbs form their futures from the middle: ἀκούσομαι, ἔσομαι, ἀμαρτήσομαι. See 806.

b. In verbs in -εω, the middle signifies that the subject is acting in a manner appropriate to his state or condition: πολίτευει be a citizen, πολίτευεσθαι act as a citizen, perform one's civic duties; πρεσβεύειν be an envoy, πρεσβεύεσθαι negotiate as envoy or send envoys (of the State in its negotiations). But this force of the middle is not always apparent.

1729. Middle Deponents (810) often denote bodily or mental action (feeling and thinking): ἀλλεσθαι jump, πέτεσθαι fly, ὀρχεῖσθαι dance, οἰχεσθαι be gone, δέρκεσθαι look; βούλεσθαι wish, αἰσθάνεσθαι perceive, ἀκροᾶσθαι listen, μέμψεσθαι blame, οἰεσθαι conjecture, think (lit. take omens for oneself, from οἶς, Lat. avis, auspicium), ἡγείσθαι consider; ὀλοφύρεσθαι lament.

a. Some of the verbs denoting a functional state or process have the middle either in all forms or only in the future.

b. Verbs denoting bodily activity regularly have a middle future, 805-806.

1730. Deponent verbs are either direct or indirect middles; direct: ὑπὸ-χρεῖσθαι undertake, promise (lit. hold oneself under); indirect: κτᾶσθαι acquire for oneself, ἀγωνίζεσθαι contend (with one's own powers).

1731. The middle may denote more vigorous participation on the part of the subject than the active: σεύεσθαι dart, but θεῖν run.

1732. The active is often used for the middle when it is not of practical importance to mark the interest of the subject in the action. The active implies what the middle expresses. So with μεταπέμπειν send for T. 7. 15, δηλώσαντες τὴν γνώμην setting forth their opinion 3. 87, τροπαῖον στήσαντες setting up a trophy 7. 5.

1733. The passive form may have reflexive force, as κινήθηαι set oneself in motion, ἀπαλλαγῆαι remove oneself, ἐναντιωθῆναι oppose oneself, σωθῆναι save oneself (σώῃτι save yourself P. Cr. 44 b). Some of these middle passives may take the accusative, as αἰσχυνθῆναι be ashamed before, φοβηθῆναι be afraid of, καταπληγῆναι τινα be amazed at some one. See 814 ff.

1734. List of the chief verbs showing important differences of meaning between active and middle. It will be noted that the active is often transitive, the middle intransitive.

1. αἰεῖν take; αἰρεῖσθαι choose.
2. ἀμύνειν τι τινα ward off something from some one, ἀμύνειν τινα help some one; ἀμύνεσθαι τι defend oneself against something, ἀμύνεσθαι τινα requite some one.
3. ἀποδοῦναι give back; ἀποδόσθαι sell (give away for one's profit).
4. ἄπτειν attach; ἄπτεσθαι τινος touch.
5. ἄρχειν begin, contrasts one beginner of an action with another, as ἄρχειν πολέμου take the aggressive, strike the first blow (bellum mouere), ἄρχειν λόγου be the first to speak, ἤρχε χειρῶν δίκων he began an unprovoked assault L. 4. 11; ἄρχεσθαι make one's own beginning, as contrasted with the later stages, as ἄρχεσθαι πολέμου begin warlike operations (bellum incipere), ἄρχεσθαι τοῦ λόγου begin one's speech. πολέμου οὐκ ἄρξομεν, ἀρχομένους δὲ ἀμυνόμεθα we shall not take the initiative in the war, but upon those who take it up we shall retaliate T. 1. 144.
6. γαμῖν marry (of the man, ducere); γαμείσθαι marry (of the woman, nubere).
7. γράφειν νόμον propose a law (said of the maker of a law whether or not he is himself subject to it); γράφεσθαι γραφὴν draw up an indictment for a public offence, γράφειν τινα bring suit against some one (have him written down in the magistrates' records).

8. δανείζειν (make of anything a δάνος loan) i.e. put out at interest, lend; δανείσθαι (have a δάνος made to oneself) have lent to one, borrow at interest.

9. δικάζειν give judgment; δικάζεσθαι (δικήν τινι) go to law with a person, conduct a case (properly get some one to give judgment).

10. ἐπιψηφίζειν put to vote (of the presiding officer); ἐπιψηφίεσθαι vote, decree (of the people).

11. ἔχειν hold; ἔχεσθαι τινος hold on to, be close to.

12. θεύειν sacrifice; θεέσθαι take auspices (of a general, etc.).

13. μισθοῦν (put a μισθός, rent, on anything) i.e. let for hire (locare); μισθοῦσθαι (lay a μισθός upon oneself) i.e. hire (conducere). Cp. 1723.

14. παύειν make to cease, stop (trans.); παύεσθαι cease (intr.). But παύε λέγων stop talking.

15. πειθεῖν persuade; πειθεσθαι obey (persuade oneself); πέποιθα I trust.

16. τίθεσθαι νόμον frame or propose a law for others (said of the lawgiver, legem ferre or rogare); τίθεσθαι νόμον make a law for one's own interest, for one's own State (said of the State legislating, legem sciscere or iubere). αὐτοὺς (ἀγράφους νόμους) οἱ ἄνθρωποι ἔθεντο . . . θεοὺς οἶμαι τοὺς νόμους τοῦτους τοῖς ἀνθρώποις θεῖναι men did not make the unwritten laws for themselves, but I think the gods made these laws for men X. M. 4. 4. 19.

17. τίμωρεῖν τινι avenge some one, τίμωρεῖν τινά τινι punish A for B's satisfaction; τίμωρεῖσθαι τινα avenge oneself on (punish) some one.

18. τίνειν δίκην pay a penalty (poenas dare); τίμωσθαι δίκην exact a penalty (poenas sumere).

19. φυλάττειν τινά watch some one; φυλάττεσθαι τινα be on one's guard against some one.

20. χρᾶν give an oracle, and lend; χρᾶσθαι consult an oracle, and use.

PASSIVE VOICE

1735. The passive voice represents the subject as acted on: ἔωθον, ἐωθούντο, ἔπαιον, ἐπαίοντο they pushed, were pushed, they struck, were struck X. C. 7. 1. 38.

a. The passive has been developed from the middle. With the exception of some futures and the aorist, the middle forms do duty as passives: αἰρεῖται takes for himself, i.e. chooses, and is chosen. (For this development of the passive, cp. the reflexive use in se trouver, sich finden.) So ἐχύεται has poured itself, has been poured. In Homer there are more perfect middles used passively than any other middle tenses. Cp. 802.

b. Uncompounded ἐσχόμεν sometimes retained its use as a passive. ἐσχόμεν is late.

1736. The passive may have the sense allow oneself to be, get oneself: ἐξάγοντές τε καὶ ἐξαγόμενοι carrying and allowing ourselves to be carried across the border P. Cr. 48 d, ἀπεχθήσει Γοργία you will incur the hatred of Gorgias P. Phil. 58 c.

1737. Many future middle forms are used passively (807 ff.).

1738. The future middle forms in -σομαι are developed from the present stem, and express durative action; the (later) future passives in -ήσομαι, -θήσομαι are developed from the aorists in -ην and -θην, and are aoristic. This difference in kind of action is most marked when the future middle forms are used passively, but it is not always found. τοῖς ἄλλοις ξυμμάχοις παράδειγμα σαφὲς καταστήσεται, ὅς ἐν ἀφίστηται, θανάτῳ ζημωσόμενον give to the rest of the allies a plain example that whoever revolts shall be punished (in each case) with death T. 3.40, ἐὰν ἀλφῶ, θανάτῳ ζημωθήσεται if he is convicted, he will be punished (a single occurrence) with death D. 23.80, ὁ δίκαιος μαστιγώσεται, στρεβλώσεται, δεδθήσεται, ἐκκαυθήσεται τὸ φθαλμῷ the just man will be scourged, racked, fettered, will have his eyes burnt out P. R. 361 e, τιμήσομαι I shall enjoy honour, τιμηθήσομαι I shall be honoured (on a definite occasion), ὠφελήσομαι I shall receive lasting benefit, ὠφεληθήσομαι I shall be benefited (on a definite occasion). Cp. 808, 809, 1911.

1739. The second aorist passive was originally a second aorist active (of the -μ form) that was used intransitively to distinguish it from the transitive first aorist, as ἔφηνα showed, ἐφάνην appeared; ἔφθειρα destroyed, ἐφθάρην am destroyed; ἐξέπληξα was terrified, ἐξεπλάγην was alarmed. So ἐδάην learned, ἐρρόην flowed. Cp. ἔστησα placed, ἔστην stood (819).

1740. In Hom. all the second aorist forms in -ην are intransitive except ἐπλήγην and ἐτόπην was struck. Most of the forms in -θην are likewise intransitive in Hom., as ἐφάνθην appeared (in Attic was shown).

1741. The perfect passive in the third singular with the dative of the agent (1488) is often preferred to the perfect active of the first person. Thus πέτρᾱκται μὲν it has been done by me is more common than πέτρᾱγα or πέτρᾱχα I have done.

1742. The passive may be passive of the middle as well as passive of the active: αἰρεῖται is taken or is chosen, βιάζεται does violence or suffers violence (is forced), ἡρέθη was taken or was chosen, ἐγράφη was written or was indicted (γέγραμμαι is commonly middle). The use of the passive as passive of the middle is post-Homeric.

a. When deponent verbs have a passive force, the future and aorist have the passive form: ἐβιάσθην I suffered violence (was forced), but ἐβιασάμην I did violence. This holds when there was once an active form. Cp. also τιμωρεῖσθαι, μεταπέμπεσθαι, ψηφίζεσθαι, κυκλεῖσθαι.

b. The aorist passive may have a middle sense (814).

1743. The direct object of an active verb becomes the subject of the passive: ἡ ἐπιστολὴ ὑπὸ τοῦ διδασκάλου γράφεται the letter is written by the teacher (active ὁ διδάσκαλος γράφει τὴν ἐπιστολὴν).

1744. The cognate accusative may become the subject of the passive: πόλεμος ἐπολεμήθη war was waged P. Menex. 243 e (πόλεμον πολεμεῖν, 1564).

1745. Active or middle verbs governing the genitive or dative may form (unlike the Latin use) a personal passive, the genitive or dative (especially if either denotes a person) becoming the subject of the passive.

- a. With the genitive: ἀρχεῖν, ἡγεμονεῦειν, καταφροεῖν, καταγελᾶν, καταψήφισεν (καταψηφίσθαι), ἀμελεῖν.
- b. With the dative: ἀπειλεῖν, ἀπιστεῖν, ἐγκαλεῖν, ἐπιβουλεύειν, ἐπιτιμᾶν, ὀνειδίζειν, πιστεύειν, πολεμεῖν, φθονεῖν.
- c. Examples: οὐκ ἤξιουν οὗτοι ἡγεμονεῦσθαι ὑφ' ἡμῶν they did not think it right to be governed by us T. 3. 61, ἐκείνος καταψηφίσθη he was condemned X. H. 5. 2. 36, but θάνατος αὐτῶν κατεγνώσθη the penalty of death was pronounced against them L. 13. 39 (pass. of καταγνῶναι θάνατον αὐτῶν), ὥρᾳ ἡμῖν βουλεύεσθαι ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν αὐτῶν μὴ καταφρονηθῶμεν it is time for us to take counsel for ourselves that we may not be brought into contempt X. A. 5. 7. 12, πολεμοῦνται μὲν ὑπὸ τῶν τὴν χώραν αὐτῶν περιοικούντων, ἀπιστοῦνται δ' ὑφ' ἀπάντων they are warred against by those who dwell around their country, and are distrusted by all I. 5. 49, πῶς ἂν ἐπεβούλευσά τι αὐτῷ, ὅτι μὴ καὶ ἐπεβουλεύθη ὑπ' αὐτοῦ; how could I have plotted against him, unless I had been plotted against by him? Ant. 4. β. 5, φθονηθεὶς ὑπὸ τοῦ Ὀδυσσεύς envied by Odysseus X. M. 4. 2. 33 (contrast Lat. invidetur mihi ab aliquo).

N. — The above principle does not hold when the accusative of an external object intervenes between the verb and the dative.

1746. A verb governing an oblique case rarely forms in Greek (unlike Latin) an impersonal passive: ἐμοὶ βεβοήθηται τῷ τε τεθνήῳτι καὶ τῷ νόμῳ my aid has been given to the deceased and to the law Ant. 1. 31. The tense used is one from the perfect stem.

1747. An active verb followed by two accusatives, one of a person, the other of a thing, retains, when transferred to the passive, the accusative of the thing, while the accusative of the person becomes the nominative subject of the passive. Examples 1621, 1625, 1627, 1632.

1748. An active verb followed by an accusative of the direct object (a thing) and an oblique case of a person, retains, when transferred to the passive, the accusative of the direct object, while the indirect object becomes the nominative subject of the passive. Cp. I have been willed a large estate.

- a. With verbs signifying to enjoin, entrust: οἱ Βοιωτοὶ ταῦτα ἐπεσταλμένοι ἀνεχώρουν the Boeotians having received these instructions withdrew T. 5. 37 (pass. of ἐπιστέλλειν ταῦτα τοῖς Βοιωτοῖς), ἄλλο τι μείζον ἐπιταχθήσεθε you will have some greater command laid upon you 1. 140 (pass. of ἐπιτάττειν ἄλλο τι μείζον ὑμῖν). Both accusatives are internal; and so, in οἱ τῶν Ἀθηναίων ἐπιτετραμμένοι τὴν φυλακὴν those of the Athenians who had been entrusted with the watch T. 1. 126, φυλακὴν is equivalent to an internal accusative. The nominative of the thing and the dative of the person sometimes occur (Ἰῶνες, τοῖσι ἐπετέτραπτο ἡ φυλακὴ the Ionians to whom the guard had been entrusted Hdt. 7. 10). The dative is common when an inf. is used with the pass. verb: ἐπετέτακτο τοῖς σκευοφόροις ἵσται the baggage-carriers had been commanded to go X. C. 6. 3. 8.

- b. With other verbs: ἀπομηθέντες τὰς κεφαλὰς having been decapitated (had their heads cut off) X. A. 2. 6. 1 (pass. of ἀποτέμνειν τὰς κεφαλὰς τισὶ or τινῶν).

1749. A passive may be formed in the case of verbs ordinarily intransitive but allowing a cognate accusative in the active: ἱκανὰ τοῖς πολεμοῖς ἠτύχηται the enemy has had enough good fortune T. 7. 77 (εὐτυχεῖν ἱκανά, 1678), κενιδυνέσεται the risk will have been run Ant. 5. 75. See 1746. This is common with neuter passive participles: τὰ ἡσεβημένα αὐτῷ the impious acts committed by him L. 6. 5, τὰ σοὶ καὶ μοι βεβιωμένα the life led by you and by me D. 18. 265, τὰ πεπολιτευμένα αὐτοῖς their political acts 1. 28, ἀμαρτηθέντα errors committed X. A. 5. 8. 20.

- a. Some verbs describing the action of the weather may be used in the passive: νεφόμενοι ἀπὸ ἁλόνος εἰς τὸ δασυ they returned to the city covered with snow X. H. 2. 4. 3.

1750. The cognate subject may be implied, as in the case of impersonal passives, in the perfect and tenses derived from the perfect. Thus, ἐπειδὴ αὐτοῖς παρεσκεύαστο when their preparations were complete T. 1. 46. λέγεται it is said, ἐδηλώθη it was made known, followed by the logical subject are not impersonal: ἐδηλώθη τῷ τρόπῳ ἀπωλώλει τὰ χρήματα it was shown how the money had been lost Ant. 5. 70. See 935.

1751. Greek uses impersonals from intransitives (corresponding to Lat. ambulatur, itur, curritur) only when the active is itself intransitive; as δέδοκται it has seemed good (cp. δοκεῖ).

1752. The active or the middle deponent of a transitive verb used transitively or of an intransitive verb may replace the passive of a transitive verb.

ἀκούειν (poet. κλέειν) be called; be well (εὖ, καλῶς) or ill (κακῶς) spoken of, = pass. of λέγειν: νῦν κόλακες ἀκούουσιν now they are called flatterers D. 18. 46, τίς ὑπ' ἐμοῦ κακῶς ἀκήκοεν ἢ πέπονθε; who has been ill spoken of or suffered at my hands? L. 8. 3. Cp. bene, male audire; Milton: "England hears ill abroad."

ἁλίσκασθαι be caught = pass. of αἰεῖν, as εἶν ἀλῶς τοῦτο πράττων if you are caught doing this P. A. 29 c.

ἀποθνήσκειν (die) be killed = pass. of ἀποκτείνειν, as ἀπέθνησκον ὑπὸ ἱππέων they were killed by the cavalry X. C. 7. 1. 48. But not in the perfect, where the uncompounded τέθνηκα is used.

γίγνεται be born = pass. of τίκτειν beget, bring forth: παῖδες αὐτῇ οὐκ ἐγένοντο ἐκ ταύτης he had no children by her X. H. 6. 4. 87.

δίκην δοῦναι be punished = pass. of ζημιῶν, as ὑπ' αὐτῶν ἰούτων δίκην ἔδοσαν they were punished by these very men X. C. 1. 6. 45.

ἡττᾶσθαι be defeated = pass. of νικᾶν conquer, as ὑπὸ τῶν συμμάχων ἡττώμενοι worsted by their allies And. 4. 28.

κατεῖναι (κατέρχεσθαι) return from exile = pass. of κατέγειν restore from exile, as ὑπ' ὀλιγαρχίας κατελθεῖν to be restored by an oligarchy T. 8. 68.

κεῖσθαι (lie) be placed = pass. of the perfect of τιθέναι: πελθου τοῖς νόμοις to be placed under the laws established by kings I. 1. 36.

λαγχάνειν (obtain by lot) be drawn by lot = pass. of κληροῦν: ἔλαχον ἱερεῖς I became priest by lot D. 57. 47.

πάσχειν (suffer) be treated well (εὖ) or ill (κακῶς) = pass. of ποιεῖν (εὖ, κακῶς): εὖ παθόντες ὑπ' αὐτῶν well treated by them P. G. 519 c.

πίπτειν in ἐκπίπτειν (fall out) be expelled = pass. of ἐκβάλλειν: οἱ ἐκπεπτοκότες ὑπὸ τοῦ δήμου those who had been expelled by the people X. H. 4. 8. 20.

φεύγειν (flee) be prosecuted = pass. of διώκειν (be indicted = γράφεσθαι passive); be exiled = pass. of ἐκβάλλειν. Ἐο ἀποφεύγειν be acquitted = pass. of ἀπολβεῖν. Thus, ἀσεβείας φεύγων ὑπὸ Μελέτρου prosecuted for impiety by Meletus P. A. 35 d.

1753. Other equivalents of passive forms are ἔχειν, τυγχάνειν, λαμβάνειν, used with a substantive of like meaning with the active verb: ὄνομα ἔχειν = ὀνομαζέσθαι, συγγνώμην ἔχειν or συγγνώμης τυγχάνειν = συγγιγνώσκεισθαι, ἔπαινον λαμβάνειν or ἐπαινον τυγχάνειν = ἐπαινέσθαι. So with middle deponents: αἰτιάσθαι ἔχειν = αἰτιάζεσθαι.

1754. The passive of the periphrasis with ποιεῖσθαι (1722) is made with γίγνεσθαι: εἰρήνη γίγνεται peace is made.

1755. The agent of the passive is regularly expressed by ὑπό and the genitive; sometimes by ἀπό, διὰ, ἐκ, παρά, πρός with the genitive, or by ὑπό with the dative (in poetry). See 1678.

1756. The instrument of an action, when regarded as the agent, is personified, and may be expressed by ὑπό with the genitive: ἀλίσκεται ὑπὸ τριήρους he is captured by a trireme D. 53. 6.

1757. The dative, or a prepositional phrase, is regularly used with the passive to denote the instrument, means, or cause (1506). The agent may be viewed as the instrument: in prose, when persons are regarded as instruments, the dative is usually that of military accompaniment (1526).

1758. The dative of the agent used with the perfect passive and verbal adjective is a dative of interest (1488); on ὑπό with the genitive used instead of the dative, see 1493, 1494.

THE MOODS

1759. Mood designates by the form of the verb the mode or manner (modus) in which the speaker conceives of an assertion concerning the subject.

1760. There are four moods proper in Greek: indicative, subjunctive, optative, and imperative. The infinitive (strictly a verbal noun) and the participle (strictly an adjective form of the verb) may be classed with the moods.

THE PARTICLE ἄν

1761. The particle ἄν (Hom. κέν, κέ) limits the meaning of the moods. It has two distinct uses:

- a. In independent clauses: with the past tenses of the indicative and with the optative; also with the infinitive and participle representing the indicative or optative.
- b. In dependent clauses: with the subjunctive.

1762. No separate word can be used to translate ἄν by itself; its force varies as it modifies the meaning of the moods. In general ἄν limits the force of the verb to particular conditions or circumstances ('under the circumstances,' 'in that case,' 'then').

1763. In Homer ἄν is preferred in negative, κέν, κέ in relative, sentences.

1764. Position of ἄν. — ἄν does not begin a sentence or a clause, except after a weak mark of punctuation, as τί οὖν, ἄν τις εἰποι, ταῦτα λέγεις ἡμῖν νῦν; why then (some one might say) do you tell us this now? D. 1. 14. In independent sentences with ἄν (indic. and opt.) the particle is often separated from its verb for emphasis, and is attached to negatives (οὐκ ἄν), interrogatives (τίς ἄν, πῶς ἄν), or to any emphatic modifier. It is commonly attached to verbs of saying or thinking: σὺν ὑμῖν μὲν ἄν οἶμαι εἶναι τίμος if I should remain with you, I think I should be esteemed X. A. 1. 3. 6.

a. So with οὐκ οἶδ' ἄν εἰ (or οὐκ ἄν οἶδα εἰ) followed by a verb to which ἄν belongs: οὐκ οἶδ' ἄν εἰ πείσασμαι I do not know whether I could persuade E. Med. 941 (for πείσασμαι ἄν).

1765. Repetition of ἄν. — ἄν may be repeated once or twice in the same sentence.

a. ἄν is placed early in a sentence which contains a subordinate clause, in order to direct attention to the character of the construction: δοκοῦμεν δ' ἄν μοι ταύτῃ προσποιούμενοι προσβαλεῖν ἐρημοτέρῳ ἄν τῷ ὄρει χρῆσθαι if we should make a feint attack here it seems to me we should find the mountain to have fewer defenders X. A. 4. 6. 13.

b. For rhetorical emphasis ἄν is added to give prominence to particular words: τίς γὰρ τοιαύτ' ἄν οὐκ ἄν ὀργίσειτ' ἔπει κλύων; and who would not be angered upon hearing such words? S. O. T. 339, πῶς ἄν οὐκ ἄν ἐν δίκῃ θάναίμ' ἄν; how should I not justly die? S. fr. 673.

1766. ἄν without a Verb. — ἄν sometimes stands without a verb, which is to be supplied from the context. So in the second member of a sentence with coördinate clauses: οἶδα ὅτι πολλοὺς μὲν ἡγεμόνας ἄν δοίη, πολλοὺς δ' ἄν (δοίη) ὁμήρων I know that he would give many guides and many hostages X. A. 3. 2. 24. Often with πῶς ἄν (εἴη); how can (could) it be? P. R. 353 c, τάχ' ἄν perhaps P. Soph. 255 c.

a. So with ὥς ἄν, ὥσπερ ἄν εἰ (2480): παρῆν ὁ Γαδάτας δῶρα πολλὰ φέρων, ὥς ἄν (scil. φέροι τις) ἐξ ὅκου μεγάλου Gadatas came with many gifts, such as one might offer from large means X. C. 5. 4. 29, φοβούμενος ὥσπερ ἄν εἰ παῖς fearing like a child (ὥσπερ ἄν ἐφοβείτο, εἰ παῖς ἦν) P. G. 479 a.

b. κἄν εἰ is often used for the simple καὶ εἰ (2372) and without regard to the mood of the following verb; sometimes there is no verb in the apodosis to which the ἄν may be referred, as ἔστιν ἄρα τῇ ἀληθείᾳ, κἄν εἰ μὴ τῷ δοκεῖ, ὁ τῷ ὄντι τύραννος τῷ ὄντι δοῦλος the very tyrant is then in truth a very slave even if he does not seem so to any one P. R. 579 d (here καὶ εἰ μὴ δοκεῖ, εἴη ἄν is implied). κἄν εἰ may be also so used that ἄν belongs to the apodosis, while καί, though going with εἰ in translation (even if), affects the whole conditional sentence. Thus, νῦν δέ μοι δοκεῖ, κἄν ἐτίθειαι εἰ (τις) καταγιγνώσκοι, τὰ προσήκοντα ποιεῖν but as it is, it seems to me that, even if any one should condemn his wanton assault, he would be acting properly

D. 21. 51 (here ἄν goes with ποιεῖν, i.e. ποιεῖν ἄν). κἄν if only, followed by a limiting expression, may generally be regarded as καὶ ἄν (= ἐάν) with a subjunctive understood; as ἀλλὰ μοι πάρες κἄν σμίκρον εἰπεῖν yet permit me to say but a word (= καὶ ἐάν παρῇ) S. El. 1482.

1767. Omission of ἄν. — ἄν is sometimes omitted when it may be supplied from the preceding sentence or clause. So often with the second of two verbs that are connected or opposed: τί ἐποίησεν ἄν; ἢ δὴλον ὅτι ὤμοσε (ἄν); what would he have done? is it not clear that he would have taken an oath? D. 31. 9, οὐτ' ἄν οὗτος ἔχει λέγειν οὐδ' ὑμεῖς πεισθεῖν neither can he assert nor can you be made to believe D. 22. 17. By retention of earlier usage the subjunctive is sometimes used without ἄν where it is commonly employed in the later language (2327, 2339, 2565 b, 2567 b). Here the difference is scarcely appreciable except that the omission gives an archaic tone.

DEPENDENT CLAUSES WITH ἄν

1768. Subjunctive with ἄν. — Conditional, relative, and temporal clauses requiring the subjunctive must have ἄν, which is more closely attached to the conditional, relative, and temporal words than it is to the subjunctive.

a. Hence the combinations ἐάν (ἦν, δῖν) on which cp. 2283; ὅταν, ὅποτεν, ἐπεὶ (ἐπεί), ἐπειδὴν from εἰ, ὅτε, ὅποτε, ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδὴ + ἄν. When the particle does not thus coalesce, it is usually separated only by such words as μέν, δέ, τέ, γάρ.

b. The force of ἄν with the subjunctive cannot usually be expressed in English. For ἄν in final clauses with ὥς, ὅπως, and ὅφρα, see 2201. In Hom. ἄν (κτν) is found in dependent clauses, 2384 c.

THE MOODS IN SIMPLE SENTENCES

1769. §§ 1770–1849 treat of the use of the moods in independent sentences and principal clauses. The dependent construction of the moods was developed from their independent use. The use of the moods in subordinate clauses was not originally different from that in independent sentences and in the principal clauses of complex sentences. For the uses of the indicative, see also 1875–1958.

INDICATIVE WITHOUT ἄν

1770. The indicative mood makes a simple, direct assertion of fact; or asks a question anticipating such an assertion: ἦλθε he came, οὐκ ἦλθε he did not come, ἐλεύσεται he will come, πότε ταῦτα ποιήσει; when will he do this?

1771. The indicative states particular or general suppositions, makes affirmative or negative assertions, which may or may not be absolutely true. Thus, in assumptions, ἐξήμαρτέ τις δκων· συγγνώμη ἀπὸ τιμωρίας τούτῳ suppose some one involuntarily committed an offence; for him there is pardon rather than punishment D. 18. 274, and often after καὶ δὴ, as καὶ δὴ τεθνᾶσι and suppose they are dead E. Med. 386.

1772. The indicative may be used to express a doubtful assertion about a present or past action (negative μή or μή οὐ): ἀλλ' ἄρα . . . μή ὁ Κτήσιππος ἦν ὁ ταῦτ' εἰπών but I suspect (i.e. perhaps) after all it was Ctesippus who said this P. Eu. 290 e, ἀλλὰ μή τοῦτο οὐ καλῶς ὡμολογήσαμεν but perhaps we did not do well in agreeing to this P. Men. 89 c. Such sentences are often regarded as questions with the effect of doubtful affirmation.

1773. The indicative may be used alone where in English we employ an auxiliary verb: πιστεύων δὲ θεοῖς πῶς οὐκ εἶναι θεοὺς ἐνόμizεν; since he trusted in the gods how could (or should) he believe there were no gods? X. M. 1. 1. 5, ὀλίγου ἔλουν τὴν πόλιν a little more and they would have taken the city T. 8. 35, ἀπωλόμεθα we might have perished (we were in danger of perishing) X. A. 5. 8. 2. Cp. 2319.

1774. Unfulfilled Obligation (Propriety, Possibility).—With the imperfect indicative of impersonal expressions denoting obligation, propriety, necessity, or possibility, the action of a dependent infinitive is usually not realized. (Examples 1775–1776.)

Such expressions are ἔδει, χρῆν (or ἐχρῆν), προσῆκε, καιρὸς ἦν, ἄξιον ἦν, εἰκὸς ἦν, β'καίον ἦν, ἀσυχρὸν ἦν, ἐξῆν, καλῶς εἶχεν, verbals in -τόν or -τέον with ἦν, etc.

a. For the use of these expressions (also with ἄν) in the apodosis of unreal conditions, see 2313, 2315.

1775. Present.—Thus, ἔδει σε ταῦτα ποιεῖν you ought to be doing this (but are not doing it), τούσδε μὴ ἤν ἔδει these men ought not to be alive S. Ph. 418, τί σιγᾷς; οὐκ ἐχρῆν σιγᾶν why art thou silent? Thou shouldst not be silent E. Hipp. 297, εἰκὸς ἦν ὁμᾶς . . . μὴ μαλακῶς, ὥσπερ νῦν, ξυμμαχεῖν you should not be slack in your alliance, as you are at present T. 6. 78.

1776. Past.—ἔδει σε ταῦτα ποιῆσαι (or ποιεῖν) you ought to have done this (but did not do it), ἐξῆν σοι ἐλθεῖν you might have gone (but did not go), ἐπῆν αὐτῷ ταῦτα ποιῆσαι he could have done this (almost equivalent to the potential indicative ταῦτα ἐποίησεν ἄν, 1784), ἔδει τὰ ἐπύχυρα τότε λαβεῖν I ought to have taken the pledges then X. A. 7. 6. 23, ἄξιον ἦν ἀκούσαι it would have been worth hearing P. Eu. 304 d, μένειν ἐξῆν he might have remained D. 3. 17.

1777. The Greek usage simply states the obligation (propriety, possibility) as a fact which existed in the past (and may continue to exist in the present). In English we usually express the non-fulfilment of the action.

1778. Present or past time is denoted when the present infinitive is used. When the reference is to present time, the action of the present infinitive is always denied. Past time is denoted when the aorist infinitive is used.

1779. The expressions in 1774 may also refer to simple past obligation (propriety, possibility) and have the ordinary force of past indicatives: ἔδει μένειν he had to remain (and did remain) D. 19. 124. The context determines the meaning; thus τί τὸν σύμβουλον ἐχρῆν ποιεῖν; (D. 18. 190) by itself might mean either what was it the duty of the statesman to do or what was it the duty of the statesman to have done?

1780. Unattainable Wish. — A wish, referring to the present or past, which cannot be realized, is expressed by a past tense of the indicative with εἴθε or with εἰ γάρ (negative μή). The imperfect refers to present time, the aorist to past time (cp. 2304, 2305).

εἴθ' εἶχες βελτίους φρένας would that thou hadst (now) a better heart E. El. 1061, εἴθε σοι τότε συνεγερόμην would that I had then been with thee X. M. 1. 2. 46.

1781. An unattainable wish may also be expressed by ὀφελον (ought) with the present or aorist infinitive: ὀφελε Κύρος ζῆν would that Cyrus were (now) alive (Cyrus ought to be alive) X. A. 2. 1. 4 (1775). The negative is μή: μήποτε ὀφελον λιπεῖν τὴν Σκύρον would that I had never left Scyros S. Ph. 969. εἴθε or εἰ γάρ (poet. αἴθε, ὥς) may be used before ὀφελον: εἰ γὰρ ὀφελον οἱ τοι τε εἶναι οἱ πολλοὶ κακὰ ἐργάζεσθαι would that the multitude were able to do evil Pl. Cr. 44 d.

1782. ἐβουλόμην followed by an infinitive may express an unattainable wish: ἐβουλόμην μὲν οὐκ ἐρίζειν ἐνθάδε I would that I were not contending here (as I am) Ar. Ran. 866. (ἐβουλόμην ἄν vellem, 1789.)

1783. The indicative is also used in other than simple sentences: in final sentences (2208); in object sentences after verbs of effort (2211), of caution (2220 a), of fearing (2231, 2233); in consecutive sentences with ὥστε so that (2274), in conditional sentences (2300, 2303, 2323, 2326); in temporal sentences (2395); in object sentences after ὅτι and ὥς with a verb of saying, etc. (2577 ff.).

INDICATIVE WITH ἄν

1784. Past Potential. — The past tenses (usually the aorist, less commonly the imperfect) of the indicative with ἄν (κέν) denote past potentiality, probability (cautious statement), or necessity: ὁ οὐκ ἄν ᾤοντο which they could not have expected T. 7. 55, τίς γὰρ ἄν ᾤθῃ ταῦτα γενίσθαι; for who would have expected these things to happen? D. 9. 68 (note that ἄν does not go with γενίσθαι by 1764), ἔγνων ἄν τις one might (could, would) have known X. C. 7. 1. 38, ὑπὸ κεν ταλασίφρονά περ δέος εἶλεν fear might have seized even a man of stout heart Δ 421.

a. This is especially frequent with τίς and with the ideal second person (cp. putares, crederes): ἐπέγνωσ' ἄν you would (could, might) have observed X. C. 8. 1. 33.
 b. The potential optative (1829) in Homer refers also to the past.

1785. A protasis may often be extracted from a participle, or is intimated in some other word; but there is no reference to any definite condition, hence a definite ellipsis is not to be supplied.

1786. Unreal Indicative. — The indicative of the historical tenses with ἄν (κέν) may denote unreality: τότε δ' αὐτὸ τὸ πρᾶγμα ἄν ἐκρίνετο ἐφ' αὐτοῦ but the case would then have been decided on its own merits D. 18. 224, καί κεν πολὺ κέρδιον ἦεν and in that case it were far better Γ 41.

1787. This use of the indicative with ἄν to denote unreality is not inherent in the meaning of the past tenses of that mood, but has been developed from the past potential with which the unreal indicative is closely connected. On the common use of this construction in the apodosis of unreal conditions see 2803. On ἔδει ἄν, etc., see 2815.

1788. The imperfect refers to the present or the past, the aorist to the past (rarely to the present), the pluperfect to the present (less commonly to the past).

1789. ἐβούλομην ἄν (vellem) I should like or should have liked may express an unattainable wish: ἐβούλομην ἄν Σίμωνα τὴν αὐτὴν γνώμην ἐμοὶ ἔχειν I should have liked Simon to be (or I wish Simon were) of the same mind as myself L. 3. 21. On ἐβούλομην without ἄν, see 1782.

1790. Iterative Indicative (repeated action). — The imperfect and aorist with ἄν are used to express repeated or customary past action (post-Homeric): διηρώτων ἄν I used to ask P. A. 22 b, ἄν ἔλεξεν he was wont to say X. C. 7. 1. 10.

1791. This construction is connected with the past potential and denoted originally what could or would take place under certain past circumstances. Thus, ἀναλαμβάνων οὖν αὐτῶν τὰ ποιήματα . . . διηρώτων ἄν αὐτοὺς τί λέγοιεν accordingly, taking up their poems, I used to (would) ask them (as an opportunity presented itself) what they meant P. A. 22 b. In actual use, since the action of the verb did take place, this construction has become a statement of fact.

1792. In Herodotus this construction is used with the iterative forms: κλαίσκε ἄν she kept weeping 3. 119, οὐ δὲ ἄν Πέρσαι λάβεισκον τὰ πρόβατα the Persians were wont to seize the cattle 4. 180.

1793. Homer and the early poets use ἄν (κέῃν) with the future indicative with a conditional or limiting force: καὶ κέ τις εἰδ' ἔρπει and in such a case some one will (may) say thus Δ 176. This use is found also in conditional relative sentences (2565 b). In Attic ἄν is found with the future in a few passages which are now generally emended. In P. A. 29 c there is an anacoluthon.

1794. ἄν is not used with the present and perfect indicative.

SUBJUNCTIVE WITHOUT ἄν

1795. The chief uses of the independent subjunctive are the hortatory (1797), the prohibitive (1800), and the deliberative (1805).

a. The name subjunctive is due to the belief of the ancient grammarians that the mood was always subordinate. Thus, ἔγω shall I speak? (1805) was explained as due to the omission of a preceding βούλει, i.e. do you wish that I speak?

1796. The independent subjunctive refers to future time. It has three main uses: (1) the voluntative, expressing the will of the speaker. This is akin to the imperative. (2) The deliberative. This is possibly a form of the voluntative. (3) The anticipatory (or futural). This anticipates an action as an immediate future possibility. Whether the anticipatory is a form of the voluntative is uncertain (cp. ich will sehen, je veux voir, dialectal il veut pleuvoir).

1797. Hortatory Subjunctive. — The hortatory subjunctive (present or aorist) is used to express a request or a proposal (negative μή).

a. Usually in the first person plural: νῦν ἴωμεν καὶ ἀκούσωμεν τοῦ ἀνδρός let us go now and hear the man P. Prot. 814 b, μήπω ἐκείσε ἴωμεν let's not go there yet 811 a. ἄγε, φέρε (δῆ), in Hom. ἄγε (δῆ), sometimes precedes, as ἄγε σκοπῶμεν come, let us consider X. C. 5. 5. 15. ἴθι (δῆ) rarely precedes.

b. Less frequently in the first person singular, which is usually preceded (in affirmative sentences) by φέρε (δῆ), in Hom. by ἄγε (δῆ): φέρε δὲ περὶ τοῦ ψηφίσματος εἰπῶ let me now speak about the bill D. 19. 234.

1798. The first person singular in negative exhortations (rare and poetic) may convey a warning or a threat: μὴ σε, γέρον, κολλησιν παρὰ νηυσὶ κιχέει old man, let me not find thee by the hollow ships A 26. This use is often regarded as prohibitive (1800).

1799. The hortatory use of the subjunctive compensates for the absence of an imperative of the first person.

1800. Prohibitive Subjunctive.—The subjunctive (in the second and third persons of the aorist) is often used to express prohibitions (negative μῆ).

a. Usually in the second person: μηδὲν δδύμήσητε do not lose heart X. A. 5. 4. 19. For the aorist subjunctive the present imperative may be employed (1840): μὴ ποιήσης (or μὴ ποιεῖς) ταῦτα do not do this (not μὴ ποιῆς).

b. Less commonly in the third person, which usually represents the second: ὑπολάβη δὲ μηδεὶς and let no one suppose T. 6. 84 (= μὴ ὑπολάβητε do not suppose).

c. The third person of the present subjunctive is rare: μὴ τολμῶν τις οἴηται (= μὴ οἴωμεθα) let not any one think P. L. 861 E.

N. — οὐ μὴ with the subjunctive of the second person in the dramatic poets occasionally expresses a strong prohibition: οὐ μὴ ληρήσης don't talk nonsense Ar. Nub. 367.

1801. Doubtful Assertion.—The present subjunctive with μῆ may express a doubtful assertion, with μὴ οὐ a doubtful negation. The idea of apprehension or anxiety (real or assumed) is due to the situation. A touch of irony often marks this use, which is chiefly Platonic. With μῆ (of what may be true): μὴ ἀγροικότερον ἢ τὸ δληθὲς εἰπεῖν I suspect it's rather bad form (lit. too rude) to tell the truth P. G. 462 e. With μὴ οὐ (of what may not be true): ἀλλὰ μὴ οὐχ οὕτως ἔχῃ but I rather think this may not be so P. Crat. 436 b, μὴ οὐκ ἢ διδασκτὸν ἀρετῆς virtue is perhaps not a thing to be taught P. Men. 94 e.

1802. In Hom. μῆ with the independent subjunctive is used to indicate fear and warning, or to suggest danger: μὴ τι χολωσάμενος ῥέξῃ κακὸν υἱας Ἀχαιῶν may he not (as I fear he may) in his anger do aught to injure the sons of the Achaeans B 195. Usually with the aorist, rarely with the present subjunctive (o 19). The constructions of 1801, 1802 are used as object clauses after verbs of fearing (2221).

1803. ὅπως μῆ is occasionally so used with the aorist subjunctive, and with an idea of command: ὅπως μὴ φήσῃ τις may no one say (as I fear he may) X. S. 4. 8. See 1021.

1804. From the use in 1801 is probably developed the construction of οὐ μῆ with the aorist (less often the present) subjunctive to denote an emphatic denial; as οὐ μὴ παύσωμαι φιλοσοφῶν I will not cease from searching for wisdom P. A. 29 d, οὐκέτι μὴ δύνῃται βασιλεὺς ἡμᾶς καταλαβεῖν the king will no longer be able to overtake us X. A. 2. 2. 12.

1805. Deliberative Subjunctive. — The deliberative subjunctive (present or aorist) is used in questions when the speaker asks what he is to do or say (negative μή).

a. Usually in the first person: εἰπῶμεν ἢ σιγῶμεν; shall we speak or keep silence? E. Ion 758, τί ὁράω; ποῖ φύγω; what am I to do? whither shall I fly? E. Med. 1271, μὴ φῶμεν; shall we not say? P. R. 554 b.

b. The (rare) second person is used in repeating a question: A. τί σοι πιθώμεθα; B. ὃ τι πίθησθε; A. In what shall we take your advice? B. In what shall you take my advice? Ar. Av. 164.

c. The third person is generally used to represent the first person; commonly with τίς, as τί τις εἶναι τοῦτο φη; how shall anyone say this is so? (= τί φῶμεν;) D. 19. 88.

N. — The subjunctive question does not refer to a future fact, but to what is, under the present circumstances, advantageous or proper to do or say.

1806. βούλει, βούλεσθε (poet. θέλεις, θέλετε) do you wish often precede the subjunctive: βούλει σοι εἶπω; do you wish me to say to you? P. G. 521 d. This is a fusion of two distinct questions: βούλει do you wish? and εἶπω shall I say?

1807. The deliberative subjunctive may be replaced by a periphrasis with δεῖ or χρή and the infinitive, or by the verbal adjective in -τέον ἐστί. Thus, ἡμεῖς δὲ προσμένωμεν; ἢ τί χρὴ ποιεῖν; and shall we wait? or what must we do? S. Tr. 390, τί ποιητέον; (= τί ποιῶμεν;) what are we to do? Ar. P. 922.

a. For the deliberative future see 1916.

1808. Deliberation in the past may be expressed by εἶδει, χρῆν (ἐχρῆν), ἐμελλον with the infinitive, and by -τέον (verbal adj.) ἦν.

1809. The Negative in Questions. — The use of μή (not οὐ) in questions is due to the fact that the construction of 1805 is simply the interrogative form of the hortatory subjunctive: φῶμεν let us say, μὴ φῶμεν; are we not to say? Distinguish πρότερον βιάω φῶμεν ἢ μὴ φῶμεν εἶναι; shall we say that it is force or that it is not? X. M. 1. 2. 45, from φῶμεν ταῦτ' ὁρθῶς λέγεσθαι ἢ οὐ shall we say that this is well said or not? (οὐ = οὐκ ὁρθῶς λέγεσθαι) P. G. 514 c.

1810. Anticipatory Subjunctive (Homeric Subjunctive). — In Homer the subjunctive is often closely akin to the future indicative, and refers by anticipation to a future event (negative οὐ): οὐ γάρ πω τοιοῦτος ἴδον ἄνδρας, οὐδὲ ἰδῶμαι for never yet saw I such men, nor shall I see them A 262, καὶ νῦν τίς ὦδ' εἴησι and one will say ξ 275. ἄν (κέν) usually limits this subjunctive in Hom. (1813).

a. This futural subjunctive is retained in Attic only in subordinate clauses (2327), and in τί πάθω (1811).

1811. The subjunctive is used in τί πάθω; what will become of me; what am I to do? (lit. what shall I undergo?) as P. Eu. 302 d. So τί γένημαι; quid me fiet? Thus, ὦ μοι ἐγὼ, τί πάθω; τί νῦν μοι μέκιστα γένηται; ah, woe's me!

what is to become of me? what will happen unto me at the last? ε 465. The subjunctive here is not deliberative, but refers to a future event.

1812. The subjunctive without ἄν is also used in dependent clauses of purpose (2196), after verbs of fearing (2225), in the protasis of conditional (2327, 2339) and conditional relative sentences (2567 b).

SUBJUNCTIVE WITH ἄν

1813. The subjunctive with ἄν (more commonly κέν) is used in Homer in independent sentences and clauses (negative οὐ). Cp. 1810. Thus, ἐγὼ δέ κ' ἄγω Βρισηίδα but in that case I will take Briseis A 184, οὐκ ἄν τοι χραίσμῳ βούῃ of no avail to thee shall be thy bow A 387.

OPTATIVE WITHOUT ἄν

1814. Optative of Wish. — In independent sentences the optative without ἄν is used to express a wish referring to the future (negative μή): ὦ παῖ, γένοιτο πατὴρς εὐτυχέστερος ah, boy, mayest thou prove more fortunate than thy sire S. Aj. 550. From this use is derived the name of the mood (Lat. opto wish).

a. So even in relative sentences: ἐάν ποτε, θ μὴ γένοιτο, λάβωσι τὴν πόλιν if ever they capture the city, which Heaven forbid L. 81. 14.

b. Under wishes are included execrations and protestations: ἐξολομην may I perish Ar. Ach. 324, καὶ σ' ἐπιδείξω, ἢ μὴ ῥήην, δωροδοκῆσάντα and I will prove that you took bribes, or may I not live Ar. Eq. 833.

1815. The optative of wish is often introduced by εἰ γάρ, αἶθε (Hom. αἰ γάρ, αἶθε), or by εἰ, ὥς (both poetical): εἰ γὰρ γένοιτο would that it might happen X. C. 6. 1. 38, ὥς ὄλοιτο may he perish S. El. 126. (ὥς is properly an exclamation: how.)

1816. The optative introduced by εἰ γάρ, etc. is sometimes explained as a protasis with the conclusion omitted: εἴθε φίλος ἡμῖν γένοιτο oh, if you would become our friend X. H. 4. 1. 38. Cp. 2352 e.

1817. An unattainable wish, referring to the present, may be expressed by the present optative in Homer: εἴθ' ἡβώοιμι would that I were young again H 157.

1818. Unattainable wishes, when they refer to the future, may be expressed by the optative: εἰ μοι γένοιτο φθόγγος ἐν βραχίονι would that I had a voice in my arms E. Hec. 836. Wishes represented as hopeless are expressed in the post-Homeric language by the past tenses of the indicative (1780) or by ὥφελον (1781).

1819. Hom. often uses the optative with a concessive or permissive force: ἔπειτα δὲ καὶ τι πάθοιμι after that I may (lit. may I) suffer come what will Φ 274.

1820. Imperative Optative. — The optative may express a command or exhortation with a force nearly akin to the imperative: Χειρίσσοφος ἡγοῖτο let Chirisophus lead X. A. 3. 2. 37.

1821. Potential Optative. — The potential optative, which in Attic regularly takes ἄν (1824), is occasionally found in Homer and later poetry in an earlier form, without that particle: ρεῖα θεὸς γ' ἐθέλων καὶ τηλόθεν ἀνδρα σώσσει easily might a god, if he so willed, bring a man safe even from afar γ 231, θάσσον ἢ λέγει τις quicker than a man could speak E. Hipp. 1186. This construction is suspected in prose.

a. Usually in negative sentences or in questions expecting a negative answer (with οὐ): οὐ μὲν γάρ τι κακώτερον ἄλλο πάθοιμι for I could not (conceivably) suffer anything worse T 821, τεῖν, Ζεῦ, δύνασιν τις ἀνδρῶν ὑπερβασίᾳ κατάσχοι; thy power, oh Zeus, what trespass of man can check? S. Ant. 604.

1822. The optative after οὐκ ἔστιν ὅστις (ὅπως, ὅποι) in the dramatists is probably potential: οὐκ ἔσθ' ὅπως λέξαιμι τὰ ψευδῆ καλὰ I could not call false tidings fair A. Ag. 620. ἄν is usually employed in this construction.

1823. The optative without ἄν (κέν) is also used elsewhere, as in purpose clauses (2196) and clauses of fearing (2225) after a secondary tense; in the apodosis of conditional sentences (2300 d, 2326 d, 2333), in relative sentences (2566, 2568); and as the representative of the indicative (2615) or subjunctive (2619) in indirect discourse after secondary tenses.

OPTATIVE WITH ἄν

1824. Potential Optative.—The potential optative with ἄν states a future possibility, propriety, or likelihood, as an opinion of the speaker; and may be translated by may, might, can (especially with a negative), must, would, should (rarely will, shall). So in Latin velim, videas, cognoscas, credas.

γινώης δ' ἄν ὅτι τοῦθ' οὕτως ἔχει you may see that this is so X. C. 1. 6. 21, ἅπαντες ἄν ὁμολογήσειαν all would agree I. 11. 5, ἡδέως ἄν ἐροίμην I (would gladly ask) should like to ask D. 18. 64, οὐκ ἄν λάβοις thou canst not take S. Ph. 103, λέγοιμ' ἄν τάδε I will tell this A. Supp. 928. The second person singular is often indefinite (one), as γινώης ἄν (cognoscas) = γινώη τις ἄν.

a. The potential optative ranges from possibility to fixed resolve. The aorist optative with ἄν and a negative is very common.

b. When stress is laid on the idea of possibility and power, necessity and obligation, Greek uses δύναμαι, δεῖ or χρή with the infinitive (statement of fact).

c. The potential optative with ἄν is also used in dependent sentences; in purpose clauses (2202 b), in object clauses after verbs of effort (2216) and verbs of fearing (2232), in causal clauses (2243), in result clauses (2278), in the apodosis of conditional (see 2356) and conditional relative sentences (2566). In indirect discourse the infinitive with ἄν or the participle with ἄν may represent the optative with ἄν (1845 ff.).

1825. Usually these optatives are not limited by any definite condition present to the mind, and it is unnecessary to supply any protasis in thought. In some cases a protasis is dormant in a word of the sentence (such as δικαίως, εἰκότως). Thus, in οὐ ἀχαρίστους εἶναι δικαίως ἄν ὑπολαμβάνοιτε whom you would justly consider to be ungrateful Aes. 3. 196, δικαίως may stand for εἰ δικαίως ὑπολαμβάνετε: if you should consider the matter justly. So οὐτε ἐσθίουσι πλεῖω ἢ δύνανται φέρειν· διαπραγαίειν γὰρ ἂν κτλ. they neither eat more than they can bear, for otherwise (if they should eat more: εἰ ἐσθίουεν πλεῖω) they would burst X. C. 8. 2. 21. The potential optative is also used as the main clause of less vivid conditions (2329) in which the protasis has the optative by assimilation to the mood of the apodosis.

1826. The potential optative with ἂν is used to soften the statement of an opinion or fact, or to express irony: ἑτερόν τι τοῦτ' ἂν εἴη this is (would be) another matter D. 20. 116, νοσοῖμ' ἂν, εἰ νόσημα τοῦς ἐχθροῦς στυγεῖν I must be mad, if it is madness to hate one's foes A. Pr. 978. So often with ἴσως or τάχα perhaps.

a. With a negative, the potential optative may have the force of a strong assertion: οὐ γὰρ ἂν ἀπελθοίμ', ἀλλὰ κόψω τὴν θύραν for I will not go away, but I will knock at the door Ar. Ach. 236.

1827. βουλοίμην ἂν (velim) is often used as a softened optative of wish: βουλοίμην ἂν τοῦτο οὕτω γενέσθαι I could wish that this might be the result (οὕτω γένοιτο may it result thus) P. A. 19 a. For ἐβουλόμην ἂν see 1789.

1828. The present and aorist are used of what will be, or what will prove to be, true (future realization of a present fact): ἀρετὴ ἄρα, ὥς ἔοικεν, ὕλειά τις ἂν εἴη virtue then, it seems, will (prove to) be a kind of health P. R. 444 d. The perfect is used of what will prove to be the case as regards a completed action: πῶς ἂν λελήθοι; how can it have escaped my knowledge? X. S. 3. 6. Usually the perfect is here equivalent to the present.

1829. The present and aorist are rarely used of the past: (a) in Hom. of past possibility: καὶ νῦν κεν ἔσθ' ἀπόλοιτο and now he might have perished E 311 (Attic ἀπώλετο ἂν, 1784), ἀλλὰ τί κεν βέξαιμι; but what could I do? T 90. (b) in Hdt. of a mild assertion: ταῦτα μὲν καὶ φθόρῳ ἂν εἴποιεν they may have said this out of envy 9. 71, εἴησαν δ' ἂν οὗτοι Κρήτες these would prove to be (might be, must have been) Cretans 1. 2. Both uses are doubtful in Attic prose.

1830. The potential optative with ἂν may be used, in a sense akin to that of the imperative, to express a command, exhortation, or request: λέγοις ἂν τὴν δέησιν tell me (you may tell) your request P. Par. 126 a, προάγοις ἂν move on P. Phae. 229 b. This courteous formula is used even where a harsh command might be expected: χωροῖς ἂν εἰσω σὺν τάχει go within with all speed S. El. 1491.

a. In ποῖ δὴτ' ἂν τραποίμην; whither pray shall I turn? Ar. Ran. 296 the use is akin to the deliberative subjunctive (1806) or deliberative future (1916).

1831. The potential optative with ἂν is used in questions: τίς οὐκ ἂν ὁμολογήσειεν; who would not agree? (οὐδεὶς: scil. οὐκ ἂν ὁμολογήσειε) X. M. 1. 1. 5. So even the optative of wish: τί δ' ὀρκῶ τῷδε μὴ 'μμένω πάθοις; but if thou dost not abide by thy oath what dost thou invoke upon thyself? E. Med. 754 (lit. mayest thou suffer what?).

1832. πῶς ἂν, τίς ἂν with the potential optative may be used to express a wish (especially in the tragic poets): πῶς ἂν ὀλομῶν oh, would that I might die E. Med. 97, τίς ἂν ἐν τάχει μόλοι μοῖρα oh, that some fate would speedily come A. Ag. 1448. Properly this usage is not a wish, but is simply a question how the wish may be fulfilled.

1833. The potential optative with ἂν (especially with negatives) may exchange with the indicative : φημι καὶ οὐκ ἂν ἀρνηθῆην I assert and cannot deny D. 21. 191. It is often stronger, though more courteous, than the future indicative : οὐκ ἂν πέρᾳ φράσαιμι I will speak no more S. O. T. 343.

1834. The future optative with ἄν occurs only in a few suspected passages.

IMPERATIVE

1835. The imperative is used in commands and prohibitions (negative μή). All its tenses refer to the future.

a. Under commands are included requests, entreaties, summons, prescriptions, exhortations, etc.

b. For the tenses of the imperative, see 1840; for the infinitive used as an imperative, see 2013.

POSITIVE (COMMANDS)

1836. In exhortations ἄγε, φέρε, ἴθι (usually with δή, sometimes with νύν), often precede the imperative : ἄγε δὴ ἀκούσατε come listen X. Ap. 14, ἄγετε δειπνήσατε go now, take your supper X. H. 5. 1. 18, ἀλλ' ἴθι εἰπέ but come, say P. G. 489 e.

1837. πᾶς is sometimes used with the second person in poetry : ἄκουε πᾶς hear, every one Ar. Thesm. 372.

1838. The third person may be used in questions : οὐκοῦν κελσῶ ταῦτα ; shall these points be established ? P. L. 820 e. Cp. 1842 a.

1839. The imperative may be used in assumptions (hypothetical imperative), to make a concession, or to grant permission : ἐμοῦ γ' ἕνεκ' ἔστω let it be assumed as far as I am concerned D. 20. 14, οὕτως ἔχέτω ὡς σὺ λέγεις assume it to be as you say P. S. 201 c. So even as a protasis : δείξάτω, κἀγὼ στέρξω let him set it forth and I will be content D. 18. 112.

NEGATIVE (PROHIBITIONS)

1840. Prohibitions are expressed by μή with the present or aorist subjunctive in the first person plural; by μή with the present imperative or the aorist subjunctive in the second and third person singular or plural (cp. 1800). The aorist imperative is rare in prohibitions.

A. 1 Person. — μή γράφωμεν (μή γράψωμεν) : μή μαινώμεθα μηδ' ἀσχερῶς ἀπολώμεθα let us not act like madmen nor perish disgracefully X. A. 7. 1. 29.

B. 2 Person. — μή γράφῃς (μή γράψῃς) : μή θαύμαζε don't be astonished P. G. 482 a, μή θορυβεῖτε don't raise a disturbance P. A. 21 a, τὰ μὲν ποιεῖ, τὰ δὲ μὴ ποιεῖ do this and refrain from doing that P. Pr. 325 d, μή μέγα λέγε don't boast so P. Ph. 95 b. — μή γράψῃς (μή γράψῃς) : μηδὲ θαυμάσῃς τὸδε and do not wonder at this A. Ag. 879, μή θορυβήσῃς don't raise a disturbance P. A. 20 e, μή ἄλλως ποιήσῃς don't do otherwise P. Lach. 201 b, μηδαμῶς ἄλλως ποιήσῃς Ar. Av. 133.

N. — The type μή γράψῃς is never used. μή γράψων occurs rarely in poetry (Δ 410, Σ 134.—ω 248, S. fr. 453 parodied in Ar. Thesm. 870).

C. 3 Person. — μή γραφέτω (μή γραφόντων) : μηδεις διδασκῆτω let no one tell me T. 1. 86, μηδεις τοῦτ' ἀγνοεῖτω let no one be ignorant of this fact Aes. 3. 6. μή γραψάτω (μή γραψάντων) : μηδεις νομισάτω let no one think X. C. 7. 5. 73, μήτ' ἀπογνώτω μηδέν μήτε καταγνώτω let him neither acquit nor condemn in any way Aes. 3. 60; and in five other passages giving the actual usage of the orators. In the third person the aorist imperative is much less common than the present imperative.

N. — The type μή γράψῃ is used only when the third person represents the first person (1800 c). μή γράψῃ is much more common than μή γραψάτω in the orators, e.g. μηδεις θαυμάσῃ let no one be astonished D. 18. 199, μηδεις νομίσῃ let no one think T. 3. 13, D. 23. 1.

D. The perfect imperative is rare in prohibitions (μή πεφόβησθε T. 6. 17) and is usually poetical. Cp. 698, 712.

1841. a. μή γράφε, like don't write, is ambiguous and may mean, according to the situation, either cease writing or abstain from writing. Commonly μή γράφε means do not go on writing, write no more, and is an order to stop an action already begun. In many cases, however, μή with the present imperative does not refer to the interruption of an action already begun, but to an action still in the more or less distant future against which the speaker urges resistance. Sometimes the reference to the future is directly or indirectly indicated by the context.

b. μή γράψῃς usually has the force of (I beg that) you will not write, (take care that you) don't write, and is commonly a complete prohibition against doing something not already begun. Sometimes, and especially in expressions of a colloquial character, μή with the aorist subjunctive marks the speaker's interruption, by anticipation, of a mental (less often of a physical) action that is being done by the person he addresses; as μή θαυμάσῃς (P. L. 804 b) in reply to an exclamation of surprise. Here the type μή γράψῃς often expresses impatience.

c. If μή γράφε elicits a reply, it is (ἀλλ') οὐ γράφω, while μή γράψῃς is answered by (ἀλλ') οὐ γράψω. Thus, μή μ' ἐκδιδάσκε τοῖς φίλοις εἶναι κακόν. ἀλλ' οὐ διδάσκω do not teach me to be base to my friends. But I do not S. El. 395, εἰ οὖν ἔχεις ἐναργέστερον ἡμῶν ἐπιδείξαι ὥς διδακτὸν ἔστιν ἡ ἀρετή, μή φθορήσῃς ἀλλ' ἐπιδείξον. ἀλλ' . . . οὐ φθορήσω now if you can show us more clearly that virtue is capable of being taught, don't refuse, but show us. Well, I will not refuse P. Pr. 320 c. So μή γράφε commonly answers γράφω, as θαυμάζω, ἦν δ' ἐγώ, καὶ αὐτός. ἀλλὰ μή θαύμαζ', ἔφη I myself am astonished, said I. Cease your astonishment, said she P. S. 205 b, cp. S. El. 395. So μή γράψῃς answers γράφω, as in Hdt. 3. 140, Ar. Lys. 1036.

d. μή γράφε and μή γράψῃς are often found in closely connected clauses, as μηδαμῶς θύμαινέ μοι, μηδέ μ' ἐπιτρέψῃς don't be angry with me at all, nor ruin me Ar. Nub. 1478, μήτ' ὀκνεῖτε μήτ' ἀφῆτ' ἔπος κακόν do not shrink from me nor utter any harsh words S. O. C. 731. The second prohibition may be more specific than the first, as σιωπᾶ· μηδέν εἰπῃς νήπιον be silent, don't say anything childish Ar. Nub. 105. Less often μή γράψῃς is followed by μή γράφε, as μή βοηθήσατε τῷ πεπονθέντι δεινῷ· μή εὐορκεῖτε (they will say) 'do not come to the aid of one who has suffered grievously; have no regard for your oath' D. 21. 211.

e. The difference between μή γράφε and μή γράψῃς is virtually a difference of tenses, the present denoting an action continuing, in process; the aorist, an action concluded, summarized. So  $\mu\eta\ \phi\omicron\beta\epsilon\upsilon\ \delta\omicron\upsilon\iota\ \text{be}\ \text{fearful}$ ,  $\mu\eta\ \phi\omicron\beta\eta\theta\eta\varsigma\ \delta\omicron\upsilon\iota\ \text{be}\ \text{frightened}$ . In maxims  $\mu\eta$  with the present imperative is preferred:  $\mu\eta\ \kappa\lambda\epsilon\pi\tau\epsilon\ \delta\omicron\upsilon\iota\ \text{don't be a thief}$ ,  $\mu\eta\ \kappa\lambda\epsilon\psi\varsigma\ \delta\omicron\upsilon\iota\ \text{don't steal this or that}$ .  $\mu\eta\kappa\epsilon\tau\iota$  may be used in either construction. The distinction is often immaterial, often a difference of tone rather than of meaning; sometimes too subtle for dogmatic statement.

1842. The imperative may be used in subordinate clauses:  $\kappa\rho\alpha\tau\eta\rho\epsilon\iota\ \epsilon\iota\sigma\iota\upsilon\ \dots\ \delta\upsilon\ \kappa\rho\alpha\tau'\ \epsilon\pi\epsilon\phi\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \text{there are mixing-bowls, the brims of which thou must crown}$  S. O. C. 478.

a. Especially after  $\omicron\lambda\sigma\theta\alpha$  interrogative in dramatic poetry:  $\omicron\lambda\sigma\theta'\ \delta\ \delta\rho\alpha\sigma\omicron\upsilon\ \text{do you know what you are to do?}$  E. Hec. 225,  $\omicron\lambda\sigma\theta'\ \omega\varsigma\ \tau\omicron\lambda\eta\sigma\omicron\upsilon\ \text{do you know how I bid you act?}$  S. O. T. 543.  $\omicron\lambda\sigma\theta'\ \delta$  has become a partially fossilized expression, and can be used as subject or be governed by a verb:  $\omicron\lambda\sigma\theta\acute{\alpha}\ \nu\upsilon\ \delta\ \mu\omicron\iota\ \gamma\alpha\gamma\epsilon\sigma\theta\omega\ \text{do you know what I must have done for me?}$  E. I. T. 1203.

1843. The use of the imperative is to be explained as equivalent to  $\delta\epsilon\iota$  or  $\chi\omicron\tau'$  with the infinitive.

1844.  $\delta\upsilon$  is not used with the imperative.

INFINITIVE AND PARTICIPLE WITH $\delta\upsilon$

1845. The infinitive or participle with  $\delta\upsilon$  represents either a past tense of the indicative with  $\delta\upsilon$  or the optative with  $\delta\upsilon$ . The context determines whether the indicative or the optative is meant. The participle with  $\delta\upsilon$  is post-Homeric.

1846. The present infinitive or participle with  $\delta\upsilon$  represents the imperfect indicative with  $\delta\upsilon$  or the present optative with  $\delta\upsilon$ .

a. (inf.)  $\delta\kappa\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \Lambda\alpha\kappa\epsilon\delta\alpha\iota\mu\omicron\upsilon\lambda\omicron\upsilon\varsigma\ \delta\upsilon\ \acute{\alpha}\nu\alpha\chi\omega\upsilon\epsilon\iota\iota\ \epsilon\pi'\ \omicron\lambda\omicron\upsilon\ \text{I hear the Lacedaemonians used to return home}$  (=  $\delta\upsilon\ \acute{\alpha}\nu\epsilon\chi\omega\upsilon\omicron\upsilon\varsigma$ , 1790) D. 9. 48,  $\omicron\lambda\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon\ \gamma\acute{\alpha}\rho\ \tau\omicron\upsilon\iota\ \pi\alpha\tau\epsilon\rho\alpha\ \omicron\upsilon\kappa\ \delta\upsilon\ \phi\omicron\lambda\acute{\alpha}\tau\tau\epsilon\upsilon\ \text{for do you think my father would not have taken care?}$  (=  $\omicron\upsilon\kappa\ \delta\upsilon\ \acute{\epsilon}\phi\omicron\lambda\alpha\tau\tau\epsilon\upsilon$ , 1786) D. 49. 35;  $\nu\omicron\mu\iota\zeta\omicron\upsilon\tau\epsilon\varsigma\ \delta\upsilon\ \tau\iota\mu\eta\varsigma\ \tau\upsilon\gamma\chi\acute{\alpha}\nu\epsilon\iota\ \text{in the belief that they would obtain reward}$  (=  $\delta\upsilon\ \tau\upsilon\gamma\chi\acute{\alpha}\nu\omicron\iota\mu\epsilon\upsilon\varsigma$ ) X. Phil. 80 c (=  $\eta\ \sigma\omicron\phi\acute{\iota}\alpha\ \lambda\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omicron\iota\tau\omicron\ \delta\upsilon$ ).

1847. The future infinitive and participle with  $\delta\upsilon$  are rare and suspected.

1848. The aorist infinitive or participle with  $\delta\upsilon$  represents the aorist indicative with  $\delta\upsilon$  or the aorist optative with  $\delta\upsilon$ .

a. (inf.)  $\text{Κύρος γε, εἰ ἐβίωσεν, ἀριστος ἂν δοκεῖ ἄρχων γενέσθαι}$  it seems probable that Cyrus, if he had lived, would have proved himself a most excellent ruler (=  $\delta\upsilon\ \acute{\epsilon}\gamma\epsilon\tau\epsilon\tau\omicron$ ) X. 1849. The perfect infinitive with ἂν represents the pluperfect indicative with ἂν or the perfect optative with ἂν: οἷδ' ὅτι (ἂν) φήσευεν πάντα ταῦθ' ὑπὸ τῶν βαρβάρων ἂν ἠλωκέσθαι I know that he would say that all this would have been captured by the barbarians (= ἂν ἠλώκεσαν) D. 19. 312, ἡγεῖτο τοὺς ἀγνοῦντας ἀνδραποδῶδεις ἂν δικαίως κεκληθῆσθαι he thought that those who did not know this might justly be deemed servile in nature (= κεκλημένοι ἂν εἴεν) X. M. 1. 1. 16.

For the infinitive and participle without ἂν see 1865 ff., 1872 ff., and under Infinitive and Participle.

THE TENSES

1850. By the tenses ('tense' from tempus) are denoted:

1. The time of an action: present, past, future.
2. The stage of an action: action continued or repeated (in process of development), action simply brought to pass (simple occurrence), action completed with a permanent result.

a. The time of an action is either absolute or relative. Time that is absolutely present, past, or future is reckoned from the time of the speaker or writer. Time that is relatively present, past, or future in dependent clauses is reckoned from the time of some verb in the same sentence. In dependent clauses Greek has no special forms to denote the temporal relation of one action to another (antecedent, coincident, subsequent), but leaves the reader to infer whether one action happened before, at the same time as, or after another action. The aorist is thus often used where English has the pluperfect (1943). See 1888, 1944. Unless special reference is made to relative time, the expressions "kind of time," "time of an action," in this book are used of absolute time.

b. In independent clauses only the tenses of the indicative denote absolute time; in dependent clauses they express relative time. The tenses of the subjunctive, optative, imperative, infinitive and participle do not refer to the differences in kind of time. Thus γράφειν and γράψαι to write, γεγραμέναι to finish writing, may be used of the present, the past, or the future according to the context. On the tenses of the optative, infinitive, and participle in indirect discourse see 1862, 1866, 1874. The future infinitive may be used, outside of indirect discourse, to lay stress on the idea of futurity (1865 d).

c. Even in the indicative the actual time may be different from that which would seem to be denoted by the tense employed. Thus the speaker or writer may imagine the past as present, and use the present in setting forth an event that happened before his time (1883); or may use the aorist or perfect of an event that has not yet occurred (1884, 1950).

d. In the subjunctive, optative (except in indirect discourse), and imperative the kind of time is implied only by the mood-forms, not by the tenses. The relation of the time of one action to the time of another usually has to be inferred in all the moods.

e. The stage of an action is expressed by all the tenses of all the different-moods (including the participle and infinitive).

f. The action of the verb of a subordinate clause may overlap with that of the verb of the main clause. See 2388.

KIND OF TIME

1851. Only in the indicative do the tenses show time absolutely present, past, or future.

a. Present time is denoted by

1. The Present: γράφω I write, am writing.
2. The Perfect: γέγραφα I have written.

b. Past time is denoted by

1. The Imperfect: ἔγραφον I wrote, was writing.
2. The Aorist: ἔγραψα I wrote.
3. The Pluperfect: ἔγεγράφην I had written.

N. — The only past tenses are the augmented tenses.

c. Future time is denoted by

1. The Future: γράψω I shall write.
2. The Future Perfect: γεγράμμεται it will have been written, τεθνήξω I shall be dead (shall have died).

STAGE OF ACTION

1852. Every form of the verb denotes the stage of the action.

a. Continued action is denoted by the present stem:

1. Present: γράφω I am writing, πείθω I am persuading (trying to persuade), ἀνθεῖ is in bloom.
2. Imperfect: ἔγραφον I was writing, ἔπειθον I was persuading (trying to persuade), ἦνθει was in bloom.
3. Future: γράψω I shall write (shall be writing), βασιλεύσει he will reign.

N. — Continued action is incomplete: hence nothing is stated as to the conclusion. Thus φεύγει he flees does not state whether or not the subject succeeded in escaping.

b. Completed action with permanent result is denoted by the perfect stem:

1. Perfect: γέγραφα ἐπιστολὴν I have written a letter (and it is now finished), ἦνθηκε has bloomed (and is in flower).
2. Pluperfect: ἔγεγράφην ἐπιστολὴν I had written a letter (and it was then finished), ἦνθήκει had bloomed (and was in flower).

3. Future Perfect: γεγράφηται it will have been written, τεθνήξει he will be dead.

c. Action simply brought to pass (simple attainment) is denoted by the

1. Aorist: ἔγραψα I wrote, ἔπεισα I persuaded (succeeded in persuading), ἐβασίλευσε he became king or he was king, ἤνθησε burst into flower or was in flower.

2. Future: γράψω I shall write, βασιλεύσει he will become king.

N. — The aorist tense (ἀόριστος χρόνος from ὁρίω define; unlimited, indefinite, or undefined time) is so named because it does not show the limitation (ὅρος) of continuance (expressed by the imperfect) or of completion with permanent result (expressed by the perfect).

1853. The present stem may denote the simple action of the verb in present time without regard to its continuance; as θαυμάζω I am seized with astonishment, ἀστράπτει it lightens (once or continually), δίδωμι I make a present. This is called the aoristic present. On inceptive verbs, see 526.

1854. The future stem may denote either continued action (as in the present) or simple occurrence of the action of the verb (as in the aorist). Thus γράφω I shall be writing or I shall write. See 1910 b.

1855. Some verbs are, by their meaning, restricted to the tenses of continued action, as ὁρᾶν behold, φέρειν carry; others are exclusively aoristic, as ἰδεῖν properly glance at, ἐνεγκεῖν bring. Verbs expressing different kinds of action in their several tenses (as ὁρᾶν, ἰδεῖν) unite to form a verbal system.

1856. The difference between the present stem (present and imperfect) and the aorist stem may be compared to the difference between a line and a point (both starting point and end). Thus, ἔρχεσθαι go, ἔλθεῖν come, arrive; φέρειν carry, ἐνεγκεῖν bring; ἀγεῖν accompany, lead, ἀγαγεῖν bring to a goal.

1857. For the 'progressive' tenses of English (is walking, has been giving, etc.) Greek has no exact equivalent. The periphrasis of the present participle with ἔστι, etc. is employed to adjectivize the participle or to describe or characterize the subject like an adjective, i.e. the subject has a quality which it may display in action. Thus, ἀρέσκοντές ἐσμεν we are acceptable T. 1. 38, καὶ πᾶν' ἀναδεχόμενος καὶ εἰς αὐτὸν ποιοῦμενος τὰ τούτων ἀμαρτήματ' ἔστιν and he takes upon himself and adopts all their misdeeds D. 19. 38. ἔστι may be emphatic: ἔστι τοῦ διχὰ διαιρούμενον there exists a twofold division P. L. 895 d. Some participles have become completely adjectivized: συμφέρων useful, διαφέρων superior. Cp. 1961.

1858. Primary and Secondary Tenses. — The primary tenses refer to present and future time (present, future, perfect, and future perfect), the secondary or historical tenses refer to past time (imperfect, aorist, pluperfect).

a. The gnomic aorist (1931 b) is regarded as a primary tense, as is the aorist when used for the perfect (1940), and the imperfect indicative referring to present time (1788); the historical present (1883), as a secondary tense. The subjunctive, optative, and imperative moods in their independent uses point to the future, and all their tenses therefore count as primary.

THE TENSES OUTSIDE OF THE INDICATIVE

1859. The tenses of the moods except the indicative do not express time in independent sentences.

1860. Subjunctive. — The subjunctive mood as such refers to the future. The tenses do not refer to differences of time, and denote only the stage of the action (continuance, simple occurrence, completion with permanent result).

Present (continuance): τὰ αὐτῶν ἅμα ἐκποριζόμεθα let us at the same time keep developing our resources T. 1.82; Aorist (simple occurrence): πορισώμεθα ὅν πρῶτον τὴν δαπάνην let us procure the money first T. 1.83; Perfect (completion with permanent result): ἴνα, ἢ μὴ ὑπακούωσι, τεθνήκωσι that, in case they do not submit, they may be put to death (lit. may be dead at once) T.8.74. The aorist commonly replaces the more exact perfect because the perfect is rarely used.

a. The future time denoted by present or aorist (τί ποιῶμεν; or τί ποιήσωμεν; what shall we do?) may refer, according to the sense, either to the next moment or to some later time. Greek has no subjunctive form denoting an intention to do this or that. In dependent constructions (including general conditions) the action of the present is generally coincident (rarely subsequent), that of the aorist is generally anterior (rarely coincident), to the action of the leading verb: χαλεπαίνουσι, ἐπειδὴν αὐτοῖς παραγγέλλω πίνειν τὸ φάρμακον they are angry whenever I bid them drink the poison P. Ph. 116 c, ἐπειδὴν ἅπαν' ἀκούσητε, κρίνατε when you (shall) have heard everything, decide D. 4. 14. The use of the aorist of time relatively anterior to the action of the leading verb (= Lat. future perfect) is, like its other references to relative time, only an inference from the connection of the thought (1850 a).

b. Present and aorist subjunctive are occasionally used in the same sentence without any great difference in sense (X. C. 1. 2. 6-7, 5. 5. 13).

c. An independent or dependent subjunctive may be ingressive (1924): ἢ γὰρ ὁ Πλούτος νυνὶ βλέψη for if now Plutus recovers his sight Ar. Pl. 494.

d. In general conditions (2336) the subjunctive refers to general time, denoting what holds true now and at all times.

1861. Optative (not in indirect discourse). — The reference is always to future time. The tenses do not refer to differences of time, and denote only the stage of the action.

Present (continuance): πλοῦσιον δὲ νομίζωμιν τὸν σοφόν may I (always) count the wise man wealthy P. Phae. 279 b; Aorist (simple occurrence): εἰ γὰρ γένοιτο would that it might happen X. C. 6. 1. 38; Perfect (completion with permanent result): τεθναίης die (lit. may you be dead) Z 164.

a. In general conditions (2336) the optative is used of past time.

b. In dependent constructions (including general conditions) the action of the present is generally coincident (rarely anterior), that of the aorist generally anterior (rarely coincident), to the action of the leading verb: εἰ τις τὰδε παραβαίνοι, ἐναγῆς ἔστω τοῦ Ἀπόλλωνος if any one violates this, let him be accursed of Apollo Aes. 3. 110, ἐπειδὴ δὲ ἀνοιχθεῖν (τὸ δεσμητήριον), εἰσῆμεν παρὰ τὸν Σωκράτη whenever the prison was opened, we (always) went in to Socrates P. Ph. 59 d. The aorist is often preferred to the more exact perfect because the perfect was rarely used.

c. An independent or dependent optative may be ingressive (1924): ἐπολεμήσαμεν δι' Ὀρωπόν, οὐδὲν ἂν ἡμᾶς παθεῖν ἡγοῦμαι if we should enter upon a war on account of Oropus, I think we should suffer nothing D. 5. 16.

1862. Optative (in indirect discourse).—When the optative in indirect discourse represents the indicative after a past tense of a verb of saying or thinking, each tense does denote time (as well as stage of action) relatively to that of the leading verb.

a. The present optative represents the imperfect as well as the present indicative.

b. The future optative (first in Pindar) occurs only in indirect discourse after verbs of saying and thinking, in object clauses after ὅπως, 2212, and in other indirect expressions of thought.

c. When the optative in indirect discourse represents the subjunctive (2019 b), its tenses denote only stage of action.

1863. a. Present opt. = present indic.: ἀνηρώτῃ τι βούλοιντο he demanded what they wanted (= τι βούλεσθε;) X. A. 2. 3. 4.

b. Present opt. = imperf. indic.: διηγούντο ὅτι ἐπὶ τοὺς πολεμίους πλέουσιν they explained that they kept sailing against the enemy (= ἐπλέομεν) X. H. 1. 7. 5.

c. Future opt. = future indic.: ὅ τι ποιήσῃ οὐδὲ τοῦτοις εἶπε he did not tell even these what he would do (= ποιήσω) X. A. 2. 2. 2.

d. Aorist opt. = aorist indic.: ἠρώτῃ τι πάθειν he asked what had happened to them (= τι ἐπαθετε;) X. C. 2. 3. 19.

e. Perfect opt. = perfect indic.: ἔλεγον ὅτι οἱ μετὰ Δημοσθένους παραδεδόκειν σφᾶς αὐτοῖς they said that the troops of Demosthenes had surrendered (= παραδεδόκασι) T. 7. 83.

1864. Imperative.—The imperative always implies future time. The tenses do not refer to differences of time, and denote only the stage of the action.

a. Present (continuance): τοὺς γονεῖς τιμᾷ honour thy parents I. 1. 16, πάντα τάληθ' ἔλεγε tell (go on and tell in detail) the whole truth L. 1. 18, τοὺς ἵππους ἐκέλευε δίδωρε offer the horses to them X. C. 4. 5. 47.

b. Aorist (simple occurrence): βλέψον πρὸς τὰ ὄρη look (cast a glance) toward the mountains X. A. 4. 1. 20, εἰπέ state (in a word) P. A. 24 d, ἡμῖν τοὺς ἵππους δότε give the horses to us X. C. 4. 5. 47.

c. Perfect (completion with permanent result): τετάχθω let him take his place (and stay there) P. R. 562 a, εἰρήσθω let it have been said (once for all) 503 b.

N.—The perfect active and middle are generally used as presents (τεθάπτε let him be put to death P. L. 938 c, μέμνησθε remember D. 40. 30). The perfect passive (in the third person) is used of a fixed decision concerning what is to be done or has been done.

1865. Infinitive (not in indirect discourse). — The tenses of the infinitive (without ἀν) not in indirect discourse have no time of themselves and express only the stage of the action; their (relative) time depends on the context and is that of the leading verb (present, past, or future). The infinitive may have the article (2025 ff.).

a. Present (continuance): οὐδὲ βουλευέσθαι ἐτι ὄρᾳ, ἀλλὰ βεβουλευέσθαι it is time no longer to be making up one's mind, but to have it made up P. Cr. 46 a.

b. Aorist (simple occurrence): τοῦ πιεῖν ἐπιθύμῃα the desire of obtaining drink T. 7. 84, ἤρξατο γενέσθαι began to be 1. 103, but ἤρχετο γίγνεσθαι 3. 18 (the tense of γίγνομαι depends on that of ἀρχομαι; not ἤρξατο γίγνεσθαι), δεῖ τοὺς ὑπὲρ αὐτοῦ λέγοντας μῶσῃσαι (ingressive) one must conceive an aversion for those who speak in his behalf D. 9. 53.

c. Perfect (completion with permanent result): see a. Often of certainty of action.

d. Future. — When the context shows that stress is laid on the idea of futurity, the future infinitive, referring to future time relative to the main verb, is sometimes used instead of the present or aorist: οὐκ ἀποκωλύσειν δυνατοὶ ὄντες not being able to prevent T. 3. 28, πολλοῦ δέω κατ' ἐμαυτοῦ εἶπῃ I am far from intending to speak to my own disadvantage P. A. 37 b. On the future infinitive with μέλλω see 1959.

N. 1. — The action set forth by a dependent present or aorist infinitive (without ἀν) not in indirect discourse has no time except that which is implied by the context. With verbs signifying to advise or to command, and when the infinitive expresses purpose, the reference is to future time. Usually the action of the present and aorist is coincident with or antecedent to that of the main verb. The action of an aorist infinitive with the article and a subject is not always relatively past. The perfect (without ἀν) has no time apart from the context; its action is usually antecedent.

N. 2. — On the use of the present and aorist with verbs of promising, etc., see 1868; with μέλλω, see 1959.

N. 3. — Observe that verbs denoting continuance (as μένει remain) often appear in the aorist, while verbs of transitory action (as ἵεναι send, hurl) often appear in the present.

N. 4. — Present and aorist occasionally occur in close conjunction without any great difference in meaning, as προσήκει ὑμῖν τούτου καταψηφίσασθαι . . ., δεῖ ὑμᾶς θάνατον αὐτοῦ καταψηφίσασθαι it is fitting that you vote against him, it is necessary that you pass a vote of death against him L. 13. 69; cp. ναυμαχεῖσαι and ναυμαχεῖν T. 2. 83, βασανιστὴς γίγνεσθαι and γενέσθαι Ant. 1. 10, 1. 11.

1866. Infinitive (in indirect discourse). — The tenses of the infinitive in indirect discourse denote the same time relative to that of the leading verb (present, past, or future) as was denoted by the corresponding tenses of the indicative in direct discourse which they represent.

a. The present infinitive represents also the imperfect, the perfect infinitive represents also the pluperfect indicative.

b. The action of the present is usually coincident, that of the aorist anterior, to the action of the leading verb.

c. The future infinitive is found chiefly in indirect discourse and in analogous constructions. With μέλλω, see 1959. It may have the article (2026).

1867. a. Present = pres. indic.: φημί ταῦτα μὲν φλυαρίαις εἶναι I say this is nonsense (= ἐστὶ) X. A. 1. 8. 18.

b. Present = imperf. indic.: Κτησιᾶς ἰᾶσθαι αὐτὸς τὸ τραυμὰ φησι Ktesias asserts that he himself cured the wound (= ἰώμην) X. A. 1. 8. 26. With εἰ, 1846 a.

c. Future = fut. indic.: εἴη ἢ ἀξείν Λακεδαιμονίους ἢ αὐτοὺς ἀποκτενεῖν he said that he would either bring the Lacedaemonians or kill them on the spot (= ἀξω, ἀποκτενῶ) T. 4. 28.

d. Aorist = aor. indic.: ἐπαθθα λέγεται Ἀπόλλων ἐκδεῖραι Μαρσύαν there Apollo is said to have stayed Marsyas (= ἐξέδειρε) X. A. 1. 2. 8. With εἰ, 1848 a.

e. Perfect = perf. ind.: φησὶ ἐγκώμιον γεγραφέναι he says that he has written an encomium (= γέγραφα) I. 10. 14, ἔφασαν τεθνάναι τὸν ἄνδρα they said the man was dead (= τέθνηκε) Ant. 5. 29.

f. Perfect = pluperf. ind.: λέγεται ἄνδρα τινὰ ἐκπεπληγῆσθαι it is said that a certain man had been fascinated (= ἐξεπέπληκτο) X. C. 1. 4. 27. With εἰ, 1849.

1868. The construction of verbs of hoping, etc. — Verbs signifying to hope, expect, promise, threaten, swear, with some others of like meaning, when they refer to a future event, take either the future infinitive (in indirect discourse), or the aorist, less often the present, infinitive (not in indirect discourse). The use of the aorist and present is due to the analogy of verbs of will or desire (1991) which take an object infinitive not in indirect discourse. The same analogy accounts for the use of μή instead of οὐ (2725). The present or aorist infinitive with εἰ, representing the potential optative with εἰ, occurs occasionally.

a. ἐν ἐλπίδι ὅν τὰ τεῖχη τῶν Ἀθηναίων αἰρῆσθαι hoping that he would capture the walls of the Athenians T. 7. 46, ἐλπὶς . . . ἐκτραφῆναι hope of being brought up L. 19. 8, ἐλπίζει δυνατὸς εἶναι ἀρχεῖν he expects to be able to rule P. R. 573 c, ἔχεις τινὰ ἐλπίδα μὴ εἶν . . . τὴν ναὺν ἀπολέσαι; have you any expectation that you would not shipwreck the vessel? X. M. 2. 6. 38. ἐλπίζω with the present infinitive may mean I feel sure that I am.

b. τάχιστα οὐδένα εἰκὸς σὸν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ βουλῆσθαι εἶναι it is probable that very soon no one will wish to be with him X. C. 5. 3. 30, ἡμᾶς εἰκὸς ἐπικρατῆσαι it is likely that we shall succeed T. 1. 121, οὐκ εἰκὸς αὐτοῦς περιουσιᾶν πῶν ἔχειν it is not likely that they will continue to have ships to spare 3. 13. With εἰκὸς the aorist is preferred.

c. ἐπέσχετο ταῦτα ποιῆσθαι he promised that he would do this L. 12. 14, ἐπέσχετο βουλευσάσθαι (most Mss.) he promised to deliberate X. A. 2. 8. 20. The aorist infinitive is especially common with verbs of promising and must refer to the future. With the present infinitive ἐπιχωροῦμαι means I assure, profess, pledge my word that I am.

d. ἀπειλεῖ ἐκτρίψαι he threatened that he would destroy them Hdt. 6. 87, ἠπειλησαν ἀποκτεῖναι πάντας they threatened to kill everybody X. H. 5. 4. 7.

e. δικάσειν ὁμωμόκατε you have sworn that you will give judgment D. 39. 40, ἀναγκάζει τὸν Κερσοβλέπτην ὁμοῦσαι . . . εἶναι μὲν τὴν ἀρχὴν κοινὴν . . . , πάντας δ' ἑμῶν ἀποδοῦναι τὴν χώραν he compelled Cersobleptes to swear that the kingdom should be in common and that they should all restore to you the territory D. 23. 170.

f. With δυνῆμι a dependent infinitive may refer to the present, past, or future (e). Thus, δυνόντες βλέπειν . . . 'Αχιλλεύῃ πάλιν swearing that they see Achilles again S. Ph. 357, δυνόντων μὴ 'κπίνειν they swear they did not drink Phecreates 148 (Com. fr. I. 187), ἔμνευε μὴδὲν εἰρηκέναι he swore that he had said nothing (direct = οὐδὲν εἰρηκα) D. 21. 119.

1869. Verbs of will or desire (1991) regularly take the present or aorist infinitive not in indirect discourse; but in some cases we find the future infinitive by assimilation to indirect discourse through the analogy of verbs of promising, etc. (1868). So with βούλομαι, θέλω wish, λέγω meaning command, δέχομαι ask, ἐπιέμαι desire and some others (even δύναμαι am able) that have a future action as their object. Thus, ἐπιέμενοι δοῦναι being desirous to gain control T. 6. 6, ἀδύνατοι ἐπιμελεῖς ἔσσεσθαι unable to be careful X. O. 12. 12. διανοοῦμαι may follow the analogy of μέλλω (1969): τὸν πόλεμον διανοοῦντο προθύμως ὁδεῖν they intended to carry on the war with zeal T. 4. 121. In these and similar cases the future is employed to stress the future character of the action. Some editors would emend many of these futures.

1870. Verbs signifying to foretell by oracle usually take the present or aorist infinitive like verbs signifying to command.

1871. A few cases stand in our texts of an aorist infinitive referring to the future after a verb of saying or thinking, e.g. ἐνόμισαν ῥαδίως κρατῆσαι they thought they would easily master them T. 2. 3. Many editors change to the future or insert δν.

1872. Participle (not in indirect discourse). — The participle, as a verbal adjective, is timeless. The tenses of the participle express only continuance, simple occurrence, and completion with permanent result. Whether the action expressed by the participle is antecedent, coincident, or subsequent to that of the leading verb (in any tense) depends on the context. The future participle has a temporal force only because its voluntative force points to the future.

a. Present (continuative). The action set forth by the present participle is generally coincident (rarely antecedent or subsequent) to that of the leading verb: ἐργαζόμεναι μὲν ἥριστων, ἐργασάμεναι δὲ ἐδεῖν the women took their noonday meal while they continued their work, but took their supper when they had stopped work X. M. 2. 7. 12.

1. Antecedent action (= imperf.): οἱ Κύριοι πρόθεν σὺν ἡμῖν ταττόμενοι νῦν ἀφελήκασι the forces of Cyrus that were formerly marshalled with us have now deserted X. A. 3. 2. 17, τοὺς τότε παρόντας αἰτιάζονται συμβούλους they will accuse those who were their counsellors at that time P. G. 519 a, οἱ Κορίνθιοι μέχρι τούτου προθύμως πράσσοντες ἀνείσαν τῆς φιλονικίας the Corinthians, who up to that time had been acting zealously, now slackened in their vehemence T. 5. 32. An adverb (πρότερον, πρόθεν, τότε, ποτέ) often accompanies the participle, which is sometimes called the participle of the imperfect.

2. Subsequent action (especially v.nen the leading verb denotes motion): ἐπεμψαν πρέσβεις ἀγγέλλοντας τὴν τοῦ Πλημυρίου λῆψιν they despatched messengers to announce the capture of Ptemyrrium T. 7. 25. An attributive present part. w. vũ may refer to the absolute present, though the main verb is past: τῇν νũ Βοιωτῖαν καλουμένην ᾤκησαν they settled in the country now called Boeotia T. 1. 12.

3. The present participle denotes that an action is in process, is attempted, or is repeated.

b. Future (chiefly voluntative): οὐ συνήλθομεν ὡς βασιλεῖ πολέμησantes we have not come together for the purpose of waging war with the king X. A. 2. 3. 21.

c. Aorist (simple occurrence). The action set forth by the aorist participle is generally antecedent to that of the leading verb; but it is sometimes coincident or nearly so, when it defines, or is identical with, that of the leading verb, and the subordinate action is only a modification of the main action.

1. Antecedent: δειπνήσας ἐχώρει after supper he advanced T. 3. 112, τοὺς ἐλευθέρους ἀποκτείναντες ἀπεχώρησαν after killing the free men they withdrew 5. 83. ἐπομβσας ἔφη he took an oath and said X. C. 4. 1. 23, ἤδη δ' ἐπὶ ταῦτα πορεύσομαι ποσούτων αὐτὸν ἐρωτήσας I shall at once proceed to this matter after having put to him certain questions D. 18. 124. The aorist participle is often thus used when it takes up the preceding verb: νῦν μὲν δειπνεῖτε δειπνήσαντες δὲ ἀπελάνετε take your supper now, and when you have done so, depart X. C. 3. 1. 37.

2. Coincident: μὴ τι ἐξαμαρτῆτε ἐμοῦ καταψηφισόμενοι do not commit the error of condemning me P. A. 30 d, εὖ γ' ἐποίησας ἀναμνήσας με you did well in reminding me P. Ph. 60 c (= ἀνέμνησας με εὖ ποιῶν). So also when an aorist participle is used with a future finite verb, as ἀπαλλαχθήσομαι βίου θανοῦσα by dying I shall be delivered from life E. Hipp. 356. See also 2103.

3. The action of an attributive aorist participle is rarely subsequent to that of the leading verb. When this is the case, the action of the participle is marked as past from the point of view of the present (like the aor. indic.): οἱ Ἕλληνες ὑστερον κληθέντες οὐδὲν πρὸ τῶν Τρωϊκῶν ἀθροοὶ ἐπράξαν the people later called Hellenes carried out no joint enterprise prior to the Trojan war T. 1. 3, Σάτυρος καὶ Χρέμων, οἱ τῶν τριάκοντα γενόμενοι, Κλεοφῶντος κατηγοροῦν Satyrus and Chremon, who (afterwards) became members of the Thirty, accused Cleophon L. 30. 12; cp. γενόμενος T. 2. 49, 4. 81.

4. The aorist participle is often ingressive or complexive (1924, 1927).

d. Perfect (completion with permanent result): καταλαμβάνουσι Βρᾶσιδᾶν ἐπεληλυθότα they found (historical present) that Brasidas had arrived T. 3. 69. A perfect participle may have the force of a pluperfect if accompanied by an adverb like πρόσθεν (cp. 1872 a. 1): ὁ πρόσθε κεκτημένος he who possessed it before S. Ph. 778.

1873. Construction of λανθάνω, φθάνω, τυγχάνω. — A supplementary aorist participle with any tense, except the present or imperfect, of λανθάνω escape the notice of, φθάνω anticipate, τυγχάνω happen usually coincides in time with the leading verb: ἔλαθον ἑμαυτὸν οὐδὲν εἰπὼν I was unconsciously talking nonsense P. Ph. 76 d, λίσσομεν ἐπιτεσόντες we shall fall on them unawares X. A. 7. 3. 43. But the action of an aorist participle with the present or imperfect is generally prior to that of the leading verb: ὅστις ἀντιπῶν γε ἐτύγχανε who chanced to have spoken in opposition L. 12. 27. See 2096.

1874. Participle (in indirect discourse). The tenses of the participle in indirect discourse after verbs of intellectual perception denote the same time relative to that of the leading verb (present, past, or future) as was denoted by the corresponding tenses of the indicative in direct discourse which they represent. See 2106, 2112 b.

a. Present = pres. indic.: the action is generally coincident: ἐπειδὴν γινώσκουσιν ἀπιστοῦμενοι when they find out that they are distrusted (= ὅτι ἀπιστοῦμεθα) X. C. 7. 2. 17; rarely antecedent (when the present = the imperf. ind.): οἶδά σε λέγοντα δεῖ I know that you always used to say (= ὅτι ἔλεγες) 1. 6. 6.

b. Future = fut. indic.: ἀγνοεῖ τὸν πόλεμον δεῦρ' ἔχοντα he is ignorant that the war will come here (= ὅτι ὁ πόλεμος ἔξει) D. 1. 15.

c. Aorist = aor. indic.: τὸν Μῆδον ἴσμεν ἐπὶ τῇ Πελοπόννησῳ ἐλθόντα we know that the Mede came against the Peloponnese (= ὅτι ὁ Μῆδος ἦλθε) T. 1. 69.

d. Perfect = perf. indic.: οὐ γὰρ ᾔδεσαν αὐτὸν τεθνηκότα for they did not know that he was dead (= ὅτι τέθνηκε) X. A. 1. 10. 16. The perfect may also represent the pluperfect (cp. 1872 d).

TENSES OF THE INDICATIVE

PRESENT INDICATIVE

1875. The present represents a present state, or an action going on at the present time: ἀληθῇ λέγω I am telling the truth L. 13. 72.

a. On the present without any idea of duration, see 1858.

1876. Present of Customary Action.—The present is used to express a customary or repeated action: οὗτος μὲν γὰρ ὕδαρ, ἐγὼ δ' οἶνον πίνω for this man drinks water, whereas I drink wine D. 19. 46.

1877. Present of General Truth.—The present is used to express an action that is true for all time: ἀγχι δὲ πρὸς φῶς τὴν ἀλήθειαν χρόνος time brings the truth to light Men. Sent. 11.

a. The present is an absolute tense in such sentences. The future, aorist, and perfect may also express a general truth.

1878. Conative Present.—The present may express an action begun, attempted, or intended.

τὴν δόξαν ταύτην πείθουσιν ἡμᾶς ἀποβαλεῖν they are trying to persuade you to throw away this renown I. 6. 12, δίδωμι σοι αὐτὴν ταύτην γυναῖκα I offer you this woman herself as a wife X. C. 8. 5. 19, προδίδοντο τὴν Ἑλλάδα they are trying to betray Greece Ar. P. 408.

a. This use is found also in the infinitive and participle: Φιλίππου ἐπὶ Βυζάντιον παρίοντος when Philip is preparing to advance against Byzantium D. 8. 66.

b. The idea of attempt or intention is an inference from the context and lies in the present only so far as the present does not denote completion.

1879. Present for the Future (Present of Anticipation).—The present is used instead of the future in statements of what is immediate, likely, certain, or threatening.

μεταξὺ τὸν λόγον καταλόμεν; shall we break off in the middle? P. G. 505 c, καὶ εἰ βούλει, παραχωρῶ σοι τοῦ βήματος, ὥς ἂν εἴπῃς and if you wish, I will yield you the floor until you tell us Aes. 3. 165, ἀπόλλυμαι I am on the verge of ruin Ant. 5. 35 (so ἀπόλλυτο 5. 37 of past time), εἰ αὕτη ἡ πόλις ληφθήσεται, ἔχεται καὶ ἡ πᾶσα Σικελία if this city is taken, the whole of Sicily as well is in their power T. 6. 91.

a. Sometimes in questions to indicate that the decision must be made on the spot: ἢ πῶς λέγομεν; or how shall we say? (what must we say?) P. G. 480 b.

1880. εἰμι is regularly future (I shall go) in the indicative present. In the subjunctive it is always future; in the optative, infinitive, and participle it may be either future or present. Cp. 774. In ἰὼν ταῦτα λέγε go and say this (X. C. 4. 5. 17) ἰὼν is used of time relatively past. In Hom. εἰμι means both I go and I shall go.

1881. ἔρχομαι, πορεύομαι, νέομαι (poet.) may be used in a future sense. χέω means either I pour or I shall pour. ἔδομαι I shall eat, πίομαι I shall drink, are present in form. Cp. 541.

1882. Oracular Present. — In prophecies a future event may be regarded as present: χρόνῳ ἀγρεῖ Πριάμον πόλιν ἃδε κέλευθος in time this expedition will capture Priam's city A. Ag. 126.

1883. Historical Present. — In lively or dramatic narration the present may be used to represent a past action as going on at the moment of speaking or writing. This use does not occur in Homer.

ὁ δὲ Θημοστοκλῆς φεύγει ἐς Κέρκυραν . . . διακομίζεται ἐς τὴν ἡπειρὸν Themistocles fled (flees) to Corcyra . . . was (is) transported to the mainland T. 1. 136.

a. The historical present may represent either the descriptive imperfect or the narrative aorist.

b. The historical present may be coördinated with past tenses, which may precede or follow it: ἅμα δὲ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῇ πῶλει προσέκειτο καὶ αἰεὶ at daybreak he assaulted the town and took it T. 7. 29, οὕτω δὲ ἀπογράφονται πάντες ἀνέλαβόν τε τὰ ὅπλα accordingly they all enrolled themselves and took the arms X. C. 2. 1. 19.

c. The historical present is less frequent in subordinate clauses (T. 2. 91. 3).

1884. Annalistic Present. — Closely connected with the historical present is the annalistic present, which is used to register historical facts or to note incidents.

Δαρείου καὶ Παρυσάτιδος γίγνονται παῖδες δύο of Darius and Parysatis were (are) born two sons X. A. 1. 1. 1, πρὸ Λευτυχίδου γὰρ (Ζευξίδημος) τελευτᾷ . . . Λευτυχίδης γαμέει Εὐρυδάμην, ἐκ τῆς αἰ . . . γίνεται θυγάτηρ for Zeuxidemus died before Leutyichides . . . L. married Eurydame, from her was born to him a daughter Hdt. 6. 71, καὶ ὁ ἐπαιυτός ἐληγεν, ἐν ᾧ Καρχηδόνιοι αἰροῦσι δύο πόλεις Ἑλληνίδας and the year came to an end in which the Carthaginians captured two Greek cities X. H. 1. 1. 37.

1885. Present of Past and Present Combined. — The present, when accompanied by a definite or indefinite expression of past time, is used to express an action begun in the past and continued in the present. The 'progressive perfect' is often used in translation.

Thus, πάλαι θαυμάζω I have been long (and am still) wondering P. Cr. 43 b. Cp. iamdudum loquor. So with πάρος, ποτέ. This use appears also in the other moods.

a. So with verbs of hearing, saying, learning, whose action commenced in the past, but whose effect continues into the present: ἐξ ὧν ἀκούω from what I hear (have heard) X. A. 1. 9. 28, ὅπερ λέγω as I said P. A. 21 a. So with ἀσθάνομαι, γιγνώσκω, μαθάνω, πυνθάνομαι. ἄρτι just is often found with these verbs.

b. The perfect is used instead of the present when the action is completed in the present.

1886. Present for Perfect. — ἦκω I am come, I have arrived, οἶχομαι I am gone, have a perfect sense; as also ἔρχομαι, ἀφικνούμαι. Thus, Θεμιστοκλῆς ἦκω παρὰ σέ I Themistocles have come to you T. 1. 137, οἶδα ὅθι οἰχονται I know where they have gone X. A. 1. 4. 8.

a. ἦκω may be used in connection with the gnomic aorist (P. S. 188 a).

1887. The present of certain verbs often expresses an enduring result, and may be translated by the perfect: ἀδικῶ I am guilty (ἀδικός εἰμι), I have done wrong, νικῶ, κρατῶ, I am victorious, I have conquered, ἡττῶμαι I am conquered, φεύγω I am the defendant or I am an exile (οἱ φεύγοντες the fugitives and the exiles), προδίδωμι I am a traitor, ἀλλέσκομαι I am captured, στέρομαι I am deprived, γίγνομαι I am a descendant.

ἦκω εἰς τὴν σὴν οἰκίαν, ἀδικῶ δ' οὐδέν I am come to thy house, but have done no wrong L. 12. 14, ἀπαγγέλλετε Ἀριαίῳ ὅτι ἡμεῖς γε νικῶμεν βασιλεῦ report to Ariæus that we at least have conquered the king X. A. 2. 1. 4.

a. So, in poetry, γεννῶ, φῶ, τίκτω, θνήσκω, δαλλυμαι. Thus, ἦδε τίκτει σε this woman (has born thee =) is thy mother E. Ion 1560.

1888. In subordinate clauses, the action expressed by the present may be (a) contemporaneous, (b) antecedent, or (c) subsequent to that set forth by the main verb. The context alone decides in which sense the present is to be taken: (a) ἔλεγεν ὅτι ἔτοιμος εἴη ἡγεῖσθαι αὐτοῖς he said that he was ready to lead them X. A. 6. 1. 38; (b) when the present states an action begun in the past and continued in the present: ἐπεὶτε δὲ Πέρσαι ἔχουσι τὸ κράτος, (τὸ πᾶν) ἐστὶ τοῦ βασιλέως from the time that the Persians began to hold sway, it belongs to the king Hdt. 3. 117; and with the historical present: ὡς δὲ γίγνονται ἐπ' αὐτῷ, ἐσπικτούσιν when they came to it, they rushed in T. 7. 84; (c) ἐγένετο ῥήτρᾳ . . . εἰ παρὰ ταῦτα ποιοῖεν, κολάζειν an ordinance was passed . . . if they act contrary to this, to punish them X. C. 1. 6. 38.

IMPERFECT

1889. The imperfect represents an action as still going on, or a state as still existing, in the past: Κύρος οὐπω ἦκεν, ἀλλ' ἔτι προσήλυνε Cyrus had not yet arrived (1886), but was still marching on X. A. 1. 5. 12, ἐβασίλευεν Ἀντίοχος Antiochus was reigning T. 2. 80. The conclusion of the action is usually to be inferred from the context.

1890. Imperfect of Continuance. — The imperfect thus represents an action as continuing in the past: διέφθειραν Ἀθηναίων πέντε καὶ εἴκοσι, οἱ ξυνεπολιορκούντο they put to death twenty-five of the Athenians who were besieged (i.e. from the beginning to the end of the siege) T. 3. 68.

1891. The imperfect of verbs of sending, going, saying, exhorting, etc., which imply continuous action, is often used where we might expect the aorist of concluded action. Thus, in ἔπεμπον, the action is regarded as unfinished since the goal is not reached: ἄγγελον ἔπεμπον καὶ τοὺς νεκροὺς ὑποσπένδους ἀπέδσαν they sent a messenger and surrendered the dead under a truce T. 2. 6. In ἐκέλευον gave orders, urged, requested the command, etc., is regarded as not yet executed. In ἔλεγεν αὐτοῖς τοιοῦτα he spoke to them as follows X. H. 1. 6. 4 (followed by the speech and ἐπεὶ δὲ ταῦτ' εἶπεν 1. 6. 12) the speech is not thought of as a finished whole, but as developed point by point, as in ἐπεὶ δὲ οὗτος ταῦτα ἔλεγεν, ἔλεξα but when he had said this, I said Ant. 6. 21.

a. In messenger's speeches the speaker may go back to the time of receiving a command: λέγει σ' ἐκέλευον οἱ στρατηγοὶ τήμερον the generals order you to depart to-day Ar. Ach. 1073.

1892. The imperfect, when accompanied by an expression of past time, is used of actions which had been in progress for some time and were still in progress (cp. 1885): τὸ Πήγιον ἐπὶ πολλὸν χρόνον ἐστασίαζε Rhegium had been for a long time in a state of faction T. 4. 1. If the action is regarded as completed the pluperfect is used.

1893. Imperfect of Customary Action.—The imperfect is used to express frequently repeated or customary past actions: ἐπεὶ εἶδον αὐτὸν ὥστερ πρόσθεν προσεκύνουν, καὶ τότε προσεκύνησαν when they caught sight of him, the very men who before this were wont to prostrate themselves before him, prostrated themselves on this occasion also X. A. 1. 6. 10, (Σωκράτης) τοὺς ἐαυτοῦ ἐπιθυμούντας οὐκ ἐπράττετο χρήματα Socrates was not in the habit of demanding money from those who were passionately attached to him X. M. 1. 2. 5. See also 2340.

a. The repetition of a simple act in the past is expressed by πολλάκις with the aorist (1890).

1894. Iterative Imperfect.—ἄν may be used with this imperfect (1790): ἐπεθόμει ἄν τις ἐτι πλεῖω αὐτοῦ ἀκούειν people would (used to) desire to hear still more from him X. C. 1. 4. 3.

1895. Conative Imperfect.—The imperfect may express an action attempted, intended, or expected, in the past.

ἔπειθον αὐτοὺς, καὶ οὓς ἔπεισα, τοὺς τοὺς ἔχων ἐπορεύομην I tried to persuade them, and I marched away with those whom I succeeded in persuading X. C. 5. 5. 22, 'Ἀλόννησον ἐδίδου· ὁ δ' ἀπηγόρευε μὴ λαμβάνειν Philip offered (proposed to give) Halonnesus, but he (Demosthenes) dissuaded them from accepting it Aes. 3. 83, Θηβαῖοι κατεδουλοῦντ' αὐτοὺς the Thebans tried to enslave them D. 8. 74, ἤπειγοντο ἐς τὴν Κέρκυραν they were for pushing on to Corcyra T. 4. 3.

a. Here may be placed the imperfect equivalent in sense to ἐμελλόν with the infinitive. Thus, φορεῖς οὖν αὐτῶν ἐγιγνόμεν ἐγὼ μὴ εἰπὼν ὑμῖν ἃ ἤκουσα. ἔτι δὲ τριάκσιους Ἀθηναίων ἀπώλλων I was on the point of becoming their murderer (interfecturus eram) had I not told you what I heard. And besides I threatened three hundred Athenians with death And. 1. 58. So ἀπωλλόμεν I was threatened with death.

1896. Imperfect of Resistance or Refusal.—With a negative, the imperfect often denotes resistance or refusal (would not or could not). The aorist with a negative denotes unrestricted denial of a fact.

τὴν πρόκλησιν οὐκ ἐδέχεσθε you would not accept the proposal T. 3. 64 (τὴν ἱκετείαν οὐκ ἐδέξαντο they did not receive the supplication 1. 24), ὁ μὲν οὐκ ἐγάμει, ὁ δὲ ἐγγμεν the one would not marry, the other did D. 44. 17, οὐδὲ φωνὴν ἤκουον, εἴ τις ἄλλο τι βούλοιο λέγειν they would not even listen to a syllable if ever any one wished to say anything to the contrary D. 18. 43. So οὐκ εἶα he would not allow (he was not for allowing).

1897. If simple positive and negative are contrasted, the aorist is preferred with the latter: τὰ ὑπάρχοντά τε σῶζειν (positive with present) καὶ ἐπικυνῶναι μηδέν (negative with aorist) to preserve what you have, and to form no new plans T. 1. 70. But where the verb itself contains or implies a negative idea, the present is used: παρῆναι καὶ μὴ ἀποδημεῖν to be present and not to be abroad Aes. 2. 59.

1898. Imperfect of Description.—The imperfect describes manners and customs; the situation, circumstances, and details, of events; and the development of actions represented as continuing in past time.

ἐκείνους τε τοὺς ὑφ' αὐτοῦ ὥσπερ αὐτοῦ παῖδας ἐτίμα, οἱ τε ἀρχόμενοι Κύρον ὡς πατέρα ἐσέβορον he (Cyrus) treated his subjects with honour as if they were his own children, and his subjects revered Cyrus like a father X. C. 8. 8. 2, εὐθὺς ἀπεβόησαν τε πάντες καὶ προσπεσόντες ἐμάχοντο, ἐώθουν, ἐωθοῦντο, ἔπαιον, ἐπαιοντο immediately all raised a shout and falling upon each other fought, pushed and were pushed, struck and were struck 7. 1. 38, ἐπεὶ δὲ ταῦτα ἐρήθη, ἐπορεύοντο· τῶν δὲ ἀπαντῶντων οἱ μὲν ἀπέθνησκον, οἱ δὲ ἔφευγον πάλιν εἰσω, οἱ δὲ ἐβόων and when these words had been spoken, they proceeded to advance; and of those who met them some were killed, others fled back indoors, and others shouted 7. 5. 26, ἐστρατήγει δὲ αὐτῶν Ἀριστεύς Aristeus was their commander T. 1. 60; cp. X. C. 4. 2. 28, X. Ag. 2. 12, X. A. 4. 3. 8–25, Isocr. 1. 9, 7. 51–53, D. 18. 169 ff., Aes. 3. 192.

N.—The imperfect often has a dramatic or panoramic force: it enables the reader to follow the course of events as they occurred, as if he were a spectator of the scene depicted.

1899. The imperfect is thus often used to explain, illustrate, offer reasons for an action, and to set forth accompanying and subordinate circumstances that explain or show the result of the main action. Descriptive adverbs are often used with the imperfect.

ἐνταῦθα ἔμεινεν ἡμέρας πέντε· καὶ τοῖς στρατιώταις ὀφείλετο μισθὸς πλεον ἢ τριῶν μηνῶν, καὶ πολλάκις ἰόντες ἐπὶ τὰς θύρας ἀπήτουν· ὁ δὲ ἐλπιδας λέγων διήγε καὶ δῆλος ἦν ἀνιόμενος there he remained for five days; and the soldiers whose pay was in arrears for more than three months kept going to headquarters and demanding their dues; but he kept expressing his expectation (of making payment) and was plainly annoyed X. A. 1. 2. 11. See also 1907 a.

1900. Inchoative Imperfect. — The imperfect may denote the beginning of an action or of a series of actions: ἔπειδὴ δὲ καιρὸς ἦν, προσίβαλλον but when the proper time arrived, they began an (proceeded to) attack T. 7. 51.

1901. Imperfect for Present. — In descriptions of places and scenery and in other statements of existing facts the imperfect, instead of the present, is often used by assimilation to the time of the narrative (usually set forth in the main verb).

ἀφίκοντο ἐπὶ τὸν ποταμὸν ὃς ὄριζε τὴν τῶν Μακρόνων χώραν καὶ τὴν τῶν Σκυθηρῶν they came to the river which divided the country of the Macrones from that of the Scythians X. A. 4. 8. 1, ἐξελαύνει ἐπὶ ποταμὸν πλήρη ἰχθύων, οἷς οἱ Σύροι θεοὺς ἐνόμιζον he marched to a river full of fish, which the Syrians regarded as gods 1. 4. 9.

1902. — Imperfect of a Truth Just Recognized. — The imperfect, usually some form of εἶναι, with ἀρα, is often used to denote that a present fact or truth has just been recognized, although true before: οὐδὲν ἄρ' ἦν πρᾶγμα it is, as it appears, no matter after all P. S. 196 e, τοῦτ' ἦν ἀληθές this is true after all E. I. T. 351, ἀρα ἤριστε you know, sure enough X. H. 8. 4. 9. ἀρα sure enough, after all appears with other tenses (P. Cr. 49 a, P. Ph. 61 a, D. 19. 160).

1903. The imperfect may refer to a topic previously discussed: ἡ μὲν μουσικὴ ἀντιστροφὸς τῆς γυμναστικῆς εἰ μνησθῆναι music is (as we have seen) the counterpart of gymnastics, if you remember the discussion P. R. 522 a. This is called the philosophical imperfect.

1904. The epistolary imperfect is rare in Greek. See 1942 b.

1905. ἔδει, ἔχρην. — The imperfect of verbs expressing obligation or duty may refer to present time and imply that the obligation or duty is not fulfilled: σιγήσας ἦνικ' ἔδει λέγειν keeping silence when he ought to speak D. 18. 189. So with ἔχρην it were proper, ἐκὸς ἦν it were fitting (1774). But the imperfect may also express past obligation without denying the action of the infinitive, as ἔδει μένειν he was obliged to remain (and did remain) D. 19. 124, ὅπερ ἔδει δεῖξαι quod erat demonstrandum Euclid 1. 5 (1779).

1906. Imperfect for Pluperfect. — The imperfect has the force of the pluperfect in the case of verbs whose present is used in the sense of the perfect (1886).

Thus, ἦκον I had come (rarely I came), φύβην I had departed, as ἐπικων I was victorious, ἡττώμην I was defeated (1752). So (Ὀλύμπια) οἷς Ἀνδρόσθενης παγκράτιον ἐπικᾶ the Olympic games, at which Androstenes was the victor (= had won) in the pancratiun T. 5. 49.

1907. In subordinate clauses, the action expressed by the imperfect may be (a) contemporaneous with or (b) antecedent to that set forth by the main verb: (a) τοσοῦτοι ἦσαν οἱ ἐξόπαντες ὅτε ἐς τὴν πολιορκίαν καθίσταντο this was their total number when they began to be besieged T. 2. 78; (b) τὸ πλοῖον ἦκεν, ἐν ᾧ ἐπλέομεν the vessel arrived in which we (had) sailed Ant. 5. 29. Greek has no special form to express time that is anterior to the past.

1908. Imperfect and Aorist.—The imperfect and aorist often occur in the same passage; and the choice of the one or the other often depends upon the manner in which the writer may view a given action. The imperfect may be represented by a line, along which an action progresses; the aorist denotes a point on the line (either starting point or end), or surveys the whole line from beginning to end.

a. The imperfect of 'continuance' or 'duration' implies nothing as to the absolute length of the action; cp. πάλιν κατὰ τάχος ἐκόμισε τὴν στρατὸν he took the army back as quickly as possible T. 1. 114 with κατὰ τάχος ἀπεχώρησε he retreated as quickly as possible 1. 73. The imperfect does not indicate 'prolonged' action in contrast to 'momentary' action of the aorist.

b. The imperfect puts the reader in the midst of the events as they were taking place, the aorist simply reports that an event took place: ἔπειτα ψιλοὶ δώδεκα ἀνέβαινον, ὃν ἡγεῖτο Ἀμμῆας, καὶ πρῶτος ἀνέβη then twelve light-armed men proceeded to climb up under the leadership of Ammeas, who was the first to mount T. 3. 22. Cp. T. 2. 49, 3. 15. 1-2, 4. 14, X. H. 4. 4. 1, I. 5. 53-54, 8. 99-100.

1909. The following statement presents the chief differences between imperfect and aorist as narrative tenses.

Imperfect	Aorist circumstances, details, course of action	mere fact of occurrence, general statement progress, enduring condition, continued activity	consummation (culmination, final issue, summary process)
general description	isolated points, characteristic examples endeavour	attainment
actions subordinate to the main action	main actions, without reference to other actions

Cp. ἐνεστράτευον they served with them in the war, ἐνεστράτευσαν they took the field with them (both in T. 7. 57). ἔπειθον I tried to persuade, ἔπεισα I succeeded in persuading (both in X. C. 5. 5. 22).

FUTURE INDICATIVE

1910. The future denotes an action that will take place at some future time: λήψεται μισθὸν τάλαντον he shall receive a talent as his reward X. A. 2. 2. 20.

a. The action is future according to the opinion, expectation, hope, fear, or purpose of the speaker or the agent.

b. The action of the future is either continuative (like the present) or, like that of the aorist, expresses simple attainment. Thus τελευτῶ means I shall try to persuade, or I shall convince (resultative), βασιλεύσω I shall be king, shall reign or I shall become king (ingressive).

1911. When a verb has two futures, that formed from the same stem as the present is properly continuative, that formed from the aorist stem marks simple attainment: thus, ἔξω I shall have, σχήσω I shall get; as καὶ ταῦτ' ἐλέγχευ οὐκ ὑπελάμβανον εἶναι and I supposed with reason that this would continue so D. 19. 153, Θηβαῖοι ἔχουσι μὲν ἀπεχθῶς, ἐτι δ' ἐχθροτέρως σχήσουσιν the Thebans are hostile and will become still more so 5. 18. (But εἶω usually does duty for σχήσω.) So, ἀχθέσομαι shall be angry, ἀχθεσθήσομαι shall get angry, φοβήσομαι shall continue fearful, φοβηθήσομαι shall be terrified, αἰσχυνοῦμαι shall feel (continued) shame, αἰσχυρθήσομαι shall be ashamed (on a single occasion). Cp. 1738.

1912. The future represents both our shall and will. When voluntative (will), the action of the subject may be (1) the result of his own decision, as ἐὼ δὴ ποιῆσω τοῦτο that I never will do D. 18. 11, or (2) dependent on the will of another, as ἡ βουλὴ μέλλει αἰρεῖσθαι ὅστις ἐπεὶ ἐπὶ τοῖς ἀποθανούσι the Senate is about to choose some one to speak over the dead P. Menex. 234 b. The use of the future is often similar to that of the subjunctive, especially in dependent clauses.

1913. Verbs of wishing, asking, and other voluntative verbs may appear in the future where English has the present: τοσοῦτον οὖν σου τυγχάνειν βούλησομαι I (shall) wish to obtain only so much at thy hands E. Med. 259, παραιτήσομαι δ' ὑμᾶς μηδὲν ἀχθεσθῆναι μοι I (shall) beg you not to take any offence at me D. 21. 58. Cp. Lat. censebo.

a. In many cases the use of the future indicates that the wish remains unchanged; and there is no reference to a future act. Sometimes the future appears to be a more modest form of statement than the present.

1914. Gnomic Future.—The future may express a general truth: ἀνὴρ ἐπιεικὴς υἱὸν ἀπολέσας ῥᾶστα ὅσκει τῶν ἄλλων a reasonable man, if he loses a son, will (is expected to) bear it more easily than other men P. R. 603 e (cp. 1434).

a. Hdt. uses the future in descriptions of customs and in directions to travellers (1. 173, 2. 29).

1915. Future for Present.—The future may be used instead of the present of that which is possible at the moment of speaking: εὐρήσομεν τοὺς φιλοτίμους τῶν ἀνδρῶν . . . ἀντὶ τοῦ ζῆν ἀποθνήσκειν εὐκλεῶς αἰρουμένους we shall find that ambitious men choose a glorious death in preference to life I. 9. 3.

a. The future may denote present intention: αἶρε πλῆκτρον, εἰ μαχεῖ raise your spur if you mean to fight Ar. Av. 759 (in this use μέλλω is more common (1959)). So in the tragic τί λέξεις; what do you mean? E. Med. 1310.

1916. Deliberative Future.—The future is often used in deliberative questions: τί ἐροῦμεν ἢ τί φήσομεν; what shall we say or what shall we propose? D. 8. 37.

a. The deliberative future may occur in connection with the deliberative subjunctive (1805): εἰπῶμεν ἢ σιγῶμεν; ἢ τί δράσομεν; shall we speak or keep silent? or what shall we do? E. Ion 758.

1917. Jussive Future.—The future may express a command, like the imperative; and, in the second person, may denote concession or permission. The negative is οὐ. The tone of the jussive future (which is post-Homeric) is generally familiar.

ὡς οὖν ποιήσετε you will do thus P. Pr. 388 a, ἀναγνώσεται τὸν νόμον—ἀναγίνωσκε the clerk will read the law—read D. 24. 39, αὐτὸς γνώσει you will judge for yourself P. Phil. 12 a, σπουδὴ ἔσται τῆς ὁδοῦ you will have to hurry on the march T. 7. 77, ὅμως οὖν, ἐὰν σωφρονήτε, οὐ τοῦτον ἀλλ' ὁμῶν φείσεσθε νοῦν, if you are wise, you will spare, not him, but yourselves X. H. 2. 3. 34.

1918. The future with οὐ interrogative is used in questions in an imperative sense to express urgency, warning, or irony: οὐκ ἔξιμεν . . . οὐκ ἐπὶ τὴν ἐκείνου πλευσόμεθα; shall we not go forth . . . shall we not set sail against his country? D. 4. 44, οὐ φυλάξεσθε; will you not be on your guard? 6. 25. In exhortations addressed to oneself: οὐκ ἀπαλαχθήσομαι θυμοῦ; shall I not cease from my passion? E. Med. 878.

a. μή with the future in a prohibitive sense is used in a few suspected passages (L. 29. 13, D. 23. 117).

1919. οὐ μή with the second person singular of the future in the dramatic poets denotes a strong prohibition; as οὐ μή διατρίβεις don't dawdle (you shall not dawdle) Ar. Ran. 462. οὐ μή with any person of the future indicative occasionally denotes an emphatic future denial; as τοὺς πονηροὺς οὐ μή ποτε βελτίους ποιήσετε you will never make the bad better Aes. 3. 177.

1920. ὅπως and ὅπως μή are used with the future in urgent exhortations and prohibitions: ὅπως οὖν ἔσσεσθε ἄξιοι τῆς ἐλευθερίας prove yourselves then worthy of freedom X. A. 1. 7. 3, ὅπως τοίνυν περὶ τοῦ πολέμου μηδὲν ἐρεῖς say nothing therefore about the war D. 19. 92. For the fuller form of this use after σκοπεῖν, σκοπεῖτε, see 2213.

1921. ὅπως μή (negative ὅπως μή οὐ) may express the desire to avert something; as ὅπως μή αἰσχροὶ φαίνόμεθα mind we don't appear base X. C. 4. 2. 39, ἀλλ' ὅπως μή οὐχ οἷός τ' ἔσομαι but (I fear that) I shall not be able P. R. 506 d. Cp. 1802, 1803, 2229.

1922. On ἄν (κἔ) with the future indicative, see 1793. On the periphrastic future see 1959; on the future in dependent clauses, see 2203, 2211, 2220 a, 2229, 2231, 2328, 2549–2551, 2554, 2558, 2559, 2565 a, 2573 c.

AORIST INDICATIVE

1923. The aorist expresses the mere occurrence of an action in the past. The action is regarded as an event or single fact without reference to the length of time it occupied.

ἐλέκησαν οἱ Κερκύραιοι καὶ ναὺς πέντε καὶ δέκα διέφθειραν the Corcyraeans were victorious and destroyed fifteen ships T. 1. 29, Παιώνιος ἐποίησε Paeonius fecit I. G. A. 348, ἔδοξεν τῇ βουλῇ it was voted by (seemed good to) the Senate C. I. A. 1. 32.

a. The uses of the aorist may be explained by the figure of a point in time: 1. The starting point (ingressive aorist, 1924); 2. The end point (resultative aorist, 1926); 3. The whole action (beginning to end) concentrated to a point (complexive aorist, 1927).

1924. Ingressive Aorist. — The aorist of verbs whose present denotes a state or a continued action, expresses the entrance into that state or the beginning of that action.

a. This holds true of the other moods. Greek has no special form to denote entrance into a state in present time (1853).

1925. Most of the verbs in question are denominatives, and the forms are chiefly those of the first aorist: — ἀρχω rule	ἦρξα became ruler βασιλεύω am king, rule	ἐβασίλευσα became king, ascended the throne

βλέπω look at	ἐβλεψα cast a glance δακρύω weep	ἐδάκρυσα burst into tears δουλεύω am a slave	ἐδούλευσα became a slave
ἐρῶ love	ἠρώσθην fell in love
θαρρῶ am courageous	ἐθάρρῃσα plucked up courage
νοσῶ am ill	ἐνόσῃσα fell ill πλουτῶ am rich	ἐπλούτῃσα became rich πολεμῶ make war	ἐπολέμησα began the war
σιγῶ am silent	ἐσίγησα became silent

a. Rarely with the second aorist: ἔσχον took hold, took possession of, got, as Πεισιστράτου τελευτήσαντος Ἱππίας ἔσχε τὴν ἀρχήν when Peisistratus died Hippias succeeded to his power T. 6. 54. So ἡσθόμην became aware, ἔστην took my stand (perfect ἔστηκα am standing).

b. The aorist of these verbs denotes also a simple occurrence of the action as an historical fact: ἐβασίλευσα was king, ruled, ἐνόσῃσα was ill. Thus, ἔπειτα πέντε καὶ τετταράκοντα ἔτη τῶν Ἑλλήνων ἦσαν they held the supremacy over Greece for forty-five years D. 8. 24 (cp. 1927 b).

1926. Resultative Aorist. — In contrast to the imperfect (and present) the aorist denotes the result, end, or effect of an action.

Thus, ἤγαγον I brought, ἐβόλευσα I decided (ἐβόλευον I was deliberating), ἔθῃξα I sharpened, ἔπεσον I struck in falling (ἐπίπτω I was in the act of falling), ἔπειρα I succeeded in persuading (1895).

a. The same verb may be a resultative aorist or an ingressive aorist. Thus, ἔβαλον I let fly a missile (ingressive), and I hit (resultative); κατέσχον I got possession of (ingressive), and I kept back (resultative).

b. ἔπειρά σε E. Ion 1291 means I tried to kill you, since κτείνω denotes properly only the act of the agent, and does not, like kill, also connote the effect of the action upon another.

1927. Complexive Aorist. — The complexive aorist is used to survey at a glance the course of a past action from beginning to end: τοῦτω τῷ τρόπῳ τὴν πόλιν ἐτείχισαν it was in this manner that they fortified the city T. 1. 93. It may sum up the result of a preceding narrative (often containing imperfects, as T. 2. 47. 4; 3. 81). The complexive aorist appears also in other moods than the indicative.

a. This is often called the 'concentrative' aorist, because it concentrates the entire course of an action to a single point. When used of rapid or instantaneous action this aorist is often called 'momentary.'

b. The complexive aorist is used either of a long or of a short period of time: τέσσαρα καὶ δέκα ἔτη ἐπέμειναν αἱ σπονδαὶ the peace lasted fourteen years T. 2.2, ὀλίγον χρόνον ἐπέμεινεν ἡ οὐμειχμῆ the league lasted a short time 1.18, ἦλθεν, εἶδον, ἐλάτρεα vent, vidi, vici ("Caesar's brag of came, and saw, and conquered") Plutarch, Caes. 50.

1928. The aorist is commonly used with definite numbers. The imperfect is, however, often employed when an action is represented as interrupted or as proceeding from one stage to another. Thus, ἐνταῦθα ἔμεινε Κῦρος ἡμέρας τριάκοντα Cyrus remained thirty days there X. A. 1. 2. 9; τέτταρας μῆνας θλουὶ ἐσώζοντο αἱ Φωκεῖς τοὺς ὕστερον, ἡ δὲ τοῦτου ψευδολογία μετὰ ταῦθ' ὕστερον αὐτοὺς ἀπώλεσεν for the four whole ensuing months the Phocians remained safe, but the falsehood of this man afterwards effected their ruin D. 19. 78.

1929. The aorist enumerates and reports past events. It may be employed in brief continuous narration (X. A. 1. 9.6). As a narrative tense it is often used to state the chief events and facts, while the other past tenses set forth subordinate actions and attendant circumstances.

1930. Empiric Aorist.—With adverbs signifying often, always, sometimes, already, not yet, never, etc., the aorist expressly denotes a fact of experience (ἐμπειρία).

πολλοὶ πολλὰκις μείζονα ἐπιθυμοῦντες τὰ παρόντ' ἀπώλεσαν many men often lose what they have from a desire for greater possessions D. 28. 118, ἀθύμουντες ἄνδρες ὅτεν τροπαίων ἐστῆσαν faint heart never yet raised a trophy P. Critl. 108 c. So with πολύς: ἡ γλῶσσα πολλοὺς εἰς θάλασσαν ἤγαγεν the tongue brings many a man to his ruin Men. Sent. 205. From this use proceeds 1931.

a. The empiric aorist is commonly to be translated by the present or perfect. The statement in the aorist is often based upon a concrete historical fact set forth in the context, and the reader is left to infer that the thought holds good for all time.

1931. Gnomic Aorist (γνώμη maxim, proverb).—The aorist may express a general truth. The aorist simply states a past occurrence and leaves the reader to draw the inference from a concrete case that what has occurred once is typical of what often occurs: παθὼν δέ τε νήπιος ἔγνω a fool learns by experience Hesiod, Works and Days, 218, κάλλος μὲν γὰρ ἡ χρόνος ἀνήλωσεν ἡ νόσος ἐμάρανε for beauty is either wasted by time or withered by disease I. 1. 6.

a. The gnomic aorist often alternates with the present of general truth (1877): οὐ γὰρ ἡ πληγὴ παρέστηκεν τὴν ὀργήν, ἀλλ' ἡ ἀτιμία· οὐδὲ τὸ τύπτεσθαι τοῖς ἐλευθέροις ἐστὶ δεινόν . . . ἀλλὰ τὸ ἐφ' ὕβρει for it is not the blow that causes anger, but the disgrace; nor is it the beating that is terrible to freemen, but the insult D. 21. 72. Cp. P. R. 566 c.

b. The gnomic aorist is regarded as a primary tense (1858): οἱ τύραννοι πλοῦσιον ὅν ἐν βούλωνται παραχρήμ' ἐποίησαν tyrants make rich in a moment whomever they wish D. 20. 15.

1932. Akin to the gnomic aorist is the aorist employed in general descriptions. So in imaginary scenes and in descriptions of manners and customs. Thus, ἐπειδὴν ἀφίκωνται οἱ τετελευτηκότες εἰς τὸν τόπον, οἱ δὲ δαίμων ἕκαστον κομίζει, πρῶτον μὲν διεδικάσαντο οἱ τε καλῶς καὶ δόλιως βιώσαντες καὶ οἱ μὴ when the dead reach the place whither each is severally conducted by his genius, first of all they have judgment pronounced upon them as they have lived well and devoutly or not P. Ph. 113 d, φᾶρος δὲ αὐτῆμερὸν ἐξυφάντες οἱ ἱρέες κατ' ὃν ἔδησαν ἐνὸς αὐτῶν μίτρη τοῖς ὀφθαλμοῖς after having woven a manile on the same day the priests bind the eyes of one of their number with a snood Hdt. 2. 122.

1933. Iterative Aorist. — With ἄν the aorist may denote repetition (1790): εἶπεν ἄν he used to say X. C. 7. 1. 14. Distinguish 2303.

1934. Aorist for Future. — The aorist may be substituted for the future when a future event is vividly represented as having actually occurred: ἀπωλόμην ἄρ', εἰ με δὴ λείψεις I am undone if thou dost leave me E. Alc. 386.

1935. Aorist in Similes. — The aorist is used in similes in poetry, and usually contains the point of comparison. It may alternate with the present. Thus, ἦριπε δ' ὡς ὅτε τις δρύς ἦριπεν he fell as falls an oak Π 482, ὅλος δ' ἐκ νεφέων ἀναφαίνεται ὀδλιος ἀστήρ | παμφαίνων, τότε δ' αὖτις ἔδῳ νέφεα σκιδεντα, | ὅς ἑκτορ κτλ. and as from out of the clouds all radiant appears a baneful star, and then again sinks within the shadowy clouds, so Hector, etc. Λ 62.

a. The aorist in 1931, 1935 is used of time past (in 1934 of the future), from the point of view of an assumed or ideal present.

1936. Aorist for Present. — The aorist is used in questions with τί οὐδ' οὐ and τί οὐ to express surprise that something has not been done. The question is here equivalent to a command or proposal: τί οὐδ' οὐχὶ καὶ σὺ ὑπέμνησάς με; why don't you recall it to my mind? X. Hi. 1. 3. The (less lively) present, and the future, may also be used.

1937. Dramatic Aorist. — The first person singular of the aorist is used in the dialogue parts of tragedy and comedy to denote a state of mind or an act expressing a state of mind (especially approval or disapproval) occurring to the speaker in the moment just passed. This use is derived from familiar discourse, but is not found in good prose. In translation the present is employed. Thus, ἡσθην, ἐγέλασα I am delighted, I can't help laughing Ar. Eq. 696, ἐδεξάμην τὸ ρηθὲν I welcome the omen S. El. 668 (prose δέχομαι τὸν οἰωνόν). So ἐπύνησα I approve, ξυνῆκα I understand. Sometimes this use appears outside of dialogue (ἀπέπτυσα I spurn A. Pr. 1070, Ag. 1193).

1938. With verbs of swearing, commanding, saying, and advising the aorist may denote a resolution that has already been formed by the speaker and remains unalterable: σέ . . . εἶπον τῆσδε γῆς ἔξω περᾶν I command thee (once and for all) to depart from out this land E. Med. 272, ἀπώμοσα I swear 'nay' S. Ph. 1289. This use is not confined to dialogue.

1939. So in other cases: πῶς τοῦτ' ἔλεξας; οὐ κάτοιδ' ὅπως λέγεις how saidst thou (what dost thou mean)? I do not know how thou meanest S. Aj. 270. Cp. οὐ with the aorist (B 113, Γ 439).

1940. Aorist for Perfect. — In Greek the aorist, which simply states a past occurrence, is often employed where English uses the perfect denoting a present condition resulting from a past action. Thus, παρεκάλεσα ὑμᾶς, ἄνδρες φίλοι I (have) summoned you, my friends X. A. 1. 6. 8, ὁ μὲν τοίνυν πόλεμος ἀπάντων ἡμᾶς τῶν εἰρημένων ἀπεστέρηκεν· καὶ γὰρ πενεστέρους ἐποίησε καὶ πολλοὺς κινδύνους ὑπομένειν ἠνάγκασε καὶ πρὸς τοὺς Ἕλληνας διαβέβληκε καὶ πάντας τρόπους τεταλαιπώρηκεν ἡμᾶς now the war has deprived us of all the blessings that have been mentioned; for it has made us poorer, compelled us to undergo many dangers, has brought us into reproach with the Greeks, and in every possible way has caused us suffering I. 8. 19. Sometimes the aorist is chosen because of its affinity to the negative, as τῶν οἰκετῶν οὐδένᾳ κατέλιπεν ἀλλ' ἀπαντας πέπρακε he (has) left not one of his servants, but has sold them all Aes. 1. 99. This aorist is sometimes regarded as a primary tense.

a. Where an active transitive perfect is not formed from a particular verb, or is rarely used, the aorist takes its place: Φεραίων μὲν ἀφῆρηται τὴν πόλιν καὶ φρουρὰν ἐν τῇ ἀκροπόλει κατέστησεν he has deprived the Pheraeans of their city and established a garrison in the acropolis D. 7. 32 (καθέστακε transitive is not classic). So ἔγωγον is used for ἔχα.

b. In Greek of the classical period the aorist and perfect are not confused though the difference between the two tenses is often subtle. Cp. D. 19. 72 with 19. 177.

1941. The aorist may be translated by the perfect when the perfect has the force of a present (1946, 1947): ἐκτησάμην I have acquired (κέκτημαι I possess), ἐθαύμασα I have wondered (τεθαύμακα I admire). Thus, ἐκτησο αὐτὸς τὰ περ αὐτὸς ἐκτήσασο keep thyself what thyself hast gained Hdt. 7. 29.

1942. Epistolary Tenses. — The writer of a letter or book, the dedicator of an offering, may put himself in the position of the reader or beholder who views the action as past: μετ' Ἀρταβάζου, ὃν σοι ἔπεμψα, πρᾶσσε negotiate with Artabazus whom I send (sent) to you T. 1. 129, Τρολῶν ἐλόντες Ἀργείων στόλος λάφυρα ταῦτα . . . ἐπασσάλευσαν the Argive armament having captured Troy hang (hung) up these spoils A. Ag. 577. Cp. 1923 (last two examples).

a. The perfect is also used: ἀπέσταλκά σοι τόνδε τὸν λόγον I send (have sent) you this discourse I. 1. 2.

b. The imperfect (common in Latin) occurs rarely: Μνησιεργος ἐπέστειλε τοῖς οἰκοῖ χαίρειν καὶ ὑγιαίνειν καὶ αὐτὸς οὕτως ἔφασκε [ἔχειν] Mnesiergus sends greetings and wishes for good health to his friends at home and says that he himself is well Jahresheft des oesterreichischen Archaeol. Inst. 7 (1904), p. 94, τῶν δὲ ταῦτα πρᾶξαντων ἄχρι οὗ δὲ ὁ λόγος ἐγράφετο Τεισιφονος πρεσβύτατος ὢν τῶν ἀδελφῶν τὴν ἀρχὴν εἶχε up to the date of this portion of my work, Tisiphonus, as the eldest of the brothers who wrought this deed, maintained control of the government X. H. G. 4. 37.

1943. Aorist for Pluperfect. — The aorist with many temporal and causal conjunctions, and in relative clauses, has the force of the Eng. pluperfect. So with ἐπει, ἐπειδὴ after that, since, ὅτε, ὡς when, ὅτι because; regularly with πρὶν before, ἔως, μέχρι until: ἐπεὶ ἐσάλπυγξε, ἐπῆσαν after the trumpeter had given the signal, they advanced X. A. 1. 2. 17, ἐπεὶ δὲ συνήλθον, ἔλεξε τοιαῦτα and when they had come together, he spoke as follows X. C. 5. 1. 19, ἐκέλευσέ με τὴν ἐπιστολὴν ἥ ἔγραψα οἱκαδε δοῦναι he requested me to give him the letter which I had written home X. C. 2. 2. 9. So often in other moods than the indicative.

1944. In subordinate clauses the action expressed by the aorist may be (a) contemporaneous, (b) antecedent, or (c) subsequent to that set forth by the main verb. The context alone decides in which sense the aorist is to be taken. (a) ἐν τῷ χρόνῳ ὃν ἐπέσχε δα ἐδύνατο κατενόησε during the time he waited he learned all he could T. 1. 138; (b) ἐτρέπαντο ἐς τὸν Πάνορμον, ὅθεν περ ἀνηγγέγοντο they turned toward Panormus, the very place from which they had put out T. 2. 92 (see 1943); (c) ἐμάχοντο μέχρι οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι ἀπέπλευσαν they kept fighting until the Athenians had sailed away X. H. 1. 1. 8.

PERFECT INDICATIVE

1945. The perfect denotes a completed action the effects of which still continue in the present: τὰ οἰκήματα ᾠκοδόμηται the rooms have been constructed (their construction is finished) X. O. 9. 2, τὰς πόλεις αὐτῶν παρήρηται he has taken away (and still holds) their cities D. 9. 26, ὑπέληφα I have formed (hold) the opinion 18. 123, βεβούλευμαι I have (am) resolved S. El. 947, τί βουλευέσθον ποιᾶν; οὐδέν, ἔφη ὁ Χαρμίδης, ἀλλὰ βεβουλευμένα what are you conspiring to do? Nothing, said Charmides; we have already conspired P. Charm. 176 c.

a. The effects of a completed action are seen in the resulting present state. The state may be that of the subject or of the object: ἐφοβήθη, καὶ ἔτι καὶ νῦν τεθορύβηται I was struck with fear, and even at the present moment am still in a state of agitation Acs. 2. 4, οἱ πολέμοι τὰς σπονδὰς λελύκασιν the enemy have broken the truce (which is now broken) X. A. 8. 2. 10.

1946. Perfect with Present Meaning. — When the perfect marks the enduring result rather than the completed act, it may often be translated by the present.

Thus, κέκλημαι (have received a name) am called, my name is, κέκτημαι (have acquired) possess, μέμνημαι (have recalled) remember, τέθνηκα (have passed away) am dead, ἐθισμαι (have accustomed myself) am accustomed, ἡμφίεσμαι (have clothed myself in) have on, πέποιθα (have put confidence) trust, ἕστηκα (have set myself) stand, βέβηκα (have stepped) stand and am gone, ἔγνωκα (have recognized) know, πέφυκα (natus sum) am by nature, οἶδα (have found out) know.

a. These perfecta praesentia do not in nature differ from other perfects.

1947. 'Intensive' Perfect. — Many perfects seem to denote an action rather than a state resulting from an action, and to be equivalent to strengthened presents. These are often called intensive perfects.

Such are: verbs of the senses (δέδορκα gaze, πέφρικα shudder), of sustained sound (κέκρᾱγα baul, λεληκα shout, βέβρῡχα roar), of emotion (πεφόβημαι am filled with alarm, γέγηθα am glad, μέμλε cares for), of gesture (κέχηκα keep the mouth agape), and many others (ἑστήκηκα am still, etc.).

a. But most if not all of the verbs in question may be regarded as true perfects, i.e. they denote a mental or physical state resulting from the accomplishment of the action; thus, πέφρικα I have shuddered and am now in a state of shuddering.

b. Certain verbs tend to appear in the perfect for emphasis: τέθνηκα am dead, ἀπόλωλα perish, τέπρακα sell (have sold).

1948. Empiric Perfect.—The perfect may set forth a general truth expressly based on a fact of experience: ἡ ἀταξία πολλοῦς ἤδη ἀπολώλεκεν lack of discipline ere now has been the ruin of many X. A. 3. 1. 38. Cp. 1930.

1949. Perfect of Dated Past Action.—The perfect is sometimes used of a past action whose time is specifically stated: ὑβρισμαι τότε I was insulted on that occasion D. 21. 7. This use approaches that of the aorist.

1950. Perfect for Future Perfect.—The perfect may be used vividly for the future perfect to anticipate an action not yet done: κἄν τοῦτο νικῶμεν, πάνθ' ἡμῖν περσθήσεται and if we conquer in that quarter, everything has been (will have been) accomplished by us X. A. 1. 8. 12.

a. Especially with the phrase τὸ ἐπὶ τῷ, the perfect anticipates the certain occurrence of an event: τὸ ἐπὶ τούτῳ ἀπολώλαμεν for all he could do, we had perished X. A. 6. 6. 23.

1951. In subordinate clauses, the action of the perfect is usually (a) contemporaneous, but may be (b) antecedent to that of the main verb. The context alone decides in which sense the perfect is to be taken. (a) οἱ δὲ θεράποντες, ἐπειδὴ ἐς ἀντίπαλα καθεστήκαμεν, ἀπομολοῦσι while our attendants desert, νοῦοι that we have been brought down to a level with the Syracusans T. 7. 13. (b) ἔσσι τύχη κέχρηκε, ταῦτ' ἀφείλετο Fortune has taken back what she has lent you Men. fr. 598.

On the epistolary perfect see 1942 a.

PLUPERFECT

1952. The pluperfect is the past of the perfect, hence it denotes a past fixed state resulting from a completed action: ἔβουλεύμην I had (was) resolved.

a. When the perfect is translated by the present, the pluperfect is rendered by the imperfect: ἔκεκτμήμην was in possession, ἔτεθρήκει he was dead, ἤδην knew, ἐμνήμην remembered. Cp. 1946.

1953. Pluperfect of Immediate Occurrence.—The pluperfect may denote that a past action occurred so immediately or suddenly that it was accomplished almost at the same moment as another action: ὡς δὲ ἐλήφθησαν, ἐλέλυντο αἱ σπονδαὶ and when they were captured the truce was (already) at an end T. 4. 47 (the fact of their capture was equivalent to the immediate rupture of the truce).

1954. In subordinate clauses the pluperfect is rarely used to mark an action as anterior to an action already past: ἦλθον οἱ Ἰνδοὶ ἐκ τῶν πολεμίων οὓς ἐπεπόμφει Κύρος ἐπὶ κατασκοπὴν the Indians returned whom Cyrus had sent to get news of the enemy, X. C. 6. 2. 9. The aorist is usually employed (1943, 1944 b).

FUTURE PERFECT

1955. The future perfect denotes a future state resulting from a completed action: ἀναγεγράφομαι I shall stand enrolled, δεδῆσεται he shall be kept in prison; ἡ θύρᾱ κεκλήσεται the door will be kept shut Ar. Lys. 1071.

a. Most future perfects are middle in form, passive in meaning (581).

b. The active future perfect is usually periphrastic (600): τὰ δέοντα ἐσόμεθα ἐνωκότες we shall have determined on our duty D. 4. 50.

1956. When stress is laid upon complete fulfilment, the future perfect may imply rapidity, immediate consequence, or certainty, of action accomplished in the future: φράζε, καὶ πεπράξεται speake, and it shall be done instantane Ar. Pl. 1027, εὐθὺς Ἀρταῖος ἀφαστήξει· ὥστε φίλος ἡμῖν οὐδεὶς λελείψεται Artaeus will soon withdraw, so that we shall have no friend left X. A. 2. 4. 5.

1957. The future perfect may have an imperative force (1917): εἰρήσεται γὰρ τἀληθές for the truth shall (let it) be spoken I. 7. 76.

1958. When the perfect has the force of a present, the future perfect is used like a simple future (1946): κεκλησόμεαι I shall bear the name, μεμνησόμεαι shall remember, κεκτῆσομαι shall possess. So in the two active forms: τεθνήξω I shall be dead, ἐστῆξω I shall stand.

a. The aorist subjunctive with εἰ (2924), not the future perfect, is used to denote a past action in relation to an action still in the future.

PERIPHRASTIC TENSES

On the periphrastic forms of perfect, pluperfect, and future perfect, see 599, 600.

1959. Periphrastic Future. — A periphrastic future is formed by μέλλω I am about to, intend to, am (destined) to, am likely to (strictly think) with the present or future (rarely the aorist) infinitive. Thus, ἃ μέλλω λέγειν σοὶ πάλαι δοκεῖ what I am going to say has long been your opinion X. C. 3. 3. 18 (cp. 1885), Κλέανδρος μέλλει ἔχειν Cleander is on the point of coming X. A. 6. 4. 18, θήσων ἐμελλεν ἄλγεα he purposed to inflict suffering B 39, ἐμελλον δαίμων εἶναι I was destined to be happy s 138, εἰ ποτε πορεύοιτο καὶ πλείστοι μέλλοιεν ὄψεσθαι, προσκαλὼν τοὺς φίλους ἐσπουδαίολογεῖτο if ever Cyrus was on the march and many were likely to catch sight of him, he summoned his friends and engaged them in earnest talk X. A. 1. 9. 28.

a. The present infinitive usually occurs with μέλλω as a verb of will, the future infinitive with μέλλω as a verb of thinking.

b. The aorist is used when it is important to mark the action as ingressive, resultative, or complexive: ὅπερ μέλλω παθεῖν what I am doomed to suffer A. Pr. 625.

c. μέλλω I delay usually takes the present, rarely the aorist, infinitive.

d. πῶς οὐ μέλλω and τί οὐ μέλλω mean why should I not? Thus, τί δ' οὐ μέλλει γελοῖον εἶναι; how should it not be ridiculous? P. R. 530 a.

1960. ἔμελλον is used of past intention in ἔμελλε καταλθεῖν he was about to stop for the night X. A. 1. 8. 1, τοὺς ἑσπλους κλῆσειν ἔμελλον they intended to close the entrances T. 4. 8. ἔμελλον with the infinitive denoting an unfulfilled past intention is a periphrasis for an aorist indicative with ἔν. Thus, οὐ συνστρατεύειν ἔμελλον they would not have joined forces D. 19. 159 (= οὐκ ἂν συνεστράτευσαν). Cp. recturus eram, etc.

1961. With εἰμί. — The present and perfect participle are freely used with the forms of εἰμί to form a periphrasis, especially when the participle has an adjectival character (1857): ἡγεῖ διαφθειρομένους τινὰς εἶναι; do you think that some are being ruined? P. R. 492 a, αἱ τέχναι διεφθαρμένοι ἔσονται the arts will be ruined X. C. 7. 2. 13, ἦν τοῦτο συμφέρον this was advantageous Ant. 5. 18; ἦ θέλονσα is stronger than θέλην, S. O. T. 580.

1962. The aorist participle is rarely so used, since it denotes a single act, not a characteristic: ἦσαν δὲ τινες καὶ γεγόμενοι τῷ Νικίᾳ λόγοι πρότερον πρὸς τινὰς and communications between Nicias and some persons had actually been held before T. 4. 54.

a. With ἔσομαι the aorist participle equals the future perfect: οὐ σιωπήσῃς ἔσῃ; be silent, won't you, once and for all? S. O. T. 1146.

1963. With ἔχω. — The periphrasis with ἔχω and the aorist participle is analogous to the perfect in meaning, and emphasizes the permanence of the result attained (chiefly in Hdt. and the drama): κηρύξας ἔχω I have proclaimed S. Ant. 192.

a. In Attic prose ἔχω usu. has a separate force: Φεράς πρώην ἔχει καταλαβὼν he lately seized and now occupies Pherae D. 9. 12. So with the (rare) perfect: τὰ ἐπιτήδεια εἶχον ἀνακεκομσμένοι they had carried up to the forts the provisions and kept them there X. A. 4. 7. 1.

1964. With γίγνομαι. — The forms of γίγνομαι often combine with a participle to form periphrases. Thus, μὴ σαντὸν . . . κτείνῃς γένη lest thou destroy thyself S. Ph. 773; in prose this periphrasis has the tone of tragedy. On γίγνομαι with a substantive, see 1710, 1754.

1965. With φαίνομαι. — The aorist participle is used periphrastically with forms of φαίνομαι. Thus, οὐχ ὑπὲρ ὑμῶν οὐδὲ τῶν νόμων φροντισῶς οὐδ' ἀγανακτήσῃς φανήσεται it will appear that he took no heed, nor felt any resentment, concerning you or the laws D. 21. 39.

VERBAL NOUNS

1. The Infinitive. 2. The Participle. 3. The Verbal Adjectives in -τός and -τέος.

THE INFINITIVE

1966. The infinitive is in part a verb, in part a substantive.

a. Many substantives are closely related to verbs, but not all verbs can form substantives. All verbs can, however, form infinitives.

b. The word infinitive denotes a verbal form without any limitations (finitis) of number and person.

1967. The infinitive is like a verb herein:

a. It shows the distinctions of voice and tense (but not those of number and person). Having tenses, it can express different stages of action (action simply occurring, continuing, or finished); whereas the corresponding substantive αἰς is forth the abstract idea without these distinctions. Contrast ποιεῖν, ποιήσκειν, ποίησαι, ποιησέμεν with ποίησις making.

b. It can have a subject before it and a predicate after it, and it can have an object in the genitive, dative, or accusative like the corresponding finite verb. Infinitives scarcely ever stand in the subjective genitive; and the object of an infinitive never stands in the objective genitive.

c. It is modified by adverbs, not by adjectives.

d. It may take ἄν and with that particle represent ἄν with the indicative (1784 ff.) or ἄν with the optative (1824).

e. It forms clauses of result with ὥστε, and temporal clauses with πρίν, etc.

1968. The infinitive is like a substantive herein:

a. It may be the subject or object of a verb.

b. With the (neuter) article it shows all the case forms (except the vocative): τὸ (τοῦ, τῷ, τὸ) λῦειν, λῦσειν, etc.

c. It may be governed by prepositions: πρὸ τοῦ λῦειν.

1969. The infinitive was originally a verbal noun in the dative (in part possibly also in the locative) case. The use to express purpose (2008) is a survival of the primitive meaning, from which all the other widely diverging uses were developed in a manner no longer always clear to us. But the to or for meaning seen in μαθητὰς εἰκομεν ἵνα ἴδωμεν we have come to learn (for learning) can also be discerned in δύναμαι ἰδεῖν I have power for seeing, then I can see. Cp. 2000, 2006 a. As early as Homer, when the datival meaning had been in part obscured, the infinitive was employed as nominative (as subject) and accusative (as object). After Homer, the infinitive came to be used with the neuter article, the substantive idea thus gaining in definiteness. The article must be used when the infinitive stands as an object in the genitive or dative, and when it depends on prepositions.

1970. The infinitive is used as subject, as predicate, and to supplement the meaning of words and clauses.

1971. The negative of the infinitive is μή; but οὐ, used with a finite mood in direct discourse, is retained when that mood becomes infinitive in indirect discourse. Sometimes, however, μή is used in place of this οὐ (2723 ff.).

SUBJECT AND PREDICATE NOUN WITH THE INFINITIVE

1972. In general the subject of the infinitive, if expressed at all, stands in the accusative; when the subject of the infinitive is the same as the subject or object of the governing verb, or when it has already been made known in the sentence, it is not repeated with the infinitive.

1973. When the subject of the infinitive is the same as that of the governing verb, it is omitted, and a predicate noun stands in the nominative case.

οἶμαι εἶδέναι I think that I know P. Pr. 812 e, Πέρσης ἔφη εἶναι he said he was a Persian X. A. 4. 4. 17, ἐγὼ οὐχ ὁμολογήσω ἀληθὸς ἦκειν I shall not admit that I have come uninvited P. S. 174 d, ὁμολογεῖς περὶ ἐμὲ δίκως γεγενῆσθαι; do you admit that you have been guilty as regards me? X. A. 1. 6. 8 (cp. 4. 2. 27 in 2268).

a. The nominative is used when the infinitive, expressing some action or state of the subject of the main verb, has the article in an oblique case. Thus, τούτων ἀξιωθείς διὰ τὸ πατρικὸς αὐτῷ φίλος εἶναι justifying these requests on the ground that he was his hereditary friend Aes. 3. 52, τοῦτο δ' ἐποίησεν ἐκ τοῦ χαλεποῦ εἶναι this he effected by reason of his being severe X. A. 2. 6. 9, ἐπὶ τῷ ὁμοίῳ τοῖς λειπομένοις εἶναι ἐκπέμπονται (colonists) are sent out to be the equals of those who stay at home T. 1. 34.

b. The nominative stands usually in sentences with δεῖν, χρήναι etc., dependent on a verb of saying or thinking. Thus, ἡγοῦμην . . . περὶεῖναι δεῖν αὐτῶν καὶ μεγαλοψυχότερος φαίνεσθαι I thought I ought to surpass them and to show myself more magnificient D. 19. 235. Here ἡγοῦμην δεῖν is equivalent to I thought it proper.

c. When the governing verb is a participle in an oblique case, a predicate noun usually agrees with the participle, and rarely stands in the nominative. Thus, ἀπαλλαγείς τούτων τῶν φασκόντων δικαστῶν εἶναι being rid of those who profess to be judges P. A. 41 a, τὰς ἀρχὰς δίδωσι . . . τοῖς δὲ δόξαισι ἀρίστοις εἶναι it dispenses the offices to those who always seem to be the most deserving P. Menex. 238 d.

1974. A pronoun subject of the infinitive, if (wholly or partially) identical with the subject of the main verb, is generally expressed when emphatic, and stands in the accusative (cases of the nominative are rare and suspected); but the indirect reflexive σφεῖς stands in the nominative or accusative.

οἶμαι ἐμὲ πλεῖον χρήματα εἰργάσθαι ἢ ἄλλους σύνδου I think I have made more money than any two others together P. Hipp. M. 282 e, ἡγησάμενος ἑμαυτὸν ἐπικέεστερος εἶναι (emphatic for ἡγησάμενος ἐπικέεστερος εἶναι) deeming myself to be too honest P. A. 36 b, τοὺς δὲ Θηβαίους ἡγεῖτο . . . ἐάσειν ὅπως βούλεται πράττειν ἑαυτὸν he thought the Thebans would let him have his own way D. 6. 9, οὐ σφεῖς ἀδικεῖσθαι, ἀλλ' ἐκείνοις μᾶλλον he said that not they (the speaker and the other Lacedaemonians), but they (the Toroneans) rather had been wronged 4. 114 (but σφᾶς in 1228 b).

a. After a preceding accusative with the infinitive, a second pronoun referring to a different person, and also subject of an infinitive, must also stand in the accusative whether or not it denotes the same person as the subject of the governing verb. Thus, ἀλλὰ νομίζεις ἡμᾶς μὲν ἀνέχεσθαι σου, αὐτὸς (see below) δὲ τυπῆσειν; καὶ ἡμᾶς μὲν ἀποψηφιεύσθαι σου, σέ (not σὺ) δ' οὐ παύσεσθαι but do you think that we are going to put up with you, while you strike us yourself? and that we are going to acquit you, while you will not cease your outrageous conduct? D. 21. 204. αὐτὸς, above and in Κλέων οὐκ ἔφη αὐτὸς, ἀλλ' ἐκείνον στρατηγεῖν Cleon said that not he himself, but that Nicias was in command T. 4. 28, is not the expressed subject of the infinitive, but αὐτὸς of direct discourse (αὐτὸς τυπῆσεις, αὐτὸς ἐν στρατηγῷ); hence αὐτὸς is not used here for σεαυτὸν (ἐαυτόν).

1975. When the subject of the infinitive is different from that of the governing verb, it stands in the accusative; and a predicate noun stands also in the accusative.

νομίζω γὰρ ὑμᾶς ἐμοὶ εἶναι καὶ πατρίδα καὶ φίλους for I think you are to me both fatherland and friends X. A. 1. 3. 6, τὸν γὰρ καλὸν καὶ ἀγαθὸν ἀνδρα εὐδαίμονα εἶναι φημι for I maintain that the noble and good man is happy P. G. 470 a.

1976. A predicate noun takes the case of the subject of an infinitive itself dependent on a subjectless infinitive. Thus, ἡμῖν δὲ ποιοῦσι δοκεῖν σφᾶς παρροδαποῦς φαίνεσθαι they manage it so that they seem to us to appear in various forms P. R. 381 e.

1977. Several infinitives may be used in succession, one infinitive being the subject of another: περὶ πολλοῦ ποιούμενος μηδενὶ δοῦναι ὑβρίζειν βούλεσθαι regarding it of great importance not to seem to any one to wish to behave outrageously L. 23. 5.

1978. When the subject of the infinitive is the same as the object (in the genitive or dative) of the governing verb, it is often omitted, and a predicate noun is either attracted into the genitive or dative, or stands in the accusative in agreement with the omitted subject of the infinitive. See 1060–1062.

ἔξεστιν ἡμῖν ἀγαθοῖς εἶναι or ἔξεστιν ἡμῖν ἀγαθοῦς εἶναι it is in our power to be good (lit. to be good is possible for us). Thus, δεόμεθ' ὅν ὑμῶν . . . ἀκούσασθαι τῶν λεγομένων, ἐνθυμηθέντας ὅτι κτλ. we ask you therefore to listen to what is said, considering that, etc. 1. 14. 6. Cp. νῦν σοι ἔξεστιν ἀνδρὶ γενέσθαι quoted in 1062 with Λακεδαιμονίοις ἔξεστιν ὑμῖν φίλους γενέσθαι it is in your power to become friends to the Lacedaemonians T. 4. 29. The latter construction may be explained as abbreviated for ἔξεστιν ὑμῖν (ὑμᾶς) φίλους γενέσθαι.

1979. The subject of the infinitive is often retained when it is the same as the (omitted) oblique object of the governing verb. Thus, παρήγγειλε τὰ δεῖα τίσσασθαι τοὺς Ἕλληνας he issued orders that the Greeks should get under arms X. A. 2. 2. 21.

1980. An indefinite or general subject of the infinitive (τινὰ, τινός, ἀνθρώπου) is commonly omitted; and a predicate noun stands in the accusative. Thus, φιλάνθρωπον εἶναι δεῖ one (τινὰ) must be humane I. 2. 15 (cp. 1984), ῥῆον παραινεῖν ἢ παθόντα καρτερεῖν it is easier for a man to give advice than to endure suffering Men. Sent. 471, δρῶντας γὰρ ἢ μὴ δρῶντας ἥδιον θανεῖν for it is preferable to die in action rather than doing nothing E. Hel. 814.

1981. The construction of the accusative with the infinitive seems to have originated from the employment of the infinitive to complement the meaning of transitive verbs; as in κελεύω σε ἀπελθεῖν I command you to depart. Here the accusative was separated from the transitive verb and felt to be the independent subject of the infinitive (I command that you depart). Gradually the accusative with the infinitive was used even after verbs incapable of taking an object-accusative.

PERSONAL AND IMPERSONAL CONSTRUCTION

1982. Instead of an impersonal passive verb with the accusative and infinitive as subject, Greek often uses the personal passive construction, the accusative becoming the nominative, subject to the leading verb.

Thus, Κύρος ἡγγέλθη νικῆσαι Cyrus was reported to have conquered instead of ἡγγέλθη Κύρον νικῆσαι it was reported that Cyrus had conquered, and δίκαιός ἐμι ἀπελθεῖν I am justified in going away instead of δίκαιόν ἐστιν ἐμὲ ἀπελθεῖν it is right for me to go away. English sometimes has to use the impersonal construction in place of the Greek personal construction (cp. 2107).

a. The personal construction is more common with λέγεται, ἀγγέλλεται, ὁμολογείται and other passive verbs of saying (regular with passive verbs of thinking); with συμβαίνει it happens; with ἀναγκαῖος necessary, ἄξιος worthy, δίκαιος just, δυνατός possible, ἐπιτήδειος fit, etc., followed by a form of εἶναι, instead of ἀναγκαῖον, ἄξιον, etc. Thus, δ' Ἀσσύριος εἰς τὴν χώραν αὐτοῦ ἐμβαλεῖν ἀγγέλλεται the Assyrian is reported to be about to make an incursion into his country X. C. 5. 3. 30, πολλή τις ἀλογίᾳ ἐμβαλεῖν γίγνεσθαι much absurdity would result P. Phil. 55 a, δίκαιος εἰ εἰπεῖν it is right for you to speak P. S. 214 c, τὴν αἰτίαν οὕτως ἐστὶ δίκαιος ἔχειν it is right for him to bear the blame D. 18. 4. Both constructions together: σοὶ γὰρ δὴ λέγεται πᾶν γε τεθεραπεῦσθαι δ' Ἀπόλλων, καὶ σε πάντα ἐκείνῳ πεσόμενον πράττειν for Apollo is said to have been greatly served by you, and (it is said) that you do everything in obedience to him X. C. 7. 2. 15. Cp. 2104.

N.—δῆλός ἐστι and φανερός ἐστι take στι or the participle (2107); δῆλός ἐστι and φανερός ἐστι take στι, not the infinitive.

1983. The personal constructions δοκῶ, ἔοικα (2089 c), δέω are regular instead of δοκεῖ, ἔοικε it seems, δεῖ it lacks (much or little). So with φαίνομαι for φαίνεται.

δοκῶ γάρ μοι ἀδυνατός εἶναι for I seem to be unable P. R. 368 b, δοκούμεν μοι καθῆσθαι it seems to me that we are encamped X. A. 1. 3. 12, οὐν γε ἡμῶν ἔοικας βασιλεὺς εἶναι now at least you seem to be our king X. C. 1. 4. 6, πολλοῦ δέω ἐγὼ ὑπὲρ ἑμαυτοῦ ἀπολογεῖσθαι I am far from speaking in my own defence P. A. 30 d, μικροῦ ἐδέησεν Κύπρον ἀπᾶσαν κατασχεῖν he almost (lacked a little) occupied the whole of Cyprus I. 9. 62, εὖ σὺ λέγειν φαίρει you seem to speak well Ar. Nub. 408.

a. δοκεῖ μοι τινα εἶλθιν for δοκεῖ τις μοι εἶλθιν it seems to me that some one came is very rare. δοκεῖ meaning it seems good, it is decreed always takes the infinitive (1984, 1991). δοκῶ believe has the construction of 1992 c. Cp. 1998.

THE INFINITIVE WITHOUT THE ARTICLE

AS SUBJECT, PREDICATE, AND APPOSITIVE

1984. As Subject.—The infinitive may be used as subject, especially with quasi-impersonal verbs and expressions (933 a).

γράμματα μαθεῖν δεῖ to learn to read is necessary Men. Sent. 96, τί χρὴ ποιεῖν; what must be done? X. A. 2. 1. 16, κόσμος (ἐστὶ) καλῶς τοῦτο δρᾶν to perform this well is a credit T. 1. 5, πᾶσιν ἀδεῖν χαλεπὸν (ἐστὶ) to please everybody is difficult Solon 7, ἔδοξεν αὐτοῖς προΐεσθαι it seemed best to them to proceed X. A. 2. 1. 2, συμφέροι αὐτοῖς φίλους εἶναι it is for their interest to be friends X. O. 11. 23. Cp. 1062, 1978.

1985. Such quasi-impersonal verbs and expressions are δεῖ it is necessary, χρὴ (properly a substantive with ἐστὶ omitted, 793) it is necessary, δοκεῖ it seems good, ἔστι it is possible, ἔξεστι it is in one's power, οἶόν τέ ἐστι it is possible, πρέπει and προσήκει it is fitting, συμβαίνει it happens; and many expressions formed by ἐστὶ and a predicate noun, as ἄξιον it is right, δίκαιον it is just, ἀναγκαὶ ὅν it is necessary, δυνατόν it is possible, ἀδύνατον (or ἀδύνατα) it is impossible, αἰσχρόν it is disgraceful, καλόν it is honourable, ὥρᾱ and καιρός it is time. With the last two expressions the old dative use of the infinitive is clear: ὥρᾱ βουλευέσθαι it is time for considering P. Soph. 241 b.

a. On the personal εἰμί, δικάω εἰμί, δεκῶ, see 1982. For δεῖ με τοῦτο λέγειν we find the personal δέομαι τοῦτο λέγειν. Note the attraction in τὸ πλῆθος τῶν ἐνόντων εἰπεῖν the number of the things it is possible to mention I. 5. 110 (for τοῦτων ἂν ἔνεστιν).

b. δεῖ and χρή regularly take the accusative and infinitive (cp. 1562); ἀνάγκη it is necessary takes the accusative or dative with the infinitive.

c. The subject of the infinitive is expressed or omitted according to the sense.

d. Homer shows only the beginnings of the use of the infinitive as a real subject, i.e. not a grammatical subject, as in 1984.

1986. As Predicate. — In definitions the infinitive may be used as a predicate noun with ἐστί.

τὸ γὰρ γινῶναι ἐπιστήμην λαβεῖν ἐστίν for to learn is to get knowledge P. Th. 209 e.

1987. As an Appositive. — The infinitive may stand in apposition to a preceding substantive, pronoun, or adverb.

εἰς οὐρανὸς ἄριστος, ἀμύνεσθαι περὶ πάτρης one omen is best, to fight for our country M. 243, εἶπον . . . τοῦτο μόνον ὁρᾶν πάντας, τῷ πρόσθεν ἔπεσθαι I told all to pay heed to this only, viz., to follow their leader X. C. 2. 2. 8, καὶ ἑμᾶς δὲ οὕτως, ὦ παῖδες, . . . ἐπαίδεον, τοὺς μὲν γεραίτεροὺς προτιμᾶν, τῶν δὲ νεωτέρων προτετιμῆσθαι and I have instructed you, too, my children (to this effect) to honour your elders in preference to yourselves and to receive honour from the younger in preference to them X. C. 8. 7. 10.

1988. The infinitive not in indirect discourse, and in indirect discourse, is often used as the object of a verb.

THE INFINITIVE NOT IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

1989. The infinitive as object not in indirect discourse is used after almost any verb that requires another verb to complete its meaning. The tenses of this infinitive are timeless, and denote only stage of action.

1990. The infinitive may be the only expressed object, or it may be one of two expressed objects, of the leading verb.

παίδευσις καλὴ διδάσκει χρῆσθαι νόμοις a good education teaches obedience to the laws X. Ven. 12. 14, διαγιγνώσκειν σε τοὺς ἀγαθοὺς καὶ τοὺς κακοὺς ἐδίδαξεν he taught you to distinguish the good and the bad X. M. 3. 1. 9.

a. Verbs signifying to ask, bid, forbid, permit, teach, etc., allow an infinitive as one of two objects.

b. Many verbal expressions, formed by a substantive and a verb, take the infinitive. Thus, τοὺς ἄλλους διδάσκειν τέχνην ἔχουσιν they possess the skill to teach (the) others I. 16. 11. Cp. 2000.

A. Object Infinitive after Verbs of Will or Desire

1991. Verbs of will or desire (and their opposites) are often followed by an infinitive. The infinitive with a subject accusative denotes that something should (may) be or be done. The negative is μή (see 2719–2721).

ἤθελον αὐτοῦ ἀκοῦειν they were willing to listen to him X. A. 2. 6. 11, ἐβουλεύοντο ἐκλιπεῖν τὴν πόλιν they planned to leave the city Hdt. 6. 100, τὰ ἡδίστα . . . ζητεῖ ποιεῖν he seeks to do what he likes best X. M. 4. 5. 11, βασιλεὺς ἀξιοῖ σὲ ἀποκτεῖν the king asks that you sail away X. H. 3. 4. 25, ἔτενε μὴ ἀποκτεῖναι he entreated that they should not put him (self) to death L. 1. 25, πέμπουσιν . . . στρατεύεσθαι ἐπὶ Κάρῳ they send orders that he shall march upon Caria X. H. 3. 1. 7, ἔδοξε πλεῖν τὸν Ἀλκιβιάδην it was decided that Alcibiades should sail T. 6. 29.

a. Verbs of will or desire with an accusative subject of the infinitive form one of the classes of substantive clauses introduced in English by that, though the infinitive in English is often more idiomatic.

1992. Of verbs of will or desire that take the infinitive some have an object

a. In the accusative (or are intransitive), e.g. : αἰροῦμαι choose, αἰτῶ ask, ἀξιώ claim, ἀσκῶ ask, βουλεύομαι resolve, βούλομαι wish, will, δικάω deem right, διανοοῦμαι intend, ἐθέλω (poet. θάλω), wish, will, εἰσθα am wont to, ἐπιχειρῶ attempt, ἐὰ permit, ζητῶ seek, καλέω command, suggest, invite, μέλλω deliny, πειρῶμαι try, πέμπω send, προθυμοῦμαι am zealous, προκαλοῦμαι invite, προτρέπω urge, σπεύδω hasten, am eager, σπουδάζω am eager, τολμῶ dare, φιλέω am wont to, ψηφίζομαι vote.

b. In the genitive, e.g. : δέομαι ask, ἐπιθυμῶ and ὀρέγομαι desire.

c. In the dative, e.g. : εἶχομαι pray, παραγγέλλω and προστάττω command, ἐπιβουλεύω purpose, συμβουλεύω advise, ἐπιτρέπω and συγχωρῶ permit, παραινῶ exhort, δοκέ μοι I have a mind to; and λέγω, εἶπον, φωνῶ, φράζω tell (and βοᾷ shout) in the sense of command.

N. — πείθω urge to a course of action, takes the infinitive, πείθω convince generally has ὡς, rarely the accusative with the infinitive. Thus, ἔπειθεν αὐτὸν καθ' αὐτὸν πορεύεσθαι he urged him to go by himself X. A. 6. 2. 13, οὐ γὰρ πείσονται οἱ πολλοί, ὡς σὺ αὐτὸς οὐκ ἠθέλησας ἀπύειναι for most people will not be convinced that of your own free will you did not desire to go away P. Cr. 44 c (infinitive X. M. 1. 1. 20).

1993. Verbs of will or desire not to do anything are e.g. : δέδοικα, φοβοῦμαι fear, φεύγω avoid, δυνῶ scruple, αἰσχύνομαι, αἰδοῦμαι (2126) feel shame to, ἀπαγορεύω forbid, κωλύω hinder, ἀπέχομαι abstain from, εὐλαβοῦμαι, φυλάττομαι beware of. Thus, φοβοῦμαι διελέγχειν σε I fear to refuse you P. G. 457 e, αἰσχύνομαι ὑμῖν εἰπεῖν τὴν ἀλήθειαν I am ashamed to tell you the truth P. A. 22 b.

1994. Under verbs of will or desire are included verbs expressing an activity to the end that something shall or shall not be done. Thus, δίδωμι offer, give, διαμάχομαι struggle against, ποιῶ, διακράττομαι, κατεργάζομαι manage, effect, παρέχω offer (others in 1992, 1993).

1995. Several verbs of will or desire take δπως with the future or the subjunctive (verbs of effort, 2211, 2214) ; or μή with the subjunctive (verbs of fear, 2225) ; some take the participle (2123 ff.).

1996. The infinitive may be used with the

a. Genitive or dative when the expression of desire is addressed to a person and the genitive or dative depends on the leading verb. Here the sentence is simple. Thus, δέομαι ὑμῶν . . . τὰ δίκαια ψηφίσασθαι I ask you to render a just verdict I. 19. 51, τοῖς ἄλλοις πᾶσι παρήγγελλεν ἐξοπλίσσασθαι he ordered all the rest to arm themselves X. A. 1. 8. 3.

b. Accusative when the action of a person is desired (example in 1979). Such sentences are complex.

N. — Verbs of commanding allow either a or b ; but only κελεύω with the accusative permits either meaning: κελεύω σέ ταῦτα μὴ ποιεῖν I tell you not to do this and I command that you shall not do this. Cp. 1981.

1997. Several verbs signifying to say are also used as verbs of will and then mean command. The agent commanded usually stands in the accusative subject of the infinitive. So with λέγω, εἶπον, φράζω, φωνῶ. Thus λέγω σ' ἐγὼ δόλῳ Φιλοκτήτην λαβεῖν I say that thou shalt take Philoctetes by craft S. Ph. 101, τούτοις ἔλεγον πλεῖν I told them that they should sail D. 19. 150, πάντες ἔλεγον τοὺς τούτων ἀρξάντας δοῦναι δίκην all said that the ringleaders should suffer punishment X. A. 5. 7. 34, εἶπον τὴν θύραν κεκλείσθαι they commanded that the door should be shut (and stay shut) X. H. 5. 4. 7, βασιλεὺς ἔγραψε πάσας τὰς ἐν τῇ Ἑλλάδι πόλεις αὐτονόμους εἶναι the king issued a written order that all the cities in Greece should be independent (not: wrote that they were independent) X. H. 6. 3. 12.

a. The agent may stand in the dative as χαλᾶν λέγω σοι I bid thee let go S. O. C. 840.

1998. The present and aorist infinitive (both timeless) are the usual tenses of the infinitive after verbs of will or desire (see 1869). The perfect is rare ; as εἶπον τὴν θύραν κεκλείσθαι (1997). δοκῶ and δοκῶ μοι signifying I have a mind to or I am determined to take the present or aorist like δοκεῖ: τὸν δὲν ἐξάγειν δοκῶ I have a mind to bring out the ass Ar. Vesp. 177, ἐγὼ οὖν μοι δοκῶ . . . ὑπὐγγῆσθαι κτλ. now I have a mind to shoit, etc. P. Eu. 288 c. Cp. 1963 a. When it is clearly denoted that the action resolved on is to follow without delay the future is used ; as in ἀλλὰ μοι δοκῶ . . . οὐ πείσσεσθαι αὐτῷ but I am determined that I will not accept his opinion P. Th. 183 d.

a. Some verbs, as κελεύω, which might be held to introduce indirect discourse, are classed under verbs of will or desire, because, like these verbs, they do not regularly take the future infinitive ; and because, unlike verbs of saying and thinking (which admit all the tenses of the infinitive) they introduce infinitives which do not show differences of time. The future infinitive does not express a command. For a few cases of the future after verbs of will or desire, see 1869.

1999. Verbs signifying to hope, expect, promise, threaten, and swear, when followed by the aorist (less often the present) infinitive (1868), have the construction of verbs of will or desire. When such verbs take the future infinitive they have the construction of indirect discourse.

B. Infinitive after Other Verbs

2000. The infinitive follows many verbs, especially such as denote ability, fitness, necessity, etc. (and their opposites).

οὐκέτι ἐδύνατο . . . βιοτείνεῖν he was no longer able to live T. 1. 130, ρεῖν ἐπιστάμενος knowing how to swim X. A. 5. 7. 25, πεφύκασι τε πάντες . . . ἀμαρτάνειν and all men are by nature prone to err T. 3. 45, μανθάνουσιν ἀρχειν τε καὶ ἀρχεσθαι they learn how to govern and be governed X. A. 1. 9. 4; also after the impersonals of 1985.

a. ἔχω I can is derived from the meaning I have especially with a verb of saying. Thus, Διὸς πλᾶγὰν ἔχουσιν εἰπεῖν they can proclaim a stroke of Zeus A. Ag. 367.

C. Infinitive after Adjectives, Adverbs, and Substantives

2001. The infinitive serves to define the meaning of adjectives, adverbs, and substantives, especially those denoting ability, fitness, capacity, etc. (and their opposites), and generally those analogous in meaning to verbs which take the infinitive (2000). Here the datival meaning (purpose, destination) is often apparent. Cp. 1969.

2002. Adjectives and Adverbs. — ἱκανοὶ ἡμᾶς ὠφελεῖν able to assist us X. A. 3. 8. 18, δεινὸς λέγειν, κακὸς βιώναι skilled in speaking, evil in life Aes. 3. 174, οἷοι φιλεῖν able to love D. 25. 2, ἔτοιμοι εἰσι μάχεσθαι they are ready to fight X. C. 4. 1. 1, ἀρχειν ἀξιότατος most worthy to govern X. A. 1. 9. 1, ὁδὸς . . . ἀμήχανος εἰσελθεῖν στρατεύματι a road impracticable for an army to enter 1. 2. 21, χαλεπὸν διαβαίνειν hard to cross 5. 6. 9, ἐπινοῆσαι ὀρεῖς quick to conceive T. 1. 70. So also after ῥάδιος easy, ἡδὺς pleasant, δικαίος just, ἀναγκαῖος necessary, ἐπιτήδειος suitable, ἀγαθός good, αἰτιος responsible for, μαλακός incapable of; cp. ὀλίγος 1063. After adverbs: κάλλιστα ἰδεῖν most splendid to behold X. C. 8. 3. 5.

a. Some of these adjectives take the infinitive by analogy to the related verbs, as πρόθυμος zealous (προθυμοῦμαι), ἐπιστήμων knowing how (ἐπίσταμαι).

2003. οἷος fit, ὅσος sufficient take the infinitive like the fuller expressions τοιούτος οἷος, τοσοῦτος ὅσος. Thus, οὐ γὰρ ἦν ὥρᾳ ὅτ᾽ αὖ τὸ πεδὶον ἄρδειν for it was not the proper season to irrigate the plain X. A. 2. 3. 13, ὅσον ἀποζῆν sufficient to live off of T. 1. 2, τοιούτος οἷος . . . πείθεσθαι the kind of a man to be convinced P. Cr. 46 b. On τοσοῦτος ὥστε (ὡς) see 2263. Hom. has the infinitive after τοῖος, τόσος, etc.

2004. Substantives. — As, οἱ παῖδες ὑμῖν ὀλίγον ἡλικίαν ἔχουσι παιδεύεσθαι your children are almost of an age to be educated P. Lach. 187 c. With ἐστὶ omitted: σχολή γε ἡμῖν μαθάνειν we have leisure to learn X. C. 4. 3. 12, ἀνάγκη πείθεσθαι there is need to obey X. H. 1. 6. 8, περαινὲν ἦδη ὥρᾳ it is high time to finish X. A. 3. 2. 32. Cp. 1985.

2005. The infinitive is added, like an accusative of respect (1601, 1602), to intransitive verbs (especially in poetry), to adjectives (more frequently in poetry), and to substantives (rarely). Thus, τοῖος ἰδεῖν such in aspect (lit. to look on) Theognis 216, ὁρᾶν στυγνός of a repulsive expression X. A. 2. 6. 9, ἀκού- σαι παγκάλως ἔχει it is very fine to hear D. 19. 47, θαῦμα καὶ ἀκοῦσαι α παρρεῖ even to hear of P. L. 656 d.

2006. The infinitive limiting the meaning of an adjective is commonly active (or middle) in cases where the passive is more natural in English. Thus, λόγος δυνατὸς κατανοῆσαι a speech capable of being understood P. Ph. 90 c, ἀξίος θαυμάσαι worthy to be admired T. 1. 138 (but ἀξίος θαυμάζεσθαι X. C. 5. 1. 6).

a. The active use is due to the old dative function of the infinitive: δυνατὸς κατανοῆσαι capable for understanding.

2007. The infinitive, with or without ὥστε or ὡς, may be used with ἢ than after comparatives, depending on an (implied) idea of ability or inability. ἢ ὥστε is more common than ἢ or ἢ ὡς. Cp. 2264.

τὸ γὰρ νόσημα μείζον ἢ φέρειν for the disease is too great to be borne S. O. T. 1293, φοβοῦμαι μὴ τι μείζον ἢ ὥστε φέρειν δύνασθαι κακὸν τῇ πόλει συμβῇ I fear lest some calamity befall the State greater than it can bear X. M. 3. 5. 17, βραχύτερα ἢ ὡς ἐξικνεῖσθαι too short to reach X. A. 3. 3. 7.

a. The force of ἢ ὥστε may be expressed by the genitive; as, κρείσσον λόγου (T. 2. 50) = κρείσσον ἢ ὥστε λέγεσθαι. Cp. 1077.

b. Words implying a comparison may take the infinitive with ὥστε or ὡς (1063).

D. Infinitive of Purpose and Result

2008. Infinitive of Purpose. — The infinitive may express purpose (usually only with verbs taking the accusative).

ταύτην τὴν χώρᾱν ἐπέτρεψε διαρπάσαι τοῖς Ἕλλησιν he gave this land over to the Greeks to plunder X. A. 1. 2. 19, τὸ ἡμισυ (τοῦ στρατεύματος) κατέλιπε φυλάττειν τὸ στρατόπεδον he left half (of the army) behind to guard the camp 5. 2. 1, ἵνα ἐπὶ βασιλεῦ οὐκ ἐγίγνετο τὰ ἱερὰ the sacrifices did not turn out (favourable) for going against the king 2. 2. 3, Ἀριστάρχω . . . ἔδοτε ἡμέρᾱ ἀπολογησάσθαι you granted a day to Aristarchus to make his defence X. H. 1. 7. 28, ἡ θύρᾱ ἢ ἐμὴ ἀνέφκτο . . . εἰσιέναι τῷ δεομένῳ τι ἐμοῦ my door stood open for any petitioner of mine to enter 5. 1. 14, παρέχω ἐμαυτὸν ἐρωτᾶν I offer myself to be questioned P. A. 33 b, τὰς γυναῖκας πιεῖν φερούσας the women bringing (something) to drink X. H. 7. 2. 9. Cp. also 2032 e.

2009. The infinitive of purpose is used in prose especially after verbs meaning to give, entrust, choose, appoint, take, receive. Verbs signifying to send, go, come usually take the future active participle (2065); but T. 6. 50 has δέκα τῶν νεῶν προὔπεμψαν ἐς τὸν μέγαν λιμένα πλεῦσαι they sent ahead ten ships to sail into the great harbour; and in poetry the infinitive often denotes purpose after these verbs, and after εἶναι in Homer (A 20) and Hdt. (5. 25).

2010. After verbs meaning to have (or be) at one's disposition: οἱ στρατιῶται ἀργύριον οὐκ εἶχον ἐπιτρίψεσθαι the soldiers did not have money by means of which they could provision themselves X. A. 7. 1. 7, ἐκεῖ σκιά τ' ἐστὶ καὶ πῶς καθίσεσθαι there is shade and grass to sit down in P. Phae. 229 b.

2011. Infinitive of Result. — The infinitive may be used with ὥστε (sometimes with ὥς) to denote a result, often an intended result. See 2260 ff.

a. Several verbs, substantives, and adjectives usually taking the infinitive also admit ὥστε with the infinitive (2271); and the infinitive is found where ὥστε with the infinitive might be expected: μηνημονεύουσιν ἀφεθέντα τοῦτον ἐλεύθερον εἶναι they recall that he was emancipated (lit. released so as to be free) D. 29. 25. Here the redundant infinitive expresses an intended result.

N. — This redundant use of εἶναι is common in Hom. and Hdt.

E. Absolute Infinitive

2012. Certain idiomatic infinitives are used absolutely in parenthetical phrases to limit the application of a single expression or of the entire sentence.

a. Verbs of Saying. — ὥς ἔπος εἰπεῖν, ὥς εἰπεῖν so to speak, almost; (ὥς) ἀπλῶς εἰπεῖν, ὥς συνελόντι (1497) εἰπεῖν, ὥς (ἐν βραχεὶ or) συντόμως εἰπεῖν to speak briefly, concisely; ὥς ἐπὶ πᾶν εἰπεῖν, τὸ σύμπαν εἰπεῖν speaking generally; σχεδὸν εἰπεῖν so to say, almost (paene dixerim); σὺν θεῷ εἰπεῖν in God's name; and so ὥς with λέγειν, φράζειν, εἰρῆσθαι, as ὥς ἐν τύπῳ εἰρῆσθαι in general. Examples: ἀληθὲς γέ ὥς ἔπος εἰπεῖν οὐδὲν εἰρήκᾶσιν not one word of truth, I may say, did they utter P. A. 17 a, ἀγαθὸν μὲν ἀπλῶς εἰπεῖν οὐδὲν γέγονε τῇ πόλει in a word the State gained no advantage Dinarchus 1. 33.

b. ὥς (ἔπος) εἰπεῖν is often used to limit too strict an application of a general statement, especially πᾶς or οὐδεὶς. Thus, πάντες ὥς ἔπος εἰπεῖν nearly every one, οὐδεὶς ὥς ἔπος εἰπεῖν almost no one. It is thus used like paene dixerim; rarely, like ut ita dicam, to soften the strength of a metaphor.

c. Especially common is the absolute εἶναι in ἐκὼν εἶναι willingly, intentionally, if you can help it, usually in negative or quasi-negative statements (ἐκὼν may be inflected). Also in τὸ κατὰ τοῦτον (ἐπὶ τούτῳ) εἶναι as far as he is concerned, ὥς . . . εἶναι as far as . . . is concerned, τὸ νῦν εἶναι at present. Examples: οὐδὲ ξένοις ἐκὼν εἶναι γέλωτα παρέχεις nor do you intentionally cause strangers to laugh X. C. 2. 2. 15, ἐκούσα εἶναι οὐκ ἀπολείπεται it is not willingly separated P. Phae. 252 a, τό γε ἐπ' ἐκείνῳ εἶναι ἐσώθη (δὲν) so far, at least, as it depended on him you would have been saved L. 13. 58.

d. Other expressions: ἐμοὶ δοκεῖν, ὥς ἐμοὶ δοκεῖν, ὥς ἐμοὶ κρίναι as it seems to me, in my opinion, (ὥς) εἰκάσαι to make a guess, (ὥς) συμβάλλειν to compare, (ὥς) ἀκούσαι to the ear, ὥς ὑπομνήσαι to recall the matter, ὅσον γέ μ' εἰδέναι as far as I know, etc.; ὀλίγου δεῖν, μικροῦ δεῖν almost, all but (δεῖν may be omitted, 1399). Examples: ὁ γὰρ Κτήσιππος ἔτυχε πόρρω καθεζόμενος τοῦ Κλειρίου, ἐμοὶ δοκεῖν for Ctesippus, it seems to me, happened to be sitting at a distance from Clinias P. Eu. 274 b, μικροῦ δεῖν τρία τάλαντα almost three talents D. 27. 29.

e. Some of these absolute infinitives may be explained by reference to the idea of purpose (2008) or result. Thus, συνελόντι εἰπεῖν for one compressing the matter to speak (cp. ut paucis dicam), μικροῦ δεῖν so as to lack little. Others recall the adverbial accusative (1806); cp. ἐμοὶ δοκεῖν with γνώμην ἐμήν.

F. Infinitive in Commands, Wishes, and Exclamations

2013. Infinitive in Commands.—The infinitive may be used for the second person of the imperative. The person addressed is regarded as the subject. This infinitive is commoner in poetry than in prose (where it has a solemn or formal force).

θαρσὺν νῦν, Διόμηδες, ἐπὶ Τρῳέσσι μάχεσθαι with good courage now, Diomed, fight against the Trojans E 124, σὺ δέ, Κλεαρδῶ . . . τὰς πύλας ἀνοίξας ἐπείκειν but do you, Clearidas, open the gates and sally forth T. 5. 9.

a. This infinitive may be used in conjunction with an imperative: ἀκούετε λεψ' κατὰ τὰ πάτρια τοῦς χῶας πίνειν hear ye, good people! drink the Pitchers as our sties drank! Ar. Ach. 1000.

b. The infinitive for the third person of the imperative often occurs in legal language (laws, treaties, etc.), and does not necessarily depend on the principal verb. Thus, ἔτη δὲ εἶναι τὰς σπονδὰς πενήκοντα and the treaty shall continue for fifty years T. 5. 18. In this construction the infinitive has the force of an infinitive dependent on ἔδοξε (it was voted that) or the like. So in medical language, as πίνειν δὲ ὕδωρ it is well for the patient to drink water Hippocrates 1. 151.

c. The infinitive (with subject accusative) is rarely used for the third person of the imperative when there is an unconscious ellipsis of a word like δοῦς grant, or εὐχομαι I pray. Thus, τεύχεα σῦλήσας φερέτω κοιλᾷ ἐπὶ νῆας, σῶμα δὲ ὀκκαδ' ἐμὸν δόμεναι πάλιν let him strip off my arms and carry them to the hollow ships, but let him give back my body to my home H 78.

d. In negative commands (prohibitions) μή with the infinitive is poetic and Ionic: οἳ μὴ πέλαιψιν do not approach these (= μὴ πέλας) A. Pr. 712, μηδὲ καλεῖν πω δλβιον and do not call him happy yet Hdt. 1. 32.

2014. Infinitive in Wishes.—The infinitive with a subject accusative may be used in the sense of the optative of wish, usually with the same ellipsis as in 2013 c.

θεοὶ πολῖται, μὴ με δουλειᾷ τυχεῖν γε gods of my country, may bondage not be my lot! A. Sept. 253, ὦ Ζεῦ, ἐκγενέσθαι μοι Ἀθηναίους τείσασθαι oh Zeus, that it be granted to me to punish the Athenians! Hdt. 5. 105 (cp. ὦ Ζεῦ, δὸς με τείσασθαι μὲρον πατρός oh Zeus, grant that I may avenge my father's murder! A. Ch. 18). This construction is very rare in Attic prose: τὸν κυνηγέτην ἔχοντα ἐξέλαιν . . . ἐλαφρὰν ἐσθήτα the hunter should go forth in a light dress X. Ven. 6. 11. Here no definite verb can be supplied.

a. The nominative with the infinitive (instead of the optative) after αἰ γάρ occurs in Homer (η 311, ω 376).

2015. Infinitive in Exclamations.—The infinitive is often used in exclamations of surprise or indignation. The subject stands in the accusative.

ἐμὲ παθεῖν τάδε that I should suffer this! A. Eum. 837, τοιουτοῦ τρέφειν κύνα to keep a dog like that! Ar. Vesp. 835.

On the infinitive with ἐφ' ᾧ (ἐφ' ᾧ) see 2279; with πρίν, see 2453.

INFINITIVE AS OBJECT IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2016. The infinitive is used as the object of verbs of saying and thinking. Such infinitives denote both time and stage of action (cp. 1866).

a. The finite verb of a sentence placed in dependence on a verb of saying or thinking that requires the infinitive, becomes infinitive, which infinitive stands in the relation of a substantive as subject or object of the leading verb. Commonly as object: thus, Kūpos νικῇ Cyrus is victorious, when made the object of φησὶ he says, becomes a part of a new sentence φησὶ Kūpon νικᾶν, in which Kūpon νικᾶν is the object of φησὶ. As subject, when the verb of saying is passive: thus, in λέγεται Kūpon νικᾶν, the last two words form the subject of λέγεται.

2017. Verbs of saying are e.g.: say φημί, φάσκω, λέγω; confess ὁμολογῶ; promise ὑπισχνέσθαι, ὑποδέχομαι, ἐπαγγέλλομαι, ὑφίσταμαι; pretend προσποιεῖσθαι; swear δυσμῆμι; deny ἀπαρνοῦμαι; gainsay ἀντιλέγω; dispute ἀμφισβητῶ, etc.

Some verbs of saying admit other constructions than the infinitive, and especially οἶ or ὥς (2579). λέγω, εἶπον, φράζω, φωνῶ with οἶ or ὥς mean say, with the infinitive command (1907).

a. φημί say, assert, express the opinion that in classical Greek is almost always followed by the infinitive, but by οἶ very often in the later language. φημί οἶ occurs in X. A. 7. 1. 5 (φημί ὥς in L. 7. 19, X. H. 6. 8. 7; D. 4. 48, 27. 19 by anacoluthon).

b. λέγω state (impart a fact) takes either the infinitive or οἶ or ὥς. The infinitive occurs usually with the passive (λέγεται, etc.) either in the personal or impersonal construction (1982 a). The active forms of λέγω with the infinitive mean command (1907).

c. εἶπον said usually takes οἶ or ὥς; with the infinitive, it commonly means commanded (1907). Cp. the double use of told.

N. — εἶπον meaning said with the infinitive is rare, but occurs in good Attic prose: And. 1. 57, 80; Thuc. 7. 35; Lys. 10. 6, 10. 9, 10. 12; Xen. H. 1. 6. 7, 2. 2. 15, C. 5. 5. 24, S. 2. 13; Is. 2. 29; Lyc. 50; Aes. 3. 37, 3. 59; Dem. 15. 18; Plato, G. 473 a, 503 d, Lach. 192 b, Charm. 174 a, Hipp. Maj. 291 b, Pol. 263 c, 290 b, L. 654 a, Clitoph. 409 a, 410 b. In poetry this use is frequent.

2018. Verbs of thinking almost always take the infinitive. Such are: think ἡγοῦμαι, οἶμαι, δοκῶ, νομίζω; hope ἐλπίζω; suppose ὑπολαμβάνω; suspect ὑποπτεύω; guess εἰκάζω; feel confident πιστεύω; disbelieve ἀπιστῶ. The use of ὥς is rare, while οἶ is very rare (2580).

a. Verbs of perceiving sometimes take the infinitive by analogy to verbs of thinking; as ἀκούω, αἰσθάνομαι, πυνθάνομαι (2144).

2019. Each tense of direct discourse is retained (with its proper meaning as regards stage of action) when it becomes infinitive in indirect discourse; but an imperfect is represented by the present infinitive; a pluperfect, by the perfect infinitive. See 1866, 1867.

2020. An original οὐ of direct discourse is generally, an original μή is always, retained in indirect discourse. But in some cases οὐ becomes μή (2723 ff.).

2021. The infinitive is the subject of the passive of verbs of saying and thinking (1982 a). So with δοκεῖ it seems, φαίνεται it is plain, etc.

2022. The infinitive represents a finite verb after verbs of saying and thinking.

a. εἰποὶ φᾶσιν εἶναι they assert that they are loyal L. 12.49, οὐδεὶς ἔφασκεν γινώσκειν αὐτόν nobody said that he knew him 23. 3, οἱ ἡγεμόνες οὐ φᾶσιν (2002) εἶναι ἄλλην ὁδὸν the guides say there is no other road X. A. 4.1.21, πάντες ἐροῦσι τὸ λοιπὸν μηδὲν εἶναι κερδαλέωτερον τῆς ἀρετῆς everybody in time to come will say that there is nothing more profitable than bravery X. C. 7.1. 18. Other examples 1867.

b. βασιλεὺς νικᾷν ἡγεῖται the king thinks he is victorious (= νικῶ, cp. 1867) X. A. 2.1.11, δομαὶ βέλτιστον εἶναι I think it is best 5.1.8, ὑπώπτεον ἐπὶ βασιλῇ εἶναι they suspected that they were to go against the king 1.3.1, (Σωκράτης) τὸ ἀγνοεῖν ἑαυτὸν ἐγγυτάτω . . . μανίᾳς ἐλογίζετο εἶναι Socrates was of the opinion that for a man not to know himself was very near to madness X. M. 3.9.6.

c. When a word of saying is expressed or implied in what precedes, several infinitives may be used where the indicative is employed in translation. So in the narration in X. C. 1.3.5-8.

2023. The infinitive with ἄν represents an indicative with ἄν or a potential optative with ἄν. See 1846, 1848, 1849, 2270.

2024. Verbs signifying to hope, expect, promise, threaten, and swear take the future infinitive in indirect discourse, and the aorist (less often the present) infinitive not in indirect discourse (like verbs of will or desire, 1868, 1999). ἐλπίζω ταῦτα ποιῆσαι I hope that I shall do this, ἐλπίζω ταῦτα ποιῆσαι or ποιῆν I hope to do this.

THE INFINITIVE WITH THE ARTICLE (ARTICULAR INFINITIVE)

2025. The articular infinitive, while having the character of a substantive, retains the functions of a verb. In its older use the articular infinitive is a subject or object; the nearest approach to this use in Homer is ἀνὴρ καὶ τὸ φυλάσσειν to watch is also trouble v 52. In the tragic poets the genitive and dative are rarely used; in the speeches in Thucydides and in Demosthenes all of its four cases appear with great frequency. The articular infinitive may take dependent clauses.

2026. The articular infinitive admits the constructions of an ordinary substantive.

Nom. τὸ ποιεῖν making or to make, τὸ ποιῆσειν, τὸ ποιῆσαι, τὸ πεποιημένον

Gen. τοῦ ποιεῖν of making, τοῦ ποιῆσειν, τοῦ ποιῆσαι, etc.

Dat. τῷ ποιεῖν for making, by making, τῷ ποιῆσειν, τῷ ποιῆσαι, etc.

Acc. τὸ ποιεῖν, τὸ ποιῆσειν, τὸ ποιῆσαι, etc.

2027. The articular infinitive is treated as subject, predicate noun, and object like the simple infinitive (1984-1986).

2028. The negative of the articular infinitive is μή.

2029. The articular infinitive may indicate time (after verbs of saying or thinking, 2034 g), or may be timeless.

2030. The articular infinitive is in general used like the infinitive without the article, and may take άν; as regards its constructions it has the value of a substantive. The article is regularly used when the connection uniting the infinitive to another word has to be expressed by the genitive, the dative, or a preposition.

a. The articular infinitive is rarely used, like a true substantive, with the subjective genitive: τό γ' εἰ φρονεῖν αὐτῶν μῖμειθε imitate at least their wisdom D. 19. 289.

2031. NOMINATIVE OF THE ARTICULAR INFINITIVE

Subject (1984): νεοίς τὸ σιγᾶν κρεῖττόν ἐστι τοῦ λαλεῖν in the young silence is better than speech Men. Sent. 387, τὸ Πελοποννησίων αὐτοῖς μὴ βοηθῆσαι παρέσχει ὑμῖν . . . Σαμίων κῶλασιν the fact that the Peloponnesians did not come to their assistance enabled you to punish the Samians T. 1. 41.

2032. GENITIVE OF THE ARTICULAR INFINITIVE

a. The genitive of the articular infinitive is used to limit the meaning of substantives, adjectives, and verbs.

b. Adnominal (1290): τοῦ πειν ἐπιθύμια from desire to drink T. 7. 84, πρὸς τὴν πόλιν προσβαλόντες ἐς ἐλπίδα ἦλθον τοῦ εἶναι they attacked the city and entertained hopes of taking it 2. 56.

c. Partitive (1306): τοῦ θαρσεῖν τὸ πλείστον εὐληφότες having gained the greatest amount of courage T. 4. 34. After comparatives (1431): τί οὖν ἐστὶν . . . τοῦ τοῖς φίλοις ἀρῆγειν κάλλιον; what then is nobler than to help one's friends? X. C. 1. 5. 13.

d. After verbs: ἐπέσχομεν τοῦ δακρῦειν we desisted from weeping P. Ph. 117 e (cp. 1392).

e. Purpose (cp. 1408), often a negative purpose: τοῦ μὴ τὰ δίκαια ποιεῖν in order not to do what was just D. 18. 107, ἐτειχίσθη Ἀταλάντη . . . τοῦ μὴ ληστὰς . . . κακουργεῖν τὴν Εὐβοίαν Atalante was fortified to prevent pirates from ravaging Euboea T. 2. 32. More common is the use with ὑπέρ (2032 g) or ἐνεκα.

f. Genitive Absolute (2070): ἐπ' ἐκείνοις δὲ ὄντος αἰεὶ τοῦ ἐπιχειρεῖν καὶ ἐφ' ἡμῖν εἶναι δεῖ τὸ προαμύνεσθαι since the power of attack is always in their hands, so in our hands should lie the power of repelling it in advance T. 3. 12.

g. After prepositions, e.g. ἀντὶ τοῦ ἐπὶ Κάρῳ ἵεναι . . . ἐπὶ Φρυγίᾳ ἐπορεύετο instead of going against Caria, he marched toward Phrygia X. H. 3. 4. 12, ἀνευ τοῦ σφραγεῖν without exercising self-control X. M. 4. 3. 1. To express purpose the genitive with ὑπέρ is very common: ὑπέρ τοῦ τούτων γενέσθαι κύριος . . . πάντα πρᾶγματεῖται he devotes his every effort that he may become master of these D. 8. 46, ὑπέρ τοῦ μὴ τὸ κελεύμενον ποιῆσαι in order not to do what was commanded 18. 204. Furthermore, after ἀπό, πρό, δί, μετά, περί, ὕπο, ἐνεκα, χάριν, χωρίς, πλήν, μέχρι; and after adverbs. In Hdt. τοῦ may be omitted after ἀντί.

2033. DATIVE OF THE ARTICULAR INFINITIVE

a. With verbs, adjectives, and adverbs: thus, ἴνα . . . ἀπιστῶσι τῷ ἐμῇ τετιμῆσθαι ὑπὸ δαιμόνων that they may distrust my having been honoured by divine powers X. Ap. 14, τῷ ζῆν ἐστὶ τι ἐναντίον, ὥσπερ τῷ ἐγρηγορεῖν τὸ καθεύδειν; is it something opposed to living, as sleeping to waking? P. Ph. 71 c, οὐδενὶ τῶν πάντων πλέον κερράγηκε Φίλιππος ἢ τῷ πρότερος πρὸς τοῖς πράγμασι γίνεσθαι Philip has conquered us by nothing so much as by being beforehand in his operations D. 8.11, ἀμα τῷ τιμᾶν at the same time that we honour P. R. 468 e, ἴσον δὲ τῷ προστένειν equal to sorrowing beforehand A. Ag. 252.

b. After prepositions: e.g. οὐ γὰρ ἐπὶ τῷ δοῦλοι, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ τῷ ὁμοῖοι τοῖς λαιπομένοις εἶναι ἐκπέμπονται (ἀποικοί) for colonists are not sent out on the basis of being inferiors, but on the basis of being the equals of those who are left at home T. 1. 34, ὁ μὲν πρὸς τῷ μηδὲν ἐκ τῆς πρεσβείας λαβεῖν, τοὺς αἰχμαλώτους . . . ἐλθσας the one, in addition to gaining nothing from the embassy, ransomed the prisoners of war D. 19. 229, ἐν τῷ φρονεῖν γὰρ μηδὲν ἡδιστος βίος for life is sweetest in being conscious of nothing S. Aj. 553.

2034. ACCUSATIVE OF THE ARTICULAR INFINITIVE

a. Object (cp. 1989): δεισᾶς τὸ ζῆν fearing to live P. A. 28 d, μείζον μὲν φανερὸν κακὸν τὸ ἀδικεῖν, ἑλάττω δὲ τὸ ἀδικεῖσθαι we call doing wrong a greater evil, being wronged a lesser P. G. 509 c.

b. After prepositions: e.g. μέγιστον ἀγαθὸν τὸ πειθαρχεῖν φαίνεται εἰς τὸ καταπράττειν τὰ γὰρ obedience appears to be an advantage of the greatest importance with regard to the successful accomplishment of excellent objects X. C. 8. 1. 3, τῶν ἀπάντων ἀπεριόριστοι εἰσι παρὰ τὸ νικᾶν they are indifferent to everything in comparison with victory T. 1. 41, πρὸς τὸ μετρίων δεῖσθαι πεπαιδευμένους schooled to moderate needs X. M. 1. 2. 1, πῶς ἔχεις πρὸς τὸ ἐθέλειν ἂν λέναι ἀκλῆτος ἐπὶ δείπνον; how do you feel about being willing to go uninvited to supper? P. S. 174 a (cp. ἐθέλοις ἂν λέναι). Furthermore, after διὰ, ἐπὶ, κατά, μετά, περί.

c. The accusative of the infinitive with τὸ appears after many verbs and verbal expressions which usually take only the simple infinitive. Such verbal expressions may be followed also by a genitive of a noun. Thus, τὸ σπεύδειν δέ σοι παραινῶ I commend speed to thee S. Ph. 620, καρδίᾳ δ' ἐξίσταμαι τὸ δρᾶν I withdraw from my resolution so as to (= and) do this thing S. Ant. 1105, μαθὼν γὰρ οὐκ ἂν ἀνολίμην τὸ δρᾶν when I am informed, I will not refuse the deed S. Ph. 115, τὸ προθυμῆσθαι δὲ συναύξει τὸν οἶκον ἐπαιδευόμεν αὐτὴν we trained her to show zeal in assisting to increase our estate X. O. 9. 12 (cp. 1628), τὸ ἐρᾶν ἔξαρκος if you refuse to love P. Lys. 205 a.

d. So after adjectives. Thus, μακρὸς τὸ κρίναι ταῦτα χῶ λοιπὸς χρόνος the future is long (i.e. time enough) to decide this S. El. 1030.

e. This object infinitive after verbs is often an internal accusative. The accusative after verbs and nouns is, in many cases, like an accusative of respect (1600); as τὸ δρᾶν οὐκ ἠθέλησαν they refused to do it S. O. C. 442, αἰσχύνονται τὸ τολμᾶν they are ashamed to dare P. Soph. 247 b, οὐδ' ἐμοί τοι τοῦξαιστάναι ἐστὶ θάρσος nor have I courage to remove thee S. O. C. 47, τὸ μὲν ἐς τὴν γῆν ἡμῶν ἐσβάλλειν . . . ἱκανοὶ εἶσι they are able to make an inroad into our country T. 6. 17. This infinitive after adjectives (and sometimes after verbs) occurs when the simple infinitive expresses purpose or result, as in τὴς Μήδων . . . σοῦ ἀπελείφθη τὸ μὴ σοὶ ἀκολουθεῖν; what one of the Medes remained away from you so as not to attend you? X. C. 5. 1. 25.

f. Some verbs take the articular infinitive as an object when the simple infinitive could not be used: μόνον ὁρῶν τὸ παλεῖν τὸν ἀλυσκόμενον taking heed only to strike any one he caught X. C. 1. 4. 21.

g. Verbs of saying and thinking rarely take the articular infinitive (also with ἀν): ἐξομεῖ τὸ μὴ εἶδέναι; wilt thou swear thou didst not know? S. Ant. 535, τῆς ἐλπίδος γὰρ ἔρχομαι δεδραγμένος; τὸ μὴ παθεῖν ἂν ἄλλο πλὴν τὸ μόρσιμον for I come with good grip on the hope that I can suffer nothing save what is my fate S. Ant. 235.

h. On the use of the object infinitive with τὸ μὴ and τὸ μὴ οὐ, see 2744 and 2749.

i. The accusative with the infinitive may stand in the absolute construction: ἔπει γε τὸ ἐλθεῖν τούτου, οἶμαι θεόν τινα αὐτὸν ἐκ' αὐτὴν ἀγαγεῖν τὴν τιμωρίαν as for his coming, I believe that some god brought him to his very punishment Lyc. 91.

OTHER USES OF THE ARTICULAR INFINITIVE

2035. Apposition (cp. 1987). The articular infinitive, in any case, is often used in apposition to a preceding word, especially a demonstrative.

τούτῳ ἐστι τὸ ἀδικεῖν, τὸ πλεόν τῶν ἄλλων ζητεῖν ἔχειν injustice is this: to seek to have more than other people P. G. 483 c, τί γὰρ τούτου μακαριώτερον, τοῦ γῆ μυχθῆναι κτλ. for what is more blessed than this: to be commingled with the earth, etc. X. C. 8. 7. 25, δοκεῖ τούτῳ διαφέρειν ἀνὴρ τῶν ἄλλων ζῶων, τῷ τιμῆς ὀρέγεσθαι man differs herein from other creatures that he aspires after honour X. Hi. 7. 3.

2036. In Exclamation (cp. 2015).—Thus, τῆς τύχης· τὸ ἐμὲ νῦν κληθέντα δεῦρο τυχεῖν my ill-luck! that I should happen now to have been summoned hither! X. C. 2. 2. 3.

2037. With Adjuncts.—The articular infinitive may take various adjuncts including dependent clauses, the whole forming one large substantival idea.

τὸ μὲν γὰρ πόλλ' ἀπολωλέκναι κατὰ τὸν πόλεμον the fact that we have lost much in the war D. 1. 10, πέπεισμαι . . . τὰ πλεῖω τῶν πραγμάτων ἡμᾶς ἐκτεφευγέναι τῷ μὴ βούλεσθαι τὰ δέοντα ποιεῖν, ἢ τῷ μὴ συνίεναι I am persuaded that more of your advantages have escaped you from your not being willing to do your duty than from your ignorance 3. 3, καὶ γὰρ πάντῳ μοι δοκεῖ ἀφρονος ἀνθρώπου εἶναι τὸ (μεγάλου ἔργου ὄντος τοῦ ἐαυτῷ τὰ δέοντα παρασκευάζειν) μὴ ἀρκεῖν τοῦτο, ἀλλὰ προσαναθέσθαι τὸ καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις πολιταῖς ὧν δέονται πορίζειν and in fact, since it is a serious business to provide for one's own necessities, it seems to me to be the part of an utter fool not to rest content with that, but in addition to take upon himself the burden of providing for the needs of the rest of the community X. M. 2. 1. 8.

CONSTRUCTIONS OF THE INFINITIVE WITH VERBS OF hindering

2038. Verbs signifying (or suggesting) to hinder take both the simple infinitive and the articular infinitive. Such verbs may take the strengthening but redundant negative μή (2739); and some, when themselves negated or appearing in a question expecting a negative answer, admit the addition of the sympathetic οὐ (2742). Hence we have a variety of constructions (described in 2744 ff.)

THE PARTICIPLE

2039. The participle (μετοχή participation) is a verbal adjective, in part a verb, in part an adjective.

2040. The participle is like a verb herein:

- a. It shows the distinctions of voice and tense. Its tenses mark action simply occurring, continuing, and completed.
- b. It can have an object in the same case (genitive, dative, accusative) as the finite forms.
- c. It is modified by adverbs, not by adjectives.
- d. It may take δὲ, and, with that particle, represents δὲ with the indicative or δὲ with the optative (1845 ff.).

2041. The participle shows its adjectival nature by being inflected and by admitting the article before it, both of which characteristics give it the character of a noun. It follows the rules of agreement like other adjectives (1020). Unlike the adjective, it represents a quality in action (cp. 1857).

2042. The participle is always used in connection with a substantive or a substantive pronoun, which may be contained in a verbal form, as διάγουσι μανθάνοντες they spend their time in learning.

2043. The tenses of the participle (except the future) not in indirect discourse are timeless, and denote only stage of action (1872). When they stand in indirect discourse and represent the indicative, they denote time relatively to that of the main verb.

2044. The future participle marks an action as in prospect at the time denoted by the leading verb. Since it expresses an idea of will, it shows that an action is purposed, intended, or expected. With the article it denotes the person or thing likely (or able) to do something (= μέλλον with inf. 1959). The nearest approach to mere futurity appears in general only after verbs of knowing and perceiving (2106, cp. 2112 b).

ὁ δ' ἀνὴρ αὐτῆς λαγώς ᾤχετο θηράσων but her husband had gone to hunt hares X. A. 4.5.24, ὁ ἡγησόμενος οὐδεὶς ἔσται there will be no one to guide us 2.4.5.
 πολλὰ . . . δεῖ τὸν εὖ στρατηγήσοντα (= τὸν μέλλοντα εὖ στρατηγήσειν) ἔχειν he who intends to be a good general must have many qualifications X. M. 3. 1. 6, θαυομένη γὰρ ἔγνων for I knew that I should (or must) die S. Ant. 460 (cp. 2106).

2045. The negative of the participle is οὐ, except when the participle has a general or conditional force, or occurs in a sentence which requires μή. See 2728.

2046. The participle has three main uses.

A. Attributive: as an attributive to a substantive.

B. Circumstantial (or Adverbial): denoting some attendant circumstance and qualifying the main verb like an adverbial phrase or clause.

C. Supplementary: as a supplement to a verbal predicate, which, without such a supplement, would be incomplete.

2047. The circumstantial and supplementary participles are predicate participles.

2048. The attributive and circumstantial participles are commonly not necessary to the construction; but the removal of a supplementary participle may make the construction incomplete. The circumstantial participle is used by way of apposition to the subject of the verb and, though strictly predicative, may agree attributively with a noun or pronoun. An attributive participle may be circumstantial, as οἱ μὴ δυνάμενοι διατελέσαι τὴν ὁδὸν ἐνυκτέρευσαν δαίροι those who (i.e. if any) were unable to complete the march passed the night without food X. A. 4. 5. 11. A participle may be both circumstantial and supplementary, as ἀδικούμενοι ὀργίζονται (T. 1. 77) they are enraged at being wronged or because (when, if) they are wronged. Circumstantial and supplementary participles often cannot be sharply distinguished; as with verbs signifying to be angry, ashamed, content, pleased (2100), inferior to, do wrong (2101), endure (2098), come and go (2099). Thus, ἀδικῶ ταῦτα ποιῶν I do wrong in doing this or I am guilty in doing this: in the first case ταῦτα ποιῶν is appositive to the subject of the verb; in the second these words define the predicate adjective ἀδικος contained in ἀδικῶ (= ἀδικῶς εἰμι).

THE ATTRIBUTIVE PARTICIPLE

2049. The attributive participle (with any modifier), with or without the article, modifies a substantive like any other adjective.

ὁ ἐφεισθηκὼς κίνδυνος τῇ πόλει the danger impending over the State D. 18. 176, οἱ ὄντες ἐχθροὶ the existing enemies 6. 15, ὁ παρὼν καιρὸς the present crisis 3. 3, τὰ Κοτύλαιον ὀνομαζόμενον ὄρος the mountain called Cotylaeum Aes. 3. 86, αἱ Αἰόλου νῆσοι καλούμεναι the so-called islands of Aeolus T. 3. 88 (cp. 1170). For the position of an attributive participle with its modifiers, see 1166.

2050. The substantive with which the attributive participle (with the article) agrees directly, may be omitted, the participle thus becoming a substantive (1153 b, and N. 1); as, ὁ οἰκαδε βουλόμενος ἀπιέναι whoever wants to go home X. A. 1. 7. 4. Neuter participles are often substantival, as τὰ δέοντα duties.

a. Substantives or relative clauses must often be used to translate such participles, as ὁ φεγών the exile or the defendant, τὸ μέλλον the future, οἱ νικῶντες the victors, ὁ κλέπτων the thief, οἱ θανόντες the dead, ὁ σωθεὶς the man who has been saved, ὁ δεδιώκων those who are afraid, οἱ ἀδικούμενοι those who are (being) wronged, ὁ τὴν γνώμην ταύτην εἰπὼν the one who gave this opinion T. 8. 68, ὁ ἐνταῦθ' ἐαυτὸν τάξας τῆς πολιτείας ἐμ' ἐγώ the man who took this position in the State was I D. 18. 62. The participle with the article may represent a relative clause of purpose or result, as X. A. 2. 4. 5 cited in 2044.

2051. A participle may be modified by adjectives or take a genitive, when its verbal nature has ceased to be felt: τὰ μικρά συμφέροντα τῆς πόλεως the petty interests of the State D. 18. 28. Cp. συμφέρον ἦν τῇ πόλει it was advantageous to the State 19. 75 (here the participle is used like a predicate). Thucydides often uses in an abstract sense a substantival neuter participle where the infinitive would be more common, e.g., τὸ δεδιώκω fear, τὸ θαρσεῖν courage (for τὸ δεδιδῆναι, τὸ θαρσεῖν) 1. 36. See 1153 b, N. 2. In poetry many participles are used substantively, as ὁ τεκὼν father, ἡ τεκούσα mother, οἱ τεκόντες parents.

2052. The article with the participle is either generic or particular (1124). Thus, ὁ λέγων the definite speaker on a particular occasion, or orator in general. So ὁ ὁδῶν the definite person who did not do something, ὁ μὴ δρῶν any one who did not do something (a supposed case), ὁ μὴ γαμῶν ἀνθρώποις οὐκ ἔχει κακὰ the unmarried man has no troubles Men. Sent. 437. Generic are ὁ τυχών, ὁ βουλόμενος, 2050 a.

a. Participles having an indefinite force may, especially in the plural number, be used without the article. Thus, κατασκευομένους ἔπεμπε he sent men to reconnoitre X. C. 8. 1. 2, ἀδικούντα πειρᾶσθαι . . . ἀμύνασθαι we shall endeavour to avenge ourselves on any one who injures us X. A. 2. 3. 23.

2053. A participle and its substantive often correspond to a verbal noun with the genitive or to an articular infinitive. Cp. post urbem conditam and Milton's "Since created man."

τῷ στῶ ἐπιλείποντι ἐτίεζοντο they suffered from the failure of the crops (= τῷ τοῦ στρου ἐπιλείψει) T. 3. 20, δι' ὧν μὴ συμμαχήσαντας by reason of your not joining the alliance (= διὰ τὸ ὧν μὴ συμμαχήσαι) 6. 80, μετὰ Συρακούσας οἰκισθεὶς after the foundation of Syracuse 6. 3, ἐλόπει αὐτὸν ἡ χῶρᾴ πορθουμένη the ravaging of the country grieved him X. A. 7. 7. 12, ἡ ὀργὴ σὺν τῷ φόβῳ λήγοντι his wrath will disappear with the cessation of his fear X. C. 4. 5. 21.

a. Except in expressions of time, such as ἀμὰ ἤρι ἀρχομένῳ at the beginning of spring T. 2. 2, ἐπὶ Κόδρου βασιλεύοντος in the reign of Codrus Lyc. 84 (cp. 1689 b), this construction is in place only when the part. is necessary to the sense. In poetry: Ζεὺς γελοῖος ὀμνόμενος swearing by Zeus is ridiculous Ar. Nub. 1241; in Hom. A 601, I 682.

THE CIRCUMSTANTIAL PARTICIPLE

2054. The circumstantial participle is added, without the article, to a noun or pronoun to set forth some circumstance under which an action, generally the main action, takes place.

a. The circumstantial participle thus qualifies the principal verb of the sentence like an adverbial clause or supplementary predicate. Cp. μετὰ ταῦτα etc.

afterwards he said with γελῶν εἶπε he said laughingly. Such participles usually have the force of subordinate clauses added to the main verb by conjunctions denoting time, condition, cause, etc.; but may often be rendered by adverbial phrases or even by a separate finite verb, which brings out distinctly the idea latent in the participle.

b. The circumstantial participle has no article. In agreement with a noun and its article, it stands before the article or after the noun (i.e. in the predicate position). By the agreement of the participle with a noun or pronoun, the predicate of the sentence is more exactly defined.

2055. The circumstantial participle has two main constructions each equivalent in meaning to a clause of time, condition, cause, etc.

(οἱ ἄνθρωποι) λιπόντες τὴν ὁδὸν φεύγοντες ὀλίγοι ἀπέθνησκον by leaving the road and making off only a few were killed X. A. 4. 2. 7, προπέμψαντες κήρυκα πόλεμον προερούντα having sent a herald in advance to proclaim war T. 1. 29.

2057. (II) Absolute participial clauses, in which a participle, and not a finite verb, forms the predicate. These are of two kinds.

2058. A. Genitive Absolute.—A participle agreeing in the genitive with its own subject, which is not identical with the subject of the leading verb, is said to stand in the genitive absolute. Cp. 2070.

Κύρος ἀνέβη ἐπὶ τὰ ὄρη οὐδεὶς κωλύωντος Cyrus ascended the mountains without any one preventing him X. A. 1. 2. 22.

N.—The English nominative absolute is represented by the Greek genitive absolute. Cp. Tennyson: "we sitting, as I said, the cock crew loud" = ἡμῶν καθήμενων, ὅτε ἐλεγον, μέγα ᾗσεν ὁ ἀλεκτρυών.

συνδόξαν τῷ πατρὶ καὶ τῇ μητρὶ γαμῆν τὴν Κυαζάρου θυγατέρα on the approval of (lit. it seeming good to) his father and mother he married the daughter of Cyazares X. C. 8. 5. 28.

2060. The circumstantial participle expresses simply circumstance or manner in general. It may imply various other relations, such as time, manner, means, cause, purpose, concession, condition, etc. But it is often impossible to assign a participle exclusively to any one of these relations (which are purely logical), nor can all the delicate relations of the participle be set forth in systematic form.

ἀκούσῃσι τοῖς στρατηγοῖς ταῦτα ἔδοξε τὸ στράτευμα συναγαγεῖν on hearing this it seemed best to the generals to collect the troops X. A. 4. 4. 19.

a. Several temporal participles have an adverbial force: ἀρχόμενος in the beginning, at first, τελειῶν at last, finally, διαλειπών (or ἐπισχών) χρόνον after a while, διαλείπων χρόνον at intervals, χρονίζων for a long time. Thus, ἀπερ καὶ ἀρχόμενος εἶπον as I said at the outset T. 4. 64, τελειῶν ἐχαλέπαιεν at last he became angry X. A. 4. 5. 16. Note ἀρξάμενος ἀπὸ τίνος beginning with or especially.

2062. Manner. — παρήλαυον τεταγμένοι they marched past in order X. A. 1. 2. 16, κραυγὴν πολλὴν ποιοῦντες καλοῦντες ἀλλήλους they made a loud noise by calling to each other 2. 2. 17, προεἴλετο μᾶλλον τοῖς νόμοις ἐμμένων ἀποθαρεῖν ἢ παρανομῶν ζῆν he preferred rather to abide by the laws and die than to disobey them and live X. M. 4. 4. 4, φατὲ μὲν εὐτυχεῖς εἶναι, ὥς καὶ ἐστὲ καλῶς ποιοῦντες you claim to be favoured by fortune as happily you are in fact Aes. 3. 232. To characterize a preceding statement with the participle in apposition to the subject of the preceding sentence; thus, ὁρθῶς γε ταῦτα λέγοντες yes, and saying this correctly X. O. 16. 2.

a. Several participles of manner have an idiomatic meaning, e.g. ἀνίστασθαι quickly (lit. having accomplished), ἔχων continually, persistently (lit. holding on), λαθὼν secretly, κλαίων to one's sorrow (lit. weeping), χαίρων with impunity (lit. rejoicing), φέρων hastily (lit. carrying off), φθάσας before (lit. anticipating). Thus, ἀνογ' ἀνίστασθαι hurry up and open Ar. Nub. 181, ἔκπλουν ποιεῖται λαθὼν τὴν φυλακὴν he sailed out unobserved by the guard T. 1. 65 (cp. 2066 f), φλυᾶρεῖς ἔχων you keep trifling P. G. 490 e, τοῦτον οὐδεὶς χαίρων ἀδικήσει no one will wrong him with impunity 510 d, ἀνέφθασέ με φθάσας you opened the door before I could knock Ar. Plut. 1102 (cp. 2066 e).

2063. Means (often the present participle). — ληξάντων ζῶσι they live by pillaging X. C. 3. 2. 25, μὴ κρίν' ὀρῶν τὸ κάλλος, ἀλλὰ τὸν τρόπον judge by regarding not beauty, but (by regarding) character Men. Sent. 333.

a. τί μαθὼν what induced him to (lit. having learned what?), τί παθὼν what possessed him to (lit. having experienced what?) are used with the general sense of wherefore? in direct (with δέ τι in indirect) questions expressing surprise or disapprobation; as τί μαθόντες ἐμαρτυρεῖτε ὑμεῖς; what put it into your heads to give evidence? D. 45. 38, τί παθόντε λελάσμεθα; what possessed us to forget? A 313. Cp. τί βουλόμενος.

b. τί ἔχων; what's the matter with you? (lit. having what?)

2065. Purpose or Object. — The future (sometimes the present) participle is used to denote purpose, especially after verbs denoting to come, go, send, summon, etc. Thus, προπέμψαντες κήρυκα πόλεμον προερούνητα having sent a herald in advance to proclaim war T. 1. 29, ὁ βάρβαρος ἐπὶ τὴν Ἑλλάδα δουλωσόμενος ἦλθεν the barbarians proceeded against Greece with the purpose of enslaving it 1. 18, συνεκάλεσαν ἀπὸ τῶν πόλεων ἀπᾶσιν ἀκουσομένους (2062 a) τῆς παρὰ βασιλέως ἐπιστολῆς they summoned from all the cities men to listen to the letter from the king

X. H. 7. 1. 39. Present: ἔπεμπον . . . λέγοντας ὅτι κτλ. they sent men to say that, etc. X. H. 2. 4. 37.

2067. Condition (negative always μή). — σὺ δὲ κλύων (= εἰς κλύης) εἰσεῖ τάχα but if you listen you shall soon know Ar. Av. 1390, οὐκ ἂν δύναιο μή καμῶν (= εἰ μή κάμοις) εὐδαιμονεῖν you cannot be happy unless you work E. fr. 461.

2068. Any Attendant Circumstance. — συλλέξας στρατεύμα ἐπολιόρκει Μίλητον having collected an army he laid siege to Miletus X. A. 1. 1. 7, παραγγέλλει τῷ Κλεάρχῳ λαβόντι ἥκειν ὅσον ἦν αὐτῷ στρατεύμα he gave orders to Clearchus to come with all the force he had 1. 2. 1.

a. ἔχων having, ἄγων leading, φέρων carrying (mostly of inanimate objects), χρώμενος using, λαβόν taking are used where English employs with. Thus, ἔχων στρατιάν ἀφικνεῖται he arrives with an army T. 4. 30, βοῇ χρώμενοι with a shout 2. 84, ἐκέλευσε λαβόντα ἄνδρας ἐλθεῖν ὅτι πλείστους he ordered him to come with all the men he could (or to take . . . and come) X. A. 1. 1. 11.

b. In poetry participles (especially) of verbs denoting motion are often added to verbs of giving, setting to make the action more picturesque (H. 304, S. Aj. 854).

2069. The force of these circumstantial participles does not lie in the participle itself, but is derived from the context. Unless attended by some modifying adverb, the context often does not decide whether the participle has a temporal, a causal, a conditional, a concessive force, etc.; and some participles may be referred to more than one of the above classes. Thus, πατήρ δ' ἐπειλὼν οὐκ ἔχει μέγαν φόβον (Men. fr. 454) may mean: a father by threatening (= when or because or if or though, he threatens) does not excite much fear.

GENITIVE ABSOLUTE. ACCUSATIVE ABSOLUTE

2070. Genitive Absolute. — A circumstantial participle agreeing with a genitive noun or pronoun which is not in the main construction of the sentence, stands in the genitive absolute. Like other circumstantial participles, the genitive absolute expresses time, cause, condition, concession, or simply any attendant circumstance.

a. Time: ταῦτ' ἐπράχθη Κόωνος στρατηγοῦντος these things were effected while Coon was in command 1. 9. 56, τούτων λεχθέντων ἀνέστησαν this said, they rose X. A. 3. 3. 1, Ἡῖονα . . . Μήδων ἐχόντων πολιορκία εἶλον they blockaded and captured Eion which was held by the Medes T. 1. 98.

b. Cause: τῶν σωμάτων θηλυνόμενων καὶ αἱ ψυχαὶ ἀρρωστώτεραι γίνονται by the enfeebling of the body, the spirit too is made weaker X. O. 4. 2.

c. Opposition or Concession: καὶ μεταπεμπομένου αὐτοῦ οὐκ ἐθέλω ἐλθεῖν even though he is sending for me, I am unwilling to go X. A. 1. 3. 10. καίπερ is usually added (2083).

d. Condition: οἴομαι καὶ νῦν ἔτι ἐπαρρωθῆναι ἂν τὰ πράγματα τούτων γιγνομέ-now if these measures should be taken, I am of the opinion that even now our situation might be rectified D. 9. 76.

e. Attendant Circumstance: Kýros ἀνέβη ἐπὶ τὰ ὄρη οὐδενὸς κωλύοντος Cyrus ascended the mountains without opposition (lit. no one hindering) X. A. 1. 2. 22 (or since no one opposed him).

2071. ἔκων willing, ἄκων unwilling are properly participles and are treated as such (cp. 2117 c). Thus, ἐμοῦ οὐχ ἔκοντος without my consent S. Aj. 455.

a. ἄκων, δεκαζόμενος, ἀφρονέων, δελπτεών, ἀνάρμενος, ἀπομολογούμενος, ἀτίσων are the only cases in Greek showing the earlier method of negating the participle with alpha privative. Elsewhere οὐ or μή is used.

2072. The genitive of the participle may stand without its noun or pronoun

a. When the noun or pronoun may easily be supplied from the context. Thus, οἱ δὲ πολέμοι, προσιόντων (τῶν Ἑλλήνων, previously mentioned), τέως μὲν ἡσυχίαζον the enemy, as they were approaching, for a while remained quiet X. A. 5. 4. 16, ῥώτᾱ, ἔφη, ὦ Κύρε, . . . ὥς (ἐμοῦ) τάληθῇ ἐροῦντος put your question (said he), Cyrus, on the supposition that I will speak the truth X. C. 3. 1. 9.

b. When the noun or pronoun may easily be supplied otherwise; here, e.g., ἀνθρώπων or πράγμάτων is said to be supplied grammatically. Thus, ἰόντων εἰς μάχην when (men) are going into battle X. C. 3. 3. 54, τοῦτον τὸν τρόπον πράχθεντων τῆς πόλεως γίνεται τὰ χρήματα when (things) have happened in this way, the property belongs to the State D. 24. 12; and in ἄντος (Διός, 934 a) πολλῶ when it was raining hard X. H. 1. 1. 16. Quasi-impersonal verbs (933) thus take the genitive rather than the accusative absolute: οὕτως ἔχοντος in this state of things P. R. 381 c, influenced by οὕτως ἔχοντων X. A. 3. 1. 40.

c. When a subordinate clause with ὅτι follows upon the participle in the passive. Thus, ἐσαγγελθέντων ὅτι Φοίνισσαι νῆες ἐπ' αὐτοὺς πλέουσιν it having been announced that Phoenician ships were sailing against them T. 1. 116, δηλωθέντος ὅτι ἐν ταῖς ναυσὶ τῶν Ἑλλήνων τὰ πράγματα ἐγένετο it having been shown that the salvation of the Greeks depended on their navy 1. 74. The plural is used when the subject of the subordinate clause is plural, or when several circumstances are mentioned.

2073. Exceptionally, the subject of the genitive absolute is the same as that of the main clause. The effect of this irregular construction is to emphasize the idea contained in the genitive absolute. Thus, βοηθήσαντων ὑμῶν προθύμως πόλιν προσλήψεθε ναυτικὸν ἔχουσαν μέγα if you assist us heartily, you will gain to your cause a State having a large navy T. 3. 13. The genitive absolute usually precedes the main verb.

a. The genitive absolute may be used where the grammatical construction demands the dative. Thus, διαβεβηκότος Περικλέους . . . ἡγγέλθη αὐτῷ ὅτι Μάγαρα ἀφίστασκε when Pericles had already crossed over, news was brought to him that Megara had revolted T. 1. 114 (in Latin: Pericli iam transgresso nuntiatum est).

b. The subject of the genitive absolute may be identical with the object of the leading verb: ἦλθον ἐπὶ τὴν Ἐπίδαυρον ὥς ἐρήμου οὖσης . . . αἰρῆσαντες they came against Epidaurus expecting to capture it undefended T. 5. 56.

2074. Observe that the genitive absolute differs from the Latin ablative absolute herein: 1. The subject need not be expressed (2072). 2. The subject may appear in the leading clause (2073 a). 3. With a substantive the participle ὡς is always added in prose, whereas Latin has to omit the participle. Thus, παίδων ὄντων ἡμῶν nobis pueris P. S. 173 a. On ἐμοῦ δίκτοτος me invito, see 2071. 4. Because it has a present participle passive and an aorist and perfect participle active, Greek can use the genitive absolute where Latin, through lack of a past participle active, has to use a clause with dum, cum, etc. Thus, δλης τῆς πόλεως ἐν τοῖς πολεμικοῖς κινδύνοις ἐπιτρεπομένης τῷ στρατηγῷ cum bellicis in periculis univērsa respublica imperatori committatur X. M. 3.1.3, τοῦ παιδὸς γελάσαντος cum puer risisset. Latin uses the absolute case more frequently than Greek because it employs the perfect participle passive where Greek uses the aorist participle active. Thus, Κῦρος συγκαλέσας τοὺς στρατηγοὺς εἶπεν Cyrus, convocatis ducibus, dixit X. A. 1.4.8.

2075. The genitive absolute took its rise from such cases as Σαρπήδοντι δ' ἄχος γένετο Γλαύκου ἀπέναντος but sorrow came on Sarpedon for Glaucus — departing M 392. The genitive, here properly dependent on ἄχος γένετο, ceased to be felt as dependent on the governing expression, and was extended, as a distinct construction, to cases in which the governing expression did not take the genitive. Cp. the development of the accusative with the infinitive (1981).

2076. Accusative Absolute. — A participle stands in the accusative absolute, instead of the genitive, when it is impersonal, or has an infinitive as its subject (as under C). When impersonal, such participles have no apparent grammatical connection with the rest of the sentence.

A. Impersonal verbs: δέον, ἐξόν, μετόν, παρόν, προσῆκον, μέλον, μεταμέλον, παρέχον, παρασχόν, τυχόν, δοκούν, δόξαν, or δόξαντα (ταῦτα), γενόμενον ἐπ' ἐμοί as it was in my power.

οὐδεὶς τὸ μείζον κακὸν ἀλήσεται ἐξὸν τὸ ἑλάττω (αἰρεῖσθαι) no one will choose the greater evil when it is possible to choose the less P. Pr. 358 d, ἡς (βουλῆς) νῦν ἄξιοι τυχεῖν οὐ μετόν αὐτῷ to which he now claims admission though he has no right L. 31. 32, δῆλον γὰρ ὅτι οἶσθα μέλον γέ σοι for of course you know because it concerns you P. A. 24 d, μετεμέλοντο ὅτι μετὰ τὰ ἐν Πύλῳ, καλῶς παρασχόν, οὐ ἐνέβησαν they repented that after what had occurred at Pylos, although a favourable occasion had presented itself, they had not come to terms T. 5. 14. Cp. 2086 d, 2087.

N. — Apart from δόξαν, τυχόν, the accusative absolute of the aorist participle of impersonal verbs is very rare.

B. Passive participles used impersonally: γεγραμμένον, δεδογμένον, ἀρμημένον, προσταχθέν, προστεταγμένον. (Cp. Eng. granted this is so, this done, which said.)

εἰρημένον δ' αὐταῖς ἀπαντᾶν ἐνθάδε . . . εὐδοσι κοῦχ ἤκουσιν though it was told them to meet here, they sleep and have not come as Ar. Lys. 13, προσταχθέν μοι ὑπὸ τοῦ δήμου Μένωνα ἀγειν εἰς Ἑλλάσποντον a command having been given (it having been commanded) me by the people to convey Menon to the Hellespont D. 50. 12.

N. — The aorist participle passive is rarely used absolutely : ἀμνησθέν, ἀπορηθέν, καταχειροτονηθέν, κῦρωθέν, ὀρισθέν, περανθέν, προσταχθέν, χρησθέν.

C. Adjectives with ὄν: ἄδελον ὄν, δυνατὸν ὄν, ἀδύνατον ὄν, αἰσχροὺς ὄν, καλὸν ὄν, χρεών (χρεώ + ὄν), etc.

σὲ οὐχὶ ἐσώσαμεν . . . οἶδν τε ὄν καὶ δυνατὸν we did not rescue you although it was both feasible and possible P. Cr. 46 a, ὡς οὐκ ἀναγκαῖον (ὄν) τὸ κλέπτειν, αἰτῆ τὸν κλέπτοντα on the ground that stealing is not necessary you accuse the thief X. C. 5. 1. 13.

2078. The participle of a personal verb may be used absolutely if it is preceded by ὡς or ὥσπερ. Thus, ἤρχετο πρὸς τοὺς θεοὺς τὰγαθὰ διδόναι, ὡς τοὺς θεοὺς κάλλιστα εἰδότες ὅποια ἀγαθὰ ἐστί (Socrates) prayed to the gods that they would give him good things, in the belief that the gods know best what sort of things are good X. M. 1. 3. 2, σιωπῇ ἐδείπνουν, ὥσπερ τοῦτο προσταγεμένον αὐτοῖς they were supping in silence just as if this had been enjoined upon them X. S. 1. 11.

a. Cases without ὡς or ὥσπερ are rare. Thus, δόξαντα ὑμῖν ταῦτα εἰσεθε ἀνδρας ἔκοσι on reaching this conclusion you chose twenty men And. 1. 81; cp. δόξαν ταῦτα X. A. 4. 1. 13 (by analogy to ἔδοξε ταῦτα) and δοξάντων τούτων X. H. 1. 7. 30. Neuter participles so used come chiefly from impersonal verbs, but T. 4. 125 has κῦρωθέν οὐδὲν οἱ Μακεδόνες ἐχώρουν ἐπ' οἴκου the Macedonians proceeded homewards, nothing having been accomplished. The neuter subject is a pronoun, very rarely a substantive (I. 5. 12).

ADVERBS USED IN CONNECTION WITH CIRCUMSTANTIAL PARTICIPLES

2079. Adverbs are often used to set forth clearly the relations of time, manner, cause, concession, etc., that are implied in the participle. They occur also with the genitive and accusative absolute. These adverbs modify either the principal verb or the participle itself.

ADVERBIAL ADJUNCTS OF THE PRINCIPAL VERB

2080. The adverbs ἤδη thereupon, τότε, εἴτα (less often ἐνταῦθα) then, ἤδη already, οὕτω so, when used with the verb of the sentence which contains a temporal participle, emphasize the temporal relation : (ὁμῶν δέομαι) ἀπροᾶσμένους διὰ τέλους τῆς ἀπολογίας τότε ἤδη ψηφίσσθαι κτλ. (I beg you) when you have heard my defence to the end, then and not till then to vote, etc. And. 1. 9, ὑπὲρ μεγίστου καὶ καλλίστων κινδυνεύσαντες οὕτω τὸν βίον ἐτελεύτησαν they incurred danger for a great and noble cause, and so ended their lives L. 2. 79.

2082. A participle implying opposition or concession (2066) may have its meaning rendered explicit by ὅμως yet, nevertheless (with or without καίπερ, 2083), εἴτα then or ἔπειτα afterwards to express censure or surprise (then, for all that): σὺν σοὶ ὅμως καὶ ἐν τῇ πολεμίᾳ ὄντες θαρροῦμεν with you, though we are in the enemies' country, nevertheless we have no fear X. C. 5. 1. 26, ἔπειτ' ἀπολιπὼν τοὺς θεοὺς ἐνθάδε μένεις; and then, though you desert the gods, will you remain here? Ar. Pl. 1148. ὅμως may attach itself more closely to the participle, though belonging with the principal verb: πείθου γυναῖκι, καίπερ οὐ στέργων ὅμως take the advice of women none the less though thou lovest it not A. Sept. 712.

2083. With participles of opposition or concession (2066): καίπερ although, καὶ (infrequent), although καὶ ταῦτα (947) and that too. Thus, συμβουλευσὼ σοὶ καίπερ νεώτερος ὢν I give you advice though I am your junior X. C. 4. 5. 32, ἀποπλεῖ ὁκαδὲ καίπερ μέσου χειμῶνος ὄντος he sailed off home though it was midwinter X. Ag. 2. 31, Κλέωνος καίπερ μανιώδης οὕσα ἡ ὑπόσχεσις ἀπέβη Cleon's promise, insane though it was, was fulfilled T. 4. 39, καὶ δοῦλος ὢν γὰρ τῆμος πλουτῶν ἀνὴρ for, slave though he be, the man of wealth is held in esteem E. fr. 142, ἀδικεῖς ὅτι ἀνδρὰ ἡμῶν τὸν σπουδαϊστάτον διαφθείρεις γελῶν ἀναπειθῶν, καὶ ταῦτα οὕτω πολέμιον ὄντα τῷ γέλῳτι you do wrong in that you corrupt the most earnest man we have by tempting him to laugh, and that though he is such an enemy to laughter X. C. 2. 2. 16. On καίτοι see 2893 b.

a. In Homer the parts of καίπερ are often separated by the participle or an emphatic word connected with it: καὶ ἀχνύμενοί περ although distressed M 178. πέρ may stand alone without καί: ἀνάσχεο κηδομένη περ hear up, though vexed A 586. Both uses occur in tragedy. The part. with πέρ is not always concessive.

b. In a negative sentence, οὐδέ (μηδέ), with or without πέρ, takes the place of καί; αἶψα γυναῖκι πείθου μηδὲ τάλῃθ' κλύων listen to a woman, though thou hearest not the truth E. fr. 440.

2084. With participles of cause (2064): οὕτως, διὰ τοῦτο (ταῦτα), ἐκ τούτου. Thus, ἀνελόμενοι τὰ ναύγια . . . καὶ ὅτι αὐτοῖς . . . οὐκ ἀντεπέπλεον, διὰ ταῦτα τροπαῖαν ἔστησαν because they had picked up the wrecks and because they (the enemy) did not sail against them, (for this reason) they set up a trophy T. 1. 54.

2085. With participles of cause (2064): ὅτι (ἄτε δη), οἷα or οἷον (οἷον δη) inasmuch as, state the cause as a fact on the authority of the speaker or writer. Thus, ὁ Κύρος, ἄτε παῖς ὢν, . . . ἤθετο τῇ στολῇ Cyrus, inasmuch as he was a child, was pleased with the robe X. C. 1. 3. 3, ἤκομεν ἐσπέρᾱς ἀπὸ τοῦ στρατοπέδου.

οἶον δὲ διὰ χρόνον ἀφύγμενος ἦα ἐπὶ τὰς συνήθεις διατριβάς I returned in the evening from the camp, and, as I arrived after a long absence, I proceeded to my accustomed haunts P. Charm. 153 a, οἷα δὲ ἀπώντων πρὸς δείπνον . . . τῶν πελταστῶν, . . . ἐπελαύνουσι inasmuch as the peltasts were going off to supper, they rode against them X. H. 5. 4. 39. ὥστε has the same force in Hdt.

2086. With participles of cause or purpose, etc. (2064, 2065): ὥς. This particle sets forth the ground of belief on which the agent acts, and denotes the thought, assertion, real or presumed intention, in the mind of the subject of the principal verb or of some other person mentioned prominently in the sentence, without implicating the speaker or writer.

a. Thus, ἀπῆλθον ὥς νίκησαντες may mean either they departed under the impression that they had been victorious (though as a matter of fact they may have been defeated) or pretending that they had been victorious (when they knew they had been defeated). The use of ὥς implies nothing as to the opinion of the speaker or writer. On the other hand ἀπῆλθον νικήσαντες means that, as a matter of fact, and on the authority of the writer, they had been victorious.

b. ὥς may be rendered as if (though there is nothing conditional in the Greek use, as is shown by the negative οὐ, not μή), by in the opinion (belief) that, on the ground that, under pretence of, under the impression that, because as he said (or thought); in the hope of, with the (avowed) intention of (with the future participle).

c. ἐνταῦθ' ἔμενον ὥς τὸ ἄκρον κατέχοντες · οἱ δ' οὐ κατείχον, ἀλλὰ μαστὸς ἦν ἐπὶ αὐτῶν there they remained in the belief that they were occupying the summit; but in fact they were not occupying it, since there was a hill above them X. A. 4. 2. 6, ταύτην τὴν χώρην ἐπέτρεψε διαρπάσαι τοῖς Ἕλλησιν ὥς πολεμῶν οὖσαν he turned this country over to the Greeks to ravage on the ground that it was hostile 1. 2. 19, τὴν πρόφασιν ἐποιεῖτο ὥς Πισιδᾶς βουλόμενος ἐκβαλεῖν he made his pretence as if he wished (i.e. he gave as his pretext his desire) to expel the Pisidians 1. 2. 1, παρεσκευάζοντο ὥς πολεμήσοντες they made preparations to go to war (with the avowed intention of going to war) T. 2. 7, συλλαμβάνει Κύρον ὥς ἀποκτενῶν he seized Cyrus for the purpose (as he declared) of putting him to death X. A. 1. 1. 3, and often with the future participle. After verbs of motion ὥς is rarely used.

d. ὥς with the absolute participle: οὐ δεῖ ἀδύμειν ὥς οὐκ εὐτάκτων ὄντων Ἀθηναίων we must not be discouraged on the ground that the Athenians are not well disciplined X. M. 3. 5. 20, εἰπὲς θαρρεῖν ὥς καταστησόμενων τούτων ἐς τὸ δεῖον he bade him be of good cheer in the assurance that this would arrange itself in the right way X. A. 1. 3. 8, ὥς ἐξὸν ἤδη ποιεῖν αὐτοῖς ὃ τι βούλοιντο, πολλοὺς ἀπέκτεινον in the belief that it was already in their power to do what they pleased, they put many to death X. H. 2. 3. 21. Cp. also 2078, and 2122.

2087. ὥσπερ as, just as, as it were, an adverb of comparison, denotes that the action of the main verb is compared with an assumed case. Thus, κατακειμεθ' ὥσπερ ἐξὸν ἦνυχλᾶν ἀγειν we lie inactive just as if it were possible to take one's ease X. A. 3. 1. 3, ὥρχοντο . . . ὥσπερ ἐπιδεικνύμενοι they danced as it were making an exhibition 5. 4. 34, οἱ δὲ ὥς ἤκουσαν, ὥσπερ σὺν ἀγρίῳ φανέρῳ, ἔρττη ἑνὶ αὐτὸν but when they heard him, just as though a wild boar had appeared, they rushed against him 5. 7. 24. Cp. 2078.

- a. Where a condition is meant, we have ὥσπερ εἰ ἐλ (ὥσπερ ἐλ). Cp. 2480 a.
- b. Hom. uses ὥς τε, ὥς ἐλ, ὥς ἐλ τε like ὥσπερ or ὥς. ὥς ἐλ, ὥς ἐλ τε occur also in tragedy, and do not have a conditional force. Thus, δλοφύρμενοι ὥς ἐλ θανάτῳδε κίοντα bewailing him as if he were going to death Ω 328. Cp. 2481.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY PARTICIPLE

2088. The supplementary participle completes the idea of the verb by showing that to which its action relates.

οὔποτ' ἐπαυόμεν ἡμᾶς οἰκτρῶν Ἴ never ceased pitying ourselves X. A. 3. 1. 19, τοὺς πένητας ἔπαυσ' ἀδικουμένους I put a stop to the poor being wronged D. 18. 102, ἐὼρων οὐ κατορθοῦντες καὶ τοὺς στρατιώταις ἀχθομένους they saw that they (themselves) were not succeeding and that the soldiers were indignant T. 7. 47, ἀδικούonta Φίλιππον ἐξήλεγα I proved that Philip was acting unjustly D. 18. 136, εὐθὺς ἐλεγχθήσεται γελοῖος ὢν he will straightway be proved to be ridiculous X. M. 1. 7. 2.

a. When the object is the same as the subject, it is commonly suppressed, and the participle agrees with the subject. Thus, ὁρῶ ἐξαμαρτάνων I see that I err E. Med. 350, ἴσθι ἀνόητος ὢν know that you are a fool X. A. 2. 1. 13, οὐκ αἰσθάνεσθε ἐξαπατῶμενοι; do you not perceive that you are being deceived? X. H. 7. 1. 12, ἐδήλωσε τῶν νόμων καταφρονῶν he showed that he despised the laws And. 4. 14.

b. For the sake of emphasis or contrast (and to secure greater symmetry) the object may be expressed by the reflexive pronoun. Thus, οἶδα ἐμavτὸν δικαίως κεχρημένον αὐτοῖς I know that I have presented my case honestly I. 15. 321, δείξον οὐ πεποιηκότα ταῦτα σαυτὸν show that you did not do this yourself D. 22. 29, ἀμφότερ' ὦν οἶδε, καὶ αὐτὸν ἑμῖν ἐπιβουλευόonta, καὶ ἡμᾶς αἰσθανομένους now he knows both—that he is himself plotting against you and that you are aware of it D. 6. 18. Observe ἐλάνθανον αὐτοὺς ἐπὶ τῇ λόφῳ γενόμενοι (agreeing with the subject) without knowing it they found themselves on the hill X. A. 6. 3. 22. On the use with σύναιδα, see 2108.

c. ἔοικα (the personal use for the impersonal εἰκε, 1983) usually takes the participle in the dative; as, εἰκοις ὀκνοῦντι λέγειν you seem reluctant to speak P. R. 414 c; but also in the nominative (see 2133).

2090. Many verbs supplementing their meaning by the participle admit of the construction with the infinitive (often with a difference of meaning; see 2123 ff.) or with a substantive clause with ὅτι or ὥς.

2091. The present or perfect participle is often used as a simple predicate adjective, especially with εἰμί and γίγνομαι. The aorist participle is chiefly poetic.

ἦσαν ἀπιστοῦντές τινες Φίλιππῳ there were some who distrusted Philip D. 19. 53, (Κλέαρχος) φιλοκινδυνός τ' ἦν καὶ ἡμέρας καὶ νυκτὸς ἄγων ἐπὶ τοῖς πολεμίοις Clearchus was both fond of danger and by day and by night led his men against the enemy X. A. 2. 6. 7, ἐγὼ τὸ πρᾶγμ' εἰμὶ τοῦθ' ὁ δεδορκώς I am the one who has done this deed D. 21. 104, ἡ τοῦτο οὐκ ἔστι γιγνόμενον παρ' ἡμῶν; or is not this something that takes place in us? P. Phil. 39 c. So with adjectivized participles (1867), as συμφέρων ἦν τῇ πόλει it was advantageous to the State D. 19. 75. So with ἐπαρχοῦ am, am assumed (D. 18. 228).

a. Here the participle has the article when it designates the subject itself (third example; cp. 1152). But the article is not used when the participle marks a class in which the subject is included.

2092. The supplementary participle after certain verbs represents a dependent statement.

In ἤκουσε Κύρον ἐν Κιλικίᾳ ὅσα he heard that Cyrus was in Cilicia ὅσα stands for ἔστι, what was heard being "Κύρος ἐν Κιλικίᾳ ἔστι." This is shown by the fact that the sentence might have been, according to the principles of indirect discourse, ἤκουσε διὲν Κύρος ἐν Κιλικίᾳ εἶη (or ἔστι, 2615). With verbs not introducing indirect discourse, however, there is no such indirect statement; as in ἐπαύσαντο μαχόμενοι they ceased fighting L. 23. 9.

2093. Accordingly, from this point of view, the uses of the supplementary participle are two: (1) not in indirect discourse, and (2) in indirect discourse.

a. Some verbs take the participle either in indirect discourse or not in indirect discourse (2112). It is sometimes impossible to decide whether a participle stands in indirect discourse or not (2113); and the difference, especially after verbs of perceiving (2112 a, b), may be of no great importance to the sense.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY PARTICIPLE NOT IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2094. The supplementary participle not in indirect discourse is often like an object infinitive, the tenses denoting only stage of action and not difference of time (cp. 1850). Thus, compare παύομέν σε λέγοντα we stop you from speaking (of continued action) with κωλύομέν σε λέγειν we prevent you from speaking (also of continued action).

2095. With verbs denoting being in some modified way (2096-2097).

2096. τυγχάνω (poet. κυρῶ) happen, am just now, λανθάνω escape the notice of, am secretly, φθάνω anticipate, am beforehand.

a. With these verbs the participle contains the main idea, and is often represented in translation by the finite verb with an adverbial phrase; thus, παρῶν ἐτύγχανε he happened to be there, or he was there by chance X. A. 1. 1. 2.

b. The action of φθάνω and λανθάνω usually coincides with that of the supplementary participle (present with present, aorist with aorist). But the aorist of a finite verb is occasionally followed by the present participle when it is necessary to mark an action or a state as continuing. οὐκ ἔλαθον is like an imperfect and may take the present participle. The aorist of τυγχάνω very often takes the present participle. With a present or imperfect of τυγχάνω, λανθάνω, φθάνω, the (rare) aorist participle refers to an action or state anterior to that of the present or imperfect. Many of the cases of the present of τυγχάνω with the aorist participle are historical presents; and in some cases the aorist participle is used for the perfect. With other tenses than present or imperfect, an aorist participle with these verbs refers to an action or state coincident in time (cp. 1873).

c. τυγχάνω often loses the idea of chance, and denotes mere coincidence in time (I am just now, I was just then) or simply I am (was).

d. Examples. τυγχάνω: προξενῶν τυγχάνω I happen to be prozenus D. 52.5, ἀριστα τυγχάνουσι πρῶξαντες they happen to have fared the best I. 4. 103, ἐτύχαρον λέγων I was just saying X. A. 3. 2. 10, ὅστις ἀντιπῶν γε ἐτύχαιρε καὶ γνώμην ἀποδεδειγμένον ὡς ᾠκλήθηεν who happened to have spoken in opposition and to have declared his opinion L. 12. 27, ἐτυχον καθήμενος ἐνταῦθα I was, by chance, sitting there P. Eu. 272 e. λαμβάνω: φορέα τοῦ παιδὸς ἐλάνθανε βόσκων he entertained the murderer of his son without knowing it (it escaped his notice that he was, etc.) Hdt. 1. 44, ἔλαθον ἐσελθόντες they got in secretly T. 2. 2, οὐκ ἔλαθες ἀποδιδρᾶσκων you did not escape notice in attempting to escape (your attempt at escape did not escape notice) P. R. 457 e, ἔλαθεν ἀποδράς he escaped without being noticed X. H. 1. 3. 22, λήσετε πᾶνθ' ὑπομεινάντες you will submit to every possible calamity ere you are aware D. 6. 27. φθάνω: οὐ φθάσει ἐξαγόμενος ὁ ἵππος κτλ. the horse is no sooner led out, etc. X. Eq. 5. 10, φθάνουσιν (hist. pres.) ἐπὶ τῷ ἄκρῳ γενόμενοι τοῖς πολεμοῖς they anticipated the enemy in getting upon the summit (they got to the summit before the enemy) X. A. 3. 4. 49, οὐκ ἔφθασαν πυνθόμενοι τὸν πόλεμον καὶ ἤκον scarcely had they heard of the war when they came I. 4. 86, ὁπότεροι φθήσονται τὴν πόλιν ἀγαθὸν τι ποιήσαντες which party shall anticipate the other in doing some service to the State I. 4. 79. Without regard to its mood, the present and imperfect of φθάνω are followed by the present participle (rarely by the perfect); the future, aorist, and historical present are followed by the aorist participle.

e. οὐκ ἂν φθάνοις (φθάνοιτε) with the participle is used in urgent, but polite, exhortations, as οὐκ ἂν φθάνοις λέγων the sooner you speak the better (i.e. speak at once) X. M. 2. 3. 11. Strictly this is equivalent to you would not be anticipating (my wish or your duty), if you should speak. λέγε φθάσᾳ might be said according to 2061.

f. λαμβάνω and φθάνω (rarely τυγχάνω) may appear in the participle, thus reversing the ordinary construction, as διαλαθὼν ἐσέρχεται ἐς τὴν Μίτυλην he entered Mitylene secretly T. 3. 25, φθάνοντες ἤδη δροῦμεν τὴν ἐκείνων γῆν we got the start of them by ravaging their territory X. C. 3. 3. 18. Cp. also 2062 a. The present participle is rare.

2097. διάγω, διαγίνομαι, διατελῶ, διαμένω continue, keep on, am continually.

διάγουσι μαθάνοντες they are continually (they spend their time in) learning X. C. 1. 2. 6, κρέα ἐσθιοντες οἱ στρατιῶται διαγίγοντο the soldiers kept eating meat X. A. 1. 5. 6, διατελεῖ μίσῶν he continues to hate X. C. 5. 4. 35, θρηνοῦντες διετελοῦμεν we lamented continually I. 19. 27, ὁ ἥλιος λαμπρότατος ὧν διαμένει the sun continues to be most brilliant X. M. 4. 7. 7.

2098. With verbs signifying to begin, cease, endure, grow weary of an action.

ἄρχομαι begin (2128), παύω cause to cease, παύομαι, λήγω cease, ἀπολείπω, διαλείπω, ἐπλείπω leave off, ἄλλειψω fail, ἀνέχομαι support, καρτερῶ endure (do something patiently), κάμνω grow weary, ἀπαγορεύω give up. etc.

ἄρχομαι ἀπὸ τῆς ἰατρικῆς λέγων I will begin my speech with the healing art P. S. 186 b, παύσω τοῦτο γιγνώμενον I will put a stop to this happening P. G. 523 c, παύσαι λέγουσα lit. stop talking E. Hipp. 700, οὐπώποτε διέλειπον ζητῶν I never left off seeking X. Ap. 16, ἀνέχου πάσχω support thy sufferings E. fr. 1090, οὔτε τὸτ' ἐκαρτέρουν ἀκούων κτλ. neither then did I listen patiently, etc., Aes. 3. 118. μὴ κάμης φίλον ἄνδρα εὐεργετῶν do not grow weary of doing good to your friend P. G. 470 c, ἀπείρηκα . . . τὰ ὅπλα φέρων καὶ ἐν τάξει ἰὼν καὶ φυλακᾶς φυλάττων καὶ μαχόμενος I am tired of carrying my arms and going in the ranks and mounting guard and fighting X. A. 5. 1. 2.

a. Verbs signifying to support, endure ordinarily take the present participle; but there are cases of the complexive aorist in reference to acts to which one must submit despite all resistance: so, with ἀνέχομαι, X. C. 6. 2. 18, D. 41. 1; cp. οὐκ ἠνέσχες ἀκούσαντες L. 13. 8 (Hdt. 5. 89) with οὐκ ἠρείχοντο ἀκούοντες X. H. 6. 5. 49. The aorist participle seems not to be used with the object of ἀνέχομαι.

2099. With some verbs of coming and going the participle specifies the manner of coming and going, and contains the main idea.

βῆ φεύγων he took to flight (went fleeing) B 665, οἰχονται διώκοντες they have gone in pursuit X. A. 1. 10. 5, ψάχμεν ἀναγόμενος I put to sea D. 50. 12, οἰχεται θανῶν he is dead and gone S. Ph. 414, οὐ τοῦτο λέξων ἔρχομαι I am not going to say this X. Ag. 2. 7.

2100. With verbs of emotion (rejoicing and grieving) the participle often denotes cause (cp. 2048).

χαίρω, ἡδομαι, τέρπομαι, γίγηθα (poet.) am pleased, take pleasure, ἀγαπῶ, στέργω am content, ἀγανακτῶ, ἔχθομαι, χαλεπῶς φέρω am vexed, displeased, ῥαδίως φέρω make light of, λύπομαι grieve, ὀργίζομαι am angry, αἰσχύνομαι, αἰδοῦμαι am ashamed (2126), μεταμέλομαι, μεταμέλει μοι repent. (Verbs of emotion also take ὅτι or ὥς, by which construction the object is simply stated; with the participle the connection is closer).

χαίρω διαλεγόμενος τοῖς σφόδρα πρεσβύταις I like to converse with very old men P. R. 328 d, ὅστις ἡδεται λέγων δέ, λήληθεν αὐτὸν τοῖς ξυνοῖσιν ὧν βαρὺς he who likes to be always talking is a bore to his companions without knowing it S. fr. 99, οὐκ ἀγαπῶ ζῶν ἐπὶ τούτοις I am not content to live on these conditions I. 12. 8, οὐκ ἂν ἄχθοιμην μανθάνων I should not be annoyed at learning P. Lach. 189 a, χαλεπῶς ἔφερον οἰκίᾳς κατελείποντες they took it hard at abandoning their homes T. 2. 16, ἀδικούμενοι οἱ ἄνθρωποι μᾶλλον ὀργίζονται ἢ βιαζόμενοι men are more angered at being the victims of injustice than of compulsion I. 77, οὐ γὰρ αἰσχύνομαι μανθάνων for I am not ashamed to learn P. Hipp. Min. 372 c, μετεμέλοντο τὰς σπονδὰς οὐ δεξάμενοι they repented not having accepted the truce T. 4. 27, οὐ μοι μεταμέλει οὕτως ἀπολογησαμένῃ I do not repent having made such a defence P. A. 88 e.

a. The participle agrees with the case of the person in regard to whom the emotion is manifested: ἀκούοντες χαίρουσιν ἐξεταζομένοις τοῖς οἰομένοις μὲν εἶναι σοφοῖς, οἷσι δ' οὐ they like to hear the examination of those who pretend to be wise, but are not so in reality P. A. 33 c. This construction must be distinguished from that occurring in poetry, whereby verbs like χαίρω and ἀχθομαι (which commonly take the dative) often admit the accusative and the participle: τοὺς γὰρ εὐσεβεῖς θεοὶ θηήσκοντας οὐ χαίρουσι for the gods do not rejoice at the death of the righteous E. Hipp. 1339.

b. So with verbs meaning to satiate oneself: ὑπισχνόμενος οὐκ ἐνεπίμπλασθαι you could not satiate yourself with promises X. A. 7. 7. 46.

2101. With verbs signifying to do well or ill, to surpass or be inferior, the participle specifies the manner or that in which the action of the verb consists (cp. 2048, 2062). So with καλῶς (εὖ) ποιῶ, ἀδικῶ, ἀμαρτάνω; νικῶ, κρατῶ, περιγίγνομαι, ἡττῶμαι, λείπομαι.

εὖ γ' ἐποίησας ἀναμνήσας με you did well in reminding me P. Ph. 60 c (cp. 1872 c. 2), καλῶς ἐποίησεν οὕτως τελευτήσας τὸν βίον he did well in ending his life thus L. 28. 8, δῆσσεσθε ἀκούοντες you will profit by hearing P. A. 30 c, ἀδικεῖτε πολέμου ἀρχόντες (1734. 5) you do wrong in being the aggressors in the war T. 1. 53, οὐχ ἡττησόμεθα εὖ ποιοῦντες we shall not be outdone in well-doing X. A. 2. 3. 23. Here belongs ἐμοὶ χαρίζου ἀποκρίνόμενος do me the favour to reply (gratify me by replying) P. R. 338 a.

2102. With πειρῶμαι try, πολὺς ἔγκειμαι am urgent, πάντα ποιῶ do everything, the participle is rare in Attic; more common in Hdt. with πειρῶμαι, πολλὸς ἔγκειμαι, πολλός εἰμι am urgent, etc.

πειρᾶσόμεθα ἐλέγχοντες I shall try to prove Ant. 2. γ. 1; πολλὸς ἦν λισσόμενος he begged often and urgently Hdt. 9. 91.

2103. With περιωρῶ (and sometimes with ἐφορῶ, εἰσορῶ, προίεμαι), signifying overlook, allow. (But not with ἐῷ.) Cp. 2141.

μεῖζω γιγνόμενον τὸν ἄνθρωπον περιωρῶμεν we allow the man to grow greater (we look with indifference on his growing power) D. 9. 29, οὐ περιεῖδον ἐμαυτὸν ἀδοξὸν γενόμενον I did not suffer myself to become obscure I. 12. 11, ἐτλησαν ἐπιδεῖν . . . ἐρήμην μὲν τὴν πόλιν γενομένην, τὴν δὲ χώρην πορθουμένην they had the courage to look calmly on their city made desolate and their country being ravaged I. 4. 96. So even with the uncompounded ὁρῶ in poetry. (With the infinitive περιωρῶ no longer connotes perception and simply equals ἐῷ allow.)

2104. With some impersonal expressions taking the dative, such as those signifying the advantage or consequence of an action (it is fitting, profitable, good, etc.), and those implying confidence or fear. (The personal construction is often preferred.)

ἐπρωτῶν τὸν θεόν, εἰ (αὐτοῖς) πολεμοῦσιν ἀμεινὸν ἔσται they asked the god whether it would be better for them to make war T. 1. 118, εἰ τὸδ' αὐτῷ φίλον (ἔστί) κεκλημένῳ if it is pleasing to him to be called thus A. Ag. 161. Personal: οἷς πολέμιον ἦν τὸ χωρίον κτιζόμενον to whom the settlement of the place was a menace T. 1. 100, οἷκοι μένων βελτίων (ἔστί) he is all the better by staying at home D. 3. 34 (for μένει αὐτὸν βελτίον ἔστί).

2105. The participle occurs with various other verbs, such as θαμίζω am wont; συμπίπτω and συμβαίνω happen; αποδεικνύω, καθίζω, παρασκευάζω, meaning render; ἀρκῶ, ἱκανός εἰμι am sufficient.

On ἐμοὶ βουλομένῳ ἐστὶ, etc., see 1487. On ἔχω and the participle in periphrases, see 1963.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY PARTICIPLE IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2106. Verbs of Knowing and Showing.—After verbs signifying to know, be ignorant of, learn (not learn of), remember, forget, show, appear, prove, acknowledge, and announce, the participle represents a dependent statement, each tense having the same force as the corresponding tense of the indicative or optative with ὅτι or ὥς, the present including also the imperfect, the perfect including also the pluperfect.

Such verbs are: οἶδα, γινώσκω, ἐπίσταμαι, ἔννοα, μανθάνω (2136), (οἶκ) ἀγνοῶ, μέμνημαι, ἐπιλανθάνομαι (2134), δηλώ, (ἐπι) δείκνυμι, φαίνομαι, ἀποφαίνομαι (2143), ἵστικα (2089 c, 2133), (ἐξ-)ἐλέγχω, ὁμολογῶ (rarely), ἀγγέλλω, ποῶ represent (2115).

οὐ γὰρ ᾔδεσαν αὐτὸν τεθνηκότα (= τέθηκε) for they did not know that he was dead X. A. 1. 10. 16, ἔγνων τὴν ἐσβολὴν ἐσομένην (= ἔσται) he knew that the invasion would take place T. 2. 13, ὃν ὁμοῖς ἐπίστασθε ἡμᾶς προδόντα (= προδωκε) you know that he betrayed us X. A. 6. 6. 17, τίς οὕτως εὐθύς ἐστιν ὁμῶν ὅστις ἀγνοεῖ τὸν ἐκείθεν πόλεμον δεῦρ' ἤξοντα (= ἤξει); who of you is so simple-minded as not to know that the war will come hither from that quarter? D. 1. 15, (Χερρόνησον) κατέμαθε πόλεις ἑνδεκα ἢ δώδεκα ἔχουσαν (= ἔχει) he learned that Chersonesus contained eleven or twelve cities X. H. 3. 2. 10, μέμνημαι ἀκούσας (= ἤκουσα) I remember to have heard X. C. 1. 6. 6, μέμνημαι Κριτίας τῷδε ξυνόντα σε (= ξυνῆσθα) I remember that you were in company with Critias here P. Charm. 156 a, ἐπιλελθόμεσθ' ἡδέως γέροντες ὄντες (= ἐμέν) we have gladly forgotten that we are old E. Bacch. 188, δεῖξω (αὐτὸν) πολλῶν θανάτων ὅτι (= ἐστὶ) δεῖων I will show that he deserves to die many times D. 21. 21, δειχθήσεται τοῦτο πεποιηκώς (= πεποίηκε) he will be shown to have done this 21. 160, τοῦτο τὸ γράμμα δηλοῖ ψευδῆ τὴν διαθήκην ὅσαν (= ἐστὶ) this clause shows that the will was forged 45. 34, ἐὰν ἀποφαίνωσι τοὺς φεύγοντας παλαί πονηροὺς ὄντας (= εἰσὶ) if they show that the exiles were inveterate rascals L. 30. 1, ἡ ψυχὴ ἀθάνατος φαίνεται ὅσα (= ἐστὶ) it seems that the soul is immortal P. Ph. 107 c, ἀδικοῦντα (= ἀδικεῖ) Φίλιππον ἐξήλεγε I convicted Philip of acting unjustly D. 18. 136, βραδίως ἐλεγχθήσεται ψευδόμενος (= ψεύδεται) he will easily be convicted of lying 27. 19, ὁμολογησέμεθα ἐλθόντες (= ἤλθομεν) I acknowledge that I came L. 4. 7, αὐτῷ Κύρον ἐπιστρατεύοντα (= ἐπιστρατεύει) πρῶτος ἡγγεῖλα I was the first to announce that Cyrus was taking the field against him X. A. 2. 3. 19.

a. Except with ἀγγέλλω announce (what is certain), verbs of saying or thinking rarely take the participle in prose, e.g. πᾶσι ταῦτα δεδομένα ἡμῖν νόμιζε (= εἰς τοῦθ) think that this is our unanimous opinion P. R. 460 a.

2107. The personal constructions δηλός εἰμι, φανερός εἰμι I am plainly (impersonal δηλόν and φανερόν ἐστιν ὅτι) are followed by a dependent statement in the participle. Thus, δηλός ἦν οἶόμενος (= δηλόν ἦν ὅτι οἶοιτο) it was clear that he thought X. A. 2. 5. 27, θῶν φανερός ἦν πολλάκις (= φανερόν ἦν ὅτι θόει) it was evident that he often sacrificed X. M. 1. 1. 2, ἀνιάθεις δῆλος ἦν (= δῆλον ἦν διὰ ἀνιάθειν) he showed his dissatisfaction X. C. 2. 2. 3.

2108. The participle with σένοιδα or συγγιγνώσκω am conscious, accompanied by the dative of the reflexive pronoun, may stand either in the nominative agreeing with the subject, or in the dative agreeing with the reflexive. Thus, συνειδὼς αὐτὸς αὐτῷ ἔργον εἰργασμένος conscious (to himself) that he had done the deed Ant. 6. 5, ἐμὰντῷ ξυγῆδῃ οὐδὲν ἐπισταμένῳ I was conscious of knowing nothing P. A. 22 c.

a. When the subject is not the same as the object, the latter, with the participle, may stand in the dative, or (rarely) in the accusative. Thus, ξυνίστασι Μελέτῳ μὲν ψευδομένῳ, ἐμοὶ δὲ ἀληθεύοντι they know as well as Meletus that he is lying, and (as well as I do) that I am speaking the truth P. A. 34 b, συνειδὼς τῶν ἀθλημάτων δούλους μετέχοντας knowing that slaves participate in the contests D. 61. 23. (The force of σύν at times almost disappears.)

2109. The use of the participle to represent a dependent statement comes from its circumstantial use. Thus, in οὐ γὰρ ᾔδεσαν αὐτὸν τεθνηκότα (2106), τεθνηκότα agrees with the object of ᾔδεσαν; and from they did not know him as dead the thought passes into they did not know (the fact) that he was dead.

CONSTRUCTION OF VERBS OF PERCEIVING AND OF FINDING

2110. Verbs of Perception. — Verbs signifying to see, perceive, hear, learn (i.e. learn by inquiry, hear of), when they denote physical (actual) perception take the participle. When they denote intellectual perception they may take the participle or εἶναι or ὥς with a finite verb. (The Homeric usage is less strict.)

2111. Such verbs are, in Attic, ὁρᾷ see, αἰσθάνομαι perceive, ἀκούω hear, τυγχάνομαι learn.

2112. The participle may stand either not in indirect discourse or in indirect discourse.

a. Not in Indirect Discourse. — Here verbs of perceiving denote physical perception — the act perceived or heard of. With ἀκούω and τυγχάνομαι the participle stands in the genitive; with αἰσθάνομαι it usually stands in the accusative (as with ὁρᾷ), but sometimes in the genitive. (See 1361, 1367.)

εἶδε Κλέαρχον διαλαύοντα he saw Clearchus riding through X. A. 1. 5. 12; αἰσθόμενος Λαμπροκλέα πρὸς τὴν μητέρα χαλεπαίνοντα perceiving Lamprocles angry with his mother X. M. 2. 2. 1, ἥσθησαι πάποτε μου ἢ ψευδομαρτυροῦντος ἢ εὐκοφαντοῦντος; have you ever noticed me either bearing false witness or playing the part of an informer? 4. 4. 11; ἤκουσαν αὐτοῦ φωνήσαντος they heard him speaking X. S. 3. 13; ὥς ἐτύθοντο τῆς Πύλου κατειλημμένης when they learned of the capture of Pylos T. 4. 6.

N. Verbs of physical perception, ὁρᾷ (especially) and ἀκούω, regularly take the present participle in Attic prose, which usually refuses to distinguish between I see a house burning and I see a house burn. The complexive aorist, summing up the action, does however occur, as ὥς εἶδεν ἑλαφον ἐκπηδήσασαν . . . ἐδίωκεν when he saw a hind break cover he gave chase X. C. 1. 4. 8. Cp. πεισόντα εἶδον Hdt. 9. 22.

b. In Indirect Discourse. — Here verbs of perceiving denote intellectual perception — the fact that something is perceived or heard of. With ακούω and πυνθάνομαι the participle stands in the accusative (as with ὁρῶ, αἰσθάνομαι). Cp. 1363, 1365, 2144, 2145.

ὁρῶμεν πάντα ἀληθῆ ὅντα & λέγετε we see that everything you say is true X. A. 5. 5. 24, αἰσθάνομαι ταῦτα οὕτως ἔχοντα I perceive that this is so X. M. 3. 5. 5, ἤκουσε Κύρον ἐν Κιλικίᾳ ὅντα he heard that Cyrus was in Cilicia X. A. 1. 4. 5, ὅταν κλύῃ τινὸς ἤσονται 'Ὀρέστην when she hears from any one that Orestes will return S. El. 293, πυθόμενοι 'Αρταξέρξην τεθνηκότα having learned that Artaxerxes was dead T. 4. 60.

2113. Verbs of Finding. — Verbs of finding and detecting (εὐρίσκω, (κατα-)λαμβάνω; pass. ἀλίσκομαι) in their capacity as verbs of perceiving take the participle (a) not in indirect discourse, of the act or state in which a person or thing is found; or (b) in indirect discourse, of the fact that a person or thing is found in an act or state.

a. κῆρυξ ἀφικόμενος ἤρε τοὺς ἀνδρας διεφθαρμένους the herald, on his arrival, found the men already put to death T. 2. 6, εὐρηται πιστῶς πράττων he has been found to have dealt faithfully D. 19. 332, ἂν ἀρ' ἄλλον τινὰ λαμβάνη ψευδόμενον if then he catch anybody else lying P. R. 389 d, ἣν ἐπιβουλεύων ἀλίσκῃται if he be detected in plotting X. Ag. 8. 3.

b. διὰ τὴν Ἰλίου ἄλωσιν εὐρίσκουσι σφίσι ἐοῦσαν τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς ἐχθρῆς they conclude that the beginning of their enmity was on account of the capture of Ilium Hdt. 1. 5.

2114. It is often difficult to distinguish the two constructions of 2113. Thus, καταλαμβάνουσι νεωστὶ στάσει τοὺς τῶν Ἀθηναίων ἐναντίους ἐκπεπτωκότας (T. 7. 33) may mean they found that the anti-Athenian party had been recently expelled by a revolution (ind. disc.) or them recently expelled (not in ind. disc.). So καταλαμβάνουσι . . . τὰλλα ἀφεστηκότα they found the other cities in a state of revolt T. 1. 59 (that they had revolted would be possible). In the meaning discover, find καταλαμβάνω does not take the aorist participle.

2115. ποιῶ meaning represent has the construction of the verbs of 2113. Thus, πλησιάζοντας τοὺς θεοὺς τοῖς ἀνθρώποις οἶόν τ' αὐτοῖς ποιῆσαι it is possible for them (poets) to represent the gods as drawing nigh to men I. 9. 9. Cp. 2142.

OMISSION OF ὥν

2116. The participle ὥν is often omitted.

2117. After ἄτε, οἶα, ὥς, or καίπερ, ὥν is often omitted in prose with predicate adjectives: συνδείπνους ἔλαβεν ἀμφοτέρους πρὸς ἐαυτὸν ὥς φίλους ἦδη (ὄντας) he took both to supper with him since they were now friends X. C. 3. 2. 25. Such omission is rare in prose except after these particles: εἰ ἥττους (ὄντες) τῶν πολεμίων ληφθῇσόμεθα if we shall be caught at the mercy of our enemies X. A. 5. 6. 13. With predicate substantives, even after these particles, ὥν is very rarely omitted (P. R. 568 b).

a. In the genitive and accusative absolute the particles of 2117 usually precede when ὥν is omitted. With the genitive absolute the omission is very rare in prose: ὥς ἐτοίμων (ὄντων) χρημάτων just as though the property was at their disposal X. A. 7.8.11; but ἡμέρας ἤδη (οὐσης) it being already day T. 5.59. In poetry the substantive usually suggests the verb: ὀφρηγῆτος οὐδενός (δντος) φίλων with no friend to guide him S. O. C. 1588. Accusative absolute: ὡς καλόν (δν) ἀγορεύεσθαι αὐτόν on the ground that it is admirable for it (the speech) to be delivered T. 2.35. Without the particles of 2117, the omission of δν is poetical (S. Ant. 44). The omission of δν with adjectives ending in -ον aids euphony.

b. ἐκόν willing, ἄκων unwilling are treated like participles (2071): ἐμοῦ μὲν οὐχ ἐκόντος against my will S. Aj. 455.

c. ὣν must be used when it has the force of in the capacity of.

2118. A predicate substantive or adjective, coördinated with a participle in the same construction, may omit ὣν; as οὐ ῥάδιον ἦν μὴ ἀθρόοις καὶ ἀλλήλους περιμελῶσι διελθεῖν τὴν πολεμῖαν it was not easy for them to pass through the enemy's country except in a body and after having waited for one another T. 5.64.

2119. ὣν may be omitted with verbs taking a supplementary participle; so with verbs meaning to perceive (2111 ff.), know, show, announce, find, discover, etc.; especially with φαίνομαι, τυγχάνω (poet. κυρῶ), διατελῶ, διαγίνομαι, rarely with περιωρῶ and συμβαίνω. Thus, ὁρῶ μέγα (δντα) τὸν ἀγῶνα I see that the contest is important T. 2.45, ἂν ἐν Χερρονήσῳ πύθησθε Φίλιππον (δντα) if you learn that Philip is in Chersonesus D. 4.41, εἰ ψευδῆς φαίνοιτο (ὣν) ὁ Γωβρύας if Gobryas seem to be false X. C. 5.2.4, εἰ τις εὖθους (ὣν) τυγχάνει if any one happens to be friendly Ar. Eccl. 1141, ἀχίτων (ὣν) διατελεῖς you are continually without a tunic X. M. 1.6.2.

Ως WITH A PARTICIPLE IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

ὡς μηδὲν εἰδόν' ἴσθι με be assured that I know nothing (lit. understand that you are to assume that I know nothing) S. Ph. 253, δῆλος ἦν Κῦρος ὡς σπεύδων Cyrus was plainly bent on haste (Cyrus showed that it was his intention to make haste) X. A. 1.5.9.

2121. A participle with ὡς may follow a verb of thinking or saying though the verb in question does not take the participle in indirect discourse without ὡς. Thus, ὡς τὰ βέλτιστα βουλευόντες ἱσχυρίζοντο they kept insisting in the belief that they were recommending the best course T. 4.68, ὡς στρατηγήσουρ' ἐμὲ ταύτην τὴν στρατηγίαν μηδεὶς ὑμῶν λεγέτω let no one of you say (i.e. speak of me in the belief) that I will assume this command X. A. 1.3.15.

2122. So after verbs admitting the supplementary participle in indirect discourse we may have the genitive or accusative absolute with ὡς instead of the participle or a clause with ὅτι or ὡς. Thus, ὡς πολέμου δντος παρ' ὑμῶν ἀπαγγελῶ; shall I report from you (on the assumption) that there is war? X. A. 2.1.21. ὡς ἐμοῦ οὖν λόγτος, ὅση καὶ ὑμεῖς, οὕτω τὴν γνώμην ἔχετε make up your minds (on the assumption) that I am going wherever you go (= be sure that I am going, etc.) 1. 8. 6 (here τὴν γνώμην ἔχετε could not take the participle without ὥς; ὥς πάνυ μοι δοκοῦν, οὕτως ἰσθί rest assured that it is my decided opinion (lit. on the assumption that this seems so to me, understand accordingly) X. M. 4. 2. 30. For ὥς with the absolute participle not in indirect discourse, see 2086 d.

VERBS TAKING EITHER THE PARTICIPLE OR THE INFINITIVE

2124. Infinitive and participle here differ greatly when the infinitive expresses purpose or result. Where the infinitive shows only its abstract verbal meaning it differs but little from the participle (cp. 2144).

2125. A participle or infinitive standing in indirect discourse is indicated in 2126–2143 by O(ratio) O(bliqua); when not standing in O. O. this fact is ordinarily not indicated.

2126. αἰσχύνομαι and αἰδοῦμαι with part. (2100) = I am ashamed of doing something which I do; with inf. = I am ashamed to do something which I have refrained from doing up to the present time and may never do. Thus, τοῦτο μὲν οὐκ αἰσχύνομαι λέγων· τὸ δὲ . . . αἰσχύνοίμην ἂν λέγειν I am not ashamed of saying this; but the following I should be ashamed to say X. C. 5. 1. 21, αἰσχύνομαι οὖν ὑμῖν εἰπεῖν τῶληθῆ, ὅμως δὲ ῥητέον I am ashamed to speak the truth to you; nevertheless it must be spoken P. A. 22 b. With a negative the distinction may disappear: οὐδ' αἰσχύνοι φθόρου δίκην εἰσάγειν (v.l. εἰσάγων), οὐκ ἀδικήματος οὐδέως, καὶ νόμους μεταποιῶν; are you not ashamed to bring a cause into court out of envy — not for any offence — and to alter laws? D. 18. 121.

2127. ἀνέχομαι (2098; rarely with the Inf.), *τάλῳ and τολμᾶ (both rarely with the part. in poetry), ὑπομένω: with part. = endure, submit to something that is present or past; with inf. venture or have the courage to do something in the future. Thus, πάσχορτες ἡρείχορτο they submitted to suffer T. 1. 77, ἀνέσχορτο τὸν ἐπίοντα ἐπὶ τὴν χώρῃν δέξασθαι they had the courage to receive the invader of their country Hdt. 7. 139; παῖδα . . . φᾶσιν Ἀλκμήνης πρᾶθέντα τλῆναι they say that Alcmena's son bore up in bondage (lit. having been sold) A. Ag. 1041; ἐτόλμᾳ βαλλόμενος he submitted to be struck ω 161, τόλμησον ὁρθῶς φρονεῖν speres aude A. Pr. 1000; οὐχ ὑπομένει ὠφελούμενος he cannot stand being improved P. G. 505 c, εἰ ὑμμερέουσι χεῖρας ἐμολ ἀνταειρόμενοι if they shall dare to raise their hands against me Hdt. 7. 101.

2129. γινώσκω with part. in O. O. (2106) = recognize that something is; with inf. in three uses: (1) in O. O. = judge (decide) that something is (a verb of will), as ἐγνώσαν κερδαλέωτερον εἶναι they judged that it was more profitable X. A. 1. 9. 17; (2) not in O. O. = resolve, determine to do something, as ἐγὼ διώκειν τοὺς ἐκ τῶν εὐνοῦμων προσκειμένους he resolved to pursue those who were hanging on his left X. H. 4. 6. 9; (3) not in O. O. = learn how to do something (rarely), as γίγνωσκε τῆς ὀργῆς κρατεῖν learn to control thy temper Men. Sent. 20.

2130. δείκνυμι with part. in O. O. (2106) = show that something is; with inf. (ἀποδείκνυμι) not in O. O. = show how to do something, instruct. Thus, ἀπέδειξαν οἱ ἡγεμόνες λαμβάνειν τὰ ἐπιτήδεια the guides directed them to take provisions X. A. 2. 3. 14.

2131. δηλᾶ with part. (and inf.) in O. O. (2106) = show that something is, indicate; with inf. not in O. O. = command, make known, signify; as in κηρύγματι ἐδήλου τοὺς ἐλευθερίας θεομένους ὡς πρὸς σύμμαχον αὐτὸν παρῆναι he made known by proclamation that those who wanted freedom should come to him as an ally X. Ag. 1. 33.

2134. ἐπιλανθάνομαι with part. in O. O. (2106) = forget that something is; with inf. not in O. O. = forget (how) to do something. Thus, ὀλίγον ἐπελαθόμεθ' εἰπεῖν I have almost forgotten to mention P. R. 563 b.

2135. εὕρισκω with part. in O. O. = judge and not in O. O. (2113) = find that something is; less often with inf. in O. O. = judge, as εὕρισκε ταῦτα καιριώτατα εἶναι he found (judged) that this was the most opportune way Hdt. 1. 125. εὕρισκομαι rarely with inf. = find how to (E. Med. 196), procure by asking (Hdt. 9. 28).

2136. μαρτάνω with part. in O. O. (2106) = learn that something is; with inf. not in O. O. = learn (how) to do something. Thus, διαβεβλημένος οὐ μαρτάνεις you do not perceive that you have been calumniated Hdt. 3. 1, ἂν ἀπαξ μάθωμεν ἄργοι ᾶν if we once learn to live in idleness X. A. 3. 2. 25.

2137. μετέημι (let go), etc., with part. = leave off; with inf. = neglect, permit. Thus, οὐ γὰρ ἀνέει ἐπιών for he did not stop coming after them Hdt. 4. 125, μετιᾶσι τὰ δόττα πράττειν they neglect to perform their duties X. M. 2. 1. 33, μεθεῖρά μοι λέγειν allowing me to speak S. El. 628.

2138. μέμνημαι with part. in O. O. (2106) = remember that something is; with inf. not in O. O. = remember to do something. Thus, μεμνήσθω ἀνὴρ ἀγαθὸς εἶναι let him be mindful to be a brave man X. A. 3. 2. 39.

2140. παύω with part. (2098) = stop what is taking place; with inf. = prevent something from taking place. Thus, ἔπαυσαν φοβουμένους πλῆθος νεῶν they stopped their terror at the number of ships P. Menex. 241 b, παύσαντες τὸ μὴ προσελθεῖν ἐγγὺς τὴν ὁλκάδα preventing the merchantman from drawing near T. 7. 53.

2141. περιόρῳ, etc. (2103) with pres. part. = view with indifference, with aor. part. = shut one's eyes to; with inf. = let something happen through negligence, or simply permit (εἶναι). Thus, περιεῖδε τὸν αὐτοῦ πατέρα καὶ ζῶντα τῶν ἀναγκάλων σπανίζοντα καὶ τελευτήσαντ' οὐ τυχόντα τῶν νομίμων he looked on with indifference while his own father was in want of necessities when alive and (shut his eyes) to his failure to receive the customary rites after he had passed away Dinarchus 2. 8, οἱ Ἀχαρνῆς . . . οὐ περιόψεσθαι ἐδόκουν τὰ σφέτερα διαφθαρέντα it did not seem likely that the Acharnians would shut their eyes to the destruction of their property T. 2. 20, οὐδ' εἰσεῖναι ἔφασαν περιόψεσθαι οὐδένα they refused to permit any one to enter 4. 48.

2142. ποιῶ with part. (2115) = represent; with inf. not in O. O. = cause, effect; with inf. in O. O. = assume. Thus, ἀνώνυμοι τοὺς ἄλλους εἶναι ποιεῖ causes the others to lose their names Hdt. 7. 129, ποιῶμεθα (conj. τί οἴωμεθα) τὸν φιλόσοφον νομίζειν κτλ. let us assume that the philosopher holds, etc. P. R. 581 d.

2143. φαίνομαι with part in O. O. (2106) = I am plainly; with inf. in O. O. = I seem or it appears (but may not be true) that I. Thus, φαίνεται τἀληθὴ λέγων he is evidently speaking the truth, φαίνεται τἀληθὴ λέγειν he appears to be speaking the truth (but he may be lying). Cp. τῇ φωνῇ . . . κλαλεῖν ἐφαίετο lit. by his voice it appeared that he was weeping (but he was not weeping) X. S. 1. 15. The above distinction is, however, not always maintained.

2144. The following verbs take either the participle or the infinitive (in O. O.) with no (or only slight) difference in meaning:

αἰσθάνομαι, ἀκούω, πυνθάνομαι (2112), ἀγγέλλω (2106), καθίζω (2105) and καθίστημι, παρασκευάζομαι, ὁμολογῶ (2106), πειρῶμαι (2102), ἐπιτρέπω and νομίζω (part. rare), ἀποκάμνω (inf. rare), θαυμάζω wonder, τίθην suppose, the expressions of 2104, etc. Both infinitive and participle with πυνθάνομαι in Hdt. 5. 15, 8. 40.

2145. Verbs of intellectual perception (2112 b) take also ὅτι or ὡς. So with ἀκούω, αἰσθάνομαι, πυνθάνομαι. Cp.

ἀκούω with gen. part. = I hear (with my own ears).

ἀκούω with accus. part. = I hear (through others, i.e. I am told) that.

ἀκούω with inf. = I hear (of general, not certain knowledge, as by report) that.

THE PARTICIPLE WITH ἄν

2146. The participle with ἄν represents the indicative with ἄν (1784 ff.) or the potential optative with ἄν (1824). The present participle with ἄν thus represents either the imperfect indicative with ἄν or the present optative with ἄν; the aorist participle with ἄν represents either the aorist indicative with ἄν or the aorist optative with ἄν. Cp. 1845 ff.

REMARKS ON SOME USES OF PARTICIPLES

2147. The abundance of its participles is one of the characteristic features of Greek. Their use gives brevity to the sentence (cp. 2050), enabling the writer to set forth in a word modifications and amplifications of the main thought for which we require cumbersome relative clauses. But an excessive use of participles, especially in close conjunction, marked a careless style.

a. The participle may contain the leading thought, the finite verb the subordinate thought, of a sentence. Thus, τὸ ψήφισμα τοῦτο γράφω . . . τοὺς ἄρκους τὴν ταχίστην ἀπολαμβάνειν, ἐν ἔχοντων τῶν Θρακῶν . . . ταῦτα τὰ χωρία, ἃ νῦν οὕτως διέσπειρε . . ., οὕτω γίγνουθ' οἱ ἄρκοι I moved this bill that the envoys should with all speed receive Philip's oaths in order that when the oaths were taken the Thracians might be in possession of the places which the plaintiff has just now been ridiculing (lit. while the Thracians were in possession, etc. . . . the oaths might under these circumstances be ratified) D. 18. 27, βούλομαι ὀλίγα ἑκατέρους ἀναμνήσας καταβαίνειν I wish to recall a few things to the memory of each party and then sit down (descend from the bema) L. 12. 92. Cp. also 2090, 2099.

b. The participle may repeat the stem and meaning of the finite verb. Thus, καὶ εὐχόμενος ἄν τις ταῦτα εὔξαιτο and some one might (praying) utter this prayer Ant. 6. 1.

c. A participial construction may pass over into a construction with a finite verb. Thus, μάρτυρα μὲν . . . οὐδένα παρασχόμενος . . . παρεκλεύετο δὲ κτλ. lit. producing on the one hand no witness . . . on the other hand he exhorted, etc. D. 57. 11, προσέβαλον τῷ τευχίσματι, ἄλλω τε τρόπῳ πειράσαντες καὶ μηχανὴν προσήγαγον lit. they attacked the rampart both making trial in other ways, and they brought up an engine (i.e. and after trying other devices brought up an engine) T. 4. 100.

d. A participle may be used in close connection with a relative or interrogative pronoun. Thus, οὐδ' ὑπὲρ ὅσα πεποιηκότων ἀνθρώπων κινδυνεύετε διαλογισάμενοι not even calculating what had been the conduct of the men for whom you were going to risk your lives D. 18. 98, ἐλαυνόμενων καὶ ὑβριζομένων καὶ τί κακὸν οὐχὶ πασχόντων πᾶσ' ἡ οἰκουμένη μεστὴ γέγονε the whole civilized world is filled with men who are harried to and fro and insulted, nay, what misery is there which they do not suffer? 18. 48.

e. In contrasts, two subjects may, by anacoluthon, belong to one participle in the nominative, though the participle belongs to only one subject (T. 3. 34. 3).

f. Two or more participles may be coördinated without any connective.

This is common in Homer when one participle forms a contrast to, or intensifies, another participle. Cp. ἡ καὶ ἐπ' ὧρ' Ἀχιλλῆι κυκώμενος ὑπόσσε θύων, μορμύρων ἀφρῶ κτλ. he spake, and swelling in tumult rushed upon Achilles, raging on high, roaring with foam, etc. Φ 324. This is very rare in prose (Aes. 3. 94).

g. In prose such coördination without any connective is incomplete, one participle, e.g., often defining another, as in ὁ Κύρος ὑπολαβὼν τοὺς φεύγοντας συλλέξας στράτευμα ἐπολιόρκει Μίλητον taking the exiles under his protection, Cyrus collected an army, and laid siege to Miletus X. A. 1. 1. 7. So even when the participles are connected, as ξηράνῃς τὴν διώρυχα καὶ παρατρέψας ἄλλῃ τὸ ὕδωρ by draining the canal and (i.e. in consequence of) diverting the water elsewhere T. 1. 109. One participle may be appositive to another. Thus, ἐξέτασιν ποιήσαντες ἐν τοῖς ἵππεσσι, φάσκοντες εἰδέναι βούλεσθαι πόσοι εἴεν . . . , ἐκέλευον ἀπογράφεσθαι πάντας by making a review in the presence of the cavalry, alleging that they wished to find out how many they were, they ordered all to inscribe themselves X. H. 2. 4. 8.

h. A participle with case absolute may be coördinated with a participle not in an absolute case. Thus, οἱ δὲ ἀφικομένης τῆς νεὼς καὶ ἀνέλπιστον τὴν εὐτυχίαν ἀκούσαντες . . . πολλὸν ἐπερρώσθησαν they were much encouraged on the arrival of the ship and on hearing of the success which was unhoped for T. 8. 106, μεταπεμφθέντες ἤλθομεν ἢ οὐδεὶς καλέσας we came summoned or at no one's call I. 4. 11.

i. A finite verb may have two or more participles attached to it in different relations. Thus, οἱ πελτασταὶ προδραμόντες . . . διαβάντες τὴν χαράδρην, ὁρῶντες πρόβατα πολλὰ . . . προσέβαλλον πρὸς τὸ χωρίον the light-armed troops after running forward and crossing the ravine, proceed to attack the stronghold on seeing quantities of sheep X. A. 5. 2. 4. Of several aorist participles, one may be relatively earlier in time than another.

j. A participle may be added predicatively to another participle, and often follows the article belonging to the main participle. Thus, οἱ ζῶντες καταλειπόμενοι those who were being left behind alive T. 7. 75.

k. A participle is often omitted when it can be supplied from the context. Thus, ὥρμisanτο καὶ αὐτοὶ . . . ἐπειδὴ καὶ τοὺς Ἀθηναίους (ὀρμυσάμενους) εἶδον they too came to anchor when they saw that the Athenians had done so T. 2. 86.

2148. The participle often agrees with the logical, and not with the grammatical, subject. The participle thus often agrees with the subject of the finite verb which the writer had in mind when he began the sentence, but for which he later substitutes another verb; or the participle may later be used as if in agreement with the subject of another finite verb than the one actually employed.

a. A participle in the nominative may belong to a finite verb requiring an oblique case. Thus, ἀποβλέψας πρὸς τοῦτον τὸν στόλον . . . , ἔδοξε μοι πάγκαλος εἶναι (= ἡγησάμην πάγκαλον εἶναι) on looking at this expedition, it seemed to me to be very admirable P. L. 686 d, ἔχοντες . . . ἀρχὴν μεγίστην . . . , ὅμως οὐδὲν τούτων ἡμᾶς ἐπήγε (= οὐδενὶ τούτων ἐπήρθημεν) εἰς αὐμαρτεῖν although we possessed the greatest empire . . . nevertheless none of these reasons induced us to do wrong I. 4. 108, ἔδοξεν αὐτοῖς (= ἐβουλεύσαντο) οὐ τοὺς παρόντας μόνον ἀποκτείνειν ἀλλὰ καὶ τοὺς ἅπαντας Μυτιληναίους . . . ἐπικαλοῦντες τὴν ἀπόστασιν κτλ. they decided to put to death not merely those who were there but also all the Mytilenaeans, urging against them their revolt, etc. T. 3. 36.

b. Two or more substantives or pronouns with their participles may stand in partitive apposition (981) to the logical subject. Thus, τὰ περὶ Πύλον ὑπ' ἀμφοτέρων κατὰ κράτος ἐπολεμείτο (= ἀμφοτέροι ἐπολέμουν), Ἀθηναῖοι μὲν . . . τὴν νῆσον περιπλέοντες . . ., Πελοποννήσιοι δὲ ἐν τῇ ἡπείρῳ στρατοπεδεύμενοι the war at Pylos was vigorously waged by both sides, the Athenians on their part by sailing around the island . . . the Peloponnesians by encamping on the mainland T. 4. 28. Cp. λόγοι δ' ἐν ἀλλήλοισιν ἐρρόθουν κακοί, φύλαξ ἐλέγχων φύλακα bitter words flew loud from one to another, watchman accusing watchman S. Ant. 259. As the sentence stands, we expect φύλακος ἐλέγχοντος φύλακα, but the first clause is equivalent to κακοὺς λόγους εἶπομεν ἀλλήλους. Cp. θαυμάζοντες ἄλλος ἄλλῳ φλεγεν one spoke to the other in astonishment P. S. 220 c. Cp. 982.

c. Without regard to the following construction, a participle may stand in the nominative. The use of the genitive absolute would here be proper, but would cause the main subject of the thought to occupy a subordinate position. Thus, ἐπιπεσὼν τῇ Φαρναβάζου στρατοπέδῳ, τῆς μὲν προφυλακῆς αὐτοῦ Μυσῶν δυνῶν πολλοὶ ἔπεσον attacking the camp of Pharnabazus, he slew a large number (= πολλοὺς ἀπέκτεινε) of Mystans who constituted his advance guard X. H. 4. 1. 24.

N. The nominative participle is sometimes found in clauses without a finite verb, but only when some finite verb is to be supplied (cp. Ψ 546), as with εἰ, εἰάν, ὅταν (X. M. 2. 1. 23); with ὡς αὖτε as far as is possible (T. 1. 111); in replies in dialogue, where it stands in apposition to the subject of the preceding sentence (P. Ph. 74 b); or is interposed as a parenthesis (εἰ ποιοῦν in D. 23. 143).

d. Likewise a participle may stand in the accusative or (rarely) in the dative when the construction demands another case. Thus, σοὶ δὲ συγγνώμη (= συγγνώμη ἐστὶ σέ) λέγειν τὰδ' ἐστὶ, μὴ πάσχουσιν ὡς ἐγὼ κακῶς it is excusable for thee to speak thus, since thou dost not suffer cruelly as I do E. Med. 814, ἣν ἡ γνώμη τοῦ Ἀριστέως (= ἔδοξε τῷ Ἀριστεῖ), τὸ μὲν μεθ' ἐαυτοῦ στρατόπεδον ἔχοντι ἐν τῷ Ἰσθμῷ ἐπιτηρεῖν τοὺς Ἀθηναίους Aristeus decided to keep his own forces at the Isthmus and watch for the Athenians T. 1. 62.

VERBAL ADJECTIVES IN -τέος

On verbal adjectives in -τέος, -τή, -τόν, see 425 c, 472, 473.

2149. Verbal adjectives in -τέος express necessity. They admit two constructions:

1. The personal construction (-τέος, -τέᾱ, -τέον), passive in meaning, and emphasizing the subject.

2. The (more common) impersonal construction (-τέον, -τέᾱ, 1052), practically active in meaning, and emphasizing the action.

Both constructions are used with the copula εἰμί, which may be omitted. The agent—the person on whom the necessity rests—is expressed, if at all, by the dative (never by ὑπό and the genitive).

2150. Verbal adjectives from transitive verbs take the personal construction when the subject is emphasized; but the impersonal construction, when the emphasis falls on the verbal adjective itself. Verbal adjectives from intransitive verbs (that is, such as are followed by the genitive or dative) take only the impersonal construction.

a. Oblique cases of verbal adjectives are rare. Thus, περὶ τῶν ὑμῖν πράξεων concerning what need be done by us D. 6. 28.

ποταμός τις ἡμῖν ἐστὶ διαβατέος a river must be crossed by us X. A. 2. 4. 6, ὠφελήτέα σοι ἡ πόλις ἐστὶ the State must be benefited by you X. M. 3. 6. 3, ἐμοὶ τοῦτο οὐ ποιητέον this must not be done by me (I must not do this) X. A. 1. 3. 15, οἱ συμμαχεῖν ἐθέλοντες εὖ ποιητέοι those who would be allies must be well treated X. M. 2. 6. 27, οὐ . . . τοσαῦτα ὄρη ὄρατε ὑμῖν ὄντα πορευτέα; do you not see such high mountains that must be traversed by you? X. A. 2. 5. 18.

τῷ ἀδικούντι δοτέον δίκην the wrong-doer must suffer punishment P. Euth. 8c, πιστά καὶ ὁμήρους δοτέον καὶ ληπτέον we must give and receive pledges and hostages X. H. 3. 2. 18, τὸν θάνατον ἡμῖν μετ' εὐδοκίας αἰρετέον ἐστὶν we must prefer death with honour I. 6. 91, πειστέον πατρὸς λόγους I must obey my father's commands E. Hipp. 1182, πειστέον τάδε (σοι) thou must obey in this S. Ph. 944 (distinguish πειστέον ἐστὶ σε one must persuade thee), φημι δὲ βοηθητέον εἶναι τοῖς πράγμασιν ὑμῖν I say that you must render assistance to the interests at stake D. 1. 17, τοὺς φίλους εὐεργετήτεον, τὴν πόλιν ὠφελήτεον . . . , τῶν βοσκομάτων ἐπιμελητέον you must do good to your friends, benefit your State, take care of your flocks X. M. 2. 1. 28, ἡμῖν ξύμμαχοι ἀγαθοί, οὓς οὐ παραδοτέα τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις ἐστὶν we have serviceable allies, whom we must not abandon to the Athenians T. 1. 86, ἐψηφίσαντο . . . πολεμητέα εἶναι they voted that they must go to war 1. 88.

a. Since the impersonal construction is virtually active, and hence equivalent to δεῖ with the accusative and infinitive (active or middle), the agent sometimes stands in the accusative, as if dependent on δεῖ. The copula is (perhaps) always omitted when the agent is expressed by the accusative. Thus, τὸν βουλόμενον ἐδδάλμωνα εἶναι σωφροσύνην διωκτέον καὶ ἀσκητέον (= δεῖ διώκειν καὶ ἀσκεῖν) it is necessary that the man who desires to be happy should pursue and practice temperance P. G. 507 c.

SUMMARY OF THE FORMS OF SIMPLE SENTENCES

§§ 906–2152 deal, in general, with the simple sentence. The following summary shows the chief forms of simple sentences (921) used in Attic.

2153. STATEMENTS

1. Statements of Fact (direct assertions) as to the present, past, or future are made in the indicative mood (negative οὐ), 1770.

A. Statements of fact include statements of present, past, or future possibility, likelihood, or necessity, which are expressed by the indicative of a verb denoting possibility, likelihood, or necessity, and an infinitive (1774–1779).

B. Statements of customary or repeated past action are made in the imperfect or aorist indicative with ἄν (negative οὐ), 1790.

2. Statement of Opinion (usually cautious, doubtful, or modest assertions) as to what may be (might be), can be (could be), may (might, could, would) have been, etc., are made:

A. In reference to the present or past: by ἐβουλόμην ἄν I should like or I should have liked (negative οὐ), 1789. (Rarely by the indicative without ἄν, negative μή or μὴ οὐ, 1772.)

B. In reference to the past: by the aorist or imperfect indicative with ἄν (negative οὐ), 1784, cp. 1786.

C. In reference to the present (statement of present opinion the verification of which is left to the future): by the optative with ἄν (negative οὐ), 1824.

D. In reference to the future: by the present subjunctive with μή or μὴ οὐ (1801); by οὐ μή with the aorist subjunctive to denote an emphatic denial (1804).

2154. ASSUMPTIONS

Assumptions, including concessions, are usually expressed by the imperative (negative μή), 1839. Other forms occur, as καὶ δὴ with the indicative (negative οὐ), 1771; a verb of assuming with the accusative and infinitive, etc.

2155. COMMANDS (INCLUDING EXHORTATIONS)

1. Positive Commands are expressed by the

A. Imperative, except in the first person (1835).

B. Subjunctive, in the first person (1797).

C. Future indicative (negative οὐ) 1917, 1918; with ὅπως (1920).

D. Optative without  $\alpha\upsilon$  (1820); potential optative with  $\alpha\upsilon$  (negative  $\alpha\upsilon$ , 1830).

E. Infinitive used independently (2013).

2. Negative Commands (Prohibitions, 1840), including Exhortations, are expressed by  $\mu\eta$  with the

A. Present imperative (1840) or aorist subjunctive (second or third person), 1800.

B. Present or aorist subjunctive in the first person plural (1840).

C. Aorist imperative in the third person (rare), 1840.

D. Future indicative with  $\delta\pi\omega\varsigma \mu\eta$  (1920); with  $\alpha\upsilon \mu\eta$  (1919).

E. Aorist subjunctive with  $\delta\pi\omega\varsigma \mu\eta$  (rare), 1803; with  $\alpha\upsilon \mu\eta$  (rare), 1800, N.

F. Infinitive used independently (2013).

2156.

WISHES

1.  $\mu\eta$  is the negative of a direct expression of a wish, and of all indirect expressions of wish except  $\pi\omega\varsigma \alpha\upsilon$  with the optative and a form of  $\beta\upsilon\lambda\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$  with the infinitive.

2. Wishes for the future, whether the object of the wish is reasonable or unreasonable, attainable or unattainable, are expressed by the optative with or without  $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon$  or  $\epsilon\acute{\iota} \gamma\acute{\alpha}\rho$  (1814, 1815). Indirect expressions are:  $\pi\omega\varsigma \alpha\upsilon$  with the optative (1832);  $\beta\upsilon\lambda\omicron\iota\mu\eta\upsilon\alpha\iota \alpha\upsilon$  with the infinitive (1827).

3. Wishes for the present: that something might be otherwise than it now is, are expressed by the imperfect with  $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon$  or  $\epsilon\acute{\iota} \gamma\acute{\alpha}\rho$  (1780). Indirect expressions are:  $\omega\phi\epsilon\lambda\omicron\nu$  (with or without  $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon$  or  $\epsilon\acute{\iota} \gamma\acute{\alpha}\rho$ ) and the present or aorist infinitive (1781);  $\epsilon\beta\upsilon\lambda\omicron\mu\eta\upsilon\alpha\iota$  (with or without  $\alpha\upsilon$ ) with the infinitive (1782, 1789).

4. Wishes for the past: that something might have been otherwise than it then was, are expressed by the aorist indicative with  $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon$  or  $\epsilon\acute{\iota} \gamma\acute{\alpha}\rho$  (1780). Indirect:  $\omega\phi\epsilon\lambda\omicron\nu$  (with or without  $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon$  or  $\epsilon\acute{\iota} \gamma\acute{\alpha}\rho$ ) with the present or aorist infinitive (1781).

5. Unattainable wishes for the present or past may be entirely reasonable.

COMPOUND AND COMPLEX SENTENCES

COÖRDINATION AND SUBORDINATION

2159. All sentences other than simple sentences are formed by combining simple sentences either by coördination or subordination.

2160. Coördination produces compound sentences, subordination produces complex sentences. Complex sentences have been developed out of coördinate independent sentences, one of which has been subordinated in form, as in thought, to another.

2161. Comparative Grammar shows that, historically, coördination was preceded by simple juxtaposition and followed by subordination. Thus the simplest form of associating the two ideas night fell and the enemy departed was νῆξ ἐγένετο · οἱ πολέμοι ἀπῆλθον (or in reverse order). From this was developed a closer connection by means of coördinating conjunctions, e.g. νῆξ (μὲν) ἐγένετο, οἱ δὲ πολέμοι ἀπῆλθον or οἱ δὲ πολέμοι ἀπῆλθον · νῆξ ἐγένετο (or νῆξ γὰρ ἐγένετο), or νῆξ ἐγένετο καὶ οἱ πολέμοι ἀπῆλθον. Finally it was recognized that one of these ideas was a mere explanation, definition, or supplement of the other, and hence dependent or subordinate. This stage is represented by the complex sentence: ἔπει (δὲ) νῆξ ἐγένετο, οἱ πολέμοι ἀπῆλθον or νῆξ ἐγένετο, ὥστε οἱ πολέμοι ἀπῆλθον, and so on to express various other relations. Since Greek inherited from the parent Indo-European language both the subordinate and the coördinate sentence, it must be clearly understood that the above examples of the process of development of sentence-building, though taken from Greek, illustrate an earlier period of the history of language than Greek as we have it. Though it may be possible to reconstruct the form of the earlier, coördinate sentence out of the later, subordinate sentence, and though we have examples of parallel coördinate and subordinate sentences in Greek, the subordinate sentence did not in Greek regularly go through the previous stages of simple juxtaposition and coördination. A subordinate construction produced by analogy to another subordinate construction may not be resolved into the coördinate form.

SYNTAX OF THE COMPOUND SENTENCE

2162. A compound sentence consists of two or more simple sentences, grammatically independent of one another and generally united by a coördinating conjunction. Thus, τῇ δὲ ἰσπεραίᾳ ἐπορεύοντο διὰ τοῦ πεδίου | καὶ | Τισσαφέρνης εἵπετο but on the next day they proceeded through the plain and Tissaphernes kept following them X. A. 3. 4. 18.

a. Abbreviated compound sentences, i.e. sentences containing a compound subject with a single verbal predicate or a single subject with a compound verbal predicate, are treated in this book as expanded simple sentences (§23, §24).

2163. Greek has, among others, the following coördinating conjunctions, the uses of which in connecting sentences, clauses, phrases, and single words are described under Particles.

A. Copulative conjunctions: τέ (enclitic), καί and, τὲ. τέ, τὲ . .

καί, καὶ . . . καί both . . . and, οὐδέ (μηδέ) and not, nor, οὔτε . . . οὔτε (μήτε . . . μήτε) neither . . . nor.

B. Adversative conjunctions: ἀλλά but, δέ (postpositive, often with μέν in the preceding clause) but, and, ἀτάρ but, yet, however, μέντοι (postpositive) however, yet, καίτοι and yet.

C. Disjunctive conjunctions: ἢ or, ἢ . . . ἢ either . . . or, εἴτε . . . εἴτε (without a verb) either . . . or.

D. Inferential conjunctions: ἄρα then, accordingly, οὖν therefore, then, νῦν (in the poetic and enclitic forms νυν and νῦν) then, therefore, τοίνυν now, then, τοιγάρ (poetic), τοιγάρτοι, τοιγαυτοῖν so then, therefore.

E. Causal conjunction: γάρ for.

2164. Compound sentences are divided into Copulative, Adversative, Disjunctive, Inferential, and Causal sentences.

ASYNDETON

2165. Two or more sentences (or words) independent in form and thought, but juxtaposed, i.e. coördinated without any connective, are asyndetic (from ἀσύνδετον not bound together), and such absence of connectives is called asyndeton.

a. The absence of connectives in a language so rich in means of coördination as is Greek is more striking than in other languages. Grammatical asyndeton cannot always be separated from rhetorical asyndeton. Grammatical asyndeton is the absence of a conjunction where a connective might have been used without marked influence on the character of the thought; as especially in explanatory sentences (often after a preparatory word, usually a demonstrative) which take up the matter just introduced; also where, in place of a conjunction, a resumptive word, such as οὗτος, τοιοῦτος, τοσοῦτος, ἐνταῦθα, οὕτω, etc., is employed. Rhetorical asyndeton is the absence of a conjunction where the following sentence contains a distinct advance in the thought and not a mere formal explanation appended to the foregoing sentence. Rhetorical asyndeton generally expresses emotion of some sort, and is the mark of liveliness, rapidity, passion, or impressiveness, of thought, each idea being set forth separately and distinctly. Thus, οὐκ ἀσεβής; οὐκ ὠμός; οὐκ ἀκάθαρτος; οὐ σύκοφάντης; is he not impious? is he not brutal? is he not impure? is he not a pettifogger? D. 25. 63.

2166. Asyndeton is frequent in rapid and lively descriptions.

συμβαλόντες τὰς ἀσπίδας ἐωθοῦντο, ἐμάχοντο, ἀπέκτεινον, ἀπέθησκον interlocking their shields, they shoved, they fought, they slew, they were slain X. H. 4. 3. 19. προσπεσόντες ἐμάχοντο, ἐώθουν ἐωθοῦντο, ἔπαιον ἐπαιοντο falling upon them, they fought; pushed (and) were pushed; struck (and) were struck X. C. 7. 1. 38. Also with anaphora (2167 c), as in ἔχεις πόλιν, ἔχεις τριήρεις, ἔχεις χρήματα, ἔχεις ἄνδρας τοσοῦτους you have a city, you have triremes, you have money, you have so many men X. A. 7. 1. 21. Cp. T. 7. 71, D. 19. 76, 19. 215, P. 8. 197 d.

2167. Asyndeton also appears when the unconnected sentence

a. Summarizes the main contents, or expresses the result, of the preceding.

Thus, πάντ' ἔχεις λόγον you have the whole story A. Ag. 582, ἀκηκάτε, ἐωράκατε, πεπρόθατε, ἔχετε· δικάζετε you have heard, you have seen, you have suffered, you have the evidence; pronounce your judgment L. 12. 100, φυλακῇ μέντοι πρὸ τῶν πυλῶν ἐντευξόμεθα· ἔστι γὰρ αἰετ' ἐταγμένη. οὐκ ἂν μέλλειν δέοι, ἔφη ὁ Κῦρος, ἀλλ' ἵεσθαι however, we shall meet with a guard in front of the gates, for one is always stationed there. We must not delay, but advance, said Cyrus X. C. 7. 5. 25. This is often the case when a demonstrative takes up the foregoing thought (as ἔδοξε ταῦτα X. A. 1. 3. 20) or continues the narrative, as in ἀκούσῃσι τοῖς στρατηγοῖς ταῦτα ἔδοξε τὸ στράτευμα συναγαγεῖν 4. 4. 19 (cp. 2061).

b. Expresses a reason or explains the preceding. Thus, μικρὸν δ' ὕπνου λαχὼν εἶδεν ὄναρ· ἔδοξεν αὐτῷ . . . σκηπτὸς πεσεῖν κτλ. when he had snatched a little sleep, he saw a vision; a bolt of lightning seemed to him to fall, etc. X. A. 3. 1. 11, ἰκοῦ πρὸς οἴκους· τᾶς σε Καδμείων λεῶς καλεῖ come home; all the Cadmean folk calls thee S. O. C. 741. Here γάρ or ἄρα might have been used. So often after a preparatory word (often a demonstrative); as ταῦτόν δέ μοι δοκεῖ τοῦτ' ἄρα καὶ περὶ τὴν ψυχὴν εἶναι· ἐνδὲλα πάντα ἐστὶν ἐν τῇ ψυχῇ ἐπειδὴν γυμνωθῇ τοῦ σώματος κτλ. now it seems to me that this is the same with regard to the soul too; everything in the soul is open to view when a man is stripped of his body P. G. 524 d, ἐπὶ μόνῳ προέχουσιν οἱ ἱππεῖς ἡμῶν· φεύγειν αὐτοῖς ἀσφαλέστερόν ἐστιν ἢ ἡμῖν in one point alone has the cavalry the advantage of us: it is safer for them to run away than for us X. A. 3. 2. 19, and so when ὥσπερ is followed by οὕτω καὶ (P. R. 557 c). Also when μέν γε . . . δέ take up what precedes, as ὁμοίως γε Σόλων νομοθέτης καὶ Τιμοκράτης· ὁ μέν γε . . . ὁ δέ D. 24. 106. Furthermore after τεκμήριον δέ (994), as T. 2. 50.

c. Repeats a significant word or phrase of the earlier sentence (anaphora). Thus, καὶ ὅτῳ δοκεῖ ταῦτα, ἀντεινάντω τὴν χεῖρα· ἀντεινάντες πάντες and let him who approves this, hold up his hand; they all held up their hands X. A. 3. 2. 33. In poetry a thought is often repeated in a different form by means of a juxtaposed sentence (S. Tr. 1082).

d. Sets forth a contrast in thought to the preceding. This is commoner in poetry than in prose. Thus, μέλλοντα ταῦτα· τῶν προκειμένων τι χρὴ πράσσειν this lies in the future; the present must be thy care S. Ant. 1334.

e. Introduces a new thought or indicates a change to a new form of expression. Thus, ἀλλ' ἴτεον, ἔφη. πρῶτόν με ὑπομήσατε ἃ ἐλέγετε but we must proceed, said he. First recall to my mind what you were saying P. Ph. 91 c.

f. Is introduced by a word stressed by emotion, as ταῦτα D. 3. 32, ἐγὼ 4. 29.

On juxtaposition of participles, see 2147.

COÖRDINATION IN PLACE OF SUBORDINATION — PARATAXIS

2168. The term parataxis (παράταξις arranging side by side), as here employed, is restricted to the arrangement of two independent sentences side by side, though one is in thought subordinate to the other.

a. In Greek, παράταξις means simply coördination in general, as ὑπόταξις means subordination.

2169. In many cases parataxis is a common form of expression not only in the earlier language of Homer, but also in Attic prose and poetry.

So frequently in Attic prose with καί, τὲ . . . καί, ἅμα . . . καί, εὐθὺς . . . καί, and with δέ meaning for. Thus, ἤδη δὲ ἦν ὅψις . . . καὶ οἱ Κορίνθιοι πρόμναν ἐκροῦοντο it was already late and (for when) the Corinthians started to row astern T. 1. 50, καὶ ἤδη τε ἦν περὶ πλῆθους ἀγορὰν καὶ ἔρχονται . . . κήρυκες and it was already about the time when the market-place fills and (= when) heralds arrived X. A. 2. 1. 7, καὶ ἅμα ταῦτ' ἔλεγε καὶ ἀπῆγε and as soon as he said this, he departed X. H. 7. 1. 28, ἐπίστασθε μόνοι τῶν Ἑλλήνων τοὺς ἀγαθοὺς ἀνδρας τιμᾶν you alone among the Greeks know how to honour men of merit; for you will find statues of brave generals set up among you Lyc. 51. Cp. σκέψασθε δέ T. 1. 143.

a. Temporal conjunctions, as ἡνίκα, are rarely used to introduce such clauses, which often indicate a sudden or decisive occurrence or simultaneous action.

b. Thucydides is especially fond of καί or τὲ to coördinate two ideas, one of which is subordinate to the other.

2170. Parataxis often occurs when a thought naturally subordinate is made independent for the sake of emphasis or liveliness. Such rhetorical parataxis occurs chiefly in the orators and in Pindar. So especially when μέν and δέ are used to coördinate two contrasted clauses, the former of which is logically subordinate and inserted to heighten the force of the latter. Here English uses whereas, while. Thus, αἰσχρόν ἐστι, εἰ ἐγὼ μὲν τὰ ἔργα τῶν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν πόρων ἐτίμεινα, ὑμεῖς δὲ μὴδὲ τοὺς λόγους αὐτῶν ἀνέξεσθε it is a shame that, whereas I have undergone the toil of exertions in your cause, you will not endure even their recital D. 18. 100.

2171. There exist many traces in Greek of the use of the older coördination in place of which some form of subordination was adopted, either entirely or in part, in the later language.

a. Thus several relative pronouns and adverbs were originally demonstrative, and as such pointed either to the earlier or the later clause. So ὁ, ἡ, τό (1105, cp. 1114): τεύχεα δ' ἐξενάριξε, τό οἱ πόρε χάλκεος Ἄρης (H 146) meant originally he stripped him of his arms; these brazen Ares had given him. τῶς so long is properly demonstrative, but has acquired a relative function in καὶ τῶς ἐστὶ καιρός, ἀντιλάβεσθε τῶν πραγμάτων and while there is time, take our policy in hand D. 1. 20.

2172. Homer often places two thoughts in juxtaposition without any regard for logical connection. This is especially common with δέ, τέ, καί, αὐτάρ, ἀλλὰ. Thus, πολὺς δ' ὀρυμαγδὸς ἐπ' αὐτῷ ἀνδρῶν ἠδὲ κυνῶν, ἀπὸ τέ σφισιν (for οἷς) ἵπποις δλωθεν and there is loud clamour around him of men and of dogs, and sleep is gone from them K 185.

a. So also in clauses preceded by a relative word; as εἰς δ' ταῦθ' ὤρμαινε . . . , ἐκ δ' Ἑλένη θαλάμῳ . . . ἦλυθεν while he was pondering on this, (but) Helen came forth from her chamber δ 120, ὅς κε θεοὺς ἐπιπείθεται, μᾶλα τ' ἑλκων αὐτοῦ whoever obeys the gods, (and) him they hear A 218.

b. This use appears even in Attic prose; as οἰκοῦσι δ' ἐν μῇ τῶν νήσων οἱ μεγάλη, καλεῖται δὲ (for ἡ καλεῖται) Λιπάρα they dwell in one of the islands that is not large, and it (which) is called Lipara T. 3. 88. Cp. also 2837.

SYNTAX OF THE COMPLEX SENTENCE

2173. A complex sentence consists of a principal sentence and one or more subordinate, or dependent, sentences. The principal sentence, as each subordinate sentence, has its own subject and predicate. The principal sentence of a complex sentence is called the principal clause, the subordinate sentence is called the subordinate clause. The principal clause may precede or follow the subordinate clause.

2174. The principal clause may have any form of the simple sentence.

a. Parentheses belonging to the thought of the entire sentence, but standing in no close grammatical relation to it, count as principal clauses. So οἶμαι, δοκῶ, φημί, ὁρᾶς; οἶδα, οἶδ' ὅτι certainly (2585), εὖ ἴσθι know well, αἰτιοῦμαι se I beseech thee; πῶς (πόσον) δοκεῖς; and πῶς οἶει; in the comic poets and Euripides, etc. Some of these expressions are almost adverbial.

2175. The subordinate clause is always introduced by a subordinating conjunction, as εἰ if, ἐπει since or when, ὅτι that, ἕως until, etc.

2177. Each tense in a subordinate clause denotes stage of action; the time is only relative to that of the leading verb. A subordinate clause may be marked by change of person in verb and pronoun.

2178. A subordinate clause in English may be expressed in Greek by a predicate adjective or substantive. Cp. 1169, 2647.

2179. A subordinate clause may be coördinate in structure.

ἐπει δ' ἡσθένει Δαρείος καὶ ὑπώπτευε τελευτὴν τοῦ βίου, ἐβούλετό οἱ τῷ παῖδι παρῆναι but when Darius was ill and suspected that his end was near, he wished his two sons to be by him X. A. 1. 1. 1.

a. So a relative clause, though properly subordinate, may be equivalent to a coördinating clause: εἰ δ' ὑμεῖς ἄλλο τι γνώσεσθε, ὃ μὴ γένοιτο, τίν' οἴεσθ' αὐτὴν ψυχὴν ἔχειν; but if you decide otherwise, — and may this never come to pass! — what do you think will be her feelings? D. 28. 21. In such cases ὅς is equivalent to καὶ οὗτος, οὗτος δέ, οὗτος γάρ.

2180. A clause dependent upon the principal clause may itself be followed by a clause dependent upon itself (a sub-dependent clause).

οὗ δ' ἔλεγον (principal clause) ὅτι περὶ σπονδῶν ἦκουεν ἄνδρες (dependent clause) οἵτινες ἱκανοὶ ἔσονται . . . ἀπαγγεῖλαι (sub-dependent clause) and they said that they had come with regard to a truce and were men who were competent to . . . report X. A. 2. 3. 4.

ἥπερ (τύχη) δὲ βέλτιον (scil. ἐπιμελεῖται) ἢ ἡμεῖς ἡμῶν αὐτῶν ἐπιμελούμεθα fortune, which always cares better for us than we for ourselves D. 4. 12. Also as in English: ὅ τι δὲ μέλλετε (πράσσειν), . . . εὐθὺς . . . πράσσετε but whatever you intend, do it at once T. 7. 15. In comparative clauses with οὐχ ὥσπερ (or ὡς) the main and the subordinate clause are sometimes compressed, the predicate of the clause with οὐχ being supplied from the ὥσπερ clause, which is made independent; as οὐχ (οὐδὲν ἂν ἐγίγνετο) ὥσπερ νῦν τούτων οὐδὲν γίγνεται περὶ αὐτῶν it would not be as now, when none of these things is done for him P. S. 189 c.

ANTICIPATION (OR PROLEPSIS)

δέδοικα δ' αὐτὴν μὴ τι βουλεύσῃ νέον but I fear lest she may devise something untoward E. Med. 37, ἦδαι αὐτὸν ὅτι μέσον ἔχοι τοῦ Περσικοῦ στρατεύματος he knew that he held the centre of the Persian army X. A. 1. 8. 21, ἐπεμέλετο αὐτῶν ὅπως δὲ ἀνδράποδα διατελοῖεν he took care that they should always continue to be slaves X. C. 8. 1. 44. Note ὅπως τὸν εὐτράπεζον ὡς ἡδὺς βίος thou seest how sweet is the luxurious life E. fr. 1052. 3.

a. Anticipation is especially common after verbs of saying, seeing, hearing, knowing, fearing, effecting.

b. When a subordinate clause defines a verbal idea consisting of a verb and a substantive, its subject may pass into the principal clause as a genitive depending on the substantive of that clause: ἦλθε δὲ καὶ τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις εὐθὺς ἡ ἀγγελία τῶ πόλεων ὅτι ἀφυστάσι and there came straightway to the Athenians also the report that the cities had revolted T. 1. 61 (= ὅτι αἱ πόλεις ἀφυστάσι).

c. The subject of the dependent clause may be put first in its own clause: ἐπιχειρήσωμεν εἰπεῖν, ἀνδρεῖα τί ποτ' ἐστὶν let us try to say what courage is P. Lach. 190 d.

d. The object of the subordinate clause may be anticipated and made the object of the principal clause. Thus, εἰρώτῃ δὲ Δαρείους τὴν τέχνην εἰ ἐπίσταται Darius asked if he understood the art Hdt. 3. 130.

e. A still freer use is seen in ἐθαύμαζεν αὐτὸν ὁ Λύσανδρος ὡς καλὰ τὰ δένδρα εἶη Lysander marvelled at the beauty of his trees (for τὰ δένδρα αὐτοῦ ὡς κτλ.) X. O. 4. 21.

ASSIMILATION OF MOODS

2183. The mood of a subordinate clause which is intimately connected with the thought of the clause on which it depends, is often assimilated to the mood of that clause. Such subordinate clauses may be simply dependent or sub-dependent (2180).

a. This idiom is most marked in Unreal and Less Vivid Future conditions where the mood of the protasis is the same as that of the principal clause. It is also very common when a past indicative or an optative attracts the mood of a subordinate clause introduced by a relative word referring to indefinite persons or things or to an indefinite time or place. But subordinate clauses standing in a less close relation to the main clause, because they do not continue the same mental attitude but present a new shade of thought, retain their mood unassimilated; e.g. a relative clause, or a temporal clause expressing purpose, after an unreal condition may stand in the optative (Is. 4. 11, P. R. 600 e). On the other hand, there are many cases where the writer may, or may not, adopt modal assimilation without any great difference of meaning. The following sections give the chief occurrences of mood-assimilation apart from that found in Unreal and Less Vivid Future conditions (2302, 2329): ἐντελέγκοι μὲν ταῦτα ὡς βουλόμεθα may this result as we desire T. 6. 20, νίκησθ' ὅτι πᾶσιν μέλλει συνοίσειν but may that prevail which is likely to be for the common weal D. 4. 51, ἐπειδὴν διαπράξωμαι ἂν δέομαι, ἤξω when I shall have transacted what I want, I will return X. A. 2. 3. 29.

2185. Assimilation to the Indicative.—The subordinate clause takes a past tense of the indicative in dependence on a past tense of the indicative (or its equivalent) denoting unreality.

a. Conditional relative clauses: εἰ μὲν γὰρ ἦν μοι χρήματα, ἐτίμησάμην ἂν χρημάτων ὅσα ἐμέλλον ἐκτελεῖν for if I had money, I should have assessed my penalty at the full sum that I was likely to pay P. A. 38 b, εἰ . . . κατεμαρτύρουν ἂ μὴ σαφῶς ἤδη ἀκοῇ δὲ ἠπιστάμην, δεῖν ἂν ἔφη πάσχειν ὑπ' ἐμοῦ if I brought in as evidence against him matters which I did not know certainly but had learned by hearsay, he would have said that he was suffering a grave injustice at my hands Ant. 5. 74.

b. Temporal clauses: οὐκ ἂν ἐπαύομην . . . , ἕως ἀπεπειράθην τῆς σοφίας ταυτοῦ I would not have ceased until I had made trial of this wisdom P. Crat. 396 c, ἐχρῆν . . . μὴ πρότερον περὶ τῶν ὁμολογουμένων συμβουλευεῖν, πρὶν περὶ τῶν ἀμφισβητουμένων ἡμᾶς εἰδίδαξαν they ought not to have given advice concerning the matters of common agreement before they instructed us on the matters in dispute I. 4. 19.

c. Final clauses: here the principal clause is an unfulfilled wish, an unfulfilled apodosis, or a question with οὐ; and the indicative in the final clause denotes that the purpose was not or cannot be attained, and cannot be reached by the will of the speaker. Thus, εἰ γὰρ ὄφελον οἱοί τε εἶναι οἱ πολλοὶ τὰ μέγιστα κακά ἐργάζεσθαι, ἵνα οἱ τοι τε ἦσαν καὶ ἀγαθὰ τὰ μέγιστα would that the many were able to work the greatest evil in order that they might be able (as they are now) to work also the greatest good P. Cr. 44 d, ἐβουλόμην ἂν Σίμωνα τὴν αὐτὴν γνώμην ἐμοὶ ἔχειν ἵνα . . . ῥαδίως ἔγνωντε τὰ δίκαια I should have liked Simon to be of the same opinion as myself in order that you might easily have rendered a just verdict L. 3. 21, ἔδει τὰ ἐπύχυρα τότε λαβεῖν, ὥς μὴδ' εἰ ἐβούλετο ἐδύνατο ἑξαπατᾶν I ought to have taken security at the time in order that he could not have deceived us even if he wished X. A. 7. 6. 23, τί θῆγ' οὐκ ἔρριψ' ἐμαυτὸν τῆσδ' ἀπὸ πέτρᾶς, ὅπως τῶν πάντων πόνων ἀπηλλάγην; why indeed did I not hurl myself from this rock, that I might have been freed from all these toils? A. Pr. 747.

N. 1. — In this (post-Homeric) construction, ἵνα is the regular conjunction in prose; ὥς and ὅπως are rare. ἄν is very rarely added and is suspected (Is. 11. 6 l<sup>1</sup>. L. 969 e).

N. 2. — Assimilation does not take place when the final clause is the essential thing and sets forth a real future purpose of the agent of the leading verb, or does not show whether or not the purpose was realized. This occurs especially after ἵνα = eo consilio ut, rarely after ὅπως (X. A. 7. 6. 16); after ὥς only in poetry and Xenophon. The subjunctive or optative is used when the purpose of the agent, and not the non-fulfilment of the action, is emphasized. Thus, καίτοι χρῆναι . . . ἢ τοῦτον μὴ γράφειν ἢ ἐκείνον λθεῖν, οὐχ, ἵ' ὁ βούλει σὺ γένηται, πάντα τὰ πρᾶγματα συνταράξαι you ought either not to have proposed this law or to have repealed the other; not to have thrown everything into confusion to accomplish your desire D. 24. 44.

d. Causal clauses (rarely, as D. 50. 67). Modal assimilation never takes place in indirect questions or in clauses dependent on a verb of fearing.

2186. Assimilation to the Optative. — When an optative of the principal clause refers to future time (potential optative and optative of wish), the subordinate clause takes the optative by assimilation in the following cases.

a. Conditional relative clauses (regularly): πῶς γὰρ ἂν (1832) τις, ἃ γὰρ μὴ ἐπίσταται, ταῦτα σοφὸς εἴη; for how could any one be wise in that which he does not know? X. M. 4. 6. 7, τίς μῖσεῖν δύναται' ἂν ὑφ' οὗ εἰδεῖν καλὸς τε καὶ ἀγαθὸς νομίζομενος; who could hate one by whom he knew that he was regarded as both beautiful and good? X. S. 8. 17, ἔρδοι τις ἢν ἕκαστος εἰδεῖν τέχνην would that every man would practise the craft that he understood Ar. Vesp. 1431, τίς ἂν . . . μόλοι (1832), ὅστις διαγγεῖλαι τὰ μ' εἰσω κακά would that some one would come to report within my tale of woe E. Hel. 435.

N. 1. — If the relative has a definite antecedent, assimilation does not take place; but not all relative clauses with an indefinite antecedent are assimilated. Cp. ὥσπερ ἂν ὑμῶν ἕκαστος αἰσχυρθεῖ τὴν τάξιν λιπεῖν ἢν ἂν ταχθῇ ἐν τῷ πολέμῳ as each one of you would be ashamed to leave the post to which he may be appointed in war Aes. 3. 7.

N. 2. — A relative clause depending on an infinitive rarely takes the optative: ἀλλὰ τοῦ μὲν αὐτὸν λέγειν ἃ μὴ σαφῶς εἰδεῖν εἰργασθαι δεῖ one should abstain from saying oneself what one does not know for certain X. C. 1. 6. 19. (See 2573.)

b. Temporal clauses (regularly): τεθναίην, ὅτε μοι μηκέτι ταῦτα μέλοι παύειν!

die when these things no longer delight me Mimnermus 1.2, ὁ μὲν ἐκὼν πεινῶν φάγοι ἂν ὅποτε βούλοιο he who starves of his own free will can eat whenever he wishes X. M. 2. 1. 18, εἰ δὲ πᾶν σπουδάξοι φαγεῖν, εἰποῖμ' ἂν ὅτι παρὰ ταῖς γυναῖξιν ἐστίν, ὥς παραλείψαιμ' αὐτόν κτλ. but if he was very desirous of eating, I would tell him that "he was with the women" until I had tortured him, etc. X. C. 1. 3. 11, ὀλοιο μήπω, πρὶν μάθοιμ' perish not yet . . . until I learn S. Ph. 961. But οὐκ ἂν ἀπέλθοιμ' πρὶν ἂν παντάπασιν ἡ ἀγορὰ λυθῇ I shall not be leaving until the gathering in the market-place is quite dispersed X. O. 12. 1.

c. Final and object clauses (rarely in prose, but occasionally after an optative of wish in poetry): πειρώμην (ἂν) μὴ πρόσω ὑμῶν εἶναι, ἵνα, εἰ ποὺ καρὸς εἴη, ἐπιφαιήην I will try to keep not far away from you, in order that, if there should be any occasion, I may show myself X. C. 2. 4. 17 (and five other cases in Xen.); ἴθωι ὅπως γένοιτο τῶνδ' ἐμοὶ λυτήριος may she come to prove my liberator from this affliction A. Eum. 297. Ordinarily the subjunctive or future indicative is retained, as ὁκοίην ἂν εἰς τὰ πλοῖα ἐμβάλειν ἃ Κύρος ἡμῖν δοίη μὴ ἡμᾶς . . . καταδύειν I should hesitate to embark on the vessels which Cyrus might give us lest he sink us X. A. 1. 8. 17, τεθναίην, δίκην ἐπιθεῖς τῷ ἀδικούντι, ἵνα μὴ ἐνθάδε μένω καταγέλαστος let me die, when I have punished him who has done me wrong, that I may not remain here a laughing-stock P. A. 28 d.

d. Indirect questions, when the direct question was a deliberative subjunctive: οὐκ ἂν ἔχῃς ἐξελθῶν δ τι χρῶς στανῶ if you should escape, you would not know what to do with yourself P. Cr. 45 b (= τί χρῶμαι;). But when a direct question or a direct quotation stood in the indicative, that mood is retained, as εἰ ἀποδαιχθῆι τιςαὶ χρῆ ἡγεῖσθαι τοῦ πλαισίου if it should be settled who must lead the square X. A. 8. 2. 36.

e. Very rarely in relative clauses of purpose (P. R. 578 e possibly); after ὥστε (X. C. 5. 6. 30), and in dependent statements with ὅτι or ὥς (X. C. 3. 1. 28).

f. Assimilation and non-assimilation may occur in the same sentence (E. Bacch. 1384 ff.)

2187. An optative referring to general past time in a general supposition usually assimilates the mood of a conditional relative or temporal clause depending on that optative.

ἔχαιεν ὅποτε τάχιστα τυχόντας ὧν δέοντο ἀποέμποι but he was wont to rejoice whenever he dismissed without delay his petitioners with their requests granted (lit. obtaining what they wanted) X. Ag. 9. 2. But the indicative may remain unassimilated, as ἐκάλει δὲ καὶ ἐτίμᾳ ὅποτε τινὰς ἴδοι τοιοῦτόν τι ποιήσαντας ὃ αὐτὸς ἐβούλετο ποιεῖν and he was wont to honour with an invitation any whom he saw practising anything that he himself wished them to do X. C. 2. 1. 30.

So when the optative refers to past time through dependence on a verb of past time, as προσκαλῶν τοὺς φίλους ἐσπουδαιολογεῖτο ὥς δηλοῖη οὓς τίμῃ summoning his friends he used to carry on a serious conversation with them in order to show whom he honoured X. A. 1. 9. 28 (here τίμῃ would be possible).

2188. Assimilation to the Subjunctive. — Conditional relative clauses and temporal clauses referring to future or general present time, if dependent on a subjunctive, take the subjunctive.

a. In reference to future time: τῶν πρᾶγμάτων τοὺς βουλευομένους (ἡγεῖσθαι δεῖ), ἐν' αὐτοῖς ἐκείνοις δοκῇ, ταῦτα πράττηται men of counsel must guide events in order that what they resolve shall be accomplished D. 4. 39.

b. In reference to general present time: οὐδ', ἐπειδὴν ὧν ἂν πρίηται κέρως γένηται, τῷ προδότη συμβούλῃ περὶ τῶν λοιπῶν ἔτι χρήται nor when he has become master of what he purchases, does he any longer employ the traitor to advise him concerning his plans for the future D. 18. 47. But the indicative may occur (D. 22. 22).

CLASSES OF SUBORDINATE CLAUSES

2189. Subordinate clauses are of three classes:

1. Substantival clauses: in which the subordinate clause plays the part of a substantive and is either the subject or the object: δῆλον ἦν | ὅτι ἐγγύς που βασιλεὺς ἦν it was plain that the king was somewhere hard by X. A. 2. 3. 6, οὐκ ἴστε | ὅ τι ποιεῖτε you do not know what you are doing 1. 5. 16.

2. Adjectival (attributive) clauses: in which the subordinate clause plays the part of an adjective, and contains a relative whose antecedent (expressed or implied) stands in the principal clause: λέγε δὴ τὴν ἐπιστολὴν | ἣν ἔπεμψε Φίλιππος come read the letter which Philip sent D. 18. 39 (= τὴν ὑπὸ Φιλίππου πεμφθεῖσαν).

3. Adverbial clauses: in which the subordinate clause plays the part of an adverb or adverbial expression modifying the principal clause in like manner as an adverb modifies a verb.

κραυγὴν πολλὴν ἐποιοῦν καλοῦντες ἀλλήλους, ὥστε καὶ τοὺς πολεμοὺς ἀκοεῖν they made a loud noise by calling each other so that even the enemy heard them X. A. 2. 2. 17 (here ὥστε . . . ἀκοεῖν may be regarded as having the force of an adverb: and in a manner audible even to the enemy); πῶς ἂν οὖν ὀρθῶς δικάσαιτε περὶ αὐτῶν; εἰ τοὺτους ἐάσετε τὸν νομιζόμενον ὄρκον διομοσαμένους κατηγορῆσαι κτλ. how then would you judge correctly about them? if you permit (i.e. by permitting) them to make their accusations after having sworn the customary oath, etc. Ant. 5. 90. Cp. 1095 end.

a. Some sentences may be classed both as substantival and adverbial, as clauses with ὥστε and ὅπως. An adverbial or adjectival clause may assume a substantival character (2247, 2488).

Complex sentences are considered in the following order: Adverbial, Adjectival, Substantival.

ADVERBIAL COMPLEX SENTENCES (2193-2487)

2191. In an adverbial complex sentence the subordinate clause denotes some one of the following adverbial relations: purpose (2193), cause (2240), result (2249), condition (2280), concession (2369), time (2383), comparison (2462).

2192. An adverbial sentence is introduced by a relative conjunction denoting purpose, cause, result, etc.

PURPOSE CLAUSES (FINAL CLAUSES)

2193. Final clauses denote purpose and are introduced by ἵνα, ὅπως, ὥς in order that, that (Lat. ut); negative ἵνα μῆ, ὅπως μῆ, ὥς μῆ, and μῆ alone, lest (Lat. ne).

a. Also by ἕφα, strictly while, until, in Epic and Lyric; and ἕως in Epic (2418). ἵνα is the chief final conjunction in Aristophanes, Herodotus, Plato, and the orators. It is the only purely final conjunction in that it does not limit the idea of purpose by the idea of time (like ἕφα and ἕως), or of manner (like ὅπως and ὥς); and therefore never takes ἀν (κέν), since the purpose is regarded as free from all conditions (2201 b). ὅπως is the chief final conjunction in Thucydides, and in Xenophon (slightly more common than ἵνα). ὥς often shows the original meaning in which way, how, as (cp. 2578, 2989). It is rare in prose, except in Xenophon, and does not occur on inscriptions; rare in Aristophanes, but common in tragedy, especially in Euripides. μῆ is very rare in prose, except in Xenophon and Plato (μῆ οὐ is very rare in Homer and in Attic: X. M. 2. 2. 14).

b. In order that no one is ἵνα (etc.) μηδείς or μῆ τις, in order that . . . never is ἵνα (etc.) μήποτε or μῆ ποτε, and in order that . . . not is μηδέ after μῆ.

2194. Final clauses were developed from original coördination.

θάπτε με ὅτι τάχιστα · πύλας Ἀΐδαο περὶσω bury me with all speed; let me pass the gates of Hades Ψ 71, where we have a sentence of will added without any connective; and (negative) ἀπόστιχε μῆ τι πόσην Ἥρη depart lest Hera observe aught A 522 (originally let Hera not observe anything, 1802). Even in Attic, where subordination is regular, the original form of coördination can be (theoretically) restored, as in καὶ σε πρὸς . . . θεῶν ἱκεύομαι μὴ προδοῖς ἡμᾶς γένη and I entreat thee by the gods | do not forsake us S. Aj. 588. We can no longer trace the original coördination with ἵνα and ὥς.

2195. A final clause stands in apposition to τούτου ἕνεκα or διὰ τοῦτο expressed or understood. Thus, ἐκκλησίαν τούτου ἕνεκα ξυνήγαγον ὅπως ὑπομνήσω I have convened an assembly for this reason that I may remind you T. 2. 60. Here τούτου ἕνεκα might be omitted.

2196. The verb of a final clause stands in the subjunctive after an introductory primary tense, in the optative (sometimes in the subjunctive, 2197) after a secondary tense.

γράφω ἵνα ἐκμάθῃς I write (on this account) that you may learn.

γράφω ἵνα μὴ ἐκμάθῃς I write (on this account) that you may not learn.

ἔγραφα ἵνα ἐκμάθοις (or ἐκμάθῃς) I wrote (on this account) that you might learn.

ἔγραφα ἵνα μὴ ἐκμάθοις (or ἐκμάθῃς) I wrote (on this account) that you might not learn.

κατάμενε ἵνα καὶ περὶ σοῦ βουλευσώμεθα remain behind that we may consider your case also X. A. 6. 28, βασιλεὺς αἰρεῖται οὐχ ἵνα ἑαυτοῦ καλῶς ἐπιμελήται, ἀλλ' ἵνα καὶ οἱ ἐδόμενοι δι' αὐτὸν εἰ πράττωσι a king is chosen, not that he may care for his own interest however nobly, but that those who choose him may prosper through him X. M. 3. 2. 3, παρακαλεῖς ἰατροὺς ὅπως μὴ ἀποθάνῃ you call in physicians in order that he may not die X. M. 2. 10. 2, φύλακας συμπέμπει (hist. pres., 1888) . . . ὅπως ἀπὸ τῶν δυσχωρίων φυλάττοιεν αὐτὸν he sent guards along in order that they might guard him from the rough parts of the country X. C. 1. 4. 7, καὶ ἅμα ταῦτ' εἰπὼν ἀνέστη ὥς μὴ μέλλοιτο ἀλλὰ περαινοίτο τὰ δεόντα and with these words on his lips he stood up in order that what was needful might not be delayed but be done at once X. A. 3. 1. 47, μὴ σπεῦδε πλουτεῖν μὴ ταχὺς πτῆν haste not to be rich lest thou soon become poor Men. Sent. 358. For the optative after an optative, see 2186 c.

2197. After a secondary tense, the subjunctive may be used in place of the optative.

a. In the narration of past events, the subjunctive sets forth a person's previous purpose in the form in which he conceived his purpose. Thus (τὰ πλοῖα) 'Ἀβροκόμης . . . κατέκαυσεν ἵνα μὴ Κύρος διαβῇ Abrocomas burned the boats in order that Cyrus might (may) not cross X. A. 1. 4. 18. Here the thought of A. was 'I will burn the boats that Cyrus may not cross' (ἵνα μὴ διαβῇ), and is given in a kind of quotation.

N.—Thucydides and Herodotus prefer this vivid subjunctive; the poets, Plato, and Xenophon, the optative. In Demosthenes, the subjunctive and optative are equally common.

b. When the purpose (or its effect) is represented as still continuing in the present. See the example in 2195. This use is closely connected with a.

c. After τί οὐ, τί οὖν οὐ, and the aorist indicative: τί οὖν οὐχὶ τὰ μὲν τεῖχη φυλακῇ ἐχυρὰ ἐποίησαμεν ὅπως ἂν (2201) σοι σά ᾗ κτλ.; why then do we not make your walls strong by a garrison that they may be safe for you, etc.? X. C. 5. 4. 37. Here the sentence with ἐποίησαμεν is practically equivalent to one with ποιεῖσμεν.

2199. After a secondary tense both subjunctive and optative may be used in the same sentence.

ναὺς οἱ Κορίνθιοι . . . ἐπλήρουν ὅπως ναυμαχίᾳ τε ἀποπειράσῃσι . . . , καὶ τὰς δολέδας αὐτῶν ἤτσον οἱ ἐν τῇ Ναυτάκτῃ Ἀθηναῖοι κωλύειν ἀπαίρειν the Corinthians manned . . . ships both to try a naval battle and that the Athenians at Naupactus might be less able to prevent their transports from putting out to sea T. 7. 17.

a. In some cases, especially when the subjunctive precedes, the subjunctive may express the immediate purpose, the realization of which is expected; while the optative expresses the less immediate purpose conceived as a consequence of the action of the subjunctive or as a mere possibility.

2200. The optative is very rare after a primary tense except when that tense implies a reference to the past as well as to the present.

αἰχνοῦνται ἵνα μὴ δοίεν δίκην they have gone away that they might not suffer punishment L. 20. 21. Here αἰχνοῦνται is practically equivalent to ἐφυγον, and the optative δοίεν shows that the purpose was conceived in the past. On the optative (without ἄν) by assimilation after an optative, see 2186 c.

2201. ὅπως with the subjunctive sometimes takes ἄν in positive clauses.

τοῦτ' αὐτὸ νῦν διδασχ', ὅπως ἂν ἐκμάθω tell me now this very thing, that I may learn S. O. C. 575, ἄξεις ἡμᾶς ὅπως ἂν εἰδῶμεν you will guide us in order that we may know X. C. 5. 2. 21.

a. ὥς and ὅπως with ἄν or κέ occur in poetry, especially in Homer. ὥς ἂν (first in Aeschylus) is very rare in Attic prose, but occurs eight times in Xenophon; as ὥς δ' ἂν μάθης . . . , ἀντάκουσον but that you may learn, hear me in turn X. A. 2. 5. 16. This use must not be confused with ὥς ἄν in conditional relative clauses (2565). — ὅπως ἂν is more common than simple ὅπως in Aristophanes and Plato, far less common in Xenophon. It is regular in official and legal language. — ἵνα ἂν is not final, but local (wherever, 2567). The original meaning of ἵνα was local and denoted the end to be reached.

b. ἄν (κέ) does not appreciably affect the meaning. Originally these particles seem to have had a limiting and conditional force (1762): ὥς ἄν in whatever way, that so (cp. so = in order that so) as in "Teach me to die that so I may Rise glorious at the awful day" (Bishop Ken), and cp. ὥς with ὅπως τρόπῳ in ἔκομην τὸ Πυθικὸν μαντεῖον. ὥς μάθοιμ' ὅπως τρόπῳ πατρὶ δίκας ἀπολύμην I came to the Pythian shrine that I might learn in what way I might avenge my father S. El. 33. With ὅπως ἄν cp. ἐάν πως. Both ὅπως and ὥς were originally relative adverbs denoting manner (how, cp. 2578), but when they became conjunctions (in order that), their limitation by ἄν ceased to be felt.

2202. ὥς ἂν and ὅπως ἂν with the optative occur very rarely in Attic prose (in Xenophon especially), and more frequently after secondary than after primary tenses.

έδωκε χρήματα Ἀνταλκίδῃ ὅπως ἂν πληρωθῆντος ναυτικοῦ . . . οἱ τε Ἀθηναῖοι . . . μάλλον τῆς εἰρήνης προσδέοντο he gave money to Antalcidas in order that, if a fleet were manned, the Athenians might be more disposed to peace X. H. 4. 8. 16. ὥς ἄν final must be distinguished from ὥς ἄν consecutive (2278).

a. Homer has a few cases of ὥς ἄν (κέ) and ὅπως ἄν (κέ); ἵνα κεν once (μ 156). Hdt. has ὥς ἄν, ὅπως ἄν rarely.

b. After primary tenses the optative with ἄν is certainly, after secondary tenses probably, potential. Its combination with the final conjunction produces a conditional relative clause in which the relative and interrogative force of ὅπως and ὥς comes to light. With ὅπως ἄν the final force is stronger than with ὥς ἄν. In the example quoted above, πληρωθέντος ναυτικοῦ represents the protasis (εἰ ναυτικὸν πληρωθείη) το ἄν προσδέονται.

2203. The future indicative is used, especially in poetry, after ὅπως (rarely after ὥς, ὅφρα, and μή) in the same sense as the subjunctive.

οὐδὲ δι' ἐν ἄλλο τρέφονται ἢ ὅπως μαχοῦνται nor are they maintained for any other single purpose than for fighting (lit. how they shall fight) X. C. 2. 1. 21, σίγαθ', ὅπως μὴ πεύσεται (fut.) τις . . . γλώσσης χάριν δὲ πάντ' ἀπαγγεῖλη (subj.) τάδε keep silence, lest some one hear and report all this for the sake of talk A. Ch. 265. In prose the future occurs with ὅπως in Xenophon and Andocides. This usage is an extension of that after verbs of effort (2211).

2204. The principal clause is sometimes omitted.

Ἦν' ἐκ τούτων ἀρξωμαι to begin with this D. 21. 43. ἵνα τί, originally to what end (cp. 946), and ὥς τί are also used colloquially: ἵνα τί ταῦτα λέγεις; why do you say this? P. A. 26 d.

2205. By assimilation of mood, final clauses may take a past tense of the indicative without ἄν (2185 c) or the optative without ἄν (2186 c.)

2206. Equivalent of a Final Clause.—The common methods of expressing purpose may be illustrated by the translations (in Attic) of they sent a herald to announce:

ἔπεμψαν κήρυκα ἵνα (ὅπως) ἀπαγγέλλοιτο (2196).

ἔπεμψαν κήρυκα ὅστις (ὅς) ἀπαγγελεῖται (2554).

ἔπεμψαν κήρυκα ἀπαγγελοῦντα (2065), ἀπαγγέλλοντα (rare, 2065).

ἔπεμψαν κήρυκα ὥς ἀπαγγελοῦντα (2086 c).

ἔπεμψαν κήρυκα ἀπαγγέλλειν (rare in prose, 2009).

ἔπεμψαν κήρυκα τοῦ ἀπαγγέλλειν (2032 e, often in Thucydides).

ἔπεμψαν κήρυκα ὑπὲρ (ἐνεκα) τοῦ ἀπαγγέλλειν (2032 g).

For ὥστε denoting an intended result, see 2267.

OBJECT CLAUSES

2207. Two types of object (substantival) clauses are closely connected in construction with final clauses.

1. Object clauses after verbs of effort.

2. Object clauses after verbs of fearing.

Both stand in apposition to a demonstrative expressed or implied.

οὐδένα δεῖ τοῦτο μηχανᾶσθαι, ὅπως ἀποφεύξεται πᾶν ποιῶν θάνατον πο μακ ουχὶ to contrive (this) how he shall escape death at any cost P. A. 39 a, μηχανᾶσθαι ὅπως τὸ σῶμα . . . κομεῖ to contrive how he might bring home the body Hdt. 2. 121 γ, αὐτὸ τοῦτο φοβέσθαι, μὴ . . . οὐ δυνηθῶ δηλώσαι περὶ τῶν πρᾶγμάτων I am afraid of this very thing, namely, that I may not be able to make the case plain D. 41. 2, ἐφοβέιτο . . . μὴ οὐ δύναίτο . . . ἐξελθεῖν he was afraid that he could not escape X. A. 3. 1. 12.

2208. Connection of Final with Object Clauses. — (1) Final clauses proper denote a purpose to accomplish or avert a result, which purpose is set forth in a definite action. (2) Object clauses after verbs of effort consider means to accomplish or avert a result; the action of the subordinate clause is the object purposed. Such clauses are incomplete final clauses, because, though the purpose is expressed, the action taken to effect the purpose is not expressed. (3) Object clauses after verbs of fearing deprecate an undesired result or express fear that a desired result may not be accomplished. According to the form of expression employed, the construction of these three kinds of clauses may differ in varying degree or be identical. Thus compare these usages of Attic prose:

- (1) παρακαλεῖ λατρὸν ὅπως μὴ ἀποθάνῃ (common) παρακαλεῖ λατρὸν ὅπως μὴ ἀποθανεῖται (occasionally) παρακαλεῖ λατρὸν μὴ ἀποθάνῃ (rare)
he summons a physician in order that he may not die.
- (2) ἐπιμελεῖται ὅπως μὴ ἀποθανεῖται (common) ἐπιμελεῖται ὅπως μὴ ἀποθάνῃ (occasionally)
he takes care that he shall not die.
 ὁρᾷ μὴ ἀποθάνῃς (occasionally) see to it that you do not die.
- (3) φοβεῖται μὴ ἀποθάνῃ (common) φοβεῖται ὅπως μὴ ἀποθάνῃ (occasionally) φοβεῖται ὅπως μὴ ἀποθανεῖται (occasionally)
he is afraid lest he die.

OBJECT CLAUSES AFTER VERBS OF EFFORT

2209. Object clauses after verbs of effort are introduced by ὅπως, rarely by ὥς (Herodotus, Xenophon), scarcely ever by ἵνα. The negative is μὴ.

2210. Verbs of effort include verbs denoting to take care or pains, to strive.

ἐπιμελεῖσθαι, μέλει μοι, μελετᾷ, φρονεῖν, πρόνοιαν ἔχει, βουλευόμεναι, μηχανάμεναι, παρασκευάζομαι, προθυμοῦμαι, πράττω, πάντα ποιεῖν (ποιεῖσθαι), σπουδάζω, etc.

a. The same construction follows certain verbs of will signifying to ask, command, entreat, exhort, and forbid, and which commonly take the infinitive (αἰτῶ, εἰσμαι, παραγγέλλω, ἱκετεύω, δια- or παρακλείομαι, ἀπαγορεύω, etc.).

b. Some verbs take, by analogy, but in negative clauses only, the construction either of verbs of effort or of verbs of fearing. These verbs signify to see to a thing: ὁρᾷ, σκοπεῖν (-εῖσθαι), ἐσκειψάμην, σκεπτέον ἐστὶ τῇ τῇ; to be on one's guard: ἐλλαβεῖσθαι, φρονεῖν, φυλάττω (-ομαι). See 2220.

These verbs may take μή with the infinitive. εὐλαβοῦμαι and φυλάττομαι take the infinitive when they mean to guard against doing something.

2211. Object clauses after verbs of effort take the future indicative with ὅπως after primary and secondary tenses (rarely the optative after secondary tenses, 2212).

ἐπιμελοῦμαι ὅπως ταῦτα ποιήσει I take care that he shall do this.

ἐπιμελοῦμαι ὅπως μὴ ταῦτα ποιήσει I take care that he shall not do this.

ἐπεμελούμην ὅπως ταῦτα ποιήσει (ποιήσοι) I took care that he should do this.

ἐπεμελούμην ὅπως μὴ ταῦτα ποιήσει (ποιήσοι) I took care that he should not do this.

εἰ ἀνάγκη ἐστὶ μάχεσθαι, τοῦτο δεῖ παρασκευάσασθαι ὅπως ὡς κράτιστα μαχομένῃ if it is necessary to fight, we must prepare to fight bravely X. A. 4. 6. 10, ἐπῶσεν ὅπως τις βοήθεια ἔξει they were manaying (this, that) how some reinforcements should come T. 3. 4, σκοπεῖσθε τοῦτο, ὅπως μὴ λόγους ἐροῦσιν μόνον . . . ἀλλὰ καὶ ἔργον τι δεικνύειν ἔξουσιν see to this, that they not only make speeches but also are able to show some proof D. 2. 12, σκεπτέον μοι δοκεῖ εἶναι . . . ὅπως ὡς ἀσφαλέστατα ἄπιμεν (774) καὶ ὅπως τὰ ἐπιτήδεια ἔχομεν it seems to me that we must consider how we shall depart in the greatest security and how we shall procure our provisions X. A. 1. 3. 11. In δεῖ σε ὅπως δειξεῖς it is needful that thou prove S. Aj. 556 there is a confusion between δεῖ δεῖξαι and the construction of 2213.

2212 After secondary tenses the future optative occasionally occurs.

ἐπεμελετο ὅπως μήτε ἄσπιτοι μήτε ἀποτοὶ ποτε ἔσονται he took care that they should never be without food or drink X. C. 8. 1. 43.

a. The future optative occurs especially in Xenophon, and represents a thought that was originally expressed by the future indicative. Here the indicative would present the thought vividly, i.e. as it was conceived in the mind of the subject.

2213. ὅπως and ὅπως μὴ with the future indicative may be used without any principal clause, to denote an urgent exhortation or a warning. Originally the ὅπως clause depended on σκοπεῖν (σκοπεῖτε), ὁρᾶ (ὁρᾶτε) see to it; but the ellipsis was gradually forgotten and the construction used independently.

ὅπως οὖν ἔσσεσθε ἄνδρες ἀξιοὶ τῆς ἐλευθερίας ἣς κέκτησθε be men worthy of the freedom which you possess X. A. 1. 7. 3, ὅπως δὲ τοῦτο μὴ διδάξεις μηδένα but don't tell anybody this Ar. Nub. 824, and very often in Ar. This use is also preceded by ἄγε (X. S. 4. 20). The third person is very rare (L. 1. 21).

2214. Verbs of effort sometimes have the construction of final clauses, and take, though less often, ὅπως with the present or second aorist subjunctive or optative (cp. 2196). The subjunctive may be used after secondary tenses.

ἐπῶσεν . . . ὅπως πόλεμος γένηται he tried to bring it about that war should be occasioned T. 1. 57, ὅρα . . . ὅπως μὴ παρὰ δόξαν ὁμολογῇς see to it that it does not prove that you acquiesce in what you do not really think P. Cr. 49 c, οὐ φυλάξεσθ' ὅπως μὴ . . . δεσπότην εὕρητε; will you not be on your guard lest you find a master? D. 6. 25. Future and subjunctive occur together in X. A. 4. 6. 10. In Xenophon alone is the subjunctive (and optative) more common than the future.

a. The object desired by the subject of a verb of effort is here expressed by the same construction as is the purpose in the mind of the subject of a final clause.

2215. ἄν is sometimes added to ὅπως with the subjunctive to denote that the purpose is dependent on certain circumstances.

ὅπως ἄν . . . οἱ στρατιῶται περὶ τοῦ στρατεύεσθαι βουλευώνται, τούτου πειράσσομαι ἐπεμελεσθαι I will endeavour to make it my care that the soldiers deliberate about continuing the war X. C. 5. 5. 48, μηχανητέον ὅπως ἄν διαφύγῃ plans must be made for his escape P. G. 481 a (the same passage has ὅπως with the subjunctive and the future). In Attic this use occurs in Aristophanes, Xenophon, and Plato.

2216. ὥς and ὡς ἄν with subjunctive and optative and ὅπως ἄν with the optative occur in Xenophon, ὥς ἄν and ὅπως ἄν with the optative being used after primary and secondary tenses. Hdt. has ὅπως ἄν after secondary tenses. The optative with ὥς ἄν and ὅπως ἄν is potential.

2218. Verbs of will or desire signifying to ask, command, entreat, exhort, and forbid, which usually have an infinitive as their object, may take ὅπως (ὅπως μὴ) with the future indicative (or optative) or the subjunctive (or optative). The ὅπως clause states both the command, etc. and the purpose in giving it. Between take care to do this and I bid you take care to do this the connection is close. Cp. impero, postulo with ut (ne).

διακελεύονται ὅπως τιμωρήσεται they urge him to take revenge P. R. 549 e, δεήσειται δ' ἑμῶν ὅπως . . . δίκην μὴ δῶ he will entreat you that he may not suffer punishment Ant. 1. 23, παραγγέλλουσιν ὅπως ἄν (2215) τῇδε τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τελευτήσῃ they give orders (to the end) that he die to-day P. Ph. 59 e, Λακεδαιμονίων ἐδέοντο τὸ ψήφισμ' ὅπως μεταστραφείη they begged the Lacedaemonians that the decree might be changed Ar. Ach. 536, ἀπηγόρευες ὅπως μὴ τοῦτο ἀποκρινοίμην you forbade me to give this answer P. R. 339 a.

2219. Dawes' Canon. — The rule formulated by Dawes and afterwards extended (that the first aorist subjunctive active and middle after ὅπως, ὅπως μὴ, and οὐ μὴ is incorrect and should be emended) is applicable only in the case of verbs of effort. After these verbs the future is far more common than subjunctive or optative (except in Xenophon), and some scholars would emend the offending sigmatic subjunctives where they occur in the same sentence with second aorists (as And. 3. 14) or even where the future has a widely different form (as ἐκπλευσείται, subj. ἐκπλεύσῃ, cp. X. A. 5. 6. 21).

VERBS OF CAUTION

2220. Verbs of caution (2210 b, 2224 a) have, in negative clauses, the construction either of

a. Verbs of effort, and take ὅπως μή with the future indicative:

ἐυλαβούμενοι ὅπως μή . . . οἰχίσσονται taking care that I do not depart P. Ph. 91 c, δρᾷ ὅπως μή σευ ἀποστήσονται beware lest they revolt from thee Hdt. 3. 36.

b. Verbs of fearing, and take μή (μή οὐ) or ὅπως μή (2230) with the subjunctive (or optative):

ὁρᾶτε μή πάθωμεν take care lest we suffer X. C. 4. 1. 15, φυλάττων ὅπως μή . . . εἰς τοῦναντίον ἔλθῃς be on your guard lest you come to the opposite X. M. 3. 6. 16, ὑποπτεύομεν . . . ὑμᾶς μή οὐ κοινοὶ ἀποβῇτε we suspect that you will not prove impartial T. 3. 53, ὑποπτεύσας μή τὴν θυγατέρα λέγοι, ἤρετο κτλ. suspecting that he meant his daughter, he asked, etc. X. C. 5. 2. 9. So with a past indicative (2233).

OBJECT CLAUSES WITH VERBS OF FEARING

2221. Object clauses after verbs of fear and caution are introduced by μή that, lest (Lat. ne), μή οὐ that . . . not, lest . . . not (Lat. ut = ne non).

a. μή clauses denote a fear that something may or might happen; μή οὐ clauses denote a fear that something may not or might not happen. Observe that the verb is negated by οὐ and not by μή, which expresses an apprehension that the result will take place. μή is sometimes, for convenience, translated by whether; but it is not an indirect interrogative in such cases.

2222. The construction of μή after verbs of fearing has been developed from an earlier coördinate construction in which μή was not a conjunction (that, lest) but a prohibitive particle. Thus, δίδω μὴ τι πάθῃσι (A 470) I fear lest he may suffer aught was developed from I fear + may he not suffer aught (1802); φυλακή δέ τις . . . ἔστω, μὴ λόχος εἰσέλθῃσι πόλιν (Θ 521) but let there be a guard, lest an ambush enter the city, where the clause μὴ — εἰσέλθῃσι meant originally may an ambush not enter. Here μή expresses the desire to avert something (negative desire).

a. When μή had become a pure conjunction of subordination, it was used even with the indicative and with the optative with ἄν. Some scholars regard μή with the indicative as standing for ἄρα μή (hence an indirect interrogative). Observe that the character of μή after verbs of fearing is different from that in final clauses, though the construction is the same in both cases.

2223. For the use of the subjunctive, without a verb of fearing, with μή, see 1801, 1802; with μή οὐ see 1801, with οὐ μή see 1804.

2224. Verbs and expressions of fear are: φοβέσθαι, δέδοικα or δέδια, ταρβῶ, τράω and πέφρικα (mostly poetical); δεινός εἰμι, δεινὸν ἔστω, δέος ἔστί, φοβερός εἰμι, φοβερόν ἔστω, etc.

a. Sometimes it is not actual fear that is expressed but only apprehension, anxiety, suspicion, etc. These are the verbs and expressions of caution: ἐκνῶ, ἀθυμῶ, ἀπιστῶ, ἀπιστῖν ἔχω (παρέχω), ὑποπτέω, ἐνθυμούμαι, αἰσχένομαι (rare), κινδυνῶς ἐστὶ, προσδοκῆς ἐστὶ. Here belong also, by analogy, ὀρῶ, σκοπῶ, ἐννοῶ, εὐλαβοῦμαι, φροντίζω, φυλάττω (-ομαι), which admit also the construction of verbs of effort (2210 b).

1. FEAR RELATING TO THE FUTURE

2225. Object clauses after verbs of fear and caution take the subjunctive after primary tenses, the optative (or subjunctive, 2226) after secondary tenses.

φοβοῦμαι μὴ γένηται I fear it may happen.

φοβοῦμαι μὴ οὐ γένηται I fear it may not happen.

ἐφοβούμην μὴ γένοιτο (or γένηται) I feared it might happen.

ἐφοβούμην μὴ οὐ γένοιτο (regularly γένηται) I feared it might not happen.

δέδοικα μὴ . . . ἐπιλαθώμεθα τῆς οἰκαδὲ ὁδοῦ I am afraid lest we may forget the way home X. A. 3. 2. 25, φοβεῖται μὴ . . . τὰ ἔσχατα πάθῃ he is afraid lest he suffer the severest punishment X. C. 3. 1. 22, φροντίζω μὴ κράτιστον ᾗ μοι σίγῃν I am thinking that it may prove (2228) best for me to be silent X. M. 4. 2. 39, ἔδεισαν οἱ Ἕλληνες μὴ προσάγοιεν πρὸς τὸ κέρας καὶ . . . αὐτοὺς κατακόψειαν the Greeks were seized with fear lest they might advance against their flank and cut them down X. A. 1. 10. 9, δέδιμεν μὴ οὐ βέβαιοι ᾗτε we fear you are not to be depended on T. 3. 57, οὐ τοῦτο δέδοικα, μὴ οὐκ ἔχω ὃ τι δῶ ἐκάστω τῶν φίλων . . . ἀλλὰ μὴ οὐκ ἔχω ἱκανοὺς οἷς δῶ I am afraid not that I may not have enough (lit. anything) to give to each of my friends, but that I may not have enough friends on whom to bestow my gifts X. A. 1. 7. 7.

a. The aorist is very common after μὴ. After secondary tenses Hom. usually has the optative.

b. μὴ οὐ with the optative is rare and suspicious (X. A. 3. 5. 3).

2226. After secondary tenses, the subjunctive presents the fear vividly, i.e. as it was conceived by the subject. Cp. 2197.

ἐφοβούντο μὴ τι πάθῃ they feared lest she might (may) meet with some accident X. S. 2. 11, ἐφοβήθησαν μὴ καὶ ἐπὶ σφᾶς ὁ στρατὸς χωρήσῃ they became fearful that the army might (may) advance against themselves too T. 2. 101. So when the fear extends up to the present time: ἐφοβήθη . . . καὶ νῦν τεθορβήμαι μὴ τιμὴ ἡμῶν ἀγνοήσωσί με I was struck with fear and even now I am in a state of agitation lest some of you may disregard me Aes. 2. 4. The vivid use of subjunctive is common in the historians, especially Thucydides.

2227. The optative after a primary tense is rare and suspected (I 245, Hdt. 7. 103, S. Aj. 279).

2228. The subjunctive and optative after μὴ (or ὅπως μὴ) may denote what may prove to be an object of fear (future ascertainment).

δέδοικα μὴ ἀριστον ᾗ I am afraid lest it prove to be best S. Ant. 1114, ἔδεισαν μὴ λόττα τις . . . ἡμῖν ἐμπεπτόκοι they feared lest some madness might prove to have fallen upon us X. A. 5. 7. 26. The aorist subjunctive refers to the past in δειδοικα . . . μή σε παρείκη I fear it may prove that she beguiled thee A 555; cp K 99, v 216, ω 491 (after ὁρῶ).

2229. The future is rare with verbs of fearing after μή.

φοβοῦμαι δὲ μή τινας ἡδονὰς ἡδοναῖς ἐνάντιάν and I apprehend that we shall find some pleasures opposite to other pleasures P. Phil. 13 a. So with verbs of caution: δρᾷ μή πολλῶν ἐκάστω ἡμῶν χειρῶν δεήσει see to it lest each one of us may have need of many hands X. C. 4. 1. 18.

a. The future optative seems not to occur except in X. H. 6. 4. 27, X. M. 1. 2. 7, P. Euth. 15 d.

2230. ὅπως μή with the subjunctive or optative is sometimes used instead of μή after verbs of fear and caution to imply fear that something will happen.

οὐ φοβεῖ . . . ὅπως μή ἀνόσιον πράγμα τυγχάνης πράττων; are you not afraid that you may chance to be doing an unholy deed? P. Euth. 4 e, ἡδέως γ' ἂν (θρήψαιμι τὸν ἄνδρα), εἰ μή φοβοίμην ὅπως μή ἐπ' αὐτόν με τράποιτο I should gladly keep the man if I did not fear lest he might turn against me X. M. 2. 9. 3; see also 2220 b.

2231. ὅπως μή with the future indicative (as after verbs of effort) is sometimes used instead of μή with the subjunctive.

δέδοικα ὅπως μή . . . ἀνάγκη γενήσεται (v. l. γένηται) I fear lest a necessity may arise D. 9. 75. The future optative occurs once (I. 17. 22). On μή or ὅπως μή with verbs of caution, see 2220 a.

2232. The potential optative with ἂν is rarely used after μή.

δεδιότες μή καταλυθεῖν ἂν (Mss. καταλυθείσαν) ὁ δῆμος fearful lest the people should be put down L. 13. 51. The potential use is most evident when an optative occurs in the protasis: εἰ δὲ τινες φοβοῦνται μή καταλᾶ ἂν γένοιτο αὕτη ἡ κατασκευή, εἰ πόλεμος ἐγερθεῖν, ἐννοησάτω οὗτοι κτλ. if some are afraid that this condition of things may prove vain, if war should arise, let them (him) consider that, etc. X. Vect. 4. 41.

II. FEAR RELATING TO THE PRESENT OR PAST

2233. Fear that something actually is or was is expressed by μή with the indicative (negative μή οὐ).

δέδοικα . . . μή πληγῶν δέει I fear that you need a beating Ar. Nub. 493, ἀλλ' ὁρᾷ μὴ παῖζων ἔλεγεν but have a care that he was not speaking in jest P. Th. 145 b. φοβούμεθα μή ἀμφοτέρων ἅμα ἡμαρτήκαμεν we are afraid that we have failed of both objects at once T. 3. 53, ὁρᾶτε μή οὐκ ἐμοί . . . προσήκει λόγον δοῦναι have a care lest it does not rest with me to give an account And. 1. 103.

a. Contrast φοβοῦμαι μή ἀληθὲς ἐστίν I fear that it is true with φοβοῦμαι μή ἀληθὲς ᾗ I fear it may prove true (2228).

b. The aorist occurs in Homer: δεῖδω μή δὴ πάντα θεὰ νημερτέα εἶπεν I fear that all the goddess said was true ε 300.

OTHER CONSTRUCTIONS WITH VERBS OF FEARING

2234. In Indirect Questions. — Here the ideas of fear and doubt are joined. Thus, φόβος εἰ πείσω δέσποιναν ἐμὴν (direct πείσω; 1916) I have my doubts whether I shall (can) persuade my mistress E. Med. 181, τὴν θεὸν δ' ὅπως λάθω δέδοικα (direct πῶς λάθω; 1805) I am fearful how I shall escape the notice of the goddess E. I. T. 995, δέδοικα ὅτι ἀποκρινοῦμαι I am afraid what to answer P. Th. 195 c.

2235. In Indirect Discourse with ὥς (rarely ὅπως) that. — Verbs of fearing may have the construction of verbs of thinking and be followed by a dependent statement. This occurs regularly only when the expression of fear is negated. Thus, ἀνδρὸς δὲ τῇ θυγατρὶ μὴ φοβοῦ ὥς ἀπορήσεις do not fear that you will be at a loss for a husband for your daughter X. C. 5. 2. 12. Here μὴ or ὅπως μὴ would be regular. With ὥς the idea is fear, thinking that.

2237. With a Causal Participle. — οὕτε τὴν ἀκρόπολιν . . . προδιδὸς ἐφοβήθη nor was he terrified at having betrayed the Acropolis Lyc. 17.

2238. With the Infinitive. — Verbs of fearing often take an object infinitive (present, future or aorist) with or without the article; and with or without μὴ (2741). Thus, φοβήσεται ἀδικεῖν he will be afraid to injure X. C. 8. 7. 15, οὐ φοβούμεθα ἐλασσώσασθαι we are not afraid that we shall be beaten T. 6. 105 (the future infinitive is less common than μὴ with the subjunctive), φυλαττέμενος τὸ λυπήσαι τινα (= μὴ λυπήσω) taking care to offend no one D. 18. 258, ἐφυλάξατο μὴ ἀπιστος γενέσθαι he took precautions not to become an object of distrust X. Ag. 8. 5.

a. With the articular infinitive, φοβοῦμαι, etc. means simply I fear; with the infinitive without the article, φοβοῦμαι commonly has the force of hesitate, feel repugnance, etc. Cp. φοβοῦμαι ἀδικεῖν and φοβοῦμαι μὴ ἀδικεῖν; I fear to do wrong (and do not do it); I fear wrong-doing (in general, by myself or by another), like φοβοῦμαι τὴν ἀδικίαν.

2239. With ὥστε of Result (after a verb of caution). — ἦν οὖν ἐλθωμεν ἐπ' αὐτοὺς πρὶν φυλάξασθαι ὥστε μὴ ληφθῆναι if then we move against them before they take precautions (so as) not to be caught X. A. 7. 3. 35.

CAUSAL CLAUSES

2240. Causal clauses are introduced by ὅτι, διότι, διόπερ because, ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδὴ, ὅτε, ὁπότε since, ὥς as, since, because. The negative is οὐ.

a. Also by poetic οὐνεκα (= οὐ ἔνεκα) and ὁθόνεκα (= ὅθου ἔνεκα) because, εἴτε since (poetic and Ionic; also temporal), and by ὅπου since (Hdt. 1. 68, X. C. 8. 4. 31, I. 4. 186). Homer has ὅ or ὅτι because.

b. ὥς frequently denotes a reason imagined to be true by the principal subject and treated by him as a fact (2241). ὅτι often follows διὰ τοῦτο, διὰ τὸδε, ἐκ τούτου, τούτῳ. Διότι stands for διὰ τοῦτο, ὅτι. ὅτε and ὁπότε usually mean when (cp. cum); as causal conjunctions they are rare, as ὅτε τοίνυν τοῦθ' οὕτως ἔχει since then this is the case, D. 1. 1, χαλεπὰ . . . τὰ παρόντα ὁπότ' ἀνδρῶν στρατηγῶν τοιούτων στερόμεθα the present state of affairs is difficult since we are deprived of such generals X. A. 3. 2. 2. Causal ὅτε, temporal ὅτε rarely, can begin a sentence. When they approach the meaning if, ὅτε and ὅποτε take μή. In Attic prose inscriptions ἐπεὶ is rare, διότι does not occur, and ὥν ἕνεκα is generally used for διόπερ.

2241. Causal clauses denoting a fact regularly take the indicative after primary and secondary tenses.

ἐπεὶ δὲ ὑμεῖς οὐ βούλεσθε συμπορεύεσθαι, ἀνάγκη δὲ μοι ἢ ὑμᾶς προδόντα τῇ Κίρῳ φίλῳ χρῆσθαι κτλ. but since you do not wish to continue the march with me, I must either retain the friendship of Cyrus by renouncing you, etc. X. A. 1. 3. 5, ὁ δ' ἐρήλωσας ἡμᾶς ὡς τοὺς μὲν φίλους . . . εὖ ποιεῖν δυνάμεθα . . . , οὐδὲ ταῦθ' οὕτως ἔχει but as to that which has excited your envy of us, our supposed ability (lit. because, as you think, we are able) to benefit our friends, not even is this so X. H. 6. 12, ἐτύγχανε γὰρ ἐφ' ἀμάξης πορευόμενος διότι ἐτέρωτο for he happened to be riding on a wagon from the fact that he had been wounded X. A. 2. 2. 14.

2242. But causal clauses denoting an alleged or reported reason (implied indirect discourse, 2622) take the optative after secondary tenses.

(οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι) τὸν Περικλέα ἐκάκισον ὅτι στρατηγὸς ὢν οὐκ ἐπεξάγει the Athenians reviled Pericles on the ground that, though he was general, he did not lead them out T. 2. 21, εἶχε λέγειν . . . ὡς Λακεδαιμόνιοι διὰ τοῦτο πολεμήσειαν αὐτοῖς ὅτι οὐκ ἐβελήσανεν μετ' Ἀγησιλάου ἐλθεῖν ἐπ' αὐτόν Pelopidas was able to say that the Lacedaemonians had made war upon them (the Thebans) for the reason that they had not been willing to march against him (the King of Persia) with Agesilaus X. H. 7. 1. 34.

ἐπεὶ διὰ γ' ὑμᾶς αὐτοὺς πάλαι ἂν ἀπολώλπειτε since you would long ago have perished had it depended on yourselves D. 18. 49, δέομαι οὖν σου παραμείναι ἡμῖν· ὡς ἐγὼ οὐδ' ἂν ἐνὸς ἡδίου ἀκούσαιμι ἢ σοῦ accordingly I beg you to stay with us; because there is no one (in my opinion) to whom I should more gladly listen than to you P. Pr. 335 d.

2244. ἐπεὶ may introduce a coördinate command (imperative S. El. 352, potential optative, P. G. 474 b), wish (S. O. T. 661), or question (S. O. T. 390). Cp. the use of ὥστε, 2275. Sometimes, with the indicative, ἐπεὶ has the force of although (P. S. 187 a). — A causal clause may have the value of γὰρ with a coördinate main clause. So often in tragedy with ὥς in answers (S. Aj. 39; cp. X. C. 4. 2. 25). — A clause with ὅτε, apparently introducing a consequence, may give the reason for a preceding question (Δ 32).

2245. Cause may also be expressed by a relative clause (2555), by a participle (2064, 2085, 2086), by τῷ or διὰ τὸ with the infinitive (2033, 2034 b).

2246. εἰ or εἴπερ, when it expresses the real opinion of the writer or speaker, may have a causal force, as ἐγὼ . . . ἡδομαι μὲν ὑφ' ὑμῶν τιμώμενος, εἴπερ ἄνθρωπός εἰμι I am pleased at being honoured by you, since (lit. if indeed) I am a man X. A. 6. 1. 26.

2247. Many verbs of emotion state the cause more delicately with εἰ (εἰάν) if as a mere supposition than by ὅτι. The negative is μή or οὐ.

a. So with ἀγανακτῶ am indignant, ἀγαμαι am content, αἰσχρὸν ἐστὶ it is a shame, αἰσχύνομαι am ashamed, ἐχθομαι take hard, δαινόν ἐστι it is a shame, δεινὸν ποιεῖσθαι am indignant, θαυμάζω am astonished, μέμφομαι blame, φθονῶ am jealous, etc. The if clause is usually indicative, sometimes an unreal indicative, a subjunctive, or a potential optative. Thus, θαυμάζω εἰ μὴ βοηθήσετε ὑμῖν αὐτοῖς I am surprised if you will not help yourselves X. H. 2. 3. 53, ἀγανακτῶ ἐὼς ὅτε μὴ οἴδῃς τ' εἰμι εἰπεῖν I am grieved that I am thus unable to say what I mean P. Lach. 194 a, δεινὸν ποιούμενοι εἰ τοὺς ἐπιβουλεύοντας σφῶν τῷ πλήθει μὴ εἰδέναι indignant that they could not discover those who were plotting against their commons T. 6. 60, ἀτοκον ἂν εἴη, εἰ μὴδὲν μὲν ἐμοῦ λέγοντος αὐτοὶ βοᾶτε τὴν ἐκωνυμίαν τῶν ἔργων . . . , ἐμοῦ δὲ λέγοντος ἐπιλέλησθε, καὶ μὴ γενομένης μὲν κρίσεως περὶ τοῦ πράγματος ἦλθ' ἂν, γεγονότος δὲ ἐλέγχου ἀποφεύγεται it would be absurd if, when I say nothing, you shout out the name of what he has done, but when I do speak, you forget it; and absurd if, while he should have been condemned when no investigation was instituted concerning the matter, he should yet get off now when the proof has been given Aes. 1. 85 (cp. 2904 b), μὴ θαυμάζετε δ' ἂν τι φαίνομαι λέγων do not be surprised if I seem to say something I. Ep. 6. 7, τέρας λέγεις, εἰ . . . οὐκ ἂν δόναυτο λαθεῖν it is a marvel you are telling if they could be undetected P. Men. 91 d.

b. After a past tense we have either the form of direct discourse or the optative, as in indirect discourse. Thus, ἐθαύμαζον εἰ τι ἔξει τις χρήσασθαι τῷ λόγῳ αὐτοῦ I kept wondering if any one could deal with his theory P. Ph. 95 a, ἐπεῖπεν . . . ὡς δεινὸν εἴη εἰ ὁ μὲν . . . Ξανθίας ὑποκρινόμενος οὕτως . . . μεγαλόψυχος γένοιτο he added that it was a shame if a man who played the rôle of Xanthias should prove himself so noble minded Aes. 2. 157, ἔκτιπον εἰ ἀλώσειντο they pitied them in case they should be captured X. A. 1. 4. 7 (cp. 2622 a). Sometimes the construction used after a primary tense is retained after a secondary tense (X. C. 4. 3. 3).

2248. These verbs admit also the construction with ὅτι.

μὴ θαυμάζετε ὅτι χαλεπῶς φέρω do not be surprised that I take it hard X. A. 1. 3. 3, ἐθαύμαζον ὅτι Κύρος οὔτε ἄλλον πέμπει . . . οὔτε αὐτὸς φαίνοιτο (implied indirect discourse) they were surprised that Cyrus neither sent some one else nor appeared himself 2. 1. 2, ἡκομεν ἀγαπῶντες ὅτι τὰ σώματα διεσωσάμεθα we have reached here, content that we have saved our lives 5. 5. 13. The construction with ἐπὶ τῷ and the infinitive (2033 b) also occurs: (Σωκράτης) ἐθαυμάζετο ἐπὶ τῷ . . . εὐκόλως ζῆν Socrates was admired because he lived contentedly X. M. 4. 8. 2.

a. ὅτι after verbs of emotion really means that, not because.

RESULT CLAUSES (CONSECUTIVE CLAUSES)

2249. A clause of result denotes a consequence of what is stated in the principal clause.

2250. Result clauses are introduced by the relative word ὥστε (rarely by ὥς) as, that, so that. In the principal clause the demonstrative words οὕτως thus, τοιοῦτος such, τοσούτος so great, are often expressed. ὥστε is from ὥς and the connective τέ, which has lost its meaning.

a. To a clause with οὕτως, etc. Herodotus sometimes adds a clause either with τέ or without a connective, where Attic would employ ὥστε; cp. 3.12.

2251. There are two main forms of result clauses: ὥστε with the infinitive and ὥστε with a finite verb. With the infinitive, the negative is generally μή; with a finite verb, οὐ. On the use in indirect discourse and on irregularities, see 2759.

2252. Consecutive ὥς occurs almost always with the infinitive (chiefly in Herodotus, Xenophon, Aeschylus, and Sophocles); with a finite verb occasionally in Herodotus and Xenophon. With the infinitive, the orators and Thucydides (except 7.34) have ὥστε.

2253. Consecutive ὥστε (ὥς) with a finite verb does not occur in Homer, who uses coördination instead (cp. δέ in A 10). Two cases of ὥς τε occur with the infinitive (I 42; γ 21 may mean and so), where the infinitive might stand alone, since Homer uses the infinitive to denote an intended or possible result.

2254. A clause with ὥστε and the infinitive is merely added to the clause containing the main thought in order to explain it. The consequence is stated without any distinction of time and only with difference of stage of action.

a. Since the infinitive expresses merely the abstract verbal idea, its use with ὥστε (as with πρὶν) outside of indirect discourse cannot explicitly denote a fact. By its datival nature (1969), the infinitive is simply a complement to, or explanation of, the governing word. ὥστε is one of the means to reinforce this explanatory office of the infinitive. The origin of its use is suggested by the comparison with ἕως sufficient for, οὗς capable of (2003) and the infinitive, which was not originally dependent on these words.

2255. A clause with ὥστε and a finite verb contains the main thought, and is often so loosely connected with the leading verb as to be practically independent and coördinate. ὥστε may thus be simply introductory and take any construction found in an independent sentence. The consequence expresses distinctions of time and stage of action.

2256. Result may also be expressed by relative clauses (2556).

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN ὥστε WITH THE INDICATIVE AND ὥστε WITH THE INFINITIVE

2257. A clause of result with ὥστε stating that something actually occurred as a fact must be expressed by the indicative.

2258. A clause of result with ὥστε stating that something may occur in consequence of an intention, tendency, capacity, and in general in consequence of the nature of an object or action, is regularly expressed by the infinitive. When a consequence is stated without affirming or denying its actual occurrence, the infinitive is in place. The infinitive may therefore denote a fact, but does not explicitly state this to be the case; and is, in general, permissible in all cases where the attainment of the result is expected, natural, or possible, and its actual occurrence is not emphasized; as it is emphasized by the indicative.

a. ὥστε with the infinitive does not state a particular fact. The infinitive is preferred in clauses containing or implying a negative. ὥστε with the indicative is preferred after eis τοῦτο ἔκει and like phrases when affirmative (cp. 2265, 2266, 2274).

2259. This difference may be illustrated by examples.

ἔχω τριήρεις ὥστε εἶλιν τὸ ἐκεῖνον πλοῖον I have triremes (so as) to catch their vessel X. A. 1.4.8 (ὥστε εἶλον would mean so that I caught with an essentially different meaning), πάντας οὕτω διατιθεῖς ὥστε αὐτῷ εἶναι φίλους treating all in such a manner that they should be his friends X. A. 1.1.5 (an intended result, 2267), οὕτω διακείμεαι ὅφ' ἑμῶν ὥς οὐδὲ δειπνῶν ἔχω ἐν τῇ ἑμαντοῦ χώρᾳ I am treated by you in such a manner that I cannot even sup in my own country X. H. 4.1.33 (a fact), ὥστε πάροδον μὴ εἶναι παρὰ πύργον, ἀλλὰ δι' αὐτῶν μέσων διῆσαν so that it was impossible to pass by the side of a tower, but the guards went through the middle of them T. 3.21, κραυγὴν πολλὴν ἐποίουν καλοῦντες ἀλλήλους ὥστε καὶ τοὺς πολεμικοὺς ἀκούειν ὥστε οἱ μὲν ἐγγύτατα τῶν πολεμικῶν καὶ ἔφυγον they made a loud noise by calling each other so that even the enemy could hear; consequently those of the enemy who were nearest actually fled X. A. 2.2.17. Here the fact that some of the enemy fled is proof that they actually heard the cries; but the Greek states merely that the noise was loud enough to be heard. Had the clause ὥστε . . . ἔφυγον not been added, we could only have inferred that the noise was heard.

ὥστε (RARELY ὥς) WITH THE INFINITIVE

2260. The infinitive with ὥστε denotes an anticipated or possible result; but the actual occurrence of the result is not stated, and is to be inferred only. The negative is μή, but οὐ is used when the ὥστε clause depends on a clause itself subordinate to a verb of saying or thinking (2269). Cp. 2759.

a. ὥστε with the infinitive means as to, so as to; but with a subject necessary in English it must often be translated by so that.

2261. The infinitive with ὥστε is usually present or aorist, rarely perfect (e.g. D. 18. 257). The future is common only in indirect discourse (D. 19. 72).

2262. ὥστε (ὥς) with the infinitive is used when its clause serves only to explain the principal clause. Thus, πολλὰ πράγματα παρείχον οἱ βάρβαροι . . . εὐλαφοὶ γὰρ ἦσαν, ὥστε καὶ ἐγγύθεν φεύγοντες ἀποφεύγειν the barbarians caused great annoyance; for they were so nimble that they could escape even though they made off after they had approached quite near X. A. 4. 2. 27, ὁ ποταμὸς τοσούτος βάθος ὥς μὴδὲ τὰ δόρατα ὑπερέχειν the river of such a depth that the spears could not even project above the surface 3. 5. 7 (on τοσούτος ὅσος etc. see 2003), τοσαύτην κραυγὴν . . . ἐποίησαν ὥστε . . . τοὺς ταξιάρχους ἐλθεῖν they made such an uproar as to bring the taxiarchs D. 54. 5.

2263. (I) After expressions denoting ability, capacity, or to effect something.

a. The idea of effecting may be unexpressed: (Κλέαρχος) ἤλαυνεν ἐπὶ τοῖς Μένωνος ὥστ' ἐκείνους ἐκπεπληχθαι Clearchus advanced against the soldiers of Menon so (i.e. by so doing he brought it about) that they were thoroughly frightened X. A. 1. 5. 13; cp. 2267. Several verbs of effecting take ὥστε when the result is intended and where the simple infinitive is common (2267 b).

ἦσαντο αὐτὸν ἐλάττω ἔχοντα δύναμιν ἢ ὥστε τοὺς φίλους ὠφελεῖν they perceived that he possessed too little power to benefit his friends X. H. 4. 8. 23, οἱ ἀκοντισταὶ βραχύτερα ἢ κόντιζον ἢ ὥς ἐξικνεῖσθαι τῶν σφενδονητῶν the javelin throwers hurled their javelins too short a distance to reach the slingers X. A. 3. 3. 7. After a comparative, ὥς is as common as ὥστε.

a. ὥστε may here be omitted: κρείσσον' ἢ φέρειν κακά evils too great to be endured E. Hec. 1107.

b. On positive adjectives with a comparative force, see 1063.

2265. (III) After a principal clause that is negated.

οὐκ ἔχομεν ἀργύριον ὥστε ἀγοράζειν τὰ ἐπιτήδεια we have no money (so as) to buy provisions X. A. 7. 3. 5, οὐδεὶς πώποτ' εἰς τοσοῦτ' ἀναιδείας ἀφίκετο ὥστε τοιούτων τι τολμήσαι ποιεῖν no one ever reached such a degree of shamelessness as to dare to do anything of the sort D. 21. 62 (cp. 2258 a). Here are included questions expecting the answer no: τίς οὕτως ἐστὶ δεινὸς λέγειν ὥστε σε πείσαι; who is so eloquent as to persuade you? X. A. 2. 5. 15. After negative (as after comparative, 2264) clauses, the infinitive is used, since there would be no reason for the ὥστε clause if the action of the principal clause did not take place. But the indicative occurs occasionally (L. 13. 18, Ant. 5. 43).

2266. (IV) After a principal clause that expresses a condition.

εἰ μὴ εἰς τοῦτο μανίᾳς ἀφικόμην ὥστε ἐπιθῦμειν . . . πολλοῖς μάχεσθαι if I had not reached such a degree of madness as to desire to contend with many L. 3. 29 (cp. 2258 a).

2267. (V) To express an intended result, especially after a verb of effecting, as ποιῶ, διαπράττομαι, etc.

πάν ποιούσιν ὥστε δίκην μὴ δίδόναι they use every effort (so as) to avoid being punished P. G. 479 c, διφθέρας . . . συνέσπων ὥς μὴ ἀπτεσθαι τῆς κάρφης τὸ ὕδωρ they stitched the skins so that the water should not touch the hay X. A. 1. 5. 10.

a. The infinitive here expresses only the result, while the idea of purpose comes only from the general sense and especially from the meaning of the leading verb. ἵνα μὴ in the above examples would express only purpose.

b. A clause of intended result is often used where ὅπως might occur in an object clause after a verb of effort (2211); as μηχανὰς εὐρήσομεν ὥστ' ἐς τὸ πᾶν σε τῶνδ' ἀπαλλάξαι πόνων we will find means (so as) to free thee entirely from these troubles A. Eum. 82. The infinitive alone, denoting purpose, is here more usual.

πολλὰ μὲν ἂν χρήματ' ἔδωκε Φιλιστιδῆς ὥστ' ἔχειν Ὀρέον Philistides would have given a large sum on condition of his holding Oreus D. 18. 81, ὑπὸ σκηνῶντο ὥστε ἐκπλεῖν they gave their promise on the condition that they should sail out X. A. 5. 6. 26. On condition that is commonly expressed by ἐφ' ᾧ or ἐφ' ᾧτε (2279) with or without a preceding ἐπὶ τούτῳ.

ἔφασαν τοὺς στρατιώτας εἰς τοῦτο τρυφῆς ἐλθεῖν ὥστ' οὐκ ἐθέλειν πίνειν, εἰ μὴ ἀνθοσμίας εἴη they said that the soldiers reached such a degree of daintiness as to be unwilling to drink wine unless it had a strong bouquet X. H. 6. 2. 6 (direct: ὥστε οὐκ ἠθέλον πίνειν, with οὐ retained in indirect discourse). See also 2270 b.

So even when the principal verb takes ὅτι, as ἐννοησάτω ὅτι οὕτως ἦδη τότε πόρρω τῆς ἡλικίας ἦν ὥστ' . . . οὐκ ἂν πολλῶ ὕστερον τελευτήσαι τὸν βίον let him consider that he was then so far advanced in years that he would have died soon afterwards X. M. 4. 8. 1.

a. The future infinitive here represents the future indicative: οἰεται ὑμᾶς εἰς τοσοῦτον εὐηθείας ἦδη προβεβηκέναι ὥστε καὶ ταῦτα ἀναπεισθήσεσθαι he thinks that you have already reached such a degree of simplicity as to allow yourselves to be persuaded even of this Aes. 3. 256. Outside of indirect discourse, the future infinitive with ὥστε is rare (γενήσεσθαι D. 16. 4, εἰσεσθαι D. 29. 5).

b. ὥστε with the optative in indirect discourse is very rare (X. H. 3. 5. 23, L. 17. 11).

2270. ἄν with the infinitive expressing possibility, and representing either a potential indicative or a potential optative, occasionally follows ὥστε (ὥς).

a. Not in indirect discourse: καὶ μοι οἱ θεοὶ οὕτως ἐν τοῖς ἱεροῖς ἐσήμεναν ὥστε καὶ ἰδιώτῃν ἂν γνῶναι (= ἰδιώτης ἔγνω ἂν or γνῶνῃ ἂν) ὅτι τῆς μοναρχίας ἀπέχεσθαι με δεῖ and the gods declared to me so clearly in the sacrifices that even a common man could understand that I must keep aloof from sovereignty X. A. 6. 1. 31, ἐν τῷ ἀσφαλεῖ ἤδη εἶσομαι ὥς μηδὲν ἂν ἔτι κακὸν παθεῖν (= οὐδὲν ἂν ἔτι πᾶθομι) I shall soon be safe from suffering any further evil X. C. 8. 7. 27. The difference in meaning is very slight between the construction with the potential optative and that with the infinitive with ἂν representing the potential optative.

N. — Rarely in other cases. Thus, τὰ δὲ ἐντὸς οὕτως ἐκαλετο ὥστε . . . ἥδιστα ἂν ἐς ὑδὼρ ψυχρὸν σφῖς αὐτοὺς ῥίπτειν (= ἔρριπτον, 2304) but their internal parts were inflamed to such a degree that they would have been most glad to throw themselves into cold water (had they been permitted) T. 2. 49.

b. In indirect discourse: ἄρ' οὖν δοκεῖ τῷ ἑμῶν ὀλιγώρως οὕτως ἔχειν χρημάτων Νικόδημος ὥστε παραλεπεῖν (= παρῆλπεν) ἂν τι τῶν τοιούτων; does it seem to any one of you that Nicodemus so despised money that he would have neglected any agreement of the sort? Is. 3. 37.

2271. ὥττε is often used with the infinitive when the infinitive without ὥστε is regular or more common.

a. So with many verbs, especially of will or desire. Thus, ἔπεισαν τοὺς Ἀθηναίους ὥστε ἐξαγαγεῖν ἐκ Πύλου Μεσσηνίους they prevailed upon the Athenians (so as) to withdraw the Messenians from Pylus T. 5. 35, δεηθέντες . . . ἐκίστων ἰδίᾳ ὥστε ψηφίσασθαι τὸν πόλεμον having begged each privately (so as) to vote for the war 1. 119, ἐποίησα ὥστε δοῦναι τούτῳ τοῦ πρὸς ἐμὲ πολέμου παύσασθαι I brought it about so that it seemed best to him to desist from warring against me X. A. 1. 6. 6.

N. — Such verbs are: ἀπέχομαι, δέομαι ask, διαπράττομαι, διδάσκω, δικάζω, δύναμαι, ἐθέλω, εἰργω, ἐλπίζω τινὰ ἔχω, ἐπαγγέλλομαι, ἐπαίρω, ἔχω απ' αἵλε, θέσφατόν τι τινι ἰκνεῖται, a phrase with καθίσταμαι, ξυγχωρῶ, παραδίδωμι, πείθω (and παρασκευάζω = πείθω), πέφυκα, ποιῶ, προθυμοῦμαι, προτρέπομαι, φυλάττομαι (2239), ψηφίζομαι.

b. When the infinitive is the subject: πάνν γάρ μοι ἐμέλησεν ὥστε εἰδέναι for it concerned me exceedingly to know X. C. 6. 3. 19.

N. — So with ἔστι, γίγνεται, etc., δέξαν when it was decreed, συνέβη (Thuc.), συνέπιπτε, συνέηκει (Hdt.), προσήκει. Cp. 1985.

c. With adjectives, especially such as are positive in form but have a comparative force and denote a deficiency or the like (1063); as ἡμῖς γὰρ ἔτι νέαι ὥστε τοσοῦτον πρᾶγμα διελέσθαι for we are still too young to decide so important a matter P. Pr. 314 b. So with ἰδιώτης, ὀλίγος, ψυχρὸς, γέρον; and with ἱκανός, ἀδύνατος (and with δύνασθαι).

2272. On the absolute infinitive with ὥς (less often with ὥσπερ) see 2012.

ὥσπερ (ὥς) WITH A FINITE VERB

2273. Any form used in simple sentences may follow ὥσπερ (rarely ὥς) with a finite verb. ὥσπερ has no effect on the mood of a finite verb.

a. ὥς is found especially in Xenophon.

2274. ὥσπερ so that with the indicative states the actual result of the action of the leading verb. This is especially common in narrative statements with the aorist tense. The negative is οὐ.

ἐπιπίπτει χιῶν ἄπλετος ὥστε ἀπέκρυψε καὶ τὰ ὅπλα καὶ τοὺς ἀνθρώπους an immense amount of snow fell so that it buried both the arms and the men X. A. 4.4.11, εἰς τοσοῦτον ὕβρεως ἦλθον ὥστ' ἔπεισαν ἡμᾶς ἐλαύνειν αὐτόν they reached such a pitch of insolence that they persuaded you to expel him 1.10.9 (cp. 2258 a), οὕτω σκαῶς εἰ . . . ὥστ' οὐ δύνασαι κτλ. are you so stupid that you are not able, etc. D.18.120 (of a definite fact; with μὴ δύνασθαι the meaning would be so stupid as not to be able, expressing a characteristic). So after the locution τοσοῦτον δέω, as τοσοῦτον δέω περὶ τῶν μὴ προσηκόντων ἱκανὸς εἶναι λέγειν, ὥστε δέδοικα κτλ. I am so far from able to speak about that which does not refer to my case that I fear, etc. L. 17.1. ὥς is very rare: νομίζω οὕτως ἔχειν ὥς ἀποστήσονται αὐτοῦ αἱ πόλεις I consider that it is the case that the cities will revolt from him X. H. 6.1.14.

a. So when ὥστε introducing an independent sentence practically has the force of οὖν, τοίνυν, τοιγαροῦν and so therefore, consequently. Thus καὶ εἰς μὲν τὴν ὑπερπαλᾶν οὐχ ἦкен· ὥστ' οἱ Ἕλληνες ἐφόρτιζον and on the next day he did not come; consequently the Greeks were anxious X. A. 2.3.25. Cp. 2275. This use appears sometimes with the infinitive: ὥστ' ἐμὲ ἐμavτόν ἀνερωτᾶν and so I kept asking myself P. A. 22 e.

2275. With an imperative, a hortatory or prohibitory subjunctive, or an interrogative verb, a clause with ὥστε is coördinate rather than subordinate, and ὥστε has the force of καὶ οὕτως.

ὥστε θάρρει and so be not afraid X. C. 1.3.18, ὥστε . . . μὴ θαυμάσης and so do not wonder P. Phae. 274 a, ὥστε πόθεν ἴσασιν; and so how do they know? D. 29.47.

2276. ὥστε (ὥς) occurs rarely with the participle (instead of the infinitive) by attraction to a preceding participle (And. 4.20, X. C. 7.5.46, D. 10.40, 58.23).

2277. ὥστε (ὥς) may be used with a past tense of the indicative with ἄν (potential indicative and unreal indicative).

τοιούτων τι ἐποίησεν ὥς πᾶς ἂν ἔγνωε διὰ ἀσμένῃ ἤκουσε she made a movement so that every one could recognize that she heard the music with pleasure X. S. 9.8, κατεφαίνετο πάντα αὐτόθεν ὥστε οὐκ ἂν ἔλαθεν αὐτόν ὁρμώμενος ὁ Κλέων τῇ στρατῷ everything was clearly visible from it, so that Cleon could not have escaped his notice in setting out with his force T. 5.6.

εἰ τις τὴν γυναῖκα τὴν σὴν οὕτω θεραπεύσειεν ὥστε φιλεῖν αὐτὴν μᾶλλον ποιήσειεν ἑαυτὸν ἢ σέ κτλ. if some one should pay such attention to your wife as to make her love him better than yourself X. C. 5.5.30 (cp. 2266), τοσοῦτον δεῖς εἶναι τιδὸς ἀξίως εἶναι ὥστε μισηθεῖς ἂν δικαίωτατ' ἀνθρώπων you are so far unworthy of compassion that you would be detested most justly of all men D. 37.49, ὥς ἂν X. Ag. 6.7, X. C. 7.5.37, 7.5.51.

CLAUSES WITH  $\epsilon\phi'$   $\phi$  AND  $\epsilon\phi'$   $\phi$ ΤΕ INTRODUCING A PROVISO

2279.  $\epsilon\phi'$   $\phi$  and  $\epsilon\phi'$   $\phi$ ΤΕ on condition that, for the purpose of take the infinitive or (less often) the future indicative, and may be introduced, in the principal clause, by the demonstrative ἐπὶ τούτῳ. Negative μή.

αἰρεθέντες ἐφ' ὅτε συγγράψαι νόμους having been chosen for the purpose of compiling laws X. H. 2. 3. 11, ἔφασαν ἀποδῶσθαι (τοῖς νεκροῖς) ἐφ' ὃ μὴ καλεῖν τὰς οἰκίας the barbarians said they would surrender the dead on condition that he would not burn their houses X. A. 4. 2. 19, ἀφίμεν σε, ἐπὶ τούτῳ μέντοι, ἐφ' ὅτε μηκέτι . . . φιλοσοφεῖν we release you, on this condition however, that you no longer search after wisdom P. A. 29 c. Future indicative: ἐνέβησαν ἐφ' ὅτε ἐξέλθωσι ἐκ Πελοποννήσου ὑπόσπονδοι καὶ μηδέποτε ἐπιβήσονται αὐτῇς they made an agreement on condition that they should depart from the Peloponnesus under a truce and never set foot on it again T. 1. 103.

a. These constructions do not occur in Homer. The future indicative is used by Herodotus and Thucydides on the analogy of relative clauses equivalent to consecutive clauses. These authors also use ἐπὶ τοῖσδε for ἐπὶ τούτῳ.

CONDITIONAL CLAUSES

2280. A condition is a supposition on which a statement is based. A conditional sentence commonly consists of two clauses:

The protasis: the conditional, or subordinate, clause, expressing a supposed or assumed case (if).

The apodosis: the conclusion, or principal clause, expressing what follows if the condition is realized. The truth or fulfilment of the conclusion depends on the truth or fulfilment of the conditional clause.

a. The protasis has its name from πρότασις, lit. stretching forward, that which is put forward (in logic, a premiss); the apodosis, from ἀπόδοσις, lit. giving back, return; i.e. the resuming or answering clause.

2281. The protasis usually precedes, but may follow, the apodosis.

2282. The protasis is introduced by εἰ if.

a. Homer has also αἰ, which is an Aeolic (and Doric) form.

2283. With the subjunctive mood, εἰ commonly takes ᾶν (Epic ᾶ κε or ᾶ κεν, not ἔάν).

a. There are three forms, ἔάν, ἤν, ᾶν. ἔάν is the ordinary form in Attic prose and inscriptions; ἤν appears in Ionic and in the older Attic writers (the tragic poets and Thucydides); ᾶν, generally in the later writers (sometimes together with ἔάν), very rarely in Attic inscriptions. In Plato ᾶν is commoner than ἔάν. Xenophon has all three forms.

b. ἤν is from εἰ + ᾶν, ᾶν from ἦ (another form of εἰ) + ᾶν. The etymology of ἔάν is uncertain: either from ἦ + ᾶν or from εἰ + ᾶν.

2284. The particle ἄν is used in the apodosis: (1) with the optative, to denote possibility (cp. 1824); (2) with the past tenses of the indicative, to denote either the non-fulfilment of the condition (1786) or, occasionally, repetition (1790).

2285. The apodosis may be introduced by δέ or ἀλλά, less often by αὐτάρ. See under Particles. νῦν δέ as it is, as it was corrects a supposition contrary to fact. The apodosis sometimes has τότε, τότε δὲ, οὕτως (Hom. τῶ) comparable to Eng. then, in that case in the conclusion of conditional sentences.

2286. The negative of the protasis is μή because the subordinate clause expresses something that is conceived or imagined. μή negatives the conditional clause as a whole. On οὐ adherescent in protasis, see 2698.

The negative of the apodosis is οὐ, in case the principal clause states the conclusion as a fact on the supposition that the protasis is true; μή, when the construction requires that negative (2689).

2287. The indicative, subjunctive, and optative moods, and the participle may stand in protasis and apodosis. The imperative and infinitive may be used in the apodosis. The future optative is not used in conditional sentences except in indirect discourse. The tenses in conditional sentences, except unreal conditions, have the same force as in simple sentences.

2288. Instead of a formal conditional sentence the two members may be simply coördinated, the protasis having the form of an independent clause.

σμήκρον λαβὲ παράδειγμα, καὶ πάντα εἰσεὶ ἂ βοῦλομαι take an insignificant example, and you will know what I mean P. Th. 154 c, πράττεται τι τῶν ὑμῖν δοκούστων συμφέρει· ἄφρων Ἀισχίνης something is going on (of a kind) that seems to be to your advantage. Aeschines is dumb. D. 18. 198. Cp. "Take with you this great truth, and you have the key to Paul's writings" (Channing); "Petition me, perhaps I may forgive" (Dryden). Cp. 1839.

CLASSIFICATION OF CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

A. CLASSIFICATION ACCORDING TO FORM

2289. Conditional sentences may be classified according to form or function (i.e. with reference to their meaning). Classified according to form, all conditional sentences may be arranged with regard to the form of the protasis or of the apodosis.

Protasis: εἰ with the indicative.

ἐάν (rarely εἰ) with the subjunctive.

εἰ with the optative.

Apodosis: with ἄν, denoting what would (should) be or have been.

without ἄν, not denoting what would (should) be or have been.

B. CLASSIFICATION ACCORDING TO FUNCTION

2290. Greek possesses a great variety of ways to join protasis and apodosis, but certain types, as in English, are more common than others and have clear and distinct meanings. In the case of some of the less usual types the exact shade of difference cannot be accurately known to us; as indeed to the Greeks themselves they were often used with no essential difference from the conventional types. In the following classification only the ordinary forms are given.

ACCORDING TO TIME

2291. This is the only functional distinction that characterizes all conditional sentences. Here are included also 2292, 2295, 2296.

1. Present

Protasis: a primary tense of the indicative.

Apodosis: any form of the simple sentence.

εἰ ταῦτα ποιεῖς, καλῶς ποιεῖς if you do this, you do well.

2. Past

Protasis: a secondary tense of the indicative.

Apodosis: any form of the simple sentence.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίεις, καλῶς ἐποίεις if you were doing this, you were doing well, εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίησας, καλῶς ἐποίησας if you did this, you did well.

3. Future

a. Protasis: ἐάν with the subjunctive.

Apodosis: any form expressing future time.

ἐάν ταῦτα ποιῇς (ποιήσης), καλῶς ποιήσεις if you do this, you will do well.

b. Protasis: εἰ with the future indicative.

Apodosis: any form expressing future time.

εἰ ταῦτα ποιήσεις, πείσει if you do this, you will suffer for it.

c. Protasis: εἰ with the optative.

Apodosis: ἄν with the optative.

εἰ ταῦτα ποιοίης (ποιήσεας), καλῶς ἄν ποιοίης (ποιήσεας) if you should (were to) do this, you would do well.

According to Fulfilment or Non-fulfilment

2292. Only one class of conditional sentences distinctly expresses non-fulfilment of the action.

1. Present or Past

Protasis: εἰ with the imperfect indicative.

Apodosis: ἄν with the imperfect indicative.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίεις, καλῶς ἂν ἐποίεις if you were (now) doing this, you would be doing well; if you had been doing this, you would have been doing well.

2. Past

Protasis: εἰ with the aorist indicative.

Apodosis: ἄν with the aorist indicative.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίησας, καλῶς ἂν ἐποίησας if you had done this, you would have done well.

N. — Greek has no special forms to show that an action is or was fulfilled, however clearly this may be implied by the context. Any form of conditional sentence in which the apodosis does not express a rule of action may refer to an impossibility.

According to Particular or General Conditions

2293. A particular condition refers to a definite act or to several definite acts occurring at a definite time or at definite times.

2294. A general condition refers to any one of a series of acts that may occur or may have occurred at any time.

2295. General conditions are distinguished from particular conditions only in present and past time, and then only when there is no implication as to the fulfilment of the action. General conditions have no obligatory form, as any form of condition may refer to a rule of action or to a particular act; but there are two common types of construction:

1. Present

Protasis: ἐάν with the subjunctive.

Apodosis: present indicative.

ἐάν ταῦτα ποιῇς (ποιήσῃς), σὲ ἐπαινῶ if ever you do this, I always praise you.

2. Past

Protasis: εἰ with the optative.

Apodosis: imperfect indicative.

εἰ ταῦτα ποιοίης (ποιήσεας), σὲ ἐπῆνον if ever you did this, I always praised you.

2296. But equally possible, though less common, are:

εἰ ταῦτα ποιεῖς, σὲ ἐπαινῶ and εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίεις, σὲ ἐπῆνον.

TABLE OF CONDITIONAL FORMS

2297. In this Grammar the ordinary types of conditional sentences are classified primarily according to time. The Homeric and other more usual variations from the ordinary forms are mentioned under each class, the less usual Attic variations are mentioned in 2355 ff. The following table shows the common usage :

TIME	FORM	PROTASIS	APODOSIS
PRESENT	Simple	εἰ with present or perfect indicative	present or perfect indicative or equivalent
	Unreal	εἰ with imperfect indicative	imperfect indicative with ἄν
	General	ἄν with subjunctive	present indicative or equivalent
PAST	Simple	εἰ with imperfect, aorist, or pluperfect indicative	imperfect, aorist, or pluperfect indicative
	Unreal	εἰ with aorist or imperfect indicative	aorist or imperfect indicative with ἄν
	General	εἰ with optative	imperfect indicative or equivalent
FUTURE	More Vivid	ἄν with subjunctive	fut. indic. or equivalent
	Emotional	εἰ with future indicative	fut. indic. or equivalent
	Less Vivid	εἰ with optative	ἄν with optative

PRESENT AND PAST CONDITIONS

First Form of Conditions

SIMPLE PRESENT AND PAST CONDITIONS

2298. Simple present or past conditions simply state a supposition with no implication as to its reality or probability. The protasis has the indicative, the apodosis has commonly the indicative, but also any other form of the simple sentence appropriate to the thought.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίησας, καλῶς ἐποίησας if you did this, you did well.

a. This form of condition corresponds to the logical formula if this is so, then that is so; if this is not so, then that is not so; if A = B, then C = D. The truth of the conclusion depends solely on the truth of the condition, which is not implied in any way. In these conditions something is supposed to be true only in order to draw the consequence that something else is true.

b. The conditional clause may express what the writer knows is physically impossible. Even when the supposition is true according to the real opinion of the writer, this form of condition is employed. In such cases εἴπερ is often used for εἰ. Both εἰ and εἴπερ sometimes have a causal force (2246); cp. si quidem and quia.

c. The simple condition is particular or general. When the protasis has εἰ τις and the apodosis a present indicative, the simple condition has a double meaning referring both to an individual case and to a rule of action. When a present general condition is distinctly expressed, εἴ with the subjunctive is used (2337.)

2299. There are many possible combinations of present and past conditions with different forms of the protasis and apodosis. Protasis and apodosis may be in different tenses, and present and future may be combined.

2300. The apodosis may be the simple indicative or any other form of the simple sentence appropriate to the thought.

a. Simple Indicative: εἰ τοῦτ' ἔχει καλῶς, ἐκείνο αἰσχρῶς if this is excellent, that is disgraceful Aes. 3. 188, εἰ μὲν ('Ἀσκληπῖος) θεοῦ ἦν, οὐκ ἦν αἰσχροκερδής· εἰ δ' αἰσχροκερδής, οὐκ ἦν θεοῦ if Asclepius was the son of a god, he was not covetous; if he was covetous, he was not the son of a god P. R. 408 c, εἰ τέ τι ἄλλο . . . ἐγένετο ἐπικινδύνον τοῖς Ἕλλησι, πάντων . . . μετέσχομεν and if any other danger befell the Greeks, we took our share in all T. 3. 54, ἡ καλὸν . . . τέχνημα ἄρα κέκτησθαι, εἴπερ κέκτησθαι in truth you do possess a noble art, if indeed you do possess it P. Pr. 819 a, εἴπερ γε Δαρείου . . . ἐστὶ παῖς . . . , οὐκ ἀμαχεῖ ταῦτ' ἐγὼ λήψομαι if indeed he is a son of Darius, I shall not gain this without a battle X. A. 1. 7. 9, Κλέαρχος εἰ παρὰ τοῖς ὅρκους ἔλυε τὰς σπονδὰς, τὴν δίκην ἔχει assuming that Clearchus broke the truce contrary to his oath, he has his deserts 2. 5. 41, εἰ δὲ δύο ἐξ ἐνὸς ἀγώνος γεγέννησθον, οὐκ ἐγὼ αἰτίος but if two trials have been made out of one, I am not responsible Ant. 5. 85.

b. Indicative with ἂν (unreal indicative, 1786): καίτοι τότε . . . τὸν Ὅπρεπιδην, εἴπερ ἀληθὴ μου νῦν κατηγορεῖ, μᾶλλον ἂν εἰκότως ἢ τὸνδ' ἐδίωκεν and yet, if indeed his present charge against me is true, he would not gain this without a reason for prosecuting Hyperides than he now has for prosecuting my client D. 18. 223 (here ἂν ἐδίωκεν implies εἰ ἐδίωκεν, 2303). So also an unreal indicative without ἂν, 1774: τοῦτο, εἰ καὶ τὰλλα πάντ' ἀποστεροῦσιν . . . ἀποδοῦναι προσήκεν even if they steal everything else, they should have restored this D. 27. 37. In the above examples each clause has its proper force.

c. Subjunctive of exhortation or prohibition (cp. the indicative δεῖ or χρῆ with the infinitive, 1807): ὅθεν δὲ ἀπελίκομεν ἐπαέλθωμεν, εἰ σοι ἡδόμενον ἐστὶν but let us return to the point whence we digressed, if it is agreeable to you P. Ph. 78 b, εἰ μὲν ἴστε με τοιοῦτον . . . μὴδὲ φωνὴν ἀνέσχησθε if you know that I am such a man . . . do not even endure the sound of my voice D. 18. 10.

d. Optative of wish (cp. the indicative ἐλπίζω): κάκιστ' ἀπολοίμην, Ξανθίαν εἰ μὴ φιλῶ may I perish most vilely, if I do not love Xanthias Ar. Ran. 579.

e. Potential optative: θαυμάζωμ' ἂν εἰ εἰσα I should be surprised if you know P. Pr. 812 c. The potential optative (or indicative with ἄν, above b) sometimes suggests an inference (cp. the indicative δοκεῖ and inf. with ἄν). Thus, ἐμὲν γὰρ τοῦτο λέγουσιν, ὁμολογοῖν ἄν ἔγωγε οὐ κατὰ τούτους εἶναι ῥήτωρ for if they mean this, I must admit (it seems to me that I must admit) that I am an orator, but not after their style P. A. 17 b (cp. τοῦτό γέ μοι δοκεῖ καλὸν εἶναι, εἰ τις οἴετ' εἰη παιδεύειν ἀνθρώπους this seems to me a fine thing, if any one should be able to train men 19 e), εἰ γὰρ οἱτοὶ ὀρθῶς ἀπέστησαν, ὑμεῖς ἄν οὐ χρεὼν ἀρχαίτε for if they were right in revolting, you must be wrong in holding your empire T. 3. 40 (cp. οὐκ ἄρα χρὴ ὑμᾶς ἀρχεῖν).

f. Imperative (cp. the indicative κελεύω order, ἀπαγορεύω forbid): εἰ τις ἀντιλέγει, λεγέτω if any one objects, let him speak X. A. 7. 3. 14.

2301. If the protasis expresses a present intention or necessity, the future indicative may be used.

εἰ δὲ καὶ τῷ ἡγεμόνι πιστεύομεν ὅν ἄν Κύρος διδῷ, τί κωλεῖ καὶ τὰ ἄκρα ἡμῶν κελεύει Κύρον προκαταλαβεῖν; but if we are going to trust any guide that Cyrus may give us, what hinders our also ordering Cyrus to occupy the heights in advance in our behalf? X. A. 1. 3. 16, αἰρε πλῆκτρον, εἰ μαχεῖ raise your spur if you mean (are going) to fight Ar. Av. 759. The future here has a modal force and expresses something besides futurity; hence it is equivalent to μέλλεις μαχεῖσθαι (1959), but not to ἔαν μάχη (2323) or to εἰ μαχεῖ (a threat, 2328), both of which refer to future time. The periphrasis with μέλλω and the present or future infinitive is more common in prose.

Second Form of Conditions

PRESENT AND PAST UNREAL CONDITIONS

2302. In present and past unreal conditions the protasis implies that the supposition cannot or could not be realized because contrary to a known fact. The apodosis states what would be or would have been the result if the condition were or had been realized.

2303. The protasis has εἰ with the imperfect, aorist, or pluperfect indicative; the apodosis has ἄν with these past tenses. The protasis and apodosis may have different tenses. Unreal conditions are either particular or general.

2304. The imperfect refers to present time or (sometimes) to a continued or habitual past act or state. The imperfect may be conative.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίεις, καλῶς ἄν ἐποίεις if you were (now) doing this, you would be doing well, or if you had been doing this, you would have been doing well.

The implied opposite is a present (ἀλλ' οὐ ποιεῖς but you are not doing this) or an imperfect (ἀλλ' οὐκ ἐποίεις but you were not doing this).

The imperfect of past time emphasizes the continuance of the action.

2305. The aorist refers to a simple occurrence in the past.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίησας, καλῶς ἂν ἐποίησας if you had done this, you would have done well.

The implied opposite is an aorist (ἀλλ' οὐκ ἐποίησας but you did not do this).

2306. The (rare) pluperfect refers to an act completed in past or present time or to the state following on such completion.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐπεποιήκης, καλῶς ἂν ἐπεποιήκης if you had finished doing this (now or on any past occasion), you would have done well.

The implied opposite is a perfect (ἀλλ' οὐ πεποιήκας but you have not done this) or a pluperfect (ἀλλ' οὐκ ἐπεποιήκης but you had not done this).

a. The pluperfect is used only when stress is laid on the completion of the act or on the continuance of the result of the act, and generally refers to present time. In reference to past time, the aorist is generally used instead of the pluperfect.

2307. In reference to past time, the imperfect or aorist is used according as either tense would be used in an affirmative sentence not conditional. The pluperfect is commonly used when the perfect would have been used of present time.

2309. Same Tenses in Protasis and Apodosis. — a. Imperfect of present time: ταῦτα δὲ οὐκ ἂν ἐδύναντο ποιεῖν, εἰ μὴ καὶ διαίτῃ μετρίᾳ ἐχρῶντο but they would not be able to do this, if they were not also following a temperate diet X. C. 1. 2. 16.

b. Imperfect of past time: οὐκ ἂν οὖν νῆσων . . . ἐκράτει, εἰ μὴ τι καὶ ναυτικὸν εἶχεν accordingly he would not have ruled over islands, if he had not possessed also some naval force T. 1. 9. Present and past combined: εἰ μὴ τότε ἐδόκουν, νῦν ἂν οὐκ εὐφραίνεμην if I had not toiled then, I should not be rejoicing now Philémon 153.

c. Aorist of past time: οὐκ ἂν ἐποίησεν Ἀγασίας ταῦτα, εἰ μὴ ἐγὼ αὐτὸν ἐκέλευσα Agastias would not have done this, if I had not ordered him X. A. 6. 6. 15.

2310. Different Tenses in Protasis and Apodosis. — a. Imperfect and Aorist: εἰ μὲν πρόθεν ᾔπιστάμην, οὐδ' ἂν συνηκολούθησά σοι if I had known this before, I would not even have accompanied you X. A. 7. 7. 11.

N. — With an imperfect of present time in the protasis, εἴποιον ἂν, ἀπεκρίναμην ἂν and like verbs, denote an act in present time (I should at once say). Thus, εἰ μὴ πατήρ ἦσθ', εἴποιον ἂν σ' οὐκ εὖ φρονεῖν if thou wert not my father, I would say (would have said) thou wast unwise S. Ant. 755. Often in Plato, as εἰ μὲν οὐδ' σὺ με ἠρώτᾳς τι τῶν νῦν δὴ, εἶπον ἄν κτλ. if now you were asking me any one of the questions with which we are now dealing, I should say etc., P. Euth. 12 d, cp. P. G. 514 d, X. A. 7.6. 23.

b. Imperfect and Pluperfect: καὶ τὰλλ' ἄν ἄπαντ' ἀκολουθοῦσι τούτοις ἐπέπρατο, εἰ τις ἐπειθετό μοι and everything else would have been effected consistently with what I have said, if my advice had been followed D. 19. 173.

c. Aorist and Imperfect: εἰ μὴ ὑμεῖς ἦλθετε, ἐπορευόμεθα ἄν ἐπὶ βασιλεῖ if you had not come, we should now be marching against the king X. A. 2. 1. 4.

d. Aorist and Pluperfect: εἰ ἐγὼ πάλαι ἐπεχείρησα πράττειν τὰ πολιτικά πρᾶγματα, πάλαι ἄν ἀπολώλῃ if I had long ago essayed to meddle with politics, I should long ago have perished P. A. 31 d, εἰ μὴ ψῆφος μετέπεσεν, ὑπερώριστ' ἄν if one vote had been transferred to the other side, he would have been transported across the borders (and now be in exile) Aes. 3. 252.

e. Pluperfect and Imperfect: ἡ πόλις ἐλάμβανεν ἄν δίκην, εἰ τι ἥδικτο the State would inflict punishment, if it had been wronged Ant. 6. 10.

f. Pluperfect and Aorist: οὐκ ἄν παρέμεινα, εἰ ἐλελύμην I should not have stayed, if I had been free Ant. 5. 13.

2311. Homeric Constructions. — In Homer the imperfect in unreal conditions refers only to past time. The apodosis may have κέ or ἄν with the optative.

a. The present unreal condition with εἰ with the optative in the protasis and ἄν with the optative in the apodosis (in form like a less vivid future condition in Attic) is very rare (Ψ 274). In B 80, Ω 220 we have a combination of a past protasis (imperfect or aorist indicative) with present apodosis (with κέ and the optative).

b. Past unreal conditions have, in the protasis, the imperfect or aorist indicative; in the apodosis, either the imperfect or aorist indicative with ἄν or κέ or the aorist or present optative with κέ. Thus, καὶ νῦν κεν ἔνθ' ἀπόλοιο . . . Αἰεὶ δὲ μὴ ἄρ' ὄξυ νόησε . . . Ἀφροδίτη and here Aeneas had perished, if Aphrodite had not quickly observed him E 311.

2312. Unreal conditions with ἄν and the optative in apodosis (cp. 2311) in Attic are rare and some are suspected. Either the common reading is at fault (X. M. 3. 5. 8), or we have a simple condition with a potential optative (2300 e), as in And. 1. 57, L. 6. 39, I. 4. 102. In εἰ μὲν τοίνυν τοῦτ' ἐπεχείρουν λέγειν . . . οὐκ ἔσθ' ὅστις οὐκ ἄν εὐκότως ἐπιτιμήσειέ μοι if now I were attempting to say this, there would be no one who would not censure me with good reason (D. 18. 216), the implied conclusion is οὐκ ἄν ἦν ὅστις κτλ.

a. The optative in protasis and apodosis occur in E. Med. 568 (present unreal). Hdt. uses the potential optative occasionally (e.g. 7. 214) where English uses a past expression.

UNREAL CONDITIONS — APODOSIS WITHOUT ἄν

2313. ἄν may be omitted in the apodosis of an unreal condition when the apodosis consists of an imperfect indicative denoting unfulfilled obligation, possibility, or propriety. Such are the impersonal expressions ἔδει, χρὴν, ἐξήν, εἰκὸς ἦν, καλὸν ἦν, etc., with the infinitive, the action of which is (usually) not realized.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίει, εἶδει (ἐξῆν) αἰτιᾶσθαι αὐτόν if he were doing this (as he is not), one ought to (might) blame him.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίησε, εἶδει (ἐξῆν) αἰτιάσασθαι (or αἰτιᾶσθαι) αὐτόν if he had done this (as he did not), one ought to (might) have blamed him.

a. Here εἶδει and ἐξῆν are auxiliaries and the emphasis falls on the infinitive. The impersonal verb has the effect of a modifying advrb denoting obligation, possibility, or propriety: thus εἶδει αἰτιᾶσθαι αὐτόν is virtually equivalent to δικαίως ἂν ᾔτιᾶτο, and εἰκὸς ἦν αἰτιάσασθαι αὐτόν to εἰκότως ἂν ᾔτιᾶθη he would properly have been blamed.

b. εἶδει, χρῆν, etc., may be used in simple sentences (1774 ff.) without any protasis either expressed or implied. But a protasis may often be supplied in thought.

2314. The present infinitive generally expresses what would necessarily, possibly, or properly be done now. The aorist, and sometimes the present, infinitive expresses what would necessarily, possibly, or properly have been done in the past.

a. Present infinitive of present time: χρῆν δῆπου, εἴτε τινὲς αὐτῶν πρεσβύτεροι γενόμενοι ἔγνωσαν ὅτι νέοις οὖσιν αὐτοῖς ἐγὼ κακὸν πώποτε τι ξυμβούλευσα, νῦν αὐτοὺς ἀναβαλόντας ἐμοὶ κατηγορεῖν if some of them on growing older had perceived that I ever gave them any bad counsel when they were young, they ought of course now to rise up in person and accuse me P. A. 33 d.

b. Present infinitive of past time: εἰ τινα (προῖκα) ἐδίδου, εἰκὸς ἦν καὶ τὴν δοθεῖσαν ὑπὸ τῶν παραγενέσθαι φασκόντων μαρτυρεῖσθαι if he had given any dowry, that which was actually delivered would naturally have been attested by those who claimed to have been present Is. 8. 28.

c. Aorist infinitive of past time: εἰ ἐβούλετο δίκαιος εἶναι περὶ τοὺς παῖδας, ἐξῆν αὐτῷ . . . μισθῶσαι τὸν οἶκον if he had wished to be just in regard to the children, he might properly have let the house L. 32. 28.

2315. With the same impersonal expressions, ἂν is regularly used when the obligation, possibility, or propriety, and not the action of the verb dependent on εἶδει, etc., is denied. Here the main force of the apodosis falls on the necessity, possibility, or propriety of the act.

εἰ ταῦτα ἐποίει, εἶδει (ἐξῆν) ἂν αἰτιᾶσθαι αὐτόν if he were doing this (as he is not), it would be necessary (possible) to blame him; but, as the case now stands, it is not necessary (possible). Thus, εἰ μὲν ἡπιστάμεθα σαφῶς ὅτι ἔξει πλοῖα . . . ἄγων ἱκανά, οὐδὲν ἂν εἶδει ὧν μέλλω λέγειν if we knew for certain that he would return with a sufficient number of vessels, there would be no need to say what I am going to say (but there is need) X. A. 5. 1. 10, ταῦτα εἰ μὲν δι' ἀσθένειαν ἐπείσχομεν, στέργειν ἂν ἦν ἀνάγκη τὴν τύχην if we had suffered this because of our weakness, we should have (necessity would compel us) to rest content with our lot L. 33. 4.

2316. With ἂν, it is implied that the obligation does (or did) not exist; without ἂν, it is implied that the action of the dependent infinitive is (or was) not realized. Thus the first sentence in 2315. without ἄν, would mean: if he were doing this (as he is not), one ought to blame him; but, as the case now stands, one does not blame him.

2317. ἐβουλόμην, or ἐβουλόμην ἄν, with the infinitive may stand in the apodosis. Cp. 1782, 1789.

2318. ἄν is regularly omitted in an apodosis formed by the imperfect of μᾶλλω and the infinitive (usually future) to denote an unfulfilled past intention or expectation (cp. the Lat. future participle with eram or fui). Cp. 1895 a, 1960.

ἦ μάλα δὴ Ἀγαμέμνωνος . . . φθίσεσθαι κακὸν οἶτον ἐνὶ μεγάροισιν ἔμελλον, εἰ μὴ . . . εἶπες in 300th I was like to have perished in my halls by the evil fate of Agamemnon, hadst thou not spoken v 383 (periturus eram, nisi dixisses).

2319. ἄν may be omitted with the aorist of κινδυνεύω run a risk when the emphasis falls on the dependent infinitive.

εἰ μὴ δρόμῳ μάλιστα ἐξεφύγομεν εἰς Δελφοὺς, ἐκινδυνεύσαμεν ἀπολέσθαι if we had not escaped with difficulty to Delphi by taking to our heels, we ran the risk of perishing (= we should probably have perished: ἄν ἀπωλόμεθα) Aes. 3. 123. Contrast εἰ μέντοι τότε πλείους συνελέγησαν, ἐκινδύνευσεν ἄν διαφθάρῃαι πολλὸ τοῦ στρατεύματος if they had mustered in larger force at this time, a large part of the troops would have been in danger of being destroyed X. A. 4. 1. 11.

2320. Some expressions containing a secondary tense of the indicative without ἄν, and not followed by a dependent infinitive, are virtually equivalent to the apodosis of an unreal condition.

τούτῃ δ' εἰ μὴ ὠμολόγουν ἃ οὗτος ἐβούλετο, οὐδεμῶ ζῆναι ἔροχος ἦν but if they had not acknowledged to him what he wished, he would have been (lit. was) liable to no penalty L. 7. 37.

a. Imperfects (not impersonal) without ἄν are often emended, as ἡσυχυόμην μέντοι (some editors μέντ' ἄν), εἰ ὑπὸ πολεμίου γε ὄντος ἐξηπατήθην I should, however, be ashamed, if I had been deceived by any one who was an enemy X. A. 7. 6. 21. Cp. "Tybalt's death was woe enough, if it had ended there" (Shakesp.). Cases like 1895 a do not belong here.

FUTURE CONDITIONS

2321. Future conditions set forth suppositions the fulfilment of which is still undecided. There are two main forms of future conditions:

More Vivid Future conditions.

Less Vivid Future conditions.

A variety of the first class is the Emotional Future (2328).

Future conditions may be particular or general (2293, 2294).

2322. The difference between the More Vivid Future and the Less Vivid Future, like the difference between if I (shall) do this and if I should do this, depends on the mental attitude of the speaker. With the Vivid Future the speaker sets forth a thought as prominent and distinct in his mind ; and for any one or more of various reasons. Thus, he may (and generally does) regard the conclusion as more likely to be realized ; but even an impossible (2322 c) or dreaded result may be expressed by this form if the speaker chooses to picture the result vividly and distinctly. The More Vivid Future is thus used whenever the speaker clearly desires to be graphic, impressive, emphatic, and to anticipate a future result with the distinctness of the present.

The Less Vivid Future deals with suppositions less distinctly conceived and of less immediate concern to the speaker, mere assumed or imaginary cases. This is a favourite construction in Greek, and is often used in stating suppositions that are merely possible and often impossible ; but the form of the condition itself does not imply an expectation of the speaker that the conclusion may possibly be realized. The difference between the two forms, therefore, is not an inherent difference between probable realization in the one case and possible realization in the other. The same thought may often be expressed in either form without any essential difference in meaning. The only difference is, therefore, often that of temperament, tone, or style.

a. ἐάν with the subjunctive and εἰ with the optative are rarely used in successive sentences. In most such cases the difference lies merely in the degree of distinctness and emphasis of the expression used ; but where the speaker wishes to show that the conclusion is expected or desired, he uses ἐάν with the subjunctive rather than the other form. Thus, εἰ οὖν ἴδοιεν καὶ νῦν καθάπερ τοὺς πολλοὺς ἐν μεσημβρίᾳ μὴ διαλεγόμενους, ἀλλὰ νυστάζοντας καὶ κηλουμένους ὑφ' αὐτῶν δι' ἀργιᾶς τῆς διαβολᾶς, δικαίως ἂν καταγελῶν· . . . ἐὰν δ' ὁρῶσι διαλεγόμενους . . . , τάχ' ἂν δοῖεν ἀγαθότητες if now they should see that we, like the many, are not conversing at noon-day but slumbering and charmed by them because of the indolence of our thoughts, they would rightly laugh at us ; but if they see us conversing, they will, perhaps, out of admiration make us gifts P. Phae. 259 a.

b. Cases of both forms in successive sentences are I 135, Hdt. 8. 21, 9. 48 ; P. Cr. 51 d, Ph. 105 b, Phae. 259 a, Pr. 330 c-331 a, D. 4. 11, 18. 147-148. In D. 18. 178 both the desired and the undesired alternative have ἐάν with the subjunctive.

c. Impossibilities may be expressed by ἐάν with the subjunctive. Thus, τί οὖν, ἂν εἰπωσιν οἱ νόμοι ; what, then, if the laws say ? P. Cr. 50 c ; cp. P. Eu. 299 b, R. 610 a, 612 b (opt. in 359 c, 360 b), Ar. Aves 1042, E. Or. 1593, Phoen. 1216. Cp. 2329 a.

Third Form of Conditions

MORE VIVID FUTURE CONDITIONS

2323. More vivid future conditions have in the protasis ἐάν (ἤν, ἄν) with the subjunctive ; in the apodosis, the future indicative or any other form referring to future time.

ἐὰν ταῦτα ποιῇς (ποιήσης), καλῶς ποιήσεις if you do this, you will do well.

2324. This form of condition corresponds to the use of shall and will in conditional sentences in older English ("if ye shall ask . . . I will do it" : St. John).

Modern English substitutes the present for the more exact future in ordinary future conditions of this class; and often uses shall in the protasis with an emotional force. The English present subjunctive, although somewhat rarely used in the modern language, corresponds more nearly to the Greek subjunctive ('if she be there, he shall not need': Beaumont and Fletcher).—Since if you do this may be expressed in Greek by ἐὰν ταῦτα ποιῇς or εἰ ταῦτα ποιήσεις (2328), and by εἰ ταῦτα ποιεῖς (2298), the difference in meaning is made clear only by the apodosis. The form ἐὰν ταῦτα ποιῇς in vivid future conditions must be distinguished from the same form in present general conditions (if ever you do this, 2337). ἐὰν ταῦτά σοι δοκῇ, πολεῖ may be particular or general: if (or if ever) this seems good to you, do it.

2325. The present subjunctive views an act as continuing (not completed); the aorist subjunctive as simply occurring (completed). Neither tense has any time of itself. The aorist subjunctive may mark the action of the protasis as completed before the action of the principal clause (cp. the Lat. future perfect). Ingressive aorists (1924) retain their force in the subjunctive.

2326. The apodosis of the more vivid future condition is the future indicative or any other form of the simple sentence that refers to future time.

a. Future Indicative: ἐὰν ζητῇς καλῶς, εὕρήσεις if you seek well, you shall find P. G. 603 d, ἐὰν δ' ἔχωμεν χρῆμαθ', ἔσομεν φίλους if we have money, we shall have friends Men. Sent. 166, χάριν γε εἰσομαι, ἐὰν ἀκούητε I shall be grateful, if you listen P. Pr. 310 a, ἂν αὐτῷ διδῷς ἀργύριον καὶ πείθῃς αὐτόν, ποιήσει καὶ σὲ σοφόν if you give him money and persuade him, he will make you too wise 310 d, ἢ γὰρ τοῦτο λάβωμεν, οὐ δυνησονται μένειν for if we take this, they will not be able to remain X. A. 3.4.41, ἐὰν κύκλου ἐπὶ τῆς περιφερείας ληφθῇ δύο τυχόντα σημεῖα, ἢ ἐπὶ τὰ σημεῖα ἐπιγεγνημμένη εὐθεῖα ἐντὸς πεσεῖται τοῦ κύκλου if any two points be taken in the circumference of a circle, the straight line which joins them shall fall within the circle Euclid 3. 2.

b. Primary Tenses of the indicative other than the future. Present (1879): ἦν θάνης σὺ, παῖς δδ' ἐκφεύγει μῦρον if thou art slain, yon boy escapes death E. And. 381, δίδωσ' ἐκὼν κτείνειν ἑαυτόν, ἦν τὰδε ψευσθῇ λέγων freely he offers himself to death, if he lies in speaking thus (δίδωσι = he says that he is ready) S. Phil 1342. Aorist: see 1934, and cp. εἰ μὲν κ' αὖθις μένων Τρώων πόλιν ἀμφιμάχωμαι, ὦλετο μὲν μοι νόστος if I tarry here and wage war about the city of the Trojans, my return home is lost for me I 413. Perfect: see 1950. (cp. 'if I shall have an answer no directlier, I am gone': Beaumont and Fletcher).

c. Subjunctive of exhortation, prohibition, or deliberation, and with μή (μὴ οὐ) of doubtful assertion (1801). Thus, μηδ' ἂν τι ὠνῶμαι, ἔφη, ἢν πωλῇ νεώτερος τριάκοντα ἐτῶν. ἔρωμαι, ὅπου πωλεῖ; even if I am buying something, said he, am I not to ask 'what do you sell it for?' if the seller is under thirty years of age? X. M. 1.2.36, κὰν φαινόμεθα ἄδικα αὐτὰ ἐργαζόμενοι, μὴ οὐ δέη ὑπολογίσεσθαι κτλ and if we appear to do this unjustly, I rather think it may not be necessary to take notice, etc. P. Cr. 48 d.

d. Optative of wish, or potential optative with δν ('something may happen' instead of 'something will happen'). Thus, ἦν σε τοῦ λοιποῦ ποτ' ἀφελῶμαι χρόνον.

... κάκιτ' ἀπολομένην if ever in the future I take them away from you, may I perish most vilely! Ar. Ran. 586, ἐὰν κατὰ μέρος φυλάττωμεν . . . , ἦττον ἂν δύναιτο ἡμᾶς θηρᾶν οἱ πολέμοι if we keep guard by turns, the enemy will (would) be less able to harry us X. A. 5. 1. 9. See also 2356 a.

e. Imperative, or infinitive for the imperative (2013): ἦν πόλεμον αἰρήσθε, μηκέτι ἥκετε δεῦρο ἀνευ πλῶν if you choose war, do not come here again without your arms X. C. 3. 2. 13, οὐ δ', ἂν τι ἔχῃς βέλτιόν ποθεν λαβεῖν, πειρᾶσθαι καὶ ἐμοὶ μεταδιδόναι but if you can find anything better from any quarter, try to communicate it to me too P. Crat. 426 b.

2327. Homeric Constructions. — a. ei alone without κέ or ἂν with the subjunctive with no appreciable difference from ei κε (ἂν): εἰ περ γὰρ σε κατακτᾷ, οὐ σ' . . . κλαύσομαι for if he slay thee, I shall not bewail thee X 86. This construction occurs in lyric and dramatic poetry, and in Hdt., as δυστάλαινα τὰρ' ἐγώ, εἰ σου στερηθῶ wretched indeed shall I be, if I am deprived of thee S. O. C. 1443. In Attic prose it is very rare and suspected (T. 6. 21).

b. Subjunctive with κέ in both protasis and apodosis (the anticipatory subjunctive, 1810): εἰ δέ κε μὴ δώσω, ἐγὼ δέ κεν αὐτὸς ἐλωμαι and if he do not give her up, then will I seize her myself A 324.

c. ei (αἰ) κε with the future in protasis (rare): σοὶ . . . βριδὸς ἔσσειται, εἰ κ' Ἀχιλλῆος . . . ἐταῖρον . . . κύνες ἐλκήσουσιν it will be a reproach unto thee, if the dogs drag the companion of Achilles P 557. Some read here the subjunctive.

2328. Emotional Future Conditions. — When the protasis expresses strong feeling, the future indicative with ei is commonly used instead of ἐάν with the subjunctive, and may often be rendered by shall. The protasis commonly suggests something undesired, or feared, or intended independently of the speaker's will; the apodosis commonly conveys a threat, a warning, or an earnest appeal to the feelings. The apodosis is generally expressed by the future indicative, but other forms of 2326 are possible.

ei ταῦτα λέξεις, ἐχθαρεῖ μὲν ἐξ ἐμοῦ if thou speakest thus, thou wilt be hated by me S. Ant. 98, εἰ μὴ καθέξεις γλῶσσαν, ἔσται σοι κακὰ if you won't hold your tongue, there's trouble in store for you E. frag. 5, ἀποκτενεῖς γάρ, εἰ με γῆς ἔξω βαλεῖς for thou wilt slay me if thou shalt thrust me out of the land E. Phoen. 1621, εἰ ὧδε στρατευσόμεθα, οὐ δυνησόμεθα μάχεσθαι if we keep the field thus, we shall not be able to fight X. C. 6. 1. 13, δδλιώτατος ἂν γενοίμην (potential optative), εἰ φονγὰς ἀδίκως καταστήσομαι I should become most wretched, were I to be driven unjustly into exile L. 7. 41.

a. When ei with the future indicative is directly contrasted with ἐάν with the subjunctive, the former usually presents the unfavourable, the latter the favourable, alternative. Thus, ἦν μὲν γὰρ ἐθέλωμεν ἀποθνήσκειν ὑπὲρ τῶν δικαίων, εὐδοκιμήσομεν . . . , εἰ δὲ φοβησόμεθα τοὺς κινδύνους, εἰς πολλὰς παραχὰς καταστήσομεν ἡμᾶς αὐτοὺς if we are (shall be) willing to die for the sake of justice, we shall gain renown; but if we are going to fear dangers, we shall bring ourselves into great confusion I. 6. 107. Cp. X. C. 4. 1. 15, Ar. Nub. 586-591, L. 27. 7, I. 12. 237, 15. 130, 17. 9, D. 8. 17, 18. 176, 27. 20-22. Both constructions are rarely used in successive clauses without any essential difference (X. Ap. 6). ἐάν with the subjunctive, when used in threats or warnings, is a milder form of statement than εἰ with the future (Hdt. 1. 71). An unfavourable alternative may thus be expressed by ἐάν with the subjunctive (A 135-137, Hdt. 3. 36, Aes. 3. 254).

b. εἰ with the future indicative may have a modal force like that of δεῖ or μέλλω (am to, must) with the infinitive: βαρεῖα (κῆρ), εἰ τέκνον δαΐξω hard is fate, if I must slay my child A. Ag. 208. The future of present intention (2301) is different.

Fourth Form of Conditions

LESS VIVID FUTURE CONDITIONS

2329. Less vivid future conditions (should . . . would conditions) have in the protasis εἰ with the optative, in the apodosis ἄν with the optative.

εἰ ταῦτα ποιήσῃς, καλῶς ἂν ποιήσῃς OR εἰ ταῦτα ποιήσεαι, καλῶς ἂν ποιήσεαι if you should do this, you would do well.

εἴης φορητὸς οὐκ ἂν, εἰ πρόσσοις καλῶς θου wouldst be unendurable shouldst thou be prosperous A. Pr. 979, εἰ δ' ἀναγκαῖον εἴη ἀδικεῖν ἢ ἀδικεῖσθαι, ἐλοίμην ἂν μᾶλλον ἀδικεῖσθαι ἢ ἀδικεῖν but if it should be necessary to do wrong or be wronged, I should prefer to be wronged than to do wrong P. G. 469 c, δεῦρ' ἂν εἴην ἐργασμένος, . . . εἰ λίσσοιμι τὴν τάξιν I should be in the state of having committed a dreadful deed, if I were to desert my post P. A. 28 d.

a. Anything physically impossible may be represented as supposable, hence this construction may be used of what is contrary to fact. Thus, φαίη δ' ἂν ἡ θανούσά γ' εἰ φωνῇ λαβοῖ the dead would speak if gifted with a voice S. El. 548. Cp. A. Ag. 37, P. Pr. 361 a, Eu. 299 d, and see 2311 a, 2322 c.

2330. Conditional sentences of this class arose partly from optatives of wish (1814, 1815), partly from potential optatives (1824). Cp. εἴθ' ὣς ἡβώοιμι . . . τῷ κε τάχ' ἀντήσσει μάχης . . . Ἐκτωρ would that I were thus young . . . in that case Hector would soon find his combat H 157; see also § 193.

2331. The present optative views an action as continuing (not completed); the aorist optative, as simply occurring (completed). (The future optative is never used except to represent a future indicative in indirect discourse.) The perfect (rare) denotes completion with resulting state. In Hdt. 7. 214 it is used vaguely of the past: εἰδείη μὲν γὰρ ἂν . . . ταύτην τὴν ἀτραπὸν Ὀνήτης, εἰ τῇ χώρῃ πολλὰ ὠμῆλκώς εἴη for Onetes might know of this path . . . if he had been well acquainted with the country.

2332. English would is equivocal, being used either in the translation of ἄν with the optative or of ἂν with the past indicative (2302). Thus, cp. εἰ τίς σε ἤπερο . . . , τί ἂν ἀπεκρίνω; if any one had asked you . . . , what would you have replied? with εἰ οὐν τίς ἡμᾶς . . . ἔροιτο . . . , τί ἂν αὐτῷ ἀποκριναίμεθα; if then some one should (were to) ask us . . . , what would (should) we reply to him? P. Pr. 311 b, d. If I were may be used to translate both εἰ with the optative and εἰ with the past indicative. English shows examples of were in the protasis followed by would, shall, will, is (was, etc.). Were occurs also in apodosis ("should he be roused out of sleep to-night, it were not well": Shelley).

2333. The apodosis has the optative without ἄν in wishes.

εἰ μὲν συμβουλευόμην ἃ βέλτιστά μοι δοκεῖ, πολλὰ μοι καὶ ἀγαθὰ γένοιτο if I should give the advice that seems best to me, may many blessings fall to my lot X. A. 5. 6. 4.

On the optative with εἰ followed by other forms of the apodosis, see 2359.

2334. Homeric Constructions.—a. In the protasis, εἰ κε (εἰ ἄν) with the optative with the same force as εἰ alone. This use is exclusively Homeric. Thus, οὐ μὲν γάρ τι κακώτερον ἄλλο πάθοιμι, οὐδ' εἰ κεὶν τοῦ πατρὸς ἀποφθιμένοιο πυθόμην for I could not suffer anything worse, not even if I should learn of my father's death T 321. On εἰ ἄν in Attic, see 2353.

b. In the apodosis, a primary tense of the indicative: the present (η 52), the future (I 388), the future with κῆ (μ 345: but this may be the aorist subjunctive).

c. In the apodosis, the hortatory subjunctive (ψ 893), the subjunctive with ἄν or κῆ (Λ 386).

d. In the apodosis, the optative without ἄν not in a wish, but with the same force as the optative with ἄν. See T 321 in a.

e. For κῆ with the optative in the apodosis where we should expect, in Homeric and Attic Greek, a past indicative with ἄν (κῆ) in an unreal condition, see 2311 b.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

2335. General conditions refer indefinitely to any act or series of acts that are supposed to occur or to have occurred at any time; and without any implication as to fulfilment.

The if clause has the force of if ever (whenever), the conclusion expresses a repeated or habitual action or a general truth.

2336. Any simple or unreal condition of present or past time, or any future condition, may refer to a customary or frequently repeated act or to a general truth. But for the present and past only (when nothing is implied as to fulfilment) there are two forms of expression: either a special kind of conditional sentence or (less frequently) the simple condition, as regularly in English and in Latin:

Present. Protasis: εἰάν (= εἰάν ποτε) with the subjunctive; apodosis: the present indicative (2337).

Protasis: εἰ (= εἰ ποτε) with the present indicative; apodosis: the present indicative (2298 c, 2342).

Past. Protasis: εἰ with the optative; apodosis: the imperfect indicative (2340).

Protasis: εἰ with the imperfect; apodosis: the imperfect (2298 c, 2342).

a. By reason of the past apodosis, the optative in the protasis refers to the past. Only in this use (and when the optative in indirect discourse represents a past indicative) does the optative refer distinctly to the past.

b. The present subjunctive and optative view the action as continuing (not completed); the aorist subjunctive and optative, as simply occurring (completed). The tenses of the protasis have no time of themselves, but usually the action of the present is relatively contemporaneous with, the action of the aorist relatively antecedent to, the action of the main verb.

c. The indicative forms in the protasis are more common in temporal and relative sentences. Observe that it is the character of the apodosis alone which distinguishes the special kind of general condition from the two forms of future conditions.

Fifth Form of Conditions

PRESENT GENERAL CONDITIONS

2337. Present general conditions have, in the protasis, ἐάν (ἤν, άν) with the subjunctive; in the apodosis, the present indicative or an equivalent. ἐάν ταῦτα ποιῆς (ποιήσης), σέ ἐπαινῶ if ever you do this, I always praise you. The conclusion holds true of any time or of all time.

ἦν δ' ἔγγος ἔλθῃ θάνατος, οὐδεὶς βούλεται θηήσκειν but if death draws near, no one wishes to die E. Alc. 671, γελᾷ δ' ὁ μῶρος, κἄν τι μὴ γελοῖον ᾖ the fool laughs even if there is nothing to laugh at Men. Sent. 108, ἐάν ἴσοις ἴσα προστεθῇ, τὰ ὅλα ἔστιν ἴσα if equals be added to equals, the wholes are equal Euclid, Ax. 2.

2338. The gnomic aorist is equivalent to the present indicative in apodosis. ἦν δέ τις τούτων τι παραβαίῃ, ζημιᾶν αὐτοῖς ἐπέθεσαν but if any one ever transgresses any one of these regulations, they always impose punishment upon them (him) X. C. 1. 2. 2.

2339. Homer and Pindar prefer εἰ to ἐάν or εἰ κε (A 81); and this εἰ is sometimes found in Attic poetry (S. Ant. 710). άν is more often absent in general conditions than in vivid future conditions.

Sixth Form of Conditions

PAST GENERAL CONDITIONS

2340. Past general conditions have, in the protasis, εἰ with the optative; in the apodosis, the imperfect indicative or an equivalent. εἰ ταῦτα ποιούης (ποιήσευς), σέ ἐπῆνουν if ever you did this, I always praised you.

εἰ τοῦ τι ὀρήν βρωτόν, διεδίδου if ever he saw anything to eat anywhere, he always distributed it X. A. 4. 5. 8, εἰ δέ τις καὶ ἀντίποι, εὐθὺς . . . ἐπεθρήκει but if any one even made an objection, he was promptly put to death T. 8. 86, εἰ μὲν ἐπύοιεν οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι, ὑπεχώρουν, εἰ δ' ἀναχωροῖεν, ἐπέκειντο if the Athenians advanced, they retreated; if they retired, they fell upon them 7. 79, ἐπὶ μὲν δ' εἰ τὶ καλὸν πράττουεν, παρίστατο δ' εἰ τις συμφορὰ συμβαίνοι he honoured them if ever they performed some noble action, and stood by them in times of misfortune (lit. if any misfortune befell) X. Ag. 7. 3.

a. The optative is here sometimes called the iterative optative. This mood has however no iterative force in itself, the idea of repetition being derived solely from the context. In Homer the iterative optative after ei (found only Ω 768) is an extension of the iterative optative in temporal clauses where this use originated.

2341. The iterative imperfect or aorist with αν (1894, 1933): ei de tis autō perit tou antilegai . . . , epi tēn hypōthesin epaignēgen an panta tōn logon if ever any one opposed him on any matter, he would always bring the entire discussion back to the main point X. M. 4. 6. 13, ei tis autō dokein . . . blakeuein, eklegeto meos tōn epitēdeion epaisēn an if ever any one seemed to be lagging, he would always pick out the likely man and strike him X. A. 2. 3. 11. These cases are not to be confused with the apodosis of unreal conditions.

INDICATIVE FORM OF GENERAL CONDITIONS

2342. Present: protasis, ei with the present; apodosis, the present. Past: protasis, ei with the imperfect; apodosis, the imperfect.

The protasis usually has ei tis, ei ti (cp. ostis, o ti) with the indicative, as ei tis duo ē kai ti pleious hmerās logizetai, mataiōs estin if ever any one counts upon two or even perchance on more days, he is rash S. Tr. 944, eleuthēros de . . . politeuomen . . . , ou di' orgēs tōn pelas, ei kath' hōdōn ti drō, echortes we are tolerant in our public life, not being angry at our neighbour if he acts as he likes T. 2. 37, tā mēn agōgima, ei ti hgon, exairoumenoi phlakas kathistasan taking out the cargoes, if the vessels carried anything, they appointed guards X. A. 5. 1. 16, ei tis ti epērotā, apekrinonto if ever anybody asked any questions (for additional information) they answered T. 7. 10, ēmaiei ouk ei tis kakōs pāsχων hmbreto, all' ei tis euergetoumenos achāristos phaineto (2340) he hated not the man who, on suffering ill, retaliated, but him who seemed ungrateful though he had received kindness X. Ag. 11. 3.

DIFFERENT FORMS OF CONDITIONAL SENTENCES IN THE SAME SENTENCE

2343. The same period may show different forms of conditional sentences according to the exigency of the thought.

tautō toinun tout' an epoiēse Philippos, ei tina toutōn eide dikēn dōnta, kai nūn, an idē, poiēsei this very same thing then Philip would have done, if he had seen any one of these men being punished; and will do so now, if he sees it D. 19. 138, ei oūn epitūmeis eudokimein . . . , peiō katēgāsasthai ōs mālιστα tō eideinai a boulei prāttein. ēan gar toutō diēnēkās tōn allōn epicheirēs tā tēs pōlews prāttein, ouk an thaumāsaimi ei pān bādilis tōchous ōn epitūmeis if then you desire to enjoy an honourable fame . . . , try to acquire as far as possible the knowledge of what you wish to do; for if, differing in this regard from other men, you attempt to deal with affairs of state, I should not be surprised if you were to attain the object of your ambition with great ease X. M. 3. 6. 18.

VARIATIONS FROM THE ORDINARY FORMS AND MEANINGS OF CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

MODIFICATIONS OF THE PROTASIS

2344. Substitutions for the Protasis.—For the protasis with εἰ there may be substituted a participle, often in the genitive absolute (2067, 2070), an adverb, a prepositional phrase, a relative clause (2560), or some other single word or phrase. The present participle represents the imperfect, as the perfect represents the pluperfect.

πῶς ᾔστα δικῆς οὐσης (= εἰ δίκη ἐστίν) ὁ Ζεὺς οὐκ ἀπόλωλεν τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῦ δῆσας; how, pray, if there is any justice, has Zeus not perished since he bound his own father? Ar. Nub. 904, οὐ γὰρ ἦν μοι δῆπον βιωτὸν τοῦτο ποιήσαντα (= εἰ ἐποίησα) for of course life had not been worth living if I had done this D. 21. 120, οὐ γὰρ ἂν ἐβλήθη ἀτρεμίζων καὶ μὴ διατρέχων (= εἰ ἠτρέμυζε καὶ μὴ διέτρεχε) for he would not have been hid if he had been keeping quiet and not running across Ant. 3. β. 5, δικαίως ἂν ἀπέθανον I should justly (i.e. if I had met with my deserts) have been put to death D. 18. 209, ἐμοὶ δὲ ἄρκουν ἂν ἐδόκει εἶναι for myself (i.e. if I had to decide) it would seem to be sufficient T. 2. 35, διδ γε ὑμᾶς αὐτοὺς (= εἰ ὑμεῖς αὐτοὶ μόνοι ἦτε) πάλαι ἂν ἀπολώλιτε if you had been left to yourselves, you would have perished long ago D. 18. 49, δλοῦμαι μὴ μαθῶν (= ἐὰν μὴ μάθω) I shall be undone if I don't learn Ar. Nub. 792, νικῶντες (= εἰ νικῶν) μὲν οὐδένα ἂν κατακάνουεν, ἡττηθέντων (= εἰ ἡττηθείεν) οὐδένα ἂν λειψθείη should they be victorious they would kill no one, but if defeated no one would be left X. A. 3. 1. 2, οὕτω (= εἰ οὕτως ἔχουεν) γὰρ πρὸς τὸ ἐπιέναι τοῖς ἐναντοῖς εὐψυχότατοι ἂν εἴεν for thus they would be most courageous in regard to attacking the enemy T. 2. 11, οὐδ' ἂν δικαίως ἐς κακὸν πέσοιμι τι nor should I justly come to any trouble S. Ant. 240.

a. Sometimes the protasis has to be supplied from what precedes (example in 1825); or from a main clause with ἀλλά, which follows: οὐδέ κεν αὐτὸς ὑπέκφυγε κῆρα μέλαιναν· ἀλλ' Ἥφαιστος ἔρυτο (= εἰ μὴ ἔρυτο) nor would he himself have escaped black fate; but Hephaestus guarded him E 23 (cp. X. A. 3. 2. 24–25).

2345. Verb of the Protasis Omitted.—The verb of the protasis is usually omitted when the apodosis has the same verb. The protasis is often introduced by εἴ τις, εἴ ποτε, εἴπερ (ποτέ).

εἴ τις καὶ ἄλλος ἀνὴρ, καὶ Κύρος δξίος ἐστὶ θαυμάζεσθαι if any other man (is worthy to be admired), Cyrus, too, is worthy to be admired X. C. 5. 1. 6, φημι δεῖν . . . τῷ πολέμῳ προσέχειν, εἴπερ ποτέ (ἔδει), καὶ νῦν I say that we must now, if ever, apply ourselves to the war D. 1. 6.

2346. So with certain special phrases:

a. εἰ μὴ (if not) except: οὐ γὰρ . . . ὁρῶμεν εἰ μὴ ὀλίγους τοὺς ἀνθρώπους for we do not see any except a few men yonder X. A. 4. 7. 5, οὐ γὰρ ἂν ποτε ἐξήρουν ἐρευνᾶν τὰ μετέωρα πράγματα, εἰ μὴ κρεμᾶσας τὸ νόημα for I could never have discovered aright things celestial, except by suspending the intellect Ar. Nub. 229. So εἰ μὴ D. 24. 45 (in a decree).

b. εἰ μὴ εἰ (if not if, unless if) except if: ἐπράχθη τε οὐδὲν ἀπ' αὐτῶν ἔργων δξιδόλογον, εἰ μὴ εἰ τι πρὸς τοὺς περιόλους τοὺς αὐτῶν ἐκάστοις and nothing noteworthy was done on their part except it might be (lit. except if there was done) something between each of them and his neighbours T. 1. 17. Here ei μὴ is adverbial.

c. ei μὴ διὰ (if not on account of) except for: (οὐ) Μιλτιάδην . . . εἰς τὸ βάραθρον ἐμβαλεῖν ἐψηφίσαντο, καὶ ei μὴ διὰ τὸν πρύτανιν, ἐνέπεσεν ἄν; did they not vote to throw Miltiades into the pit, and except for the prytan would he not have been thrown there? P. G. 516 e. With ei μὴ διὰ the ellipsis (which was not conscious to the Greeks) is to be supplied by the negatived predicate of the main clause (here οὐκ ἐνέπεσεν).

d. ei δὲ μὴ (but if not = si minus, sin aliter) otherwise, in alternatives, introduces a supposition opposed to something just said: ἀπῆρει τὰ τῶν Καλχηδονίων χρήματα · ei δὲ μὴ, πολεμήσειν ἔφη αὐτοῖς he demanded back the property of the Calchedonians; otherwise (i.e. if they should not restore it: ei μὴ ἀποδοῖεν) he said that he should make war upon them X. H. 1. 3. 3.

N. 1. — ei δὲ μὴ often occurs even where the preceding clause is negative and we expect ei δέ, as μὴ ποιήσης ταῦτα · ei δὲ μὴ . . . αἰτιῶν ἔξεις do not do this; but if you do, you will have the blame X. A. 7. 1. 8. Conversely ei δέ, where we expect ei δὲ μὴ, as ei μὲν βούλεται, ἐφέτω · ei δ', ὅ τι βούλεται, τοῦτο ποιείτω if he wishes, let him boil me; otherwise, let him do whatever he wishes P. Eu. 285 c.

N. 2. — ei δὲ μὴ is used where (after a preceding εἰάν) we expect εἰάν δὲ μὴ, as εἰάν μὲν τι ὑμῖν δοκῶ ἀληθὲς λέγειν, ξυνομολογήσατε · ei δὲ μὴ, ἀντιτείνετε if I seem to you to speak the truth, agree with me; otherwise, oppose me P. Ph. 91 c.

N. 3. — The verb of the apodosis of the first of the alternatives is often omitted: εἰάν μὲν ἐκὼν πείθηται (scil. καλῶς ἔξει) · ei δὲ μὴ . . . εὐθύνουσιν ἀπειλαῖς if he willingly obeys (it will be well); otherwise they straighten him by threats P. Pr. 325 d.

2347. On ὥς ei in comparative conditional clauses see 2484.

2348. In the Homeric ei δ' ἄγε come now, well! ei probably has the force of an interjectional or demonstrative adverb (cp. Lat. eia age). Thus, ei δ' ἄγε τοι κεφαλῇ καταπέσσομαι come now! I will now assent to thee with my head A 524.

2349. Omission of the Protasis. — The potential optative, and the indicative, with ἄν stand in independent sentences; in many cases a protasis may be supplied either from the context or generally; in other cases there was probably no conscious ellipsis at all; and in others there was certainly no ellipsis. Cp. 1785, 1825.

τοῦ δῆτ' ἄν εἰεν οἱ ξένοι; where, pray (should I inquire) would the strangers be found to be? S. El. 1450, ἀριθμὸν δὲ γράψαι . . . οὐκ ἄν ἐδυνάμην ἀκριβῶς but to give the number accurately I should not be able (if I were trying) T. 5. 68. δεινὸν οὐδ' ἦν ψεύσασθαι it had been terrible to break my word (if it had been possible) D. 19. 172.

MODIFICATIONS OF THE APODOSIS

2350. The apodosis may be expressed in a participle or infinitive with or without ἄν as the construction may require; cp. 1846, 1848.

αἰτεῖ αὐτὸν εἰς δισχίλιους ξένους καὶ τριῶν μηνῶν μισθόν, ὥς οὕτως περιγεγόμενος (= περιγενομένη) ἄν τῶν ἀντιστασιωτῶν he asked him for pay for two thousand mercenaries and for three months, stating that thus he would get the better of his adversaries X. A. 1. 1. 10. (Here οὕτως represents the protasis, 2344.) οὐδενὸς ἀντειπόντος διὰ τὸ μὴ ἀνασχέσθαι ἂν τὴν ἐκκλησίαν no one spoke in opposition because the assembly would not have suffered it (= εἰ ἀντίειπε, οὐκ ἂν ἠρέσχετο ἡ ἐκκλησία) X. H. 1. 4. 20, εἰ (Τεγῆ) σφίσι προσγένοιτο, νομίζοντες ἀπῶσαν ἂν ἔχειν Πελοπόννησον they thought that, if Tegea too should come over to them, they would have the whole of the Peloponnese T. 5. 32. See 2616.

2351. Verb of the Apodosis Omitted.—The verb of the apodosis is often omitted, and especially when the protasis has the same verb (cp. 2345). Here a potential optative with ἂν is represented by ἂν alone (1764 a, 1766 a). Thus, εἰ δὲ τῷ σοφώτερός του φαίην εἶναι, τοῦτῳ ἂν (φαίην εἶναι) if I should say that in any respect I am wiser than any one, (I should say) in this P. A. 29 b. Also in other cases, as τί δὴρ' ἂν (λέγοις), ἔτερον εἰ πύθοιο Σωκράτους φρόντισμα; what then would (you say), if you should hear another excoigation of Socrates? Ar. Nub. 154. On ὥσπερ εἰ, ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ, ὥς εἰ, see 1766 a, 2478, 2484.

2352. Omission of the Apodosis.—a. When the conclusion is it is well (καλῶς ἔχει) or the like, it is often omitted. So often when the second of alternative opposing suppositions is expressed by εἰ δὲ μή (2346 d, n. 3). Cp. "yet now, if thou wilt forgive this sin, —: and if not, blot me . . . out of thy book" (Exodus 32. 32).

b. When we should introduce the conclusion by know that or I tell you: εἰ καὶ οἶμαι με ἀδικοῦντά τι ἀγεσθαι, οὔτε ἔπαιον οὐδένα οὔτε ἔβαλλον if you possibly think that I was taken for some wrong-doing, know that I neither struck nor hit any one X. A. 6. 6. 27. Here the apodosis might be introduced by ἐπέψασθε, ἐνθυμήθητε, etc.

c. Sometimes when the protasis is merely parenthetical: ὁ χρῦςός, εἰ βούλωμαι τῆληθῇ λέγειν, ἔκτεινε τὸν ἐμὸν παῖδα it was the gold—wouldst thou only tell the truth—that slew my child E. Hec. 1206.

d. In passionate speech for rhetorical effect (aposiopēsis, 3015): εἰ περ γάρ κ' ἐθέλῃσιν Ὀλύμπιος ἀστεροπητῆς ἐξ ἐδένω στυφελίζαι· ὁ γὰρ πολὺ φέρτατός ἐστιν for if indeed the Olympian lord of the lightning will to thrust us out from our habitations, thrust us he will; for he is by far the most powerful A 581.

e. There is properly no omission of an apodosis after clauses with εἰ, εἰ γάρ, εἴθε, etc., in wishes (see 1816). In such clauses it is often possible to find an apodosis in an appended final clause: ποταῖαν εἰ μέ τις θεῶν κτίσαι, διπτόταμον ἴνα πόλιν μύλω if only some one of the gods were to make me winged so that I might come to the city of twin rivers! E. Supp. 621.

PROTASIS AND APODOSIS COMBINED

2353. εἰ and ἂν both in Protasis.—The potential optative with ἂν or the unreal indicative with εἰ, standing as the apodosis in the conditional clause with εἰ, is the apodosis of another protasis expressed or understood.

a. Potential Optative.—ἀλλὰ μὴν εἰ γε μηδὲ δοῦλον ἀκρατῇ δεξαίμεθ' ἂν, πῶς οὐκ ἀξίον αὐτὸν γε φυλάσσειν τοιοῦτον γενέσθαι; and yet indeed if we would not accept even a slave who was intemperate, how is it not right for a man (the master) to guard against becoming so himself? X. M. 1. 5. 3. Here δεξαίμεθα is the protasis with ei; and also, with άν, the apodosis to an understood protasis (e.g. if we should think of so doing). The verb of the protasis may be contained in a participle, as ei δὲ μηδὲς ἂν ὑμῶν ἀξιώσειε ζῆν ἀποστερούμενος τῆς πατρίδος, προσήκει κτλ. but if no one of you should think life worth having if he were to be deprived of his country, it is right, etc. I. 6. 25. Such clauses form simple present conditions (if it is true that we would accept, etc.). The verb following the compressed condition stands usually in the present, at times in the future, indicative. X. C. 3. 3. 55: θαυμάζοιμι ἂν . . . ei ἂν ὠφελήσειε is an exception.

b. Unreal Indicative. — ei τοίνυν τοῦτο ισχυρὸν ἦν ἂν τούτῳ τεκμήριον . . . , κἀμοὶ γένεσθαι τεκμήριον if then this would have been strong evidence for him (if he had been able to bring it forward), let it be evidence for me too D. 49. 58. This is a present condition (if it is true that this would, etc.) except in so far as the unexpressed protasis refers to the past. Such conditions may also be past.

N. 1. — The real protasis is: if it is (or was) the case that something could now (or hereafter) be (or could have been), it follows that.

N. 2. — In some of these cases, ei has almost the force of etw since (D. 49. 58).

2354. ei, ἔάν, on the chance that. — ei or ἔάν may set forth the motive for the action or feeling expressed by the apodosis, and with the force of on the chance that, in case that, in the hope that, if haply.

After primary tenses in the apodosis, we have ei with the indicative or ἔάν (πως) with the subjunctive; after secondary tenses, ei with the optative or, occasionally, ἔάν (πως) with the subjunctive. Homer has sometimes the optative after primary tenses. The reference is to the future as in final clauses.

The protasis here depends, not on the apodosis proper, but on the idea of purpose or desire suggested by the thought. The accomplishment of the purpose may be desired or not desired, and by the subject either of the apodosis or of the protasis.

νῦν αὖτ' ἐγχείη περὶ ἥσσομαι, αἶ κε τύχωμι but now I will make trial with my spear on the chance (in the hope) that I may hit thee E 279, ἀκουσον καὶ ἐμοῦ, ἔάν σοι ἔτι ταῦτ' ἀοκῇ listen to me too on the chance (in the hope) that you may still have the same opinion P. R. 358 b, πορευόμενοι ἐς τὴν Ἀσίαν ὥς βασιλέα, ei πως πείσειαυ αὐτόν going into Asia to the king in the hope that somehow they might persuade him T. 2. 67, πρὸς τὴν πόλιν, ei ἐπιβηθοῖεν, ἐχώρουν they advanced toward the city on the chance that they (the citizens) should make a sally 6. 100.

N. — This use is to be distinguished from that of ei ἄρα if perchance, ei μὴ ἄρα unless perchance (often ironical).

a. This construction should be distinguished from cases like ἐπιβουλεύουσιν . . . ἐξελθεῖν . . . , ἢν δύνωται βιάσασθαι they planned to get out, if they might make their way by force T. 3. 20, where we have implied indirect discourse (ἐξέλθωμεν, ἢν δυνώμεθα βιάσασθαι).

b. Homer uses this construction as an object clause in dependence on οἶδα, εἶδον, or on a verb of saying. Thus τίς δ' οἶδ', ei κέν αἱ σὸν δαίμονι θυμὸν ὀρίτω παρεϊπών; who knows if, perchance, with God's help I may rouse his spirit by persuasion? O 403 (i.e. the chances of rousing his spirit, if haply I may), ἐλπίσας, ei πως . . . ὑπεκπροφύγοιμι Χάρυβδι tell me if haply I shall (might) escape Charybdis μ 112. Here the apodosis is entirely suppressed. Observe that this construction is not an indirect question.

LESS USUAL COMBINATIONS OF COMPLETE PROTASIS AND APODOSIS

2355. In addition to the ordinary forms of correspondence between protasis and apodosis (2297), Greek shows many other combinations expressing distinct shades of feeling. Most of these combinations, though less frequent than the ordinary forms, are no less "regular." Shift of mental attitude is a known fact of all speech, though the relation of cause to effect must not be obscured. A speaker or writer, having begun his sentence with a protasis of one type, may alter the course of his thought: with the result that he may conclude with an apodosis of another form, in some cases even with an apodosis "unsymmetrical" with the protasis and logically dependent upon a protasis that is only suggested by the form actually adopted. Since either protasis or apodosis may choose the form of expression best suited to the meaning, the student should beware of thinking that conditional sentences invariably follow a conventional pattern, departure from which is to be counted as violation of rule. Some combinations are less usual than others: most of the more common variations from the ordinary type have been mentioned under the appropriate sections, and are here summarized (2356-2358). Special cases are considered in 2359-2365.

2356. The optative with ἄν (the potential optative) may be used as the apodosis of

- εἰ* with the indicative in Simple Present and Past conditions (2300 c),
- εἰ* with the past indicative in Unreal conditions in Homer (rarely in Attic, 2312),
- εἰ* with the future indicative in Emotional Future conditions (2328),
- εἰ* with the optative in Less Vivid Future conditions (2329). In Present conditions (2353): εἰ λέγοιμ' ἄν supposing I would say, whereas εἰ λέγοιμι means supposing I should say.

ἔάν with the subjunctive in More Vivid Future conditions (2326 d).

a. When the protasis is a future indicative or a subjunctive, the optative with ἄν sometimes seems to be merely a mild future and to have no potential force. Thus, ἦν οὖν μάθης μοι τὸν ἄδικον τοῦτον λόγον, οὐκ ἄν ἀπδοίην οὐδ' ἄν ὀβολὸν οὐδενί if then you learn this unjust reason for me, I will not pay even an obol to anybody Ar. Nub. 116.

2357. The subjunctive of exhortation, prohibition, or deliberation, the optative of wish, and the imperative, may be used as the apodosis of

- εἰ* with the indicative in Simple Present and Past conditions (2300 c, d, f),
- εἰ* with the future indicative in Emotional Future conditions (2328),
- ἔάν* with the subjunctive in More Vivid Future conditions (2326 c-e).

2358. The unreal indicative with or without ἄν may be used as the apodosis of

- a. εἰ with the indicative in Simple Present and Past conditions (2300 b). So after εἰ with the future denoting present intention or necessity that something shall be done (2301), as εἰ γὰρ γυναῖκες εἰς τὸδ' ἔξουσιν θράσους . . . , παρ' οὐδενί αἰνὰς ἢν ἂν δαλλῶναι πόσει for if women are to reach this height of boldness, it would be as nothing for them to destroy their husbands E. Or. 566.

b. ei with the past indicative in Present and Past Unreal conditions (2302).

ei with the Optative, Apodosis a primary tense of the Indicative, etc.

2359. ei with the optative (instead of ἐάν with the subjunctive) is not infrequent in the protasis with a primary tense of the indicative, a subjunctive, or an imperative, in the apodosis. The reference is usually either to general present time (with the present indicative), or to future time. When the apodosis contains a present indicative it frequently precedes the protasis.

a. Compare the analogous usage in English commonly with should, would: "There is some soul of goodness in things evil, would men observingly distil it" (Shakespeare). "If you should die, my death shall follow yours" (Dryden). "I shall scarcely figure in history, if under my guidance such visitations should accrue" (Disraeli). "If he should kill thee . . . , he has nothing to lose" (Sedley). "But if an happy soil should be withheld . . . think it not beneath thy toil" (Phillips).

2360. Present Indicative. — a. In general statements and maxims. The apodosis is sometimes introduced by a verb requiring the infinitive.

ἀνδρῶν γὰρ σωφρόνων μὲν ἐστίν, εἰ μὴ ἀδικοῖντο, ἡσυχάζειν for it is the part of prudent men to remain quiet if they should not be wronged T. 1. 120, εἰ τι τυγχάνου τακόν, εἰς ὁμματ' εὖνον φωτὸς ἐμβλέψαι γλυκὺ (ἐστίν) if any ill betide, 'tis sweet to look into the face of a loyal friend E. Ion 731, τί δει καλῆς γυναικός, εἰ μὴ τὰς φρένας χρηστὰς ἔχοι; what boots the beauty of a woman if she have not a mind that is chaste? E. fr. 212.

b. The present indicative sometimes has the force of an emphatic future. Thus, πᾶντ' ἔχεις, εἰ σε τούτων μοῖρ' ἐφίκουτο καλῶν thou hast all things, should the portion of these honours come to thee Pindar, Isthm. 4 (5). 14. Present and future occur together in Ant. 4. a. 4.

c. Other examples of the present: Hom. I 318, α 414, ε 484, η 51, θ 138, ξ 56; Hesiod Op. 602 (εἰ κε); Pind. Pyth. 1. 81, 8. 13, Isthm. 2. 33; Bacchylides 5. 187; Hdt. 1. 32; S. Ant. 1032, O. T. 249; E. Hec. 786, fr. 212, 253 (v. l.); T. 2. 39, 3. 9, 4. 59, 6. 86; X. C. 1. 6. 43, H. G. 3. 5, 6. 5. 52, O. 1. 4, 1. 5; P. A. 19 e, Cr. 46 b, Pr. 316 c, 329 a, b, L. 927 c; Isocr. 14. 39; D. 18. 21, 20. 54, 20. 154, 24. 35; Antiphanes fr. 324.

2361. Future Indicative. — ei σώσαιμ' σ', εἰσθ' μοι χάριν; should I save thee, wilt thou be grateful to me? E. frag. 129, τί τῷ πλῆθει περιγενήσεται εἰ ποιήσαιμεν & ἐκείνοι προστάττουσιν; what profit will there be for the people, if we should do what they enjoin? L. 34. 6.

a. Other examples: Hom. I 388, K 222, T 100 (B 488, ρ 539, δν (κε) with fut. or subj.); Pind. Ol. 13. 105; S. O. T. 851; Ant. 4. a. 4; T. 1. 121; P. Meno 80 d, Ph. 91 a, L. 658 c; Isocr. 2. 45, 9. 66; Aristotle, Nic. Eth. 1096 b. 6, 1100 b. 4; Lucian, Timon 15.

2362. Perfect Indicative (very rare). — ei . . . διδάξειεν ὡς οἱ θεοὶ ἅπαντες τὸν τοιούτον θάνατον ἡγοῦνται ἀδικον εἶναι, τί μᾶλλον ἐγὼ μεμάθηκα . . . τί ποτ' ἐστὶ τὸ δσιον; if he should prove that all the gods consider such a death unjust, how have I learned anything more of the nature of piety? P. Euth. 9 c.

2363. Subjunctive (very rare). — εἰ δὲ βουλοί γε, καὶ τὴν μαντικὴν εἶναι ἐν-χωρήσωμεν ἐπιστήμην τοῦ μέλλοντος ἔσεσθαι but if you will, let us agree that mantic too is a knowledge of the future P. Charm. 173 c. Cp. X. O. 8. 10; A 386 (ἀν with subj.), Ψ 893, δ 388 (?).

2364. Imperative. — εἰ τις τάδε παραβαίνει . . . , ἐναγῆς ἔστω if any one transgresses these injunctions, let him be accursed Aes. 3. 110 (quoted from an ancient imprecation), τὸ μὲν δὴ ἀργύριον, εἰ μὴ τις ἐπίσταιτο αὐτῷ χρῆσθαι, οὕτω πόρρω ἀπωθείσθω ὥστε μὴδὲ χρήματα εἶναι but as regards money then, if a man does not know how to use it, let him remove it so far from his consideration as not to be regarded even as property X. O. 1. 14. Cp. P. Hipp. M. 297 e, L. 642 a.

2365. An unreal indicative in conjunction with εἰ and the optative is very rare.

εἰ μὲν γὰρ εἰς γυναῖκα σωφρονεστέραν ξίφος μεθείμεν, δυσκλεῆς ἂν ᾖ φόβος (for ἂν εἴη) for if we should draw the sword upon a purer woman, foul were the murder E. Or. 1132. Cp. L. 10. 8, X. C. 2. 1. 9 (text doubtful) and X. Ven. 12. 22, P. Alc. 1, 111 e, Lyc. 66.

TWO OR MORE PROTASES OR APODOSES IN ONE SENTENCE

2366. A conditional sentence may have several protases and one apodosis or one protasis and several apodoses. Two such protases or apodoses are coördinate or one of the two is subordinate to the other.

2367. Two coördinated protases with a single apodosis, or two coördinated apodoses with a single protasis, may refer to the same time or to different times.

εἰ δὲ μήτ' ἔστι (τι βέλτιον) μήτ' ἦν μήτ' ἂν εἰπεῖν ἔχοι μηδεὶς μηδέπω καὶ τήμερον, τί τὸν σύμβουλον ἐχρῆν ποιεῖν; but if there neither is nor was any better plan, and if yet even to-day no one can suggest any, what was it the duty of the statesman to do? D. 18. 190, καὶ γὰρ ἂν καὶ ὑπερφυῖς εἴη, εἰ κατὰ μὲν τῶν Ὀλυνθίων προδόντων πολλὰ καὶ δεῖν' ἐψηφίσασθε, τοὺς δὲ παρ' ὑμῶν αὐτοῖς ἀδικούντας μὴ κολάζοντες φαίνοισθε and in fact it would be actually monstrous if, whereas you have passed many severe votes against the betrayers of the Olynthians, you appear not to punish the wrong-doers in your midst D. 19. 267, εἰ ἐγὼ ἐπεχείρησα πράττειν τὰ πολιτικά πράγματα, πάλας ἂν ἀπολώλη καὶ οὐτ' ἂν ὑμᾶς ὠφελήκη οὐδὲν οὐτ' ἂν ἐμάντον if I had tried to engage in politics, I should have long ago perished and benefited neither you nor myself at all P. A. 31 d.

2368. When two or more protases are not coördinated in the same sentence, one is of chief importance and any other protasis is subordinate to it. Such protases may follow each other or one may be added after the apodosis; and may show the same or a different modal form.

ἀξιοῦμεν, εἰ μὲν τίνα δῶτε σωτηρίαν ἡμῖν (ἐσομένην), ἔάν διακατερῶμεν πολεμῶντες, διδάξαι καὶ ἡμᾶς κτλ. if you see any safety for us if we persist in making war, we beg that you will inform us too what it is X. H. 7. 4. 8 (here ἔάν διακατερῶμεν depends on ei ὁράτε); εἰ δὲ ἡδέα πρὸς λύπηρά (ιστῆς), εἰ μὲν τὰ ἀναιμὰ υπερβάλληται ὑπὸ τῶν ἡδέων, εἰν τε τὰ ἐγγύς ὑπὸ τῶν πόρων εἰν τε τὰ πόρῳ ὑπὸ τῶν ἐγγύς, ταύτην τὴν πρᾶξιν πράκτεον ἐν ἣ ἂν ταῦτ' ἐνῇ· εἰ δὲ τὰ ἡδέα ὑπὸ τῶν ἀναιμῶν, οὐ πράκτέα but if you weigh pleasures against pains, if on the one hand what is painful is exceeded by what is pleasurable (whether the near by the distant or the distant by the near), you must adopt that course of action in which this is the case; if on the other hand the pleasurable (is exceeded) by the painful, the former must not be adopted P. Pr. 356 b (here to εἰν ἡδέα ιστῆς are subordinated εἰν μὲν and εἰν δέ, and to εἰν μὲν are subordinated εἰν τε . . . εἰν τε); εἰ δέ σε ἡρόμην ἐξ ἀρχῆς τί ἐστι καλὸν τε καὶ αἰσχρόν, εἰ μοι ἀπερ νῦν ἀπεκρίνω, ἄρ' οὐκ ἂν ὁρθῶς ἀπεέκρισο; but if I had asked you at the start what beauty and ugliness is—if you had answered me as you have now done, would you not have answered me rightly? P. Hipp. M. 289 c; ἢ μὲν πόλεμον αἰρήσθε, μηκέτι ἤκετε δεῦρο ἀνευ ὅπλων, εἰ σωφροεῖτε if you choose war, come no more hither without arms if you are wise X. C. 3. 2. 13, εἰ μετὰ Θηβαίων ἡμῖν ἀγωνιζομένοις οὕτως εἰμαρτο πράξαι, τί χρὴν προσδοκᾶν εἰ μὴδὲ τούτους ἔσχομεν συμμάχους ἀλλὰ Φιλίππῳ προσέθεντο; if it was decreed by fate that we should fare thus with the Thebans fighting on our side, what ought we to have expected if we had not even secured them as allies but they had joined Philip? D. 18. 195.

a. A second protasis may be added to the first protasis to explain or define it. Thus, καὶ οὐ τοῦτο λέξω ἐρχομαι ὥς πολλὸν μὲν ἐλάττως πολλὸν δὲ χείρονας ἔχων ὁμῶς συνέβαλεν· εἰ γὰρ ταῦτα λέγοιμι, Ἀγισιλᾶόν τ' ἂν μοι δοκῶ ἀφρονα ἀποφαίνειν καὶ ἐμαυτὸν μῶρον, εἰ ἐπαινοίην τὸν περὶ τῶν μεγίστων εἰκῇ κινδυνεύοντα and I am not going to say that he made the engagement in spite of having much fewer and inferior troops; for if I should maintain this, I think that I should be proving Agesilaus senseless and myself a fool, if I should praise the man who rashly incurs danger when the greatest interests are at stake X. Ag. 2. 7.

CONCESSIVE CLAUSES

2369. Concessive clauses are commonly formed by καὶ in conjunction with the ei or εἰν of conditional clauses: καὶ εἰ (κεῖ), καὶ εἰν (κᾶν) even if, εἰ καί, εἰν καί although.

2370. Such concessive clauses are conditional, but indicate that the condition which they introduce may be granted without destroying the conclusion. The apodosis of concessive clauses thus has an adversative meaning, i.e. it states what is regarded as true notwithstanding (ὁμῶς) what is assumed in the protasis.

2371. Concessive clauses have the construction of conditional clauses. The protasis, if negative, takes μή.

2372. καὶ εἰ (even if) clauses. — καὶ εἰ commonly implies that the conclusion must be true or must take place even in the extreme, scarcely conceivable, case which these words introduce (even supposing that, even in the case that). In such cases the speaker does not grant that the alleged condition really exists. On κᾶν εἰ see 1766 b.

καὶ μὴ πέποιθα, τοθργον ἐστ' ἐργαστέον even if I have no confidence, yet the deed must be done A. Ch. 296, καὶ ἐὰν μὴ ἡμεῖς παρακλησώμεθα, (ἡ πόλις) ἱκανῶς ἐπιμελήσεται and even if we do not use exhortations, the city will take sufficient care P. Menex. 248 d, γελᾷ δ' ὁ μῶρος, κἀν τι μὴ γελοῖον ἢ the fool laughs even if there is nothing to laugh at Men. Sent. 108, Μυσοῖς βασιλεὺς πολλοὺς μὲν ἡγεμόνας ἀν δολῇ . . . , καὶ εἰ σὺν τεθρίπποις βούλοιντο ἀπύεσθαι the king would give many guides to the Mysians even supposing they should want to depart with four-horse chariots X. A. 3. 2. 24.

2373. The καὶ of καὶ εἰ may mean simply and, as καὶ τὰδ' εἴσεται Κρέων and if Creon learns this S. Ant. 220.

2374. Some scholars hold that the difference between καὶ εἰ and εἰ καὶ is that καὶ εἰ concedes a supposition and is used of an assumed fact, while εἰ καὶ concedes a fact and is used of an actual fact. But this distinction cannot be supported. καὶ εἰ sometimes differs from εἰ καὶ only in being more emphatic. When an actual fact is referred to, we expect εἰ καὶ; but καὶ εἰ sometimes occurs, as ἴσως τοι, καὶ βλέποντα μὴ 'πρόθουν, θανόντ' ἀν οἰμώξαιαν perhaps, though they did not miss him when alive, they will lament him now that he is dead S. Aj. 962, cp. πειστέον, καὶ μηδὲν ἡδύ although it is in no wise sweet, I must obey S. O. T. 1516.

2375. εἰ καὶ (although) clauses. — εἰ καὶ commonly admits that a condition exists (granting that), but does not regard it as a hindrance. The condition, though it exists, is a matter of no moment so far as the statement in the principal clause is concerned.

εἰ καὶ τυραννεῖς king though thou art S. O. T. 408, πόλιν μὲν, εἰ καὶ μὴ βλέπεις, φρονεῖς δ' ὅμως οἷα πόσι συνέσθιν though thou canst not see, thou yet dost feel with what a plague our city is afflicted S. O. T. 302, εἰ καὶ τῷ σμικρότερον δοκεῖ εἶναι although it seems too unimportant to some P. Lach. 182 c.

2376. The verb is omitted in εἰ καὶ γελοιότερον εἰπεῖν though the expression be ridiculous P. A. 30 c (cp. 944).

2377. The καὶ of εἰ καὶ may go closely with a following word. Here the meaning is either also or indeed; as εἰ καὶ δυνήσκει γε if thou shalt also be able (besides having the will) S. Ant. 90, δεινὸν γ' εἶπας, εἰ καὶ ζῆς θανὼν a strange thing truly hast thou uttered, if, though slain, thou indeed livest S. Aj. 1127. Where traction is assumed (εἰ μὴ καὶ for εἰ καὶ μὴ) the καὶ is intensive, as εἰ μὴ καὶ νῦν . . . ἀλλά if not already . . . at least T. 2. 11. 6, εἰ μὴ καὶ δέδρακεν unless he has actually done it 6. 60. 3.

2378. εἰ (ἐὰν) καὶ not infrequently means even if in prose as well as poetry.

εἴητο μᾶλλον συνειδέναι ἡμᾶς, ἢν', εἰ καὶ βούλοιντο κακὸς εἶναι, μὴ ἔξειη αὐτῷ he preferred rather that you should know of it, in order that, even if he should wish to be base, it might not be possible L. 20. 23, ἀλλ' εἰ καὶ μηδὲν τούτων ὑπῆρχεν ἡμῖν, οὐδ' ὥς χαλεπὸν ἐστὶ γινῶναι περὶ αὐτῶν ὁπότεροι τᾷληθῇ λέγουσιν but even if I had none of these points to rely on, even so it is not difficult to find out which tells the truth D. 41. 15. Cp. also Ant. 5. 27, And. 1. 21, L. 31. 20; Is. 11. 23, D. 16. 24, Aes. 3. 211. εἰ καὶ for καὶ εἰ is especially common in Isocrates, who does not use καὶ εἰ or εἰ except in 21. 11. Demosthenes is not fond of καὶ εἰ, and often substitutes κἀν εἰ for it (19. 282, 24. 109, 45. 12). Cp. 1766 b.

2379. εἰ (ἐὰν) sometimes has a concessive force (X. Eq. 1. 17). εἴπερ (ἐάνπερ has, rarely in Attic, a sort of concessive meaning (P. Euth. 4 b), and especially when the truth of a statement is implicitly denied or doubted. Cp. L. 16. 8.

2380. ἐπεὶ, usually with a following γέ, is sometimes translated although, where a speaker is strictly giving the reason for his statement of a fact (or for something in that statement) and not for the fact itself. Here there is a thought in the speaker's mind which is suppressed. Thus, ἀσχυνοίμην ἂν ἔγωγε τοῦτο ὁμολογεῖν, ἐπεὶ πολλοὶ γέ φᾶσι τῶν ἀνθρώπων for my part I should be ashamed to acknowledge this (and I say this for myself) since there are many men who do assert it P. Pr. 333 c.

2381. Negative concessive clauses have οὐδ' (μηδ') εἰ or εἰάν not even if. Here not (οὐ-, μη-) belongs to the leading clause, while even (-δέ, cp. καί) belongs to the dependent clause. The negative is frequently repeated in the leading clause.

οὐδ' εἰ πάντες ἔλθοιεν Πέρσαι, πλῆθει οὐχ ὑπερβαλοίμεθ' ἂν τοὺς πολεμίους even if all the Persians should come, we should not exceed the enemy in numbers X. C. 2. 1. 8, μη θορυβήσητε, μηδ' εἰάν δόξω τι ὑμῖν μέγα λέγειν do not raise a disturbance, even if I seem to you to be speaking presumptuously P. A. 20 e. Cp. 2382.

2382. The idea of concession or opposition is often expressed by the participle alone (2066) or by the participle with καίπερ or καὶ ταῦτα (2083). The negative is οὐ. In negative concessive sentences we find also the participle with οὐδέ (μηδέ), οὐδέ (μηδέ) περ.

οὐδέ πεπονηὲς κακῶς ἔχθρὸν εἶναι μοι τοῦτον ὁμολογῶ not even though I have been ill-treated do I admit that he is my enemy D. 21. 206, γυναῖκι πείθου μηδὲ τάλπηθ κλύων listen to a woman, even if thou dost not hear the truth E. fr. 440.

TEMPORAL CLAUSES

2383. Temporal clauses are introduced by conjunctions or relative expressions having the force of conjunctions

A. Denoting time usually the same as that of the principal verb:

ὅτε, ὁπότε, ἡνίκα, ὁπηνίκα when; ὅσakis as often as; ἕως, μέχρι (rarely ἄχρι), ὅσον χρόνον so long as; ἕως, ἐν ᾧ (rarely ἐν ὅσῳ and ἕστε) while.

N. 1. — ἕως means so long as in reference to actions that are coextensive; while, in reference to actions not coextensive.

N. 2. — ἡνίκα, ὁπηνίκα have the force of what time, at the moment when, when, (rarely while), and are more precise than ὅτε.

N. 3. — Poetic or Ionic are εἴτε (= ὅτε) when, ἥμος (only with the indicative) when, ὅπως when (ὅκως in Hdt. of antecedent action), ὅφρα so long as. Hom. has εἰος (i.e. ἥος) or εἰως for ἕως.

N. 4. — ἵστε is used (rarely) in lyric, Sophocles, Euripides, Herodotus, Xenophon.

B. Denoting time usually prior to that of the principal verb:

ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδὴ after, after that (less exactly when); ἐπεὶ πρῶτον, ὥς (or ἐπεὶ) τάχιστα, ἐπειδὴ τάχιστα (rarely ὅπως τάχιστα) as soon as; ἐξ οὗ (rarely ἐξ ὧν), ἐξ ὅτου, ἀφ' οὗ since, ever since; ὥς when, as soon as, since.

N. — ἐπειτα after is very common in Herodotus.

C. Denoting time subsequent to that of the principal verb:

ἕως, ἔσπε, μέχρι, μέχρι οὐ (rarely ἄχρι), ἄχρι οὐ until: followed by a finite verb.

πρὶν, πρότερον ἢ before, until: followed by a finite verb or by an infinitive.

N. — Homer has also ὄφρα (also final), εἰς ὅτε (κε), εἰς ὃ (κε). Herodotus has ἕς ὃ, ἕως οὐ, ἕς οὐ until. ὁπότε with the optative in Homer after a past tense of a verb of waiting or expecting means for the time when (H 414). ἔσπε (first in Hesiod) is rare in lyric, tragedy, Herodotus, and Plato, very common in Xenophon. — μέχρι is avoided by the orators. — μέχρι and ἄχρι take the articular infinitive in Demosthenes. — τέως for ἕως is rare (2171).

2384. Demonstrative adverbs in the principal clause often correspond to the relative conjunctions, as ὅτε . . . τότε, ἐν ᾧ . . . ἐν τούτῳ, ἕως . . . τέως (μέχρι τούτου). So also ἐπεὶ . . . τότε, ὡς (ὅτε) . . . ἐνταῦθα, etc.

2385. Some temporal conjunctions also denote cause:

ὅτε, ὁπότε, ἐπεὶ, εὖτε (poet.), ἐπειδὴ since, whereas, ὡς because. ὡς means also as, as to, rarely, in prose, in order that. ἕως in Homer has in part become a final conjunction (2419); for the Attic use, see 2420.

2386. A temporal sentence and a conditional sentence may occur in close conjunction without marked difference of signification.

ὅταν δὲ νοσήσωσιν, ὑγιεῖς γενόμενοι σφύζονται. ἂν τέ τις ἄλλη συμφορὰ καταλαμβάνῃ αὐτοὺς, τὰ ἐναντία ἐπιγινόμενα ὀνήσῃσιν whenever they fall ill, they are saved by regaining their health; and if ever any other calamity overtakes them, the reversal to prosperity that follows is to their benefit Ant. 2. β. 1.

2387. A temporal conjunction is often used in Greek where English employs a conditional or a concessive conjunction.

οὐκ ἂν ἔγωγε Κρονίου ἄσπον ἰκοίμην, . . . ὅτε μὴ αὐτὸς γε κελεύοι I would not draw nearer to Cronus' son unless (lit. when not) he should himself bid me Z 248.

2388. The time denoted by a temporal clause is not always solely contemporaneous, antecedent, or subsequent to that of the principal clause, but may overlap with the time of the principal clause (before and at the same time, at the same time and after, until and after).

ἐπεὶ δὲ ἡσθέnei Δαρείος καὶ ὑπώπτεue τελευτὴν τοῦ βίου, ἐβούλετο τῷ καὶδε παρῆναι when Darius was ill and suspected that his life was coming to an end, he wished his two sons to be with him X. A. 1. 1. 1 (here the situation set forth by ἡσθέnei and ὑπώπτεue occurred both before and after the time indicated in ἐβούλετο), τοιαῦτα ἐποίηε ἕως διεδίδου πάντα ἃ ἔλαβε κρέα he kept doing thus until he saw that (and so long as) he was distributing all the meat he had received X. C. 1. 3. 7 (the imperfect is rare with ἕως or πρὶν until), ὁ δ' ἐν τε τῷ παρόντι πρὸς τὰ μνημόματα ἀπελογεῖτο καὶ ἐτοῖμος ἦν πρὶν ἐκπεῖν κτενεσθαι he both defended himself then and there against the charges and offered to be tried before he sailed T. 6. 29.

a. Conjunctions of antecedent action usually take the aorist, rarely the imperfect except when that tense represents overlapping action, as in T. 5. 72. 3. Cp. T. 1. 13. 5 with 1. 5. 1.

b. A verb of aoristic action is used: in the temporal clause when complete priority, in the main clause when complete subsequence, is to be clearly marked.

2389. Clauses introduced by relative adverbs (or conjunctions) of time, have, in general, the same constructions as clauses introduced by relative pronouns (340, 2493 ff.) and by relative adverbs of place and manner. Temporal clauses are treated separately for the sake of clearness.

a. Temporal clauses introduced by a word meaning until differ from ordinary conditional relatives in some respects, as in the use of the optative in implied indirect discourse (2408, 2420); and in the frequency of the absence of  $\delta\upsilon$  (2402).

b. Strictly  $\delta\tau\epsilon$ ,  $\epsilon\upsilon\theta\alpha$ ,  $\omega\varsigma$ , etc., are subordinating conjunctions when the clause introduced by them fixes the time, place, or manner of the main clause; but are relative adverbs when they serve only to define the antecedent and introduce a clause merely supplementary to the main clause.

2390. Temporal clauses are either definite or indefinite.

2391. A temporal clause is definite when the action occurs at a definite point of time (negative  $\sigma\iota$ , except when the special construction requires  $\mu\eta$ ). Definite temporal clauses usually refer to the present or to the past.

2392. A temporal clause is indefinite when the action (1) occurs in the indefinite future, (2) recurs an indefinite number of times, (3) continues for an indefinite period. The same clause may have more than one of these meanings. (3) is rare. The negative is  $\mu\eta$ . Indefinite temporal clauses refer either to the future or to general present or past time.

2393. The same temporal conjunction may refer either to definite or to indefinite time; sometimes with a difference of meaning.

2394. When the time is definite, the indicative is used; when indefinite, the subjunctive with  $\delta\upsilon$ , the optative, or (rarely) the indicative.

Temporal conjunctions with the subjunctive take  $\delta\upsilon$ . (For exceptions, see 2402, 2412, 2444 b.)  $\delta\upsilon$  is not used with the optative except when the optative is potential, 2406, 2421 (cp. 2452).

INDICATIVE TEMPORAL CLAUSES REFERRING TO PRESENT OR PAST TIME

2395. Present or past temporal clauses take the indicative when the action is marked as a fact and refers to a definite occasion (negative  $\sigma\iota$ ). The principal clause commonly has the indicative, but may take any form of the simple sentence.

A. Temporal clauses denoting the same time as that of the principal verb (2383 A).

δτε ταῦτα ἦν, σχεδὸν μέσαι ἡσαν ὕκτες it was about midnight when this was taking place X. A. 3. 1. 33, cp. 1. 1. 1, cited in 2388, ἤρκα δὲ δειλὴ ἐγένετο, ἐφάνη κοινὸς but when it was getting to be afternoon, a cloud of dust appeared 1. 8. 8, μέχρι ἀπὸ τοῦ ἰσού ἡγοῦντο, προθύμως ἐλόμεθα as long as they led on equal terms we followed willingly T. 3. 10, ὅσον χρόνον ἐκαθέζετο . . . ἀμφὶ τὴν περὶ τὸ φρούριον οἰκονομίαν, . . . ἀπῆγον ἵππους as long as he was employed with regulations about the fortress, they kept bringing horses X. C. 5. 3. 25, ἐν ᾧ ὠπλίζοντο, ἤκον . . . οἱ σκοποὶ while they were arming, the scouts came X. A. 2. 2. 15, ἕως ἐστὶ καίρος, ἀντιλάβεσθε τῶν πραγμάτων 'while there is opportunity, take our public policy in hand' D. 1. 20.

N. μémημαι, οἶδα, ἀκούω often take δτε when instead of δτι that. Thus, μémημαι δτε ἐγὼ πρὸς σέ ἦλθον I remember when (that) I came to you X. C. 1. 6. 12. ἤρκα (and ἦμος in poetry) has a similar use. οἶδα δτε, ἀκούω δτε are probably due to the analogy of μémημαι δτε, originally I remember (the moment) when.

B. Temporal clauses denoting time prior to that of the principal verb (2383 B).

ἐπεὶ δ' ἐξῆλθεν, ἐξήγγειλε τοῖς φίλοις τὴν κρίσιν τοῦ Ὀρόντᾳ ὡς ἐγένετο but after he came out, he announced to his friends how the trial of Orontas had resulted X. A. 1. 6. 5 (observe that the aorist, and not the pluperfect, is commonly used to denote time previous to that of the main verb; cp. 1943), ἐπειδὴ δὲ ἐτελεύτησε Δάρειος . . . Τισσαφέρνης διαβάλλει τὸν Κύρον after Darius died Tissaphernes calumniated Cyrus 1. 1. 3, ὡς τάχιστα ἕως ὑπέφαιεν, ἐθόοντο as soon as daylight indistinctly appeared, they sacrificed 4. 3. 9, ἐξ οὗ φίλος εἶναι προσποιεῖται, ἐκ τούτου βυῖς ἐξηπάτηκεν ever since Philip pretended to be friendly, from that time on he had deceived you D. 23. 193. (On ever since expressed by the dative of the participle, see 1498.)

C. Temporal clauses denoting time subsequent to that of the principal verb (2383 C).

ἔμειναν ἕως ἀφίκοντο οἱ στρατηγοὶ they waited until the generals arrived X. H. 1. 1. 29, λοιδοροῦσι τὸν Σωτηρίδαν ἕστε ἠνάγκασαν . . . πορεύεσθαι they kept reviling Soteridas until they forced him to march on X. A. 3. 4. 49, καὶ ταῦτα ἐποιοῦν μέχρι σκότους ἐγένετο and they kept doing this until darkness came on 4. 2. 4, τοῖς Ἕλλησιν ἀπελῶσατο δουλείας ὥστ' ἐλευθέρους εἶναι μέχρι οὗ πάλιν αὐτοὶ αὐτοὺς κατεδουλώσαντο she released the Greeks from slavery so as to be free until they enslaved themselves P. Menex. 215 a.

δηρὴν ἐφαίνετο ταῦτα πεποιηκῶς . . . ὠμολογεῖν ἄν ἡ κατηγορίᾳ τοῖς ἔργοις αὐτοῦ if it appeared that he had ever done this, his form of accusation would tally with his acts D. 18. 14 (here whenever would make the condition ambiguous). ἐβασάνιζον ἄν μέχρι οὗ αὐτοῖς ἐδόκει they would have kept questioning them under torture as long as they pleased 53. 25, οὐκ ἄν ἐπαύμην . . . ἕως ἀπεπειράθην τῆς σοφίας ταυτοῦ I would not cease until I had made trial of this wisdom P. Crat. 306 c. See 2185 b.

2397. The negative is μή only when the temporal relation is regarded as conditional.

ὅποτε τὸ δίκαιον μὴ οἶδα, ὅ ἐστι, σχολῇ εἶσομαι εἴτε ἀρετὴ τις οὕσα τυγχάνει εἴτε καὶ οὐ when (if) I do not know what justice is, I am scarcely likely to know whether it is or is not a virtue P. R. 354 c.

TEMPORAL CLAUSES REFERRING TO THE FUTURE

2398. The future indicative is rarely used in temporal clauses; and when used refers to definite time.

τηνικαῦτα . . . ὅτε οὐδ' ὅ τι χρὴ ποιεῖν ἔξετε at that time, when you will not be able to do even what is necessary D. 19. 262.

a. The future is rare because that tense does not usually make clear the difference between action continuing and action simply occurring in the future. ὅτε with the future indicative has thus been almost entirely displaced by ὅταν with the subjunctive.

b. For the future with κέ in θ 318 the subjunctive is probably correct.

2399. Temporal clauses referring indefinitely to the future take either the subjunctive with ἄν or the optative without ἄν.

a. The addition of ἄν produces the forms ὅταν, ὁπόταν; ἐπὶ ἄν, ἐπὶ ἄν (both rare in Attic), ἐπειδὴ ἄν. ἕως ἄν, μέχρι ἄν, ὥστ' ἄν mean as long as or until. ὥς when scarcely ever takes ἄν (for ὥς ἄν while ἕως ἄν is read in S. Aj. 1117, Ph. 1830).

b. The temporal conjunctions have here, in general, the same constructions as conditional ἐάν or εἰ. Thus ὁπόταν = ἐάν ποτε, ὅποτε = εἰ ποτε.

2400. The present marks the action as continuing (not completed), the aorist marks the action as simply occurring (completed). The present usually sets forth an action contemporaneous with that of the leading verb; the aorist, an action antecedent to that of the leading verb.

a. The present may denote time antecedent when the verb has no aorist, and in the case of some other verbs: Thus, (ὁ πόλεμος) ὅς λυπήσει ἕκαστον, ἐπειδὴ παρῇ the war which will afflict every one when it comes D. 6. 35, ἐπειδὴ ἀκούῃ . . . ἐτρέπου κρινοντας, τί καὶ ποιήσῃ; when he hears that they are prosecuting other men, what should he then do ? 19. 138.

FUTURE TEMPORAL CLAUSES WITH THE SUBJUNCTIVE

2401. Temporal clauses referring to the future take the subjunctive with ἄν in sentences corresponding to more vivid future conditions. The principal clause has the future indicative or any form of the verb referring to the future except the simple optative. The negative is μή.

ἤνικα δ' ἄν τις ὑμᾶς ἀδικῇ, ἡμεῖς ὑπὲρ ὑμῶν μαχοῦμεθα but when any one wrongs you, we will fight in your defence X. C. 4. 4. 11, ὅταν μὴ σθένω, πεπαύσομαι when my strength fails, I shall cease S. Ant. 91, ἐπειδὴ ἀπαντ' ἀκούσητε, κρίνατε when you have heard everything, decide D. 4. 14, ἐμοὶ . . . δοκεῖ, ἐπὶ ἄν τάχιστα ὀρίσασθωμεν, εἶναι in my judgment we must go as soon as we have breakfasted X. A. 4.

6. 9, μέχρι δ' ἂν ἐγὼ ἦκω, αἱ σπονδαὶ μενόντων but until I return, let the armistice continue 2. 3. 24, λέξω . . . ὥς ἂν ἀκούειν βούλησθε I will speak so long as you wish to listen D. 21. 130, περιμένετε ἔστ' ἂν ἐγὼ ἔλθω wait until I come X. A. 5. 1. 4, μὴ ἀναμένωμεν ὥς ἂν πλείους ἡμῶν γένωνται let us not wait until the enemy outnumber us X. C. 3. 3. 46, οὐκ ἀναμένομεν (present as emphatic future) ὥς ἂν ἡ ἡμετέρα χώρα κακῶται we do not wait until our land shall be ravaged 3. 3. 18. The present subjunctive is rare with ὥς until, and marks overlapping action (here = ὥς ἂν ἰδῶμεν κακούμενην).

2402. The Subjunctive without ἂν (κέ) is sometimes found in poetry and in Herodotus; in Attic prose only with μέχρι, μέχρι οὗ until (and πρίν, 2444 b). Thus, ἐβούλευσαν δεσμοῖς αὐτοὺς φυλάσσειν μέχρι οὗ τι συμβῶσιν they decided to guard them in fetters until they should reach some agreement T. 4. 41. The omission of ἂν is more common after temporal conjunctions than after εἰ (2327 a) and in writers later than Homer lends an archaic colouring to the style.

2403. The principal clause may be a potential optative, which is at times nearly equivalent to the future: ἐγὼ δὲ ταύτην μὲν τὴν εἰρήνην, ὥς ἂν εἰς Ἀθηναίων λείπηται, οὐδέποτε ἂν συμβουλεύσαιμι ποιήσασθαι τῇ πόλει so long as a single Athenian is left, I never would recommend the city to make peace D. 19. 14.

FUTURE TEMPORAL CLAUSES WITH THE OPTATIVE

2404. Temporal clauses referring to the future in sentences corresponding to less vivid future conditions usually take the optative without ἂν. An optative referring to the future stands in the principal clause (2186 b). The negative is μή.

τεθνήην, ὅτε μοι μηκέτι ταῦτα μέλοι may I die, when I shall no longer care for these delights Mimnermus 1. 2, πεινῶν φάγοι ἂν ὅποτε βούλοιο when hungry he would eat whenever he wished X. M. 2. 1. 18, εἰ δὲ βούλοιο τῶν φίλων τινὰ προτρέψασθαι, ὅποτε ἀποδημίης, ἐπιμελίσθαι τῶν σῶν, τί ἂν ποίῃς; should you desire to induce one of your friends to care for your interests when you were away from home, what would you do? 2. 3. 12, δέοιτό γ' ἂν αὐτοῦ μένειν, ὥς ἀπέλθοις he would beg him to remain until you should depart X. C. 5. 3. 13 (here the temporal clause depends on μένειν, itself dependent on δέοιτο ἂν).

2405. The optative with ἂν (κέ) in Homer, where Attic would have the simple optative, is potential or virtually equivalent to a future. Thus, αὐτίκα γάρ με κατακτείνειεν Ἀχιλλεύς . . . , ἐπὶν γόου ἐξ ἔρον εἴην for let Achilles slay me forthwith, when I have satisfied my desire for lamentation Ω 227. Cp. I 304, δ 222, ὥς κε β 78 (potential), εἰς δ κε O 70 (elsewhere this expression always takes the subjunctive in Homer).

2406. The potential optative or indicative (with ἂν) having its proper force may appear in temporal clauses (cp. 2353).

φυλάξας . . . τὸν χειμῶν' ἐπιχειρεῖ, ἥνίκ' ἂν ἡμεῖς μὴ δυνάμεθ' ἐκεῖσ' ἀφικέσθαι by watching for winter to set in he begins his operations when we are unable (he thinks) to reach the spot D. 4. 31. Cp. 2405.

2407. The principal clause rarely has the present or future indicative, when the temporal clause has the optative without ἄν (cp. 2360, 2361, 2573 b, c).

φρονήσεως δὲ πολλῆς πρὸς τοὺς πολὺ πλείους . . . , ὅποτε καιρὸς παραπέσοι when the critical moment arrives, he must have great judgment to cope with forces much more numerous than his own X. Hipp. 7. 4, αἰπύ οἱ ἐσσεῖται . . . rhas ἐνερῆσαι, ὅτε μὴ αὐτὸς γε Κρονίων ἐμβάλοι αἰθόμενον δᾶλδον νῆεσσι hard will it be for him to fire the ships unless (when . . . not) Kronion himself hurl upon the ships a blazing brand N 317.

a. Homer has ἄν (κέ) with the subjunctive; as οὐκ ἄν τοι χραίσμη κίθαρις . . . , δὲ ἐν κοίτῃσι μεγέλης thy cithern will not avail thee when thou grovellest in the dust Γ 55.

2408. After a secondary tense introducing indirect discourse (real or implied) the optative may represent the subjunctive with ἄν as the form in which the thought was conceived.

παρήγγειλαν, ἐπειδὴ δεικνύσαιεν . . . πάντας ἀναπαύεσθαι καὶ ἔπεσθαι ἥνικ' ἄν τις παραγγέλλῃ they issued orders that, when they had supped, all should rest and follow when any one should give the command (= ἐπειδὴ δεικνύσῃεν . . . ἀναπαύεσθαι) X. A. 3. 5. 18, ἐπιμεῖναι κελεύσαντες ἕστε βουλευσάιντο, ἔθοντο ordering them to wait until they had taken counsel, they proceeded to sacrifice (= ἐπιμεῖναι ἕστ' ἄν βουλευσώμεθα) 5. 5. 2, ἔδοξεν αὐτοῖς . . . προῖέναι . . . , ἕως Κόρυς συμμειξίαν they resolved to keep advancing until they should join Cyrus (= προῖεναι ἕως ἄν συμμειξώμεν) 2. 1. 2.

TEMPORAL CLAUSES IN GENERIC SENTENCES

2409. If the leading verb denotes a repeated or customary action or a general truth, a temporal clause takes the subjunctive with ἄν after primary tenses, the optative after secondary tenses. The negative is μή. Cp. 2336.

a. A present tense denotes action continuing (not completed) and is of the same time as that of the leading verb; an aorist tense denotes action simply occurring (completed) and time usually antecedent to that of the leading verb when the action of the dependent clause takes place before the action of the main clause. In clauses of contemporaneous action the aorist denotes the same time as that of the main verb; in clauses of subsequent action, time later than that of the main verb.

b. ὥς is rare in these temporal clauses (Hdt. 1. 17, 4. 172; ὅπως with the optative occurs in 1. 17, 1. 68).

c. On Homeric similes with ὥς ὅτε, ὥς ὅποτε, see 2486.

2410. In temporal sentences of indefinite frequency the temporal clause has the subjunctive with ἄν when the principal clause has the present indicative, or any other tense denoting a present customary or repeated action or a general truth. Cp. 2337.

μαίνόμεθα πάντες ὅποτεν ὀργιζόμεθα we are all mad whenever we are angry Philémon 184, φωνή τις ἤ, ὅταν γένηται, αἰεὶ ἀποτρέπει με a kind of voice which, whenever it comes, always deters me P. A. 31 d, ὅταν σπεύδῃ τις αὐτός, χὼ θεὸς συνάπτεται whenever a man is eager himself, God too works with him A. Pers. 742, ὥς ἂν σφίγῃται τὸ σκάφος . . . , χρὴ καὶ αὐτὴν καὶ κυβερνήτην . . . προθύμους εἶναι . . . , ἐπειδὴ δ' ἡ θάλαττα ὑπέρσχυ, μάταιος ἡ σπουδὴ as long as the vessel remains in safety, both sailor and pilot should exert themselves; but when the sea has overwhelmed it, their efforts are fruitless D. 9. 69, ποιούμεν ταῦθ' ἐκάστοτε' . . . ὥς ἂν αὐτὸν ἐμβάλωμεν ἐς κακὸν we do this on each occasion until we plunge him into misfortune Ar. Nub. 1458.

2411. The verb of the main clause may stand in the participle, or in other tenses than the present indicative: καίπερ τῶν ἀνθρώπων, ἐν ᾧ μὲν ἂν πολεμῶσι, τὸν παρόντα (πόλεμον) δὲ μέγιστον κρίνόντων although men always consider the present war the greatest so long as they are engaged in it T. 1. 21, ὅταν δ' ἐτέρω ταῦτα πᾶραδῶ, καταλέλυκε τὴν αὐτὸς αὐτοῦ δυναστείαν but whenever he surrenders these rights to another, he destroys once and for all his own sovereignty Aes. 3. 233, πολέμοι . . . ἤδη ὅταν . . . καταδουλώσωνται τινες, πολλοὺς δὲ βελτίους ἡγάγκασαν εἶναι enemies ere now have forced improvement upon those whom they have enslaved X. O. 1. 23 (cp. 2338), πολλάκις ἐθαύμασα τῆς τόλμης τῶν λεγόντων ὑπὲρ αὐτοῦ, πλὴν ὅταν ἐνθυμηθῶ κτλ. I have often marvelled at the effrontery of the speakers in his behalf, except when(ever) I consider, etc. L. 12. 41.

2412. ἂν (κέ) is frequently omitted in Homer, and occasionally in lyric and dramatic poetry and in Herodotus, e.g. ἐπεὶ δ' ἀμάρτη, κείνος οὐκέτ' ἔστ' ἀνὴρ ἀβουλος but whenever a man commits an error, that man is no longer heedless S. Ant. 1025.

2413. The present indicative is very rarely used instead of the subjunctive with ἂν in temporal clauses of indefinite frequency. Thus, περὶ τῶν ἄλλων τῶν ἀδικούντων, ὅτε (δρου conj.) δικάζονται, δεῖ παρὰ τῶν κατηγορῶν πυνθέσθαι with regard to other malefactors, one has to learn during their trial (lit. when they are tried) from the accusers L. 22. 22. Cp. 2342.

2414. In temporal sentences of indefinite frequency the temporal clause has the optative when the principal clause has the imperfect or any other tense denoting a past customary or repeated action.

ἐθήρηνεν ἀπὸ ἵππου ὅποτε γυμνάσαι βούλοιο αὐτόν he was wont to hunt on horseback, whenever he wanted to exercise himself X. A. 1. 2. 7, ὅποτε ὥρᾳ εἴη ἀρίστου, ἀνέμεναν αὐτοὺς ἵστε ἐμφάγοιεν τι whenever it was breakfast time, he used to wait until they had eaten something X. C. 8. 1. 44, περιεμένονεν ἐκάστοτε ὥς ἀνοιχθεῖν τὸ δεσμωτήριον· ἐπειδὴ δὲ ἀνοιχθεῖν, εἰσῆμεν we used to wait about on each occasion until the prison was opened; but when(ever) it was opened, we used to go in P. Ph. 59 d. (Observe that ἀνοιχθεῖν marks a repeated past action (until it was regularly opened) and represents the thought of the subject (until it should be opened, cf. 2420; i.e. direct = ὥς ἂν ἀνοιχθῇ).

2415. The optative is rare after a primary tense, and occurs only when that tense includes a reference to the past (ω 254; cp. 2573). — ὅτε κεν with the optative occurs once (I 525).

ἀνῆλθεν Ὀδυσσεύς, στάσκειν, ὅπαι δὲ ἔβασκε κτλ. (cp. 495) but whenever Odysseus arose, he always kept his position and looked down Γ 215, ὅποτε προσβλέψει τις τῶν ἐν ταῖς τάξεσιν, εἰπεν ἄν κτλ. whenever he looked toward any of the men in the ranks, he would say, etc. X. C. 7. 1. 10. Cp. 2341.

2417. The indicative (cp. 2342) is rare in temporal clauses of past indefinite frequency, as καὶ ἦδον καὶ ἐχόρευον ὅποτε οἱ πολέμοι αὐτοὺς ἑρεσθαι ἐμελλον they both sang and danced whenever the enemy were likely to look at them X. A. 4. 7. 16. So with δοάκις referring to particular events of repeated occurrence, as δοάκις κεχορήγηκε . . . πελάκηκε as often as he has been choregus, he has gained a victory X. M. 3. 4. 3.

TEMPORAL CLAUSES DENOTING PURPOSE

2418. Temporal conjunctions denoting limit as to duration (so long as, while) or limit as to termination (until, till) may imply purpose.

a. So ἕως till, against the time when, in order that, πρὶν before, in order that not. ὅρα (poet.) is usually final (in order that) rather than temporal (so long as, while, till, up to the time that). Sometimes in post-Homeric Greek ἕως and the subjunctive (with or without ἄν) has a touch of purpose.

2420. After a secondary tense ἕως with the aorist optative sometimes in Attic prose implies an expectation, hope, or purpose on the part of the subject of the main verb that the action of the temporal clause may be attained. Since such optatives are due to the principle of indirect discourse, the subjunctive with ἄν, denoting mere futurity, might have been used instead.

σπορδᾶς ἐποίησαντο ἕως ἀπαγγελθῆναι τὰ λεχθέντα they made a truce (which they hoped would last) until the terms should be announced X. H. 3. 2. 20 (here we might have had ἕως ἄν ἀπαγγελθῇ), τὰ ἄλλα χωρία εἶχον μένοντες ἕως σφίσι κάκεινοι ποιήσων (= ἄν ποιήσωσι) τὰ εἰρημένα they retained the other places, waiting until they (the Lacedaemonians) on their part should have performed for them (the Athenians) what had been agreed on T. 5. 35. Compare ἕως ἄν ταῦτα διαπράξωνται φυλακὴν . . . κατέλιπε he left a garrison (to remain there) until they should settle these matters X. H. 5. 3. 25 (here ἕως διαπράξαιτο might have been used). Other examples are L. 13. 25, Is. 1. 10, 7. 8 (ἕως οὐ?), X. H. 4. 4. 9, D. 27. 5, 29. 43 (τέως), 33. 8; cp. also Ar. Eq. 133. Present optative in T. 3. 102, X. H. 5. 4. 37.

2421. ἕως ἄν with the optative occurs rarely where it might be thought that the simple optative or ἄν with the subjunctive should be used. Many editors emend, but ἄν may generally be defended as potential, expressing the conviction of the agent. Thus, ἐλεσθε ἀνδρας εἰκοσι· τούτους δὲ ἐπιμελεῖσθαι τῆς πόλεως, ἕως ἄν οἱ νόμοι τεθεῖεν you elected twenty men whose duty it should be to care for the State until such a time as in all probability the laws would be made And. 1. 81. Cp. S. Tr. 687, L. 17, 15, P. Ph. 161 d. So δταν A. Pers. 450, πρὶν ἄν X. H. 2. 3. 48, 2. 4. 18.

SUMMARY OF THE CONSTRUCTIONS OF ἕως AND OF OTHER WORDS MEANING BOTH SO LONG AS AND UNTIL

ἕως so long as, while

Temporal Limit as to Duration (during the time when)

2422. Indicative, when the action of the temporal clause denotes definite duration in the present or past. The present often connotes cause (while, now that, because). The imperfect is used of past action: the main clause has the imperfect usually, but the aorist occurs (T. 5. 60).

2423. Subjunctive (present) with ἄν, when the action lies in the

a. Future, and the verb of the main clause is future indicative or an equivalent form.

b. Present, and the verb of the main clause states a present customary or repeated action or a general truth.

2424. The present optative (of future time) is very rare: in dependence on a past tense (X. H. 5. 4. 37, Aristotle, Athen. Pol. 28 end); by regular assimilation (2186 b) in a less vivid condition (P. Th. 155 a).

ἕως until, till

Temporal Limit as to Termination (up to the time when)

2425. Indicative, of a definite present or past action. The present connotes cause. The aorist is normally used of past action: the main verb is usually imperfect, but the aorist occurs (I. 17. 12).

a. Of a future action the future is very rare: X. C. 7. 5. 39 (4 5 Hdt. 9. 58).

2426. Subjunctive with ἄν, when the action lies in the

a. Future, and the main clause contains a verb referring to the future (except the optative without ἄν). The tense is usually the aorist: the present marks overlapping.

b. Present, and the verb of the main clause states a present customary or repeated action or a general truth.

2427. Optative (usually aorist), when the action lies in the

a. Future, and depends on an optative with ἄν.

b. Past, and depends on a secondary tense expressing or implying indirect discourse. Here the optative represents ἄν with the subjunctive after a primary tense.

c. Past, and the verb of the main clause states a past customary or repeated action.

N.—The present optative in b is rare; the future optative occurs only in X. H. 4. 4. 9, where some read the aorist.

2428. Conjunctions meaning until may have, as an implied or expressed antecedent, μέχρι τούτου up to the time. Thus, μέχρι τούτου Λασθένης φίλος ὠνομάζετο, ἔως προέδωκεν Ὀλυνθόν Lasthenes was called a friend (up to the time when) until he betrayed Olynthus D. 18. 48.

2429. With conjunctions meaning until, when the principal clause is affirmative, it is implied that the action of the verb of the principal clause continues only up to the time when the action of the verb of the until clause takes place. Thus, in the passage cited in 2428, it is implied that Lasthenes ceased to be called a friend after he had betrayed Olynthus.

a. When the principal clause is negative, it is implied* that the action of the verb of the principal clause does not take place until the action of the until clause takes place; as in οὐ πρότερον ἐπαύσαντο ἕως τῇ πάλιν εἰς στάσεις κατέστησαν they did not stop until they divided the city into factions L. 25. 26. In sentences like δεῖ μὴ περιμένειν ἕως ἂν ἐπιστώσιν we must not wait until they are upon us (I. 4. 165), by reason of the meaning of περιμένειν the action of the principal clause ceases before the action of the until clause takes place.

GENERAL RULE FOR πρίν BEFORE, UNTIL

2430. πρίν is construed like other conjunctions meaning until except that it takes the infinitive as well as the indicative, subjunctive, and optative.

2431. After an affirmative clause πρίν usually takes the infinitive and means before.

2432. After a negative clause πρίν means until, and usually takes the indicative (of definite time), the subjunctive or optative (of indefinite time).

a. The subjunctive or optative is never used with πρίν unless the principal clause is negative.

b. When the principal clause is negative, πρίν is construed like ἕως and other words for until (οὐ πρίν = ἕως).

2433. When the principal clause is affirmative, the clause with πρίν simply adds a closer definition of the time. When the principal clause is negative, πρίν defines the time as before, but the closer definition serves also as a condition that must be realized before the action of the principal clause can be realized. Thus, μὴ ἀπέλθῃτε πρίν ἂν ἀκούσῃτε do not go away until you hear X. A. 5. 7. 12 (i.e. without hearing = ἔὰν μὴ ἀκούσῃτε). Cp. οὔτε γὰρ εἰρήνην οἶδν τε βεβαίαν ἀγαγεῖν, ἢν μὴ κοινῇ τοῖς βαρβάροις πολεμήσωμεν, οὐθ' ὁμονοῆσαι τοὺς Ἕλληνας, πρίν ἂν . . . τοῖς κινδύνους πρὸς τοὺς αὐτοὺς ποιησώμεθα neither is it possible to make a lasting peace unless we war in common against the barbarians, nor can the Greeks attain unanimity of sentiment until we encounter our perils in the front of the same enemies I. 4. 173.

2434. πρίν is used with the aorist or (less often) with the imperfect indicative only when πρίν is equivalent to ἕως until; but, when the verb of the main clause is negated, πρίν may be translated by before or until. When πρίν must be rendered by before, it takes the infinitive.

ταῦτα ἐποιοῦν πρὶν Σωκράτης ἀφίκετο I was doing this until Socrates arrived (rare even in poetry; cp. 2441 c).

οὐ ταῦτα ἐποιοῦν πρὶν Σωκράτης ἀφίκετο I was not doing this until (or before) Socrates arrived.

ταῦτα ἐποιοῦν πρὶν Σωκράτην ἀφικέσθαι (not Σωκράτης ἀφίκετο) I was doing this before Socrates arrived.

2435. It is correct to say οὐ ποιήσω τοῦτο πρὶν ἂν κελεύσῃς, ποιήσω (or οὐ ποιήσω) τοῦτο πρὶν κελεύσαι, but incorrect to say ποιήσω τοῦτο πρὶν ἂν κελεύσῃς.

2436. The action of an infinitive introduced by πρὶν before may or may not (according to the sense) actually take place at some time later than the action of the leading verb. The clause with πρὶν signifies merely that the action of the infinitive had not taken place at the time of the leading verb.

2437. The clause with πρὶν may precede or follow the correlated clause. Cp. 2455.

2438. πρὶν is originally a comparative adverb meaning before, i.e. sooner or formerly; and seems to be connected with πρό, πρότερον before. The adverbial force survives in Attic only after the article, as ἐν τοῖς πρὶν λόγοις in the foregoing statements T. 2. 92. The adverbial and original use appears also in Homer wherever πρὶν occurs with the indicative, the anticipatory (futural) subjunctive (1810), or the optative with κέ. Thus, τὴν δ' ἐγὼ οὐ λώσω· πρὶν μὲν καὶ γῆρας ἔπεισιν but her I will not release; sooner shall old age come upon her A 29. οὐδὲ μὲν ἀνστήσεις· πρὶν καὶ κακὸν ἄλλο πάθῃσθα nor shalt thou recall him to life; sooner (before this) thou wilt suffer yet another affliction Ω 551.—From this early coördination was developed the construction of the conjunction πρὶν with the finite moods; but in general only after Homer, who never uses the indicative, and the optative only once (Φ 580), with πρὶν. The required sense was given by ἔως or πρὶν γ' ὅτε δή. A finite mood was first used of the future, and after negative clauses (οὐ πρότερον πρὶν like οὐ πρότερον ἔως).—Homer commonly uses the infinitive with πρὶν meaning before and until. Here the infinitive (as with ὥστε) simply states the abstract verbal notion, and thus has no reference to differences of time or mood; πρὶν being used almost like πρό before as πρὶν ἰδεῖν = πρὸ τοῦ ἰδεῖν before seeing (first in Xenophon). This early use with the infinitive was, with some restrictions, retained in Attic, where the infinitive was sometimes be used instead of the finite verb. πρὶν came more and more to take the subjunctive with ἂν and to assume conditional relations (cp. 2433); while the use with the infinitive was more and more confined to cases where the leading verb was affirmative.

2439. The comparative idea in πρὶν explains its negative force: an event A happened before another event B, i.e. A occurred when B had not yet (ὄφρα) occurred. Because of its negative force πρὶν commonly takes the aorist in all the moods. The aorist has an affinity for the negative because it marks simple and total negation of an action regarded in its mere occurrence; whereas the imperfect with a negative denotes resistance or refusal (1896) in respect of an action regarded as continuing. When πρὶν takes the present in any mood the actions of the correlated clauses usually overlap. The present occurs chiefly in the prose writers of the fourth century.

2440. πρότερον or πρόσθεν may be used in the principal clause as a forerunner of πρίν. Examples in 2441, 2444, 2445.

a. Homer has πρίν . . . πρίν B 348. Attic has also φθάνω . . . πρίν, as φθήσονται πλεύσαντες πρίν τὴν ξυμφορὰν Χίους αἰσθέσθαι they will succeed in making their voyage before the Chians hear of the disaster T. 8. 12.

πρίν WITH THE INDICATIVE

2441. πρίν in Attic prose takes the indicative of a definite past action when the verb of the principal clause is negative or implies a negative, rarely when it is affirmative.

ὅτε τότε Κόρυς λέγει ἤθελε πρίν ἢ γυνὴ αὐτὸν ἔπεισε nor was he willing then to enter into relations with Cyrus until his wife persuaded him X. A. 1. 2. 26, ὁ πρότερον ἐπαύσαντο πρίν τὸν τε πατέρ' ἐκ τοῦ στρατοπέδου μετεπέμψαντο καὶ τῶν φίλων αὐτοῦ τοὺς μὲν ἀπέκτειναν, τοὺς δ' ἐκ τῆς πόλεως ἐξέβαλον they did not stop until they sent for his father from the camp, put some of his friends to death and expelled others from the city I. 10. 8, ὁ πρόσθεν ἐπαύσαντο πρίν ἐξεπολιόρκησαν τὸν Ὀλούρον they did not cease from hostilities until they had captured Olurus by siege X. H. 7. 4. 18, οὐδ' ὥς . . . ἤξιωσαν νεώτερόν τι ποιεῖν ἐς αὐτόν . . . πρίν γε δὴ . . . ἀνὴρ Ἀργίλιος μνηστὴς γίγνεται (historical present = aorist) not even under these circumstances did they think it right to take any severe measures against him, until finally a man of Argilus turned informer T. 1. 132.

a. The tense in the πρίν clause is usually the aorist (the tense of negation, 2439, and of prior action); rarely the imperfect (of contemporaneous, overlapping action), as D. 9. 61. The historical present is also used as an equivalent of the aorist. The principal clause usually has a secondary tense of the indicative. πρίν with the indicative is not common until Herodotus and the Attic writers.

b. The verb of the principal clause may be virtually negative, as τοὺς . . . Ἀθηναίους λαθάρουσι πρίν δὴ τῇ Δῆλῳ ἔσχον they escaped the notice of the Athenians (i.e. οὐχ ὁρῶνται) until they reached Delos T. 3. 29. Cp. T. 3. 104, X. A. 2. 5. 33. Observe that οὐ παύομαι (2441) is not regarded as virtually affirmative.

c. The verb of the principal clause is affirmative in prose only in T. 7. 39, 7. 71, Aes. 1. 64. In all of these cases the leading verb is an imperfect, which emphasizes the continuation of the action up to the point of time expressed by the πρίν clause.

d. The use in Herodotus is the same as in Attic prose. Homer has the indicative (after affirmative or negative clauses) only with πρίν γ' ὅτε until. In the drama πρίν with the indicative is rare. Euripides uses it only after affirmative clauses. When πρίν is = ἕως it often takes δὴ.

2442. A πρίν clause, depending on a past tense denoting non-fulfilment, itself denotes non-fulfilment and takes a past indicative by assimilation (2185 b).

Χρῆν τοίνυν Λεπτινὴν μὴ πρότερον τιθέναι τὸν ἑαυτοῦ νόμον πρίν τοῦτον ἔλυσαι Leptines ought not then to have proposed his own law until (before) he had repealed this D. 20. 96. Cp. 2455 b.

πρίν WITH THE SUBJUNCTIVE

2443. πρίν with the subjunctive and ἄν refers to the future or to general present time.

2444. (I) πρίν takes the subjunctive with ἄν to denote a future action anticipated by the subject of the leading verb. The principal clause is negative, and contains any verb referring to the future except the simple optative.

οὐ πρότερον κακῶν παύσονται αἱ πόλεις πρίν ἂν ἐν αὐταῖς οἱ φιλόσοφοι ἀρξωσιν States will not cease from evil until philosophers become rulers in them P. R. 487 e, μὴ ἀπέλθῃτε πρίν ἂν ἀκούσῃτε do not go away until you hear (shall have heard) X. A. 5. 7. 12, οὐ χρή μ' ἐνθένδε ἀπελθεῖν πρίν ἂν δῶ δίκην I must not depart hence until I have suffered punishment 5. 7. 5, μηδένα φίλον ποιοῦ πρίν ἂν ἐξετάσῃ πῶς κέχρηται τοῖς πρότερον φίλοις make no one your friend until you have inquired how he has treated his former friends I. 1. 24, μὴ ποτ' ἐπαινήσῃ πρίν ἂν εἰδῇς ἄνδρα σαφηνέως never praise a man until you have come to know him well Theognis 963. Observe that the last two examples contain a general truth.

a. The aorist subjunctive is usual (the tense of negation, 2439, and of action prior to that of the principal clause); much less common is the present subjunctive (usually of contemporaneous, overlapping action) as X. C. 2. 2. 8 (2446).

b. Homer does not use κέ or ἄν in this construction since πρίν is here adverbial and its clause is simply coördinated. But Hom. has πρίν γ' ὅτ' ἄν. The subjunctive without ἄν occurs occasionally as an archaism in Hdt. and the dramatic poets. In Attic prose especially in Thuc. (e.g. 6. 10, 29, 38); but ἄν is often inserted by editors.

c. The leading verb is rarely the optative with ἄν (as a form of future expression): οὐκ ἂν ἀπέλθοιμι πρίν παντάπασιν ἡ ἀγορὰ λυθῇ (cp. b) I will not go away until the market is entirely over X. O. 12. 1.

2445. (II) After a negative clause of present time that expresses a customary or repeated action or a general truth, πρίν takes the subjunctive with ἄν.

οὐ πρότερον παύονται πρίν ἂν πελώσιν οὓς ἥδικσαν they do not cease to endure until they have won over those whom they have wronged P. Ph. 114 b.

a. The leading verb may stand in another tense than the present indicative. as οὐδὲς πώποτε ἐπέθετο (empiric aorist, 1930) πρότερον δήμου καταλύσει πρίν ἂν μείζον τῶν δικαστηρίων λυχθή no one has ever attempted the subversion of the people until he became superior to the courts of justice Aes. 3. 235.

2446. After a secondary tense in actual or implied indirect discourse, πρίν with the subjunctive and ἄν is common instead of the optative without ἄν (2449).

εἶπον μηδένα τῶν ὀπισθεν κινεῖσθαι πρίν ἂν ὁ πρόσθεν ἡγήται I ordered that none in the rear should move until the one before him led the way X. C. 2. 2. 8 (here πρίν ἡγοῦτο is possible).

2447. The principal clause may be affirmative in form, but virtually negative.

αἰσχρόν (= οὐ καλόν or οὐ δεῖν) δ' ἡγοῦμαι πρότερον παύσασθαι πρίν ἂν ὑμεῖς περὶ αὐτῶν δ τι ἂν βούλησθε ψηφίσησθε I consider it base (i.e. I do not consider it to be honourable) to stop until you have voted what you wish L. 22. 4. Cf. Thuc. 6. 38, D. 38. 24, E. Heracl. 179.

πρίν WITH THE OPTATIVE

2448. πρίν with the optative is used only in indirect discourse or by assimilation to another optative.

2449. (I) The optative without ἄν follows πρίν to denote an action anticipated in the past when the principal clause is negative and its verb is in a secondary tense. The optative is here in indirect discourse (actual or implied) and represents ἄν with the subjunctive, which is often retained (2446). Cp. 2420.

ἀπηγόρευε μηδένα βάλλειν πρίν Κύρος ἐμπλησθεῖη θηρῶν he forbade any one to shoot until Cyrus should have had his fill of hunting X. C. 1. 4. 14 (= μηδεὶς βαλλέτω πρίν ἂν Κύρος ἐμπλησθῇ), οἱ Ἡλείοι . . . ἔπειθον (αὐτοὺς) μὴ ποιεῖσθαι μάχην πρίν οἱ Θηβαῖοι παραγένοιτο the Eleans persuaded them not to engage in battle until the Thebans should have come up X. H. 6. 5. 19 (= μὴ ποιεῖτε μάχην πρίν ἂν παραγένωται).

a. In indirect discourse the infinitive is preferred (2455 d).

2450. (II) By assimilation of mood, πρίν may take the optative when the negative principal clause has the optative. Cp. 2186 b.

εἰ θῶμαι τις αὐτόν . . . καὶ μὴ ἀρείη πρίν ἐξελεγκέειεν εἰ τὸ τοῦ ἡλίου φῶς κτλ. if one should drag him and not let him go until he had dragged him out into the sunlight, etc. P. R. 515 e.

2451. The optative with πρίν in clauses of customary or repeated action seems not to be used.

2452. πρίν ἄν with the optative is rare and suspected (cp. 2421).

πρίν WITH THE INFINITIVE

2453. πρίν takes the infinitive in Attic especially when the principal clause is affirmative. The infinitive must be used, even with negative clauses, when πρίν must mean only before (and not until).

a. The infinitive is obligatory in Attic when the action of the πρίν clause does not take place or is not to take place (cp. ὥστε μὴ with the infinitive).

b. The infinitive takes the accusative when its subject is different from that of the principal clause.

c. The usual tense is the aorist, the tense of negation (2439) and of the simple occurrence of the action. Less frequent is the present (chiefly in Xenophon), of action continuing, repeated, or attempted (before undertaking to, before proceeding to). The perfect, of action completed with permanent result, is rare.

οὐ καὶ πρὶν ἐμὲ εἰπεῖν ὅτιοις εἰδότες who know even before I say anything π. all D. 18. 50, σύνιστε μὲν καὶ πρὶν ἐμὲ λέγειν you know as well as I do even before I proceed to set forth in detail the matter of my speech Aes. 1. 116, ἀπεπράττοντο ἐς τὴν πόλιν πρὶν ὑπερβαίνειν they turned back to the city before they attempted to scale the wall T. 8. 24.

2454. When the principal clause is affirmative, πρὶν before regularly takes the infinitive.

ἐπὶ τὸ ἄκρον ἀναβαίνει Χειρσοφοῖς πρὶν τινὰ αἰσθῆσθαι τῶν πολεμίων Chirisophus ascended the height before any of the enemy perceived him X. A. 4. 1. 7, πρὶν καταλῦσαι τὸ στράτευμα πρὸς ἄριστον βασιλεὺς ἐφάνη before the army halted for breakfast, the king appeared 1. 10. 19, ἐμψᾶς, πρὶν ἐν Τεγέᾳ αὐτὸς εἶναι, πρὸς τὸν ἀρχοντα τῶν ξένων, ἐκέλευε κτλ. lit. before he himself arrived at Tegea, sending to the commander of the mercenaries, he gave orders, etc. X. H. 5. 4. 37 (αὐτὸς, by attraction to the subject of ἐμψᾶς).

2455. When the main clause is negative, πρὶν sometimes takes the infinitive in Attic, and generally means before, rarely until. When before and after are contrasted, until is out of place, and the πρὶν clause often precedes.

a. In reference to present or past time: πρὶν ὥς Ἀφροδύτην εἶδεν μίαν ἡμέραν οὐκ ἔχθρηνσεν before she came to Aphrodus she was not a widow a single day D. 30. 33, πρὶν μὲν τοῦτο πρᾶξαι Λεωκράτην ἀδελφὸν ἦν ὅποιοι τινες ἐτύγγχανον, νῦν δὲ κτλ. before Leonocrates did this, it was uncertain what sort of men they were; but now, etc. Lyc. 135, πρὶν ἀνάγεσθαι με εἰς τὴν Αἴνον . . . οὐδὲς ἤτιδισατό με before I proceeded to set sail for Aenus no one accused me Ant. 5. 25.

b. In reference to action unfulfilled: οὐκ (λόγους) εἰ τις ἐπέδειξεν αὐτοῖς πρὶν ἐμὲ διαλεχθῆναι περὶ αὐτῶν, οὐκ ἔστιν ὅπως οὐκ ἂν . . . δυσκόλως πρὸς σέ διετέθησαν and if any one had shown these words to them before I discussed them, it is inevitable that they would have been discontented with you I. 12. 250.

c. In reference to future time: οὐχ οἷός τ' ἐστὶν αἰσθῆσθαι πρὶν κακῶς τιμὰς παθεῖν ὑπ' αὐτῶν it is not possible to perceive this before some suffer injury at their hands I. 20. 14, καὶ μοι μὴ θορυβήσῃ μηδεὶς πρὶν ἀκοῦσαι and let no one raise a disturbance before he hears D. 5. 15 (cp. ὅπως μὴ θορυβήσῃ μηδεὶς πρὶν ἂν ἀπαντα εἰπω D. 13, 14).

N. — With verbs of fearing, the positive being the thing dreaded; as δέδοικα μὴ πρὶν πόνους ὑπερβάλῃ με γῆρας πρὶν σὺν χαρίεσσιν προσιδεῖν ὄψιν I fear lest old age overcome me with its troubles before I live to behold thy gracious beauty E. fr. 453.

d. Infinitive instead of the optative after a leading verb in a secondary tense: ἰκέτευσον μηδαμῶς ἀποτρέπεσθαι πρὶν ἐμβαλεῖν εἰς τὴν τῶν Λακεδαιμονίων χώραν they entreated them by no means to turn aside until they should invade the territory of the Lacedaemonians X. H. 6. 5. 23 (here the optative might stand in indirect discourse to represent the subjunctive with δν), οὐτ' αὐτὸς ποτε ποῖν ἰδρῶσαι δεῖναι ἤπειτο neither was he ever accustomed to take his supper until he got into a sweat by exercise X. C. 8. 1. 38 (for ἰδρῶσαι, see 2451).

e. Infinitive after an optative with δν in a principal clause: εἰ τις τινα μηχανήσῃ ἔχει πρὸς τοῦτο . . ., οὐκ ἂν ποτε λέγων ἀπείποι τὸ τοιοῦτον πρὶν ἐπὶ τέλος εἶθεῖν; if ever any lawgiver should have any plan for this, would he ever be weary of discussing such a scheme until he reached the end? P. L. 769 e. Here the subjunctive with ἂν is permitted.

2456. The lyric poets and Herodotus use πρὶν with the infinitive as it is used in Attic prose and poetry. Homer has the infinitive after affirmative or negative clauses alike (before and until), and often where a finite verb would be used in Attic; as ταῖς δὲ Πηδαιὸν πρὶν εἰλθεῖν υἱας Ἀχαιῶν he dwelt in Pedaeon before the sons of the Achaeans came N 172, οὐ μ' ἀποτρέψεις πρὶν χαλκῷ μαχέσασθαι (= Attic ἂν μαχέσῃ) thou shalt not dissuade me until thou hast fought with the spear T 257; often in correspondence with the adverbial πρὶν, as οὐδέ τις ἐτλη πρὶν πιεῖν, πρὶν λείψαι nor durst any man (sooner) drink before he had offered a libation H 480.

2457. ἢ πρὶν than before, with a past tense suppressed after ἢ, occurs first in Xenophon (C. 5. 2. 36, 7. 5. 77).

πρότερον ἢ, πρόσθεν ἢ, πρὶν ἢ, πάρος

2458. πρότερον ἢ sooner than, before is used especially in Herodotus and Thucydides. (a) With the indicative: οἱ πρότερον ἐνέδσαν ἢ αὐτοὶ ἐν σφίσιν αὐτοῖς . . . ἐσφάλησαν they did not succumb before they were overthrown by themselves T. 2. 65. (b) With the infinitive: τὰς δ' ἄλλὰς πόλεις ἔφη ἀδικεῖν, αἱ ἐς Ἀθηναίους πρότερον ἢ ἀποστήναι ἀνέλουν he said the other States were wrong, which, before they revolted, used to pay money into the treasury of the Athenians T. 8. 45. (c) With the subjunctive (without ἂν) rarely (T. 7. 63). Chiefly in Hdt.

2459. So πρόσθεν ἢ sooner than, before: ἀπεκρίνατο . . . ὅτι πρόσθεν ἂν ἀποθάνουν ἢ τὰ ὅπλα παραδοίησαν he answered that they would die before (sooner than that) they would surrender their arms X. A. 2. 1. 10. ὕστερον ἢ later than takes, by analogy, the infinitive once in Thuc. (6. 4).

2460. πρὶν ἢ sooner than, before with the infinitive occurs in Homer (only E 288, X 266) and Hdt. (2. 2); and in Hdt. also with the indicative (6. 46) and subjunctive (7. 10 η, without ἂν). πρὶν ἢ is rare and suspected in Attic (X. C. 1. 4. 23); but is common in late Greek.

2461. πάρος before in Homer takes the infinitive (Z 348).

CLAUSES OF COMPARISON

2462. Clauses of comparison (as clauses) measure an act or state qualitatively or quantitatively with reference to an act or state in the leading clause.

a. Comparative clauses with ἢ than are used in disjunctive coördinated sentences. See under Particles (2863).

2463. Comparative clauses of quality or manner are introduced by ὥς as, ὥσπερ, καθάπερ just as, ὅπως, ἢ, ὅπη, ἥπερ as. The principal clause may contain a demonstrative adverb (οὕτως, ὥδε so). ὥσπερ may be correlated with ὁ αὐτός.

ὥς, etc., are here properly conjunctive relative adverbs of manner, some uses of which fall under conditional relative clauses.

a. Other comparative conjunctive adverbs are ὥστε as (poetic and Ionic), ἥτε, εἶτε as, like as (Epic). Demonstrative adverbs in Epic are ὧς, τῶς, τοίως, αὐτως, ὡσαύτως.

b. On other uses of ὥς, etc., see under Particles (2990 ff.). On ὥς, ὥσπερ with a participle, see 2086, 2087.

2464. The verb of the comparative clause is commonly omitted if it is the same as the verb of the leading clause. Thus, εἰν σοι ξυδοκῇ ὥσπερ ἐμοί if it seems good also to you as (it seems) to me P. Ph. 100 c.

2465. The subject of a comparative clause with ὥς or ὥσπερ, the verb of which is omitted, is often attracted into the case (usually the accusative) of the other member of the comparison. Thus, οὐδαμῷ γὰρ ἔστιν Ἀγόρατον Ἀθηναῖον εἶναι ὥσπερ Θρασύβουλον it is in no wise possible for Agoratus to be an Athenian as Thrasybulus is (= Θρασύβουλος Ἀθηναῖός ἐστι) L. 13. 72. Attraction into the dative is less common: Κόρυς ἤδετο . . . ὥσπερ σκύλακι γενναίῳ ἀνακλάζοντι he was delighted with Cyrus, who set up a cry like a young and noble dog (= σκύλαξ γενναῖος ἀνακλάζει) X. C. 1. 4. 15.

a. Usually, however, we have the nominative with the verb omitted: πέπεισμαί σε μᾶλλον ἀποθανεῖν ἢ ἐλέσθαι ἢ ζῆν ὥσπερ ἐγὼ I am persuaded that you would prefer to die rather than live as I live X. M. 1. 6. 4.

2466. Comparative clauses of quality are often fused with the leading clause by the omission of the preposition in the correlated member of the comparison, but only when ὥς precedes. Cp. 1673.

2467. The antecedent clause may contain a wish: οὕτω (ὥς) . . . ὥς (which may be omitted); as οὕτω νικήσαιμι τ' ἐγὼ καὶ νομιζομένη σοφός, ὥς ὑμᾶς ἡγούμενος εἶναι θεᾶταις δεξιὸς . . . πρώτους ἤξιος ἀναγεῖν' ὑμᾶς as surely as I thought it proper to let you first taste this comedy because I thought you were clever spectators, so surely may I win and be accounted a master Ar. Nub. 520. Cp. N 825, Ar. Thesm. 489.

2468. Comparative clauses of quantity or degree are introduced by ὅσῳ, ὅσον in proportion as. The principal clause usually contains the corresponding demonstratives τοσοῦτω, τοσοῦτον (τόσῳ, τόσῳ are usually poetic).

a. Greek, like Latin, uses the adjective relative pronoun ὅσος (quantus) in the subordinate clause in correlation to τοσοῦτος agreeing with a substantive. Here English uses the conjunctive adverb as. So with τοιοῦτος . . . εἰς. — τοσοῦτω, τοσοῦτον may be followed by ὥς, ὥστε.

2469. τοσοῦτον . . . ὅσον or ὅσον . . . τοσοῦτον denotes that the action of the main clause takes place in the same degree as the action of the subordinate clause. ὅσῳ . . . τοσοῦτω with a comparative or superlative adjective or adverb is equivalent to the more . . . the more, the less . . . the less.

2470. The demonstrative antecedent may be omitted, especially when its clause precedes: καὶ χαλεπώτεροι ἔσονται ὅσῳ νεώτεροι εἰσιν and they will be the more severe the younger they are P. A. 39 d.

2471. One member may contain a comparative, the other a superlative; as ὅσῳ γὰρ ἐτοιμότατ' αὐτῷ (ᾧ λόγῳ) δοκοῦμεν χρῆσθαι, τοσοῦτῳ μᾶλλον ἀπιστοῦσι πάντες αὐτῷ for the more we are thought to excel all others in ability to speak, so much the more do all distrust it D. 2. 12.

2472. ὅσῳ (ὅσον) may be used without a comparative or superlative when the correlative clause has a comparative or superlative with or without τοσοῦτῳ (τοσοῦτον). Thus, ὥσπερ ἐν ἵπποις, οὕτω καὶ ἐν ἀνθρώποις τισὶν ἐγγίγνεται, ὅσῳ ἂν ἐκπλεα τὰ θέοντα ἔχῃσι, τοσοῦτῳ ὑβριστέροις εἶναι as it is in the nature of horses, so it is in the case of certain men: in so far as they have their wants satisfied, the more they are wanton X. Hi. 10. 2. ὅσῳ may stand for the logical ὅτι in τοσοῦτῳ Σύρων κακίων ἐγένετο, ὅσῳ Σύροι ἔφυγον he proved himself a greater coward than the Syrians all the more because they fled X. C. 6. 2. 19.

2473. The correlated clauses may be fused when both ὅσῳ (ὅσον) and τοσοῦτῳ (τοσοῦτον) are omitted and the predicate of the subordinate clause is a comparative or superlative with a form of εἶναι. Thus, ἐνδεεστέροις γὰρ οὐσι ταπεινότεροις αὐτοῖς ὁλνται χρῆσθαι for the more indigent they are so much the more submissive do they expect to find them X. Hi. 5. 4 (= ὅσῳ ἐνδεεστεροὶ εἰσι, τοσοῦτῳ ταπεινότεροις).

EXAMPLES OF COMPARATIVE CLAUSES

2474. The moods in comparative clauses are used with the same meaning as in conditional clauses or other conditional relative clauses.

2475. Indicative: in assertions and statements of fact: ἔρξον ὅπως ἐθέλεις do as thou wilt Δ 37, ὥς δὲ πρὸς τὴν οὐσίαν ἤρμυττεν, οὕτως ἐκάστοις προσέταττον but as was suitable to their property, so they gave directions to each I. 7. 44, ἔστιν γὰρ οὕτως ὥσπερ οὗτος ἐνέπκει for it is so even as he says S. Tr. 475, ὅσον αἱ κατὰ τὸ σῶμα ἡδοναὶ ἀπομαραινόμεναι, τοσοῦτον αὖξονται αἱ περὶ τοὺς λόγους ἐπιθυμίαι in proportion as the pleasures of the body wane the appetite for philosophical conversation increases P. R. 328 d, ἦκεν ἄγων στρατιᾶν ὅσην πλείστην ἐδύνατο he came with an army as large as possible T. 7. 21 (cp. 1087).

a. With ἂν and the potential or unreal indicative: εἰσπηδήσαντες . . . θάττον ἢ ὥς τις ἂν ᾤετο jumping in quicker than (as) one could think X. A. 1. 5. 8, ὥσπερ οὖν, εἰ ἀληθὴ ἦν ταῦτα ἃ μου κατηγορήσαν, ἐμοὶ ἂν ὀργίζεσθε . . . , οὕτως ἐξίῳ κτλ. for just as you would be angry with me if their accusations against me were true, so I beg, etc. And. 1. 24.

2476. Subjunctive with ἂν. — a. Of future time, as ἀλλ' ἀγεθ', ὥς ἂν ἐγὼ εἴπω, πειθώμεθα but come, as I shall direct, let us obey B 189, ὅπως γὰρ ἂν τοὺς ἄλλους πρὸς σαντὸν διαθῇς, οὕτω καὶ σὺ πρὸς ἐκείνους ἔξεις for as you dispose others towards yourself, so you too will feel towards them I. 2. 23, τοῖς ἀντοῖς ἐνεχέσθω καθάπερ ἂν τὸν Ἀθηναῖον ἀποκτείνῃ let him be subject to the same penalties just as if he kills the Athenian D. 23. 41, ἐν τοῖς ἀργυρείοις ὅσῳπερ ἂν πλείους ἐργάζωνται, τόσῳ πλείονα τὰ γὰθὰ εὐρήσουσι in silver mines the larger the number who coöperate, so much the more abundant will be the riches they find X. Vect. 4. 32, οὐκοῦν ὅσῳ ἂν τις μείζω ἀγαθὰ παθὼν μὴ ἀποδιδῶ χάριν, τοσοῦτῳ ἀδικώτερος ἂν εἴη; then will he be the more unjust in proportion to the greatness of the benefits he has received and for which he does not return proper gratitude? X. M. 2.2.3 (cp. 2326 d).

b. Of present time, as in general conditions: τὸ μὲν γὰρ πέρας, ὡς ἂν ὁ δαίμων βουληθῇ, πάντων γίγνεται for the end of all events happens as God wills D. 18.92, τοσοῦτῳ χαλεπώτερον ἀκούειν τῶν λεγομένων, ὅσῳ περ ἂν αὐτῶν τις ἀκριβέστερον ἐξετάσῃ τὰς ἀμαρτίας it is the more difficult for them to pay heed to what is said in proportion to the precision with which their errors are scrutinized I. 11.3.

2477. Optative. — a. With ἂν (potential): ἔστι μάλιστ' ἀδείκνυνται ἔργα ἢ ὅτι τῷ λόγῳ τις ἂν εἰποι their deeds are too great for any one to tell in words D. 6.11, ὥσπερ αὐτοὶ οὐκ ἂν ἀξιώσασιν κακῶς ἀκούειν ὑπὸ τῶν θυετῶν παίδων, οὕτω μηδὲ τοῦτ' ἐπιτρέπεε περὶ τοῦ πατρὸς βλασφημεῖν just as you yourselves would not think it right to be ill spoken of by your children, even so do not permit him either to utter slanders about his father D. 40.45.

b. With ἂν, as in less vivid future conditions: ὅσῳ δὲ πρεσβύτερος γίγνεται, μᾶλλον δεῖ ἀσπάζεσθαι ἂν (χρήματα) the older he grows, the more he would always respect wealth P. R. 549 b.

c. The optative without ἂν in indirect discourse may represent ἂν with the subjunctive of direct discourse; as νομίζω, ὅσῳ μὲν θάττον ἔλθοι, τοσοῦτῳ ἀπαρασκευαστοτέρῳ βασιλεῖ μαχεῖσθαι, ὅσῳ δὲ σχολαιώτερον, τοσοῦτῳ πλέον συναγείρεσθαι βασιλεῖ στράτευμα in the belief that, the more quickly he advanced, the more unprepared for battle would the king be, while the slower he advanced, the greater would be the army that was collecting for the king X. A. 1.5.9 (direct = ὅσῳ ἂν θάττον ἔλθω . . . μαχοῦμαι, ὅσῳ ἂν σχολ. ἔλθω τοσοῦτῳ πλέον συναγείρεται).

d. Without ἂν, of past time, as in general conditions. Thus, ξυνετίθεσαν ὡς ἑκαστὸν τι συμβαίνει they put the stones together as each happened to fit T. 4.4. — Also after a present tense: εἰκὴ κράτιστον εἶναι, ὅπως δύναται τις εἶς δεῖν to live at hazard, as one may S. O. T. 979 (cp. 2573).

2478. ὥσπερ εἰ (ὥσπερ εἰ), ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ (ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ) just as if (= just as would be the case, if) form a combination of a comparison and a condition, and are used with the indicative imperfect (of past time) or aorist or with the optative (commonly when τις is the subject). ὥσπερ (ἂν) here represents the suppressed apodosis to the condition with εἰ. In some cases the ellipsis may easily be supplied, but it was usually unconscious.

a. When ὥσπερ ἂν has its own verb it is used like for instance, as ὥσπερ ἂν (1766 a), εἰ τις με ἔροιτο . . . , εἰποιμ' ἂν for instance, if any one were to ask me, I should say P. G. 451 a.

b. With ὥσπερ εἰ, ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ cp. καθάπερ εἰ, καθάπερ ἂν εἰ.

2479. ὥσπερ εἰ: θαυμάζω δὲ σε . . . ἀλλόθρου πόλιν κυρεῖν λέγουσαν, ὥσπερ εἰ παρестάτεαι but I marvel that of a city speaking another tongue thou dost as truly tell as (thou wouldst tell) if thou hadst always been dwelling therein A. Ag. 1201.

2480. ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ is more common than ὥσπερ εἰ. Thus, πρὸς μόνους τοὺς προγόνους τοὺς ἡμετέρους συμβαλόντες ὁμοίως διεφθάρησαν, ὥσπερ ἂν (διεφθάρησαν) εἰ πρὸς πάντας ἀνθρώπους ἐπολέμησαν in contending against our ancestors alone they were destroyed as completely as if they had waged war against all mankind

I. 4. 69, ὅμοια γὰρ μοι δοκοῦσι πάσχειν ὥσπερ (ἂν τις πάσχοι) εἰ τις πολλὰ ἐσθίων μηδέποτε ἐμπίπτατο for they seem to me to be in the same condition as if any one for all his eating were never to be filled X. S. 4. 37, ἡσπάζετο αὐτὸν ὥσπερ ἂν (ἀσπάζοιτο) εἰ τις . . . πάλαι φιλῶν ἀσπάζοιτο he greeted him as one would do who had long loved him X. C. 1. 3. 2.

a. With a participle ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ is sometimes used with much the same force as ὥσπερ, the εἰ being added by a confusion of constructions. Thus, ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ καὶ κατακλυσμὸν γεγενῆσθαι τῶν πράγματων ἡγούμενοι as if you believed that there had been also a revolution in politics D. 18. 214: lit. as (you would think) if you believed (for ὥσπερ ἂν ἡγούμενοι or ὥσπερ ἂν εἰ ἡγείσθε). Cp. 1766 a. Similarly ὥσπερ εἰ has virtually the force of ὥσπερ alone (2087).

SIMILES AND COMPARISONS

2481. ὥς, ὥς εἰ, ὥς εἴ τε as if, ὥς ὅτε, ὥς ὁπότε as when are often used in poetry in similes and comparisons.

a. The present and aorist indicative and subjunctive (usually without ἂν) are regularly used. The optative occurs only with ὥς εἰ or ὥς εἴ τε. The verb of the apodosis may sometimes be supplied from the main clause, and the sense may be satisfied in other cases by supplying as happens, as is the case; but as early as Homer the ellipsis was probably unconscious, as it is in English as if, as when. Hence ὥς εἰ, ὥς ὅτε are scarcely to be distinguished from ὥς.

b. The tense of the main clause may be primary or secondary without influence on the construction. Cp. 1935 and 1935 a.

2482. ὥς (ὥς τε) is followed by the indicative present (less often aorist) or by the subjunctive. Thus, ὥς δὲ πατὴρ οὐ παῖδός ὀδύρεται ὅστέα κίων . . . ὥς Ἀχιλεὺς ἐτάρω ὀδύρετο ὅστέα κίων and as a father waileth when he burneth the bones of his son, so Achilles wailed as he burned the bones of his comrade Ψ 222.

2483. ὥς is common in Homer with the subjunctive (without ἂν) depending on the verb of the introductory clause, which is usually past. The simile may begin with ὥς or with a demonstrative (οἱ or τούς) after which ὥς τε is placed. Thus, ὥς δὲ λέων μήλοισιν ἀσημάντοισιν ἐπελθών . . . κακὰ φρονέων ἐνορούσῃ, ὥς μὲν Θρηίκας ἄνδρας ἐπύχετο Τυδεὺς υἱός and as a lion, coming on flocks without a shepherd, with evil purpose leaps upon them, so the son of Tydeus attacked the men of Thrace K 485, οἱ δ', ὥς τ' αἰγυπιοί . . . πέτρῃ ἐφ' ὑψηλῇ μεγάλη κλάζοντε μάχωνται, ὥς οἱ κεκλήγοντες ἐπ' ἀλλήλοισιν βρουσαν and they, like vultures who contend with loud screams on a lofty cliff, even so they rushed screaming against each other II 429. After the subjunctive with ὥς or ὥς ὅτε an independent indicative may follow (M 167, II 296).

2484. ὥς εἰ, commonly ὥς εἴ τε, in Homer is used rarely with the indicative and subjunctive, more frequently with the optative; but usually without any finite verb. Thus, λαοὶ ἔπονθ' ὥς εἴ τε μετὰ κτῆλον ἔσπετο μῆλα the soldiers followed as sheep follow after the ram N 492 (the only occurrence in Homer of the indicative), καὶ με φίλησ' ὥς εἴ τε πατὴρ ὃν παῖδα φίλησεν and he loved me as a father loveth his son I 481 (the only occurrence in Homer of the subjunctive), ᾗδκησε δ' ἄρα σφίσι θυμὸς ὥς ἔμεν, ὥς εἰ πατρίδ' ἰκόλατο and their feeling seemed to be as (it would be) if they had come to their own country κ 416 (the optative occurs only after a past tense, except  $\Lambda$  389, a negative present); τὸ δὲ εἰ δόσε λαμπρόσθη ὡς εἰ τε πυρὸς σέλας and his eyes flashed like gleaming fire T 366.

2485. Attic poetry does not use the Epic and Lyric ὡς εἰ τε for ὡς εἰ. In Attic ὡς εἰ (ὥσει) is practically equivalent to ὡς as, like; thus, ἀλλ' οὖν ἐπείγῃ γ' αὐτῷ, μήτηρ ὥσει τις πιστὰ but at any rate I speak in good-will at least as some faithful mother S. El. 284.

2486. ὡς ὅτε, ὡς ὅποτε are used with the indicative (present or aorist) or the subjunctive (as in general conditions). With the subjunctive  $\delta\upsilon$  is generally absent in Homer; but ὡς δ' ὅτ'  $\delta\upsilon$  (never κέν) occurs. The clause with ὡς ὅτε, ὡς ὅποτε generally precedes the main clause. ὡς ὅτε without appreciable difference from ὡς in 'Εριφύλῃ, ὅκιον ὡς ὅτε πιστὸν, δόττες Οἰκλείδῃ γυναῖκα having given to the son of Oecles Eriphyle to wife, as a sure pledge Pind. Nem. 9. 16.

2487. A relative pronoun referring to a substantive accompanied by  $\delta\iota$ ,  $\delta\omegaτε$  as often takes the subjunctive (without  $\delta\upsilon$ ). Thus,  $\delta$  δ' ἐν κοίτῃσι χαμᾶι πέσεν ἀγχιερὸς  $\delta\iota$ , ἣ ῥά τ' ἐν ελαμενῇ ἔλεος μεγάλοις πεφόκη λειῇ and he fell to the ground amid the dust like a poplar that has grown up smooth in the lowland of a great marsh  $\Delta$  488.

ADJECTIVE CLAUSES (RELATIVE CLAUSES: 2488-2573)

2488. Relative clauses correspond to attributive adjectives (or participles), since like adjectives they serve to define substantives. Like adjectives, too, they often have the value of substantives and stand in any case.

$\delta\upsilon$  γὰρ θεοὶ φιλοῦσιν (=  $\delta$  θεοφιλής), ἀποθνήσκει νέος for whom the gods love, dies young Men. Sent. 426, ἣ θίγω δὴθ' οἱ μ' ἔφθσαν; (= τῶν με φθάνων) am I to embrace him who begat me? E. Ion 560, σὺν τοῖς θησαυροῖς οἷς ὁ πατὴρ κατέλιπε (= τοῖς ὑπὸ τοῦ πατρὸς καταλειφθεῖσι) with the treasures which my father left X. C. 8. 1. 83, ἐν αὐτοῖς οἷς ἐτίμασθε (= ἐν αὐταῖς ταῖς τιμαῖς) in the very honours which you received D. 19. 238, ὧν ἔλαβεν ἀπᾶσι μετέδωκεν it shared with all what it received I. 4. 29.

2489. Relative clauses are introduced by relative pronouns or by relative adverbs of time, place, or manner (cp. 340, 346), and refer to an antecedent expressed or implied in the main clause.

a. Temporal clauses, which are like relative clauses in many respects, have been treated in 2389 ff. On relatives used as indirect interrogatives and as exclamations, see 2668 ff., 2685 ff.

2490. Many relative clauses are equivalent to coördinate clauses (e.g. 2553). In such cases the relative has the force of a demonstrative or personal pronoun with a connective (καί, ἀλλά, δέ, γάρ, οὖν, ἄρα, etc.). Thus, πῶς οὖν  $\delta\upsilon$  ἔνοχος εἶη τῇ γραφῇ;  $\delta\varsigma$  (= οὗτος γὰρ) . . . φανερός ἦν θεραπέων τοὺς θεοὺς how then could he be subject to the indictment? For he manifestly worshipped the gods X. M. 1. 2. 64. Greek often uses here the demonstrative (contrast ταῦτα δὲ εἰπὼν with quae cum dixisset).

2491. A relative must often be resolved into a conjunction and a pronoun (2555).

2492. A truly subordinate relative clause may precede the main clause or be incorporated into it (2536). The relative clause is often made emphatic by placing after it the main clause with the demonstrative antecedent. Thus, ὃ τι βούλεται, τοῦτο ποιεῖτω whatever he wants, that let him do P. Eu. 285 e.

2493. ὅς who and the other simple relatives (e.g. οἷος, ὅσος) refer to a particular and individual person or thing.

ἦν τις ἐν τῇ στρατιᾷ Ξενοφῶν Ἀθηναῖος, ὅς οὔτε στρατηγὸς οὔτε στρατιώτης ὡν συνηκολούθει there was in the army one Xenophon, an Athenian, who accompanied it though he was neither general nor soldier X. A. 3. 1. 4.

a. On the relation of the relative ὅς to the demonstrative ὅς, see 1113, 1114.

b. ὅς is often used instead of ὅστις (or οἷος) especially with ἐν or μή. Cp. 2508. ὅς whoever with the indicative generally adds (in prose) δή ποτε, δή ποτ' ὅν (339 e).

2494. ὃ (sometimes ᾧ) at the beginning of a sentence may have the force of as to what (cp. quod), suggesting the matter to which it pertains.

ὃ δ' ἐξήλωσας ἡμᾶς, ὡς τοὺς μὲν φίλους . . . εὖ ποιεῖν δυνάμεθα . . . , οὐδὲ ταῦθ' οὕτως ἔχει as to what excited your envy of us—that we are able to benefit our friends—not even is this as you suppose X. Hi. 6. 12. The postponed antecedent may be omitted (X. A. 6. 1. 29).

a. An introductory relative clause with ὃ may stand in apposition to an entire clause that follows. Thus, ὃ πάντων θαυμαστότατον, Σωκράτη μεθύοντα οὐδεὶς πώποτε ἑώρακεν ἀνθρώπων what is most wonderful, no one whatsoever ever saw Socrates drunk P. S. 220 a. (So with an infinitive, I. 14. 18.) The main clause, following such a relative clause, may be introduced by ὅτι or γάρ. Thus, ὃ μὲν πάντων θαυμαστότατον ἀκούσαι, ὅτι ἐν ἑκαστῷ ὧν ἐπηνέσμεν ἀπόλλυσι τὴν ψυχὴν what is most wonderful of all to hear, (that) each one of the things we approved ruins the soul P. R. 491 b. Cp. 994, 995.

2495. ὅστις the same as (qui quidem) is especially definite and denotes identity (338 c). ὅς ye (quippe qui) is causal (2555 a).

2496. ὅστις whoever and the other compound relatives (e.g. ὁποῖος, ὁπόσος) denote a person or thing in general, or mark the class, character, quality, or capacity of a person (less often of a thing).

μακάριος ὅστις οὐσίαν καὶ νοῦν ἔχει happy is the man who possesses property and sense Men. Sent. 340.

a. After a negative expressed or implied, ὅστις (not ὅς) is used because of its general meaning. So οὐκ ἔστιν ὅστις, τίς ἐστιν ὅστις; οὐδεὶς ἐστιν ὅστις (rarely οὐτίς ἐστιν ὅς), πᾶς ὅστις (plural usually πάντες ὅσοι). Cp. 2557.

b. ἐξ ὅτου is common for ἐξ οὗ since. In Ionic (and Thuc. 6. 3) ὅστις is used of a definite object. Cp. Hdt. 1. 7, 2. 99.

2497. οἷος of such sort as to, proper for, and ὅσος of such amount as to, enough for, denote result and commonly take the infinitive (negative μή).

καλόν τε (δοκεῖ) εἶναι ἡ ἐπιστήμη καὶ οἷον ἀρχειν τοῦ ἀνθρώπου knowledge seems to be both a noble thing and able to command man P. Prot. 352 c, δοσὶ μόνον γεύσασθαι ἐαυτῷ καταλιπὼν leaving himself only enough to taste X. A. 7. 3. 22. So οἷος τε able to (for τοιοῦτος οἷος τε); thus, συμβουλευεῖν οἷοι τ' ἐσόμεθα we shall be able to give counsel P. G. 465 d.

a. On clauses with οἷος or δος following a main clause after which we supply a verb of reflection, see 2087.

b. δος is used elliptically in δοαὶ ἡμέραι (δσημέραι) daily, δοα ἔτη yearly.

2498. Local clauses are introduced by the relative adverbs ὅθι, ἐνθα, ἵνα (usually poetic, but sometimes in Plato) where, οἷ, ὅποι, ἐνθα whither, ὅθεν, ὁπόθεν, ἐνθεν whence, ἧ, ὅπη which way, where, whither. ὅθι and ὁπόθι where are Epic and Lyric, ἧ where is Epic. ἐνθα and ἐνθεν are also demonstratives (there, thence).

2499. With names of things the relative adverbs ἐνθα, ἧ, ὅθεν, οἷ, οὗ are often used instead of the relative pronouns preceded by ἐν, ἐς, ἐξ. Thus, πλησίον ἦν ὁ σταθμὸς ἐνθα (= ἐς ὃν) ἔμελλε καταλθεῖν the stopping-place was near where he intended to make a halt X. A. 1. 8. 1, ἐν τῷ σταθμῷ . . . ὅθεν (= ἐξ οὗ) ὠρμῶντο at the stopping-place whence they set out 2. 1. 3. A relative adverb may also refer to a personal antecedent, as καταβαίνειν πρὸς τοὺς ἄλλους ἐνθα τὰ ὅπλα ἔκειντο to descend to the others where the armed force was stationed X. A. 4. 2. 20.

2500. On comparative clauses of manner introduced by ὡς, ὥστερ etc., see 2463 ff.

CONCORD OF RELATIVE PRONOUNS

2501. A relative pronoun agrees with its antecedent in gender, number, and person; its case is determined by the construction of the clause in which it stands.

οὗτός ἐστιν ὁ ἀνὴρ ὃς ἦλθε this is the man who came, αὕτη ἐστὶν ἡ γυνὴ ἣν ἐζητοῦμεν this is the woman whom we were looking for, λαβὼν τοὺς ἱππέας οἱ ἦσαν αὐτῷ taking the cavalry which he had, ἔχων τοὺς ὀπλιτὰς ὧν ἐστρατήγει having the hoplites which he commanded, τριῶν θυρῶν οὐσῶν, ἃς ἔδει με διελθεῖν there being three doors through which I had to go.

a. If the main clause as a whole is regarded as the antecedent, the relative stands in the neuter singular with or without a demonstrative. Thus, πλεῖν ἐπὶ Σελίνουντα πᾶσιν τῇ στρατιᾷ, ἐφ' ὅπερ μάλιστα ἐπέμφθησαν to sail for Selinus with all their force, for which purpose especially they had been sent T. 6. 47.

b. The person of the verb in a relative clause, in which the relative pronoun is the subject, is regularly determined by the person of the antecedent pronoun expressed or implied. Thus, οὐκ οἶδ' ὅστις ἀνθρώπος γεγένημαι I do not know what sort of a person I have become X. C. 1. 4. 12, καὶ οἰκία γε πολλὰ μείζων ἢ ὑμετέρᾳ τῆς ἐμῆς, οἱ γε οἰκία χρήσθε γῇ τε καὶ οὐρανῷ and your habitation is much larger than mine since you occupy both heaven and earth as a habitation 5. 2. 15. The third person rarely follows a vocative (P 248).

2502. Variations from the law of agreement are, in general, the same as in the case of other pronouns (926).

a. The construction according to sense (950, 1013) often occurs, as φίλον θέλος, ἐν ἑτέρον αὐτῇ my dear child, whom I myself bore X 87; so with collective nouns, as τὰ δόξαντα πλήθει, ὅπερ δικάσουςι what is approved by the multitude, who will judge P. Phae. 260 a.

b. A relative in the plural may follow a singular antecedent denoting a whole class: θησαυροποιὸς ἀνὴρ, οὗς . . . ἐπαινεῖ τὸ πλήθος a man who lays up a store, the class of men which the multitude approves P. R. 554 a. This construction is less common in prose than in poetry; as ἡ μᾶλα τις θεὸς ἔρδον, οἱ οὐρανὸν εὐρὺν ἔχουσιν in truth there is within some one of the gods who occupy the wide heaven r 40.

c. A relative in the singular having a collective force may have its antecedent in the plural; as τοὺτους ἐπαινεῖν, ὅς ἂν ἐκὼν μηδὲν κακὸν ποιῇ to commend those who voluntarily do nothing evil P. Pr. 345 d, φῆνι ἐντυγχάνουσιν . . . πάντας ἔκτεινον they slew all whom they met X. A. 2.5.32. Here ὅς with the indicative is rare.

d. The relative may stand in the neuter, in agreement with the notion implied in the antecedent rather than with the antecedent itself; as διὰ τὴν πλεονεξίαν, ἧ πᾶσα φύσις διώκειν πέφυκεν ὡς ἀγαθόν for the sake of profit, a thing which every nature is inclined to pursue as a good P. R. 359 c.

e. The relative may agree in gender and number, not with the antecedent but with a following predicate noun. This is common with verbs of naming; as λόγοι μὴν εἰσιν ἐν ἑκάστοις ἡμῶν, ἃς ἐλπιδας ὀνομάζομεν; assuredly there are propositions in each of us which we call hopes? P. Phil. 40 a, εἶπεν ὅτι . . . διαγεγένηται πράττων τὰ δίκαια καὶ τῶν ἀδίκων ἀπεχόμενος, ἥνπερ νομίζοι καλλίστην μελέτην ἀπολογίᾳς εἶναι he said that he had continued to do what was just and to refrain from what was unjust, which he thought was the best practice for his defence X. M. 4. 8. 4.

f. A relative may agree with a predicate noun when it follows that noun immediately and not its own substantive: καὶ δίκη ἐν ἀνθρώποις πῶς οὐ καλόν, ἧ πάντα ἡμέρωκε τὰ ἀνθρώπινα; and justice among men, how is not that something beautiful, which civilizes all human things? P. L. 937 d.

THE ANTECEDENT OF RELATIVE CLAUSES

2503. The demonstrative antecedents of the relative pronouns are commonly: οὗτος . . . ὅς, τοιοῦτος . . . οἷος, τοσοῦτος . . . ὅσος, ἡλικιούτος . . . ἡλικός, etc.

a. The antecedent of ὅς is often τοιοῦτος (1249). The antecedent of ὅς, ὅσπερ, οἷος, may be ὁμοιος, παραπλήσιος, ἴσος.

2504. On comparative clauses of degree with τοσοῦτω . . . ὅσῳ, etc., see 2468 ff.

2505. Definite and Indefinite Antecedent.—The antecedent of a relative pronoun or adverb may be definite or indefinite.

a. A definite antecedent refers to a definite or particular person, thing, time, place, or manner. When the antecedent is definite, the relative clause takes any form that occurs in an independent sentence (921); with οὐ as the negative, unless the particular construction requires μή.

b. An indefinite antecedent refers to an indefinite person, thing, time, place, or manner. When the antecedent is indefinite, the relative clause commonly has a conditional force, and, if negative, takes μή like the protasis of a conditional sentence.

2506. In general when the relative clause has the indicative, the antecedent is either definite (negative οὐ) or indefinite (negative μή). When the relative clause has the subjunctive with ἄν or the optative (not in a wish), the antecedent is indefinite (negative μή).

DEFINITE: ταῦτα ἃ βούλεται πράττει he does what he wants (i.e. the particular thing he wants to do). Negative ταῦτα ἃ οὐ βούλεται πράττει.

INDEFINITE: ταῦτα ἅτινα βούλεται πράττει he does whatever he wants (i.e. if he wants to do anything, he does it); negative ταῦτα ἅτινα μὴ βούλεται πράττει. So ταῦτα ἅτινα ἂν βούληται πράττει whatever he wants to do, that he always does, ταῦτα ἅτινα βούλοιτο ἔπραττε whatever he wanted to do, that he always did, ταῦτα ἅτινα ἂν βούληται πράξει whatever he wants to do, that he will do, ταῦτα ἅτινα βούλοιτο, πράττοι ἂν whatever he might want to do, that he would (will) do. In the last four sentences the negative of the relative clause is μή.

2507. When the verb of the relative clause stands in the indicative, the distinction between a definite and indefinite antecedent is commonly clear only in negative sentences.

ἃ μὴ οἶδα οὐδὲ οἶμαι εἶδέναι whatever I do not know (= εἰ τίνα μὴ οἶδα) I do not even think I know P. A. 21 d. Here ἃ οὐκ οἶδα would mean the particular things I am ignorant of, and would have no conditional force whatever. So in οὐκ οἶδ'· ἐφ' οἷς γὰρ μὴ φρονῶ σιγᾶν φιλῶ I do not know; for I am wont to be silent in matters which I do not understand S. O. T. 569.

2508. When the antecedent is definite, the simple relatives (ὁς, οἷος, ὅσος, etc.) are used; when indefinite, the compound relatives (ὅστις, ὁποῖος, ὁπόσος, etc.) are used, but the simple relatives are often employed instead. When the antecedent is indefinite, ὅς usually has the subjunctive with ἄν or the optative; while ὅστις is preferred to ὅς if the verb is indicative (2569).

2509. Omission of the Antecedent to a Relative.—The demonstrative pronoun antecedent to a relative is often omitted: either when it is in the same case as the relative, or in a different case from the relative. The omission occurs when the antecedent expresses the general idea of person or thing, and often when the relative clause precedes.

ἐγὼ δὲ καὶ (οὗτοι) ὧν κρατῶ μενούμεν but I and those whom I command will remain X. C. 5. 1. 26, καλὸν τὸ θνησκεῖν οἷς (for τοῖς οἷς) ὕβριν τὸ ζῆν φέρει δασις is sweet to those to whom life brings contumely Men. Sent. 291, λέγω πάντας εἰσφέρειν ἀφ' ὧν (for ἀπὸ τοσούτων ὧν) ἕκαστος ἔχει I say that all must contribute according to the ability of each (from such means as each man has) D. 2. 31.

2510. In general statements in the subjunctive with ἄν or the indicative, the relative, referring to a person, is often without an antecedent and has the force of εἰ τις. In such cases the main clause contains a substantive or a neuter adjective with ἐστὶ (which is commonly omitted), and the relative is the subject of the sentence or in apposition to it.

συμφορὰ δ', ὅς ἄν τύχῃ κακῆς γυναικὸς it is a calamity if a man gets a bad wife E. fr. 1056, καὶ τοῦτο μείζον τῆς ἀληθείας κακόν, ὅστις τὰ μὴ προσόντα κέκτηται κακὰ and this is a misfortune exceeding the reality, if a man incurs the blame for evils that are not his doing E. Hel. 271, ὅστις . . . πρὸς θεῶν κακοῦται, βαρὺ if a man suffers ill-usage from the gods, it is grievous E. Hel. 267.

a. The antecedent may be a genitive of quality (1820). Thus, ἀνδρῶν ἐστὶ . . . , οἵτινες ἐθέλουσι δι' ἐπιωκλῆς . . . πράττειν τι it is the characteristic of men without resources to wish (lit. who wish) to accomplish their purposes by perjury X. A. 2. 5. 21 (here ἐθέλει alone might be expected, but οἵτινες ἐθέλουσι follows as if ἀπορί εἰσιν had preceded), τοῦτο ἡγοῦμαι μέγα τεκμήριον ἀρχοντος ἀρετῆς εἶναι ᾧ ἄν (= ἐάν τινι or αὐτῷ) ἐκόντες ἔπωνται I regard this as striking testimony to the merit of a ruler if men follow one (him) of their own free will X. O. 4. 19.

2511. The antecedent of a neuter relative is often omitted, leaving the relative with the force of a conjunction. So ἐξ οὗ and ἀφ' οὗ since, ἐν ᾧ while, εἰς ᾧ till, μέχρι (ἄχρι) until. ἀνθ' ὧν and ἐξ ὧν because (cp. οὐνεκα, ὁδοῦνεκα), ἐφ' ᾧ on condition that (2279).

2512. A demonstrative adverb may be suppressed: ἄξω ὑμᾶς ἔνθα (for ἐκεῖσε ἔνθα) τὸ πρᾶγμα ἐγένετο I will bring you to the spot where the affair took place X. C. 5. 4. 21, ἀποκλείοντες ὅθεν (for ἐκεῖθεν ὅθεν) ἄν τι λαβεῖν ἢ shutting them out from places whence it may be possible to take anything X. M. 2. 1. 16.

2513. ἔστιν ὅστις, εἰσὶν οἱ. — The antecedent is omitted in the phrases ἔστιν ὅστις (rarely ὅς) there is some one who, somebody, plural εἰσὶν οἱ some (less often ἔστιν οἱ), ἦσαν οἱ (of the past).

ἔστιν οὖν ὅστις βοῦλεται ὑπὸ τῶν συνόντων βλάπτεσθαι; is there then any one who wishes to be harmed by his companions? P. A. 25 d, οὔτε . . . ἔστιν οὐτ' ἔσται ὅτι ἐγὼ καταλείψω τὸν ἐμὸν οἶκον there neither is nor will there be any one to whom I may leave my property X. C. 5. 4. 30, εἰσὶ δὲ καὶ οἱ . . . φεύγουσιν some horses too run away X. Eq. 3. 4, εἰσὶ δ' αὐτῶν οὐδ' οὐδ' ἄν παντάπασι διαβαίητε and some of them you would not be able even to cross at all X. A. 2. 5. 18, ἦσαν δὲ οἱ καὶ πῦρ προσέφερον and some brought firebrands too 5. 2. 14, ἔστιν ὅτι . . . πλείω ἐπιτρέπεις ἢ τῇ γυναίκι; is there any one to whom you entrust more than to your wife? X. O. 3. 12, ἔστιν οἱ καὶ ἐτόγγανον καὶ θωράκων καὶ γέρρων some hit both the cuirasses and wicker-shields X. C. 2. 3. 18. ἔστιν οἱ is not an example of 961, but due to the analogy of ἔστιν ὅτε (ἐπὶ ὅτε), ἔστιν οὐ, etc.

2514. The oblique cases of εἰσὶν οἱ there are those who = some (ἐνιοι) are regularly formed by ἔστιν ὧν, ἔστιν οἷς, ἔστιν οὓς (or οὓστινας), which are used also of the past and future.

πλὴν Ἰώνων . . . καὶ ἔστιν ὧν ἄλλων ἔθνων except the Ionians and some other nations T. 3. 92, ἀρχμοὶ ἔστι παρ' οἷς μεγάλοι great droughts among some 1. 23, ἔστι μὲν οὐτ' αὐτῶν κατέβαλον some of them they struck down X. H. 2. 4. 6, ἔστιν ἃ καὶ πολλὰματα εἶλεν he captured also some towns T. 1. 86.

a. Xenophon also uses ἦν οἱ; thus, τῶν δὲ πολεμίων ἦν οὓς ὑποσπόνδους ἀπέθεσαν there were some of the enemy whom they restored under a truce X. H. 7. 5. 17.

ἔστι δ' οὐ σιγῇ λόγου κρείσσων γένοιτ' ἂν but sometimes silence may prove better than speech E. Or. 638, ἔστιν ὅτε καὶ οἷς (2514) βέλτιον τεθνάναι ἢ ζῆν sometimes and for some people it is better to die than to live P. Ph. 62 a, οὐκ ἔσθ' ὅπως . . . ἂν ἡμᾶς ἔτι λάθοι it is not possible that he should elude us again A. Vesp. 212, οὐκ ἔστιν ὅπως οὐκ ἐπιθήσεται ἡμῖν it is not possible that he will not attack us X. A. 2. 4. 3.

2516. οὐδὲν ὅλον (with the inf.) there is nothing like stands for οὐδὲν ἐστὶ τοιοῦτον, ὅλον ἐστὶ. Thus, οὐδὲν ὅλον τὸ αὐτὸν ἐρωτᾶν there is nothing like questioning him P. G. 447 c.

2517. Relative not repeated. — If two or more relative clauses referring to the same antecedent are connected by a copulative conjunction and the second relative would have to stand in a different case from the first, it is either omitted or its place is taken by αὐτός (less frequently by οὗτος or ἐκεῖνος) or a personal pronoun. Here, instead of a repeated relative, we have an independent sentence coördinated with the relative clause.

Ἀριαῖος, ὃν ἡμεῖς ἠθέλομεν βασιλεῦα καθιστάναι, καὶ (παρ' οἷ) ἐλάβομεν πιστὰ . . . ἡμᾶς κακῶς ποιεῖν πειρᾶται Ariæus, whom we wished to set up as king, and to whom we gave, and from whom we received pledges, is attempting to injure us X. A. 3. 2. 5, ποῦ δὲ ἐκεῖνός ἐστιν ὃ ἀνὴρ ὃς συνεθήρᾳ ἡμῖν καὶ σύ μοι μάλα ἐδόκεισιν θαυμάζειν αὐτόν; where, pray, is that man who used to hunt with us and whom you seemed to me to admire greatly? X. C. 3. 1. 38, καὶ νῦν τί χρὴ δρᾶν; δοῦς ἐμφανῶς θεοῖς ἐχθαίρομαι, μῖσεῖ δέ μ' Ἑλλήνων στρατός and ποῦ καὶ καὶ must I do? Since I (lit. I who) am manifestly hateful to the gods, and the army of the Greeks hates me S. Aj. 467. Cp. "Whose fan is in His hand, and He shall thoroughly purge His floor."

a. The relative is sometimes repeated as in English (X. A. 1. 7. 3, T. 2. 43. 2, 44. 1).

2518. If the demonstrative would have to stand in the nominative, it is commonly omitted unless the demands of emphasis require its presence: (τέχνηαι) ἃς ἐπιστήμας μὲν πολλάκις προσείπομεν διὰ τὸ ἔθος, δεόνται δὲ ὀνόματος ἄλλου arts which we have often called sciences because it is usual to do so, but they require another name P. R. 533 d (here αὐταί, not αἱ, is the subject).

2519. Preposition not repeated. — A preposition governing a relative pronoun is usually omitted if it stands in the same case as the preceding noun or pronoun before which the preposition has already been used. See 1671.

2520. Verb omitted. — The verb of a relative clause is often omitted when it belongs also to the main clause.

φίλους νομίζουσ' οὕτως ἂν πρὸς σε ἔθεν (νομίζῃ φίλους) regarding as friends those whom thy husband so regards E. Med. 1153. Or the verb of the main clause may be omitted: τὰ γὰρ ἄλλα (ἐποίησεν) ὅσα περ καὶ ὑμεῖς ἐποιεῖτε for the rest he did just what you too were doing X. C. 4. 1. 3.

2521. Transition from a relative to an independent clause sometimes occurs.

(ἰχθύων) οὓς οἱ Σύριοι θεοὺς ἐνόμιζον καὶ ἀδικεῖν οὐκ εἶον, οὐδὲ τὰς περιστέραις fish which the Syrians regard as gods and which they will not permit to be injured, nor do they permit the doves to be injured X. A. 1. 4. 9.

2522. Attraction. — A relative pronoun is often attracted from its proper case into the case of its antecedent, especially from the accusative into the genitive or dative. A demonstrative pronoun to whose case the relative is attracted, is usually omitted if unemphatic. Cp. "Vengeance is his, or whose he sole appoints:" Milton.

a. Genitive. — ἄξιοι τῆς ἐλευθερίας ἧς (for ἣν) κέκτησθε worthy of the freedom which you possess X. A. 1. 7. 3, πρὸ τῶν κακῶν ὧν (for ἃ) οἶδα instead of the evils which I know P. A. 29 b, ἀφ' ὧν (for τούτων ἃ) ἴστε from what you know D. 19. 216, Μῆδων ὄσων (for ὅσους) ἐώρακα . . . ὁ ἐμὸς πάντος κάλλιστος my grandfather is the handsomest of all the Medes I have seen X. C. 1. 3. 2, μὴ ὑποκειμένων οἶων δεῖ θεμελίων (for τοιούτων οἶα δεῖ ὑποκεῖσθαι) if the foundations were not as they ought to be X. Eq. 1. 2.

b. Dative. — φοβόμην ἂν τῷ ἡγεμόνι ᾧ (for ὃν) δολὴ ἐπεσθαι I should fear to follow the leader whom he might give X. A. 1. 3. 17, ἐπαινῶ σε ἐπ' οἷς (for ἐπὶ τούτοις ἃ) λέγεις I commend you for what you say 3. 1. 45, οἷς (for τούτοις ἃ) ἠτύχησαν ἐν Λεύκτροις οὐ μετρίως ἐτέχρηστο they had not used with moderation the success they gained at Leuctra D. 18. 18.

2523. A relative in the nominative or dative is very rarely attracted. Thus, βλάπτεσθαι ἀφ' ὧν (for ἀπὸ ἐκείνων ἃ) ἡμῖν παρσκευάσθαι to be harmed by what has been prepared by us T. 7. 67, δλίγοι ὧν (for τούτων οἷς) ἐγὼ ἐντετύχηκα a few of those whom I have met with P. R. 531 e.

2524. The pronouns subject to attraction are ὁς, οἷος, ὅσος, but not ὅστις (except in 2534). Attraction is not necessary, and takes place only (but not always) when the relative clause is essential to complete the meaning of the antecedent. When the relative clause is added merely as a remark, attraction does not take place. An attracted relative clause virtually has the force of an attributive adjective.

2525. Predicate nouns follow the case of the relative attracted to an antecedent expressed or omitted (2531 b).

2526. An omitted antecedent to which the relative has been attracted may afterward be supplied in the main clause. Thus, ἀφ' ὧν (for ἀπὸ τούτων ᾧ) . . . προσαιτεῖ καὶ δανείζεται, ἀπὸ τούτων δίδγει from what he begs and borrows, from that he lives D. 8. 26.

2527. Before βούλει, which with the relative is treated almost like one word (cp. quívís), attraction to various cases from the accusative is rare. Thus, οἱα τούτων δς (for δν) βούλει εἰργασταὶ such deeds as any one you please of these has done P. G. 517 a; cp. P. Crat. 432 a, Phil. 43 d.

2528. Attraction takes place also in the case of relative adverbs; as διεκομίζοντο ὅθεν (for ἐκεῖθεν οἱ) ὑπέθερτο παῖδας they conveyed their children from the places where (whither) they had deposited them T. 1. 89.

2529. Case of the Relative with Omitted Antecedent. — When the antecedent is omitted the relative either retains its own case or is attracted.

2530. When the omitted antecedent is nominative or accusative, the relative retains its own case. Thus, οἱς μάλιστα τὰ παρόντα ἀρκεῖ (οἱτοί) ἥκιστα τῶν ἄλλοτριῶν ὀρέγονται those who are best satisfied with what they have, covet least what is their neighbour's X. S. 4. 42, στυγῶν μὲν ἡ (= ἐκείνην ἡ) μ' ἔτικτεν hating her who bore me E. Alc. 338.

2531. When the omitted antecedent is genitive or dative, the relative (if standing in a different case) is usually attracted into the genitive or dative. But a relative in the nominative masculine or feminine (sometimes in the neuter), or a relative depending on a preposition, retains its own case.

a. Genitive: ὧν (for τούτων οἱς) ἐντυγχάνω πολλὰ μάλιστα ἀγαμαὶ σέ of those whom I meet with, I admire you by far the most P. Pr. 361 e, δηλοῖς δὲ καὶ ἐξ ὧν (for ἐκ τούτων ᾧ) ζῆς you show it also by the life you lead D. 18. 136. But εἰδέναι τὴν δύναμιν (τούτων) ἐφ' οὗς ἂν ἴωσιν to discover the strength of those against whom they are to proceed X. A. 5. 1. 8. Cp. E. Ion 560 (in 2488) where οἱ = τούτων οἱ.

b. Dative: τοῦτο δ' ὁμοίον ἐστίν ᾧ (for τούτῳ δ) νῦν δὲ ἐλέγετο this is like that which was said just now P. Ph. 69 a, ἐμμένονεν οἱς (for τούτοις ᾧ) ὠμολογήσαμεν δικαίους οὖσιν ἢ οὐ; do we abide by what we agreed was just, or not? P. Cr. 60 a. But διὰ τὸ ἀναγκαῖον αὐτοῖς εἶναι διαλέγεσθαι (τούτοις) παρ' ὧν λάβουεν τὸν μισθόν because it is necessary for them to give lessons to those from whom they expect to receive their fee X. M. 1. 2. 6.

2532. The relatives οἷος, ὅσος, ἡλίκος, ὅστις δῆ, ὅστις οὖν (and some others) and a following nominative with the copula may be attracted to the case of the antecedent. Thus, χαριζόμενος τοιούτῳ ἀνδρὶ οἷος σὺ εἰ showing favour to such a man as you are is commonly condensed to χαριζόμενος οἷψ σοι ἀνδρὶ (X. M. 2. 9. 3). Here the whole relative clause (with copula omitted) is attracted. The antecedent, if expressed, is often incorporated (2536) in the relative clause.

πρὸς ἄνδρας πολμηροὺς οἰους καὶ Ἀθηναίους (for οἱ καὶ Ἀθηναῖοι εἰσι) to bold men such as the Athenians T. 7. 21, ἀνίστη Ἀγριᾶς . . . καὶ ἄλλα δὲα ἔθνη Παιονίαι he called out the Agrians and all the other Paeonian tribes 2. 96, χαιμῶνες ὄντες οἷον λέγεις when the weather is such as you describe X. A. 5. 8. 3, ἀνέλαμψεν οἰκίᾳ . . . οὔτου δὴ ἐνάφαντος (for ἐνάφαντος τις οὗτος δὴ ἦν) the house burst into flames, some one or other having set it on fire 5. 2. 24.

a. οἷος is often attracted with superlatives: οὔτος πάγου οἷου δεινोटου (for τοιούτου οἷος ἐστὶ δεινोटος) when the frost was tremendous P. S. 220 b. Cp. 1087.

b. The article may appear in this construction with οἷος and ἡλικος, the relative clause being treated like a substantive: τοῖς οἷοις ἡμῖν to such as we are X. H. 2. 8. 25.

c. The subject of the relative clause rarely stands in the nominative, not being attracted along with οἷος. Thus, κιναιδους οἷουςπερ σύ rascals just like you Aes. 2. 151. This occurs only when the number of the subject is different from that of the attracted relative. When the article precedes, as in Σόλων ἐμίσει τοὺς οἷος οὔτος ἀνθρώπους Solon detested men like him (D. 19. 254), editors generally read τοὺς οἷους οὔτος.

2533. Inverse Attraction. — An antecedent nominative or (oftener) accusative may be attracted to the case of the relative. The attracted antecedent is often prefixed for emphasis to the relative clause, which thus separates it from the verb it governs or by which it is governed. Cp. urbem quam statuo vestra est, and “Him (= he whom) I accuse, By this, the city ports hath enter’d” (Shakespeare), where the antecedent is attracted into the case of the (omitted) relative.

τάδε (for αἷδε) δ’ ἄσπερ εἰσὸρᾷς . . . χωροῦσι but the women whom thou seest are coming S. Tr. 283, πολιτεῖαν (for πολιτεῖαν) οἷαν εἶναι χρὴ παρὰ μόνοις ἡμῖν ἐστὶν we alone have an ideal constitution (lit. such as ought to be) I. 6. 48, ἔλεγον οὖτι Λακεδαιμόνιοι ὧν θέονται πάντων (for πάντα) πεπρωγότες they said that the Lacedaemonians had gained all they asked for X. H. 1. 4. 2.

a. The main clause may contain a resumptive demonstrative pronoun; as τὸν ἀνδρα τοῦτον, ὃν πάσαι ζητεῖς . . . , οὗτός ἐστιν ἐνθάδε this man whom you have long been searching for, this man is here S. O. T. 449.

b. The rare cases of the inverse attraction of the dative are suspected or admit another explanation (E. Med. 12, S. El. 653, X. H. 7. 2).

c. So with adverbs: καὶ ἄλλοσε (for ἄλλοθι) ὅποι ἀν’ ἀφίκη ἀγαπήσουσί σε and elsewhere, wherever you go, they will love you P. Cr. 45 c.

2534. οὐδείς οὗτος οὐ every one (lit. nobody who not) for οὐδείς ἐστὶν οὗτος οὐ, commonly shows inverse attraction, is treated like a single pronoun, and inflected οὐδενός οὔτου οὐ, οὐδενὶ ὅτῳ οὐ, οὐδένα ὄντινα οὐ.

οὐδενός οὔτου οὐχὶ ἀλογώτερον than which there is nothing more irrational P. Charm. 175 c, οὐδενὶ ὅτῳ οὐκ ἀποκρίνόμενος replying to every one P. Men. 70 c, περὶ ὧν οὐδένα κινδύνον ὄντιν’ οὐχ’ ἐπέμειναν οἱ πρόγονοι for which our ancestors underwent every danger D. 18. 200.

a. Cp. οὐδαμῶν Ἑλληνικῶν τῶν οὐ πολλὸν μῆζυ his power was much greater than any Hellenic power Hdt. 7. 145 (= οὐδαμῶς ἐστὶ τῶν), οὐδαμῶς ὥς οὐ φήσομεν it can in no wise be that we should say no P. Pol. 308 b.

2535. ὅσος preceded by an Adjective. — Here the subject of the relative clause is identical with that of the main clause, and is omitted together with the copula: χρήματα ἔλαβε θαυμαστὰ ὅσα (for θαυμαστὸν ἐστὶν ὅσα) he received a wonderful amount of money P. Hipp. M. 282 c, μετὰ ἰδρῶτος θαυμαστοῦ ὅσου (for θαυμαστὸν ἐστὶν μεθ' ὅσου) with an astonishing amount of sweat P. R. 350 d. So θαυμασίως ὥς (for θαυμαστὸν ἐστὶν ὥς) P. Ph. 92 a.

2536. Incorporation. — The antecedent taken up into the relative clause is said to be incorporated. The relative and antecedent then stand in the same case, the relative agreeing adjectively with its antecedent. If the antecedent is a substantive, it often stands at the end of the relative clause, and commonly has no article. An antecedent in the nominative or accusative is more frequently incorporated than one in the genitive or dative.

2537. A nominative, accusative, or vocative antecedent, when incorporated, usually conforms to the case of the relative.

εἰ ἔστιν, ἣν σὺ πρότερον ἔλεγες ἀρετὴν, ἀληθὴς (for ἔστιν ἡ ἀρετὴ ἀληθὴς, ἣν) if the virtue which you were speaking of before, is real P. G. 503 c, εἰς δὲ ἣν ἀφίκοντο κώμην μεγάλη ἦν (for ἡ κώμη εἰς ἣν) the village at which they arrived was large X. A. 4. 4. 2, κλυθὲ μοι, ὃ χθιζὸς θεὸς ἦλυθες (for θεὸς ὃ or ὦ θεός) hear me thou that camest yesterday in thy godhead β 262.

a. An accusative antecedent is incorporated in the accusative when the verb of the relative clause takes the accusative. Thus, οὐκ ἀπεκρύπτετο ἣν εἶχε γνώμην (for τὴν γνώμην ἣν) he did not conceal the opinion he had X. M. 4. 1, μὴδ' . . . ἀφείλησθε ὑμῶν αὐτῶν ἣν διὰ παντὸς αἰ τοῦ χρόνου δόξαν κέκτησθε καλὴν (for τὴν καλὴν δόξαν ἣν) do not deprive yourselves of the fair fame which you have enjoyed throughout all time D. 20. 142.

b. An accusative antecedent may be incorporated as nominative, genitive, or dative, e.g. εἰ τίνα ὁρῶν . . . κατασκευάζοντα ἥς ἀρχοὶ χώρᾱς (for τὴν χώρᾱν ἥς ἀρχοὶ) if ever he saw any one improving the district which he governed X. A. 1. 9. 19.

2538. A genitive or dative antecedent, when incorporated, usually attracts the relative to its own case.

περὶ δ' οὗ πρότερον . . . ἔθηκε νόμον διελθὼν (for τοῦ νόμου ὃν) dealing in detail with the law which he formerly passed D. 24. 61, ἐπορεύετο σὺν ᾧ εἶχε δυνάμει (for σὺν τῇ δυνάμει ἣν) he advanced with what force he had X. H. 4. 1. 23. Even when the antecedent is omitted, the attraction takes place: πρὸς ᾧ εἶχε συνέλεγε . . . στρατεύματα (for πρὸς τούτῳ τῷ στρατεύματι ὃ) he was collecting an army in addition to that which he had X. H. 4. 1. 41.

a. But a genitive or dative antecedent, when incorporated, is attracted into the case of a nominative relative. Thus, ἐν δικαστηρίοις καὶ ὅσοι ἄλλοι δημόσιοι σύλλογοι (sc. εἰσι) in courts and all the other public assemblies P. Phae. 261 a (for τοσοῦτοις ἄλλοις συλλόγοις, ὅσοι δημόσιοι εἰσι).

b. When an antecedent in the genitive or dative is incorporated, the place of the antecedent is usually taken by a demonstrative pronoun in the genitive or dative. Thus, οὐδέ νῦν τῶν περ μέμνηται, ὅσα δὴ πάθομεν κακὰ nor do you remember all the evils we suffered φ 441.

OTHER PECULIARITIES OF RELATIVE CLAUSES

2539. Appositives to the antecedent may be drawn into the relative clause as the nearest construction or for the sake of emphasis. Thus, εὐρήσει τοὺς . . . δικαστάς, ὅπερ καὶ λέγονται ἐκεῖ δικάζειν, Μίνως τε καὶ Ῥαδάμανθους κτλ. he will find the judges, who are said to pronounce judgment there, Minos and Rhadamanthys, etc. P. A. 41 a.

2541. The antecedent may be reserved for the main clause, which follows the relative clause. Thus, καθ' οὓς μὲν ἀπήχθην, οὐκ ἔνοχός εἰμι τοῖς νόμοις I am not subject to the laws in virtue of which I was arrested Ant. 5. 85.

2542. An attributive adjective, or an attributive genitive belonging to a substantive standing in the main clause, may be placed either in the relative clause (if either is emphatic) or in the main clause. Two adjectives may be divided between the two clauses. The substantives may remain in the main clause or be transferred to the relative clause. Thus, τὸ τείχισμα δ' ἦν αὐτόθι τῶν Συρακοσίων αἰρούσι they captured the fort of the Syracusans which was there T. 7. 43, ὣν ἐγὼ ἤθελον τοῦτ' αὐτὴν ἦτις ἐλὴ μεγίστη πίστις δοῦναι of which I was willing to offer to the plaintiff the assurance that was most solemn D. 52. 12, ἐπιδείξει . . . τὴν δικαίαν ἦτις ἐστὶν ἀπολογία to show what the fair line of defence is 19. 203, ἐφρίξεν δὲ μάχῃ . . . ἐγγέλησιν μακρῆς, ἃς εἶχον ταμεισίχροας and the battle bristled with the long spears, the flesh-piercing spears, which they grasped N 339.

a. From the transference of superlatives to the relative clause arise such expressions as ἤγαγον συμμάχους ὅπόσους πλείστους ἐδύναμην (1087). Similarly ὥς τάχιστα (scil. δύνασαι or the like) as soon as, as soon as possible, ἐπεὶ (δτε) τάχιστα as soon as.

2543. A participial or subordinate clause depending on a following main clause may be joined to a preceding clause containing the antecedent of the relative. Thus, ἔφη εἶναι ἄκρον δ' εἰ μὴ τις προκαταλήφοιτο, ἀδύνατον ἔσεσθαι παρελθεῖν he said that there was a height which would be impossible to pass, unless it was seized in advance X. A. 4. 1. 25. The case of the relative may be not that required by its own verb, but that of an omitted pronoun dependent on a participle or a subordinate verb inserted in the relative clause. Thus, καταλαμβάνουσι τεῖχος . . . ὃ ποτε Ἀκαρνανες τειχισάμενοι κοινῷ δικαστηρίῳ ἐχρῶντο (for ὃ ἐχρῶντο τειχισάμενοι αὐτό) they seized a fortress which the Acarnanians once built and used as a common place of judgment T. 3. 105.

2544. When the relative clause contains a verb of naming, the main clause is fused with the relative clause. Thus, ἐνθα καλεῖται Ἀρτέμιδος τέμενος (for ἐνθα τέμενός ἐστι, ὃ καλεῖται Ἀρτέμιδος) where there is a precinct of Artemis Simonides 107.

USE OF THE MOODS IN RELATIVE CLAUSES

2545. The ordinary uses of the moods in relative clauses are as follows:

a. The present and past tenses of the indicative without ἄν express a fact or the assumption of a fact. The future indicative is used to denote purpose, present intention, or an intended result.

b. The indicative with ἄν denotes unreality.

c. The subjunctive with ἄν expresses a possible or supposed fact in future time or a generality in present time. The subjunctive without ἄν is used in indirect questions (1805 b).

d. The optative without ἄν expresses a wish, a possibility less distinctly conceived, or a generality in past time.

e. The optative with ἄν is potential, and is used either in conditional relative clauses with an optative in the main clause, or alone, as μὴ ἔστιν ἐλπίς, ᾗ μόνῃ σωθῆμεν ἄν there is one hope by which alone we may be saved E. Hel. 816.

f. The imperative occurs in relative clauses (1842, 2553).

g. The infinitive occurs in relative clauses in indirect discourse (2631).

THE USE OF THE MOODS IN CERTAIN RELATIVE CLAUSES

2546. An extension of the deliberative subjunctive not infrequently occurs in relative clauses after such expressions as οὐκ ἔχω, οὐκ ἔστι, etc., which usually denote baffled will, the existence of an obstacle to carrying out an act desired by the speaker or some one else. The subjunctive is much less common after the positive ἔχω I have the means. The pronoun or adverb introducing such clause is an interrogative that has taken on the function of a relative.

a. οὐ τοῦτο δέδοικα μὴ οὐκ ἔχω ὅ τι δῶ ἐκδότην τῶν φίλων . . . , ἀλλὰ μὴ οὐκ ἔχω ἱκανοὺς οἷς δῶ I do not fear that I shall not have something to give to each of my friends, but that I shall not have enough friends to give to X. A. 1. 7. 7. οὐχ ἔξουσιν ἐκεῖνοι ὅποι φύγωσιν they will not have any place whither to escape 2. 4. 20. οὐκέτ' εἰσὶν ἐλπίδες ὅποι τραπόμενος θάνατον . . . φύγω I have no longer any hopes to which I may turn and escape death E. Or. 722, ἔξει ὅ τι λέγῃ he will be able to say something L. 6. 42.

b. οὐδένα γὰρ εἶχον ὅστις . . . τὰς ἐμὰς ἐπιστολὰς πέμψει for I had no one to bring my letter E. I. T. 588.

c. Attic never, or rarely, has the positive forms ἔχω ὅ τι ἄν, ἔστιν ὅς ἄν (K 170), πέμψω ὅστις ἄν, with the potential optative.

2548. The subjunctive with κέ in Homer does not involve will in οὐκ ἔσθ' οὗτος ἀνὴρ . . . οὐδὲ γένηται, ὅς κεν Φαιήκων . . . ἐς γαῖαν ἰκῆται that man lives not nor will ever be born who shall come to the land of the Phaeacians § 202; cp. δ 756, Ψ 345. Φ 103 involves a different aspect of will from that in 2547 a.

2549. The deliberative future (1916) occurs in relative clauses; as ὅπως μολούμεθ' ἐς δόμους οὐκ ἔχω I do not know how we are to go home S. O. C. 1742.

The deliberative subjunctive is more common; as οὐκ ἔχω δὲ τι χρῆσθαι τοῖς λόγοις I am not able to deal with your argument P. Eu. 287 c.

2550. In a few cases the future is used like the subjunctives of 2547 a; and may be explained as a dependent deliberative future. Thus, οὐ γάρ τις ὁρμος ἔστιν, οὐδ' ὅποι πλέων ἐξεμπολήσει κέρδος for there is no harbour, nor is there any place to which a man may voyage and sell his wares at a profit S. Ph. 303, αὐτὸν γάρ σε δεῖ προμηθείας ὅτῳ τρόπῳ τῆς δ' ἐκκυλισθήσει τύχης for thou thyself hast need of forethought whereby thou shalt extricate thyself from this trouble A. Pr. 86.

2551. οὐκ ἔστιν ὅς (ὅπως, ὅπου, ὥς) are used with the future indicative to introduce statements as regards the future. Thus, οὐ γάρ τις ἔστιν ὅς πάροιθ' αἰρήσεται τὴν σὴν ἀρχεῖον δύναμιν ἀντ' Εὐρυσθέως there is no one who will prefer thy feeble power rather than Eurystheus E. Heracl. 57, οὐκ ἔσθ' ὅπως ὄψει σὺ δεῦρ' ἐλθόντα με thou wilt in no wise (lit. it is not possible how thou shalt) see me coming here S. Ant. 329. The indicative present or aorist is also used in statements as regards the present or past. All these indicatives may be dependent deliberatives. Cp. 2557.

2552. The optative without ἄν (probably potential) occurs in Attic poetry after οὐκ ἔστιν ὅστις (ὅπως, ὅποι) and the interrogative τίς ἐστίν ὅς (ὅστις) and ἔσθ' ὅπως. Thus, οὐκ ἔστιν ὅστις πλὴν ἐμοῦ κείραιτό νῦν there is no one except myself who could cut it A. Ch. 172, οὐκ ἔσθ' ὅπως λέξαιμι τὰ ψευδῆ καλὰ I could not (lit. there is no way how I could) call false tidings fair A. Ag. 620, τίς τῶνδ' . . . δωμάτων ἔχει κράτος, ὅστις ξένους δέξαιτο; who has authority in this house that might receive guests? Ar. Thesm. 871, ἔστ' ὅν ὅπως Ἀλκίησις ἐς γῆρας μόλοι; is there a way by which Alcestis might reach old age? E. Alc. 52. The potential optative with ἄν occurs after these expressions (E. Alc. 80, S. O. C. 1168, P. Lach. 184 c). Attic does not use the optative with ἄν after the positive form ἔστιν ὅπως (ὅστις).

CLASSES OF RELATIVE CLAUSES

2553. Ordinary Relative Clauses define more exactly a definite antecedent, and show the mood and the negative of simple sentences.

Indicative: ταῦτ' ἐστίν ἃ ἐγὼ θέομαι this is what I want X. A. 7. 2. 34, ὃ δόσῃνα γένῃ βροτῶν, οἳ μὴ μέτριος αἰὼν alas, ill-starred races of men, whose destiny is beyond due measure S. Ph. 179, ὅθεν οὖν ῥᾶστα μαθήσεσθε περὶ αὐτῶν, ἐντεῦθεν ἡμᾶς καὶ ἐγὼ πρῶτον πειράσομαι διδάσκειν I will first try to inform you (lit.) from the source from which you will most easily learn about them D. 27. 3, παρ' ἐμὲ ἀφικόμενος οὐ πείσεται ἀπερ' ἂν ἔπαθεν ἀλλῷ τῷ συγγενέμενος τῶν σοφιστῶν in coming to me he will not meet with the treatment he would have suffered had he conferred with any other of the sophists P. Pr. 318 d.

Subjunctive: Ἄνυτος δὲ παρεκαθέζετο, ᾧ μεταδῶμεν τῆς ζητήσεως Anytus has taken his seat here (lit.) to whom let us give a share in the investigation P. Men. 89 c, κλύων δοῦνεκα . . . μήτηρ δ' ἐν οἴκοις ἦν σὺ μὴ δέσῃς hearing that our mother is in the house, (lit.) of whom have thou no fear S. El. 1309.

Optative : οδομαι ἂν ἡμᾶς τοιαῦτα παθεῖν, οἷα τοὺς ἐχθροὺς οἱ θεοὶ ποιήσεται I think we should endure such things as I pray the gods may inflict upon our enemies X. A. 3. 2. 3, δόρατα ἔχοντες . . . ὅσα ἀνὴρ ἂν φέροι μὸλις having spears, such as a man could carry with difficulty 5. 4. 25, ἀρξομαι δ' ἐντεῦθεν ὅθεν . . . ἐγὼ τάχιστα I will begin at (from) that point where I can most quickly inform you D. 20. 5. The potential optative without ἂν is very rare (2552).

Imperative : πλάνην φράσω, ἣν ἐγγράφου σὺ μνήμοισιν δέλτοις φρενῶν I will tell thy wandering, which do thou inscribe in the tablets of thy memory A. Pr. 788. On ὁσθ' ὁ δρᾶσον, see 1842 a.

a. Ordinary relative clauses are explanatory, and (in sense) are equivalent to independent coördinated clauses. See 2490.

b. Homer has κέ or ἂν with the future: παρ' ἐμοί γε καὶ ἄλλοι, οἱ κέ με τιμήσουσι I have others by my side who will honour me A 175.

2554. Relative Clauses of Purpose (Final Relative Clauses) regularly take the future indicative, even after past tenses (negative μή). The antecedent of final relative clauses is usually indefinite. ὅς is commoner than ὅστις. (The construction with the future participle is more frequent: 2065).

φημί δὲ δεῖν ἡμᾶς . . . προσβελᾶν πέμπειν, ἣ τοὺς μὲν διδάξει ταῦτα, τοὺς δὲ παροξυνεῖ I say that we must send an embassy, which will inform some of this and incite others D. 2. 11, πέμψον τιν' ὅστις σημαίνει send some one who will announce E. I. T. 1209, ἔδοξε τῷ δήμῳ τριάκοντα ἄνδρας ἐλέσθαι, οἱ τοὺς πατέρας νόμους ἐγγράψουσι, καθ' οὓς πολιτεύσονται the people voted to choose thirty men who should codify the ancestral laws by which they were to conduct the government X. H. 2. 3. 2. So in local clauses: κρύψω τόδ' ἔγχος . . . ἔνθα μή τις ὄψεται I will hide this sword where no one shall see it S. Aj. 659.

a. After a secondary tense the future optative occurs rarely: οἱ δὲ τριάκοντα ἡρέθησαν μὲν ἐπεὶ τάχιστα τὰ μακρὰ τεῖχη . . . καθηρέθη· αἰρεθέντες δ' ἐφ' ᾧτε ἐγγράψαι νόμους, καθ' οὓσιν αὖτις πολιτεύσονται κτλ. the thirty were chosen as soon as the long walls were destroyed; and having been chosen for the purpose of codifying the laws, according to which they were to conduct the government, etc. X. H. 2. 3. 11. In local clauses: S. O. T. 796.

b. A past purpose may be expressed by ἐμελλον and the infinitive. Thus, ναύαρχον προσέταξαν Ἀλκιδᾶν, ὅς ἐμελλεν ἐπιπλεύσασθαι they appointed Alcidas as admiral who was to sail in command T. 3. 16.

c. Homer uses the subjunctive (with κέ, except T 287) after primary tenses, the optative after secondary tenses. Thus, μάντις ἐλεύσεται, ὅς κέν τοι εἴπῃ a seer will come to tell thee the way κ 538, ἀγγελον ἦκαν ὅς ἀγγεῖλαι γυναικὶ they sent a messenger to tell the woman ο 458. The future also occurs (§ 332). The present or aorist optative is rare in Attic (S. Tr. 903, Ph. 281).

2555. Relative Clauses of Cause take the indicative (negative οὐ). ὅς is more common than ὅστις.

θαυμαστὸν ποιεῖς, ὅς (= ὅτι σὺ) ἡμῖν . . . οὐδὲν δίδως you do a strange thing in giving us nothing X. M. 2. 7. 13, Λοξία δὲ μέφομαι, ὅστις μ' ἐτάραξεν ἔργον ἀνοσιώτατον τοῖς μὲν λόγοις ὑψῆρ' αὖτε I blame Loxias, who after inciting me to a deed most unhallowed, cheered me with words, etc. E. Or. 285. So when the relative is a dependent exclamation (ὅλος = ὅτι τοιοῦτος, etc., 2687).

a. γε is often added to ὅς or ὅστις.

b. μή is used when there is also an idea of characteristic (of such a sort) or condition (perhaps to avoid a harsher form of statement). Cp. 2705 g.

2556. Relative Clauses of Result (Consecutive Relative Clauses) usually take the indicative (for ὅλος, ὅσος with the infinitive see 2497). The negative is οὐ when the relative clause approximates ὥστε (οὐ) with the indicative, as is generally the case when the main clause is negative, expressed or implied. Here ὅστις is commoner than ὅς. The negative is μή when the relative clause expresses an intended (2557) or anticipated (2558) result, where ὥστε μή with the infinitive would be less precise.

τίς οὕτω μαινεται ὅστις οὐ βούλεται σοι φίλος εἶναι; who is so mad that he does not wish to be a friend to you? X. A. 2. 5. 12, οὐδὲν γὰρ οὕτω βραχὺ ὅπλον ἑκάτεροι εἶχον ὃ οὐκ ἐξικνούμετο ἀλλήλων for each side did not have weapons so short that they could not reach each other X. H. 7. 5. 17.

a. The indicative with ἄν and the optative with ἄν are rare. Thus, τίς δ' ἦν οὕτως . . . μισαθήναιος, ὅστις ἐδυρήθη ἄν Ἀτακτον αὐτὸν ὑπομεῖναι ἰδεῖν; who was such a hater of Athens that he could endure to see himself not at his post? Lyc. 39, τίς οὕτως ἰσχυρὸς, ὅς . . . ῥηγεί δύναιτ' ἄν μαχόμενος στρατεύεσθαι who is so vigorous that he could carry on war while battling with cold? X. C. 6. 1. 15. A potential optative with ὅς follows a potential optative in P. R. 360 b.

2557. The indicative is normal in consecutive relative clauses introduced by οὐκ ἔστιν ὅστις (οὐ), οὐδεὶς ἔστιν ὅστις (οὐ), οὐκ ἔστιν ὅπως (οὐ), εἰσὶν οἳ, ἔστιν οἷς, etc.

οὐκ ἔστιν οὐδεὶς ὅστις οὐχ αὐτὸν φιλεῖ there is no one who does not love himself Men. Sent. 407, οὐκ ἔστιν ὅπως ἤβην κτήσῃ πάλιν αὐθις in no way canst thou regain thy youth E. Heracl. 707. See 2551.

a. The indicative with ἄν and the optative with ἄν also occur. Thus, οὐ γὰρ ἦν ὅ τι ἄν ἐποιεῖτε for there was nothing that you could have done D. 18. 43, ὃν οὐκ ἔστιν ὅστις οὐκ ἄν καταφρονήσειεν whom every one would despise I. 8. 52.

b. On the subjunctive and optative without ἄν, see 2546, 2547, 2552.

2558. The future indicative is often used to express an intended result (negative μή).

ἀνέηκον ἐπὶ τοιοῦτους λέναι ὃν κρατήσας μή κατασχέσει τις it is senseless to attack men of such a kind that we shall not hold them in subjection if we conquer them T. 6. 11, οὗτοι δὲ τοιαῦτ' . . . ὑποσχέσονται, ἐξ ὃν μηδ' ἄν ὀτιοῦν ἢ κινήσονται these men shall make promises in consequence of which the Athenians will not better themselves under any circumstances (lit. even if anything occurs) D. 19. 324.

2559. The future indicative is especially common when the main clause contains an idea of ability, capacity, or characteristic, and the relative clause denotes what is to be expected of the subject.

ἱκανοὶ ἔσμεν . . . ὑμῖν πέμψαι ναὺς τε καὶ ἀνδρας οἵτινες συμμαχοῦνται τε καὶ τὴν ὁδὸν ἡγήσονται (cp. ὥστε συμμαχεσθαι) we are able to send you ships and men who will fight with you and direct your journey X. A. 5. 4. 10, οὔτε πλοῖα ἔστι τὰ ἀπάρχοντα οὔτε σίτος ᾧ θρεψόμεθα μένοντες we have neither ships to convey us away nor provisions to feed us while we remain 6. 5. 20, δεῖται τις δοῦναι αὐτὸν δρῆσαι he needs some one to improve him P. Eu. 306 d, (ἔδει) ψήφισμα νικῆσαι τοιοῦτο δι' ὃ Φωκεῖς ἀπολοῦνται a bill had to be passed of such a character as to destroy the Phocians D. 19. 43.

2560. Conditional Relative Clauses may be resolved into if clauses, ὅς (δοῦναι) corresponding to εἰ τις and ὅς (δοῦναι) ἄν to εἰάν τις. The negative is μή.

a. The antecedent of conditional relative clauses is indefinite (2505 b).

b. Such relative clauses, like temporal clauses, correspond in form to the protases of ordinary conditional sentences. Conditional relative sentences show, in general, the same substitutions permitted in the corresponding conditional sentences. δὲ ἄν is always generic, εἰάν may be particular in prose.

2561. The correspondence in construction between the common forms of conditional, temporal, and conditional relative, sentences is shown by the following table:

Present
Simple :	εἰ (δοῦναι, δ) τις	ἔχει	δίδωσι
Unreal :	εἰ (δοῦναι, δ) τις	εἶχεν	εἰδίδου ἄν
General :	εἰάν τις (δοῦναι, δ τις)	ἔχῃ	δίδωσι
Past
Simple :	εἰ (δοῦναι, δ) τις	εἶχεν (ἔσχεν)	εἰδίδου (ἔδωκε)
Unreal :	εἰ (δοῦναι, δ) τις	ἔσχεν (εἶχεν)	ἔδωκεν (εἰδίδου) ἄν
General :	εἰ (δοῦναι, δ) τις	ἔχοι	εἰδίδου
Future
More Vivid :	εἰάν τις (δοῦναι, δ τις ἄν)	ἔχῃ	δώσει
Less Vivid :	εἰ (δοῦναι, δ) τις	ἔχοι	διδόη (δοίη) ἄν

N. — English cannot always, without obscurity, use a relative to translate δοῦναι or δοῦναι with an unreal indicative ; in such cases when(ever) or whatever are best rendered by if ever. Cp. 2396.

PRESENT AND PAST CONDITIONAL RELATIVE CLAUSES

First Form

SIMPLE PRESENT AND PAST CONDITIONAL RELATIVES

2562. Simple present and past conditional relative clauses have the present or past indicative. The main clause has the indicative or any other form of the simple sentence (cp. 2298, 2300).

οὐ γὰρ ἀ πράττουσιν οἱ δίκαιοι, ἀλλ' ἀ (= εἰ τίνα) μὴ πράττουσι, ταῦτα λέγεις for it is not what the just do, but what they do not do, that you keep telling us

X. M. 4. 4. 11, τῶν Ἑλλήνων οἱ (= ei τινες) μὴ ἔτυχον ἐν ταῖς τάξεσιν ὄντες εἰς τὰς τάξεις ἔθεν those of the Greeks who happened not to be in rank ran into their ranks X. A. 2. 2. 14, διέβαλλεν αὐτὸν ὃ τι ἐδύνατο he slandered him all he could 6. 1. 32, ἀνδρας τῶν Ἀθηναίων ἀπέκτειναν ὅσοι μὴ ἐξένευσαν they killed all of the Athenians who had not escaped by swimming T. 2. 90, ὃ δὲ γε μὴδὲν κακὸν ποιεῖ οὐδ' ἂν τινος εἴη κακοῦ αἰτίον; and that which produces no evil cannot be the cause of any evil either? P. R. 379 b, ἀ μὴ προσήκει μήτ' ἀκούε μήθ' ὁρᾷ neither hear nor behold that which becometh thee not Men. Sent. 39, ὅστις γῆν ἐπιθύμει, πειράσθω νικᾷν whoever longs to live, let him strive to conquer X. A. 3. 2. 39.

a. Since the antecedent of these clauses is indefinite, simple present conditional relative clauses with the present indicative in the main clause often have the value of general conditions. But general clauses with ὅς (μή) usually take the subjunctive or optative (2567, 2568), and those with ὅστις (μή) the indicative (2569).

2563. If the relative clause expresses a present intention or necessity, the future indicative may be used.

ἐν τούτῳ κεκωλύσθαι (1950) ἰδῶκει ἐκάστῳ τὰ πράγματα ᾧ μὴ τις αὐτὸς παρέσται each thought that progress was surely impeded in any undertaking in which he was not going to take part in person (= ἐν τούτῳ κεκωλύται ᾧ μὴ παρέσομαι) T. 2. 8. Cp. P. Th. 186 c. More common is μέλλω with the present or future infinitive: εἰλοισθ' ὃ τι . . . ἀπαῖσι συνόλσειν ὑμῖν μέλλει may you adopt whatever course is likely to be of advantage to you all D. 3. 86.

a. Elsewhere the future indicative is not regular in conditional relative sentences.

Second Form

PRESENT AND PAST UNREAL CONDITIONAL RELATIVES

2564. Present and past unreal conditional relative clauses have a secondary tense of the indicative. The main clause has a secondary tense with ἄν (cp. 2303).

οὔτε γὰρ ἂν αὐτοὶ ἐπεχειροῦμεν πράττειν ᾧ (= ei τινα) μὴ ἡπιστάμεθα κτλ. for (if that were so) neither should we ourselves be undertaking (as we are) to do what we did not understand, etc. P. Charm. 171 e, οἱ παῖδες ὑμῶν, ὅσοι (= ei τινες) ἐνθάδε ἦσαν, ὑπὸ τούτων ἂν ὀβρίζοντο (if that were so) your children, as many of them as were present (but none were present), would be insulted by these men L. 12. 98, ὅσπερ αὐτῶν ἐποίησεν, οὐδενὸς ἂν ἥττον πλούσιοι ἦσαν whichever of these things he had done, they would be no less rich than any one 32. 23.

FUTURE CONDITIONAL RELATIVE CLAUSES

Third Form

MORE VIVID FUTURE CONDITIONAL RELATIVES

2565. Conditional relative clauses that vividly anticipate the realization of a future event take the subjunctive with ἄν. The main clause has the future indicative or any other form referring to the future.

τῷ ἀνδρὶ δὲ ἂν (= εἰς τινα) ἐλησθε πείσομαι I will obey whatever man you may choose X. A. 1. 3. 15, οἷς (for ἂν) ἂν οἱ ἄλλοι ἐργάζωνται, τοῖσι σὺ χρήσῃ whatsoever others acquire by labour, that you shall enjoy X. M. 2. 1. 25, πειράσομαι δὲ τι ἂν δύνωμαι ὑμᾶς ἀγαθὸν ποιεῖν I will try to do you all the good I can X. A. 6. 1. 33, ὅποι ἂν ἔλθω, λέγοντος ἐμοῦ ἀκροῶσονται οἱ νέοι wherever I go the young men will listen to my speaking P. A. 37 d, ἀποκρίναι δὲ τι ἂν σε ἐρωτῶ answer whatever I ask you L. 12. 24, ἐπεσθε ὅπῃ ἂν τις ἡγήται follow where any one may lead you T. 2. 11, ὥς ἂν (= εἰς ἂν πως) ἐγὼ εἴπω, πειθώμεθα let us all obey as I shall bid B 139. Potential optative: ὥστ' ἀποφύγοις ἂν ἦντιν' ἂν βούλῃ δίκην so that you can get off in any suit you please Ar. Nub. 1151.

a. The future indicative is scarcely ever used in a conditional relative clause of this sort (T. 1. 22 ὅσοι βουλῆσονται; cp. 1913).

b. Homer has some cases of the subjunctive without κἔ or ἂν (e.g. N 234). Homer sometimes uses the future with κἔ or ἂν in the main clause: ὁ δὲ κεν κεχολώσεται, δὲ κεν ἔκωμαι and he will be wroth to whom I shall come A 139.

Fourth Form

LESS VIVID FUTURE CONDITIONAL RELATIVES

2566. Conditional relative clauses that set forth less vividly the realization of a future event take the optative. The main clause has the optative with ἂν.

δοκιοῖν ἂν εἰς τὰ πλοῖα ἐμβαλεῖν ἂν (= εἰς τινα) ἡμῖν Κύρος δοίη I should hesitate to embark in the vessels that Cyrus might give us X. A. 1. 3. 17, ὁ δὲ μὴ ἀγαπῶ . οὐδ' ἂν φιλοῖ nor could he love what he does not desire P. Lys. 215 b.

a. The main clause has the optative without ἂν in wishes: δῶρα θεῶν ἔχοι, ὅττι διδοῖεν may he keep the gifts of the gods whatever they may give σ 142.

b. Homer sometimes uses κἔ or ἂν in the relative clause (φ 161).

GENERAL CONDITIONAL RELATIVE CLAUSES

Fifth Form

PRESENT GENERAL CONDITIONAL RELATIVES

2567. Present general conditional relative clauses have ἂν with the subjunctive. The main clause has the present indicative or an equivalent.

νέος δ' ἀπόλλυθ' ὄντιν' (= εἰς τινα) ἂν φιλήθεις 'he dierth young, whome'er a g-i doth love' Stob. Flor. 120. 13, οὗς (= εἰς τινάς) ἂν θεῶφι φιλοκινδύνως ἔχοντας πρὸς τοῖς πολεμίοις, τιμῶ whomever he sees zealous of danger in the face of the enemy, these he honours X. H. 6. 1. 6, γαμοῦσι τε ὁπόθεν ἂν βούλωνται, ἐκδιδῶσι τε εἰς οἷν ἂν ἐθέλωσι they both get a wife from whatever family they please and give their daughters in marriage to whomsoever they choose P. R. 613 d, πατρίς γὰρ ἐστ. παρ' ἐν' ἂν πράττη τις εὖ for every land is a man's own country wheresoever he fares well Ar. Plut. 1151.

a. Gnomic aorist in the main clause: ὅς κε θεοῖς ἐπιπείθεται, μάλα τ' ἔκλειν whoever obeys the gods, him they most do hear A 218.

b. The subjunctive without ἄν (κέ) is usual in Homer and occurs occasionally in Attic and lyric poetry. Thus, ἀνθρώπους ἐφορᾷ καὶ τίννται δις τις ἀμάρτη he watches over men and punishes whoever transgresses ν 214, τῶν δὲ πημονῶν μάλιστα λυποῦσ' at φανῶσ' αἰσθάλονται but those griefs pain the most which are seen to be self-sought S. O. T. 1231. Cases of the sort appear in Hdt., but are very rare in Attic prose, e.g. T. 4. 18. The subjunctive without ἄν (κέ) is much commoner in Homer than in the corresponding clauses with εἰ (2339).

c. The apodosis here usually expresses a general truth, less often iterative action. In 2568 the apodosis refers to iterative action, usually on the part of designated individuals.

Sixth Form

PAST GENERAL CONDITIONAL RELATIVES

2568. Past general conditional relative clauses have the optative. The main clause has the imperfect or an equivalent.

δεῖ πρὸς ᾧ (= εἰ πρὸς τινι) εἴη ἔργῳ, τοῦτο ἐπράττεν whatever work he was engaged in, that he always performed X. H. 4. 8. 22, ἐπράττεν ἃ δόξειεν αὐτῷ he always did whatever he pleased D. 18. 235, πάντας . . . ὅσους λάβοιεν διέφθειρον they used to destroy as many as they captured T. 2. 67, ἐθάρᾳ οἷον περ ἐπιτυγχάνοιεν θηρίοις he used to hunt wherever they fell in with large game X. C. 3. 3. 5, ἀνέκραγον . . . ἰκετεύουσαι πάντας ὅτι ἐντυγχάνοιεν μὴ φεύγειν they screamed out, entreating all they met not to flee X. C. 3. 3. 67.

a. An iterative tense with ἄν in the main clause: ὅπῃ μέλλοι ἀριστοποιεῖσθαι τὸ σπράτευμα . . . , ἐπατήγαγεν ἄν τὸ κέρας, when the squadron was about to take breakfast, he would draw back the wing X. H. 6. 2. 28.

INDICATIVE FORM OF GENERAL CONDITIONAL RELATIVE CLAUSES

2569. The present indicative instead of the subjunctive with ἄν occurs in general conditional relative clauses (cp. 2342). This occurs chiefly after ὅστις, which is itself sufficiently general in meaning.

οἵτινες πρὸς τὰς συμφορὰς γνώμη ἥκιστα λυποῦνται, ἔργῳ δὲ μάλιστα ἀντέχουσιν those who in feeling are least depressed at misfortunes, in action resist them most T. 2. 64, ὅστις δ' ἐπὶ μεγίστοις τὸ ἐπιφθονὸν λαμβάνει, ὁρθῶς βουλευέται he counsels wisely who incurs envy in a great cause 2. 64, ὅστις δὲ πλοῦτον ἢ εὐγένειαν εἰσὶδὼν γαμῇ πορνῇ, μῶρός ἐστιν whoever fixes his gaze on wealth or noble lineage and weds a wicked woman, is a fool E. El. 1007, ὃ τι καλὸν φίλον δει whatsoever is fair is dear forever E. Bacch. 881.

a. Cases of the imperfect instead of the optative are rare and generally ill supported: ὅπου ᾤετο τὴν πατρίδα τι ὠφελησεῖν, οὐ πόρῳ ὑπέετο whenever he thought that he could benefit his country in any respect, he did not shrink from it X. Ag. 7. 1. Cp. X. A. 1. 1. 5, 1. 9. 27.

2570. The indicative is generally used in parenthetical or appended relative clauses with ὅστις (ὅστις ποτὲ). Thus, δουλεύομεν θεοῖς, ὃ τι ποτ' εἰσὶν οἱ θεοὶ we serve the gods, whatever those gods are E. Or. 418.

a. The subjunctive with ἄν is also used when the reference is to future time or to general present time. Cp. Aes. 1. 127, D. 4. 27.

LESS USUAL FORMS OF CONDITIONAL RELATIVE SENTENCES

2571. The potential optative with ἄν in the main clause with the indicative (2562) or subjunctive (2565) in the relative clause.

2572. Indicative with ἄν or potential optative with ἄν in the relative clause.

ὅστιν ἄν ὑμῖς εἰς ταύτην τὴν τάξιν κατεστήσατε . . . , οὗτος . . . τῶν ἰσων ἄν αἰτίος ᾦν κακῶν ᾖων περ καὶ οὗτος whomever you might have appointed to this post, such a one would have been the cause of as many evils as this man has been D. 10. 29, τὰς δ' ἐπ' Ἰλλυρίους . . . καὶ ὅποι τις ἄν εἴποι παραλείπω στρατείας I omit his expeditions against the Illyrians and many others (lit. whithersoever) one might speak of D. 1. 13. Cp. X. Ag. 2. 24.

2573. The optative in the relative clause with the present or future indicative or the imperative in the main clause (cp. 2359). With the present this occurs especially in general statements and maxims. The main clause is often introduced by a verb requiring the infinitive.

ἀλλ' ὃν πόλις στήσειε, τοῦδε χρὴ κλῦειν but whomever the State might appoint, him we must obey S. Ant. 666, τοῦ μὲν αὐτὸν λέγειν, ἀ μὴ σαφῶς εἰδελή, εἰργεσθαι δεῖ one should refrain from saying oneself what one does not know for certain X. C. 1. 6. 19.

a. The present indicative sometimes may have the force of an emphatic future († 286). Sometimes the optative indicates a case that is not likely to occur; as ἀλλῳ νεμεσῶτον, ὅτις τοιαῦτά γε βέβοι you are ready to be wroth with another, supposing any one do such things Ψ 494.

b. Other examples of the present: Homer P 631 (doubtful); Theognis 689; Aes. Pr. 638; Soph. O. T. 315, 979; Lys. 12. 84; Xen. C. 2. 4. 10, 7. 5. 56, H. 3. 4. 18, 7. 3. 7; Plato Charm. 164 a, Eu. 292 e (doubtful), L. 927 c. Temporal: S. Tr. 92, P. R. 332 a.

c. The future indicative occurs in τ 510 (temporal N 317); the perfect indicative in Δ 262 and ω 254 (temporal); the aorist imperative in X. C. 1. 4. 14.

DEPENDENT SUBSTANTIVE CLAUSES (2574-2635)

2574. A subordinate clause may play the part of a substantive in relation to the main clause. Such clauses are generally the object, sometimes the subject, of the verb of the main clause.

εἶπεν ὅτι οὐ πόλεμον ποιησόμενοι ἦκοιεν he said that they had not come to wage war X. A. 5. 5. 24, ἐπράσσον ὅπως τις βοήθεια ἔξει they were managing how some reinforcements should come T. 3. 4, δέδοικα μὴ . . . ἐπιλαθώμεθα τῆς οἰκαδὲς ὁδοῦ I am afraid lest we may forget the way home X. A. 3. 2. 25; εἰλέγετο ὅτι . . . Πόλις ὅσον οὐ παρῆλθ' it was said that Polus had all but arrived 7. 2. 5.

2575. There are four main divisions of substantive clauses.

1. Dependent Statements: subordinate clauses stating that something is; as λέγει ὡς οὐδὲν ἔστιν ἀδικώτερον φήμης he says that nothing is more unjust than talk about a man's character Aes. 1. 125.

2. Dependent Clauses of will or desire: subordinate clauses denoting that something should be or should be done. These clauses have been treated under the following divisions:

- a. Dependent clauses after verbs of effort (2209).
- b. Dependent clauses after verbs of fearing (2221).

N.—On dependent voluntative clauses with the accusative and infinitive (indirect petition), see 1991 ff.

3. Dependent Questions: subordinate clauses asking a question; both parts of the sentence together forming a statement; as ἡρώτων ὁ τι ἐστὶ τὸ πρᾶγμα I asked what the matter was X. A. 5. 7. 23.

4. Dependent Exclamations: subordinate clauses setting forth an exclamation; both parts of the sentence together forming a statement; as διαθεώμενος αὐτῶν ὄσσην μὲν χώρην καὶ οἷαν ἔχουεν observing how great the extent of their territory was and how excellent its quality X. A. 3. 1. 19.

DEPENDENT STATEMENTS

2576. Dependent statements, or subordinate clauses stating that something is, are expressed in various ways:

1. By an infinitive, with or without an accusative (explained in 1972 ff., 2016 ff.). Thus, νομίζω γὰρ ὑμᾶς ἐμοὶ εἶναι καὶ πατριδα καὶ φίλους for I think that you are both fatherland and friends to me X. C. 1. 3. 6, οἶμαι εἰδέναι I think that I know P. Pr. 312 c.

2. By a participle, with or without an accusative (explained in 2106 ff.). Thus, οὐ γὰρ ᾔδεσαν αὐτὸν τεθνηκότα for they did not know that he was dead X. A. 1. 10. 16, μνησθῆναι ἀκούσας I remember that I heard X. C. 1. 6. 6.

3. By ὅτι or ὥς (and some other conjunctions) with the indicative or optative. On this form of dependent statement see 2577 ff., and under Indirect Discourse.

a. In any form of substantive clause the subject of the subordinate verb may be made the object of the principal verb (2182).

b. A clause with ὅτι (ὥς) may precede the principal clause. Cp. 2586.

DEPENDENT STATEMENTS INTRODUCED BY ὅτι OR ὥς

2577. The conjunctions ὅτι or ὥς that introduce dependent statements in the indicative and optative

After verbs of saying, knowing, perceiving, showing, etc.

After verbs of emotion (rejoicing, grieving, wondering), etc.

Or such dependent statements contain an explanation of the main clause or of a word in that clause, no special verb introducing the conjunction.

ταῦτο δέκον ἐπαινεῖν τῶν ἀνδρῶν τῶν τότε ναυμαχούντων, ὅτι τὸν . . . φόβον ἐξελύσαν τῶν Ἑλλήνων it is right to praise this in the men who engaged in the sea-fight of those days, (namely) that they dispelled the fear felt by the Greeks Menex. 241 b

2578. The conjunctions introducing dependent statements are ὅτι (Homeric also ὅττι, ὅ and ὅτε), ὥς, διότι, ὅπως (rarely), οὖνεκα and ὀδοῦνεκα (both poetic).

a. ὅτι meaning that was originally, like Hom. ὅ, perhaps an accusative of the inner object (cognate) : ὁρῶ δ νοσεῖς lit. I see what sickness you are sick (= ἤ νόσον νοσεῖς). But by the time of Homer both ὅ and ὅτι had become mere formal conjunctions. Hom. ὅτε that seems to be a weakened ὅτε when; but this is disputed.

b. διότι originally = διὰ τοῦτο, ὅτι on account of this, that = because (as T. 1. 52); then = ὅτι that in Hdt. and in Attic after Isocrates, who uses διότι for ὅτι to avoid hiatus.

c. ὥς strictly an old ablative of ὅς (2989) meaning how, in what way, as in exclamatory clauses and indirect questions. The meaning how (cp. how that) may be seen in οἶδα γὰρ ὥς μοι ὀδῶδυσται κλυτὸς ἐννοσίγαιος for I know how (that) the famed earth-shaker has been wroth against me ε 423, and also in Attic (And. 2. 14; I. 2. 3, 3. 10, 10. 11, 10. 15; Aes. 2. 35; D. 24. 139). The development of ὥς how to ὥς that followed from the use of ὥς after verbs signifying to see, perceive, know, and the like. Cp. "he said how there was a knight."

d. ὅπως (2929) that is common in Herodotus (ὅπως), rare in Attic, most used in poetry and Xenophon. From its original use in indirect questions ὅπως how gradually acquired the meaning that. Thus, ἀλλ' ὅπως μὲν . . . ἐγὼ ἀχθόμεναι ὑμῖς τρέφων, μηδ' ὑπονοεῖτε do not even entertain the thought that I am annoyed at maintaining you X. C. 3. 3. 20.

e. οὖνεκα = οὐ ἔνεκα, for τούτου ἔνεκα, δ, properly causal: on account of (as regards) this, that, and then = that, even in Homer (Odyssey and A 21) and later in poetry. Thus, ἐξάγγελλε . . . οὖνεκ' Οἰδίπους τοιαῦτ' ἔνειμε παῖσι τοῖς αὐτοῦ γέρεα announce that Oedipus has distributed such honours to his sons S. O. C. 1393.

f. ὀδοῦνεκα = δου ἔνεκα, for τούτου ἔνεκα, ὅτι; and then = that. It is found only in tragedy, as ἀγγελλε . . . ὀδοῦνεκα τέθνηκ' Ὀρέστης report that Orestes is dead S. El. 47.

2579. Some verbs of saying are followed either by ὅτι or ὥς or by an infinitive (2017). In most cases the choice is optional with the writer. Affirmative clauses usually take the infinitive or ὅτι; but ὥς is apparently preferred to ὅτι when a writer wishes to mark a statement as an opinion, a pretext, as untrue, and so when the main clause is negative, or when the subordinate clause is negative (or both are negative). Thus, νομίζουσιν οἱ ἐκεῖνη ἄνθρωποι . . . ὥς δ' Ἡφαιστος χαλκεῖ the local belief is that Hephaestus is working at his forge T. 3. 88, διαβαλὼν αὐτοὺς ὥς οὐδὲν ἀληθὲς ἐν νῷ ἔχουσιν slanderously attacking them on the score that their intentions were not sincere 5. 45, πολλὰκις ἐθαύμασα τις. ποτὲ λόγοις Ἀθηναίους ἔπεισαν οἱ γραψάμενοι Σωκράτην ὥς ἄξιός ἐστι θανάτου I have often wondered with what possible arguments the accusers of Socrates succeeded in convincing the Athenians that he deserved death X. M. 1. 1. 1, οὐ τοῦτο λέγω ὥς οὐ δεῖ ποτε καὶ ἐλάττωι ἔτι μορῶι λέγειν I do not say (this) that it is not even necessary to attack the enemy with a still smaller detachment X. C. 5. 4. 20. ὅτι may be used of an untrue statement designed to create belief (S. El. 43).

a. Dependent statements in the optative in indirect discourse after verbs of saying are chiefly post-Homeric.

2580. Verbs of thinking almost always take the infinitive (2018) but ὥς occurs; as with νομίζω T. 3. 88 (2579), ἐλπίζω 5. 9, οἶμαι X. H. 6. 3. 12, ὕπολαμβάνω X. C. 8. 3. 40. ὅτι is very rare (with οἶμαι in P. Ph. 87 c). λογίζομαι (ὅτι) is a verb of saying.

a. μαρτυρῶ with ὅτι (ὥς) expresses reality; with the infinitive it denotes uncertainty.

2581. Verbs of intellectual perception usually take ὅτι (ὥς); less often the participle, which is normal after verbs of physical perception. A verb of physical perception, if followed by ὅτι (ὥς), virtually becomes a verb of intellectual perception.

2582. Many verbs take ὅτι (ὥς) or the participle either in indirect discourse or not in indirect discourse (2106-2115). Here the construction with the finite verb is less dependent than that with the participle; but the meaning is essentially the same in Attic. Many verbs take ὅτι (ὥς), the infinitive, or the participle, often without great difference in meaning in Attic (2123-2145).

2583. ὅτι (ὥς), when separated from its clause by another clause, may be repeated. Thus, ἔλεγεν ὅτι, εἰ μὴ καταβήσονται . . . , ὅτι κατακαύσει . . . τὰς κώμας he said that, if they did not descend, he would burn their villages to the ground X. A. 7. 4. 5.

2584. The personal δῆλός εἰμι ὅτι, λανθάνω ὅτι, etc. are often used instead of the impersonal δῆλόν ἐστιν ὅτι, λανθάνει ὅτι, etc. Thus, ὅτι πονηρότατοι εἰσιν οὐδὲ σὲ λανθάνουσιν not even you fail to perceive that they are the very worst X. O. 1. 19.

2585. δῆλον ὅτι (δηλονότι) evidently, οἷός ὅτι (εὖ οἷός ὅτι) surely, εὖ ἴσθι ὅτι be assured are so often used parenthetically and elliptically as to become mere formal expressions requiring no verb. ὅτι here loses all conjunctive force. Thus, ἔχει δὴ οὕτως δῆλον ὅτι τούτων περὶ the case then stands clearly thus about these matters P. G. 487 d, οὐτ' ἂν ἦμεις οἷός ὅτι ἐπαύσασθε nor assuredly would you have ceased D. 6. 29, καὶ πάντων οἷός ὅτι φησάντων γ' ἂν (for καὶ οἷός ὅτι πάντες φησάειν γ' ἂν) and all assuredly would say 9. 1.

a. Plato (Sophistes and Leges) uses δῆλον (ἐστίν) ὥς for δῆλον ὅτι.

2586. ὅτι (and by analogy ὥς) are often attached loosely to the main clause with the meaning as a proof (in support) of the fact that. Thus, ὅτι δ' οὕτω ταῦτ' ἔχει, λέγε μοι τὸ τοῦ Καλλισθέους ψήφισμα as a proof of the fact that this is so, read me the bill of Callisthenes D. 18. 37.

2587. Verbs of emotion (to rejoice, grieve, be angry, wonder, etc.) take ὅτι (ὥς) with a finite verb (negative οὐ), but more commonly the participle (2100) when the subject is not changed.

a. Hom. prefers ὅτι, ὥς to the participle or infinitive.

b. The accusative and infinitive with verbs of emotion are rare; as with θαυμάζω F. Alc. 1130. (θαυμάζω may be followed by a dependent question: D. 37. 44).

c. On verbs of emotion with εἰ instead of ὅτι, ὥς (negative, generally μή), see 2247. On the use in dependent exclamations, see 2687.

2588. μνησθῆναι, οἶσα, ἀκούω and like verbs, may take ὅτι instead of ὅτι (2395 A. n.). Cp., in Homer, Φ 396, π 424.

INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2589. The words or thoughts of a person may be quoted in direct or indirect form after verbs, or other expressions, of saying or thinking.

a. In reporting a speech, in making a quotation, or in dialogue, a verb of saying is often repeated (P. Pr. 310 b, 345 c, X. A. 7. 6. 5-6). So also in such cases as Πάνθεια εἶπεν, ἀλλὰ θάρρει, ἔφη, ὦ Κῦρε X. C. 7. 3. 13.

2590. (I) Direct Discourse (Oratio Recta). — In a direct quotation the words or thoughts quoted are given at first hand in the exact form used by the original speaker or thinker.

Μεγαρέες ἔπεμπον ἐπὶ τοὺς στρατηγοὺς τῶν Ἑλλήνων κήρυκα, ἀπικόμενος δὲ ὁ κήρυξ πρὸς αὐτοὺς ἔλεγε τάδε · “Μεγαρέες λέγουσι · ‘ἡμεῖς, ἄνδρες σύμμαχοι, οὐ δυνατοὶ εἶμεν τὴν Περσέων ἱππὸν δέκεσθαι μῶνοι.’” the Megarians sent a herald to the generals of the Greeks, and on his arrival the herald spoke as follows : “The Megarians say : ‘we, oh allies, are not able to sustain the attack of the Persian cavalry by ourselves’” Hdt. 9. 21 ; and often in Hdt. (cp. 3. 40, 3. 122, 5. 24, 7. 150, 8. 140).

a. Direct quotation may, in prose, be introduced by οὕτως, which has the value of quotation marks. Thus, οἱ δὲ εἶπον οὕτως ἵκανοί ἐσμεν but they said (that) “we are ready” X. A. 5. 4. 10. So usually when the finite verb is omitted ; as ἀπεκρίνατο οὕτως ὅτι οὐ he answered (that) “no” 1. 6. 7. The use of direct speech introduced by οὕτως is, in general, that of familiar style. The first example is Hdt. 2. 115. ὡς for οὕτως is very rare (Dinarchus 1. 12, 1. 102). Cp. “the emperor sends thee this word that, if thou love thy sons, let Marcus . . . , or any one of you, chop off your hand” Shakesp. Tit. Andr. 3. 1. 151.

2591. (II) Indirect Discourse (Oratio Obliqua). In an indirect quotation the words or thoughts are given at second hand with certain modifications to indicate that the words or thoughts are reported.

a. The original form may be preserved except that there is a change from the first or second person to the third person : so πάντ’ ἐθέλει δομεναι H 391 reporting πάντ’ ἐθέλω δομεναι H 304. In such cases there is no grammatical dependence.

b. The narrator may report in dependent form the words or thoughts of a person from the point of view of that person. This is the common form of indirect discourse.

c. The narrator may report in dependent form the words or thoughts of a person from his own point of view. See 2624.

2592. The constructions of indirect discourse are regulated by the character of the leading verb or expression.

a. Verbs of saying take either οὕτως or ὡς and a finite verb or the infinitive (2017, 2579).

b. Most verbs of thinking and believing take the infinitive (2018, cp. 2580).

c. Most verbs of knowing, perceiving, hearing, showing take the participle (2106, 2110), but admit the construction with οὕτως or ὡς. Some are followed by the infinitive (2123 ff.).

d. On the construction of verbs of hoping, promising, and swearing, see 1868, 1900, 2024.

2593. Indirect discourse is said to be implied in subordinate clauses dependent on verbs which involve an idea of saying or thinking (2622).

2594. A speaker may state his own words or thoughts in the form of indirect discourse. Cp. 2614, 2615, etc.

2595. Clauses standing in indirect discourse are substantive clauses, and usually object of the leading verb; its subject, when that verb is passive or intransitive. The infinitive in substantive clauses after verbs of saying and thinking retains the time of the corresponding finite verb of direct discourse.

2596. Indirect questions (2677) have the constructions of indirect discourse.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2597. Simple and compound sentences, and principal clauses of complex sentences, introduced by ὅτι or ὥς are treated as follows:

2598. (I) After primary tenses, the original mood and tense are retained, except that the person of the verb may be changed.

2599. (II) After secondary tenses, primary tenses of the indicative and all subjunctives may be changed to the same tense of the optative; but an indicative denoting unreality (with or without ἄν) is retained. Imperfects and pluperfects are generally retained (2623 b).

2600. The verb of simple and compound sentences, and of principal clauses of complex sentences, when introduced by a verb taking the infinitive or participle, passes into the infinitive or participle in the corresponding tense. ἄν is kept, if it was used in the direct form.

2601. Subordinate clauses of complex sentences introduced by ὅτι or ὥς are treated as follows:

2602. (I) Subordinate clauses of a sentence introduced by a leading verb in a primary tense, must remain unchanged in mood and tense.

2603. (II) If subordinate clauses are introduced by a leading verb in a secondary tense, all primary tenses of the indicative and all subjunctives (with or without ἄν) may be changed to the corresponding tenses of the optative without ἄν. All secondary tenses of the indicative (with or without ἄν) remain unchanged.

2604. Verbs standing in subordinate clauses of sentences introduced by a leading verb requiring the participle or the infinitive, follow the rules of 2602, 2603.

2605. The principal and subordinate clauses of the direct form retain the names principal and subordinate in indirect discourse though the whole clause in which they stand itself depends on the verb introducing the indirect discourse (the leading verb).

2606. The change from direct to indirect discourse is almost always a change of mood, not of tense. The time of a participle introducing indirect discourse is determined by that of the leading verb. The person of the verb is often changed.

2607. ἄν of the direct form is retained in indirect discourse except when a dependent subjunctive with ἄν becomes optative after a secondary tense. Here ἔάν, ὅταν, ἐπειδάν, ἕως ἄν, etc., become εἰ, ὅτε, ἐπειδή, ἕως, etc.

2608. The same negative (οὐ or μή) used in the direct discourse is commonly kept in the indirect form. But in some cases with the infinitive and participle μή takes the place of οὐ (2723 ff., 2730, 2737).

2609. No verb ever becomes subjunctive by reason of indirect discourse. The subjunctive (with or without ἄν) may, after a secondary tense, become optative without ἄν.

2610. No verb can be changed to the optative in indirect discourse except after a secondary tense, and since, even after a secondary tense, indicatives or subjunctives may be retained for vividness, no verb must become optative by reason of indirect discourse.

2611. All optatives with or without ἄν in the direct form are retained (with or without ἄν) in indirect discourse introduced by ὅτι or ὥς. After verbs requiring the participle or infinitive, such optatives in principal clauses become participles or infinitives (with or without ἄν), but remain unchanged in subordinate clauses.

a. The optative in indirect discourse may represent either the indicative or the subjunctive after a secondary tense.

b. A present optative in indirect discourse may represent (1) the present indicative; (2) the imperfect (2623 b) indicative; (3) the present subjunctive with or without ἄν; (4) the present optative.

2612. The imperative is commonly replaced in indirect discourse by a periphrasis with χρήναι. Cp. 2633 b.

2613. The retention of the mood of direct discourse, where either the direct or indirect form is possible, lies solely in the option of the writer or speaker. The vivid form reproduces the time and situation in which the quoted words were used. The vivid form is preferred by some writers, as Thucydides; the indirect form by others, as the orators, Plato, and Xenophon.

SIMPLE SENTENCES IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

1. Indicative and Optative after ὅτι or ὥς

2614. After primary tenses, the verb of the direct form remains unchanged in mood and tense.

λέγει δ' ὡς ὑβριστής εἰμι he says that I am an insolent person L. 24. 15 (= ὑβριστής εἶ), ἀλλ' ἐννοεῖν χρή τοῦτο μέν, γυναῖχ' ὅτι ἐφύμεν but we must remember on the one hand that we were born women S. Ant. 61, οἷδ' ὅτι οὐδ' ἂν τοῦτό μοι ἐμέμφου I know that you would not blame me even for this X. O. 2. 15, ἀπεκρίνατο ὅτι οὐδὲν ἂν τούτων εἰποι he replied that he would say nothing of this X. A. 5. 6. 37 (= ἂν εἰποιμι).

2615. After secondary tenses, an indicative without ἄν usually becomes optative, but may be retained unchanged. An indicative with ἄν and an optative with ἄν are retained.

a. Optative for Indicative. — ἔγνωσαν ὅτι κενὸς ὁ φόβος εἴη they recognized that their fear was groundless X. A. 2. 2. 21 (= ἐστὶ), ἔλεξαν ὅτι πέμψει σφᾶς ὁ Ἰνδῶν βασιλεὺς they said that the king of the Indians had sent them X. C. 2. 4. 7 (= ἐπεμψεν ἡμᾶς), ἠγγέλθη ὅτι ἡττημένοι εἰεν οἱ Λακεδαιμόνιοι . . . καὶ Πεισανδρος τεθνήκει it was reported that the Lacedaemonians had been defeated and that Pelsander was dead X. H. 4. 3. 10 (= ἡττημένοι εἰσι καὶ τέθνηκε).

N. — The first example of the optative in indirect discourse is later than Homer (Hymn to Aphrodite 214). Aeschylus has four cases. See 2624 c.

b. Direct Form Retained. — διήλθε λόγος ὅτι διώκει αὐτοὺς Κύρος a report spread that Cyrus was pursuing them X. A. 1. 4. 7, ἀποκρινάμενοι ὅτι πέμψουσι πρέσβεις, εὐθὺς ἀπῆλλαξαν they withdrew immediately on answering that they would send envoys T. 1. 90 (= πέμφομεν). See also 2623, 2625.

2. Infinitive and Participle

2616. The infinitive and participle are used in indirect discourse to represent the finite verb of direct discourse.

ὁπώπτερον ἐπὶ βασιλεῦ ἵναί they suspected that they were to go against the king X. A. 5. 1. 8 (= ἵμεν), ἔφη ἡ δέξιν Λακεδαιμονίους ἢ αὐτοῦ ἀποκτενεῖν he said that he would either bring the Lacedaemonians or kill them on the spot T. 4. 28 (= ἄξω, ἀποκτενῶ), οὐ γὰρ ᾔδεσαν αὐτὸν τεθνηκότα for they did not know that he was dead X. A. 1. 10. 16 (= ὅτι τέθνηκε).

For examples of the infinitive, see 1846, 1848, 1849, 1867, 2022; for examples of the participle, see 1846, 1848, 1874, 2106, 2112 b.

COMPLEX SENTENCES IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2618. After primary tenses, all subordinate verbs retain the original mood and tense.

λέγουσιν ὡς, ἐπειδὴν τις ἀγαθὸς ὢν τελευτήσῃ, μεγάλην μοῖραν καὶ τιμὴν ἔχει they say that, when a good man dies, he enjoys great esteem and honour P. Crat. 398 b, προλέγω ὅτι, ὅποτε' ἂν ἀποκρίνηται, ἐξελεγχθήσεται I tell you in advance that, whichever answer he makes, he will be confuted P. Eu. 275 e, παράδειγμα σαφὲς καταστήσεται, ὅς ἂν ἀφιστήται θανάτῳ ζημωσόμενον give plain warning that whoever revolts shall be punished with death T. 3. 40 (= ὅτι ζημώσεται).

2619. After secondary tenses, all subordinate verbs in the present, future, or perfect indicative, and all subjunctives, are usually changed to the corresponding tenses of the optative, or they are retained. Subjunctives with ἄν lose ἄν on passing into the optative.

a. Optative for Indicative and Indicative Retained. — εἶπε . . . ὅτι ἄνθρωπον ἀγορεύειν . . . ἐν εἰρήνῃ δέοι he said that he was bringing a man whom it was necessary to lock up X. H. 5. 4. 8 (= ἀγω, δεῖ), Κύρος . . . τῷ Κλεάρχῳ ἐβόᾳ ἀγορεύειν τὸ στράτευμα κατὰ μέσον τὸ τῶν πολεμίων, ὅτι ἐκεῖ βασιλεὺς εἴη Cyrus shouted to Clearchus to lead his troops against the enemy's centre because the king was there X. A. 1. 8. 12 (= ἐστὶ), εὖ δὲ εἰδέναι ἔφασαν ὅτι παρέσονται for they said that they knew well that they would come X. H. 6. 5. 19 (= ἴσμεν ὅτι παρέσονται), ἔλεγον ὅτι ἔτοιμος εἴη ἡγεῖσθαι αὐτοῖς . . . εἰς τὸ Δέλτα . . ., ἔνθα πολλὰ κάγαθὰ λήψονται he said that he was ready to be their leader to the Delta, where they would obtain an abundance of good things X. A. 7. 1. 33 (= ἔτοιμός εἰμι, λήψεσθε), ἔλεγον ὅτι . . . ἤκουεν ἡγεμόνας ἔχοντες, οἱ αὐτοῖς, εὖν σπονδαὶ γένωνται, ἀξουσιν ἔνθεν ἔξουσι τὰ ἐπιτίθεσθαι they said that they had come with guides who would lead them, should a truce be made, to a place where they would get their supplies 2. 3. 6 (= ἤκομεν, ἑμᾶς, ἔχετε), ἀγαπήσειν με ἔφασκεν, εἰ τὸ σῶμα σώσω he said I might think myself well off if I saved my life L. 12. 11 (= ἀγαπήσεις, εἰ σώσεις).

N. — Except in the future the change to the optative of the indicative after εἰ is rare: as προσήλθον λέγων ὅτι . . . ἔτοιμός εἰμι, εἰ τινα βούλοιο (= βούλει), παραδοῦναι βασανίζειν I went and said that I was ready to give up the slaves to be tortured, if he wished any one of them L. 7. 34, εἶπεν ὅτι Δέξιππον μὲν οὐκ ἐπαινοῖ, εἰ ταῦτα πεποιηκώς εἴη he said that he did not commend Dexippus, if he had done this X. A. 6. 6. 25 (= ἐπαινῶ, εἰ πεποίηκε).

b. Optative for Subjunctive and Subjunctive Retained. — εἶπεν ὅτι οἰμώξοιτο, εἰ μὴ σιωπήσειεν he said that he would smart for it unless he kept quiet X. H. 2. 3. 56 (= οἰμώξει, εἰ μὴ σιωπήσῃ), οὐκ ἔφασαν λέναί, εἰ μὴ τις αὐτοῖς χρήματα διδῶ they refused to go unless a largess were given them X. A. 1. 4. 12 (= οὐκ ἴμεν), εἶπεν ὅτι ἐπιτίθεσθαι μέλλοιεν αὐτῷ, ὅποτε ἀπάγοι τὸ στράτευμα he said that they intended to attack him when he led his forces away X. C. 7. 5. 2 (= μέλλουσι, σοί, ὅποτε ἀπάγῃς), τοὺς ἵππους ἐκέλευε φυλάττειν μένοντας τοὺς ἀγαγόντας ἕως ἂν τις σημαίῃ he ordered that those who brought the horses should guard them and wait until orders were given 4. 5. 38, ὥμοσεν Ἀγησιλάῳ, εἰ στείλοιο ἕως ἔλθοιεν οὐτὶ πέμψει he swore to Agesilaus that, if he would make a truce until the messengers whom he would send to the king should arrive, he would bring it about that, etc. X. Ages. 1. 10 (= εἰ στείλῃς ἕως ἂν ἔλθωσιν οὐτὶ ἂν πέμψω, διαπράξομαι).

2620. Subordinate verbs in the imperfect, aorist (but see 2623 c, N. 3), or pluperfect indicative, and all optatives, remain unchanged.

ἐπιστεῖλαι δὲ σφίσιν αὐτοῖς τοὺς ἐφόρους . . . εἰπεῖν ὡς ὦν μὲν πρόσθεν ἐποιοῦν μέμφοιντο αὐτοῖς κτλ. they reported that the ephors enjoined them to say that they blamed them for what they had done before X. H. 3. 2. 6 (= ἐποιεῖτε, μεμφόμεθα ὑμῖν), ἤλατιον τοὺς Σικελοὺς ταύτη, οὓς μετέπεμψαν, ἀπαντήσεσθαι they expected that the Sicels whom they had sent for would meet them here T. 7. 80, εἶπεν ὅτι ἔλθοι ἄν εἰς λόγους, εἰ ὑμήρους λάβοι he said that he would enter into negotiations if he should receive hostages X. H. 3. 1. 20 (ἔλθοιμ' ἄν, εἰ λάβοιμι). See 2623 a, 2625.

2621. The following table shows where, after εἶπεν ὅτι or ἔφη, the optative (and infinitive after ἔφη) may be substituted for the indicative or subjunctive in conditional sentences in indirect discourse.

DIRECT	INDIRECT
	εἶπεν ὅτι ἔφη
εἴ τι ἔχω, δίδωμι	εἴ τι ἔχοι, διδοίη (διδόναι)
εἴ τι εἶχεν, ἐδίδουν	εἴ τι εἶχεν, ἐδίδου (διδόναι)
εἴ τι ἔσχον, ἔδωκα	εἴ τι ἔσχεν, δοίη* (δοῦναι)
εἰάν τι ἔχω, δώσω	εἴ τι ἔχοι, δώσοι (δώσειν)
εἴ τι ἔξω, δώσω	εἴ τι ἔξοι, δώσοι (δώσειν)
εἰάν τι ἔχω, δίδωμι	εἴ τι ἔχοι, διδοίη (διδόναι)

* The combination of aorist indicative and aorist optative is unusual.

In the following sentences there is no change of mood after ὅτι:

εἴ τι εἶχον, ἐδίδουν ἄν	εἴ τι εἶχεν, ἐδίδου ἄν (διδόναι ἄν)
εἴ τι ἔσχον, ἔδωκα ἄν	εἴ τι ἔσχεν, ἔδωκεν ἄν (δοῦναι ἄν)
εἴ τι ἔχοιμι, διδοίην ἄν	εἴ τι ἔχοι, διδοίη ἄν (διδόναι ἄν)

Temporal and relative sentences (cp. 2561) are converted in the same way. For an infinitive representing an imperative in the apodosis, see 2633 c.

IMPLIED INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2622. Indirect discourse is implied in the case of any subordinate clause, which, though not depending formally on a verb of saying or thinking, contains the past thought of another person and not a statement of the writer or speaker. Implied indirect discourse appears only after secondary tenses, and in various kinds of dependent clauses.

a. Conditional clauses, the conclusion being implied in the leading verb. Thus, after a verb of emotion, οἱ δ' ᾤκτιρον εἰ ἀλώσονται others pitied them if they should be captured X. A. 1. 4. 7. The original form was 'we pity them thinking what they will suffer εἰ ἀλώσονται if they shall be captured.' In other εἰ clauses, ὡς τὰ χρήματα τῷ δῆμῳ ἔδωκεν, εἰ πως τελευτήσκειν ἄπαις he gave his property to the people in case he died childless And. 4. 15 (i.e. that the people might have it, in case he should die: direct εἰάν τελευτήσω, and here εἰάν τελευτήσῃ might have been used).

b. Temporal clauses implying purpose, expectation, or the like (cp. 2420). Thus, σπονδᾶς ἐποίησαντο, ἕως ἀπαγγελθεῖη τὰ λεχθέντα they made a truce (which they agreed should continue) until what had been said should have been reported X. H. 3. 2. 20 (ἕως ἂν ἀπαγγελθῇ would be the direct form). Cp. ἕως δ' ἂν ταῦτα διαπράξωνται, φυλακὴν . . . κατέλιπε he left behind a guard (which he intended should remain) until they should settle these matters 5. 3. 25.

c. Causal clauses. See 2242.

d. Ordinary relative clauses. Thus, εἶπετο παῖδα, τὸν Εὐδάνα τέκοι he asked for the child which Evadna had borne Pindar, Ol. 6. 49. Here relative and interrogative are not sharply distinguished.

e. Clauses depending on an infinitive especially when introduced by a verb of will or desire, e.g. command, advise, plan, ask, wish (1991, 1993). Here the infinitive expressing command, warning, wish, is not itself in indirect discourse. The negative is μή. Thus, ἀφικνούνται (historical present) ὡς Σιτάλκην . . . βουλόμενοι πείσαι αὐτόν, εἰ δύναιτο, . . . στρατεύσαι ἐπὶ τὴν Ποτειδαίαν they came to Sitalces with the desire of persuading him (if they could) to make an expedition against Potidaea T. 2. 67 (= ἐὰν δυνώμεθα), cp. 2833 a.

f. Clauses of purpose and object clauses after verbs of effort admit the alternative constructions of indirect discourse.

REMARKS ON THE CONSTRUCTIONS OF INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2623. Past Tenses in Indirect Discourse. — The following rules govern past tenses in indirect discourse.

a. The potential indicative with ἄν, the indicative in a condition denoting unreality with ἄν or without ἄν (as ἐχρῆν, ἔδει, etc.), always remain unchanged in order to prevent confusion with the optative of the direct form.

ἀπελογούντο ὡς οὐκ ἄν ποτε οὕτω μῶροι ἦσαν . . . εἰ ᾔδεισαν they pleaded that they never would have been so foolish, if they had known X. H. 5. 4. 22 (= οὐκ ἄν ἦμεν. εἰ ἦσμεν), (ἔλεγε) ὅτι κρεῖττον ἦν αὐτῷ τότε ἀποθαρῆν he said that it would have been better for him to die then L. 10. 25 (= κρεῖττον ἦν μοι).

b. The imperfect and pluperfect in simple sentences usually remain unchanged after secondary tenses to prevent ambiguity; but when there is no doubt that a past tense stood in the direct form, the imperfect passes into the present optative, the pluperfect into the perfect optative. In subordinate clauses both tenses are retained unaltered.

ἤκουσεν ὅτι πολλάκις πρὸς τὸν Ἰνδὸν οἱ Χαλδαῖοι ἐπορεύοντο he heard that the Chaldaeans often went to the Indian king X. C. 3. 2. 27, εἶχε γὰρ λέγειν καὶ ὅτι μόνου τῶν Ἑλλήνων βασιλεῖ συνεμάχοντο ἐν Πλαταιαῖς, καὶ ὅτι ὕστερον οὐδενὸς ποτε στρατεύσαιντο (cp. c) ἐπὶ βασιλῆᾱ for he was able to say both that alone of the Greeks they had fought on the side of the king at Plataea and that later they had never at any time taken the field against the king X. H. 7. 1. 34 (= συνεμαχόμεθα. ἐστρατευσάμεθα), τὰ πεπραγμένα διηγούντο, ὅτι αὐτοὶ μὲν . . . πλείον, τῇ δὲ ἀναίρεσιν τῶν ναυγῶν προστάξαιεν they related what had occurred to the effect that they were themselves sailing against the enemy and that they had given orders for the rescue of the men on the wrecks X. H. 1. 7. 5 (= ἐπλέομεν, προσεστάξαμεν).

N. — The change to the optative is not made when the time of the action of imperfect (and pluperfect) is earlier than that of a coördinated verb in the same quoted sentence; as ἔλεγεν τ' ὡς φιλαθήναιος ἦν καὶ τὸν Σάμῳ πρῶτος κατεῖποι he said that he both had been a lover of Athens and that (afterwards) he was the first to tell what had happened at Samos Ar. Vesp. 282.

c. The aorist indicative without ἄν in a simple sentence or in a principal clause may be changed to the aorist optative after a secondary tense; but in subordinate clauses (except those denoting cause, N. 3) it remains unchanged to avoid ambiguity with the aorist optative, which usually represents the aorist subjunctive.

ἀπεκρίνῃ μὲν αὐτῷ ὅτι . . . οὐ λάβοιμι I answered him that I did not take D. 50. 36 (= οὐκ ἔλαβον), τοῖς ἰδίοις χρήσεσθαι ἔφη, ἃ ὁ πατήρ αὐτῷ ἔδωκεν he said that he would use his own money that his father had given him X. H. 1. 5. 3 (= χρήσομαι, ἔδωκεν).

N. 1. — The retention of the aorist indicative is here the essential point of difference between subordinate clauses and principal clauses or simple sentences.

N. 2. — In a subordinate clause the time of the aorist usually expresses an action prior to that of the leading verb.

N. 3. — In causal clauses with ὅτι or ὥς a dependent aorist indicative may become aorist optative; as εἶχε γὰρ λέγειν . . . ὡς Λακεδαιμόνιοι διὰ τοῦτο πολεμῆσαι αὐτοῖς, ὅτι οὐκ ἐθελήσαιεν μετ' Ἀγησιλάου ἐλθεῖν ἐπ' αὐτόν for he was able to say that the Lacedaemonians had gone to war with them (the Thebans) for the reason that they (the Thebans) had not been willing to attack him (the Persian king) in company with Agesilaus X. H. 7. 1. 84 (direct ἐπολέμησαν ἡμῖν, ὅτι οὐκ ἠθελήσαμεν). Rarely in temporal clauses with ἐπεὶ (X. C. 5. 3. 26).

2624. Inserted Statement of Fact. — When the present or perfect indicative would have stood in the direct discourse, a past tense of historical narration is often used as a statement of fact by the writer from his own point of view, though the rest of the sentence may be given in indirect discourse after a secondary tense from the point of view of the subject of the leading verb.

ᾗδει ὅτι οὐχ οἶόν τ' ἦν αὐτῇ σωθῆναι she knew that it was not possible for her to be saved Ant. 1. 8 (= οὐχ οἶόν τ' ἐστὶ ἐμοὶ σωθῆναι. With ᾗδει the sentence virtually has the force of οὐχ οἶόν τ' ἦν σωθῆναι καὶ ᾗδει she could not be saved and she knew it). So ἔλεγον οὐ καλῶς τὴν Ἑλλάδα ἐλευθεροῦν αὐτόν, εἰ ἄνδρας διέφθειρεν they said that he was not freeing Greece in the right way if he put men to death T. 3. 32 (= ἐλευθεροῖς, διαφθείρεις), τοὺς φυγάδας ἐκέλευσε σὺν αὐτῷ στρατεύεσθαι, ὑποσχόμενος αὐτοῖς, εἰ καλῶς καταπράξειεν ἐφ' ἃ ἐστρατεύετο, μὴ πρόσθεν παύσεσθαι πρὶν αὐτοὺς καταγάγειν οἰκάδε he urged the exiles to make the expedition with him, promising them that, if he should succeed in accomplishing the purposes of his campaign, he would not cease until he had brought them back to their homes X. A. 1. 2. 2 (= ἦν καταπράξει ἐφ' ἃ στρατεύομαι, οὐ παύσομαι πρὶν ἂν καταγάγω), ἀποθανὼν ἐδήλωσεν ὅτι οὐκ ἀληθὴ ταῦτα ἦν he showed by his death that this was not true L. 19. 52 (= ἐστὶ), ἔφη εἶναι παρ' ἑαυτῷ ὅσον μὴ ἦν ἀνηλωμένον he said that he had in his possession all that had not been expended I. 48. 16 (= παρ' ἐμοὶ ἐστὶν ὅσον μὴ ἔστιν ἀνηλωμένον), ἐν πολλῇ δὲ ἀπορίᾳ ἦσαν οἱ Ἕλληνες, ἐννοούμενοι μὲν ὅτι ἐπὶ ταῖς βασιλέως θύραις ἦσαν the Greeks were accordingly in great perplexity on reflecting that they were at the king's gates X. A. 3. 1. 2 (i.e. they were there in fact and they knew it).

a. The use of past tenses of historical narration instead of present tenses of direct discourse occurs, in simple sentences, especially after verbs of knowing, perceiving, showing, and verbs of emotion (rarely after verbs of saying w. ὅτι).

b. Such inserted statements of fact are often difficult to distinguish from indicatives in indirect discourse; and the two forms of expression may occur in the same sentence (X. C. 4. 2. 35-36). The common explanation of the use of the imperfect and pluperfect for the present and perfect is that Greek had the same assimilation of tense as English.

c. Except in indirect questions, the optative of indirect discourse is unknown to Homer. (εἰπεῖν ὡς ἄλθοι ω 237 may be considered as interrogative.) After primary or secondary tenses Homer employs, in the dependent clause, the same past tense that would have been used in an independent clause, from the point of view of the speaker, and not the tense which would have been used in direct discourse from the point of view of the subject of the main clause. Thus, γίγνωσκον δ (= ὅτι) δὴ κακὰ μῆδετο I knew that he was planning evil γ 166 (i.e. κακὰ ἐμῆδετο καὶ ἐγίγνωσκον he was planning evil and I knew it). In Attic we should commonly have μῆδεται or μῆδοιτο. After secondary tenses the future is usually expressed in Homer by ἔμελλον and the infinitive, as οὐδὲ τὸ ᾗδῃ, δ οὐ πείσεσθαι ἐμμελλεν nor did he know this, that she had no thought to comply γ 146.

d. That this use of statements of fact standing outside indirect discourse is optional only, is seen from a comparison of the first example in 2624 with καλῶς γὰρ ᾗδαν ὡς ἐγὼ ταύτῃ κράτιστός εἰμι for he knew full well that I am first-rate in this line Ar. Vesp. 635 and with ᾗδει αὐτὸν ὅτι μέσον ἔχει τοῦ Περσικοῦ στρατεύματος he knew that he held the centre of the Persian army X. A. 1. 8. 21.

2625. An optative with or without ἄν is regularly retained after ὅτι (ὥς).

ἐδίδασκον ὥς . . . συνεστρατεύοντο ὅποι ἡγοῖντο they showed that they always followed them in their campaigns wherever they led X. H. 5. 2. 8 (= συνεστρατεύμεθα, ὅποι ἡγοῖσθε, cp. 2568), ἀπεκρίνατο . . . ὅτι πρότερον ἂν ἀποθάνοιεν ἢ τὰ ὅπλα παραδοίησαν he replied that they would sooner die than surrender their arms X. A. 2. 1. 10 (= ἂν ἀποθάνοιμεν, παραδοίμεν).

2626. In some cases the optative with ἄν in temporal and relative sentences is used to represent the subjunctive with ἄν; but many scholars expel ἄν.

παρήγγειλαν αὐτοῖς μὴ πρότερον ἐπιτίθεσθαι πλὴν ἂν τῶν σφετέρων ἢ πέσοι τις ἢ τραυέη they gave orders to them that they should not attack before some one of their number had either fallen or been wounded X. H. 2. 4. 18. Cp. 2421.

2627. An optative occasioned by indirect discourse may stand after a primary tense when it is implied that the thought quoted has been expressed in the past.

λέγει δ λόγος ὅτι Νεοπτόλεμος Νέστορα ἔροιτο the story goes that Neoptolemus asked Nestor P. Hipp. M. 286 b. This may be expressed by λέγεται εἰπεῖν ὅτι. Cp. λέγεται εἰπεῖν ὅτι βούλοιο it is reported that he said that he wished X. C. 1. 4. 25.

a. The historical present is a secondary tense: οἱ δὲ πεμφθέντες λέγουσι Κύρου ὅτι μίσησαν τοὺς Ἀσσυρίους and those who had been sent told Cyrus that they hated the Assyrians X. C. 4. 2. 4.

2628. Indirect discourse may be introduced by ὅτι (ὥς) and then pass into the infinitive as if the introductory verb had required the infinitive.

ἡ δὲ ἀπεκρίνατο ὅτι βούλοιο μὲν πάντα τῷ πατρὶ χαρίζεσθαι, ἄκοντα μὲντοι τὸν παῖδα χαλεπὸν εἶναι νομίζειν (= νομίζοι) καταλιπεῖν she answered that she wished to do everything to oblige her father, but that she considered it unkind to leave the child behind against his inclination X. C. 1. 3. 13.

a. It is unusual to have the infinitive first, and then ὅτι (T. 5. 65).

b. One and the same clause may even begin with ὅτι (ὥς) and then (sometimes after a parenthesis) be continued by an infinitive, less often by a participle. Thus, ἀκούω ὅτι (omitted in one Ms.) καὶ συνθηρεντὰς τινὰς τῶν παίδων σοὶ γενέσθαι αὐτοῦ I hear too that some of his sons became your companions in the chase X. C. 2. 4. 15. Continuation with a participle in T. 4. 37.

2629. An optative dependent on ὅτι (ὥς) may be followed, in a parenthetical or appended clause (often introduced by γάρ or οὖν), by an independent optative, which is used as if it itself directly depended on ὅτι (ὥς).

ἔλεγον πολλοὶ . . . ὅτι παντὸς ἀξία λέγοι Σεύθης· χειμὼν γὰρ εἴη καὶ οὐτε οὐκαδε ἀποπλεῖν τῷ ταῦτα βουλομένῳ δυνατόν εἴη κτλ. many said that what Seuthes said was of much value; for it was winter and neither was it possible for any one who so desired to sail home, etc. X. A. 7. 3. 13 (here we might have had χειμῶνα γὰρ εἶναι by 2628).

a. Such an independent optative may also follow an infinitive in indirect discourse (L. 13. 78), an indicative after ὅτι (Is. 8. 22), or a participle (Is. 9. 5). After an optative in indirect discourse the appended clause may contain an indicative (X. A. 6. 2. 10, I. 17. 21).

2630. An infinitive in indirect discourse may follow a sentence which merely involves the idea of indirect statement.

ὁ δὲ αὐτοὺς εἰς Λακεδαίμονα ἐκέλευεν ἵνα· οὐ γὰρ εἶναι κύριος αὐτοῖς he recommended them to go to Lacedaemon; for (he said that) he was not himself empowered to act X. H. 2. 2. 12.

2631. In subordinate temporal and relative clauses the infinitive is often used for the indicative or optative by attraction to an infinitive standing in the principal clause after a verb of saying. In some cases ἔφη may be mentally inserted.

ἔφη . . . ἐπειδὴ δὲ γενέσθαι ἐπὶ τῇ οἰκίᾳ τῇ Ἀγάθωνος, ἀνεψυγμένην καταλαμβάνει τὴν θύραν he said that, when he arrived at the house of Agathon, he found the door open P. S. 174 d (= ἐπειδὴ ἐγενόμην, καταλαμβάνω). See also the sentence quoted in 1228 b, end. So οὗτοι δὲ ἔλεγον ὅτι πολλοὺς φαίη Ἀριαῖος εἶναι Πέρσας αὐτοῦ βελτίους, οἷς οὐκ ἂν ἀνασχέσθαι αὐτοῦ βασιλευόντος and they said that Arineus said that there were many Persians better than himself, who would not endure his being king X. A. 2. 2. 1 (= πολλοὶ εἰσι ἐμαντοῦ βελτίους, οἱ οὐκ ἂν ἀνέσχοιτο ἐμοῦ β.). Here the relative is equivalent, in sense, to καὶ τούτους. The infinitive occurs even in clauses with εἰ (T. 4. 98, and often in Hdt.), and with διότι (Hdt. 3. 55).

a. The infinitive is rare in such relative clauses as διορίζουσι σαφῶς ἐν αἷς ἐξείναι ἀποκτινύναι they make a clear distinction in cases where it is permitted to kill D. 23. 74.

2632. For the sake of variation, a mood of the direct form may be used in the same sentence with a mood of the indirect. The main verb may be kept in the direct form, while the subordinate verb becomes optative, or, less often, the subordinate verb may be retained in the direct form though the main verb becomes optative.

οἱτοὶ ἔλεγον ὅτι Κύρος μὲν τέθνηκεν, Ἀριαῖος δὲ πεφευγώς . . . εἴη these said that Cyrus was dead but that Ariaeus had fled X. A. 2. 1. 3 (here we might have had τεθνήκοι or πέφευγε), αἱ δὲ ἀπεκρίναντο ὅτι οὐκ ἐνταῦθα εἴη, ἀλλ' ἀπέχει δσον παρασάγγην and they replied that he was not there but was a parasang distant 4. 5. 10 (here we might have ἐστὶ or ἀπέχοι), ἐδόκει δὴλον εἶναι ὅτι αἰρήσονται αὐτὸν εἰ τις ἐπιψηφίξοι it seemed to be clear that they would elect him if any one should put it to the vote X. A. 6. 1. 25 (here we might have αἰρήσονται or εἰς ἐπιψηφίξῃ), ἔλεξας . . . ὅτι μέγιστον εἴη μαθεῖν ὅπως δεῖ ἐξεργάζεσθαι ἕκαστα you said that it was essential to learn how it is necessary to conduct each process X. O. 15. 2 (here ἐστὶ or δέοι might have been used), παρήγγειλαν, ἐπειδὴ δειπνήσαιεν, . . . ἀπαυθεῖν καὶ ἕπεσθαι, ἥνικ' ἂν τις παραγγέλλῃ they gave orders that, when they had supped, they should rest and follow when any one gave the command X. A. 3. 5. 18 (here we might have had ἐπειδὴ δειπνήσωσι or ἥνικα παραγγέλλοι). Other examples 2619. Subjunctive (in some Mss.), then optative: X. A. 7. 7. 57.

2633. The idea conveyed by an imperative or a hortatory (or even deliberative) subjunctive of direct discourse may be set forth in the infinitive by a statement as to what ought to be.

a. In an infinitive dependent on a verb of will or desire (such as ask, command, advise, forbid, etc. 1992) which does not properly take the construction of indirect discourse.

εἰς δὲ δὴ εἶπε (1997) . . . στρατηγούς μὲν ἐλεῖσθαι ἄλλους and some one urged that they choose other generals X. A. 1. 3. 14 (cp. ἔλεσθε or ἐλωμεν), ἀπηγόρευε μηδένα βάλλειν he forbade any one to shoot X. C. 1. 4. 14 (cp. μηδεὶς βαλλέτω).

N. — Here may be placed the infinitive after ἡγοῦμαι, νομίζω, ὁλομαι in the sense of δοκῶ I think it proper (or necessary); as ῥόντο ἀπύεαι they thought that they should retire X. H. 4. 7. 4 (cp. ἀπύομεν).

b. In an infinitive dependent on ἔφη χρῆναι (δεῖν), as ἔφη . . . χρῆναι πλεῖν ἐπὶ Συρακούσας he said that they ought to sail to Syracuse T. 4. 69.

c. In the simple infinitive, as τὰς μὲν ἐπιστολὰς . . . ἀνέγνωσαν, ἐν αἷς πολλῶν ἄλλων γαγραμμένων κεφάλαιον ἦν πρὸς Λακεδαιμονίους οὐ γινώσκειν ὅ τι βούλονται . . . ei ὅν τι βούλονται σαφὲς λέγειν, πέμψαι μετὰ τοῦ Πέρσου ἄνδρας ὡς αὐτὸν they read the dispatches, in which of much besides therein written to the Lacedaemonians the substance was that the king did not understand what they wanted; if therefore they wished to make explicit statements, let them send men to him in company with the Persian T. 4.50. Cp. T. 1. 27. 1 μένειν = μενέτω.

2634. Long sentences (and even some short complex sentences), or a series of sentences, in indirect discourse depending on a single verb of saying or thinking, are uncongenial to the animated character of Greek, which resists the formal regularity of Latin. Some long speeches in indirect discourse do, however, appear, e.g. Andoc. 1. 38-42, Thuc. 6. 49, Xen. C. 8. 1. 10-11, Plato R. 614 b (the entire Symposium is given in reported form). To effect variety and to ensure clearness by relieving the strain on the leading verb, Greek has various devices.

a. ἔφη (ἔλεξε, εἶπεν, ἤρετο) is repeated, e.g. T. 7. 48.

b. The indirect form is abandoned for the direct form, e.g. X. A. 1. 3. 14, 1. 9. 25, 4. 8. 10; often with a change, or repetition, of the verb of saying (X. A. 5. 6. 37, X. H. 2. 1. 25).

c. ἔφη χρῆναι (δεῖν) or ἐκέλευσε is inserted or repeated (T. 6. 49. 4).

N. 1. — Transition from direct to indirect discourse is rare (X. A. 7. 1. 39, cp. X. C. 3. 2. 25).

N. 2. — An interrogative clause always depends immediately on the introductory verb, hence such clauses do not occur in the course of a long sentence in indirect discourse.

EXAMPLES OF INDIRECT DISCOURSE

ἔφη γὰρ εἶναι μὲν ἀνδράποδόν οἱ ἐπὶ Λαυρίῳ, δεῖν δὲ κομίσασθαι ἀποφοράν. ἀναστὰς δὲ πρῶ ψευσθεὶς τῆς ὥρας βαδίζειν· εἶναι δὲ πανσέληνον. ἐπεὶ δὲ παρὰ τὸ προπύλαιον τοῦ Διονύσου ἦν, ὁρᾷ ἀνθρώπους πολλοὺς ἀπὸ τοῦ ὠιδείου καταβαίνοντας εἰς τὴν ὀρχήστρην· δεισᾶς δὲ αὐτοὺς, εἰσελθὼν ὑπὸ τὴν σκιὰν καθέζεσθαι μεταξὺ τοῦ κίονος καὶ τῆς στήλης ἐφ' ἧ ὁ στρατηγὸς ἐστὶν ὁ χαλκοῦς. ὁρᾷ δὲ ἀνθρώπους τὸν μὲν ἀριθμὸν μάλιστα τριακοσίους, ἐστάναι δὲ κύκλῳ ἀνὰ πέντε καὶ δέκα ἄνδρας, τοὺς δὲ ἀνὰ εἰκοσιν· ὁρῶν δὲ αὐτῶν πρὸς τὴν σελήνην τὰ πρόσωπα τῶν πλειστων γιγνώσκειν. καὶ πρῶτον μὲν, ὡς ἄνδρες, τοῦθ' ὑπέθετο δεινότατον πρᾶγμα, οἶμαι, ὅπως ἐν ἐκείνῳ εἴῃ ὄντινα βούλοιο Ἀθηναίῳ φάναι τῶν ἀνδρῶν τοούτων εἶναι, ὄντινα δὲ μὴ βούλοιο, λέγειν ἤτι οὐκ ἦν. ἰδὼν δὲ ταῦτ' ἔφη ἐπὶ Λαύριον εἶναι, καὶ τῇ ὑστεραίᾳ ἀκούειν ὅτι οἱ Ἑρμαῖ εἰεν περικεκομμένοι· γινῶναι οὖν

For Dioclesides said that he had a slave at Laurium, and that he had to fetch a payment due him. Rising early he mistook the time and set out, and there was a full moon. When he was by the gateway of the sanctuary of Dionysus, he saw a body of men coming down from the Odeum into the orchestra, and through fear of them he betook himself into the shade and sat down between the column and the block on which the Bronze General stands. He saw about three hundred men, some standing round about in groups of fifteen, others in groups of twenty. On seeing them in the moonlight he recognized the faces of most. In the first place, gentlemen, he has concocted this most extraordinary tale, in order, as I believe, that it might be in his power to include among these men any Athenian he wished, or to εὐθὺς οἷτι τοῦτων εἴη τῶν ἀνδρῶν τὸ ἔργον.

ἤκων δὲ εἰς ἀστυ ζητητὰς τε ἤδη ἡρημέ-ρους καταλαμβάνειν καὶ μήνυτρα κεκηρῦ-γμένα ἑκατὸν μνᾶς. — Andocides 1. 38.

exclude any he did not wish. On setting this he said he went to Laurium. and on the day after heard that the statues of Hermes had been mutilated.
So he knew forthwith that it was the work of these men. On his return to the city he found that commissioners of inquiry had already been appointed and that a hundred minae had been offered as a reward.

INTERROGATIVE SENTENCES (QUESTIONS)

2636. Questions are either direct (independent) or indirect (dependent). Thus, τίς ἔλεξε ταῦτα; who said this? ἐρωτῶ ὅστις ἔλεξε ταῦτα I ask who said this.

2637. Questions may have the assertive form with the interrogation expressed simply by the tone of the voice, or may be introduced by an interrogative pronoun, adjective, adverb, or particle.

a. A question gains in animation and has its emphatic part clearly marked if the interrogative word is placed late in the sentence. Thus, ἡδεῖα δὲ καλεῖς οὐ τὰ ἡδονῆς μετέχοντα; you call pleasant, do you not, that which participates in pleasure? P. Pr. 351 d, τὸ πεινῆν ἔλεγες πότερον ἢδὲ ἡ ἀνῆλπον εἶναι; did you say that to be hungry was pleasant or painful? P. G. 496 c.

2638. Yes and No Questions (or sentence-questions) are asked by the verb (whether a given thing is or is done). Such questions are commonly introduced by an interrogative particle. Pronoun-questions (or word-questions) are asked by an interrogative pronoun, adjective, or adverb (who, what, where, when, how).

a. A sentence-question may follow a word-question; as τί δοκοῦσιν ὑμῖν, ὦ ἄνδρες; ἀρὰ γε ὁμοίως ὑμῖν περὶ τῶν ἀδικούντων γιγνώσκεις κτλ.; what do you think of your ancestors, gentlemen of the jury? Do they seem to entertain the same sentiments with yourselves about wrong-doers? Lyc. 119.

2639. Deliberative Questions ask what is to be done or what was to be done. Questions asking what is to be done in the present or future are expressed by the deliberative subjunctive (negative μή, 1805), by δεῖ or χρῆ and the infinitive, by the verbal in -τέον with ἐστὶ (1808) or by the deliberative future (1916). Questions asking what was to be done are expressed by χρῆν (ἐχρῆν) or ἔδει with the infinitive, or by the verbal in -τέον with ἦν. In direct questions the optative is not used to denote what was to be done.

2640. Rhetorical Questions are questions asked for effect and not for information, since the speaker knows the answer in advance and either does not wait for, or himself gives, the answer. Thus, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἔστι ταῦτα· πόθεν; but this is not so. How can it be? D. 18. 47, τί οὖν αἴτιον εἶναι ὑπολαμβάνω; ἐγὼ ὑμῖν ἐρῶ what then do I regard as the explanation? I will tell you P. A. 40 b. Such questions are often introduced by μή (2651 b). Other examples 2636 a, 2641.

a. Rhetorical questions awaken attention and express various shades of emotion; and are often used in passing to a new subject. Such questions are very rare in Lysias, somewhat frequent in Plato, common in Isaeus, highly developed in Demosthenes. The rhetorical question is much more favoured in Greek than in English.

DIRECT (INDEPENDENT) QUESTIONS

2641. Any form of statement (2153) may be used as a direct question. The interrogative meaning may be indicated only by the context, or it may be expressed by placing an emphatic word first or by the use of certain particles (2650, 2651).

ἐγὼ οὐ φημι; I say no? P. G. 446 e, οὐ γὰρ ἀπεκρίνάμην ὅτι εἴη ἡ καλλίστη; for did I not answer that it was the noblest art? 448 e, Ἕλληνες οὖντες βαρβάρους δουλεύσομεν; shall we, who are Greeks, be subject to barbarians? E. fr. 719, ἡγοῦμεθά τι τὸν θάνατον εἶναι; do we regard death as anything? P. Ph. 64 c. Cp. 1831, 1832.

2642. Questions which cannot be answered by yes or no are introduced by interrogative pronouns, adjectives or adverbs (340, 346), usually without any interrogative particle, and may have any form of the simple sentence.

τί οὖν κελεύω ποιῆσαι; what then do I urge you to do? X. A. 1. 4. 14, πόσον . . . ἀπεστίν ἐνθένδε τὸ στράτευμα; how far distant from here is the army? X. C. 6. 3. 10, πῶς εἶπας; what (lit. how) did you say? P. G. 447 d, τί ἂν αὐτῷ εἶπες; what would you have said to him? P. R. 337 c.

2643. An interrogative pronoun or adverb often depends on a participle and not on the main verb of the sentence. Thus, τί οὖν ποιήσαντος κατεχειροτονήσατε τοῦ Εὐάνδρου; for what act then did you condemn Evander? D. 21. 176, (Ὀλύμπιοι) οἳ τί πεποιηκότες αὐτοῖς Φιλίππου πῶς αὐτῷ χρῶνται; for whom what has Philip done and how do they treat him? 23. 107. Cp. 2147 d. On τί παθῶν see 2064 a.

2644. A subordinate clause introduced by a conjunction or a relative pronoun may suddenly change into a direct pronoun-question, though the construction of the clause remains unaltered. Thus, ἐπειδὴ περὶ τίνος Ἀθηναῖοι διαβουλεύονται βουλευέσθαι, ἀνίστασαι συμβουλεύων; when the Athenians are intending to deliberate (lit. about what?) do you get up to give them advice? P. Alc. I. 106 c, πῶς ἂ χρὴ πράττετε; ἐπειδὴν τί γένηται; when will you do what you ought to do? in what event? (lit. when what shall have happened?) D. 4. 10.

a. Here belong the elliptical phrases ἴνα τί, ὡς τί (scil. γένηται, 946), ὅτι τί (scil. γίγνεται). Thus, ἴνα τί ταῦτα λέγεις; why (lit. that what shall happen?) do you say this? P. A. 26 d, ἔτι καὶ τοῦτ' αὐτῷ προσθήσετε; ὅτι τί; will you give him this distinction too in addition? for what reason? D. 23. 214.

2645. Two questions may be condensed into one in an interrogative sentence by placing an interrogative between the article and its noun. Thus, ἐγὼ οὖν τὸν ἐκ πολῆς πόλεως στρατηγὸν προσδοκῶ ταῦτα πράξειν; am I waiting for a general to do this? From what city? X. A. 3. 1. 14.

2646. Two or more interrogative pronouns, without a connective, may occur in the same sentence (question within a question). Thus, ἀπὸ τούτων τίς τίνας αἰτίος ἐστὶ γενήσεται φανερόν; from this it will become clear who is chargeable with what D. 18. 73, ἐπειδὴν τις τινα φιλή, πότερος ποτέρου φίλος γίνεται; whence one person loves another, which one is the lover of which? P. Lys. 212 a.

2647. With a substantive and the article or with a demonstrative pronoun an interrogative pronoun may be used as a predicate adjective. Here the interrogative sentence is equivalent to an interrogative clause with a dependent (relative) clause (cp. 1169).

ποῖον τὸν μῦθον λείπεις; what is the word that thou hast uttered? A 552 (lit. the word being what? In fuller form = ποῖός ἐστιν ὁ μῦθος ὃν λείπεις;), τίς ὁ πόθος ἀνθρώπων ἔκρο; what is this longing that has come upon them? S. Ph. 601, οὗτος δὲ τίς . . . κρατεῖ; who is this man who holds sway? S. O. C. 68, τίνας τοὺςδ' εἰσώ; who are these I see? E. Or. 1347, διὰ σοφίᾳν τινὰ τοῦτο τὸ ὄνομα ἔσχηκα. ποῖάν δὴ σοφίαν ταύτην; thanks to a kind of wisdom I obtained this name. (Thanks to) this wisdom being what? (that is, what is this wisdom?) P. A. 20 d.

2648. τίς, τί, ποῖος referring to something mentioned before may take the article; as A. πάσχει δὲ θαυμαστόν. B. τὸ τί; A. A strange thing is happening to him. B. (The) what? Ar. Pax 696, A. νῦν δὴ ἐκεῖνα ἤδη . . . δύναμεθα κρίνειν. B. τὰ ποῖα; A. Now at last we are able to decide those matters. B. (The) what matters? P. Phae. 277 a.

2649. τίς, ποῖος as adjective pronouns, and πῶς etc., when followed by οὐ, have the force of an affirmative assertion. Thus, πολὺς λόγους οὐκ ἀνῆλώσαμεν; what arguments did we not expend? I. 8. 67 (= πάντας), τί κακὸν οὐχί; = πάν κακόν in 2147 d.

QUESTIONS INTRODUCED BY INTERROGATIVE PARTICLES

2650. ἦ and ἄρα introduce questions asking merely for information and imply nothing as to the answer expected (neither yes nor no).

ἦ τέθνηκεν Οἰδίου πατήρ; is Oedipus' father really dead? S. O. T. 943, ἦ λέγω (delib. subj.); shall I tell you? X. C. 8. 4. 10, ἦ καὶ οἶκοι τῶν πλουσίων ἦσθα; were you really one of the rich men when you were at home? 8. 3. 30.

ἄρ' εἰμὶ μάντις; am I a prophet? S. Ant. 1212, ἄρ' Ὀδυσσεύς κλέω; can it be that I am listening to Odysseus? S. Ph. 976, ἄρα ἐθελήσειεν ἂν ἡμῖν διαλεχθῆναι; will he really be willing to talk with us? P. G. 447 b.

a. ἄρα is from ἦ + ἄρα. ἦ is chiefly poetic. Homer uses ἦ, not ἄρα. Both particles denote interest on the part of the questioner (often = really? surely?).

2651. οὐ, ἄρ' οὐ, οὐκοῦν expect the answer yes (nonne), μή, ἄρα μή, μῶν (= μή οὐν) expect the answer no (num).

a. οὐχ οὕτως ἔλεγες; did you not say so? P. R. 334 b (i.e. 'I think you did, did you not?'), ἄρ' οὐχ ὕβρις τάδε; is not this insolence? S. O. C. 883, οὐκοῦν . . . εἴ σοι δοκοῦσι βουλεύεσθαι; do they not then seem to you to plan well? X. C. 7. 1. 8. οὐκοῦν οὐ expects the answer no.

b. μή τι πῶτερον ἀγγέλλεις; no bad news, I hope? P. Pr. 310 b, ἄρα μὴ αἰσχυρθῶμεν; surely we are not ashamed, are we? (or can it be that we should be ashamed?) X. O. 4. 4, μή ἀποκρίνωμαι; am I not to answer? P. R. 337 b, μῶν τι σε ἄδικεῖ; surely he has not wronged you, has he? (or can it be that, etc.) P. Pr. 310 d. μῶν οὐ expects the answer yes.

c. μὴν is confined to Attic. Since the fact of its composition was lost, we find μὴν οὐν (A. Ch. 177) and μὴν μή (P. Lys. 208 e).

d. οὐ after μή or ἄρα μή belongs to a single word, not to the sentence (P. Men. 89 c, Lys. 213 d). On μή or μή οὐ with the subjunctive in half-questions, see 1801.

e. ἄρα placed before οὐ or μή gives greater distinctness to the question. οὐ questions ask concerning facts; μή questions imply uncertainty or even apprehension, but sometimes are asked merely for effect.

f. οὐ τοῦ; οὐ τί τοῦ; οὐ δὴ; οὐ δὴ τοῦ mean surely it is not so? Here the negative belongs to the sentence.

2652. ἄλλο τι ἤ; is it anything else than? and ἄλλο τι; is it not? are used as direct interrogatives. Thus, ἄλλο τι ἢ οὐδὲν κωλύει παρῆναι; there's nothing to hinder our passing, is there? (lit. is there anything else the case than this that nothing prevents, etc.) X. A. 4. 7. 5, ἄλλο τι φιλεῖται ὑπὸ θεῶν; is it not loved by the gods? P. Euth. 10 d. Cp. τί γὰρ ἄλλο ἢ κινδυνεύσεις ἐπιδείξει κτλ.; for what other risk will you run than that of showing, etc.? (= for what else will you do than that you will very likely show?) X. M. 2. 3. 17.

2653. εἰτα and ἔπειτα (more emphatic καῖτα, καῖπειτα) introduce questions expressing surprise, indignation, irony, etc.; and often indicate a contrast between what a person has or has not done and what is or was to be expected of him. Thus, εἰτα πῶς οὐκ εὐθὺς ἐπήγειράς με; then why did you not rouse me at once? P. Cr. 43 b.

2654. ἀλλὰ (ἀλλ' ἤ) introduces a question opposed to an expressed or implied thought of the speaker (especially an objection). Thus, ἦτουν τί σε καὶ ἐπεὶ μοι οὐκ ἐδίθους ἔπαιον; ἀλλ' ἀπῆτουν; ἀλλὰ περὶ παιδικῶν μαχόμενος; ἀλλὰ μεθύων ἐπαρφύνησα; did I ask anything of you and strike you when you would not give it to me? Or did I demand anything back? Or was I quarreling about an object of affection? Or was I the worse for liquor and did I treat you with drunken violence? X. A. 5. 8. 4, ἀλλ' ἢ, τὸ λεγόμενον, κατόπιν ἐορτῆς ἤκομεν; but have we arrived, as the proverb says, late for a feast? P. G. 447 a. Cp. 2785.

2655. ὅτι sometimes introduces a suppressed thought, as an objection. Thus, εἰπέ μοι, οὐ δὲ δὴ τί τὴν πόλιν ἡμῖν ἀγαθὸν πεποίηκας; tell me, (but) what good, pray, have you done the State? D. 8. 70.

DIRECT ALTERNATIVE QUESTIONS

2656. Direct alternative questions are usually introduced by πότερον (πότερα) . . . ἢ whether . . . or (Lat. utrum . . . an).

πότερον δέδρακεν ἢ οὐ; has he done it or not? D. 23. 79. πότερόν σε τίς, Αἰσχίνη, τῆς πόλεως ἐχθρὸν ἢ ἐμὸν εἶναι φῆ; shall I say, Aeschines, that you are the enemy of the State or mine? 18. 124 (τίς φῆ = φῶ, 1805 c), πότερα δ' ἡγεῖ . . . ἀμείνων εἶναι σὺν τῷ σῶ ἀγαθῷ τὰς τιμωρίας ποιεῖσθαι ἢ σὺν τῇ σῇ ζημίᾳ; do you think that it is better to inflict the proper punishments in your own interest or to your own loss? X. C. 3. 1. 15.

2657. ἤ often stands alone without πότερον (as an without utrum). Thus, ἔλυε τὴν εἰρήνην ἢ οὐ; did he break the peace or not? D. 18. 71, ἦν χρήματα πολλὰ

ἔχῃ, ἔῃ; πλουτεῖν ἢ πένητα ποιεῖς; if he has great wealth, do you let him keep on being rich or do you make him poor? X. C. 3. 1. 12. So when the first question expresses uncertainty on the part of the questioner; as ἀλλὰ τίς σοι διηγεῖτο; ἢ αὐτὸς Σωκράτης; but who told you the story? (was it some one else) or was it Socrates himself? P. S. 173 a. Cp. 2860.

2658. An alternative question may follow upon a simple direct (or indirect) question. Thus, πόθεν πλεῖθ' ὕγρὰ κέλευθα; ἢ τι κατὰ πρῆξιν ἢ μαψιδίως ἀλλάγηθε; whence do ye sail over the watery ways? Or is it perchance on some enterprise or by way of rash adventure that ye rove? i. 252. Cp. E 85 (cited in 2660).

2659. πότερον (πότερα) may stand alone when the second member of the question is implicit in another sentence. Thus, ἐνοήσατε δὲ κάκεινο, τίνα πρόφασιν ἔχοντες ἂν προσώμεθα κακίους ἢ πρόσθεν γενέσθαι. πότερον ὅτι ἀρχομεν; . . . ἀλλ' ὅτι εὐδαιμονέστεροι δοκοῦμεν νῦν ἢ πότερον εἶναι; and consider this too: what pretence should we have for allowing ourselves to become less deserving than heretofore? Is it because we are rulers? Or is it because we seem to be more prosperous than before? X. C. 7. 5. 83.

2660. πότερον (πότερα) was originally the neuter of πότερος which of the two? placed in front of a double question and later made a part of the first question. Thus, ἐρωτῶ πότερον φιλεῖ ἢ μισεῖ σε I ask which of the two (is true): does he love or does he hate you? Cp. Τυδεΐδην δ' οὐκ ἂν γνοίης ποτέρουσι μετεῖη, ἥ μετὰ Τρώεσσιν ὁμιλέει ἢ μετ' Ἀχαιοῖς you could not tell on which side Tydides was, whether he consorted with Trojans or with Achaeans E 85, τίμες καθήρξαν, πότερον Ἕλληνες, μάχης, ἢ παῖς ἐμός; who began the battle—was it the Greeks or my son? A. Pers. 351, cp. X. C. 1. 3. 2.

2661. ἢ (ἦ) . . . ἢ (ἦ), or ἢ (ἦε) alone, occurs in Homer, who does not use πότερον. Thus, ἢ ῥά τι ἴδμεν ἐνὶ φρεσίν, ἦε καὶ οὐκί; do we know aught in heart, or do we not? δ 632, ψεύσομαι ἢ ἔνυμον ἐρέω; shall I speak falsehood or the truth? K 534.

a. All the ancient grammarians attest the accentuation of these particles as given above. Modern editors often adopt other accents. ἦε and ἦε are derived from ἦ-φέ and ἦ-φε (whence ἦ and ἦ). With this enclitic φέ, cp. Lat. -ve.

MOODS IN DIRECT QUESTIONS

2662. The moods used in direct questions are the same as those used in statements.

a. Indicative (examples in 2642): sometimes in a past tense with εἰ, as πᾶντες ἐξήλουν ἂν τοὺς τυράννους; but why should all men envy despotic rulers? X. Hi. 1. 9, εἰ τις ἕνα νόμον . . . ἐξαλείψειν . . . , ἄρ' οὐκ ἂν ἀπεκτείνατ' αὐτόν; if any one should cancel a single law . . . , would you not have put him to death? I. y. c. 66. On τί οὐ or τί οὖν οὐ with the aorist, see 1936.

b. Subjunctive: in deliberative questions (2639). On the anticipatory subjunctive in τί πάθω, see 1811.

c. Optative (potential), as τίς φράσειεν ἂν; who can tell? E. I. T. 577. Without ἂν this optative is rare, as τίς λέγοι; who can tell? A. Ch. 596. Cp. 1821 a.

INDIRECT (DEPENDENT) QUESTIONS

2663. Indirect questions are introduced by interrogative pronouns, adjectives, and adverbs, indefinite relative pronouns and adverbs (340, 346), or by certain interrogative particles (2671, 2675).

2664. The interrogatives of the direct question may be retained in an indirect question. But it is more common to use the indefinite relatives which (in interrogative sentences) are employed only in indirect questions.

ἡρώτων αὐτοὺς τίνας εἰπὺν they asked them who they were X. A. 4. 5. 10 (= τίνας ἐστέ;); ἡρώτων δ τι ἐστὶ τὸ πρᾶγμα I asked what the matter was 5. 7. 23 (= τι ἐστι;); ἡρώτῃ αὐτὸν πόσον χρῆσιν ἔχει he asked him how much money he had 7. 8. 1 (= πόσον ἔχεις;); ἡρώτων αὐτὸν τὸ στράτευμα ὅπως ἐπὶ ἡ they asked him how large the army was 4. 4. 17 (= πόσον ἐστὶ;); ἀπορῶν ποῦ τράποιτο ἐπὶ λόφον τινα καταφεύγει being in doubt whither he should turn, he fled to a hill X. C. 3. 1. 4 (= ποῦ τράπωμαι;); ἦδει δὲ οὐδεὶς ὅποι στρατεύουσιν but no one knew where they were going to march T. 5. 54 (= ποῦ στρατεύομεν;).

2665. The use of the direct interrogatives is a relic of original juxtaposition, e.g. εἰπέ μοι, ποῖόν τι νομίζεις εὐσέβειαν εἶναι; tell me, what sort of a thing do you think holiness is? X. M. 4. 6. 2. The interrogative force of the indefinite relatives is derived, not from any interrogative idea in these words, but from the connection in which they stand.

2666. An indirect interrogative is often used in the same sentence after a direct interrogative. Thus, οὐκ οἶδα οὐτ' ἀπὸ ποίου ἂν τάχους οὔτε ὅποι ἂν τις φεύγων ἀποφύγοι οὐτ' εἰς ποῖον ἂν σκότος ἀποδραγῇ οὐθ' ὅπως ἂν εἰς ἐχυρὸν χωρίον ἀποστῇ I do not know with what swiftness of foot nor by fleeing to what quarter a man might escape nor into what darkness he might run away nor how he could withdraw into any stronghold X. A. 2. 5. 7. The direct form precedes less often, as οὐ γὰρ αἰσθάνομαι σου ὁποῖον νόμον ἢ ποῖον δίκαιον λέγεις for I do not perceive what you mean by 'conformable to law' or what you mean by 'just' X. M. 4. 4. 13.

2668. After verbs of saying, knowing, seeing, making known, perceiving, etc. (but not after verbs of asking) the simple relatives are found where the indefinite relatives (or the interrogatives) might stand in an indirect question. Where ὅς is so used, it has the force of ὅλος (cp. qualis in such questions); and rarely follows a negative clause, because verbs denoting lack of knowledge are allied in meaning to verbs of asking. The usual forms are e.g. οἶδά σε ὅς ἐλ and οὐκ οἶδά σε ὅστις ἐλ. But we find οἶδά σε ὅστις ἐλ and οὐκ οἶδά σε ὅς ἐλ. Thus, πέμπει . . . εἰπὼν ὅς ἦν he sends . . . telling who he was X. C. 6. 1. 46 (here ἦν represents the point of view of the writer), ἐκέλευε . . . δεῖξαι ὅς ἐπὶ he ordered him to explain who he was D. 62. 7, μήποτε γνοῖς ὅς ἐλ mayest thou never come to know who thou art S. O. T. 1068, ὅπως ἡμᾶς, ὅσοι ἐσμέν; do you see how many there are of us? P. R. 327 c. So with the adverbs εἶθι, οὐ, ἦ, ὥς, ὅθεν; as τὴν ὁδὸν ἔφραζεν ἦ εἰ he told where the road was X. A. 4. 5. 34. In some cases these sentences may be exclamatory (2685).

a. That the simple relatives are never thus used after verbs of asking indicates that such clauses are not true indirect questions (as in Latin), and that the pronouns have their value as relatives. But some scholars allow an indirect question after all these words except ὅς; and others admit no such limitation.

b. Only in late Greek are the pronouns or adverbs of the indirect form used in direct questions.

c. ὅπως is used occasionally (often in poetry) in the sense of ὥς. Thus, μή μοι φράξ' ὅπως οὐκ εἰ κακός tell me not that (lit. how) thou art not vile S. O. T. 546.

d. The context must sometimes determine whether a sentence is an indirect question or a relative clause. Thus, without the context, οὐκ εἶχον ὅσοι ἀποστάειν (X. H. 3. 5. 10) might mean they did not know to whom (= ἡγρόντων πρὸς τίνας) to revolt or they had no allies to whom (= πρὸς οὓς) to revolt. But the present or aorist optative in relative final clauses is rare; cp. 2554 c.

2669. An indirect question may depend (especially in poetry) on an idea involved in the principal verb; or may depend on a verb to be supplied. Thus, ὥστε μ' ὠδίνειν τί φῆς so that I am in travail to know thy meaning S. Aj. 794, ὅποτέρως οὖν σοι . . . ἀρέσκει in whatever way it pleases you (scil. ἡδέως ἂν ἀκοῦσαιμι) P. R. 348 b.

2670. The indefinite relative is commonly used when a question is repeated by the respondent before his reply. Here you ask? is supplied in thought. Thus, A. ἀλλὰ τίς γάρ εἰ; B. δοῖς; πολίτης χρηστός A. But who are you, pray? B. Who am I? an honest burgher Ar. Ach. 594, πῶς δῆ; φῆσω ἐγώ. ὅπως; φῆσαι how are you? I will say; How am I? he will say Hippocrates 1. 292 c.

2671. Simple indirect questions are introduced by εἰ whether, less often by ἄρα.

ἔρωτωντες εἰ λησται εἰσιν asking whether they are pirates T. 1. 5, τοῦτον εἰσθ' εἰ ζῶν κυρεῖ; dost thou know whether he is alive? S. Ph. 444, ἤρετο αὐτὸν εἰ βληθείη he asked him whether he had been struck X. C. 8. 3. 30 (= ἐβλήθη); φόβος εἰ πείσω δέσποιναν ἐμήν I am afraid (about the question) whether I can persuade my mistress E. Med. 184 (2234), ἴδωμεν ἄρ' οὕτως γίγνεται πάντα let us see whether everything is thus produced P. Ph. 70 d. With the deliberative subjunctive: ἐπαερόμενου Κτησιφῶντος εἰ καλέσῃ Δημοσθένην when Ctesiphon was asking if he was to call Demosthenes Aes. 3. 202 (= καλέσω);

a. εἰ has an affirmative force (whether) or a negative force (whether . . . not). The latter is seen e.g. after verbs expressing uncertainty or doubt, as after οὐκ οἶδα. Thus, εἰ μὲν δὴ δίκαια ποιήσω, οὐκ οἶδα I don't know whether I shall do what is right X. A. 1. 3. 5 (i.e. I may possibly not do what is right). The assumption is affirmative in τὰ ἐκπώματα . . . οὐκ οἶδ' εἰ Χρυσάντην τοῦτο δῶ I don't know whether I must not give the cups to Chrysantas here X. C. 8. 4. 16 (i.e. I think I shall give them).

b. The interrogative use of εἰ is derived from the conditional meaning if, as in σὺ δὲ φράσαι ἐμὲ σώσεις but do thou tell me whether thou wilt save me A 83 (i.e. 'if thou wilt save me, tell me so').

2672. ἐάν rarely, if ever, means whether, even after verbs of examining, considering (σκοπῶ ἐσκεψάμην, καθορῶ), where its use is best explained by 2354. In form such conditional sentences often approach closely to indirect questions. Thus, cp. σκέψαι . . . ἐάν ἄρα καὶ σὺ συνδοκῇ ἄπερ ἐμοὶ consider if (in case that, on the chance that) you too agree with me (P. Ph. 64 c) with σκέψασθε εἰ ἄρα τοῦτο . . . πεποιήκασιν οἱ βάρβαροι consider whether the barbarians have (not) done this X. A. 3. 2. 22. Cp. ἀναμνησέσθαι ἐάν ἀληθῆ λέγω to recall to your recollection if I speak the truth And. 1. 37.

a. Some scholars maintain that, in Greek, if was at an early period confused with whether in such sentences as εἰμι γὰρ ἐς Σπάρτην . . . νόστον πευσόμενος πατρός φίλου, ἣν πού ακούσω strictly for I will go to Sparta to inquire about the return of my dear father, in the hope that I may hear of it β 359. When the conditional clause was attached to πευσόμενος, ἣν acquired (it is claimed) the force of whether. Cp. ὤχετο πευσόμενος . . . εἰ (v.l. ἣ) πού ἔτ' εἴης he had gone to inquire whether you were still living v 415. Cp. German ob, once meaning if, now whether.

2673. Homer has ἣν, εἰ κε, αἰ κε with the subjunctive after verbs of knowing, seeing, saying (but not after verbs of asking). Such cases belong under 2354 b.

2674. μή is sometimes translated by whether after verbs of fear and caution; but such dependent clauses with μή are not indirect questions (2221 a). After verbs of saying, considering and the like (ὀρώ, ἐννοοῦμαι, ἐνθυμούμαι, σκοπῶ) μή is properly a conjunction and not the interrogative particle. In such clauses there is an idea of purpose or desire to prevent something or a notion of fear that something is or may be done. Thus, φροντίζω μή κράτιστον ἦ μοι σιγᾶν I am considering whether it is not best for me to be silent X. M. 4. 2. 39, ὀρώμεν μή Νικιάς ὁτιὰν τι λέγειν let us see whether Nicias is of the opinion that he is saying something important P. Lach. 196 c. That μή does not properly mean whether not (indirect question) is clear from the fact that, in these clauses, it is not used of something that is hoped for. Cp. 2676 b.

INDIRECT ALTERNATIVE QUESTIONS

2675. Indirect alternative questions are introduced by the particles signifying whether . . . or: πότερον (πότῃ) . . . ἢ, εἴτε . . . εἴτε, εἰ . . . ἢ, εἰ . . . εἴτε. See also under Particles.

a. πότερον (πότῃ) . . . ἢ: Thus, διηρώτῃ τὸν Κύρον πότερον βούλοιο μένειν ἢ ἀπύεσθαι she asked Cyrus whether he wanted to stay or go away X. C. 1. 3. 15, θαυμάζω πότῃ ὡς κρατῶν βασιλεὺς αἰρεῖ τὰ δῶλα ἢ ὡς διὰ φιλιᾶν δῶρα I wonder whether the king asks for our arms as a conqueror or as gifts on the plea of friendship X. A. 2. 1. 10.

N. — πότερον . . . ἢ may denote that the second alternative is more important than the first. πότερον is omitted when the introductory clause contains the adjective πότερος (X. C. 1. 3. 2).

b. εἴτε . . . εἴτε gives equal value to each alternative. Thus, τὴν σκέψιν ποιούμεθα εἴτε ὠφελῆαν εἴτε βλάβην παρέχει let us make the inquiry whether it produces benefit or injury P. Phae. 237 d.

N. 1. — In Homer εἴτε . . . εἴτε (εἴτε . . . εἴτε) almost always retains the meaning either . . . or (A 65).

N. 2. — The first εἴτε is rarely omitted in prose, as πόλις εἴτε ἰδιώται τιπεὶ αὐτῇ State or certain individuals P. L. 864 a; more often in poetry, as λόγοισιν εἴτ' ἔργοισιν by words or deeds S. O. T. 517.

c. εἰ . . . ἢ indicates that the second alternative is preferable or more probable. Thus, ἡρώτῃ αὐτοῖς τοῖς ἀνδράσι σπένδοιτο τοῖς ἰοῦσι καὶ ἀπιούσιν, ἢ καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις ἔσονται σπονδαὶ he asked whether he was making a truce merely with the individual men who were coming and going or whether the truce would be with the rest as well X. A. 2. 3. 7.

d. εἰ . . . εἴτε is like εἴτε . . . εἴτε. Thus, εἰ δ' ἔτ' ἐστὶν ἐμψύχος γυνὴ εἴτ' ὄν ἔλωλεν, εἰδέναι βουλοίμεθ' ἄν we should like to know whether the lady is still alive or dead E. Alc. 140.

e. ἢ (ἦ) . . . ἢ (ἦ) occurs in Homer, as ὅφρ' ἐὺ εἰδῶ ἦ ἔον μεθέπεις ἢ καὶ πατρώϊός ἐσσι ξείνος that I may know well whether thou art newly a visitor or art actually an ancestral guest-friend a 175. Cp. 2861. ἢ . . . ἢ is doubtful in Attic.

THE NEGATIVES IN INDIRECT QUESTIONS

2676. The negative of the direct form is usually preserved in indirect questions.

εἰσομαι . . . πότερον ὁ ἔχων αὐτὸ οὐκ εὐδαίμων ἐστὶν ἢ εὐδαίμων I shall know whether its possessor is happy or not P. R. 354 c, οὐκ οἶδ' ὅπως φῶ τοῦτο καὶ μὴ φῶ I know not how I am to say this and not to say it E. I. A. 643 (= πῶς μὴ φῶ);

a. Indirect single questions introduced by interrogative pronouns, adjectives, and adverbs, usually have οὐ.

b. μή appears after verbs of seeing, considering and the like (σκοπεῖν, ὁρᾶν, ἐννοεῖν, ἐνθυμούμαι) when there is an idea of purpose or desire to prevent something. Thus, ὁρᾶτε . . . ὅτῃ τρόπῳ κάλλιστα ἀμυνεῖσθε αὐτοὺς καὶ μήτε καταφρονησάντες ἀφάρκτοι ληφθήσεσθε κτλ. consider how you may best defend yourselves and may neither be caught off your guard through contempt, etc. T. 6. 33. So also with the potential optative with ἄν; as τί οὖν οὐ σκοποῦμεν πῶς ἂν αὐτῶν μὴ διαμαρτάνοιμεν; why then do we not consider how we may avoid mistaking them? X. M. 3. 1. 10. Indirect questions with μή thus belong under μή with verbs of fear and apprehension, where μή is the negative of the will. Cp. 2674.

c. Indirect questions introduced by εἰ have οὐ or μή. Thus, ἤρετο τὸν δῆμον εἰ οὐκ ἀσχύνοιντο he asked the people whether they were not ashamed Aes. 1. 84, ἤρετό με . . . εἰ μὴ μέμνημαι he asked me whether I did not remember 2. 36.

d. In relative clauses joined by καὶ and standing in an indirect question (what . . . and what not), μή must be used when the verb is to be supplied with the second clause; but when the verb is repeated, either μή, or οὐ if the antecedent is definite, may be used. Thus, διαγιγνώσκουσιν ἅ τε δύνανται καὶ ἅ μὴ they distinguish between what they can do and what they cannot X. M. 4. 2. 26, οἶσθα . . . ὅποσοι τε φρουροὶ ἱκανοὶ εἰσι καὶ ὅποσοι μὴ εἰσι you know how many garrisons are advantageously situated and how many are not 3. 6. 10. The antecedent is definite in ἀπέδειξεν οὗς χρὴ δημηγορεῖν καὶ οὗς οὐ δεῖ λέγειν ἐν τῷ δήμῳ he showed who must speak in the assembly and who must not speak before the people Aes. 1. 27.

e. As the second member of an alternative question introduced by εἰ, or οὐ is either ἢ οὐ or ἢ μή. Thus, σκοπῶμεν εἰ ἡμῖν πρέπει ἢ οὐ let us consider whether it is proper for us or not P. R. 451 d, πῶν ἔμαθον δ' λέγεις· εἰ δὲ ἀληθὲς ἢ μή, πειράσομαι μαθεῖν νοῦ I have made out what you mean; and I will try to make out whether it is true or not 839 a.

f. A shift from μή to οὐ in sequent alternative indirect questions appears to be due to the desire to attain variety. Thus, οὐ δεῖ ὑμᾶς ἐκ τῶν τοῦ κατηγοροῦ λόγων τοὺς νόμους καταμανθάνειν, εἰ καλῶς ὑμῖν κεῖνται ἢ μή, ἀλλ' ἐκ τῶν νόμων τοὺς τοῦ κατηγοροῦ λόγους, εἰ ὁρθῶς καὶ νομίμως ὑμᾶς διδάσκουσι τὸ πρᾶγμα ἢ οὐ you must not start from the pleas of the accuser to learn whether your laws have been established well or not, but you must start from the laws to learn whether his pleas set forth the case fairly and legally or not Ant. 5. 14. Cp. Ant. 6. 2, Is. 8. 9, D. 20. 83. Some scholars hold that οὐ here lays stress on a negative fact or on something conceived as a negative fact, and that μή puts the question abstractly as a mere conception.

MOODS IN INDIRECT QUESTIONS

2677. The moods and tenses of indirect questions follow the same rules as govern clauses in indirect discourse. The person may be changed.

After primary tenses, the mood and tense of the direct question are retained (indicative, past indicative with ἄν, deliberative subjunctive, potential optative with ἄν).

After secondary tenses, the mood and tense of the direct form may be retained or the optative may be used instead. The latter is more common. But a past indicative with ἄν always remains unchanged.

a. Direct Form Retained.—πολλὰκις ἐσκόπει τί διαφέρει μανίας ἀμαθιά he often considered in what respect ignorance differed from madness X. M. 1. 2. 50, ἡγορεῖτο τι ποιήσει he was uncertain what to do X. A. 7. 3. 29 (= τί ποιήσω, deliberative future, 1916), ἐβουλεύοντο εἰτε κατακάσωσιν . . . εἰτε τι ἄλλο χρήσονται they deliberated whether they should burn them or dispose of them in some other manner T. 2. 4 (= κατακάσωμεν, χρησώμεθα;), ἠρώτησε . . . τοῦ ἄν ἰδοι Πρόξενον he asked where he could see Proxenus X. A. 2. 4. 15 (= τοῦ ἄν ἰδοιμι;).

b. Optative: ἤπερο εἰ τις ἐμοῦ εἴη σοφώτερος he asked whether any one was wiser than I P. A. 21 a (= ἐστὶ;), δ τι δὲ ποιήσει οὐ διεσήμνη he did not announce publicly what he was going to do X. A. 2. 1. 23 (= τί ποιήσω;), τὸν θεὸν ἐπηρώτων εἰ παραδοίεν Κορινθίους τὴν πόλιν they questioned the god whether they should surrender the city to the Corinthians T. 1. 25 (= παραδῶμεν;). Here παραδοίεν might represent the aorist indicative, but that tense is usually retained to avoid confusion (exceptionally ἠρώτᾳ τι πάθοιεν X. C. 2. 3. 19; cp. X. A. 6. 3. 25, D. 50. 55). An imperfect relatively anterior to the time of the main verb is retained in D. 30. 19.

c. A dubitative subjunctive in an indirect question, when dependent on an optative, may be attracted into the optative; as εἰλεγες . . . ὅτι οὐκ ἂν ἔχοις ἐξελθὼν δ τι χρῆσθαι σαυτῷ you were saying that if you went out you would not know what to do with yourself P. Cr. 45 b (= τί χρῶμαι ἐμαυτῷ;).

d. Homer has the optative for the indicative due to indirect discourse only in indirect questions; as είποντο τίς ἐστι καὶ πόθεν ἔλθοι they asked who he was and whence he had come p 368. See 2624 c.

2678. After a secondary tense the mood of a direct question may be retained (usually for vividness) in the same sentence with the mood of an indirect question (cp. 2632). Thus, ὁμοιοί ἦσαν θαυμάζειν οἱ ποτὲ τρέφονται οἱ Ἕλληνες καὶ τί ἐν νῷ ἔχοιεν they seemed to be wondering to what direction the Greeks would turn and what they had in mind X. A. 3. 5. 13, ἤπερ ὁ τι θαυμάζει καὶ ὅποσοι αὐτῶν τεθνήσκουσιν he asked what it was that he was astonished at and how many of them were dead T. 3. 113 (= τί θαυμάζεις, πόσοι τεθνήσκουσιν);).

a. In some cases there is no apparent reason (apart from desire for variety) for this use of the indicative and optative in the same sentence. Sometimes the indicative may ask for a statement of fact, the optative request an opinion of the person questioned.

2679. Parallel to 2624 are cases like ἦδει οὖν ἔκειτο ἡ ἐπιστολή he knew where the letter had been put X. C. 2. 2. 9.

ANSWERS TO YES AND NO QUESTIONS

2680. Yes and No questions may be answered in various ways, e.g.:

a. By repeating the verb or another emphatic word with or without one or more confirmative adverbs. Thus, φῆς σὺ ἀμείνω πολίτην εἶναι, ὃν σὺ ἐπαικῆς. ἢ ὃν ἐγώ; φημὶ γὰρ ὃν do you assert that the citizen whom you approve is better than the one I approve? I do say so X. M. 4. 8. 14, οἶσθ' ὃν ἂν λέξαι σοι . . . θέλω; οὐκ οἶδα dost thou know what I fain would tell thee? No. E. Hec. 999.

b. By ἐγώ, ἐγωγε, οὐκ ἐγώ, sometimes with ἢ Δία or μὰ Δία.

c. Yes may be expressed by ναί, ναί μὰ τὸν Δία, μάλιστα, φημὶ, πάνν γε, πάνν μὲν ὃν, εὖ γε, ἔστι ταῦτα, ἔστιν οὕτως, ἀληθῆ λέγεις, ἀληθέστατα, ὀρθῶς γε, κομιδῆ, etc.

No may be expressed by οὐ, οὐκ ἔστιν, οὐ δῆτα, οὐ μὰ Δία, οὐδαμῶς, οὐ φημι, μὴ γάρ, ἥκιστα, ἥκιστά γε, etc.

d. In the form of a question: τί μήν; τί γάρ; ἀλλὰ τί; πῶς; πόθεν; πῶς γάρ οὐ;

EXCLAMATORY SENTENCES

2681. Direct (independent) exclamatory sentences with a verb expressed (or easily supplied) are formed

2682. (I) By the relative pronouns οἷος, ὅσος, or by the relative adverb ὥς in exclamations of wonder. The sentences introduced by these words are commonly associated with vocatives or interjections. Cp. 340.

οἷα ποιεῖς, ὦ ἐταίρε what are you about, my friend! P. Euth. 15 c, ὦ φίλοι . . . οἷον τερωλὴν θεοὶ ἤγαγον ἐς τὸδε δῶμα friends, such sport the gods have brought into this house! σ 37, ὅσην ἔχεις τὴν δύναμιν how great your power is! Ar. Pl. 748, ὦ πάππε, ὅσα πράγματα ἔχεις oh grandfather, how much trouble you have! X. C. 1. 3. 4, ὦ φίλταθ' Αἰμῶν, ὥς σ' ἀτιμάζει πατήρ, oh dearest Haemon, how thy father insults thee! S. Ant. 572, ὥς ἀστείος ὁ ἀνθρωπος how charming the man is! P. Ph. 116 d.

a. Exclamatory ὥς may be the relative ὥς; but if it is the demonstrative ὥς, it means properly not how but so. Cp. 2998.

b. Double ὅλος (exclamation within an exclamation) marks a strong contrast (cp. 2646) in direct and indirect exclamations. Thus, ὅλα πρὸς ὅλων ἀνδρῶν πᾶσχω what I suffer and at the hands of what men / S. Ant. 942, ἀπὸ ὅλας . . . αὐχήματος τοῦ πρώτου ἐς ὅλῳν τελευτὴν καὶ ταπεινότητα ἀφίκετο from what boasting at first they had come to what a humiliating end T. 7. 75. Triple ὅλος in Gorgias, Helen 10.

c. Cp. 2647 for such sentences as ὅλῳν ἔχιδναν τήνδ' ἐφύσας what a viper is this woman whom thou hast begotten / E. Ion 1262.

d. ὅμ' ὥς is common in expressions of impatience, anger, pity, grief, or fear; as ὅμ' ὥς καταγελάς ah me, how you mock me / Ar. Nub. 1238, ὅμ' ὥς ἔοικας ὅπῃ τὴν δίκην ἰδεῖν ah me, how thou seemest all too late to see the right / S. Ant. 1270, ὅμ' ὥς δέδοικα ah me, how I fear / Ar. Pax 173.

2683. (II) By the infinitive (2015, 2036).

2684. Direct exclamations without a verb may be expressed by the vocative or nominative (1288) or by the genitive of cause (1407).

2685. Indirect (dependent) exclamations form subordinate clauses in sentences which, taken as a whole, are statements (2575. 4). They are introduced by ὅλος, ὅσος, ὡς, ὥς, ὅ, ὅτι. The negative is οὐ. It is often difficult to distinguish between indirect exclamations and indirect questions introduced by ὅλος or ὅσος. But observe that dependent exclamations are not introduced by the direct interrogatives ποῖος, πόσος, πῶς, etc., nor by the indefinite relatives ὅποιος, ὅπόσος, ὅπως, etc., both of which classes of words may stand in indirect questions.

a. ὅποιος in L. 30. 4 and ὅπόσος in P. G. 522 a are suspected.

b. The introductory verb is sometimes omitted; as ὃ μαρώτατος, ἴν' ὑποδέδωκεν oh the rascal! (to think) where he crept in / Ar. Vesp. 188.

2686. Dependent exclamatory clauses follow, as regards mood and tense, the same rules as govern indirect questions (2677). An original indicative remains unchanged after primary tenses of verbs followed by a finite mood, but may become optative after secondary tenses on the principle of indirect discourse.

a. Indicative: ὅλον ἀνδρα λέγεις ἐν κινδύνῳ εἶναι what a noble man you say is in danger / P. Th. 142 b, σκόπει . . . ἴν' ἔκει τοῦ θεοῦ μαντεύματα judge to what the oracles of the god have come S. O. T. 963 (cp. ὃ θεῶν μαντεύματα, ἴν' ἐστὲ 946), τίς οὐκ οἶδεν ἐξ ὅλων συμφορῶν εἰς ὅσῃν εὐδαιμονίᾳ κατέστησας; who does not know into what good fortune they came and after what sufferings? I. 6. 42, ἐνθυμούμενοι ὅσον πλοῦν . . . ἀπεστέλλοντο reflecting on how long a voyage they were on the point of being sent T. 6. 30, ἐννοηθέντες ὅτι τε πᾶσχοῦσιν ὑπὸ τῶν Ἀσσυρίων καὶ ὅτι τῶν θεσπάλῃ ὁ ἀρχὼν αὐτῶν reflecting what they were suffering at the hands of the Assyrians and that their ruler was now dead X. C. 4. 2. 3.

b. Optative: διαθεώμενος αὐτῶν ὅσῃν μέν χωρᾶν καὶ ὅλῳν ἔχουεν observing how great the extent of their country was and how excellent its quality X. A. 3. 1. 19, ἐπιδεικνύσας ὅτι ἐστὶ ἡ ἀπορία pointing out what their difficulty was 1. 3. 13. See also 2687.

2687. Verbs and other words of emotion (praise, blame, wonder, etc.) and the expression of its results are often followed by a dependent exclamatory clause with οἷος, ὅσος, ὥς, etc. Here a causal sentence would have ὅτι τοιοῦτος, ὅτι τοσούτος, ὅτι οὕτως. English generally introduces such clauses by considering, thinking, upon the reflection how, etc. Thus, τῷ σ' ἀδ νῦν ὅλω ἀποτεωσέμεν, ὅσσα μ' ἔσργας therefore I think now thou shalt in turn atone for all thou hast done unto me Φ 399, ἀπέκλειον . . . τὴν ἐμάντου τύχην, οἷον ἀνδρὸς ἐταίρου ἐστερημένος εἶην I bewailed my fate considering what a companion I had lost (direct = οἷον ἀνδρὸς ἐταίρου (δντος) ἐστερημαί) P. Ph. 117 c, μάκαρ ὦ Στρεψιάδης, αὐτὸς τ' ἔφης ὥς σοφὸς χολόν τὸν υἱὸν τρέφεις oh happy Strepsiades, how wise you are yourself and what a son you have! Ar. Nub. 1206, τὸ γῆρας ὑμνοῦσιν ὅσων κακῶν σφίσιν αἴτιον they rehearse how many evils old age occasions them P. R. 329 b, εὐδαίμων μοι ἀνὴρ ἐφαίνετο . . . ὥς ἀδελῶς καὶ γενναίως ἐτελεύτῃ the man seemed to me to be happy so fearlessly and nobly did he die P. Ph. 58 e, ἡλιῷ γε τῆς εὐτυχίας τὸν πρέσβυν, ὃς μετέστη ξηρῶν τρόπων I envy the old fellow his fortune, how (lit. whither) he has changed his arid ways Ar. Vesp. 1451.

NEGATIVE SENTENCES

2688. The simple negative particles are οὐ and μή. οὐ is the negative of fact and statement, and contradicts or denies; μή is the negative of the will and thought, and rejects or deprecates. The difference between the simple negatives holds true also of their compounds οὔτε μήτε, οὔδε μηδέ, οὔδεις μηδεῖς, etc.

a. τὰ οὐκ ὄντα is that which does not exist independently of any opinion of the writer: τὰ οὐκ ὄντα λογοποιεῖν to fabricate what does not actually exist And. 3. 35. τὰ μὴ ὄντα is that which is regarded as not existing, that which is dependent on the opinion of the writer, the whole sum of things that are outside of actual knowledge: τὰ μὴ ὄντα οὔτε ὁρᾶται οὔτε γινώσκεται that which does not exist is neither seen nor known Hippocrates, de arte § 2; cp. τὸ μὴ ὄν P. R. 478 b.

b. The rarer οὐχί (οὐ-χί) denies with greater emphasis than οὐ. The form μηκέτι no longer is due to the analogy of οὐκ-έτι.

2689. μή as the negative of will and thought is used in various expressions involving emotion, as commands, prohibitions, wishes, hopes, prayers, petitions, promises, oaths, asseverations, and the like; in expressions marking condition, purpose, effort, apprehension, cautious assertion, surmise, and fear; in setting forth ideality, mere conceptions, abstractions as opposed to reality or to definite facts; in marking ideas as general and typical; when a person or thing is to be characterized as conceived of rather than real. — μή is used not merely when the above notions are apparent but also when they are latent. Greek often conceives of a situation as marked by feeling where English regards it as one of fact; and hence uses μή where we should expect οὐ.

a. μή corresponds to the Sanskrit prohibitive particle mā, which in the Rig Veda is used with the independent indicative of an augmentless aorist or imperfect which has the force of the subjunctive ; rarely with the optative. In later Sanskrit mā was used with the subjunctive, optative, and imperative.

b. μή was originally used only in independent clauses ; but later was employed in subordinate clauses, and with dependent infinitives and participles. On the origin of μή as a conjunction, see 2222. In Homer μή is used especially with the subjunctive, optative, and imperative (i.e. in commands and wishes) ; rarely with the indicative (in μή ὄφελον, in oaths, in questions, after verbs of fearing referring to a past event) ; with the infinitive when used for the imperative after a verb of saying, etc. when the infinitive expresses a command or a wish, and when a dependent infinitive is used in an oath ; with the participle only in connection with a command (Σ 48) or a wish (δ 684).

c. In later Greek (Polybius, Lucian, Dio Chrysostomus, etc.) μή has encroached on οὐ, generally by extension of usages occurring rarely in the classical language. Thus Lucian has μή after causal ὥς, ὅτι, διότι, ἐπεὶ ; in relative clauses (sometimes οὐδὲν ἔστιν ὅτι μή) ; with participles of cause (even ἄτε μή) or of concession ; with participles without the article following an adjective ; with the infinitive after verbs of saying and thinking. ὅτι μή appears in indirect discourse (complete or partial) where the classical language would use the infinitive or ὅτι with the optative or ὥς with the participle ; so after verbs of saying and thinking, after verbs of emotion, and even after verbs of knowing.

POSITION OF οὐ AND μή

2690. οὐ and μή are generally placed before the word they negative ; but may follow, when emphasis is laid on a particular word, as in contrasts.

ὑπολάβη δὲ μηδεὶς but let no one suppose T. C. 84, οἱ δὲ στρατηγοὶ ἐξήγον μὲν οὐ, συνεκάλεσαν δὲ and the generals did not lead them out, but called them together X. A. 6. 4. 20, ξυμμαχοὶ ἐγενόμεθα οὐκ ἐπὶ καταδουλώσει τῶν Ἑλλήνων Ἀθηναίους, ἀλλ' ἐπ' ἐλευθερώσει ἀπὸ τοῦ Μήδου τοῖς Ἑλλήσιν we became allies, not to the Athenians, for the purpose of enslaving the Greeks, but to the Greeks for the purpose of freeing them from the Mede T. 3. 10, ἀπόλοιτο μὲν μή perish indeed — may he not E. Med. 83.

a. A contrast must be supplied in thought when the negative precedes the article, a relative, a conjunction, or a preposition. Thus, εἰ δὲ περὶ ἡμῶν γνώσεσθε μὴ τὰ εἰκότα but if you pass upon us a sentence that is unjust T. 3. 57, πολεμεῖν δὲ μὴ πρὸς ὁμοίαν ἀντιπαρασκευὴν ἀδύνατοι unable to carry on a war against a power dissimilar in character to their own 1. 141, ἀμυνόμεθα τοὺς πολεμίους οὐκ εἰς μακρὰν we shall shortly (lit. in no long time) punish the enemy X. C. 5. 4. 21, οὐ κατὰ κόσμον disorderly B 214.

b. The order of the parts of a negative compound may be reversed for strong emphasis ; as ἔτ' οὐκ ὦν (= οὐκέτι ὦν) S. Tr. 161, μὴν οὐκ (= οὐδεμὴν) Hdt. 8. 119.

c. The negative may be placed in front of an infinitive when English transfers it to another verb in the sentence ; as εἰ βουλόμην ἡμεῖς μὴ προσποιεῖσθαι πολεμεῖν αὐτὸν ἡμῖν if we wish to assume that he is not waging war with us D. 8. 58, ἡμᾶς οὐδ' ἐναυλισθῆναι ἐπιτρέπεις you do not permit us even to take up our quarters X. A. 7. 7. 8 (= οὐκ ἐπιτρέπεις = κωλύεις).

οὐ ADHERESCENT

2691. οὐ adherescent (or privative) placed before a verb (or other single word) not merely negatives the meaning of the simple verb but gives it an opposite meaning, the two expressing a single negative idea; as οὐ φημι I deny, I refuse (not I say not). οὐ φημι is preferred to φημι οὐ as nego is preferred to aio non.

οὐκ ἔφη λέγειν he refused to go X. A. 1. 3. 8, οὐ φᾶσιν εἶναι ἄλλην ὁδόν they say that there is no other road 4. 1. 21 (cp. φησι ἦ οὐ; yes or no? P. A. 27 d), τίνας δ' οὐκ ᾔετο δεῖν λέγειν; who were those whom he thought ought not to speak? Aes. 1. 28, ἀ οὐκ ἔατε ἡμᾶς . . . ποιεῖν what you forbid us to do X. C. 1. 3. 10, οὐκ ἀξιώ . . . φερόντα τιμωρεῖσθαι he said that it was not right to avenge himself on an exile T. 1. 136.

a. So with οὐ φημι and οὐ φάσκω deny, refuse (= ἀπαρνοῦμαι), οὐκ ὁλομαι, οὐ νομίζω, οὐ δοκῶ, οὐκ ἐῶ and οὐ κελεύω forbid (veto), οὐκ ἀξιῶ regard as unworthy, do not expect that, refuse, οὐχ ὑπισχωῦμαι refuse, οὐ προσποιῶμαι dissimulate, οὐ συμβουλεύω dissuade, advise not to, οὐκ ἐθέλω am unwilling, οὐκ ἐπαινώ disapprove. This association often persists in participles, as οὐκ ἐὼν, οὐκ ἐθέλων. Homer has οὐ φημι, φημι οὐ, and οὐ φημι οὐ.

2693. οὐ with the principal verb may be equivalent in sense to μή with a dependent infinitive; as οὐ συμβουλεύων Ξέρξη στρατεύεσθαι ἐπὶ τὴν Ἑλλάδα advising Xerxes not to march against Greece (= συμβουλεύων μή στρατεύεσθαι) Hd. 7. 46.

2694. Analogous to this use with verbs is the use of οὐ with adjectives and adverbs.

οὐκ ὀλίγοι = πολλοί, οὐκ ἐλάχιστος = μέγιστος, οὐχ ἥττον = μᾶλλον, οὐχ ἥκιστα = μάλιστα, οὐ καλῶς basely, οὐκ ἀφανής famous, οὐκ εἰκότως unreasonably, οὐ περὶ βραχέων on important matters (cp. 2690 a), regularly οὐ πᾶν not at all, as οὐ πᾶν χαλεπὸν easy.

2696. Adherescent οὐ is often found in a protasis with εἰ and in other constructions where we expect μή.

ei δ' ἀποστήναι Ἀθηναίων οὐκ ἠθελήσαμεν . . . , οὐκ ἡδικοῦμεν but if we refused to revolt from the Athenians, we were not doing wrong T. 3. 55, ei οὐκ εἴς if thou forbiddest S. Aj. 1131 (= ei κωλύεις), ei μὴ Πρόξενον οὐχ ὑπεδέξαντο, ἐσώθησαν an if it had not been that they did not receive Proxenus, they would have been saved D. 19. 74, ei μὲν οὐ πολλοὶ ἦσαν if they were few L. 13. 62 (emended by some to οὐ μὴ). ἔάν οὐ is rare, as ἔάν τε οὐ φῆτε ἔάν τε φῆτε both if you deny it and if you admit it P. A. 25 b (cp. L. 13. 76, D. 26. 24).

2697. But μή often does not yield to οὐ, as ἀν τ' ἐγὼ φῶ ἄν τε μή φῶ both if I assent and if I do not D. 21. 205, οὐκ οἶδ' ὅπως φῶ τοῦτο καὶ μή φῶ I know not how I shall say this and not say it E. I. A. 643, ἔάν μή . . . ἔατε D. 16. 12, and in many cases where μή goes closely with the following word, as ei ἐδίδου κλῆριν καὶ μή ἀφηρεῖτο if he were granting a trial and not taking it away D. 23. 91.

οὐ AFTER εἰ (ἔάν)

2698. οὐ is sometimes found in clauses introduced by εἰ (ἔάν).

a. When οὐ is adherescent (2696).

b. When there is an emphatic assertion of fact or probability, as where a direct statement is quoted. Thus, ei δὲ οὐδὲν ἡμάρτηται μοι if (as I have shown) no error has been committed by me And. 1. 33, ei, ὡς νῦν φήσῃ, οὐ παρεσκεύαστο if, as he will presently assert, he had not made preparations D. 54. 29. Cp. X. A. 1. 7. 18, quoted in 2790.

c. When ei (ἔάν) is used instead of ὅτι that (because) after verbs of emotion (2247). Thus, μή θαυμάσῃς ei πολλὰ τῶν εἰρημένων οὐ πρέπει σοι do not be surprised if much of what has been said does not apply to you I. 1. 44. Here μή is possible.

d. When ei (ἔάν) approaches the idea of ἐπει since (cp. 2246, 2298 b). So ei τοῦσδε . . . οὐ στέργει πατὴρ if (since) their father has ceased to love these children E. Med. 88 (often explained as οὐ adherescent). Here μή is possible.

e. When a single ei introduces a bimembered protasis as a whole, the μὲν clause and the δέ clause of that protasis may have οὐ. Such bimembered protases often depend on a preceding apodosis introduced by αἰσχρόν, ἀτοκόν, δεινόν, θαυμαστόν ἐστι (ἐν εἴῃ) and like expressions of emotion (c). Thus, εἴτ' οὐκ αἰσχρόν . . . ei τὸ μὲν Ἀργείων πλῆθος οὐκ ἐφοβήθη τὴν Λακεδαιμονίων ἀρχήν . . . , ὑμεῖς δὲ ὄντες Ἀθηναῖοι βάρβαρον ἀνθρώπον φοβήσεσθε; is it not then disgraceful, if it is true that whereas the Argive commons did not fear the empire of the Lacedaemonians, you, who are Athenians, are going to be afraid of a barbarian? D. 15. 23, αἰσχρόν γάρ. ei πατὴρ μὲν ἐξέλειν Φρύγας, ὁ δ' ἄνδρ' ἐν' οὐ δυνήσεται κταρεῖν for it is disgraceful that, whereas the father destroyed the Phrygians, the other (the son) is not going to be able to destroy one foe E. El. 336, δεινὸν ἂν εἴῃ, ei οἱ μὲν ἐκείνων ξύμμαχοι ἐπὶ δουλείᾳ τῇ αὐτῶν (χρήματα) φέροντες οὐκ ἀπεροῦσιν, ἡμεῖς δὲ ἐπὶ τῷ . . . αὐτοὶ σφῆσθαι οὐκ ἄρα δαπανήσομεν it would be strange if, whereas their allies will not fail to pay tribute for their own enslavement, we on the other hand will not expend it for the purpose of saving ourselves T. 1. 121.

N. 1. — The second member of such protases has οὐ if the verb stands in the indicative, but μή (in classical Greek) if the verb is in the optative. In Aes. 2. 167 οὐ κατὰρχομαι is due to indirect discourse.

N. 2. — In such sentences ei may (1) have a conditional force in both clauses, as L. 30. 16, 31. 24; (2) have a conditional force in the second member, but the force of επει in the first member, as L. 20. 36, Is. 14. 52; (3) have the force of επει in the first member, and that of οτι in the second member, as D. 8. 55, Aes. 3. 242; (4) have the force of οτι in both members, as T. 1. 35, 1. 121, X. C. 7. 5. 84.

f. A bimembered clause introduced by ei may contain a negative clause with ου directly opposed to a positive clause; as ei δε τω̄ μὲν, τοῖς δ' οὐ D. 23. 123.

g. ei whether in simple and alternative indirect questions takes either ου or μη (2676 c, e).

2699. Homer has ei and the indicative with ου (12 times) when the subordinate clause precedes the main clause; but usually ei μη, when the subordinate clause follows. Thus, ei δε μοι οὐ τεσσονεῖ βοῶν ἐπιεκέ' ἀμοιβήν, ὄσομαι εἰς Ἄϊδῶα but if they will not pay a fitting compensation for the cattle, I will go down to Hades μ 382, ἐνθα κεν Ἀργελοισιν ὑπέρμωρα νόστος ἐτύχθη, εἰ μὴ Ἀθηναίων Ἥρη πρὸς μῦθον ἔειπεν then in that case the return of the Argives had been accomplished against fate, if Hera had not spoken a word to Athena B 155.

a. The Homeric ei ου with the indicative has been explained either as a retention of the original use, μη with that mood being an extension through the analogy of the subjunctive and optative; or because ου went with the predicate, whereas μη was closely attached to ei.

2700. Homer has ei ου (adherescent) with the subjunctive in ei δ' ἄν . . . οὐκ ἐθέλωσιν Γ 289, ei δε κ' . . . οὐκ εἰώσιν Υ 139.

2701. Herodotus has a few cases of ei ου with the indicative, as 6. 9; ἢ οὐ with the subjunctive is doubtful (6. 133).

GENERAL RULE FOR μη

2702. μη stands

1. With the imperative.
2. In clauses with ei, εάν (exceptions, 2698).
3. With the subjunctive, except after μη lest, when ου is used.
4. With the optative, except after μη lest, or when the optative has άν or is in indirect discourse.
5. With the infinitive, except in indirect discourse.
6. With participles when they have a conditional or general force.

ου AND μη WITH THE INDICATIVE AND OPTATIVE

SIMPLE SENTENCES AND INDEPENDENT CLAUSES

2703. Statements (2153) expressed by simple sentences and independent clauses take ου. Direct questions take either ου or μη (2651). The independent future indicative has μη only in questions.

2704. In wishes μη is used with the indicative (1780–1781) or the optative (1814, cp. 2156).

ἔθε σε μήποτε' εἰδδμᾶν would that I had never seen thee S. O. T. 1218, μήποτε' ὤφελον λπεῖν τὴν Σκύρον would that I had never left Scyros S. Ph. 969.

μή ζῆην may I not live Ar. Eq. 833, ἀναιδὴς οὐτ' εἰμὶ μήτε γενοίμην I neither am nor may I become shameless D. 8. 68, οὐτ' ἄν δυνάμην μήτ' ἐπιστάμην λέγειν neither could I tell nor may I be capable of telling S. Ant. 686.

a. That ὤφελον takes μή, not οὐ, shows that it has lost to a certain extent its verbal nature. In late Greek it even became a particle like εἴθε.

b. Indirect expressions of wishing with πῶς ἄν and the optative (1832), βουλόμην ἄν (1827), ἐβουλόμην (ἄν) with the infinitive, take οὐ (1782, 1789).

c. The use is the same in dependent clauses; as ἐπειδὴ δ' ἂν μήποτε' ὠφέλε (συμβῆναι) συνέβη but when that happened which I would had never happened D. 18. 320.

SUBORDINATE CLAUSES IN THE INDICATIVE OR OPTATIVE

2705. In subordinate clauses μή or οὐ is used.

a. Final clauses have μή, as φίλος ἐβούλετο εἶναι τοῖς μέγιστα δυνάμενοις, ἵνα ἀδικῶν μὴ δίδωῃ δίκην he wished to be on friendly terms with men in power in order that he might not pay the penalty for his wrong-doing X. A. 2. 6. 21, ἔδει τὰ ἐνέχυρα τότε λαβεῖν, ὥς μὴδ' εἰ ἐβούλετο ἐδύνατο ἐξαπατᾶν quoted in 2185 c.

b. Object clauses with ὅπως after verbs of effort have μή, as φρόντιζ' ὅπως μὴδὲν ἀνάξιον τῆς τιμῆς ταύτης πράξεις see to it that you do nothing unworthy of this honour I. 2. 37, ἐπεμέλετο ὅπως μήτε ἄσιτοι μήτε ἀποτοί ποτε ἔσονται he took care that they should never be without food or drink X. C. 8. 1. 43.

c. Conditional clauses regularly have μή. Thus, εἰ μὴ ὑμεῖς ἤλθετε, ἐπορευόμεθα ἄν ἐπὶ βασιλέᾳ if you had not come, we should be marching against the king X. A. 2. 1. 4, οὐκ ἀπελείπετο αὐτοῦ, εἰ μὴ τι ἀναγκαῖον εἴη he never left him unless there was some necessity for it X. M. 4. 2. 40. So in concessive clauses (2369). On οὐ adherescent in conditional clauses see 2696.

d. Relative Clauses, if conditional, have οὐ with a definite antecedent, μή with an indefinite antecedent (2505). μή is thus used when the case in question is typical of a class (μή 'generic'). Thus, προσημαίνουσιν ἃ τε χρὴ ποιεῖν καὶ ἃ οὐ χρὴ they signify beforehand what one must do and what not X. C. 1. 6. 46, ἃ μὴ οἶδα οὐδὲ οἶμαι εἰδέναι what I do not know, I do not even think I know P. A. 21 d.

N. 1. — Homer has δὲ (δοτος) οὐ with the indicative (μή B 301).

N. 2. — οὐ is regular in relative clauses when an opposition is expressed (T. 1. 11. 2), and when a negative clause precedes; as οὐκ ἔστιν ὅστις (ὅπως) οὐ, οὐδεὶς ὅστις οὐ, etc. (X. C. 1. 4. 25, X. A. 2. 4. 3).

e. The expression τοιοῦτος, ὅς (ὅστις, etc.), when preceded by a negative, takes οὐ; as ταμείον μὴδεὶ εἶναι μὴδὲν τοιοῦτον, εἰς δ' οὐ πᾶς ὁ βουλούμενος εἰσεῖσι it is necessary that no one shall have (such) a storehouse that anybody who pleases may not enter it P. R. 416 d. But even when no negative precedes, we have οὐ, when the relative clause makes an assertion or defines attributively; as συγγραφεὺς τῶν λόγων . . . τοιοῦτος, ὅς οὐδεὶς ἄλλος γέγορε such a writer of speeches as no one had been I. 15. 35. When the antecedent is general or is thought of in respect of its character we have μή; as βουλευθεὶς τοιοῦτον μνημῖον καταλιπεῖν, ὃ μὴ τῆς ἀνθρωπίνης φύσεώς ἐστιν wishing to leave behind him such a memorial as would surpass human nature I. 4. 89; cp. 2705 g.

f. Relative clauses of purpose take μή, as θαλάσσιον ἐκρίψατ', ἵνα μήποτε' εἰσέψωθ' ἔτι cast me out into the sea where ye may never see me more S.O.T. 1411, κρύψαο' ἑαυτήν, ἵνα μή τις εἰσίδωι hiding herself where no one might see her S.Tr. 903.

g. Clauses with a relative pronoun referring to an antecedent thought of in respect of its character (of such a sort) take μή. The use of μή characteristic comes from the generic meaning of μή, i.e. the antecedent is not regarded simply as a person who does something but as a person of such a nature as, one who typifies a class. In such cases δε μή may refer to a definite person or thing. So especially in relative clauses of cause and result, which ordinarily take οὐ. Thus, ταλαίπωρος ἄρα τις σύ γε ἄνθρωπος εἰ . . . , ᾧ μήτε θεοὶ πατέρες εἰσι μήτε ἑρᾶ α wretched being art thou then, who hast neither ancestral gods nor shrines P. Eu. 302 b, ψηφίσασθε τοιαῦτα ἐξ ὧν μηδέποτε ὑμῖν μεταμελήσει pass such a vote that you will never repent of it And.3.41, τοιαῦτα λέγειν . . . , οἷς μηδεὶς ἂν πεμψῆσαι to use language at which no one could feel just resentment D. 21.161, ὁ . . . μηδὲν ἂν ὀμόσας the man who would not take an oath 54.40. Sophocles is especially fond of the generic μή.

h. Consecutive clauses (and consecutive relative clauses) with ὥστε take οὐ with the indicative and optative. Thus, (Λακεδαιμόνιοι) εἰς τοῦτ' ἀπληστίας ἦλθον ὥστ' οὐκ ἐξήρκεσεν αὐτοῖς ἔχειν τὴν κατὰ γῆν ἀρχήν the Lacedaemonians became so insatiate in their desires that they were not satisfied with their empire on the land I. 12.103, ὥστ' οὐκ ἂν αὐτὸν γνωρίσαιμ' ἂν εἰσίδων so that I should not recognize him, if I were to see him E. Or. 379. On τοιοῦτος δε οὐ see 2705 e.

i. Oaths and protestations in the indicative with μή express a solemn denial or refusal, or repudiate a charge. Thus, ἴστω νῦν Ζεὺς . . . μὴ μὲν τοῖς ἱπποῖσι ἀνὴρ ἐποικίηται ἄλλος let Zeus now know (i.e. I swear by Zeus) that no other man shall mount these horses K 329, μὰ τὴν Ἀφροδίτην . . . μὴ γὰρ σ' ἀφῆσω by Aphrodite, far be it from me that I should release you Ar. Eccl. 999. Cp. 2716.

μή WITH THE SUBJUNCTIVE AND IMPERATIVE

2706. The subjunctive is a mood of will, and therefore takes μή.

2707. Independent clauses take μή: the hortatory subjunctive (1797), the prohibitive subjunctive (1800), the deliberative subjunctive (1805), the subjunctive of doubtful assertion (1801).

a. The anticipatory subjunctive in Homer takes οὐ (1810, cp. 1813).

2708. Dependent clauses take μή: final clauses, as δοκεῖ μοι κατακαῦσαι τὰς ἀμάξας . . . ἵνα μὴ τὰ ζεύγη ἡμῶν στρατηγῇ it seems to me advisable to burn the wagons that our baggage-train may not be our general X. A. 3.2.27. Object clauses after verbs of effort, as οὐ φυλάξεσθ' ὅπως μὴ . . . δεσπότην εὕρητε; will you not be on your guard lest you find a master? 1). 6.26. So in conditional clauses with εἰ, in conditional relative clauses and in relative clauses referring to indefinite time, place, and manner.

a. After μή lest, οὐ is used (2221).

2709. The imperative is a mood of will and therefore takes μή in prohibitions (1840).

a. The future indicative after interrogative οὐ has an imperative sense (1918).

NEGATIVES OF INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2710. The negatives of direct discourse are retained in indirect discourse introduced by ὅτι or ὥς.

ἐνθυμηθῆναι χρὴ ὅτι οὐδὲς ἐστὶν ἀνθρώπων φύσει οὔτε ὀλιγαρχικὸς οὔτε δημοκρατικὸς it must be borne in mind that no man by nature is disposed either to oligarchy or to democracy L. 25. 8.

εἶπε . . . ὅτι οὐ περὶ πολιτείας ὑμῖν ἔσται ἀλλὰ περὶ σωτηρίας, εἰ μὴ ποιήσαιθ' ἃ Θηραμένης κελεύει he said that the question would not be about your constitution but about your safety, if you did not accept the propositions of Theramenes L. 12. 74.

a. In προεῖπεν ὥς μηδεὶς κινήσοιτο ἐκ τῆς τάξεως he gave orders that no one should move from his position X. H. 2. 1. 22 μηδεὶς is due to the fact that the main verb denotes a command.

On the negative in indirect discourse with the infinitive see 2722, 2737, 2738; with the participle, 2729, 2737, 2738; and in indirect questions, 2676.

οὐ AND μὴ WITH THE INFINITIVE

2711. The infinitive not in indirect discourse has μὴ; the infinitive in indirect discourse has οὐ, but sometimes μὴ. The articular infinitive has μὴ. On the use with μὴ οὐ see 2742 ff.

a. The ordinary negative of the infinitive is μὴ, which could be so used since the infinitive was employed as early as Homer in an imperative sense. οὐ with the infinitive in indirect discourse is probably due to the analogy of οὐ with the indicative and optative in clauses of indirect discourse introduced by ὅτι (ὥς). οὐ became the natural negative of indirect discourse as soon as the infinitive came to represent the indicative or optative.

2712. μὴ is used with the articular infinitive.

παράδειγμα τοῦ μὴ ὑμᾶς ἀδικεῖν a warning not to injure you I. 27. 5, ὑπὲρ τοῦ μὴ τὸ κελεύμενον ποιῆσαι in order to avoid doing what was commanded D. 18. 204. On τὸ (τοῦ) μὴ οὐ, see 2744. 9. 10, 2749 b, d.

οὐ AND μὴ WITH THE INFINITIVE NOT IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2713. μὴ is the regular negative after all verbs, adjectives, adverbs, and substantives, which take an infinitive not in indirect discourse. Thus, after verbs and other words denoting ability, fitness, necessity (and their opposites). Cp. 2000–2007.

εἰκὸς σοφὸν ἄνδρα μὴ ληρεῖν it is proper for a wise man not to talk idly P. Th. 152 b, τὰς ὁμοίας χάριτας μὴ ἀντιδιδόναι αἰσχρὸν it is disgraceful not to repay like services T. 3. 63.

2714. χρῆ (χρῆν, ἐχρῆν) takes either μὴ or οὐ.

χρῆ μὴ καταφροεῖν τοῦ πλήθους one must not despise the multitude I. 5. 79, χρῆν οὐ σ' ἀμαρτάνειν thou oughtst not to do wrong E. Hipp. 507, χρῆ δ' οὐπω' εἰπεῖν οὐδέν' ὄλβιον βροτῶν it is not right ever to call any son of man happy E. And. 100.

a. For original οὐ χρῆ was substituted (for emphasis) χρῆ οὐ, where the οὐ was still taken with χρῆ; ultimately οὐ was felt to belong with the infinitive and hence came to be separated from χρῆ.

b. δεῖ takes μή, as μή ὀκνεῖν δεῖ αὐτοὺς they must not fear T. 1. 120. οὐ δεῖ may be used for δεῖ μή (2693). In δεῖ οὐχ ἀπλῶς εἰπεῖν one must not speak in a general way I. 15. 117 οὐχ is adherescent. Note οἶμαι δεῖν οὐ, φημι χρῆναι οὐ, οἶμαι χρῆναι μή.

2715. μή is used with the infinitive in wishes and prohibitions. Thus, θεοὶ πολῖται, μή με δουλείᾳς τυχεῖν ye gods of my country, may bondage not be my lot A. Sept. 253, οἷς μή πελάζειν do not approach these A. Pr. 712.

2717. μή is used with the infinitive of purpose (cp. 2719) or result (2260). Cp. 2759. On ἐφ' ᾧ μή see 2279; on ὥστε οὐ see 2269.

2718. μή is used when the infinitive stands in apposition (1987), and hence is like τὸ μή with the infinitive. Thus, τοῦτο ἐν ἔστιν ὧν φημι, μηδένα ἂν ἐν βραχυτέροις ἐμοῦ τὰ αὐτὰ εἰπεῖν this is one of the things I maintain — that no one can say the same things in fewer words than I can P. G. 449 c. Cp. A. Pr. 173, 481, 435, P. R. 497 b. Such cases are not to be confused with μή after verbs of asseveration or belief (2725).

2719. μή is used with the infinitive introduced by verbs of will or desire (1991) or by verbs expressing activity to the end that something shall or shall not be done; as τὴν Κέρκυραν ἐβούλοντο μὴ προέσθαι they wished not to give up Corcyra T. 1. 44, φυλακὴν εἶχε μήτ' ἐκπλεῖν . . . μηδένα μήτ' ἐσπλεῖν he kept guard against any one either sailing out or in T. 2. 69.

2720. Verbs of commanding and exhorting (κελεύω, λέγω, βοῶ), asking (αἰτῶ, ἀξιῶ), advising (συμβουλεύω), and other verbs of will or desire of like meaning, take μή.

ἐκέλευε . . . μὴ ἐρεθίζειν he ordered him not to provoke his wrath P. R. 398 e, ἔλεγον αὐτοῖς μὴ ἀδικεῖν they told them not to commit injustice T. 2. 5, ἐβόων ἀλλήλοις μὴ θεῖν they shouted to each other not to run X. A. 1. 8. 19, ἰκέτευε μὴ κτείνειν he besought them not to kill him L. 1. 25, συμβουλεύω σοι . . . μὴ ἀφαιρεῖσθαι ἃ ἂν δῶς I advise you not to take away what you may have given X. C. 4. 5. 32.

2721. οὐ is used after verbs of will or desire only when it is attached to the leading verb or to some particular word; when it marks a contrast inserted parenthetically; where a compound negative takes up οὐ used with the leading verb; and when οὐδεῖς may be resolved into οὐ and τις, οὐ going with the leading verb. Examples in 2738.

οὐ AND μή WITH THE INFINITIVE IN INDIRECT DISCOURSE

2722. Verbs of saying and thinking take οὐ with the infinitive in indirect discourse. Here οὐ is retained from the direct discourse.

ἢ (ἀνὰ κτ) φαμεν οὐδένα θεῶν οὔτε μάχεσθαι τὰ νῦν οὔτε μαχεῖσθαι ποτε we declare that no one of the gods either now contends with necessity, or ever will P. L. 818 e (= οὐδεὶς . . . μάχεται . . . μαχεῖται), λέγοντες οὐκ εἶναι αὐτόνομοι saying that they were not independent T. 1. 67, (= οὐκ ἐσμεν), οἶμαι γὰρ ἂν οὐκ ἀχαρίστως μοι ἔχειν for I think it would not be unattended with gratitude to me X. A. 2. 3. 18 (= οὐκ ἂν ἔχοι), ἠγάσαντο ἡμᾶς οὐ περιόψεσθαι they thought that we should not view it with indifference T. 1. 39 (= οὐ περιόψονται), ἐμοὶ δὲ δοκοῦσιν οὗτοι οὐ τὸ ἀτίον αἰτιάσθαι but these persons seem to me not to blame the real cause P. R. 329 b, ἐνόμισεν οὐκ ἂν δύνασθαι μένειν τοὺς πολιορκούντας he thought the besiegers would not be able to hold their position X. A. 7. 4. 22 (= οὐκ ἂν δύναιντο).

2723. Verbs of saying and thinking take μή in emphatic declarations and expressions of thought which involve a wish that the utterance may hold good. So with φημί, λέγω, ἡγοῦμαι, νομίζω, οἶμαι. Cp. 2725.

φαίην δ' ἂν ἔγωγε μηδενὶ μηδεμίαν εἶναι παιδεύειν παρὰ τοῦ μὴ ἀρέσκοτος but for my part I would maintain that no one gets any education from a teacher who is not pleasing X. M. 1. 2. 39, πάντες ἐροῦσι . . . μηδὲν εἶναι κερδαλέωτερον ἀρετῆς all will say that nothing is more profitable than bravery X. C. 7. 1. 18, τίς δ' ἂν ἀνθρώπων θεῶν μὲν παῖδας ἡγοῖτο εἶναι, θεοὺς δὲ μή; who in the world would think that they were the sons of gods and not gods? P. A. 27 d, ἀπῆσαν . . . νομίσαντες μὴ ἂν ἔτι . . . ἱκανοὶ γενέσθαι κωλύσαι τὸν ἐπὶ τὴν θάλασσαν τειχισμὸν they departed in the belief that they would no longer prove able to prevent the building of the wall to the sea T. 6. 102.

a. Cp. P. Th. 155 a (φημί), T. 1. 139, 6. 49, P. R. 346 e (λέγω), X. M. 1. 2. 41, D. 54. 44 (οἶμαι), X. C. 7. 5. 59 (νομίζω), P. Soph. 230 c (διαποσῶμαι).

b. Cases where the infinitive is in apposition, or depends on an imperative, or occurs after a condition, do not belong here.

2724. μή with the infinitive is often found after verbs denoting an oracular response or a judicial decision actual or implied. Cp. 2725. Thus, ἀπεῖλεν ἡ Πυθίᾳ μηδένα σοφώτερον εἶναι the Pythian prophetess made answer that no one was wiser P. A. 21 a (in direct discourse οὐδεὶς σοφώτερός ἐστι). So after κρίνω, as ἐκρίνε μὴ Ἀρίστωνος εἶναι Δημόδητον παῖδα the Pythian prophetess gave decision that Demareteus was not the son of Ariston Hdt. 6. 66, κέκρισθε . . . μόνοι τῶν πάντων μηδεὶς ἂν κέρδους τὰ κοινὰ δίκαια τῶν Ἑλλήνων προέσθαι you are adjudged to be the only people who would not betray for lucre the common rights of the Greeks D. 6. 10. So καταγινώσκω μὴ T. 7. 51, X. C. 6. 1. 36.

2725. μή is often used with verbs and other expressions of assertion and belief, after which we might expect οὐ with the infinitive in indirect discourse. Such verbs are those signifying to hope, expect, promise, put trust in, be persuaded, agree, testify, swear, etc.

The use of μή indicates strong assurance, confidence, and resolve; and generally in regard to the future. Cp. 2723.

ἐλπίς ὑμᾶς μὴ δόθῃναι there is hope that you will not be seen X. C. 2.4.23, ὑπισχυόντο μὴδὲν χλευσὸν αὐτοὺς πείσασθαι they promised that they should suffer no harm X. H. 4.4.5, πιστεύω . . . μὴ ψεύσειν με ταύτας τὰς ἀγαθὰς ἐλπίδας I trust that these good hopes will not deceive me X. C. 1.5.13, θαυμάζω ὅπως ἐπείσθησαν Ἀθηναῖοι Σωκράτην περὶ θεοῦ μὴ σωφρονεῖν I wonder how the Athenians were persuaded that Socrates did not hold temperate opinions regarding the gods X. M. 1.1.20, ὁμολογεῖ μὴ μετεῖναι οἱ μακρολογίᾳς he acknowledges that he cannot make a long speech P. Pr. 336 b, αὐτὸς αὐτοῦ καταμαρτυρεῖ μὴ ἐξ ἐκείνου γεγενῆσθαι he proves by his own testimony that he is not his son D. 40.47, ὥμοσεν ἡ μὴ εἶναι οἱ υἱὸν ἄλλον μὴδὲ γενέσθαι πώποτε he swore that he had no other son and that none other had ever been born to him And. 1.126, ὥμνε . . . μὴδὲν εἰρηκέναι he swore that he had said nothing D. 21.119, ὁμῶμαι μήποτ' . . . ἀλεξέσθαι κακὸν ἡμᾶς I will swear that I will never ward off the evil day φ 373. Cp. Ar. Vesp. 1047, 1281, And. 1.90, Lyc. 76. With δυνῶμι the infinitive may refer to the present, past, or future.

2726. Such verbs are hope ἐλπίζω; expect ἐπιζώω, προσδοκᾶ, δοκᾶ, οἴομαι, εἰκός ἐστι; promise ὑπισχυοῦμαι, ἐπαγγέλλομαι; swear ὀμνῶμι; agree ὁμολογῶ, συγχωρῶ; pledge ἐγγυῶμαι; put trust in πιστεύω; am persuaded πείθομαι; testify μαρτυρῶ; repudiate ἀναινοῦμαι; threaten ἀπειλᾶ, etc.

a. μὴ is regular after verbs of promising; common after verbs of hoping and swearing. With δυνῶμι, πιστεύω, πείθομαι, μαρτυρῶ, etc. there is an idea of deprecation.

2727. ἐπίσταμαι and οἶδα usually take μὴ when they denote confident belief (= I warrant from what I know; cp. πιστεύω μὴ, δυνῶμι μὴ). Thus, ἐξίσταμαι μὴ τοῦ τόδ' ἀγλᾶδισμα πλὴν κείνου μολεῖν I assure you this fair offering has not come from any one save from him S. El. 908 (cp. Ant. 1092). In τοσοῦτον γ' οἶδα μήτε μ' ἂν νόσον μήτ' ἄλλο πέρσαι μὴδὲν so much at least I know—that neither sickness nor aught else can undo me (S. O. T. 1455) the infinitive may be appositional (2718). Cases of ἵσθι μὴ (he assured = I assure you) may have μὴ by reason of the imperative (2737 a). So S. Ph. 1329.

οὐ AND μὴ WITH THE PARTICIPLE

2728. The participle has οὐ when it states a fact, μὴ when it states a condition. On μὴ due to the force of the leading verb, see 2737.

οὐ πιστεύων since (as, when, etc.) he does not believe, μὴ πιστεύων if he does not believe, ἀπέβη ἐπὶ τὰ ὄρη οὐδενὸς κωλύοντος he went up on the mountains since no one hindered him X. A. 1.2.22, οὐκ ἂν δύναιο μὴ καμῶν εὐδαιμονεῖν ἴθου canst not be happy if thou hast not toiled E. fr. 461, ὡς ἡδὺ τὸ ἔχῃ μὴ φθονέσσης τῆς τύχης how sweet is life if fortune is not envious Men. Sent. 563.

a. μὴ with the articular participle is the abridged equivalent of a conditional relative sentence. Thus, in ὁ μὴ ταῦτα ποιῶν ἀδικός ἐστι, ὁ μὴ ποιῶν is virtually the generic ὁς ἂν μὴ ποιῇ or ὅστις μὴ ποιῇ compressed into a noun.

2729. οὐ is used with a supplementary participle (in indirect discourse) in agreement with a noun (or pronoun, expressed or unexpressed) depending on a verb of knowing, showing, seeing, perceiving, etc. (2106-2115); and also with such supplementary participles (not in indirect discourse) after verbs of emotion (2100), etc. In most such cases οὐ might have been used.

οὐδένα γὰρ οἶδα μῖσούντα τοὺς ἐπαινοῦντας for ἰ γνωσ of no one who dislikes his admirers X. M. 2. 6. 33, φανερὸν πᾶσιν ἐποίησαν οὐκ ἰδίᾳ πολεμοῦντες they made it clear to all that they were not waging war for their own interests Lyc. 50, ὁρῶσι τοὺς πρεσβυτέρους οὐ . . . ἀπιδόντας they see that their elders do not depart X. C. 1. 2. 8, οὐδεὶς μὴ ποθ' εὖρη . . . οὐδὲν ἐλλειφθέν no one will ever find that anything has been left undone D. 18. 246; Κόρυς ἤδετο οὐ δυναμένῳ σιγᾷ he rejoiced that Cyrus was unable to remain silent X. C. 1. 4. 15.

2730. ἐπίσταμαι and οἶδα denoting confident belief may take μή for οὐ. Thus, ἔξοιδα φύσει σε μὴ πεφύκοντα τοιαῦτα φωνεῖν κακὰ well do I know that by nature thou art not adapted to utter such guile S. Ph. 79; cp. S. O. C. 656, T. 1. 76, 2. 17. This use of μή is analogous to that with the infinitive (2727).

2731. μή is used when the reason for an action is regarded as the condition under which it takes place; as οὐ τοῦ πλείους μὴ στερισκόμενοι χάριν ἔχουσιν they are not grateful at not being deprived of the greater part of their rights T. 1. 77 (= ei μή στερισκοντο).

2732. The participle with ὥς, ὥσπερ, ὅτε, οἷον, οἷα (2085-2087) has οὐ; as ἐθορυβεῖτε ὥς οὐ ποιήσοιτες ταῦτα γοῦν made a disturbance by way of declaring that you did not intend to do this L. 12. 73. The use of οὐ shows that there is nothing conditional in the use of ὥς though it is often translated by as if. μή occurs only after an imperative or a conditional word (2737).

2733. Participles of opposition or concession (2083) take οὐ; as πείθου γυναῖξί καί περ οὐ στέργων ὅμως hearken to women albeit thou likest it not A. Sept. 712.

2734. The participle with the article has οὐ when a definite person or thing is meant, but μή when the idea is indefinite and virtually conditional (whoever, whatever); and when a person or thing is to be characterized (of such a sort, one who; 2705 g). Cp. 2052.

οἱ οὐκ ὄντες the dead T. 2. 44, οἱ οὐκ ἐθέλοντες the particular persons (or party) who are unwilling Ant. 6. 26, οἱ οὐ βουλόμενοι ταῦτα οὕτως ἔχειν the party of opposition And. 1. 9; οἱ μὴ δυνάμενοι any who are unable X. A. 4. 5. 11 (= οἷτινες μὴ δύνανται or οἱ οὐκ ἄν μὴ δύνωνται), ὁ μὴ δαπεῖς ἀνθρώπος οὐ παιδεύεται he who gets no flogging gets no training Men. Sent. 422, ὁ μὴ λέγων ἃ φρονεῖ the man who does not say what he thinks D. 18. 282, ὁ μὴδὲν ἀδικῶν οὐδενὸς δεῖται νόμου he who does no wrong needs no law Antiph. 288.

Οὐ AND μή WITH SUBSTANTIVES AND ADJECTIVES USED SUBSTANTIVELY

2735. οὐ and μή are used with substantives and substantivized adjectives with the same difference as with participles. Here the generic μή is much more common than οὐ.

ἡ τῶν γεφυρῶν . . . οὐ διάλυσις the non-destruction of the bridges T. 1. 187, κατὰ τὴν τῶν χωρίων ἀλλήλοις οὐκ ἀπόδοσιν because of their non-surrender of the places to each other 5. 35 (= ὅτι οὐκ ἀπέδοσαν), διὰ τὴν τῶν Κορινθίων οὐκ ἐκτίεπαγωγὴν because the Corinthians no longer sailed out against them 7. 31. Cp. non-regardance (Shakesp.), nonresidences (Milton). So even with concrete nouns: οἱ οὐχὶ δοῦλοι E. fr. 831.

ἡ μὴ ἐμπειρία lack of experience Ar. Eccl. 115, ὁ μὴ ἰατρός he who is not a physician (the non-physician) P. G. 459 b, οἱ μὴ πλούσιοι whoever are not rich (the non-rich) P. R. 330 a, οὐκ ἔστιν ἐν τοῖς μὴ καλοῖς βουλευμασιν οὐδ' ἐλπίς in schemes that are unwise there is no place even for hope S. Tr. 725.

a. The use of the negative here compensates for the absence of negative compounds. Cp. αἱ οὐκ ἀναγκαῖαι πόσεις unnecessary potations X. R. L. 5. 4.

οὐδεὶς, μηδεὶς

2736. οὐδεὶς, οὐδέν denote that which is actually non-existent or of no account; μηδεὶς, μηδέν denote that which is merely thought of as non-existent or of no account. Both are used as the opposite of τις or τι (εἶναι) to be somebody (something, cp. 1269). The neuter forms are often used of persons; τὸ μηδέν (indeclinable) is used of persons and things.

ὁ νῦν μὲν οὐδεὶς, αἶριον δ' ὑπέρμεγας οὐκ τοῦ who art now a nobody (an actual fact), but to-morrow exceeding great Ar. Eq. 158, ὅττες οὐδέτερες being nobodies E. And. 700, οὐ γὰρ ἤξιον τοὺς μηδένas for he was not wout to esteem (those whom he regarded as) nobodies S. Aj. 1114, τὸ μηδέν εἰς οὐδὲν ῥέπει what was thought to be nothing now inclines (shows itself) to be actually nothing E. fr. 532, ὅτ' οὐδὲν ὦν τοῦ μηδέν ἀνέστηs ὑπὲρ when though naught thyself (a fact) thou hast stood up for him who is as naught S. Aj. 1231. So τὸ οὐδέν zero, actually nothing, τὸ μηδέν abstract nonentity.

a. The construction may influence the choice between οὐδεὶς and μηδεὶς; as εἰς ὅσον δοκῶσι τι εἶναι μηδέν ὅττες, ἀναιδίζετε αὐτοῖς reduke them if they think they are something when in reality they are nothing P. A. 41 e. Cp. 2737 b.

APPARENT EXCHANGE OF οὐ AND μή

2737. Where μή is used when we expect οὐ the negative expression usually depends on a verb that either has μή or would have it, if negated.

a. After imperatives. Thus, σάφ' ἴσθι μὴ με θαυμάσοντά σε know well that I shall not fawn upon thee E. Heracl. 988, νόμιζε μηδέν εἶναι τῶν ἀνθρωπίνων βέβαιον consider nothing in human life to be secure I. 1. 42 (= μὴ νόμιζε τι κτλ.). ὡς οὖν μὴ μόνον κρίνοντες, ἀλλὰ καὶ θεωρούμενοι, οὕτω τὴν ψήφον φέρετε cast your ballots then in the belief not only that you are passing judgment but also that the eyes of the world are upon you Aes. 3. 247 (cp. 2732). See also 2086 b.

b. After conditional expressions. Thus, εἰ δέ τις . . . νομίζει τι μὴ ἰκανῶς εἰρησθαι but if any one thinks some point has not been sufficiently mentioned And. 1. 70, λῶσθε δὲ οὐδὲ τὰς Λακεδαιμονίων σπονδὰς δεχόμενοι (= εἰς δέχασθαι) ἡμᾶς μηδενέων ὄντας ξυμμάχους and by receiving us, who are allies of neither.

you will not be violating the treaty with the Lacedaemonians either T. 1. 35. Cp. 2736 a.

c. Other cases : κελεύει μείναι ἐπὶ τοῦ ποταμοῦ μὴ διαβάοντας he ordered them to remain by the river without crossing X. A. 4. 3. 28 (here μείναι, if negatived, would take μή, 2720), ὑπέσχετο εἰρήνην ποιήσειν μήτε δμῆρα δοῦς μήτε τὰ τεῖχη καθελών he promised that he would bring peace about without giving hostages or destroying the walls L. 12. 68 (here ποιήσειν, if negatived, would take μή, 2725).

N. — But οὐ may assert itself even under the above circumstances ; as μὴ δ γὰρ οὐ χρή ποιεῖν don't do what is really wrong P. Eu. 307 b, ἢ ἀφίερτε με ἢ μὴ ἀφίερτε ὡς ἐμοὶ οὐκ ἂν ποιήσαντες ἄλλα either acquit me or do not acquit me in the knowledge that I should not act otherwise P. A. 30 b (cp. 2732), εἰ νομίζετε οὐχ ὑφέξειν τὴν δίκην if thou thinkest not to suffer the penalty S. O. T. 551 (= οὐχ ὑφέξω), εἰ γνωσθησόμεθα ξυνηθόντες μὲν, ἀμύνεσθαι δὲ οὐ (some Mss.) τολμῶντες if we shall be known to have come together, and yet not to have the courage to avenge ourselves T. 1. 124 (it would be said of them : ξυνήλθον μὲν, ἀμύνεσθαι δὲ οὐκ ἐτόλμων, a contrast, cp. 2690).

d. On μή in questions where we might expect οὐ, see 2676 b.

2738. οὐ is sometimes used where we expect μή.

a. Where οὐ stands in a clause introduced by εἰ or other words after which μή might be expected (2698). Thus, ὅφρα καὶ οὐκ ἐθέλων τις ἀναγκαλῆ πολεμίζει that every one must of necessity fight even though he would not Δ 300 (cp. 2692 a).

b. Where οὐ goes strictly with the leading verb though it stands with the infinitive. Thus, βουλοίμην δ' ἂν οὐκ εἶναι τῷδε I would fain it were not so (I should not wish that this were so) E. Med. 73, ὁμώμοκεν οὐ χαριεῖσθαι . . . ἀλλὰ δικάσειν κατὰ τοὺς νόμους he has sworn, not that he will show favour, but that he will judge according to the laws P. A. 35 c (some explain this as the οὐ of direct discourse).

c. Where οὐ in a contrast goes closely with a following word or words, or stands in a partial parenthesis. Thus, κελεύων οὐκ ἐν τῇ ἐκκλησίᾳ ἀλλ' ἐν τῷ θεάτρῳ τὴν ἀνάρρησιν γίνεσθαι (he has violated the law) in demanding that the proclamation be made not in the Assembly but in the theatre Aes. 3. 204, ὁμολογοῖν ἂν ἔγωγε οὐ κατὰ τούτους εἶναι ῥήτωρ I should acknowledge that I am an orator, but not after their style P. A. 17 b, ὑμᾶς νῦν ἀξιοῦντες οὐ ξυμμαχεῖν, ἀλλὰ ξυναδικεῖν demanding that you should be, not their allies, but their partners in wrong-doing T. 1. 39.

d. When a compound negative with the infinitive repeats οὐ used with the leading verb. Thus, (ὁ νόμος) οὐκ ἐᾷ εἰσιέναι, οὐ δ' ἂν ἡ ὁ τετελευτηκώς, οὐδεμίαν γυναῖκα the law does not permit any women to enter where the dead may be D. 43. 63.

e. When οὐδείς may be resolved into οὐ and τις, οὐ going with the leading verb. Thus, οὐδὲνός (= οὐ τινός) ἀμαρτεῖν . . . δίκαιός ἐστιν there is nothing he deserves to miss Ant. 4. a. 6 (= he does not deserve to miss anything), ἀξιῶ ἐγὼ ὡς ὁμωμόκατε παραβῆναι οὐδέν I ask that you do not break any of the conditions to which you have sworn X. H. 2. 4. 42 (= οὐκ ἀξιῶ . . . παραβῆναι τι). Cp. S. Ph. 88.

μή AND μή οὐ WITH THE INFINITIVE

REDUNDANT OR SYMPATHETIC NEGATIVE

I. With the Infinitive depending on Verbs of Negative Meaning

2739. Verbs and expressions of negative meaning, such as deny, refuse, hinder, forbid, avoid, often take the infinitive with a redundant μή to confirm the negative idea of the leading verb.

With this compare: "First he denied you had in him no right" (Shakesp. Com. of Er. 4. 2. 7); and "La pluie . . . empêche qu'on ne se promène" (Racine); "Verbot ihnen Jesus, dass sie Niemand sagen sollten" (St. Mark 9. 9).

καταρῆ μή δεδραῖναι τάδε; dost thou deny that thou hast done this? S. Ant. 442, ἀποκωλύσαι τοὺς Ἕλληνας μή εἰλθεῖν to hinder the Greeks from coming X. A. 6. 4. 24, κήρυκα προέπεμψεν αὐτοῖς . . . ἀπερῶντα μή κλειν they sent a herald to forbid them to sail T. 1. 29, εὐλαβήσεσθε μή πολλῶν ἐναντίον λέγειν you will beware of speaking in public P. Eu. 304 a, ἀπέσχοντο μή ἐπὶ τὴν ἑκατέρων γῆν στρατεύσαι they abstained from marching upon each other's territory T. 5. 25.

2740. The redundant μή is used after ἀμφιλέγω and ἀμφισβητῶ dispute, ἀναθίμαι retract an opinion, ἀντιλέγω speak against, ἀπαγορεύω and ἀπαίειν forbid, ἀπιστῶ doubt, ἀπογινώσκω abandon an intention, ἀποκρύπτομαι conceal, ἀπολῶ acquit, ἀποστερῶ deprive, ἀποστρέφω divert, ἀποχειροτονῶ and ἀποψηφίζομαι vote against, ἀρνούμαι (and compounds, and ἀπαρνός εἰμι. ἔαρνός εἰμι) deny, διαμάχομαι refuse, εἴρω and ἐμποδόν εἰμι prevent, ἐναντιοῦμαι oppose, εὐλαβοῦμαι beware of, ἔχω and ἐπέχω prevent, ἐντέχω, ἀπέχομαι, ἐπέχω. κατέχω abstain from, κωλύω (and compounds) hinder, μεταβουλεύομαι alter one's plans, μεταγινώσκω change one's mind. ὀκνῶν παρέχω make hesitate, φέγω (and compounds) escape, avoid, disclaim, φυλάττομαι guard against, etc.

2741. Also after the following verbs: ἀπαυδῶ forbid, ἀπέυχομαι deprecate, ἀποδοκεῖ resolve not, ἀπροσδόκητός εἰμι do not expect, ἀφαιρούμαι prevent, ἀφίημι acquit, δίδωκα and φοβοῦμαι fear, ἑρῶ hinder, καταλείπω lack, μεταδοκεῖ μοι change one's mind, παύω put an end to, ῥέομαι and σέφω save from, ὑπεκτρέχω escape from, ὑφίημαι give up, etc.

2742. When a verb of denying, refusing, hindering, forbidding, etc., is itself negated, either directly or by appearing in a question expecting a negative answer, the infinitive has μή οὐ. Here both the introductory clause and the dependent clause have virtually an affirmative sense.

οὐδεὶς πώποτ' ἀντίειπεν μή οὐ καλῶς ἔχειν αὐτοὺς (τοὺς νόμους) no one ever denied that they (the laws) were excellent D. 24. 24, τίνα οἱ ἀπαρνήσεσθαι μή οὐχὶ ἐπὶ αὐτὸν ἐπιστάσθαι τὰ δίκαια; who, think you, will deny that he too understands what is just? P. G. 461 c (= οὐδεὶς ἀπαρνήσεται). But μή οὐ is not used after οὐ φημι. οὐκ ἐῷ, οὐκ ἐθέλω (2692 a).

a. μή οὐ with the infinitive here, and elsewhere, is used only when the introductory word or words has an actual or a virtual negative. Since, in ἀρνούμαι μή ταῦτα δοῦσαι I deny that I did this, μή confirms the negative idea in ἀρνούμαι, so in οὐκ ἀρνούμαι μὴ οὐ ταῦτα δρᾶσαι I do not deny that I did this, οὐ after the strengthening μὴ confirms the οὐ prefixed to the leading verb. Cp. "Je ne nie pas que je ne sois infiniment flatté" (Voltaire). In the first sentence μὴ repeats the 'negative result' of ἀρνούμαι (single sympathetic negative, untranslatable); in the second sentence οὐ is repeated with the infinitive to sum up the effect of οὐκ ἀρνούμαι (double sympathetic negative; both untranslatable). After verbs negative in meaning (deny, etc.) μὴ and μὴ οὐ cannot be translated in modern English (see 2739). After verbs not negative in character but preceded by a negative, and after virtually negative expressions, μὴ or μὴ οὐ has a negative force (2745, 2746).

b. μὴ οὐ with the infinitive regularly indicates a certain pressure of interest on the part of the person involved.

2743. After deny, speak against, doubt, etc., followed by ὥς or ὅτι, a redundant οὐ is often inserted. Thus, ὥς μὲν οὐκ ἀληθὴ ταῦτ' ἐστίν, οὐχ ἔστι ἀντιλέγειν that this is true you will not be able to deny D. 8. 31.

a. Here the ὥς clause is an internal accusative (accusative of content) after ἀντιλέγειν. Originally the meaning seems to have been 'you will not be able to deny in this way — this is not true' where οὐ is not redundant.

2744. Summary of Constructions after Verbs of Hindering, etc.

After verbs signifying (or suggesting) to hinder and the like, the infinitive admits the article τό or τοῦ (the ablative genitive, 1392). Hence we have a variety of constructions, which are here classed under formal types. The simple infinitive is more closely connected with the leading verb than the infinitive with τό μὴ or τό μὴ οὐ, which often denotes the result (cp. ὥστε μὴ) of the action of the leading verb and is either an accusative of respect or a simple object infinitive. The genitive of the infinitive is very rare with κωλῶ and its compounds.

a. Some scholars regard the infinitive with the negative as an internal accusative, not as a simple object infinitive; and the infinitive without the negative as an external accusative.

1. ἐργεῖ με μὴ γράφειν (the usual construction: examples 2739).

2. ἐργεῖ με γράφειν (less common). Since the redundant μὴ is not obligatory, we have the simple infinitive as object (1989), as εἰ τοῦτό τις ἐργεῖ δρᾶν δεῖνος ἵφ some scruple prevents us from doing this P. Soph. 242 a, ὅν θανάτῳ ἐρρύσασθην whom I saved from death E. Alc. 11, οἱ θεῶν ἡμᾶς ὅρκοι κωλύουσι πολεμίους εἶναι ἀλλήλοις the oaths sworn in the name of the gods prevent our being enemies to each other X. A. 2. 5. 7, and so usually with κωλῶ (cp. 2744. 7).

3. ἐργεῖ με τό μὴ γράφειν (rather common; cp. 1): ἐργον τό μὴ . . . κακουργεῖν they prevented them from doing damage T. 3. 1, οἱοί τε ἦσαν κατέχειν τό μὴ δακρῦειν they were able to restrain their weeping P. Ph. 117 c.

4. ἐργεῖ με τό γράφειν (not uncommon; cp. 2): ἐπέσχον τό εὐθέως τοῖς Ἀθηναίοις ἐπιχειρεῖν they refrained from immediately attacking the Athenians T. 7. 33, ἔστιν τις, ὅς σε κωλύσει τό δρᾶν there is some one who will prevent thee from the deed S. Ph. 1241.

5. ἐργεῖ με τοῦ μὴ γράφειν, with the ablative genitive, 1392 (not so common as 3): πᾶς γάρ ἀσκός δύο ἀνδρας ἔχει τοῦ μὴ καταδύναι for each skin-bag will pre- vent two men from sinking X. A. 3. 5. 11. Other cases are : Hdt. 1. 86, T. 1. 76, X. C. 2. 4. 18, 2. 4. 23, 3. 3. 31, I. 7. 17, 12. 80, 15. 122, P. L. 637 c, 832 b, D. 23. 149, 33. 25. Observe that this idiom does not have the logical meaning 'from not,' which we should expect. Some write τὸ μὴ or μὴ alone.

6. εἴργει με τοῦ γράφειν (not common, and very rare with κωλῶν, as X. A. 1. 6. 2) : τοῦ δὲ δρᾶπετεύειν δεσμοῖς ἀπείργουσι ; do they prevent their slaves from running away by fellers ? X. M. 2. 1. 16, ἐπέσχομεν τοῦ δακρῆναι we desisted from weeping P. Ph. 117 e (cp. 3).

7. οὐκ εἴργει με γράφειν (not very common, but more often with οὐ κωλῶν ; cp. 2) : οὐδὲ διακωλῶνσι ποιεῖν ὃν ἂν ἐπιθῶμῃς ; nor will they prevent you from doing what you desire ? P. Lys. 207 e, τί κωλῶει (= οὐδὲν κ.) καὶ τὰ ἄκρα ἡμῖν κελεύειν Κύρον προκαταλαβεῖν ; what hinders our ordering Cyrus to take also the heights in advance for us ? X. A. 1. 3. 16, ταῦτά τινες οὐκ ἐξαροῦνται πράττειν certain people do not deny that they are doing these things Aes. 3. 250.

8. οὐκ εἴργει με μὴ οὐ γράφειν (the regular construction) : οὐκ ἀμφισβητῶ μὴ οὐχὶ σὲ σοφώτερον ἢ ἐμέ I do not dispute that you are wiser than I P. Hipp. Minor 369 d, οὐδὲν ἐδύνατο ἀντέχειν μὴ οὐ χαρίζεσθαι he was not able to resist granting the favour X. C. 1. 4. 2, τί ἐμποδῶν (= οὐδὲν ἐμποδῶν) μὴ οὐχὶ . . . ὕβριζομένους ἀποθακῆν ; what hinders our being put to death ignominiously ? X. A. 3. 1. 13, τί δῆτα μέλλεις μὴ οὐ γεγωνίσκειν τὸ πᾶν ; why pray dost thou hesitate to declare the whole ? A. Pr. 627.

9. οὐκ εἴργει με τὸ μὴ γράφειν (since occasionally the sympathetic οὐ is not added ; cp. 3) : καὶ φημι δρᾶσαι κοῦκ ἀπαροῦμαι τὸ μὴ (δρᾶσαι) I both assent that I did the deed and do not deny that I did it S. Ant. 443, τίς . . . σοῦ ἀπελείφθῃ τὸ μὴ σοι ἀκολουθεῖν ; who failed to follow you ? X. C. 5. 1. 25.

10. οὐκ εἴργει με τὸ μὴ οὐ γράφειν (very common ; cp. 8) : οὐκ ἐναντιώσομαι τὸ μὴ οὐ γεγωνεῖν πᾶν I will not refuse to declare all A. Pr. 786, τὸ μὲν οὖν μὴ οὐχὶ ἡδέα εἶναι τὰ ἡδέα λόγος οὐδεὶς ἀμφισβητεῖ no argument disputes that sweet things are sweet P. Phil. 13 a.

Very unusual constructions are

11. οὐκ εἴργει τὸ γράφειν (οὐκ ἂν ἀρνοίμην τὸ δρᾶν I will not refuse the deed S. Ph. 118).

12. οὐκ εἴργει μὴ γράφειν (οὐτ' ἠμφεσβήτησε μὴ σχεῖν neither did he deny that he had the money D. 27. 15).

13. οὐκ εἴργει τοῦ μὴ οὐ γράφειν (once only : E. Hipp. 48, where τὸ μὴ οὐ is read by some).

On the negative after ὥστε, see 2759.

II. μὴ οὐ with the Infinitive depending on Negated Verbs

2745. Any infinitive that would take μὴ, takes μὴ οὐ (with a negative force), if dependent on a negated verb. Here οὐ is the sympathetic negative and is untranslatable.

οὐκ ἂν πιθολίμην μὴ οὐ τὰδ' ἐκμαθεῖν σαφῶς I cannot consent not to learn this exactly as it is S. O. T. 1065.

2746. μὴ οὐ with the infinitive thus often follows verbs and other expressions formed by οὐ (or α-privative) with a positive word and denoting what is impossible, improbable, wrong, senseless, and the like.

οὐδεὶς οὐδὲ τ' ἐστὶν ἄλλως λέγων μὴ οὐ καταγέλαστος εἶναι πο οὐκ by speaking otherwise can avoid being ridiculous P. G. 509 a, ὑπέσχον ζητήσειν ὥς οὐχ οὐδὲν σοὶ ὅν μὴ οὐ βοηθεῖν δικαιοσύνην γοῦ promised to make the inquiry on the ground that it would not be right for you not to assist justice P. R. 427 e, πᾶν ἀνόητον ἡγοῦμαι εἶναι σοὶ μὴ οὐ καὶ τοῦτο χαρίζεσθαι I think it is utterly senseless for me not to grant you this favour also P. S. 218 c.

2747. Such expressions are, e.g. οὐχ οὐδὲ τ' εἰμὶ, οὐχ οὐδὲ τ' ἐστὶ, οὐχ ἱκανός εἰμι, οὐκ ἔστι, ἀδύνατός εἰμι, οὐ δίκαιόν ἐστι, οὐχ οὐδὲν ἐστι, οὐ προσδοκῶ ἐστὶ, ἀλογόν ἐστι, οὐκ ἀνεκτόν ἐστι, ἀνοιά ἐστι, and many others.

2748. Some expressions denoting repugnance to the moral sense involve a negative idea, and may have the same construction. Thus, ὥστε πᾶσιν αἰσχροῦν εἶναι μὴ οὐ συσπουδάξεν so that all were ashamed not (i.e. felt it was not right) to cooperate zealously X. A. 2. 3. 11. So with αἰσχρόν ἐστι (= οὐ καλόν ἐστι), δεινόν ἐστι.

2749. Instead of μὴ οὐ we find also μή, τὸ μή, τοῦ μή, τὸ μὴ οὐ (but not τοῦ μὴ οὐ).

a. μή (rarely; cp. 2744. 1): ἔλεγον ὅτι . . . οὐ δύνησιντο μὴ πεῖθεσθαι τοῖς Θεβαίοις they said that they could not help submitting to the Thebans X. H. 6. 1. 1, αἰσχρόν . . . γίγνεται ἐμέ γε μὴ ἐθέλειν it is disgraceful for me at least not to be willing P. G. 468 d.

b. τὸ μή (cp. 2744. 3): ἔφη . . . οὐχ οὐδὲν τ' εἶναι τὸ μὴ ἀποκτεῖναι με he said it was not possible not to condemn me to death P. A. 29 c.

c. τοῦ μή (cp. 2744. 5): ἡ ἀπορίᾳ τοῦ μὴ ἡσυχάζειν the inability to rest T. 2. 49.

d. τὸ μὴ οὐ (cp. 2744. 10): οὐ μέντοι ἔπειθέ γε τὸ μὴ οὐ μεγαλοπράγμων . . . εἶναι he could not, however, persuade them that he was not a man who entertained grand designs X. H. 5. 2. 36, ἀλογον τὸ μὴ οὐ τέμνειν διχῶ it is irrational not to make a two-fold division P. Soph. 219 e.

μὴ οὐ WITH THE PARTICIPLE DEPENDING ON NEGATED VERBS

2750. μὴ οὐ, instead of μή, is sometimes found with the participle after expressions preceded by οὐ or involving a negative, and usually when such expressions denote impossibility or moral repugnance. μὴ οὐ here denotes an exception, and has the force of except, unless (cp. εἰ μή, 2346 a).

οὐκ ἄρα ἐστὶν φίλον τῷ φιλοῦντι οὐδὲν μὴ οὐκ ἀντιφιλοῦν nothing then is beloved by a lover except it love in return P. Lys. 212 d, δυσάληγτος γὰρ ἂν εἴην τοῖανδε μὴ οὐ κατοικτίρων ἔδρᾶν for I should prove hard of heart, did I not pity such a supplication as this S. O. T. 11 (δυσάληγτος = οὐκ οἰκτίρων, μὴ οὐ κατοικτίρων = εἰ μὴ κατοικτίρομαι).

μή AND μή οὐ WITH THE SUBJUNCTIVE AND INDICATIVE

2751. The use of μή and μή οὐ with the subjunctive is different from that with the infinitive.

a. In doubtful assertions (1801-1802) expressing anxiety, suspicion, surmise, μή is used of that which may be true, μή οὐ of that which may not be true.

b. After verbs of fear and caution, where μή means lest, μή οὐ means lest not, that not (2221, 2225).

2752. μή and μή οὐ are used with the indicative in doubtful assertions (1772). In questions with μή οὐ the οὐ belongs to a single word (2651 d).

On ὅπως μή, ὅπως μή οὐ with the future, see 1920, 1921, 2203.

REDUNDANT οὐ WITH πλὴν, ETC.

2753. Redundant οὐ appears after the negative words πλὴν, χωρίς, ἐκτός, ἄνευ except, without, and after πρὶν (and μᾶλλον ἢ usually) preceded by a negative, which may be involved in a question.

οὐν δὲ φαίνεται (ἡ ναὺς) . . . πλέουσα πανταχόσε πλὴν οὐκ εἰς Ἀθήνας but now it seems that the ship is sailing everywhere except to Athens D. 56. 23, πρὶν δ' εὐθεὶς ὁρθῶς εἰδέναι, τί σοι πλέον λυπούμεν γένοιτ' ἄν; before thou knowest the facts, what can sorrow avail thee? E. Hel. 322, εὐ δ' ἴστε ὅτι οὐ περὶ τῶν ἐμῶν ἰδίῳ μᾶλλον τιμωρήσεσθε Πολυκλέᾳ ἢ οὐχ ὑπὲρ ὁμῶν αὐτῶν but be assured that you will punish Polyces rather for your own good than for my private interests D. 50. 66. Cp. "j'irai vous voir avant que vous ne preniez aucune résolution," "le bon Dieu est cent fois meilleur qu'on ne le dit."

2754. οὐ μή, and the compounds of each, are used in emphatic negative predictions and prohibitions.

a. οὐ μή marks strong personal interest on the part of the speaker. In its original use it may have belonged to colloquial speech and as such we find it in comedy; but in tragedy it is often used in stately language. οὐ μή is rare in the orators.

2755. (I) In negative predictions to denote a strong denial.

a. With the (first or second) aorist subjunctive, less often with the present subjunctive (1804). Thus, ἢν νικήσωμεν, οὐ μή ποτε βυῖν Πελοποννήσιοι ἐσβάλωσι ἐς τὴν χώραν if we are victorious, the Peloponnesians will never invade your territory T. 4. 95, οὐδεὶς μηκέτι μείνη τῶν πολεμίων not one of the enemy will stand his ground any longer X. A. 4. 8. 13, ὅτι μή φύγητε you shall not escape (a threat) E. Hec. 1039, οὐ μή σοι δύνηται ἀπένχεαι οἱ πολέμοι your enemies will not be able to withstand you X. Hl. 11. 15.

b. With the future indicative (first and third person). Thus, οὐ σοι μὴ μεψομαι ποτε never will I follow thee S. El. 1052, οὐ μὴ δυρήσεται Κύρος εἰς οὐρανόν Cyrus will not be able to find X. C. 8. 1. 5. In indirect discourse, the future optative or infinitive; as ἐθέσπισεν . . . ὡς οὐ μὴ ποτε πέρσουσιν he prophesied that they never would destroy S. Ph. 611, εἶπεν . . . οὐ μὴ ποτε εὖ πράξειν πόλιν he declared that the city would never prosper E. Phoen. 1590.

2756. (II) In strong prohibitions (cp. 1919).

a. With the future indicative (second person singular). Thus, οὐ μὴ καταβῇσιν don't come down Ar. Vesp. 397.

b. With the aorist subjunctive rarely (1800 π.). Thus οὐ μὴ ληρήσῃς don't talk twaddle Ar. Nub. 367. Many editors change the aorist subjunctive to the future indicative.

2757. There are two cases in which οὐ μὴ is not used in conjunction, but where each negative has its own verb.

a. A positive command in the future indicative (second person) may be joined by ἀλλά or δέ to a prohibition introduced by οὐ μὴ. Thus, οὐ μὴ λαλήσεις ἀλλ' ἀκολουθήσεις ἐμοί don't prattle but follow me Ar. Nub. 505, οὐ μὴ δυσμενῆς ἔσει τοῖς φίλοις, παύσει δὲ θυμοῦ do not be angry with thy friends, but cease thy wrath E. Med. 1151. (In E. Bacch. 343 δέ with the future is followed by μηδέ with the future.) In such sentences the force of οὐ continues into the ἀλλά or δέ clause. Such sentences are generally printed as questions.

b. A positive command with οὐ and the future indicative (second person) may be followed by the future in a prohibition introduced by μηδέ or καὶ μὴ. Here the clause with οὐ has the form of a question expecting the answer yes, while the whole sentence has the form of a question expecting the answer no. Thus, οὐ σίγ' ἀνέξει μηδὲ δειλῶν ἀρεῖ; wilt thou not keep silence and not win for thyself the reputation of cowardice? (= keep silence and do not get the reputation of being a coward) S. Aj. 75, οὐκοῦν καλεῖς αὐτὸν καὶ μὴ ἀφήσεις; will you not call him and (will you not) send him away? (= call him and don't send him away) P. S. 175 a. Here οὐ is to be taken also with the following clause. Some scholars make the question in the second clause independent of οὐ.

2758. The origin of the use of οὐ μὴ is obscure and disputed. See Kvičala Zeitschrift für österreichische Gymnasien 1856, p. 755; Goodwin Moods and Tenses 389; Gildersleeve American Journal of Philology 3. 202, 23. 137; Jebb on Sophocles Ajax 75 (appendix); Chambers Classical Review 10. 150, 11. 109; Wharton o.c. 10. 239; Whitelaw o.c. 10. 239, 16. 277; Sonnenschein o.c. 16. 165; Kühner-Gerth Grammatik der griechischen Sprache 2. § 514. 8.

NEGATIVES WITH ὥστε AND THE INFINITIVE

a. μὴ in ordinary result clauses including such as express an intended result; as πᾶν ποιῶσιν ὥστε δίκην μὴ διδόναι μηδ' ἀπαλλάττεσθαι τοῦ μεγίστου κακοῦ they use every effort (so as) to avoid being punished and released from the greatest of evils P. G. 479 c.

b. μὴ sympathetic, after verbs of hindering; as ἀπεχόμενοι ὥστε μὴ ἐμβάλλειν refraining from attacking T. 1. 49 (cp. 2744. 1).

second limits a particular part. Thus, οὐδὲ γὰρ οὐδὲ τοῦτο ἐψεύσατο for he did not deceive me even in this X. C. 7. 2. 20 (cp. neque enim . . . ne . . . quidem). Cp. E 22, θ 32. So οὐδὲ μὲν οὐδὲ B 703, κ 551.

2762. The negative of one clause is often repeated in the same or in another clause either for emphasis or because of lax structure.

ὅς οὐκ, ἐπειδὴ τῷδε ἐβούλεσας μὲρον, δρᾶσαι τὸδ' ἔργον οὐκ ἔλῃς who did not, after you had planned his death, dare to do this deed A. Ag. 1634. The repetition is rhetorical when the negative is repeated directly, as οὐ σμικρὸς, οὐχ, ἀγὼν ὅδε not trifling, is this struggle, no in truth S. O. C. 587.

SOME NEGATIVE PHRASES

2763. μὴ ὅτι, οὐχ ὅπως, rarely οὐχ ὅτι and μὴ ὅπως, not to speak of, to say nothing of, not only, not only not, so far from (Lat. tantum aberat ut) are idiomatic phrases probably due to an (early, and later often unconscious) ellipsis of a verb of saying. Thus, οὐ λέγω (or οὐκ ἐρῶ) ὅπως, μὴ εἰπω (λέγε or εἶπες) ὅτι I do (will) not say that, let me not say that, do not say that. μὴ ὅτι, etc. are often used where these verbal forms cannot be supplied by reason of the form of the sentence.

a. οὐχ ὅτι (οὐχ ὅπως, μὴ ὅτι) . . . ἀλλὰ (καί) not only . . . but (also). Thus, οὐχ ὅτι μόνος ὁ Κρίτων ἐν ἡσυχίᾳ ἦν, ἀλλὰ καὶ οἱ φίλοι αὐτοῦ not only was Crito in peace, but his friends also X. M. 2. 9. 8, οἶμαι ἂν μὴ ὅτι ἰδιώτην τινά, ἀλλὰ τὸν μέγαν βασιλέα εὐρεῖν κτλ. I think that not merely any private person but the Great King would find, etc. P. A. 40 d.

b. οὐχ ὅπως (rarely οὐχ ὅτι) or μὴ ὅτι . . . ἀλλὰ (καί) is shown by the context to mean not only not (so far from) . . . but (also). Thus, οὐχ ὅπως χάριν αὐτοῖς ἔχεις, ἀλλὰ μισθῶσας αὐτὸν κατὰ τούτῳ πολιτεύει not only are you not grateful to them, but you let yourself out for hire as a public man to their prejudice D. 18. 131; μὴ ὅτι P. R. 581 e.

c. οὐχ ὅπως (rarely οὐχ ὅτι) or μὴ ὅτι (μὴ ὅπως) . . . ἀλλ' οὐδέ (μὴδ) or ἀλλ' οὐ (μὴ) is shown by the context to mean not only not (so far from) . . . but not even. Thus, οὐχ ὅπως τῆς κοινῆς ἐλευθερίας μετέχομεν, ἀλλ' οὐδὲ δουλείας μετρίως τυχεῖν ἡξιώθημεν not only do we not share in the general freedom, but we were not thought worthy of obtaining even a moderate servitude I. 14. 5, νομίζει αὐτὸν μὴ ὅτι Πλαταιᾶ εἶναι, ἀλλ' οὐδ' ἐλεύθερον he considers himself not only not a Plataean but not even a free man L. 23. 12.

N. When a negative precedes, the meaning may be not only . . . but not even; as τὴν οἰκίαν . . . οὐδενὶ ἂν μὴ ὅτι προῖκα δοίης, ἀλλ' οὐδ' ἐλάττω τῆς ἀξίας λαβὼν you would offer your house to no one not only gratis, but not even for a lower price than it is worth X. M. 1. 6. 11.

d. μὴ ὅτι (less often οὐχ ὅπως) in the second of two balanced clauses, after an expressed or implied negative in the first clause, means much less (Lat. paedum); as οὐδὲ πλεῖν, μὴ ὅτι ἀναιρεῖσθαι τοὺς ἀνδρας δυνατὸν ἦν it was not possible even to sail, much less to rescue the man (i.e. to say nothing of rescuing) X. H. 2. 3. 35. The preceding negative may be contained in a question or be otherwise implicit. Thus, δοκεῖ σοι ῥάδιον εἶναι οὕτω ταχὺ μαθεῖν . . . ὅτι οὐ πρᾶγμα, μὴ ὅτι τοσοῦτον κτλ.; does it appear to you to be easy to learn so quickly any subject whatever, much less a subject of so great importance? P. Crat. 427 e; cp. D. 54. 17.

The rare οὐχ ὅτι in the second member means though (P. Pr. 336 d).

e. μή τί γε, in the orators instead of μή ὅτι, after a negative means much less, after a positive much more. Cp. D. 19. 137, 8. 27.

2764. οὐ μόνον . . . ἀλλὰ καὶ (negative ἀλλ' οὐδέ) not only . . . but also (Lat. non solum . . . sed etiam). καὶ may be omitted: usually when the ἀλλὰ clause either includes the first clause or is strongly contrasted with it. Thus, ἡμῖν οὐ μόνον φαῦλον, ἀλλὰ τὸ αὐτὸ θέρος τε καὶ χειμῶνος you put on a cloak that is not merely wretched but is the same both summer and winter alike X. M. 1. 6. 2; cp. D. 18. 26.

2765. ὅτι μή, ὅσον μή except, unless. ὅτι (sometimes written ὅτι) μή, and ὅσον μή, ὅσα μή are used, without any verb, to limit a preceding assertion (cp. εἰ μή 2346 a).

οὐ γὰρ ἦν κρήνη, ὅτι μή μία ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ ἀκροπόλει for there was no spring, except one on the acropolis itself T. 4. 26, πελθούσα δὲ ἐκ τούτων μὲν ἀναχωρεῖν, ὅσον μή ἀνάγκη αὐτοῖς χρῆσθαι philosophy persuading the soul to withdraw from them, except so far as she has to make use of them P. Ph. 83 a, τῆς γῆς ἐκράτουν ὅσα μὴ προϊόντες πολὺ ἐκ τῶν δπλων they were masters of the country, so far as they could be without advancing far from their camp T. 1. 111 (ὅσα κρατεῖν ἐδύναντο).

2766. μόνον οὐ (lit. only not), ὅσον οὐ (of time) almost, all but (Lat. tantum non). Thus, μόνον οὐ διεσπάρσθη I was almost torn in pieces D. 5. 5, ἐνόμιζε . . . ὅσον οὐκ ἤδη ἔχειν τὴν πόλιν he thought that he already was all but in possession of the city X. H. 6. 2. 16.

2767. οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ, οὐ μέντοι ἀλλὰ nevertheless, notwithstanding, cp. Lat. uerum tamen; the colloquial οὐ γὰρ ἀλλὰ has about the force of nay, for indeed, cp. Lat. non enim . . . sed. These elliptical phrases require a verb or some other word to be supplied from the context or general run of the thought; but they often resist strict analysis since the contrasted idea is too vague to be supplied. Thus, ὁ ἵππος . . . μικροῦ κἀκείνον ἔξετραχλίσεν · οὐ μὴν (ἔξετραχλίσεν) ἀλλὰ ἐτέμεινεν ὁ Κύρος the horse was within a little of throwing him also over its head; (not that it did throw him however, but =) nevertheless Cyrus kept his seat X. C. 1. 4. 8, δεῖ μὲν οὖν οἱ θ' ἡμέτεροι πρόγονοι καὶ Λακεδαιμόνιοι φιλοτιμίαι πρὸς ἀλλήλους εἶχεν, οὐ μὴν (scil. περὶ κακῶν) ἀλλὰ περὶ καλλίστων . . . ἐφιλονέησαν while our ancestors and the Lacedaemonians were continually jealous of each other (not indeed about base objects but =) nevertheless they were rivals about the noblest objects I. 4. 85, καὶ γὰρ ἂν δόξειεν οὕτω γ' εἶναι ἄλογον · οὐ μέντοι (scil. ἄλογον εἶναι) ἀλλ' ἴσως ἔχει τινα λόγον and in fact put thus it would seem to be unreasonable; (it is not however unreasonable but =) nevertheless perhaps it has some sense P. Ph. 62 b. μή σκώπτέ μ', ἀδελφε', οὐ γὰρ ἀλλ' ἔχω κακῶς don't mock me, brother; nay, for really I am in a bad way Ar. Ran. 58 (lit. for it is not so but, i.e. it is not a case for mocking, but). In these phrases ἀλλὰ seems to show traces of its original force of otherwise (2775).

2768. οὐ μὴν οὐδέ (yet) again, not however that corresponds to the positive οὐ μὴν (μέντοι) ἀλλὰ. Thus, οὐ μὴν οὐδέ βαρβάρους εἶρηκε nor again has he spoken of barbarians T. 1. 3, οὐ μὰν οὐδ' Ἀχιλλεύς no, nor even Achilles B 703, οὐ μὴν οὐδέ ἀναισθήτως αὐτοὺς κελεύω τοὺς . . . ξυμμάχους ἡμῶν εἶν βλάπτειν not however that I bid you tamely permit them to injure our allies T. 1. 82.

PARTICLES

2769. Under the head of particles are included sentence adverbs (1094) and conjunctions. Many sentence adverbs remained such, some sank to mere enclitics, others became pure conjunctions, while still others fluctuated in function, being now adverbial, now conjunctive, as καί even and and, οὐδέ not even and nor, γάρ in fact and for, πρίν sooner and until or before.

2770. Conjunctions are either coördinating or subordinating. The coördinating conjunctions with their several varieties are given in 2163. The subordinating conjunctions are Causal: ὅτι, διότι, διόπερ, ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδή, ὅτε, ὁπότε, ὥς (2240).

Comparative: ὥς, ὥσπερ, καθάπερ, ὅπως, ἢ, ὅπη, ἢπερ (2463; cp. 2481).

Concessive: καὶ εἰ (κεῖ), καὶ ἐάν (κἄν), εἰ καί, ἐάν καί (2369).

Conditional: εἰ, ἐάν, ἢν, ἄν (2283).

Consecutive: ὥστε, ὥς (2250).

Declarative: ὅτι, διότι, οὖνεκα, ὁθούνεκα, ὥς (2578).

Final: ἵνα, ὅπως, ὥς, μή, etc. (2193; cp. 2209, 2221).

Local: οὗ, ὅπου, οἷ, ὅποι, ἐνθα, ὅθεν, ὅπόθεν, ἢ, ὅπη, etc. (2498).

Temporal: ὅτε, ὁπότε, ἡνίκα, ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδή, ὥς, μέχρι, ἔστε, ἕως, πρίν, etc. (2383).

Some conjunctions belong to more than one class.

2771. Greek has an extraordinary number of sentence adverbs (or particles in the narrow sense) having a logical or emotional (rhetorical) value. Either alone or in combination these sentence adverbs give a distinctness to the relations between ideas which is foreign to other languages, and often resist translation by separate words, which in English are frequently over emphatic and cumbersome in comparison to the light and delicate nature of the Greek originals (e.g. ἄρα, γέ, τοί). The force of such words is frequently best rendered by pause, stress, or alterations of pitch. To catch the subtle and elusive meaning of these often apparently insignificant elements of speech challenges the utmost vigilance and skill of the student.

2772. The particles show different degrees of independence as regards their position. Many are completely independent and may occupy any place in the sentence; some may occur only at the beginning (prepositive particles, as ἀρά); others find their place only after one or more words at the beginning (postpositive particles, as γάρ, δέ); and some are attached closely to a preceding word or even form compounds with that word wherever it may occur (γέ, τέ).

2773. Some verbal forms have virtually become particles, e.g. ἄγε used with the second person plural, ἄρ᾽ used of several persons, parenthetic οἶμαι, δῆλοι ὅτι, εὖ οἷδ' ὅτι, εὖ ἴσθ' ὅτι (2585).

2774. As regards their meaning, particles may be arranged in classes, e.g. adversative, affirmative, asseverative, concessive, confirmative, conjunctive, infer ential, intensive, interrogative, limitative, negative, etc. These classes cannot always be sharply distinguished: some particles fall under two or more classes. Many particles, which serve to set forth the logical relation between clauses, had originally only an intensive or confirmatory force that was confined to their own clause. The following sections deal only with the commoner uses of the most noteworthy particles.

ἀλλά

2775. ἀλλά, a strongly adversative conjunction (stronger than δε), connects sentences and clauses, and corresponds pretty closely to but; at times ἀλλά need not or cannot be translated (2781 b). In form (but with changed accent) ἀλλά was originally the same word as the accusative neuter plural ἄλλα other things used adverbially = on the other hand. ἀλλά marks opposition, contrast, protest, difference, objection, or limitation; and is thus used both where one notion entirely excludes another and where two notions are not mutually exclusive. ἀλλά is often freely repeated in successive clauses.

2776. The Antecedent Statement is Negative. — In its simplest use ἀλλά introduces a positive statement after a negative clause. Thus, οὐκ ἀνδρὸς δεῖαι πίστις, ἀλλ' ὅρκων ἀνὴρ his oath is not the warrant of a man, but the man is warrant of his oath A. fr. 394, οὐ γὰρ κραυγῇ ἀλλὰ σιγῇ ὡς ἀνυστὸν . . . προσῆσαν for they came on, not with shouts, but with as little noise as possible X. A. 1. 8. 11.

a. After a question implying a negative answer or a question to be refuted ἀλλά may have the force of (nay) rather, on the contrary. Thus, τί δεῖ σε ἵνα . . . ; ἀλλὰ ἄλλους πέμψον what's the need of your going? Nay rather send others X. A. 4. 6. 19. Here ἀλλ' οὐ (μή) has the force of and not rather (2781 b); as τί δεῖ ἐμβαλεῖν λόγον περὶ τούτου, ἀλλ' οὐχὶ προειπεῖν ὅτι οὕτω ποιήσεις; why is it necessary to propose a discussion about this and not rather announce that you will have it so? X. C. 2. 2. 19.

2777. After a negative clause, or a question implying a negative answer, ἀλλά, or more commonly the colloquial ἀλλ' ἢ, may mean except, the combination being equivalent either to ἀλλά or to ἢ. In the preceding clause a form of ἄλλος or ἕτερος is often expressed. Thus, ἔπαυσε . . . νιν οὕτως ἀλλ' ἐγὼ no one smote him except myself S. O. T. 1331, οὐδὲν ἐθέλοντες ἐπαινεῖν ἀλλ' ἢ τὸν πλοῦτον wishing to praise nothing except wealth P. R. 330 c (here ἀλλ' ἢ is detached from οὐδὲν), τίνα ἄλλον ἔχουσι λόγον βοηθοῦντες ἐμοὶ ἀλλ' ἢ τὸν ὀρθόν κτλ.; what other reason have they for supporting me except the true reason, etc.? P. A. 34 b.

a. Distinguish the use of ἀλλ' ἢ except (= εἰ μή) in τὸ γοῦν σημεῖον ἕτερον φαίνεται, ἀλλ' ἢ οὐ καθορῶ the device at any rate appears different, unless I can't see Ar. Eq. 953.

2778. οὐδὲν ἀλλ' ἢ nothing but is also used elliptically, apparently by an original suppression of a form of ποῖω or γίγνομαι; in effect, however, the phrase has acquired a purely adverbial sense (merely). Thus, διεφθάρμεθα . . . ὅτ' ἀδύνατον οὐδὲν ἀλλ' ἢ φενακίζειν δυναμένων we have been ruined by men who are able (to do) nothing except deceive (i.e. able merely to deceive) I. 8. 36.

a. With the above use compare οὐδὲν ἄλλο ἢ nothing else than, used without, and with, ellipse; as οἱ μύριοι ἱππεῖς οὐδὲν ἄλλο ἢ μύριοι εἰσιν ἄνθρωποι your ten thousand horse are nothing more (else) than ten thousand men X. A. 3. 2. 18, οὐδὲν ἄλλο ἢ πόλιν τὴν ἑαυτοῦ ἀπολείπων ἕκαστος doing nothing else than each abandoning his own city T. 2. 16. So also οὐδὲν ἄλλο . . . ἢ D. 8. 27. Cp. ἄλλο οὐδὲν ἢ, as in ἄλλο οὐδὲν ἢ ἐκ γῆς ἐναυμάχουν they did nothing else than conduct (= they practically conducted) a sea-flight from the land T. 4. 14. Cp. 946, 2652.

2779. The origin of ἀλλ' ἢ is disputed, some scholars regarding ἀλλ' as ἀλλά (originally ἀλλα, 2775), while others derive ἀλλ' directly from ἄλλο, which is thought to have lost its force and consequently its accent. In some passages the Mss. do not distinguish between ἀλλ' and ἄλλ'; and ἀλλ' ἢ and ἄλλο ἢ differ only slightly in meaning. In some of the above cases ἀλλ' has an adjectival force, in some it hovers between an adjective and a conjunction, and in others it clearly has become a conjunction.

2781. The Antecedent Statement is Affirmative. — ἀλλά is sometimes found after an affirmative statement.

a. The antecedent clause often has a concessive force, and frequently takes μέν (2900). Thus, τὰ μὲν καθ' ἡμῶς ἔμοιγε δοκεῖ καλῶς εἶχειν· ἀλλὰ τὰ πλάγια λυπεῖ με the part where we are seems to me to be well disposed, but the wings cause me uneasiness X. C. 7. 1. 16.

b. ἀλλ' οὐ (μή) after an affirmative statement often has the force of and not, and not rather, instead of (sometimes with a touch of irony). Thus, ἐκείθεν ἀλλ' οὐκ ἐνθάδε ἠρπάσθη she was carried off from there and not (or simply not) from here P. Phae. 229 d, ἐμοὶ ὀργίζονται ἀλλ' οὐχ αὐτοῖς they are angry with me instead of (or and not rather with) themselves P. A. 23 c. In such cases καὶ οὐ (μή) would not repudiate the opposition.

2782. ἀλλά in Apodosis. — After a concession or a condition expressed or implied, the apodosis may be emphatically introduced by ἀλλά, ἀλλά . . . γε, ἀλλ' οὖν γε still, yet, at least. Thus, εἰ σῶμα δοῦλον, ἀλλ' ὁ νοῦς ἐλεύθερος if the body is enslaved, the mind at least is free A. fr. 854, εἰ δ' ἐν πάσι τοῖσι τοῖσι ἠττῶμεθα, ἀλλὰ τό γέ τοι πῦρ κρεῖττον καρποῦ ἐστίν but if we should be baffled in all these points, still, as they say, fire is stronger than the fruit of the field X. A. 2. 5. 19. So also in clauses other than conditional; as ἀλλ' ἐπεὶ . . . πατέρα τόνδ' ἐμὸν οὐκ ἀνέτλατ', . . . ἀλλ' ἐμὲ . . . οἰκτίρατε but since ye did not bear with my father, pity me at least S. O. C. 241.

2783. ἀλλά attached to Single Words. — ἀλλά, attached to a single word in an adverbial sense, may stand in the interior of the sentence (not in Hom.). Thus, ἀλλά νῦν now at least, as in τί δῆτ' ἂν ἀλλά νῦν σ' ἔτ' ὠφελοίμ' ἐγώ; how pray, can I serve thee even now? S. Ant. 552. So with γέ, as εἰς οὖν ἀλλά νῦν γ' ἐπελθῆσθε if therefore you still desire even now D. 3. 33 (and often in D.). Here ἀλλά νῦν implies εἰ μὴ πρότερον. ἀλλά sometimes apparently implies εἰ μὴ τι ἄλλο or ei mē ἄλλοις, etc., as λέγ' ἀλλὰ τοῦτο say this at least (say but this) S. El. 415.

2784. ἀλλά opposing Whole Sentences. — ἀλλά well, well but, nay but, however is often used, especially at the beginning of a speech, in opposition either to something said (or supposed to be meant) by another, or to a latent feeling in the mind of the writer or speaker himself. Thus, ἀλλὰ πρῶτον μὲν μνησθήσομαι . . . ὁ τελευταῖον κατ' ἐμοῦ εἶπε well, I will first allude to the charge against me which he mentioned last X. H. 2. 3. 35, ἀλλ' ὄφελε μὲν Κύρος ζῆν· ἐπεὶ δὲ τετελεύτηκεν κτλ. well, I would that Cyrus were alive; but since he is dead, etc. X. A. 2. 1. 4. Often of remonstrance or protest, as ἀλλ' ἀμήχανον nay, it is impossible E. El. 529. ἀλλά is also especially common when a previous train of thought or remark is impatiently interrupted, as ἀλλὰ τὰυτα μὲν τί δέῃ λέγειν; but what is the need of recounting this? S. Ph. 11. Similarly in

a. Replies (often in quick, abrupt, or decisive answers): ἤρετο δ' τι εἴη τὸ σὺν-θημα· ὁ δ' ἀπεκρίνατο· Ζεὺς σωτήρ καὶ νίκη· ὁ δὲ Κύρος ἀκούσας Ἀλλὰ δέχομαι τε, ἔφη, καὶ τοῦτο ἔστω he asked what the watchword was; and he replied: "Zeus the saviour and Victory;" and Cyrus, on hearing this, said, "Well, I accept it and so let it be" X. A. 1. 8. 17.

b. Assent, with an adversative sense implied (cp. oh, well): ἀλλ' εἰ δοκεῖ, χωρῶμεν well, if it pleases thee, let us be going S. Ph. 645.

c. Appeals, exhortations, proposals, and commands: ἀλλ' ἴωμεν but let us go P. Pr. 311 a, ἀλλ' ἐμοὶ πείθου καὶ μὴ ἄλλως ποιεῖν pay, take my advice and don't refuse P. Cr. 45 a. The tone here is often impatient.

d. Wishes and imprecations: ἀλλ' εὖτυχοίης well, my blessings on thee! S. O. T. 1478.

e. Questions, to mark surprise: πῶς εἶπας; ἀλλ' ἦ καὶ σοφὸς λέληθας ὢν; what dost thou mean? can it really be that thou art subtle too and without my knowing it? E. Alc. 58.

2785. ἀλλά is often used when a speaker introduces a supposed objection (either in his own name or in that of his opponent), and immediately answers it; as ἀλλὰ νῆ τὸν Δία ἐκεῖν' ἂν ἴσως εἴποι πρὸς τὰυτα κτλ. but, by Zeus, he might perhaps say in reply to this, etc. D. 20. 3. ἀλλά may here put the supposed objection and also give the answer. Thus, τί γὰρ καὶ βουλόμενοι μετεπέμψασθ' ἂν αὐτοὺς ἐν τούτῳ τῷ καιρῷ; ἐπὶ τὴν εἰρήνην; ἀλλ' ὑπῆρχεν ἀπᾶσιν· ἔλλ' ἐπὶ τὸν πόλεμον; ἀλλ' αὐτοὶ περὶ τῆς εἰρήνης ἐβουλευέσθε for with what possible desire would you have been sending them at that juncture? With a view to peace? Why (but) peace was open to all. With a view to war? Why (but) you were yourselves deliberating about peace D. 18. 24. Cp. French mais introducing a reply to a question.

a. So in rapid dialogue objections may take the form of questions, in which each ἀλλά after the first may be rendered by or. Cp. 2654.

2786. ἀλλά with other Particles. — For example:

ἀλλὰ γάρ 2816; on οὐ γάρ ἀλλά, see 2767.

ἀλλὰ . . . γε but at any rate.

ἀλλὰ γέ τοι (τοί γε) yet at least, yet be sure.

ἀλλὰ ἔθ' well then.

ἀλλ' ἤ; why how? can it really be that? what, can it be true? Here ἀλλά marks surprise, while ἤ asks the question.

ἀλλὰ μέντοι nay, but; well, however; yet truly. On οὐ μέντοι ἀλλά, see 2787.

ἀλλὰ μήν nay, but; but then; but surely. Often to introduce an objection, to reject an alternative, often merely to introduce a new idea or to resume an interrupted thought. On οὐ μήν ἀλλά, see 2787.

ἀλλ' ὅμως but still. Often without a verb, to introduce the reply to an objection.

ἀλλ' οὐδέ is sometimes used elliptically, as in ὑπὲρ . . . ὃν οὗτος ἀπήγγειλε πρὸς ὑμᾶς ἀλλ' οὐδὲ μικρόν nay, there is not even ever so little (not only not a great deal but not even a little) concerning which he reported to you D. 19.87. ἀλλ' οὐδέ μὲν δὴ is often used to reject an alternative.

ἀλλ' οὕν (γε) but then, well then, well at any rate; stronger than δ' οὕν.

ἄρα

2787. ἄρα (Epic ἄρα and enclitic ἄρ before a consonant, ῥά usually after monosyllables; all postpositive), a connective, confirmatory, and inferential particle marking the immediate connection and succession of events and thoughts; the natural, direct, and expected consequence of a previous statement of the existing situation, or of the realization of experience of some sort; and agreement of various kinds, as between assertion and reality, cause and result, premise and conclusion, explanation and what was to be explained.

a. ἄρα marks a consequence drawn from the connection of thought, and expresses impression or feeling; the stronger οὕν marks a consequence drawn from facts (a positive conclusion).

2788. The etymology of ἄρα, and hence its original meaning, is obscure. Some derive it from the root ἀρ, seen in ἀρ-ἀρ-ἰσκω fit, join, ἀρι just; and thus regard the proper sense as fittingly, accordingly. Others think the earliest meaning was truly, forsooth and connect ἄρα with a lost adj. ἀρίς, surviving in ἀρι-στος, ἀρι-γυνος. On this interpretation ἄρα would originally assert the truth of its own clause. ἄρα is found also in ἄρα and γάρ.

2789. ἄρα is used in Homer much more freely than in Attic, and often so as to defy exact translation. In general ἄρα in Epic marks immediate connection and succession, a natural consequence of something already said or done; gives an explanation of an antecedent statement; or is used in recapitulations and transitions. Thus, ἀτὰρ ἐπεὶ ῥ' ἤγερεν . . . , βῆ ῥ' ἱμεν εἰς ἀγορὴν but when they were collected, then he started to go to the assembly β θ, ὡς ἔφαθ', οἱ δ' ἄρα πάντες ἀκὴν ἐγένοντο σιωπῇ thus he spake, and all accordingly became hushed in silence H 92, σίτον δὲ σφιν ἔειπε Μεσαυλίος, ὃν ῥα συβώτης αὐτὸς ἐκτήσατο and Mesaulius distributed food to them, a slave whom (and this was the reason for his so doing) the swineherd had acquired ξ 449, ὡς ἄρ' ἐφώρῃσεν καὶ ἀπὸ τοῦ τόξου ἔθηκεν thus then he spake and put the bow from him φ 163. So also in the later language; as ἐρωτήσης δὲ αὐτὸν τῆς μητρὸς . . . ἀπεκρίνατο ἄρα ὁ Κῦρος on his mother's questioning him Cyrus naturally replied X. C. 1.3.2.

2790. In Attic, and in part also in Homer, ἄρα marks an inference (conse- quently, so then, therefore, it seems, after all, of course, etc.). Thus, εἰπὼν αὐτῷ δτι βασιλεὺς οὐ μαχεῖται δέκα ἡμερῶν· Κύρος δ' εἶπεν· οὐκ ἄρα ἐτι μαχεῖται, εἰ ἐν ταῦταις οὐ μαχεῖται ταῖς ἡμέραις the seer said to him that the king would not fight within ten days. And Cyrus answered: "Well then if he does not fight within that time he will not fight at all" X. A. 1. 7. 18, οὐδὲς ποτοῦ ἐπιθυμῶ, ἀλλὰ χρηστοῦ ποτοῦ . . . , πάντες γὰρ ἄρα τῶν ἀγαθῶν ἐπιθυμοῦσιν no one desires drink merely, but good drink, since of course everybody desires good things P. R. 438 a.

2791. ἄρα is often used of direct logical conclusions in conducting an argument (especially in Plato); as τί οὖν περὶ ψυχῆς λέγομεν; ὁρᾶτον ἢ ἀόρατον εἶναι; οὐχ ὁρᾶτον. διδὲς ἄρα; val. ὁμοίωτερον ἄρα ψυχῇ σώματός ἐστιν τῷ αἰδεῖ, τὸ δὲ τῷ ὁρᾶτῷ what then do we say about the soul? That it is visible or invisible? Not visible. Then it is invisible? Yes. Consequently soul has a closer resemblance to the invisible than the body, and the latter to the visible P. Ph. 79 b.

2792. In the argument ex contrario set forth in clauses with μέν and δέ, ἄρα, usually meaning in sooth, is commonly placed with the second clause (P. Ph. 80 d, R. 445 b), occasionally with the first (P. Cr. 46 d, L. 840 b), or with both (P. Ph. 97 a, R. 600 c).

2793. In direct questions ἄρα adds liveliness, while at the same time it marks connection or consequence. So τίς ἄρα who then? πῶς ἄρα how then? In questions of anxiety ἄρα marks increase of feeling. Thus, τί μ' ἄρα τί μ' ὀλέεις; why then, why dost thou destroy me? S. Ant. 1285.

2794. ἄρα occurs in questions in which the admissibility of one opinion is inferred from the rejection of another. Thus, εἰπέ μοι, ἔφη, ὦ Θεοδότῃ, ἔστι σοι ἀγρός; οὐκ ἔμοιγ', ἔφη. ἀλλ' ἄρα οἰκίᾳ προσόδους ἔχουσα; 'tell me,' said he, 'Theodote, have you an estate?' 'Not I indeed,' said she. 'But perhaps then you have a house that brings in an income?' X. M. 3. 11. 4. Such questions are often ironical (P. A. 25 a).

2795. ἄρα is often used to indicate new perception, or surprise genuine or affected; as when the truth is just realized after a previous erroneous opinion and one finds oneself undeceived either agreeably or disagreeably. So, especially with the imperfect of εἶναι, ἄρα means after all, it seems, why then, so then, sure enough. See 1902.

2796. εἰ ἄρα, εἴν ἄρα if really, if after all, if indeed, are commonly used of that which is improbable or undesirable; εἰ (εἴν) μὴ ἄρα unless perhaps (nisi forte, nisi vero) is often ironical. Thus, εἰ ἄρα γέγονεν ὡς οὐτοί εἰλεγον if indeed it did take place as they said D. 56. 28, καὶ μὴν εἰ καὶ τοῦτ' ἄρα δεῖ μ' εἰπεῖν and yet if I must after all say this too 18. 317, πολλὰς τοῖς 'Αθηναίοις παρῆναι, ἦν ἄρα ποτὲ κατὰ γῆν βιασθῶσι . . . ταῖς ναυσὶ πρὸς ἅπαντας ἀνθίστασθαι he often counselled the Athenians, if after all they should ever be hard pressed on the land side, to fight the world with their fleet T. 1. 98, πῶς ἂν οὖν ὁ τοιοῦτος ἀνὴρ διαφθείροι τοὺς νέους; εἰ μὴ ἄρα ἡ τῆς ἀρετῆς ἐπιμέλεια διαφθορά ἐστιν how then could such a man corrupt the young? unless perchance the study of virtue is corruption X. M. 1. 2. 8.

2797. εἰ (εἴν) ἄρα is common after σκοπεῖν, etc. See 2672.

2798. ἄρα is often used, especially with ὡς, to introduce the statement of others which, in the view of the speaker, is (usually) to be rejected. Thus, ἀκούω αὐτὸν εἶπειν ὡς ἄρ' ἐγὼ πάντων ὧν κατηγορῶ κοινωνὸς γέγονα I hear that he is going to say that I forsooth (or if you please) have been a partner in all that I denounced D. 19. 202.

2799 Attic has, in bimembral clauses, εἴτε ἄρα . . . εἴτε or εἴτε . . . εἴτε ἄρα, as εἴτ' ἀληθὲς εἴτ' ἄρ' οὐδ' ἄτην whether truly or after all, it may be, falsely S. Ph. 345. Hom. has also a similar use with οὔτε . . . οὔτε, and ἦ . . . ἦ. Hom. has ἄρα . . . ἄρα (Ψ 887).

ἄρα

2800. ἄρα, a confirmative particle from ἦ + ἄρα, is used in lyric and dramatic poetry in the sense of ἄρα. ἄρα is postpositive, except in New Comedy.

σὺν ἄρα τοῦργον, οὐκ ἐμὸν κεκλήσεται it shall then be called thy work, not mine S. Aj. 1368. Often with τίς, as τίς ἄρ' ἐμοῦ γένοιτ' ἂν ἀθλιώτερος; who then could be more wretched than I am? Trag. fr. 280. On interrogative ἄρα, see 2850, 2851. Epic ἦ ἄρα is both confirmatory and interrogative.

ἀτάρ

2801. ἀτάρ (prepositive; Hom. also αἰτάρ from αἶτε + ἄρ) usually poetical, but found in Xenophon and Plato, is an adversative conjunction commonly used to introduce a strong or surprising contrast (but, but yet, however); sometimes to introduce a slight contrast (and, and then), but one stronger than that marked by δέ. ἀτάρ is common as a correlative to μέν. It is often found in lively questions to introduce an objection; in rapid transitions; and sometimes it serves to introduce the apodosis of a conditional sentence. ἀτάρ was largely displaced by the stronger ἀλλά.

2802. αὖ (postpositive), an adversative particle meaning on the other hand, on the contrary (properly again). In Hom. it serves as a correlative to μέν or ἦ τοι, and to introduce the apodosis of conditional or relative clauses.

αὖ is often used with personal pronouns, as ἀλλὰ σὺ αὖ . . . λέγε but do you in turn tell us X. S. 8. 5; and is often added to δέ, as οἱ Ἕλληνες ἐπῆσαν . . . οἱ δ' αὖ βάρβαροι οὐκ ἐδέχοντο the Greeks came on, but the barbarians on their part did not wait to receive them X. A. 1. 10. 11. Connected in meaning are the derivatives αὖτε (poetic) and αὖθις.

γάρ

2803. γάρ (postpositive) in fact, indeed, and for, a confirmatory adverb and a causal conjunction. As a conjunction, γάρ usually stands after the first word in its clause; as an adverb, its position is freer. γάρ is especially common in sentences which offer a reason for, or an explanation of, a preceding or following statement. It may be used in successive clauses.

a. γάρ is from γέ + ἀρ (= ἀρά), γέ originally giving prominence either to the word it followed or to the whole clause, while ἀρα marked this prominence as due to something previously expressed or latent in the context. The compound γάρ originally emphasized a thought either as the result of existing circumstances or as a patent and well known fact. In most uses of the word, however, the force of its component parts cannot be distinguished; nor is it clear in many cases whether γάρ is a conjunction or an adverb marking assurance.

2804. Adverbial γάρ appears in questions, answers, and wishes; and in many other cases where recourse is had to conscious or unconscious ellipse by those scholars who hold that γάρ is always a conjunction. Ellipse is sometimes natural and easy, but often clumsy and artificial. Though we find in parallel use both incomplete and complete clauses with γάρ, it is improbable that the Greeks were conscious of the need of any supplement to explain the thought. In many uses γάρ has become formulaic, serving only to show the natural agreement with the existing situation.

2805. In questions, γάρ asks for confirmation of a preceding statement, or expresses assent or dissent; asks whether an act before mentioned was not reasonable; asks a question prompted by some form of emotion; and serves to indicate transition, etc.

a. In questions γάρ often marks surprise or indignation, and may frequently be translated by what, why, then, really, surely. Thus, ταῦτ' λέγεις σὺ στρατηγὸν πτωχὸς ὢν; ἐγὼ γάρ εἰμ' πτωχός; do you, beggar that you are, address your general thus? what! I a beggar? Ar. Ach. 593, ἡ γῆ γάρ ἀνὴρ; is the man really alive? S. El. 1221, οἳ γάρ σοι μαχεῖσθαι . . . τὸν ἀδελφόν; do you really think that your brother is going to fight? X. A. 1.7.9. So τίς γάρ; who then, why who?

b. Brief interrogative formulae asking for confirmation of a preceding statement are:

τί γάρ; what then, how then, how else? τί γάρ also serves as a formula of transition (now, well then, now what . . ., furthermore).

ἡ γάρ; is it not so? surely this is so? (cp. n'est ce pas). Often of surprise.

οὐ γάρ; is it not so? often in indignant questions; when not standing alone, why not?

πῶς γάρ; πόθεν γάρ; imply that something is impossible (often of surprise).

Cp. πῶς γάρ σέ; in negative rhetorical questions.

2806. In answers γάρ marks assent, assurance, sometimes dissent. Thus, δεινὸν γε τοῦκλισμα τοῦ νοσήματος. δεινὸν γάρ οὐδὲ ρητὸν dread indeed is the burden of the disease. Aye dread indeed and beyond all words S. Ph. 755, ὁμολογεῖσθαι περὶ ἐμὲ ἀδικος γεγενῆσθαι; ἡ γάρ ἀνάγκη do you then confess that you have proved yourself unjust toward me? In truth I must indeed X. A. 1.6.8, μηδ' αἰ μητέρες τὰ παῖδια ἐκδεματόντων . . . μὴ γάρ, ἔφη nor let mothers frighten their children. No indeed, said he P. R. 381 e, φησὶ τὰδ' οὖν; ἀ μὴ φρονῶ γάρ σέ φησ' λέγειν dost thou then consent to this? No, for I am not wont to utter words I do not mean S. O. T. 1520.

a. γάρ is common in brief answers, as after οὐ, δεῖ, εἰκοίς, λέγω, ὁμολογῆται. So in the rhetorical questions πῶς γάρ; πῶς γάρ οὐ; used as answers.

2807. In wishes: εἰ γάρ . . . ἐν τούτῳ εἴη would that it depended on that P. Pr. 310 d, κακῶς γάρ ἐξόλοιο οὐκ that you might perish wretchedly E. Cyc. 261. Here γάρ marks the agreement of the wish with the existing situation.

2808. Explanatory (or prefatory) γάρ has the force of now, namely, that is, for example; but usually is not to be translated, and especially when the preceding sentence contains a verb of saying, showing, etc. It usually introduces, as an explanation, the details of that which was promised in an incomplete or general statement; sometimes, without any such statement, it introduces a new fact. Whether this γάρ is an adverb or a conjunction is uncertain. Thus, δοκεῖ τοίνυν μοι χαρίστερον εἶναι μῦθον ὑμῖν λέγειν. ἦν γάρ ποτε κτλ. I think it will be more interesting to tell you a myth. Once upon a time there was, etc. P. Pr. 320 c, οὕτω γάρ σκοπεῖτε look at it in this light L. 19. 84 (at the beginning of a new point in the discussion).

2809. Explanatory γάρ often introduces a clause in apposition to a preceding demonstrative, to such expressions as τεκμήριον δέ or μαρτύριον δέ now the proof is this, δῆλον δέ (ἐστίν) it is clear, τὸ δέ μέγιστον but, what is of the greatest importance, or to relative clauses (995). Thus, ὡς δ' ἔτι μᾶλλον θαρρῆς, καὶ τόδε κατανόησον· οἱ μὲν γάρ (explaining τόδε) πολέμοι πολλοὶ μὲν ἑλάντορες εἰσι νῦν ἢ πρὶν ἡττηθῆναι ὑφ' ἡμῶν and that you may be still more encouraged, consider this fact too. The enemy (namely) are much fewer now than they were before they were beaten by us X. C. 5. 2. 30, ἐννοήσωμεν δέ καὶ τῇδε, ὡς πολλὰ ἐλπίς ἐστίν ἀγαθὸν αὐτὸ εἶναι. δοῦν γάρ θάτερόν ἐστιν τὸ τεθνάναι κτλ. let us consider the matter also in this way and we shall see that there is abundant reason to hope that it is a good: now death must be one of two things, etc. P. A. 40 c, μαρτύριον δέ· Δήλον γάρ καθαιρομένης κτλ. and this is a proof of it: now when Delos was being purified, etc. T. 1. 8, δ δὲ πάντων σχετιώτατον· οὓς γάρ ὁμολογήσαιμεν ἂν πονηροτάτους εἶναι τῶν πολιτῶν, τούτους πιστοτάτους φύλακας ἡγούμεθα τῆς πολιτείας εἶναι but the most abominable of all is this: we consider the most trustworthy guardians of the State to be those men whom we should agree were the worst citizens I. 8. 53.

2810. Causal γάρ is a conjunction: for (nam, enim). It serves to introduce a cause of, or a reason for, an action before mentioned; to justify a preceding utterance; to confirm the truth of a previous statement. Causal γάρ often refers to a thought implied in what has preceded. Thus, λεκτέα δ' ἀγινώσκω· ἔμπειρος γάρ (causal) εἰμι καὶ τῆς χώρᾱς τῶν Παφλαγόνων καὶ τῆς δυνάμεως. ἔχει γάρ (explanatory) ἀμφοτέρω, καὶ πεδία κάλλιστα καὶ ὄρη ὑψηλότατα I must tell what I know, for I am acquainted with the country of the Paphlagonians and its resources; now the country has very fertile plains and very lofty mountains X. A. 5. 6. 6, τοῦ, δύστηνε· τοῦτο γάρ σ' ἔχω μόνον προσεπεῖν alas, ill-fated one! for by this name alone can I address thee S. O. T. 1071, ἐπιστευόμεν δὲ ὑπὸ τῶν Λακεδαιμονίων· οὐ γάρ ἂν με ἔπεμπον πάλιν πρὸς ὑμᾶς but I was trusted by the Lacedaemonians; for (otherwise, i. e. ἐἰ μὴ ἐπίστευον) they would not have sent me back to you P. A. 30 c.

2811. Anticipatory γάρ states the cause, justifies the utterance, or gives the explanation, of something set forth in the main clause which follows. The main clause usually contains an inferential word, a demonstrative pointing backward, or καί, δέ, ἀλλά; or stands without a connective. Anticipatory γάρ may often be rendered by since, but is often omitted in translation. Thus, ἐτι τοίνυν ἀκούσατε καὶ τὰδε. ἐπὶ λεῖλᾶν γὰρ ὑμῶν ἐκπορεύσονται τινες. οἶμαι νῦν βέλτιστον εἶναι κτλ. listen therefore to this proposal also. Some of you will be going out to plunder. Now it is my opinion that it is best, etc. X. A. 5. 1. 8, ἐσελθὼν δὲ τὴν ταχίστην, ἦν γὰρ οἱ παῖς εἰς μόνους . . . , τοῦτον ἐκπέμπει and when he had come in straight-way, he sent out his son, for he had one only son 11dt. 1. 119, ὃ φίλοι, οὐ γὰρ τ' ἴδμεν ὅπῃ ἄνθος οὐδ' ὅπῃ ἡώς . . . ἀλλὰ φραζώμεθα κτλ. friends, since we do not know where is the place of darkness nor of the dawn, let us consider, etc. κ 190, ὦ φίλτατε, σπονδαὶ γὰρ εἰσὶ σοὶ μόνῃ, μέτρησον εἰρήνης τί μοι my dear fellow, since you alone have got a truce, measure me out a bit of peace Ar. Ach. 102.

a. In this construction γάρ may be an adverb, not a conjunction. Cases of explanatory γάρ (2808) and of parenthetical γάρ (2812), especially after vocatives, may fall under 2811.

2812. The clause with γάρ since is often inserted parenthetically in the clause which it is intended to explain; as ὁ δὲ (κρίνουσι γὰρ βοῇ καὶ οὐ ψήφῳ) οὐκ ἔφη διαγιγνώσκειν τὴν βοήν ποτέρᾳ μείζων but, since they decide by shouts and not by ballot, he said he could not decide which side shouted the louder T. 1. 87.

2813. καὶ γάρ has in general two distinct meanings according as γάρ is an adverb or a conjunction. As καὶ γάρ has become a formula, it is often uncertain which of the two words is the adverb, which the conjunction.

2814. (I) καὶ γάρ and in fact, and indeed, καὶ being a conjunction, and γάρ an adverb. Here the clause in which καὶ γάρ stands is added as a new and important thought; where γάρ alone would state the reason or the explanation with less independence and with slighter emphasis. The negative is οὐδὲ γάρ. Thus Κύρος δ' ὁρῶν τοὺς Ἕλληνας νικῶντας τὸ καθ' αὐτοὺς . . . ἐπεμελεῖτο δ τι ποιήσει βασιλεὺς. καὶ γὰρ ᾗδει αὐτὸν ὅτι μέσον ἔχει τοῦ Περσικοῦ στρατεύματος on seeing the Greeks victorious over the troops opposed to them, Cyrus watched to see what the king would do; and in fact he knew that he commanded the centre of the Persian force X. A. 1. 8. 21 (cp. 1. 1. 6, 2. 5. 5, 2. 6. 2). So often in affirmative responses: ἡ οὐκ ἀγαπήσεις τούτων τυγχάνων; ἐγὼ μὲν γὰρ ἂν ἀγαπήσω. καὶ γὰρ ἐγώ, ἔφη or will you not be content if you obtain this? For my part I shall be. And so shall I, he said P. R. 473 b.

a. καὶ γὰρ καὶ and even is καὶ γάρ and in fact reënforced by καὶ. Thus, καὶ γὰρ καὶ ἀδεια ἐφάπτετο αὐτοῖς and in fact it looked to them as if there was perfect safety in so doing T. 4. 108. The negative is οὐδὲ γὰρ οὐδέ (2938).

2815. (II) καὶ γάρ for even, for also. Here καὶ is an adverb affecting a single word, several words, or the whole sentence, and γάρ is a conjunction. The negative is οὐδὲ γάρ. Thus, καὶ γὰρ οὗτοι for these too P. A. 22 c, καὶ γὰρ ἡδικημένοι σιγησόμεσθα for even wronged as I am I'll keep silent E. Med. 314, καὶ γὰρ μόνος ἡγοῦτ' ἂν δύνασθαι πείθειν for, though quite unaided, he would think that he was able to persuade X. M. 1. 2. 11.

a. καὶ γὰρ . . . καὶ for both . . . and: here καὶ is correlated with a second καί; as καὶ γὰρ ὑγιαίνουσιν οἱ τὰ σώματα εὖ ἔχοντες καὶ ἰσχύουσι for those who keep their bodies in good condition are both healthy and strong X. M. 3. 12. 4.

2816. ἀλλὰ γάρ occurs both in conjunction and separated by one or several words, which are generally emphatic.

2817. First Form (often but since, since however): here there are two predicates. In prose separation is the rule. Thus, ἀλλ', οὐ γὰρ ἔπειθε, διδοί τὸ φῶρος but since he could not persuade her, he gave her the mantle Hdt. 9. 109, ἀλλ' ἴσως γὰρ καὶ ἄλλοι ταῦτ' ἐνθυμούνται, . . . μὴ ἀναμένωμεν ἄλλους ἐφ' ἡμᾶς ἐλθεῖν κτλ. since however others too perhaps entertain the same opinion, let us not wait for others to come to us, etc. X. A. 3. 1. 24. In poetry the words are generally not separated. Thus, ἀλλὰ γὰρ Κρέοντα λεύσσω τόνδε . . . πρὸς δόμους στείχοντα, παύσω τοὺς . . . γόους since however I see Creon yonder coming to the palace, I will cease my lamentations E. Phoen. 1307. Here the clause coördinated by the conjunction γάρ is parenthetical and gives, by anticipation, the reason for the ἀλλὰ clause. Cp. ἀλλ' ἐπεὶ ε 137, and Shakesp. Sonnet 54: "but, for their virtue only is their show, They live unwoo'd." — The first form is found chiefly in Homer, Pindar, Herodotus, and in the drama.

2818. Second Form (usually but indeed, but in fact, but the truth is, but be that as it may). Here there is a single predicate. Thus, καὶ οὐχ ὥς ἀτιμάζω λέγω . . . ἀλλὰ γὰρ ἐμοὶ τούτων . . . οὐδὲν μέτεστι and I do not speak in disparagement; but the truth is I have nothing to do with these matters P. A. 19 c, ἀλλὰ γινώσκω γὰρ . . . ὅτι κτλ. but indeed I know that, etc. X. C. 2. 1. 13, ἀλλ' εἰσπορῶ γὰρ τόνδε . . . Πυλάδην δρόμῳ στείχοντα but indeed I see Pylades yonder coming at full speed E. Or. 725, ἀλλ' οὐ γὰρ ἔστι τὰμφορῇ κρύπτειν but indeed it is impossible to hide what lies open S. O. C. 755.

a. In this use γάρ may have preserved, or regained, its primitive adverbial (confirmatory) force. Many scholars, however, claim that there was a conscious or unconscious ellipse, after ἀλλά, of an idea pertinent to the situation; and thus regard this form as logically equivalent to the form in which γάρ is a causal conjunction. In actual use ἀλλὰ γάρ was clearly a formula used without any consciousness of an omitted idea.

2819. ἀλλὰ γάρ has a great variety of uses, most of which may be classed as follows:

a. In statements of direct opposition: καὶ ταῦτ' αὖτε σε πολλοῦ δεῖ λεληθῆναι, ἀλλὰ γὰρ οἶμαι ὃ ἄρτι οὐκ ἔφησθα ποιεῖν, τοῦτο ποιεῖς and you are far from forgetting this, but in fact I think you are doing that which you just denied you were doing P. Charm. 166 c.

N. This use is post-Homeric, rare in the drama, common in the orators and Plato. It is especially frequent in putting and setting aside an objection supposed to be raised by an opponent (hypophora). Cp. b.

b. In real and assumed objections (cp. at enim): καὶ ἀληθῆ γε ἔλεγον, ὃ Σώκρατες. ἴσως. ἀλλὰ γὰρ, ὃ Εὐθύφρων, καὶ ἀλλὰ πολλὰ φῆς εἶναι ὅσια yes, and I said what was true, Socrates. Perhaps, but in fact, Euthyphron, you say that many other things too are holy P. Euth. 6 d, ἀλλὰ γὰρ, φήσει τις, οὐ ῥάδιον δὲ λαρθᾶναι κακὸν ὄντα yes, but some one will say that it is not easy always to conceal the fact that one is wicked P. R. 365 c.

c. In transitions. — (1) At the close of the discussion of an argument, where the force of ἀλλὰ is like that of and yet or emphatic but. Thus, ἀλλὰ γάρ, ὃ βουλή, ταῦτα μὲν ἐνθάδε οὐκ οἶδ' ὅ τι δεῖ λέγειν but, Senators, I do not know why I should discuss these matters here L. 7. 42, ἀλλὰ γὰρ ἡδὴ ὥρᾳ ἀπέραι but it is already time to depart P. A. 42 a.

(2) To restrain the expression of emotion; as ἀλλ' ἀναξ γὰρ ἐστ' ἐμὸς, σίγῃ but no, I am silent for he is my king E. El. 1245.

(8) When the approach of a new actor is announced. Cp. 2817, 2818.

2820. Other Combinations. — γὰρ ἄρα for sure enough.

γὰρ δὴ for of course, for indeed, for you must know, as φαμέν γὰρ δὴ for of course we say so.

γὰρ δὴ πού for I presume, for doubtless.

γὰρ οὖν often of frank assent, as οὐ γὰρ οὖν certainly not, λέγω γὰρ οὖν certainly, I do say so; less often to explain (for certainly); καὶ γὰρ οὖν (not very common) is stronger than καὶ γάρ.

γάρ πού for I suppose.

γάρ τοι for surely, for mark you; sometimes καὶ γάρ τοι.

γέ

2821. γέ (postpositive and enclitic) is an intensive and restrictive particle with the force of at least, at any rate, even, certainly, indeed; but often to be rendered by intonation. γέ may indicate assent, concession, banter, scorn, deprecation, irony, etc. γέ emphasizes single words or whole phrases or clauses.

a. Single words. So often with pronouns, as ἔγωγε I at least (excluding others), ἐμέ γε cp. mi-ch, ὃ γε even he (Hom.), οὗτός γε, and with a repeated pronoun (S. Ph. 117). Other words, as ὃ τι βούλει γε whatever you like Ar. Ran. 3. πλήθει γε οὐχ ὑπερβαλοίμεθ' ἂν τοὺς πολεμίους in numbers at least we should not surpass the enemy X. C. 2. 1. 8.

b. With phrases or clauses. Thus, ὡς μὴ μ' ἀτίμων, τοῦ θεοῦ γε προστάτην, οὕτως ἀφῇ με that he may not thus send me away in dishonour—who am the suppliant of the god S. O. C. 1278, ἀνθρώπους τίνυσθον, οἷς γ' ἐπ' ἰσθμὸν ὀμύσσει ye who punish men who swear falsely Γ 279.

2822. γέ may be used twice in the same sentence. Thus, ἐπεὶ γ' ἀρκούντ' ἱκανὰ τοῖς γε ὥσπροςιν since indeed that which suffices their wants is enough for the wise E. Phoen. 545. Cp. Hdt. 1. 187, Ar. Vesp. 1507.

2823. γέ stands between article and noun, as ὁ γ' ἄνθρωπος (after a preposition, as ἐν γε τῷ φανερώ); between noun and adjective, or after the adjective, as ἀνὴρ γε σοφός, or ἀνὴρ σοφός γε; after a possessive pronoun, as ἐμός γε θυμός; after μέν, δέ, τέ, as ὅτι δέ γε ἀληθὴ λέγω. When γέ influences a whole clause it stands as near as possible to the introductory conjunction; as εἰ γε, ἄρα γε.

2824. γέ in contrasts and alternatives; as οὐ δ' οὐ λέγεις γε (αἰσχρά), δρῆς δέ με θοῦ δὸν not indeed say, but do shameful things to me E. And. 239, φροι κρύφα γε ἢ φανερώς either secretly or openly T. 6. 34, ἢ σοφοὶ ἢ τίμιοι ἢ γέροντες γε or wise or held in honour aye or old P. Hipp. M. 301 a (here γέ indicates a change in an alternative series; cp. οὔτε . . . οὔτε . . . οὐδέ γε and καὶ . . . γε 2820).

2825. γέ in replies and comments (yes, well). Thus, δοκεῖ παρειαθεῖν; δὸς γ', ἀναξ, τάχιστα does it seem best to you that I should give way? Aye, my lord, and with all speed S. Ant. 1102. Here καὶ . . . γε is common, as καὶ οὐδέν γε ἀτόπῳ yes, and no wonder P. Th. 142 b.

2826. ὅς γε (rarely ὅστις γε) has a causal force, much like qui quidem, quippe qui. Thus, ἀτοπα λέγεις . . . ὅς γε κελεύεις ἐμὲ νεώτερον ὄντα καθηγείσθαι you are talking absurdly in bidding me who am the younger take precedence X. M. 2. 3. 15. So with other relatives, as οἷος, ὅσος, ὥσπερ.

2827. γέ sometimes marks an ellipse (S. Ph. 1409). When the verb of the apodosis is omitted, the protasis often has γέ (so usually in Aristophanes, e.g. Nub. 267).

2828. When γέ is followed by other particles, it belongs with the emphasized word, and the other particles retain their original force; as τοὺς γε μέντοι ἀγαθοὺς yet the brave at least X. A. 1. 9. 14. So γε δὴ, γε μὴν δὴ, γέ τοι (often used like γούν in giving a reason for a belief), γέ τοι δὴ. With the imperative, γέ is rare except when it is followed by another particle, as ὄρᾳ γε μήν S. O. C. 587.

2829. After other Particles. — For example :

δέ γε: here γέ usually does not emphasize δέ but either a single word or the whole clause; as ἡμῖν δέ γε οἶμαι πάντα ποιητέα but we at least, in my opinion, should adopt every means X. A. 3. 1. 35. δὲ . . . γε is often used when two things are compared, in order to show that one is more important than the other.

καὶ . . . γε sometimes means yes, and and sometimes γέ emphasizes the intervening word. Thus, κούδέν γε θαῦμα yes, and no wonder S. O. T. 1132, καὶ στίβον γε οὐδεὶς κτύπος and of footsteps there is no sound S. Ph. 29. καὶ . . . γε often emphasizes one item in a series, and especially the last item. Here καὶ . . . γέ πρὸς (καὶ πρὸς γε) and besides is common. Cp. P. G. 450 d, 469 b.

μήν γε lends force to a contrast (P. S. 180 d); sometimes it has the force of that is to say, for example (T. 6. 86).

Frequent combinations are ἀλλ' οὖν . . . γε, μέντοι . . . γε, μὴν . . . γε, οὐκοῦν . . . γε.

γούν

2830. γούν (postpositive; first in Aeschylus) is a restrictive particle from γέ + οὖν. Its meaning varies according to the prominence of the γέ or οὖν; often certainly, at any rate (at all events, at least). γούν commonly confirms a previous general assertion by giving a special instance of its truth (the special instance may be a seeming exception). γούν is thus used in bringing forward a reason, which, while not absolutely conclusive, is the most probable explanation of a previous statement.

ἔτι γὰρ οἱ τοὶ κακώτεροι εἰσι τῶν ὑφ' ἡμῶν ἡττημένων· ἔφυγον γούν πρὸς ἐκείνους καταλιπόντες ἡμᾶς for they are even more cowardly than those who were beaten by us. At any rate they deserted us and sought refuge with them X. A. 3. 2. 17.

2831. γοῦν may emphasize a pronoun; as πρὸς γοῦν ἐμοῦ S. Aj. 527, τὰ γοῦν σὸ S. El. 1490.

2832. In answers γοῦν means well, at least; yes certainly; as εἰνός γοῦν X. C. 5. 3. 14.

2833. γοῦν finds the proof of an assertion in one of several possible facts or occurrences; γάρ gives the reason in general, but gives no particular instance; δ' οὐν has an adversative force: 'be that as it may, yet at any rate.'

δέ

2834. δέ (postpositive) was originally an adverb with a force not unlike that of on the other hand, on the contrary; later it became a conjunction commonly represented by but or and, which are, however, mere makeshifts of translation. δέ serves to mark that something is different from what precedes, but only to offset it, not to exclude or contradict it; it denotes only a slight contrast, and is therefore weaker than ἀλλά, but stronger than καί. δέ is adversative and copulative; but the two uses are not always clearly to be distinguished.

2835. Adversative δέ often marks a silent contrast, as at the beginning of speeches (ἐγὼ δὲ οὕτω γινώσκω X. A. 4. 6. 10); in questions which imply opposition to something just said (S. O. C. 57); in answers (S. O. T. 379); in objections or corrections (S. Ant. 517); in τὸ δέ, τὰ δέ on the contrary, whereas really, where a true opinion is opposed to a false one; similarly in οὐν δέ but in fact, but as the case stands. When δέ is balanced by μέν (2904) it is antithetical rather than adversative.

a. δέ after a pronoun following a vocative produces a pause; as Νιόβη σὲ δ' ἔγωγε νέμω θεόν ah Niobe, thee I regard as divine S. El. 150.

b. δέ instead of ἀλλά is rare except in the poets and Thucydides. Thus, προμηθεύς γε τοῦτο μὴδὲν τοῖσιν, κρυφῇ δὲ κεῖθε make known this plan to no one, but hide it in secret S. Ant. 85, οὐκ ἐπὶ κακῷ, ἐπ' ἐλευθερώσει δὲ τῶν Ἑλλήνων παρελήλυθα I have come, not to harm, but to liberate, the Greeks T. 4. 86. Sometimes οὐ μέν precedes when δέ is used like ἀλλά (T. 1. 50).

c. But not is ἀλλ' οὐ or οὐ μέντοι, not οὐ δέ, in order to avoid confusion with οὐδέ nor, not even. But οὐ and δέ may be separated, as οὐ βουλομένων δέ . . . προσχωρεῖν but since they did not wish to surrender X. H. 1. 6. 13.

2836. Copulative δέ marks transition, and is the ordinary particle used in connecting successive clauses or sentences which add something new or different, but not opposed, to what precedes, and are not joined by other particles, such as γάρ or οὐν.

Copulative δέ is common in marking continuation, especially when something subordinate is added. Thus, when a new phase of a narrative is developed (X. A. 1. 2. 7-8); where attention is called to a new point or person (as in τὴ δ' ἑστῆς); when an interrupted speech or narrative is resumed (X. C. 1. 6. 41, S. Tr. 281); where a second relationship is added (μήτηρ βασιλέως, βασίλειά δ' ἐμὴ the mother of the King, and my Queen A. Pers. 151, 'Ἡῖονα . . . Μεσσηνίων ἀποικίαν, ὡς ἐπὶ δὲ ὄσσαν he seized Eion, a colony of Mende, and which had been hostile T. 4. 7).

when δέ has a force like that of γάρ (X. C. 6.3.16); and in καί . . . δέ and also (Epic καί δέ), 2891.

2837. Apodotic δέ.—The beginning of the principal clause (apodosis) of conditional and concessive sentences is often marked by δέ. Apodotic δέ is found also in the principal clause of causal, temporal, comparative, and relative sentences; and regularly gives greater emphasis to the main clause, which is thus distinctly set off against the subordinate clause. Apodotic δέ is very common in Homer and Herodotus, not rare in Attic poetry, but infrequent in Attic prose, where it is used especially after an emphatic personal or demonstrative pronoun or when a participle represents the antecedent clause. Thus, εἰς ὃ ταῦθ' ὄρμαινε . . . , ἦλθε δ' Ἀθήνη while he was revolving these things, then came Athens A 193, εἰ ὅν ἐγὼ μὴ γινώσκω μήτε τὰ ὅσια μήτε τὰ δίκαια, ὑμεῖς δὲ διδάξετέ με accordingly if I have no knowledge either of what is holy or what is just, do you then instruct me X. H. 4. 1.33, ἐπεὶ τοῖνυν οὐ δύναμαι σε πείθειν μὴ ἐκθεῖναι, σὺ δὲ ὅδε ποιεῖς since therefore I am not able to persuade you not to expose it, do you then do as follows Hdt. 1.112, ἐκείθεν οὖν . . . ὥσπερ οἱ ὁπλίται οὕτω δὲ καὶ οἱ πελτασταί as the hoplites so also the peltasts sleep X. C. 8. 5. 12, ἐπειδὴ δὲ ἀφικόμενοι μάχῃ ἐκράτησαν . . . , φαίνονται δ' οὐδ' ἐνταῦθα πάσῃ τῇ δυνάμει χρησάμενοι but when on their arrival they had conquered in battle, not even then did they appear to have made use of their entire force T. 1. 11, καὶ ποτε ὄντος πάγου . . . οὗτος δ' ἐν τοῖσις ἔξῃ and once when there was a frost he went out in the midst of this P. S. 220 b.

a. Apodotic δέ often resumes a δέ in the subordinate clause and carries on the opposition expressed by that clause; as εἰ δὲ βούλεσθε . . . ἐκλεξάμενοι ὅποι ἂν βούλησθε κατασεῖν . . . , πλοῖα δ' ὑμῖν παρέστιν but if you wish to select some place wherever you please and take possession of it, you have ships at command X. A. 5. 6. 20, ἃ δ' αἰσχόρην ἡμῖν φέρει . . . , ταῦτα δὲ κατὰ χώρᾱν μένει but the terms which cause us shame, these remain in force I. 4. 176.

b. The use of apodotic δέ should not be regarded as a survival of original coördination.

2838. δέ without μέν.—A clause with δέ often has no correlative particle in the clause with which it is contrasted. Here μέν is not used because the opposition in the first clause was too weak, or because the speaker did not intend to announce a following contrast or did not think he was going to use a contrasted δέ clause. Sometimes the entire first clause may have to be supplied in thought from the general connection or from what has gone before. δέ without μέν in such cases is common in poetry, but not rare in prose, even in brief antitheses, as ἃ πάντες ἀεὶ γλίσχονται λέγειν, ἀέλιος δ' οὐδέ τις εἰπεῖν δεδύνηται exploits which everybody continually desires to recount, but which no one has been able to set forth adequately D. 6.11. See also 2835.

a. When a relative construction passes over into a construction with a personal or demonstrative pronoun, the relative clause usually has no μέν. Cp. Soph. Aj. 457, quoted in 2517.

b. οἱ δέ, when opposed to a larger number of persons or things, is often used without οἱ μὲν, as προσληλυθότες ἐπὶ χιλόν, οἱ δ' ἐπὶ ξύλῳ having gone for fodder, and some for fuel X. C. 6.3.9.

2839. ἔ with other Particles. — For example :

ἔ ἔρα, which sometimes follows μέν.

ἔ αἶ and ἔ πως ἔ mark stronger opposition than δέ alone.

ἔ δή but then, but now, well but is often used in passing to a new point. In Aristophanes this collocation is used almost always in questions.

δή

2840. δή (postpositive except in Hom. δή γάρ and poetic δή τότε) marks something as immediately present and clear to the mind, and gives greater precision, positiveness, and exactness. It sets forth what is obvious, acknowledged, and natural, and often corresponds to vidē. δή is used with single words (especially adjectives, adverbs, pronouns, and conjunctions) or, as a sentence adverb, with whole clauses. δή usually stands after the word it emphasizes, though it may be separated from it by one or more other words.

2842. Ironical δή. — Thus, Σωκράτης ὁ σοφὸς δή Socrates the wise forsooth P. A. 27 a; often ὥς δή, as ὥς δή σὺ μοι τύραννος Ἀργείων *ἔ*ργη that you forsooth should be the lord and master of the Argives! A. Ag. 1638.

2843. Intensive δή emphasizes, and makes definite, adjectives, adverbs, pronouns, and other words. Thus, ἅπαντες δή absolutely all, κράτιστος δή the very best, μόνος δή quite alone, λίγοι δή very few; οὕτω δή just so, ὥσπερ ὡς exactly as, πολλάκις δή very often, δῆλα δή quite plain, νῦν δή just now, now at once; ἐκείνος δή this (and no other), οὗ δή who indeed. With indefinite pronouns δή increases the indefiniteness (339 e); as ὅστις δή whoever at all. With other words: εἰ δή if indeed, οὐ δή no indeed, ἵνα δή that in truth.

a. With imperatives and in questions δή adds urgency; as ἄκουε δή pray listen! τί δή; why, pray?

2844. δή may introduce emphatically the conclusion of a temporal sentence or of a narrative on passing to a new topic; as ἐπαύθα δή, τότε δή then indeed, then and not till then then it was that. Cp. X. A. 1. 10. 1.

2845. Temporal δή often, especially with καί, approximates in meaning to ἤδη already. Thus, ὁ δὲ θανάων κεύθει κάτω δή γῆς but he is dead and already is hidden beneath the earth S. O. T. 967, ὅποτε . . . θηρῆς καὶ δή δύο ἡμέρας when you have hunted (already) for two days X. C. 2. 4. 17, καὶ δή λέγω σοι well I will tell thee (without further ado) S. Ant. 245. So also in τελος δή, νῦν δή. — On succession, δή means next. — Poetic ἔατε (δή αὖτε) means now again.

2846. Consecutive and Resumptive δή is used to set forth an inference, draw a conclusion, denote a consequence, and mark a transition (μέν δή . . . δέ). Here δή is a sentence adverb: accordingly, then, of course, clearly, you see, I say. Thus, ἔλεγον οὐ κατίδοιεν πότῳ πολλά πυρὰ φαίνοντα. ἔδοκει δὲ τοῖς στρατηγοῖς οὐκ ἀσφαλὲς εἶναι διασκηνοῦν they said that they had seen many fires visible in the night; accordingly it seemed to the generals to be unsafe to encamp apart X. A. 4. 4. 10, Φεραυλᾶς μὲν δὴ οὕτως εἶπεν· ἀνίστασθαι δὲ καὶ ἄλλοι πολλοὶ Pheraulas then spake thus; and many others also rose to speak X. C. 2. 3. 18.

2847. καὶ δὴ: (a) Introduces a climax, as καὶ δὴ τὸ μέγιστον and above all, what is the main thing P. A. 41 b. (b) In replies = well; as βλέψον κάτω· καὶ δὴ βλέπω look down! Well, I am looking Ar. Av. 175. This is akin to the temporal use. (c) In assumptions = suppose (1771). On καὶ δὴ καὶ see 2890.

δαί, δῆθεν, δήπου, δήτα

2848. δαί is used in colloquial Attic after interrogative words to express wonder, indignation, etc. Thus, τί δαί; πῶς δαί; what then? how so?

2849. δῆθεν truly, forsooth, is commonly used of apparent or pretended truth, and mostly with an ironical tone. Thus, ἐκερτόμησας δῆθεν ὡς παῖδ' ὄντα me thou hast mocked me forsooth as though I were a child A. Pr. 986.

2850. δήπου probably, I presume, I should hope, doubtless, you will admit, is stronger than ποῦ perhaps, I suppose. δήπου often has a touch of irony or doubt in stating a case that would seem to be certain; as ἴσται δῆπου ὅθεν ἥλιος ἀνίσχεται you know, I presume, where the sun rises X. A. 5. 7. 6. In questions δήπου expects the answer yes. οὐ δήπου certainly not and is it not so? (with irony).

2851. δῆτα assuredly, really, in truth, is rare outside of Attic. It occurs: (a) In answers, often when a word is repeated with assent; as γινώσκεις ἑμείς ἦτις ἐσθ' ἡδ' ἡ γυνή; γινώσκουμεν δῆτα do you know who this woman is? Yes indeed we do Ar. Thesm. 606; οὐ δῆτα surely not, in strong or indignant denial. (b) In questions, to mark an inference or consequence, as πῶς δῆτα; how in truth? τί δῆτα; what then? καὶ δῆτα ἐτόλμας; and didst thou really dare? S. Ant. 449. (c) In wishes and deprecations (stronger than δή), as σκόπει δῆτα only look P. G. 452 b, μὴ δῆτα, θυμέ, μὴ σὺ γ' ἐργάσῃ τὰδε no indeed, my heart, do not this deed E. Med. 1056.

εἶτε

2852. εἶτε (from εἰ + τε), a disjunctive particle, generally doubled: εἶτε . . . εἶτε whether . . . or (2675), ἰφ . . . ἰφ (siue . . . siue), giving equal value to each supposition.

a. With the subjunctive we find ἔάν τε (ἤν τε, ἄν τε). Hom. has εἶτε . . . εἶτε. but not ἤν τε . . . ἤν τε, with the subjunctive. In the same sense Hom. has ἦ . . . ἦ and ἦτε . . . ἦτε with the subjunctive.

2853. There are various forms of εἶτε clauses:

a. Both εἶτε clauses may have the same finite verb in common, which verb is used only once; as εἶτε βούλεσθε πολεμεῖν ἡμῖν εἶτε φίλοι εἶναι whether you wish to wage war upon us or to be our friends X. C. 3. 2. 13.

b. Each εἴτε clause has its own verb and its own main clause; as ἐπέλευσε σε, εἴτε πάντας αἰτιᾷ, κρίναντα σὲ αὐτὸν χρῆσθαι ὃ τι ἂν βούλη, εἴτε ἕνα τινὰ ἢ δύο . . . αἰτιᾷ, τοὺτους ἀξιούσι παρασχεῖν σοι ἑαυτοὺς εἰς κρίσιν the army requests that, if you accuse all, you pass sentence on them and treat them as you may think best; or, if you accuse one or two, they think it right that these men should surrender themselves to you for judgment X. A. 6. 6. 20.

c. One main clause refers to both εἴτε clauses; as ὁ ἀγαθὸς ἀνὴρ . . . εὐδαίμων ἐστὶ . . . ἔάν τε μέγας καὶ ἰσχυρὸς, ἔάν τε μικρὸς καὶ δσθενὴς ἢ the good man is happy whether he is large and strong or small and weak P. L. 660 e.

d. Neither εἴτε clause has a verb, which is to be supplied from the main clause; as λέγοντες, εἴτ' ἀληθὲς εἴτ' ἄρ' οὐδ' ἄμην (ἔλεγον) saying, whether truly or after all, it may be, falsely S. Ph. 345.

e. One εἴτε clause has its own verb, while the other gets its verb from the main clause (rare); as ἐμοὶ σὺ . . . φαίη . . . χρησμοφδεῖν, εἴτε παρ' Εὐθύφρωνος ἐπίπνους γενόμενος (χρησμοφδεῖς), εἴτε καὶ ἄλλη τις μοῦσα πάλοι σε ἐνοῦσα ἐλελήθει you seem to me to utter prophecies, whether you were inspired by Euthyphron or whether some other muse has long been present in you without your knowing it P. Crat. 428 c.

2854. Variations: εἴτε . . . ἢ (common): εἴτε Λυσίας ἢ τις ἄλλος πῶποτε ἔγραψεν ἢ γράψει κτλ. whether Lysias or anybody else whoever wrote or will write, etc. P. Phae. 277 d. ἢ . . . εἴτε: only in poetry (S. Aj. 175). εἴτε . . . εἰ ὅτε: when the second member is more important (P. L. 952 c). On εἰ . . . εἴτε see 2675 d. On εἴτε for εἴτε . . . εἴτε see 2675 b, N. 2.

2855. εἴτε may be strengthened by ἄρα, δὴ, καί, or οὐν. οὐν is usually placed after the first εἴτε; like καί, it may stand after the second also. When καί stands only after the second εἴτε, its clause is weaker than the first (D. 18. 57).

ἢ

2856. Disjunctive ἢ (Epic ἢ or (uel, aut); and repeated: ἢ . . . ἢ either . . . or (uel . . . uel, aut . . . aut) to connect the two members more closely.

ἀγαθὸν ἢ κακόν good or bad X. A. 1. 9. 11, ἢ τι ἢ οὐδέν little or nothing P. A. 17 b. ἢ with the subjunctive is often used when a speaker corrects himself; as νῦν δ' αὖ τρίτος ἦλθε ποθεν σωτήρ, ἢ μὲρον εἶπω; and now, again, the third has come, the deliverer—or shall I call it a deed of death? A. Ch. 1074. On ἢ in questions, see 2657, 2675.

2857. Between ascending numbers ἢ has the force of Eng. to, as ἐν ἑξ ἢ ἑπτά ἡμέραις in six to seven days X. C. 5. 3. 28.

2858. ἢτοι may be used instead of the first ἢ when the first member, as is commonly the case, contains the more probable choice. In English the order is often inverted. Thus, ἢτοι κλύουσα παιδὸς ἢ τύχη πάρα she comes either by chance or because she has heard about her son S. Ant. 1182. ἢτοι may be followed by ἢ several times. ἢτοι . . . γε is more emphatic, as ἢτοι κρύφα γε ἢ φανερώς either secretly or openly T. 6. 34.

2859. ἢ often indicates that a given result will follow in case the action of the previous clause is not realized: or else (cp. ei δὲ μή, 2846 d). Thus, ὅπως . . . ὑμεῖς ἐμὲ ἐπαινεσέτε, ἐμοὶ μελήσει· ἢ μηκέτι με Κύρον νομίσετε it shall be my concern that you commend me; or else my name is no longer Cyrus X. A. 1. 4. 16.

2860. ἥ often does not introduce an alternative to a previous question, but substitutes instead another question which is more specific and intended to anticipate the answer to the first (or rather, or precisely). Thus, λέγε ἡμῖν πῶς με φῆς διαφθεῖρειν τοὺς νεωτέρους; ἢ δῆλον δὴ ὅτι . . . θεοὺς διδάσκειν μὴ νομίζειν οὓς ἡ πόλις νομίζει; tell us how you mean that I corrupt the young? Or rather clearly you mean that (I corrupt them) by teaching them not to acknowledge the gods which the State acknowledges? P. A. 26 b.

2861. ἥ often introduces an argument ex contrario (D. 81. 14).

2862. ἥ καὶ is often used where ἥ would suffice (cp. 2888 a); as ἢ ξένος ἢ καὶ τις τοι ἴτης either an alien or a citizen if you will (or as well) D. 20. 123.

2863. Comparative ἥ than is used to mark difference. It stands after comparatives where the genitive or a preposition (1069 ff.) is not used, and after words indicating difference or diversity or having a comparative force, e.g., ἄλλος or ἕτερος other, ἄλλως otherwise, διάφορος different, διαφέρειν to be different, ἐναντίος contrary, διπλάσιος twice as much, πρίν sooner.

ἄλλα ἢ τὰ γενόμενα things different from what occurred X. C. 3. 1. 9, ἄλλο οὐδὲν ἢ ἐκ γῆς ἐνανμάχουν T. 4. 14 (2778 a), τῇ ὑστεραίᾳ δεῖ με ἀποθῆσκειν ἢ ἢ ἂν ἔλθῃ τὸ πλοῖον I must die the day after (that on which) the ship arrives P. Cr. 44 a (here ἢ or ἢ might be omitted), τὰναντία . . . ἢ τοὺς κύνας ποιοῦσι differently from the way they treat dogs X. A. 5. 8. 24, τὸν ἡμῶν σίτον ἢ πρόσθεν half as much corn as before X. H. 5. 3. 21.

a. After τί or a negative, ἥ may be used without ἄλλος, as τί ποιῶν ἢ εὐνοούμενος; doing what else except feasting? P. Cr. 53 e, εἰπε μὴδένα παρίεναι ἢ τοὺς φίλους he said that they should let no one pass except his friends X. C. 7. 5. 41.

b. Often after verbs of willing, choosing, etc.; as θάνατον μετ' ἐλευθερίᾳ αἰρούμενοι ἢ βίον μετὰ δουλείᾳς preferring death with freedom rather than life with servitude L. 2. 62. Here we might have μᾶλλον ἢ, which is usually not separated, and especially when μᾶλλον belongs to the whole sentence.

c. If two clauses connected by ἥ have the same verb it may be omitted in the clause following ἥ; as ἐπαῖττες ἄλλοιόν ἢ οἱ πολλοὶ (πράττουσι) you behaved differently from the rest P. A. 20 c.

d. On ἢ ὥστε (ὥς), or ἢ alone, than so as to, see 2264.

ἦ

2864. Asseverative ἦ (prepositive) in truth, in sooth, verily, upon my honour, etc.; as ἦ καλῶς λέγεις P. G. 447 c.

2865. ἦ is usually associated with other particles.

ἦ γάρ when used alone in dialogue = is it not so? Cp. n'est ce pas, nicht wahr? Elsewhere it often has the force of am I to understand that asked with surprise. Thus, ἦ γάρ ποῖς θάπτειν σφ', ἀπόρητον πόλει; what, dost thou in truth intend to bury him, when it is forbidden to the citizens? S. Ant. 44.

ἦ δὴ expresses lively surprise.

ἦ καί is found in animated questions. Here καί goes closely with ἦ.

ἦ μήν (Hom. ἦ μέν, ἦ μὲν) prefaces strong asseverations, threats, and oaths, in direct and indirect discourse. Thus, ἦ μὴν ἐγὼ ἔπαθον τι τοιούτου in truth this was my experience P. A. 22 a, δμῶμι θεοὺς . . . ἦ μὴν μήτε με Ξενοφῶντα κελύσαι ἀφελέσθαι τὸν ἄνδρα μήτε ἄλλον ὑμῶν μηδένα I swear by the gods upon my honour neither did Xenophon nor any one else among you bid me rescue the man X. A. 6. 6. 17.

ἦ τοῦ indeed, methinks, in poetry I ween. Here the shade of doubt indicated by τοῦ is not real.

2866. Interrogative ἦ (2650) is probably the same as asseverative ἦ.

ἦδέ (AND ἰδε)

2867. ἦδὲ and (Epic, lyric, tragic); also in conjunction with τε καί, or δέ. ἡμῖν . . . ἦδὲ (Epic) is used like τὲ . . . τέ, καὶ . . . καί.

ἦδὲ and (Epic, rare in tragedy) is used where ἦδέ does not suit the metre.

καί

2868. καί is both a copulative conjunction (and) connecting words, clauses, or sentences; and an adverb meaning also, even.

Conjunctive καί

2869. Copulative καί often has an intensive or heightening force; as where it joins a part and the whole, the universal and the particular. Thus, ἐν Ἀθηναίοις καὶ τοῖς Ἑλλήσι Ar. Nub. 413, ὃ Ζεὺ καὶ θεοὶ Ar. Pl. 1 (θεοὶ καὶ Ζεὺς the gods and above all Zeus), ἐνταῦθα ἔμειναν ἡμέρας τρεῖς καὶ ἦκε Μένων X. A. 1. 2. 6. On καὶ ταῦτα, see 947, 2083.

a. Here καί often = namely, for example, and so where an antecedent statement is explained either by another word or by an example. Cp. X. A. 1. 9. 14, 4. 1. 19, 5. 2. 9, 5. 6. 8.

2870. The heightening force is also seen where καί with corrective force may be rendered by or; often to set forth a climax and not an alternative. Thus, σοφίᾳ ὀλίγον τι πῶς ἀξιά καὶ οὐδενός wisdom worth little or nothing P. A. 23 a, μαχαιοποιοὶ . . . ἀνὰ πέντε μνᾶς καὶ ἑξ sword-cutters worth five or six minas each D. 27. 9, προιοῦσι δὲ καὶ ἀπιοῦσι πόλεμος but war if we advance or retire X. A. 2. 1. 21, καὶ δίκαια κῆδικα right or wrong Ar. Nub. 99, σὸς (γόνος), καὶ μὴ σὸς thy son, or if not thine S. O. C. 1323.

2871. καί often has an adversative force; as where it joins a negative to an affirmative clause. Here καὶ οὐ (μή) is almost = but not, as in ἐμ' ἐχειροτέρεστα καὶ οὐχ ὑμᾶς they elected me and (= but) not you D. 18. 288. So also where καί is like καίτοι and yet; as χαίρων ἀπιθί · καί σ' ἄκων ἐγὼ λείπω fare thee well; and yet I leave thee unwillingly Ar. Eq. 1250. To connect negative clauses οὐδέ is used.

2872. In questions, καί before an interrogative expression marks an objection occasioned by surprise or indignation; as καί τίς θανόντων ἦλθεν ἐξ Ἰδίου πάλιν; and, pray, who of the dead has come back from Hades? E. H. F. 297. So καί πῶς; pray, how comes it that? Cp. Eng. and when a speaker is stopped by an abrupt question.

a. After an interrogative expression adverbial καί asks for further information concerning a statement assumed to be true. Thus, ποίου χρόνου δὲ καί πεπόρθηται πόλις; but when was the city captured? A. Ag. 278. Cp. 2884.

2873. In imperative sentences καί often means and now, just. Thus, καί μοι ἀνάγνωθι τὸ ψήφισμα and now read me the bill L. 13. 35, καί μοι ἀπόκριναί just answer me P. A. 25 a.

2874. καί may mark a result (P. Th. 154 c, quoted in 2288).

2875. After expressions of sameness and likeness καί has the force of as (Lat. ac). Thus, ὁ αὐτὸς ὑμῖν στόλος ἐστὶ καὶ ἡμῖν your expedition is the same as ours X. A. 2. 2. 10, οὐχ ὁμοίως καὶ πρὶν not the same as before T. 7. 28, ἴσα καὶ ἱκέται the same as suppliants 3. 14, ταῦτά καὶ the same as X. C. 1. 3. 18. This use is commoner in prose than poetry.

2876. In expressions denoting coincidence of time καί often has the force of when. So ἔμα . . . καί (2169), ἦδη . . . καί X. A. 2. 1. 7, οὐπω . . . καί P. Eu. 277 b, οὐκ ἔφθην . . . καί (εὐθέως) I had not got the start . . . when I. 19. 22, D. 43. 69. Cp. καί . . . καί in καὶ ἤκομεν καὶ ἡμῖν ἐξελεῖσθαι ὁ θυρωρὸς . . . εἰπεὶ περιμένειν as soon as we arrived the doorkeeper came out and told us to wait P. Ph. 59 e.

2877. καί . . . καὶ both . . . and, not only . . . but also, as . . . so, as well as . . . as also, sometimes whether . . . or, emphasizes each member separately, and forms a less close combination than τὲ καί. Thus, καὶ τότε καὶ νῦν not only then but also now. So τίμας δοτέον καὶ ζῶντι καὶ τελευτήσαντι honours must be paid him both when living and after death P. R. 414 a, σὺ καὶ δέδορκας κοῦ βλέπεις thou both hast sight and (yet) dost not see S. O. T. 418, κάπεμπόμην πρὸς ταῦτα καὶ τὸ πᾶν φράσω as I was sent for this purpose so I will tell thee all S. El. 680, τολμᾷν ἀράκη, καὶν τόχῳ καὶ μὴ τόχῳ I must dare whether I succeed or fail E. Hec. 751.

2878. In a series of more than two ideas καί is used before each, where English would use and only before the last. Thus, συντυγχάνουσιν αὐτῷ καὶ λαμβάνουσιν αὐτὸν καὶ γυναῖκα καὶ παῖδας καὶ τοὺς ἵππους καὶ πάντα τὰ ὄντα they fell upon him and seized him, his wife, his children, his horses, and all his possessions X. A. 7. 8. 22.

2879. Adjectives of quantity, as πολύς and ὀλίγος in the plural, are usually joined to an adjective in the same construction by καί or τὲ καί (also by τὲ or τὲ . . . τὲ in poetry). Thus, πολλὰ καὶ δευὰ D. 37. 57 (δευὰ καὶ πολλὰ 37. 57), πολλὰ τε καὶ δευὰ X. A. 5. 5. 8. In πολλὰ καὶ μεγάλα ἀγαθὰ (X. C. 1. 5. 9), the substantive is qualified by two adjectives; whereas in English the second adject-tive is taken with the substantive and treated as a unit modified by the first adjective (many good-things).

a. πολλοί καὶ ἄλλοι means many others also (with καί adverbial). For many others we find ἄλλοι πολλοί (very common) or πολλοὶ ἄλλοι.

2880. Some combinations of conjunctive καί are :

καὶ . . . μέντοι and however, and of course (in καὶ μέντοι καὶ the first καί may be adverbial : yes indeed and).

καὶ . . . τοίνυν and . . . further, in connecting a thought with the preceding.

Adverbial καί

2881. Adverbial καί also, even (Lat. etiam) influences single words or whole clauses. Adverbial καί stresses an important idea ; usually the idea set forth in the word that follows, but sometimes also a preceding word when that word stands first in its clause. καί often serves to increase or diminish the force of particular words ; sometimes it gives a tone of modesty.

2882. With single words : a. κἄτα then too, καὶ ἐγὼ I on my part, σὸν ἔκδοτον γένος offspring from thee or me either S. El. 965, βουλόμενος δὲ καὶ αὐτὸς λαμπρὸν τι ποιῆσαι desirous of himself too doing something illustrious X. C. 5. 4. 15.

b. καὶ πρὶν even before, καὶ ὅψε late though it be, καὶ οὕτως even so, καὶ νῦν and now too, and still even now, δυνῶ καὶ λέγειν I fear even to say it, πολλὴ μωρίᾳ καὶ τοῦ ἐπιχειρήματος the very attempt is utter folly P. Pr. 317 a. On καὶ though with a participle, see 2083.

c. Often with adverbs of intensity, as καὶ μάλα exceedingly, certainly, καὶ κάρτα very greatly, καὶ πάντῃ absolutely. With comparatives and superlatives : καὶ μᾶλλον yet more, καὶ μωρότατον altogether the most foolish thing X. A. 3. 2. 22.

2883. With a whole phrase or clause ; as ἄμφω γὰρ αὐτῶ καὶ κατακτείνῃς ; what, dost thou indeed intend to put them both to death ? S. Ant. 770. Other examples in 2885-2887.

2884. When καί stresses a verb in interrogative and conditional sentences it is often to be rendered by an emphatic auxiliary, often by at all. Thus, πολλὰκις ἐσπεύσαμεν τί καὶ βούλεσθε I have often asked myself the question what you can want T. 6. 38, τί καὶ χρὴ προσδοκᾶν ; what on earth is one to expect ? D. 4. 46, τί γὰρ ἂν τις καὶ ποιῇ ἄλλο ; for what else could one do ? P. Ph. 61 e, εἰ δεῖ καὶ μῦθον λέγειν καλόν if it is well to tell a fable at all P. Ph. 110 b. Cp. 2872 a.

a. In affirmative independent clauses or sentences καί often has an emphasis which is difficult to render ; as ὁ κίνδυνος νῦν δὲ καὶ δόξειεν ἂν δεινὸς εἶναι the danger must now indeed seem to be dreadful P. Ph. 107 c.

2885. Καί of Balanced Contrast.—In order to mark the connection of thought between antecedent and consequent, καί also, too, is often placed in the subordinate clause or in the main clause or in both.

a. Greek has thus the following modes of expression where a comparison is instituted between the parts of such bimembral sentences : “ What I do, that you also do ” (as in English) or “ What I also (= I on my part) do, that you do ” or “ What I also do, that you also do. ” In the subordinate clause καί seems superfluous to English idiom.

2886. Καί of balanced contrast occurs frequently when the subordinate clause sets forth something corresponding to, or deducible from, the main clause; and when an antithesis is to be emphasized. It is found especially in relative, causal, and final clauses, and has the effect of putting such subordinate clauses on a plane with the main clause. A relative word often adds -τε or is followed by δή. Thus, τὰ δὲ τῆς πόλεως ἑπράττον, ὥστε ἔνεκεν καὶ Σωκράτει προσῆλθον they devoted themselves to those affairs of state on account of which they had in fact associated with Socrates X. M. 1.2.47, καὶ ἡμῖν ταῦτα δοκεῖ ἄπερ καὶ βασιλεῖ we hold exactly the same views as the king X. A. 2. 1. 22, ἐπειδὴ καὶ ἡ πόλις ἐσώθη . . . ἀξιῶ καὶ μοι σωτηρίαν γεγέσθαι since the city has been saved I beg that safety be granted to me as well And. 1. 143, ἔμαθον καὶ ἐγὼ ὥστε καὶ οἱ ἄλλοι I (on my part) learned just as the rest did too P. Alc. 110 d, τίμωρίᾳ γὰρ οὐκ ἐόνυχῃ δικαίως ὄτι καὶ ἀδικεῖται for vengeance is not successful in accordance with justice, because it is taken upon a wrong T. 4. 62.

2887. In final clauses ἵνα καί is common, and sometimes, like Eng. just, serves to show that the fact answers to the expectation, or the effect to the cause (or vice versa). Thus, βούλει οὖν ἔπεσθαι ἵνα καὶ ἴδῃς τοὺς ὄντας αὐτόθι; do you wish to go along then just to see those who are there? P. Lys. 204 a, ἀρξομαι δὲ ἀπὸ τῆς ἱατρικῆς λέγων ἵνα καὶ προσβέωμεν τὴν τέχνην I will begin my speech with medicine in order that we may do honour to our art P. S. 186 b.

2888. Καί of balanced contrast appears also in coördinate clauses; as ἥδη γὰρ ἔγωγε καὶ Φιλολάου ἤκουσα . . . ἥδη δὲ καὶ ἄλλων τινῶν for I have ere now heard Philolaus . . . and ere now certain others besides him P. Ph. 61 e, κατὰ πολλὰ μὲν καὶ ἄλλα, οὐχ ἥκιστα δὲ καὶ κατὰ ταῦτα as in many other respects also and not least (too) in this Aes. 1. 108, ὑπὸ τῶν τάνταῦθα διοικήσειν . . . καὶ πρὶν ὑπεσχημένων καὶ νῦν δὲ πρᾶττόντων by those who had promised to manage things there before and are now also doing them D. 7. 5. The negative of καί . . . καί . . . δέ is οὐδέ . . . οὐδέ . . . δέ.

a. So in disjunctive phrases or clauses. Thus, εἴτε διὰ τὸ ἐπιβόημα εἴτε καὶ αὐτῷ ἄλλο τι . . . δόξαν either because of the exclamation or also because some other thought occurred to him T. 5. 65; and so ἡ καὶ 2862. Cp. ἐζητεῖτο οὐδέν τι μᾶλλον ὑπὸ τῶν ἄλλων ἢ καὶ ὑπ' ἐμοῦ he was not searched for by the others more than he was by me (on my part) Ant. 5. 23.

2889. Similarly the καί of εἰ τις καὶ ἄλλος is superfluous; as εἴπερ τι καὶ ἄλλο καὶ τοῦτο μαθητόν if any other thing is learnable, this is too X. S. 2. 6. But καί is usually omitted in the main clause; as ἐπίσταται δ' εἰ τις καὶ ἄλλος he knows as well as anybody else X. A. 1. 4. 15. So ὥς τις καὶ ἄλλος as also any other X. A. 2. 6. 8.

2890. καὶ δὴ καί and especially, and in particular, and what is more, lays stress on a particular instance or application of a general statement. Here the second καί emphasizes the following word. καὶ δὴ καί is usually attached to a preceding τέ or καί. Thus, καὶ δὴ καὶ τότε πρωαίτερον συνελέγμεν and on that especial occasion we came together somewhat earlier than usual P. Ph. 69 d, ἐν ἄλλοις τε πολλοῖς καὶ δὴ καὶ ἐν τοῖς κάμνουσιν in the case of many others and particularly in that of the sick X. C. 1. 6. 21.

2891. καὶ . . . καὶ and . . . also, and . . . moreover. Here καί emphasizes the important intervening word or words, while δέ connects. Thus, καί σέ δ' ἐν τοῖς λέγω and I count thee also among these A. Pr. 973. And also not is οὐδέ . . . δέ. Hom. has καί δέ and further, and even (H 113), not καί . . . δέ. καί . . . δέ (for τε) is different (S. Ant. 432).

καίτεπ

2892. καίτεπ although is common with participles (2083). As a conjunction (cp. quoniam) without a main clause it is very rare (P. S. 219 c).

καίτοι

2893. καίτοι (καί + τοί), not in Homer, means and yet, although, rarely and so then. Here τοί marks something worthy of note, which is commonly opposed to what precedes. καίτοι is used in making a correction (sometimes in the form of a question), in passing to a new idea, and in the statement of a conclusion. The common καίτοι . . . γε is stronger than καίτοι.

καίτοι οὐδέν ἐστι οὐκ ἀληθές εἶρηκα ὡν προεῖπον and yet there is nothing untrue in what I said before P. Euth. 3 c.

a. A sentence preceding καίτοι is often restated by a clause introduced by ἀλλά (ἀλλ' ὅμως), δέ, or νῦν δέ. Cp. P. Ph. 77 a, Charm. 175 c, A. 40 b, G. 499 c.

b. καίτοι is rarely, if ever, used with the participle in classical Greek. It is best attested in P. R. 511 d; emendation is resorted to in L. 31. 34, Ar. Eccl. 159.

μά

2894. μά asseverative (cp. μήν, μέν asseverative) with the accusative of the divinity or thing by which one swears. In negative sentences we have οὐ μά or μά alone with the accusative; in affirmative sentences, ναί μά, but more commonly νή. The omission of the accusative may sometimes be due to indecision or to indifference and not always to scrupulousness (1596 c). μά means properly in truth, verily; but apparently governs the accusative after the ellipse of such verbs as I call to witness.

2895. μέν was originally an asseverative, emphatic particle (surely, certainly, indeed) and a weaker form of μήν. Cp. Epic ἦ μέν, καὶ μέν, οὐ μέν in asseverations and protestations. Asseverative μέν survived as μέν solitarius and in combination with other particles. Antithetical (concessive) μέν owes its origin to the fact that, as emphasis may indicate a contrast, the clause in which μέν stood was felt as preliminary to an adversative member of the sentence. Through association with this adversative member μέν gradually lost its primitive asseverative force.

2896. μέν solitarius occurs when a clause with μέν is not followed by a clause with δέ. This is especially common when the antithetical clause is to be supplied in thought, as when μέν emphasizes a statement made by a person with reference to himself as opposed to others (often with a tone of arrogance or of credulity). Here any possible opposition or difference of opinion, however justifiable, is left unexpressed. Thus, ἐγὼ μέν οὐκ οἶδα I for my part do not know (though others may) X. C. 1. 4. 12, ἀπέπλευσαν, ὡς μέν τοῖς πλείστοις ἐδόκειν, φιλοτιμηθέντες they sailed away since they were jealous as it seemed to the majority at least X. A. 1. 4. 7. So in such phrases as δοκῶ μέν, ἡγοῦμαι μέν, οἶμαι μέν.

2897. Sometimes μέν solitarius merely emphasizes a word in its clause and does not imply a contrast. Thus, ἐμοὶ μέν οἰστέρα τάδε this must be borne by me on my part S. O. C. 1360.

2898. μέν solitarius is commonest after personal pronouns; but occurs also after demonstrative pronouns (L. 25. 16), after relatives (Aes. 3. 209), after substantives without the article (D. 9. 15), or after the article and before its substantive (L. 29. 1), after adjectives (L. 1. 27), after adverbs (L. 12. 91), after verbs (D. 19. 231). In questions μέν alone is rare (P. Men. 82 b).

2899. In combination with other particles, especially δὴ and οὖν, asseverative μέν either has a simple confirmatory force or is used adversatively. The following cases must be distinguished from those in which μέν is correlative to δέ.

2900. μέν δὴ expresses positive certainty, especially in conclusions. It is common in summing up and in transitions, and is used either alone or with other particles (sometimes it is followed by ἀλλὰ or δέ). Thus, ταῦτα μέν δὴ τοιαῦτα so much for that A. Pr. 600. So also, e.g. ἀλλὰ μέν δὴ but certainly in fact (ἀλλ' οὐδὲ μέν δὴ in rejecting an alternative); εἰ μέν δὴ if indeed in truth; καὶ μέν δὴ and in truth, and in fact (often in transitions); οὐ μέν δὴ certainly not at all, nor yet, in truth (often used adversatively).

2901. μέν οὖν lit. certainly in fact, μέν being a weaker form of μήν. μέν οὖν has two common uses, according as the particles have a compound force, or each has its own force.

a. The compound force of μέν οὖν is seen in affirmations; as in replies: πάνν (μάλιστα) μέν οὖν yes, by all means; certainly, by all means; ἀγε truly, εὖ μέν οὖν οἶδα ay, I am sure of it, οὐ μέν οὖν indeed not, ἂν' οὐ τόδε ἦν τὸ δένδρον ἐφ' ὅπερ ἦγες ἡμᾶς; τοῦτο μέν οὖν αὐτὸ isn't this the tree to which you were bringing us? To be sure this is it P. Phae. 230 a.

b. The compound force appears also when μέν οὖν indicates a correction; nay rather (imo vero); as λέγε σύ· σὺ μέν οὖν μοι λέγε do you say. Nay, rather you Ar. Eq. 13, ἀποπον τὸ ἐνύπνιον, ὃ Σώκρατες. ἐναργὲς μέν οὖν the dream is strange, Socrates. Nay rather, it was distinct P. Cr. 44 b.

c. Each particle has its own force especially where μέν οὖν indicates a transition to a new subject. Here μέν points forward to an antithesis to follow and indicated by δέ, ἀλλά, μέντοι, while οὖν (inferential) connects with what precedes. Here so then, therefore may be used in translation. Thus, Κλέαρχος μέν οὖν τοσαῦτα εἶπε. Τισσαφέρης δὲ ὡς ἀπημείβετο such then were the words of Clearchus; and on the other hand Tissaphernes answered as follows X. A. 2. 5. 15

Sometimes μέν ἰδν (like igitur) shows that a subject announced in general terms is now to be treated in detail (P. Ph. 70 c).

2902. Common collocations are ἀλλὰ μέν (ἀλλὰ . . . μέν) but for a fact, γὰρ μέν, ἥ μέν, καὶ μέν.

2903. Antithetical (concessive) μέν distinguishes the word or clause in which it stands from a following word or clause marked usually by δέ or by other particles denoting contrast, such as ἀλλὰ, ἀτάρ, μέντοι, μήν; and even by copulative τέ, καὶ (Hom. ἡδέ). μέν never connects words, clauses, or sentences.

2904. μέν . . . δέ serves to mark stronger or weaker contrasts of various kinds, and is sometimes to be rendered by on the one hand . . . on the other hand, indeed . . . but; but is often to be left untranslated. The μέν clause has a concessive force when it is logically subordinate (while, though, whereas, cp. 2170). Thus, ἡ μέν ψυχὴ πολυχρόνιον ἐστί, τὸ δὲ σῶμα ἀσθενέστερον καὶ ὀλιγοχρονιώτερον the soul lasts for a long time, the body is weaker and lasts for a shorter time P. Ph. 87 d, καὶ πρόσθεν μέν δὴ πολλοὶ ἡμῶν ἤρχον μέν οὐδενός, ἤρχοντο δέ· νῦν δὲ κατεσκεύασθε οὕτω πάντες οἱ παρόντες ὥστε ἀρχετέ οἱ μέν πλείονων, οἱ δὲ μειόνων and whereas in fact many of us hitherto commanded no one, but were subject to the command of others, now however all of you who are present are so placed that you have command, some over more, others over fewer X. C. 8. 1. 4.

a. So ἄλλοτε μέν . . . ἄλλοτε δέ, ἅμα μέν . . . ἅμα δέ at once . . . and, partly . . . partly, ἔνθα μέν . . . ἔνθα δέ, ἐνταῦθα μέν . . . ἐκεῖ δέ, πρῶτον μέν . . . ἔπειτα δέ (or ἔπειτα alone). (On ὁ μέν . . . ὁ δέ see 1107. Instead of ὁ (οἱ) δέ we find e.g. ἄλλος δέ, ἕνιοι δέ, ἔστι δ' οἱ. So τοῦτο μέν . . . τοῦτ' ἄλλο (or αὐτός). — μέν may stand with a participle, δέ with a finite verb, in an antithetical sentence Example in 2127 c.

b. εἰ, οὐ (μή) standing before μέν . . . δέ exercise their force on both opposed clauses.

2905. When several verbs referring to the same person or thing are contrasted, or when several attributes are contrasted, the first has μέν, the others δέ. Cp. Lyc. 5, X. A. 3. 1. 19. But μέν is sometimes omitted.

2906. μέν . . . δέ is used in successive clauses which contain either the same word (anaphora) or a synonymous word; as ἐγὼ δὲ σθένειμ μέν θεοῖς, σθένειμ δὲ ἀνθρώποις τοῖς ἀγαθοῖς quoted in 1159, ἦλθε μέν καὶ ἀπὸ τῆς Ἐρυθραίας ἀγγελίᾳ, ἀφίκνυτο δὲ καὶ πανταχόθεν νεῖος came from the district of Erythrae itself and arrived also from all quarters T. 3. 33. But μέν is sometimes omitted, as στήσω σ' ἀγων, στήσω δ' ἐμμαντόν I will bring thee and establish thee, and I will establish myself S. O. C. 1342.

2907. If more than two clauses are contrasted, only the first clause has μέν, while each of the following clauses has δέ (X. A. 1. 3. 14, X. C. 4. 2. 28).

2908. A contrast indicated by μέν and δέ may stand inside another contrast indicated in the same manner, as ὁ μέν ἀνὴρ τοιαῦτα μέν πεποίηκε, τοιαῦτα δὲ λέγει· βμῶν δὲ σὺ πρῶτος, ὦ Κλέαρχε, ἀπόφθαι γνώμην δ τι σοι δοκεῖ the man has acted thus, and speaks thus; but do you, Clearchus, be the first to make known what you think best X. A. 1. 6. 9.

2909. Two relative (or conditional) clauses each with μέν may be followed by two demonstrative clauses each with δέ; but the second δέ is usually omitted, and there are other variations. Thus, ὅποσοι μὲν . . . οὗτοι μὲν . . . ὅποσοι δέ . . . τούτους ὁρῶ X. A. 3. 1. 48, cp. X. O. 4. 7, P. A. 28 e.

2910. A clause with μέν is often followed by a contrasted clause without δέ but with a particle containing an element of opposition, as πρῶτον μὲν . . . ἔπειτα . . . ἔτρα.

2911. A shift in the construction may cause δέ to be omitted (S. Ant. 1199).

2912. μέν after an emphatic demonstrative may resume μέν of the antecedent clause (D. 2. 18).

2913. μὲν . . . τε (and even καί) is used where the second clause is merely added instead of being coördinated by means of δέ. Thus, ταχὺ μὲν ὅποι ἔδει περιγυρόμεθα ἄνθρωποι τε τῷ ἄρχοντι ἐπόμενοι ἀνυπόστατοι ἦμεν we have quickly reached the places to which we had to go, and by following our leader in a compact body we have been invincible X. C. 8. 1. 3.

2914. Position of μέν (and δέ). — μέν and δέ are commonly placed next to the words they contrast, and take precedence over other postpositive particles. But when two words belong closely together, μέν and δέ are placed between. Thus, when nouns with the article are contrasted, μέν and δέ stand after the article; if the nouns depend on prepositions μέν and δέ stand after the preposition and before the article.

a. But this rule may be neglected in order to emphasize the preceding word, as τὰ μὲν ἀνθρώπινα παρέντες, τὰ δαιμόνια δὲ σκοποῦντες neglecting human affairs, but speculating on things divine X. M. 1. 1. 12, ἀνὰ τὸ σκοτεινὸν μὲν in the darkness T. 8. 22.

b. If the noun has no article and is governed by a preposition, δέ usually takes the third place.

c. Postponement of δέ (and some other postpositive particles) to the fourth place is only apparent after an introductory vocative, which is not regarded as forming an integral part of the sentence.

2915. μέν and δέ are sometimes referred to the entire clause or to the predicate and not to the words that are opposed to each other. This arrangement is often adopted to preserve the symmetry of the juxtaposed clause. μέν and δέ are thus often placed after personal or demonstrative pronouns. Thus, ἔλεγεν μὲν ὡς τὸ πολὺ, τοῖς δὲ βουλομένοις ἐξῆν ἀκοῦειν Socrates for the most part was wont to talk, while any who chose could listen X. M. 1. 1. 10, πῶς ἂν πολλοὶ μὲν ἐπεθύμουν τυραννῆν . . . πῶς δὲ πάντες ἐξήλουν ἂν τοὺς τυράννους; why should many desire to possess despotic power? why should everybody envy despotic rulers? X. Hl. 1. 9 (for πάντες δὲ πῶς ἐξήλουν ἂν). Cp. ἐν μὲν τούτοις . . . ἐν ἐκείνοις δὲ Lyc. 140, περὶ αὐτῶν μὲν . . . περὶ δὲ τῶν δεσποτῶν L. 7. 35, etc.

a. The transposition is often designed to produce a chiasmic (3020) order, as ἔπαθε μὲν οὐδέν, πολλὰ δὲ κακὰ ἐνόμιζε ποιῆσαι he suffered no loss, but thought that he had done a great deal of damage X. A. 3. 4. 2 (here οὐδέν and πολλὰ are brought close together).

2916. In poetry μέν and δέ often have a freer position than in prose. δέ may often come third when an emphatic word is placed before it, and even fourth.

μέντοι

2917. μέντοι (postpositive) from μέν (=μήν, 2895) + τοί, is an asseverative and adversative particle.

2918. Asseverative μέντοι certainly, surely, of course, in truth is very common in replies, where it expresses positive, eager, or reflective assent. Often with νή (μά) Δία. Thus, ἐγώ; σὺ μέντοι ἴ? certainly, you Ar. Eq. 168, τί γάρ, ἔφη, . . . μέμνησαι ἐκεῖνα . . . ; ναι μά Δία . . . μέμνημαι μέντοι τοιαῦτα ἀκούσας σου well then, said he, do you recall those matters; Yes, by Zeus, certainly I do recall that I heard things to that effect from you X. C. 1. 6. 6, ἀληθέστατα μέντοι λέγεις well, certainly you say what is very true P. Soph. 245 b.

μέντοι may strengthen asseverations or emphasize questions; as οὕτω μέντοι χρὴ λέγειν in truth we must speak thus P. Th. 187 b; often with demonstrative pronouns, as ὁ τοῦτο μέντοι νή Δία αὐτοῖσιν πιθεῖ οἱ, by Zeus do oblige them in this Ar. Aves 661.

a. Asseverative μέντοι in combinations, e.g.:

ἀλλὰ μέντοι but surely, but in fact (in ἀλλὰ . . . μέντοι, μέντοι refers to the preceding word).

καὶ . . . μέντοι and . . . indeed, and . . . in fact, and . . . moreover, as φιλοθρόντατος ἦν καὶ πρὸς τὰ θηρὶν μέντοι φιλοκινδυνότατος he was very fond of hunting and moreover exceedingly fond of danger X. A. 1. 9. 6.

οὐ μέντοι no indeed (also adversative: yet not).

2919. Adversative μέντοι however, yet often marks a contrast or a transition; as ἀφιεμέν σε, ἐπὶ τούτῳ μέντοι we let you go, on this condition however P. A. 29 c. μέντοι γε is stronger. μὲν . . . μέντοι is much stronger than μὲν . . . δέ, as φιλοσόφῳ μὲν ἔοικας . . . ἴσθι μέντοι ἀνθρώπος ὧν you resemble a philosopher—know however that you are a fool X. A. 2. 1. 13. On οὐ μέντοι ἀλλὰ (γε) see 2767.

μήν

2920. μήν (postpositive): (1) asseverative, in truth, surely; (2) adversative, especially after a negative, yet, however. The forms μήν (Hom., Att.), μᾶν (Hom., Lesb., Dor., lyric parts of tragedy), μὲν truly (Hom., Att.) and μά in oaths are all connected. μήν emphasizes either a whole statement or a single word.

ὦδε γὰρ ἐξέρω, καὶ μήν τετελεσμένον ἔσται for thus I will declare, and verily it shall be accomplished Ψ 410; καλὸν μὲν ἢ ἀλήθεια . . . , εἰκοι μήν οὐ ῥᾶδιον πείθειν truth is a fine thing, yet it does not seem an easy thing to persuade P. I. 663 e. εἰ δ' ἄγε μήν come now, on then A 302, οὐδέν μήν κωλεῖ but nothing hinders P. Phae. 268 e.

2921. Combinations of μήν:

ἀλλὰ μήν ( . . . γε) but surely; but yet; nay, indeed; well, in truth. Often used to add something of greater importance, or in transitions when a new idea is opposed to the foregoing. ἀλλὰ μήν is often separated by a negative. ἦ μήν verily, verily. Often to introduce an oath or a threat.

καὶ μὴν and verily or and yet according to the context. καὶ μὴν frequently introduces a new fact or thought and hence often denotes transition, sometimes opposition (further, however, and yet). In tragedy this formula is used to mark the beginning of a new scene, as when the arrival of a newcomer is thus signalized (but here comes); as καὶ μὴν ἀναξ ὅδε and lo! here is the king S. O. C. 549. In replies, καὶ μὴν usually confirms the last remark, accedes to a request, or denotes hearty assent; sometimes there is an adversative sense (and yet; and (yet) surely; oh, but). In enumerations, καὶ μὴν adds a new fact (and besides).

καὶ μὴν . . . γε in transitions or enumerations marks something of still greater importance; but it is not so strong as καὶ μὲν δὲ. Here γε emphasizes the word or words with which it is immediately connected. In replies, and indeed, and yet or oh, but; as καὶ μὴν ποιήσω γε and yet I will do it S. El. 1045.

καὶ μὴν καὶ (neg. καὶ μὴν οὐδέ) and in truth also.

οὐ μὴν surely not, οὐ μὴν ἀλλὰ nevertheless (2767), οὐ μὴν οὐδέ nor again (2768), οὐδέ μὴν and certainly not.

τί μὴν; lit. what indeed (quid uero), as ἀλλὰ τί μὴν δοκεῖς; but what in truth is your opinion ? P. Th. 162 b. τί μὴν; standing alone, has the force of naturally, of course. Thus, λέγουσιν ἡμᾶς ὡς ὀλωλότας, τί μὴν; they speak of us as dead, and why should they not ? A. Ag. 672. Often in Plato to indicate assent. τί μὴν οὐ; (why indeed not =) of course I do.

ναί, νή

2922. ναί (cp. Lat. nae) asseverative (truly, yea), with the accusative in oaths where it is usually followed by μά (1596 b). ναί yes, in answers, is found only in Attic.

2923. νή (cp. Lat. nē) asseverative (truly, yea), with the accusative in oaths, and only in an affirmative sense. νή is found only in Attic. See 1596 b.

νῦν, νῦντί, νῦν, νύν, νύ

2924. νῦν now, at present often has a causal sense, as νῦν δέ but as the case stands, as it is; often to mark reality in contrast to an assumed case.

2925. νῦντί (νῦν + deictic τί, 333 g) is stronger than νῦν: even now, at this moment; rarely in a causal sense.

2926. νῦν (enclitic; lyric, tragic, Herodotus, rare and suspected in Homer), a weakened form of νῦν, is rarely temporal, usually inferential, as now is used for then, therefore. νῦν thus marks the connection of the speaker's thought with the situation in which he is placed. It is commonly used after imperatives, prohibitive and hortatory subjunctives. Thus, κάθιζε νῦν με seat me, then S. O. C. 21. In Xenophon and Plato νῦν is written by some editors, where the Mss. have νῦν (X. C. 4. 2. 37, H. 4. 1. 30).

2927. νῦν (enclitic) is adopted by some scholars in Attic tragedy where a long syllable is required (S. O. T. 644). Others write νῦν (with the force of νῦν).

2928. νῦ (enclitic; Epic and Cyprian), a still weaker form of νῦν, and less emphatic than δὲ. It is common in questions and appeals; less frequent in statements; as τίς νῦ; who now ? Also after other particles, as καὶ νύ κε, ἢ ῥά νῦ.

ὅπως

2929. ὅπως, originally a relative adverb meaning how, is derived from the relative particle σφοδ (with which Eng. so is connected), to which the indefinite πώς has been added. Hom. ὅπως from σφοδ-πως, as ὅττι from σφοδ-τι (81 D 2).

a. The adverbial meaning of ὅπως is still seen in its use as an indefinite relative and as an indirect interrogative; and by the fact that in its place ὅν, ὅτῳ τρόπῳ, ἐξ ὅτου τρόπου are sometimes used. By association with the subjunctive ὅπως became a conjunction (cp. μή πως) used with or without ἄν in final clauses (see 2196, 2201). On the use as a conjunction in object clauses after verbs of effort and of fear, see 2211, 2228. So in dependent statements ὅπως passed from how into that (2578 d).

οὐδέ, οὔτε (μηδέ, μήτε)

2930. οὐδέ (μηδέ) is an adverb and a conjunction, and is to be broken up into the negative οὐ (μή) and δέ meaning and, even, also, or but.

οὐδέ (μηδέ) as an Adverb

2931. Adverbial οὐδέ (μηδέ) not even, not . . . either, also . . . not, nor yet (ne . . . quidem). Cp. the use of καί even, also in affirmative sentences; as οὐδ' ὥς not even in that case (καί ὥς even in that case).

ἀλλ' οὐδέ τούτων στερήσονται but no: even of these shall they be deprived X. A. 1. 4. 8, ὅτ' οὐδ' οὕτω ῥᾶδιον ἦν when besides it was not so easy I. 18. 65 (= καὶ οὐ also not). With οὐδ' ei (ἐάν) not even if οὐ belongs with the main clause, while δέ even goes with the dependent clause. Thus, οὐδ' ἂν ei βούλοιντο, ῥαδίως ποιεῖν γένοιτο even if they wished, they could not easily become wicked X. C. 7. 6. 86 (= καὶ ei βούλονται, οὐκ ἂν γένοιτο). Similarly with a participle: οὐδέ περὶ τοῦ κακῶς ἐχθρὸν εἶναι μοι τοῦτον ὁμολογῶ I do not admit that this man is my enemy even though I have been ill-used D. 21. 205.

οὐδέ (μηδέ) as a Conjunction

2932. οὐδέ (μηδέ) as a conjunction (and not, nor) connects two or more whole clauses.

2933. In Attic prose οὐδέ is used only to join a negative clause to another clause itself negative; as οὐδεμία ἐλπίς ἦν τιμωρίᾳ οὐδέ ἄλλη σωτηρίᾳ ἐφαινότο there was no hope of assistance nor did any chance of safety appear T. 3. 20.

a. A negative clause is joined to an affirmative clause by καὶ οὐ (μή). Thus, ἐμμένῳ τῇ ξυμμαχίᾳ . . . καὶ οὐ παραβήσομαι I will abide by the alliance and I will not violate it T. 5. 47. καὶ οὐ (μή) may have an adversative force (but not).

N. — But in poetry and Ionic prose οὐδέ may continue an affirmative clause; as δεινὸν γὰρ οὐδέ ῥητὸν dread indeed and not to be uttered S. Ph. 756.

2934. οὐδέ is used by the poets for but not, where Attic prose writers have ἀλλ' οὐ or καὶ οὐ. Thus, ἐνθ' ἄλλοις μὲν πᾶσιν ἐνθάδην, οὐδέ ποθ' Ἥρῃ οὐδέ Περσε- δάωνι then it was pleasing to all the others, but not to Hera or to Poseidon Ω 25, ἐμαῖσι οὐδέ σαῖσι δυσβουλίας by my folly but not by thine S. Ant. 1269 (cp. the negative form οὐκ ἐμὸν τόδ' ἀλλὰ σόν this is not my part, but thine S. El. 1470). Cp. σοὺ τάδε κινδυνεύεις, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἐμοῦ ἀκηκοέναι you probably heard this from yourself and not from me P. Alc. 118 c.

2935. οὐδέ may stand in an apodosis corresponding to apodotic δέ (2837). Cp. S. O. C. 590.

2936. οὐδέ may negative a preceding word also; as αἱ Φοίνισσαι νῆες οὐδέ ὁ Τισσαφέρνης . . . ἦκον the Phoenician ships had not arrived nor had Tissaphernes T. 8.99. Cp. 2943. In such cases we usually find another negative, which goes with the verb; as ἀπλοῦν μὲν οὐδέ δίκαιον οὐδὲν ἂν εἰπεῖν ἔχοι he could say nothing straightforward nor just D. 22. 4.

οὐδέ (μηδέ) with other Negatives

2937. οὔτε . . . οὔτε commonly means not even . . . nor yet (or no, nor), the first οὐδέ being adverbial, the second conjunctive. οὐδέ . . . οὐδέ is not correlative, like οὔτε . . . οὔτε, and hence never means neither . . . nor. Thus, οὐδέ ἥλιον οὐδέ σελήνην ἄρα νομίζω θεοὺς εἶναι; do I then hold that not even the sun nor yet the moon are gods? P. A. 26 c, σύ γε οὐδέ δρῶν γιγνώσκεις οὐδέ ἀκούων μέμνησαι you do not even understand though you see, nor yet do you remember though you hear X. A. 3. 1. 27. οὐδέ . . . οὐδέ both copulative (and not . . . nor yet) in X. C. 3. 3. 50. οὔτε . . . οὔτε . . . τε is the negative of καὶ . . . καὶ . . . δέ in X. A. 1. 8. 20.

a. So in both members of comparative sentences (cp. καὶ 2885); as ὥσπερ οὐδέ γεωργοῦ ἄργου οὐδὲν ὕψελος, οὕτως οὐδέ στρατηγοῦ ἀργούontos οὐδὲν ὕψελος as there is no good in an idle tiller of the soil, so there is no good in an idle general X. C. 1. 3. 18.

2938. οὔτε γὰρ οὔτε (negative of καὶ γὰρ καὶ); as οὐδέ γὰρ οὐδέ τοῦτο ἐψεύσατο for neither did he deceive me even in this X. C. 7. 2. 20. Here the first οὐδέ negatives the whole sentence, the second οὐδέ negatives τοῦτο.

2939. οὐ . . . οὔτε: οὐδέ not even as well as nor (2933) may resume a preceding οὐ. Thus, ὕβριν γὰρ οὐ στέργουσιν οὐδέ δαίμονες lit. not even the gods do not love insolence S. Tr. 280, οὐ μέντοι ἔφη νομίζειν οὐδ' αἰ παμπόνηρος ἦν Δέξιππος βιά χρῆναι πάσχειν αὐτόν he said however that he did not think that, even if Dexippus was a downright rascal, he ought to suffer by an act of violence X. A. 6. 6. 25, οὐ δεῖ δὴ τοῦτον . . . καρὸν ἀφεῖναι οὐδέ παθεῖν ταῦτόν ὅπερ . . . πεπόνθατε ice must not let such an opportunity go by nor suffer the same as you have suffered D. 1. 8.

οὐ μέντοι οὔτε not by any means however. On οὐ μὴν οὔτε see 2768.

2940. οὔτε . . . οὐ: οὐδέ may be resumed by οὐ; as οὐδέ γε ὁ ἰδίᾳ πομπῶς οὐκ ἂν γένοιτο δημοσίᾳ χρηστός nor can the man who is bad in his private life prove himself good in a public capacity Aes. 3. 78.

2941. οὔτε . . . οὔτε is rare (P. Charm. 171 b).

οὔτε (μήτε)

2942. οὔτε (μήτε) is usually repeated: οὔτε . . . οὔτε (μήτε . . . μήτε) neither . . . nor (nec . . . nec). οὔτε . . . οὔτε is the negative of τὸ . . . τέ, and unites single words or clauses.

οὔτε ἔστιν οὔτε ποτὲ ἔσται neither is nor ever shall be P. Phae. 241 c, οὔτε Χειρίσσοφος ἦκεν οὔτε πλοῖα ἱκανὰ ἦν οὔτε τὰ ἐπιτήδεια ἦν λαμβάνειν ἔτι neither had Chirisophus come nor were there enough boats nor was it possible any longer to secure provisions X. A. 5. 3. 1.

After a negative clause: οὐκ ἔπειθεν οὔτε τοὺς στρατηγούς οὔτε τοὺς στρατιώτας he could not persuade either the generals or the soldiers T. 4. 4.

a. οὔτε . . . μήτε is found when each negative is determined by a different construction, as ἀναιδὴς οὐτ' εἰμὶ μήτε γενοίμην neither am I nor may I become shameless D. 8. 68.

b. When οὔτε . . . οὔτε stands between οὐδέ . . . οὐδέ the members thus correlated are subordinate to those expressed by οὐδέ . . . οὐδέ. Cp. Aes. 1. 19.

2944. For the first οὔτε the poets sometimes have οὐ, as οὐ κρητός οὐτ' ἀρ χειμών not snow nor storm δ 586.

2945. οὔτε . . . τέ on the one hand not . . . but, not only not . . . but (cp. neque . . . et). The τέ clause often denotes the contrary of that set forth in the οὔτε clause (so far from). Thus, οὔτε διεποθήσθην πώποτε ἀποστερήσαι ἀποδώσω τε so far from ever thinking to deprive them of their pay I will give it to them X. A. 7. 7. 48, ὥμοσαν . . . μήτε προδώσειν ἀλλήλους σύμμαχοι τε ἕσθαι they swore that they would not betray one another and that they would be allies 2. 2. 8. So οὔτε . . . οὔτε . . . τέ. τὲ . . . οὔτε is not used.

a. Sometimes the negative may be added in the τέ clause: οὔτε ἐκεῖνος ἔτι κατενόησε τό τε μαντεῖον οὐκ ἰδὲόν neither did he stop to consider and the oracle would not make it plain T. 1. 126.

2946. οὔτε . . . τε οὐ S. Ant. 763. οὔτε . . . τε . . . οὔτε E. H. F. 1341.

2947. οὔτε . . . δέ is used when the second clause is opposed to the first; as οὔτε πλοῖά ἐστιν οἷς ἀποπλευρούμεθα, μένουσι δὲ αὐτοῦ οὐδέ μίᾱς ἡμέρας ἔστι τὰ ἐπιτήδεια we have no vessels by which we can sail away; on the other hand, if we stay here, we haven't provisions even for a single day X. A. 6. 8. 16. Cp. E. Supp. 223, P. R. 388 e, 389 a.

2948. οὔτε . . . οὐ is rare in prose; as οὔτε κρητός, οὐκ ὕμνος neither rain nor snow Hdt. 8. 98. Cp. S. Ant. 249. οὔτε . . . οὐ . . . οὔτε A. Fr. 479. οὐ . . . οὔτε is generally changed to οὐ . . . οὐδέ in Attic prose.

2949. οὔτε . . . οὐδέ corresponds to the sequence of τὲ . . . δέ in affirmative clauses. The emphatic οὐδέ here adds a new negative idea as after any other preceding negative; and is most common after οὔτε . . . οὔτε: neither . . . nor . . . no, nor yet (nor . . . either). οὐδέ is often followed by an emphasizing particle, as αἰ, γέ, μήν. Thus, οὔτε πόλις οὔτε πολιτεία οὐδέ γ' ἀνὴρ neither a State nor a constitution nor yet an individual P. R. 499 b, μήτε παιδεία . . . μήτε δικαστήρια μήτε νόμοι μηδὲ ἀνάγκη μηδεμία neither education nor courts of justice nor laws, no nor yet restraint P. Pr. 327 d.

2950. A subordinate clause with οὐδέ may come between οὔτε . . . οὔτε. Thus, οὔτε γὰρ ὡς ὀφείλοντά με κατέλειπεν ὁ πατήρ . . . ἀπέφηνεν οὐδέ . . . παρέσχηται μάρτυρας οὐτ' αὖ τὸν ἀριθμὸν . . . ἐπαπέφερον for neither did he show that my father left me in debt, nor yet has he adduced witnesses, nor did he put into the account the sum D. 27. 49.

οὐκοῦν, οὕκουν

2951. οὐκοῦν interrogative: not therefore? not then? (nonne, igitur? nonne ergo?). Here the stress lies on the inferential οὖν and an affirmative answer is expected as a matter of course. οὐκοῦν stands at the beginning of its clause.

οὐκοῦν . . . εἰ σοι δοκοῦσι βουλεύεσθαι; πρὸς γε ἃ ὁρῶσι do you not then think that they lay their plans well? Yes, with regard to what they see X. C. 7. 1. 8.

a. When a negative answer is expected we have οὐκοῦν οὐ (P. Phil. 43 d).

b. οὐκοῦν and οὐ stand in parallel questions in X. A. 1. 6. 7-8.

c. Some scholars write οὕκουν or οὐκ οὐ for οὐκοῦν interrogative (and inferential).

2952. οὐκοῦν inferential: then, well then, therefore, accordingly (ergo, igitur). Inferential οὐκοῦν was developed, probably in colloquial speech, from the interrogative use, the speaker anticipating the affirmative answer to his question and emphasizing only the inference. From the negative question all that was left was an expression of his own opinion on the part of the speaker. οὐκοῦν has become so completely equivalent to οὖν that a negative has to be added if one is required.

οὐκοῦν, ὅταν δὴ μὴ σθένω, πεπαύσομαι well then, when my strength fails, I shall cease S. Ant. 91, 7. . . τοὺς ἀμύνεσθαι κελεύοντας πόλεμον ποιεῖν φήσομεν; οὐκοῦν ὑπόλοιπον δουλεῖν or shall we say that those who bid us defend ourselves make war? Then it is left for us to be slaves D. 8. 59. οὐκοῦν is used even with imperatives; as οὐκοῦν . . . ἱκανῶς ἐχέτω accordingly let it suffice P. Phae. 274 b.

a. Editors often differ whether, in certain cases, οὐκοῦν is interrogative or inferential.

2953. οὕκουν not then, therefore not, so not, at any rate . . . not, surely not (non igitur, non ergo). Here οὐ is strongly emphasized, and οὖν is either confirmative or inferential. οὕκουν is usually placed at the beginning of its clause.

a. In emphatic negative answers; as οὕκουν ἔμοιγε δοκεῖ certainly not, in my opinion at least X. O. 1. 9.

b. In continuous discourse (P. L. 807 a).

c. οὕκουν . . . γε returns a negative answer with qualified acquiescence in a preceding statement. Thus, τούτων ἄρα Ζεὺς ἐστὶν ἀσθενέστερος; οὕκουν ἂν ἐκβύγοι γε τὴν πεπρωμένην is Zeus then weaker than these? Fate at least he surely cannot escape A. Pr. 517.

d. In impatient or excited questions (non ? non igitur?). Thus, οὐκ οὖν ἐπεὶ ποτ', εἴτ' ἀπαλλαχθεὶς ἀπει; will thou not speak and so depart and be gone? S. Ant. 244.

2954. οὐκ (μὴ) οὖν is to be distinguished from οὐκοῦν or οὕκουν. Thus, ὅποτε καὶ πείρα του σφαλείην, οὐκ οὖν καὶ τὴν πόλιν γε τῆς σφετέρᾳς ἀρετῆς ἀξιοῦντες στερίσκουν whenever they were foiled in any attempt they did not for this reason think it right to deprive their city of their valour T. 2. 43 (μὴ οὖν 8. 91).

a. Hdt. has οὐκ ὦν (sometimes written οὕκων) to emphasize an idea opposed to what goes before (non tamen). Thus, ταῦτα λέγοντες τοὺς Κροτωνιῆτᾶς οὐκ ὦν ἔπειθον by these words they did not however persuade the men of Croton 8. 137.

οὖν

2955. οὖν (Ionic, Lesbian, Doric ὦν), a postpositive particle, is either confirmatory or inferential. οὖν points to something already mentioned or known or to the present situation.

2956. Confirmatory οὖν in fact, at all events, in truth belongs properly to the entire clause, but usually, for purposes of emphasis, attaches itself to some other particle, to a relative pronoun, or at times to other words (P. A. 22 b). On γοῦν. see 2830; on μὲν οὖν, 2901; on τοιγαροῦν, 2987. In some of its combinations with other particles οὖν may be inferential or transitional.

2957. ἀλλ' οὖν or ἀλλ' ὦν . . . γε (stronger than δ' οὖν) well, at all events; well, certainly, for that matter; as ἀλλ' οὖν ποιεῖν γε φαινόμενοι well, at all events they look like sorry fellows, that they are X. C. 1. 4. 19, ἀλλ' οὖν τοσοῦτόν γ' ἴσθι well, at any rate you know this at least S. Ph. 1305. ἀλλ' οὖν may stand in the apodosis to an hypothetical proposition (P. Ph. 91 b).

2958. γὰρ οὖν (and καὶ γὰρ οὖν) for in fact (indeed, in any case); as εὖ γὰρ οὖν λέγεις for indeed thou sayest well S. Ant. 1255, δὴρῆσεσθε ἀκούοντες· μέλλω γὰρ οὖν ἄττα ὑμῖν εἰπεῖν καὶ ἄλλα you will profit by listening; for I am certainly going to tell you some other things P. A. 30 c.

Also to mark a consequence (X. A. 1. 9. 11), and in replies, as οὐ γὰρ οὖν P. Phae. 277 e, and also when the speaker repeats an important word of his interlocutor, as φημὶ γὰρ οὖν P. G. 466 e.

2959. δ' οὖν but certainly, at all events, anyhow, be that as it may with or without μὲν in the preceding clause. Here οὖν shows that an unquestionable fact is to be set forth in its own clause; while the adversative δέ marks opposition to what has preceded and implies that the foregoing statement is uncertain and liable to dispute: 'be that true or not, at any rate what follows is certainly true.' δ' οὖν is used (a) to set aside conjecture, surmise, or hearsay; (b) to resume the main argument after long digression, and to cut short further discussion and come to the point; (c), with imperatives, to denote assent marked by unwillingness, impatience, or indifference. Thus, (a) εἰ μὲν δὴ δίκαια ποιήσω, οὐκ οἶδα ἀλρήσομαι δ' οὖν ὑμᾶς whether I shall do what is right (or not), I do not know; be that as it may, I will choose you X. A. 1. 3. 5, καὶ ἐλέγετο Κύργι δοῦναι πολλὰ χρήματα. τῇ δ' οὖν στρατιᾷ τότε ἀπέδωκε Κύρος μισθὸν τεττάρων μηνῶν and she is said to have given Cyrus a large sum; at any rate Cyrus then gave the army four months' pay 1. 2. 12; (b) cp. T. 1. 3, 6. 15, 8. 81. Resumptive δ' οὖν may also set aside doubtful statements. (c) σὺ δ' οὖν λέγε, εἰ σοὶ τῷ λόγῳ τις ἡδονὴ well speak on then, if thou hast delight in speaking S. El. 891, ἔστω δ' οὖν ὅπως ἂμιν φίλον however, be it as you wish S. O. C. 1205.

εἰ δ' οὖν = but if indeed, but if in point of fact; as εἰ δ' οὖν τι κἀκτρέποιτο τοῦ πρόσθεν λόγου but if he should deviate at all from his former statement S. O. T. 851.

2960. δὴ οὖν certainly then; cp. οὖν δὴ. Thus, τί δὴ οὖν; or τί οὖν δὴ; well then pray? πῶς δὴ οὖν; how then pray? οὖν δὴτα really then.

2961. εἴτε οὖν, οὔτε οὖν: in alternative clauses οὖν (indeed) is added to one or both clauses as emphasis may be desired: εἴτε οὖν . . . εἴτε whether indeed . . . or, εἴτε . . . εἴτε οὖν whether . . . or indeed, or εἴτε οὖν . . . εἴτε οὖν whether indeed . . . or indeed. So also in exclusive clauses: οὔτε (μήτε) . . . οὔτε (μήτε) οὖν neither . . . nor yet, οὔτε (μήτε) οὖν . . . οὔτε (μήτε) neither indeed . . . nor.

2962. οὖν often follows interrogative pronouns and adverbs (in dialogue); as τίς οὖν; who pray? τί οὖν, generally with the aorist, in impatient questions asks why that which is desired has not been done (2197 c).

2963. οὖν affixed to a relative pronoun has a generalizing force and makes it indefinite (339 e). Such indefinite relative pronouns are construed like the indefinite τίς or demonstratives; and do not introduce relative clauses (unlike whosoever, etc., which are both indefinite and relative).

So with adverbs (346 c), as ὅπως οὖν in any way, no matter how (= utique not = uticunque). Thus, οὐδ' ὅπως οὖν not even in the slightest degree.

a. Simply placed after relatives οὖν has a strengthening force; as ὥσπερ οὖν as in fact (often in parentheses), οἷος περ οὖν just as in fact.

2964. Inferential οὖν therefore, accordingly (igitur, ergo), usually classed as a conjunction, signifies that something follows from what precedes. Inferential οὖν marks a transition to a new thought and continues a narrative (often after ἐπεὶ, ἐπειδὴ, ὅτε), resumes an interrupted narration (T. 3. 42, X. C. 3. 3. 9), and in general states a conclusion or inference. It stands alone or in conjunction with other particles. Thus, ἀναρχία ἂν καὶ ἀταξία ἐνόμιζον ἡμᾶς ἀπολέσθαι. δεῖ οὖν πολὺ μὲν τοὺς ἀρχοντας ἐπιμελεστέροις γενέσθαι τοὺς νῦν τῶν πρόσθεν they were of the opinion that we would be overcome through our lack of leaders and discipline. It is imperative therefore that the leaders we have now should be much more watchful than those we had before X. A. 3. 2. 29.

a. The inferential and transitional use is derived from the confirmative meaning, and is scarcely marked until Herodotus and the Attic poets. Cp. μὲν οὖν. ἐπεὶ οὖν in Hom. is sometimes used in transitions.

πέρ

2965. πέρ (postpositive and enclitic) very, just, even. Cp. Epic πέρ very much, and περί in composition. In Attic prose πέρ is common only with relatives (338 c) and conjunctions.

ὥς as the very one who (i.e. none other), οἷος as just such, ὅθεν as just where, ὥς as, in the very way in which, (sometimes not very different from ὥς, to which it is related as ὥς to ὅς), ἔπειτα if really. καίπερ (Hom. καί . . . περ) however much, though, ἔπειτα as.

a. After other words especially in Epic and Lyric and in Aeschylus; as μένει τὸ θεῖον δουλίᾳ περ ἐν φρενὶ the divine power remains in the mind though it be enslaved A. Ag. 1084, μάχετ', ἀχνόμενος περ ἐταίρου he fought, (though) sore grieving for his comrade P 459, ὅτε περ howbeit late Pind. Nem. 3. 80.

2966. πλήν an adverb, is used (a) as a preposition with the genitive (1700) meaning except, save, when that which is excepted is a single substantival idea; (b) as a conjunction, except, except that, save that, unless, only, but (often almost = ἀλλά).

ἀφειστήκεσαν . . . πᾶσαι πλὴν Μιλήτου all the Ionia cities had revolted except Miletus X. A. 1. 1. 6; οὐδεὶς ἀπῆε πρὸς βασιλέα, πλὴν Ὀρόντα no one went off to the king save that Orontas made the attempt 1. 9. 29, πλὴν ἐν μόνον δέδοικα but there is one thing and only one that I fear Ar. Plut. 199. A substantive-equivalent may follow πλήν, not in the genitive, but in the case required by the verb of the sentence, as συνῆλθον πάντες πλὴν οἱ Νέωνος all assembled except the men under Neon X. A. 7. 3. 2.

a. πλήν οὐ only not, except (2753); πλήν ἢ except, as οὐ γὰρ ἄλλω γ' ὑπακούοιμεν . . . πλὴν ἢ Προδίκῳ we would not listen to any one (else) except Prodicus Ar. Nub. 361; πλήν ὅτι except that; πλήν εἰ except if, cp. εἰ μὴ (nisi si), after a negative πλήν εἰ μὴ; often with the verb omitted, as οὐδεὶς οἶδεν . . . πλὴν εἰ τις ἀρ' ὄρνις no one knows except perhaps some bird Ar. Av. 601.

b. πλήν may be followed by the infinitive, as τί σοι πέπρακται πρᾶγμα πλὴν τρέχειν κακὰ; what hast thou accomplished save to work mischief? A. Eum. 126.

τέ

2967. τέ and (postpositive, and enclitic as -que) is generally used with a correlative conjunction.

2968. τέ alone sometimes in prose links whole clauses or sentences which serve to explain, amplify, supplement, or to denote a consequence of, what precedes (and thus, and therefore, and as a result). Thus, ὁ δ' ἐχάλεσται . . . ἐκέλευσε τ' αὐτὸν ἐκ τοῦ μέσου ἐξίστασθαι but he was angry and (therefore) ordered him to get out of the way X. A. 1. 5. 14. Cp. 2978.

a. This use of τέ (τέ consequential) is quite common in Herodotus and Thucydides, rather rare in Xenophon, and infrequent in other prose writers. It occurs also in poetry.

N. — In poetry τέ alone (cp. -que) often connects single parallel nouns and pronouns so that the two connected ideas form a whole; as σκήπτρον τιμὰς τε σέπτε and prerogatives A. Pr. 171. In prose, participles and infinitives are occasionally linked by τέ; as καθαρωτέρᾳ ὅσα περικόντως τε μάλλον ἡμφιεσμένη being fairer and dressed more becomingly X. O. 10. 12.

2969. τέ (or καί) meaning both may be followed by asyndeton (S. Ant. 296).

2970. Homer often, and Herodotus sometimes, adds τέ to relative pronouns and conjunctions introducing subordinate clauses, which are usually postpositive. So after ὅς, ὅσος, ὅλος, ὥς, ὅτε, ἐπεὶ, ἐνθα, ὅθι, etc. Thus, φιληθέν ἐκ Διός, ὅς τε θεοῖσι . . . ἀνίσσεται they were loved by Zeus, who rules over the gods B 689. This untranslatable τέ is probably connective (not indefinite), and belongs to the whole clause. It has the effect of showing that its clause corresponds in some way to the preceding clause. ὅς τε is found in lyric poetry and in the lyric parts of tragedy (rarely in dialogue parts). ὥστε, οἷός τε became common.

2971. This connective force is also seen when τέ stands in the principal clause, sometimes both in the principal and in the subordinate clause, e.g. ὅς κε θεοῖς ἐπιτελῆσθαι, μάλα τ' ἔκλυον αὐτοῦ whosoever obeys the gods, him especially they hear A 218, ὅππῃ τ' ἰθὺσιν, τῇ τ' ἐκκουσι στίχας ἀνδρῶν wheresoever he rushes, there the ranks of men give way M 48.

2972. Homer has τέ after the coördinating conjunctions καί, δέ, οὐδέ, ἀλλά, ἤ; after ἤ, μέν, τέρ, γάρ, and before ἄρα in questions.

2973. τὶ . . . τέ usually serves to connect clauses, less frequently single words. In English and often suffices, but as . . . so is often in place. τέ . . . τέ is more common in poetry than in prose, but in prose more common than τέ standing alone. Thus, πατὴρ ἀνδρῶν τε θεῶν τε father of men and gods A 544, ἐμοὶ τε γὰρ πολέμοι Ἀσσύριοι, σοὶ τε νῦν ἐχθιὸν ἐσίν ἢ ἐμοὶ for the Assyrians are enemies to me, and they are now more hostile to you than to me X. C. 4. 5. 23, περὶ ὧν εἰδέναι τε κάλλιστον μὴ εἰδέναι τε ἀσχιστον knowledge of which is most excellent and ignorance most disgraceful P. G. 472 c.

a. One clause may be negative, the other affirmative (T. 2. 22)<sup>1</sup>; but we usually have οὔτε instead of τέ οὐ.

2974. τὸ καὶ or τὸ . . . καὶ often serves to unite complements, both similars and opposites. τέ . . . καὶ is not used when one clause is subordinate to another. The two words or clauses thus united may show a contrast, or the second may be stronger than the first. τέ is commonly separated from καὶ by one or more words. τέ . . . καὶ is weaker than καὶ . . . καὶ, and will not easily bear the translation both . . . and. It is rare in colloquial Attic. Thus, ἄρχειν τε καὶ ἄρχεισθαι to rule and be ruled X. A. 1. 9. 4, κἀλλιστόν τε καὶ ἄριστον fairest and best 2. 1. 9, τό τ' ἄρχειν καὶ τὸ δουλεῖν to rule and to be a slave A. Pr. 927, βίᾳ τε κούχῃ by force and not willingly S. O. C. 935, γυμνάσαι . . . ἑαυτὸν τε καὶ τοὺς ἵππους to exercise himself and his horses X. A. 1. 2. 7. Clauses dissimilar in form may be linked by τέ . . . καὶ; as ἀπεκρίνατο διὰ βραχέων τε καὶ αὐτὰ τὰ ἐρωτώμενα he answered briefly and only the questions put to him P. Pr. 336 a.

2975. τέ . . . καὶ is often used of actions coincident in time, or of actions standing in a causal relation to each other; as ἡμέρᾳ τε σχεδὸν ὑπέφαινε καὶ εἰς τὸ μέσον ἦκον οἱ ἄρχοντες day was just breaking and (= when) the officers came into the centre of the camp X. A. 3. 3. 1 (temporal parataxis; cp. 2169).

2976. τέ . . . καὶ is sometimes used of alternatives (for ἢ τε . . . ἢ τε). Thus, θεοῦ τε γὰρ θέλοντος . . . καὶ μὴ θέλοντος whether God wills or not A. Sept. 427. Here καὶ . . . καὶ is more common (2877).

2977. We find τέ . . . καὶ . . . τέ, τέ . . . καὶ . . . τέ . . . τέ . . . (τέ), τέ . . . τέ . . . καί, τέ . . . τέ . . . καὶ . . . τέ, τέ . . . καὶ . . . καὶ . . . τέ. But in prose τέ before and after καί is rare.

2978. When τέ follows τέ . . . καί, τέ does not point back to καί, but denotes an addition to the preceding member (and besides). Thus, τείχη τε περιέδοντες καὶ ναῦς παραδόντες φόρον τε ταξέμενοι both destroying their walls and surrendering their ships and besides assessing tribute on themselves T. 1. 108. Cp. 2968.

2979. καί τε is Epic; elsewhere the καί of καί . . . τε belongs to the whole clause (A. Ch. 252).

2980. ἄλλως τε καὶ both in other ways and especially, on other grounds and particularly, or simply especially. This combination usually stands before conditional clauses (or clauses with a conditional participle), causal, and temporal clauses. Thus, χαλεπὸν οἶμαι διαβαίνειν ἄλλως τε καὶ πολεμίων πολλῶν ἔμπροσθεν ὄντων I think it hard to cross, especially when the enemy faces us in full force X. A. 5. 6. 9, πάντων . . . ἀποστερεῖσθαι λῦπῆρόν ἐστι . . . , ἄλλως τε κὰν ὑπ' ἐχθροῦ τῷ τοῦτο συμβαίῃ it is grievous to be deprived of anything, especially if this happens to any one at the hands of a personal enemy D. 18. 5. Cp. τά τ' ἄλλα ἐτίμησε καὶ μυρίους ἔδωκε δᾶρεικούς he both honoured me in other ways and gave me ten thousand darics X. A. 1. 3. 3.

2981. τέ . . . δέ is used when a writer begins as if he were going simply to add the second member (both . . . and), but instead contrasts it with the first. This combination of copulative and adversative particles is often rendered less harsh by the form of the δέ clause and by other reasons. (a) The δέ clause contains a καί; as ἀμα (ἔπειτα, ἔτι, πολλαχού, ὡσαύτως) δέ καί; e.g. ἐν τε τῇ τῶν ἐπῶν ποιήσει πολλαχού δέ καὶ ἄλλοθι, lit. both in the construction of epic poetry but also in many other cases P. R. 394 c. (b) The second clause contains a formula with δέ but not with καί; as ἔτι δέ, τί δέ, τὸ δέ κεφάλαιον, μετὰ δέ ταῦτα. Thus, πρότερόν τε . . . νῦν δέ (both) formerly . . . but now X. H. 7. 1. 24. Cp. P. L. 664 b, 947 a, 967 d. (c) After a considerable interval occasioned by the extension of the τέ clause, it is natural to resume with δέ. So T. 6. 83. 1, X. A. 7. 8. 11, X. C. 2. 1. 22, L. 2. 17.

2982. Rare combinations are, e.g.:

ἤ . . . τέ instead of ἤ . . . ἤ. Thus, ἡ παῖδες νεαροὶ χήραι τε γυναῖκες either young children and (= or) widowed women B 289. τέ . . . ἤ is often emended in X. O. 20. 12, P. Men. 95 b.

τέ . . . οὐδέ (μηδὲ) with τέ instead of οὔτε (μήτε); as E. I. T. 697, P. Pol. 271 e. τέ is not followed by οὔτε (μήτε).

2983. Position of τέ. — τέ usually follows the word with which the sentence or sentence-part to be connected is most concerned. Apart from many irregularities there are certain exceptions to this rule which are commonly observed.

a. τέ may come between two words which go closely together, as between article (preposition, attributive genitive) and its noun. Thus, τό τε βαρβαρικόν καὶ τὸ Ἑλληνικόν the barbarian and the Greek force X. A. 1. 2. 1, εἰμι πρὸς τε λουτρὰ καὶ λειμῶνας I will go to the bathing places and the meadows S. Aj. 654 (for πρὸς λουτρὰ τε). But ἡ πόλις τε καὶ ἡμεῖς οἱ νόμοι the State and we the laws P. Cr. 53 a.

b. τέ connecting an entire clause stands as near as possible to the beginning. Cp. X. A. 1.8.3.

c. τέ may stand after a word or expression which, though common to two members of a clause, is placed either at the beginning (especially after a preposition) or in the second member. Thus, ἃ τε δεῖ φίλια καὶ (ἃ δεῖ) πολέμα ἡμᾶς νομίζειν what we must consider as belonging to our friends and what to our enemies X. C. 5.2.21, ἐν τε τῷ θερμότερῳ καὶ ψυχρότερῳ in the hotter and colder P. Phil. 24 b, ἀπᾶσι φίλον ἀνδρα τε σοφώτατον a man dear to all and most wise Ar. Vesp. 1277.

d. The freer position of τέ is often due to the fact that several words are taken as forming a single notion. Thus, ἡ καλλίστη δὴ πολιτεία τε καὶ ὁ κάλλιστος ἀνὴρ the very noblest constitution and the noblest man P. R. 562 a.

τοί

2984. τοί (postpositive and enclitic) in truth, surely, doubtless, mark you, be assured, you (must) know, was originally the dative of feeling (1486) of σύ.

a. This τοί (Sanskrit tē), found in all dialects, is to be distinguished from Doric τοί (= σοί) from τοί (Skt. tvē). τοί may thus occur in the same sentence with σοί; as τοιαῦτά τοί σοί . . . λέγω S. fr. 25.

2985. τοί is often used in statements of a general truth and in expressions of personal conviction (sometimes with a tone of hesitation); in remarks of a confidential nature; to introduce an explanation; and in general where the special attention of the person addressed is desired. τοί often gives an easy and familiar tone to a reply. Thus, τῶν τοι ματαίων ἀνδράσιν φρονημάτων ἡ γλῶσσ' ἀληθὴς γίγνεται κατήγορος true it is that of men's vain conceits their tongue is the true accuser A. Sept. 438, ἀεὶ τοι ὁ Κέβης λόγους τινας ἀρευνᾷ for Cebes, you know, is always investigating some speculation or other P. Ph. 63 a.

a. τοί may emphasize particular words, as ἐγὼ τοι, ἐμοί τοι, σέ τοι; and other words not pronouns.

2986. τοί is frequently used after other particles, as ἀλλά, γάρ, γέ, δὴ (and γέ τοι δὴ, cp. δὴ τοι . . . γε), ἐπεὶ because, μή, οὐ (οὔτοι). On ἦτοι, see 2858; on καίτοι, 2898; on μέντοι, 2917.

2987. The inferential conjunctions τοιγάρ, τοιγαροῦν, τοιγάρτοι, τοίνυν contain τοί, the locative of the demonstrative τό, which case had the meaning of τῷ (τῷ) therefore, on this account, so lit. by that, therein. (This τῷ is chiefly Epic, and stands at the beginning of the verse. Cp. τό therefore Γ 176, S. Ph. 142.)

τοιγάρ (prepositive; Ionic and poetic) therefore, wherefore, so then, that is surely the reason why (often to announce a purpose).

τοιγαροῦν, τοιγάρτοι (both prepositive) are more emphatic than τοιγάρ. The final syllable of τοιγάρτοι is the τοί of 2984.

τοίνυν (postpositive and post-Homeric; -νυν 2927) is transitional (now then, further) or inferential (therefore, accordingly; less emphatic than τοιγάρ). τοίνυν is common when a speaker refers to something present in his mind, when he continues or resumes what he has been saying, and when he passes to a new aspect of a subject. It is often found with imperatives (σκόπει τοίνυν P. Cr. 51 c).

ὥς, ὡς

2988. Demonstrative ὥς (also accented ὡς, ὦς) thus, so is originally an ablative from the demonstrative stem ὁ- (from σο-), from which come the article and ὅς he in καὶ ὅς, ἥ δ' ὅς (1113). For the -ς, see 341. Cp. also ὧδε thus.

So καὶ ὥς even so, nevertheless, οὐδ' (μηδ') ὥς not even thus, in no wise, ὡς αὐτῶς (ὡσαύτως) in the same way, just so (ablative of ὁ αὐτός). ὡς ἑτέρως (lit. thus otherwise, in that other way) quite otherwise and ὡς ἀληθῶς (lit. thus truly) in very truth also probably belong here.

a. In some cases it is uncertain whether ὡς is demonstrative or relative; e.g. ὡς in exclamatory clauses. Cp. 2998, 3001.

2989. Relative ὡς as, how is originally an ablative (in which way) from the relative stem ἵο-, whence come also ὅς, ἥ, ὅ. For the -ς, see 341. Relative ὡς has various uses as an adverb or a conjunction, all of which represent the primitive meaning.

Relative ὡς as an Adverb

2990. In comparative clauses, often correlated with οὕτως. Thus, πιστὸς ἦν, ὡς ὑμῖν ἐπίστασθε I was faithful, as you know X. A. 3. 3. 2, ἐκέλευε τοὺς Ἕλληνας, ὡς νόμος αὐτοῖς εἰς μάχην, οὕτω ταχθῆναι he ordered the Greeks (thus) to be stationed as was their custom for battle 1. 2. 15. Cp. 2462 ff. In similes and comparisons, 2481 ff.

2991. ὡς is rarely used for ἥ after comparatives; as μὴ μου προκῆδον μᾶλλον ὡς ἐμοὶ γλυκύ care not for me further than I wish A. Pr. 629. Cp. 1071.

2992. In adverbial clauses ὡς is often used parenthetically; as ὡς ἐμοὶ δοκεῖ as it seems to me. Instead of ὡς δοκεῖ, ὡς ἔοικε the personal construction is often preferred; as ἀπέπλευσαν, ὡς μὲν τοῖς πλείστοις ἑδόκει, φιλοτιμηθέντες they sailed away out of jealousy, as it seemed to most people X. A. 1. 4. 7.

2993. ὡς restrictive for (cp. ut), involving the judgment of the observer, occurs often in elliptical phrases; as (Βρᾶσιδᾶς) ἦν οὐδὲ δούρατος, ὡς Λακεδαιμόνιος. εἰπεῖν Brasidas was, for a Lacedaemonian, not a bad speaker either T. 4. 84, ταῦτα ἀκούσας Ξέρξης ὡς ἐκ κακῶν ἐχάρη on hearing this Xerxes rejoiced as much as could be expected considering his misfortunes Hdt. 8. 101. On ὡς restrictive with the dative, cp. 1495 a, 1497; with the absolute infinitive, 2012.

2994. ὡς is often used to heighten a superlative (1086).

2995. With numerals and words indicating degree ὡς means about, nearly, not far from; as ὀπλιτᾶς ἔχω ὡς πεντακοσίου having about five hundred hoplites X. A. 1. 2. 3, ὡς ἐπὶ πολὺ for the most part P. R. 377 b (lit. about over the great(er) part).

2996. ὥς often indicates the thought or the assertion of the subject of the principal verb or of some other person prominent in the sentence. Here ὥς expresses a real intention or an avowed plea. So often with participles (2086); and also with the prepositions εἰς, ἐπὶ, πρός; as ἀπέπλεον . . . ἐκ τῆς Σικελίας ὥς ἐς τὰς Ἀθήνας they sailed away from Sicily as though bound for Athens T. 6. 61.

2997. ὥς ἕκαστος means each for himself; as ἀπέπλευσαν ἐξ Ἑλλησπόντου ὥς ἕκαστοι (ἀπέπλευσαν) κατὰ πόλεις they sailed away from the Hellespont each to his own State T. 1. 89.

2998. ὥς exclamatory (2682) may be the relative adverb ὥς how, the relative clause originally being used in explanation of an exclamation. Exclamatory ὥς has also been explained as ὥς demonstrative (so).

2999. On ὥς in wishes, see 1815.

Relative ὥς as a Conjunction

3000. ὥς conjunctive is found in dependent clauses.

Declarative: that, like ὅτι. Cp. 2577 ff., 2614 ff.

Final: that, in order that; like ἵνα, but not used in standard Attic prose. Cp. 2198. Object clauses after verbs of effort: that, like ὅπως; cp. 2209. Rarely after verbs of fearing: that. Cp. 2235.

Causal: as, inasmuch as, since, seeing that, like ὅτι, ἐπεὶ, etc. Cp. 2240.

Consecutive: so that, like ὥστε. Usually with the infinitive, sometimes with the indicative. Cp. 2260.

Temporal: after, like ἐπει; sometimes when, whenever. Cp. 2383.

3001. ὥς is often found before sentences apparently independent, where it is sometimes explained as a conjunction with the verb suppressed. Thus, ὥς τῆσδ' ἐκούσα παιδὸς οὐ μεθήσομαι (κίω) that of my own accord I will not relinquish my child E. Hec. 400, ὥς δὴ σύ μοι τύραννος Ἀργείων ἔσει (do you mean) that you forsooth shall be lord and master of Argives A. Ag. 1633. Some scholars regard this ὥς as causal, others regard it as demonstrative, others as comparative.

ὥς as, like

3002. ὥς as, like (postpositive) in Hom., as ὀρνίθες ὥς Γ 2, stands for ὡς, which is of uncertain origin.

ὥς to

3003. ὥς to, a preposition with persons (once in Hom., ρ 218) is obscure in origin.

SOME GRAMMATICAL AND RHETORICAL FIGURES

3004. Anacoluthon (ἀνακόλουθον inconsequent), or grammatical inconsistency, is inadvertent or purposed deviation in the structure of a sentence by which a construction started at the beginning is not followed out consistently. Anacoluthon is sometimes real, sometimes only slight or apparent. It is natural to Greek by reason of the mobility and elasticity of that language; but in English it could not be tolerated to an equal extent because our tongue—a speech of few inflected forms—is much more rigid than Greek.

3005. Anacoluthon is, in general, caused either (a) by the choice of some form of expression more convenient or more effective than that for which the sentence was grammatically planned; at times, too, the disturbing influence is the insertion of a brief expression of an additional thought not foreseen at the start. Or (b) by the intrusion of some explanation requiring a parenthesis of such an extent that the connection is obscured or the continuation of the original structure made difficult. In this case the beginning may be repeated, or what has already been said may be summed up in a different grammatical form and sometimes with the addition of a resumptive particle, such as δή, ὅτε well then, then, as I was saying (X. A. 1. 8. 13, 3. 1. 20, X. C. 3. 8. 9). So with καί (T. 8. 29. 2).

3006. Anacoluthon usually produces the effect of naturalness and liveliness, sometimes of greater clearness (as after long parentheses), or of brevity, force, or concentration.

3007. Anacoluthon is either natural or artificial. Natural anacoluthon is seen in the loose and discursive style of Herodotus; in the closely packed sentences of Thucydides, who hurries from one thought to another with the least expenditure of words; and in the slovenliness of Andocides. Artificial or rhetorical anacoluthon is the result of a deliberate purpose to give to written language the vividness, naturalness, and unaffected freedom of the easy flow of conversation, and is best seen in the dialogues of Plato. Such anacoluthon is usually graceful and free from obscurity.

3008. There are very many forms of anacoluthon, e.g.

a. Many cases are due to the fact that a writer conforms his construction, not to the words which he has just used, but to another way in which the antecedent thought might have been expressed: the construction πρὸς τὸ νοούμενον (or σημαινόμενον) according to what is thought. Cp. 2148 and X. H. 2. 2. 3, 8. 0. T. 353, E. Hec. 970.

b. Some cases are due to changes in the subject, as T. 1. 18. 2.

c. Many cases occur in connection with the use of a participle (2147, 2148).

d. Coördinate clauses connected by τὲ . . . καί, καί . . . καί, ὅτε . . . ὅτε, ἢ . . . ἢ often show anacoluthon, especially when a finite verb takes the place of a participle. Cp. 2147 c, and T. 5. 61. 4, 6. 32. 3, 7. 47. 1-2.

e. The nominative "in suspense" may stand at the head of a sentence instead of another case required by the following construction. This involves a redundant pronoun. Thus, Πρόξενον δὲ καὶ Μένων, ἐπεὶ περ εἰσὶν ὑμῖν τοῖσι ἐδωγμένοι . . . πέμψατε αὐτοὺς δεῦρο (for Πρόξενον καὶ Μένωνα . . . πέμψατε δεῦρο) X. A. 2. 5. 41. Cp. "The prince that feeds great natures, they will slay him:" Ben Jonson.

f. The accusative often stands absolutely when at the head of a sentence. Thus, ἀλλὰ μὴν καὶ τίμης γε . . . τῶν μὲν μεθέξει καὶ γεύσεται ἐκῶν, ἃς ἂν ἡγήται ἀμείνω αὐτὸν ποιήσῃν, ἃς δ' . . . φεύσεται but furthermore as regards honours, those he will partake of and be glad to taste which he thinks will make him a better man, but others he will shun P. R. 591 e, "Ἕλληνας τοὺς ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ οἰκούντας οὐδὲν πω σαφὲς λέγεται εἰ ἔπονται (for λέγουσιν εἰ ἔπονται or λέγεται ἔπειθαι) as to the Greeks who dwell in Asia there is as yet no certain intelligence whether they are to accompany the expedition X. C. 2. 1. 5.

g. A main clause may take the construction of a parenthetical clause (T. 4. 98. 2). Here belongs the attraction into the relative clause of a verb that should have been principal. So after ὥς ἤκουσα, ὥς οἶμαι, ὥς λέγουσι, etc. Thus, τόδε γε μὴν, ὥς οἶμαι, περὶ αὐτοῦ ἀναγκαιότατον εἶναι (for ἐστὶ) λέγειν this indeed is, as I think, most necessary to state about it P. Phil. 20 d. Often in Hdt., as ὥς δ' ἐγὼ ἤκουσα . . . εἶναι αὐτὸν Ἰδανθύρσου . . . πατρὸν but as I have heard he was the uncle of Idanthysrus on the father's side 4. 76. A construction may be introduced by ὅτι or ὥς and then pass to the infinitive, or the infinitive may precede and a finite verb follow (2628).

h. After a subordinate clause with parentheses the main clause sometimes follows in the form of an independent sentence (P. A. 28 c, cp. 36 a).

i. An infinitive may resume the idea set forth by the principal verb; as τοῦ δὲ θεοῦ τάττοντος, ὥς ἐγὼ ψήθην τε καὶ ὑπέλαβον, φιλοσοφοῦντά με δεῖν ζῆν κτλ. whereas when God orders me, as I think and believe, to pass my life in the pursuit of wisdom, etc. P. A. 28 e. Cp. X. H. 7. 4. 35.

j. Anacoluthon is sometimes due to the desire to maintain similarity of form between contrasted expressions; as τοὺς μὲν γὰρ ἱπποκενταύρους οἶμαι ἔγωγε πολλοὶς μὲν ἀπορεῖν τῶν ἀνθρώποις ἡνρημένων ἀγαθῶν ὅπως δεῖ χρῆσθαι, πολλοῖς δὲ τῶν ἱπποῦ πεφυκένων ἡδέων πῶς αὐτῶν χρῆ ἀπολαύειν for I think that the horse-centaurs were at a loss how to make use of many conveniences devised for men and how to enjoy many of the pleasures natural to horses X. C. 4. 3. 19. Here πολλοῖς δέ is used as if it were to be governed by χρῆσθαι, instead of which αὐτῶν ἀπολαύειν is substituted.

3009. Anadiplōsis (ἀναδίπλωσις doubling) is the rhetorical repetition of one or several words. Cp. "The Isles of Greece, the Isles of Greece, where burning Sappho loved and sung:" Byron.

Θῆβαι δέ, Θῆβαι πόλις ἀστυγείτων, μεθ' ἡμέρᾳ μίαν ἐκ μέσης τῆς Ἑλλάδος ἀνῆρπασται Thebes, Thebes, a neighbouring city, in the course of one day has been extirpated from the midst of Greece Aes. 3. 183.

3010. Anaphora (ἀναφορά carrying back) is the repetition, with emphasis, of the same word or phrase at the beginning of several successive clauses. This figure is also called epanaphora or epanalepsis. Cp. "Strike as I would Have struck those tyrants! Strike deep as my curse! Strike! and but once:" Byron.

οἳτοι γὰρ πολλοὺς μὲν τῶν πολιτῶν εἰς τοὺς πολεμικοὺς ἐξήλασαν, πολλοὺς δ' ἀδίκως ἀποκτείναντες ἀτάφους ἐποίησαν, πολλοὺς δ' ἐπιτίμους ὄντας ἀτίμους κατέστησαν many of the citizens they drove out to the enemy; many they slew unjustly and left unburied; many who were in possession of their civic rights they deprived of them L. 12. 21. Cp. D. 18. 48, 75, 121, 310.

3011. Anastrophe (ἀναστροφή return) is the use, at the beginning of one clause, of the same word that concluded the preceding clause.

Also called epanastrophe. Cp. "Has he a gust for blood? Blood shall fill his cup."

οὐ δὲ πού τις Κτησιφώντα δύναται διώκειν δι' ἐμέ, ἐμέ δ' εἴπερ ἐξελέγξειν ἐνόμizεν, αὐτὸς οὐκ ἂν ἐγράφατο for surely it cannot be that he is prosecuting Ctesiphon on my account, and yet would not have indicted me myself, if he had thought that he could convict me D. 18. 13.

3012. Antistrophe (ἀντιστροφή turning about) is the repetition of the same word or phrase at the end of successive clauses.

ὅστις δ' ἐν τῷ πρώτῳ λόγῳ τὴν ψήφον αἰτεῖ ὅρκον αἰτεῖ, νόμον αἰτεῖ, δημοκρατίαν αἰτεῖ whoever in his first speech asks for your vote as a favour, asks the surrender of your oath, asks the surrender of the law, asks the surrender of the democratic constitution Aes. 3. 198.

3013. Antithesis (ἀντίθεσις opposition) is the contrast of ideas expressed by words which are the opposite of, or are closely contrasted with, each other. Cp. "Wit is negative, analytical, destructive; Humor is creative:" Whipple.

δι' ὧν ἐκ χρηστῶν φαῦλα τὰ πράγματα τῆς πόλεως γέγονε, διὰ τούτων ἐλπίzετε τῶν αὐτῶν πράξεων ἐκ φαύλων αὐτὰ χρηστὰ γενήσεσθαι; do you expect that the affairs of state will become prosperous instead of bad by the same measures by which they have become bad instead of prosperous? D. 2. 26.

a. Antithesis is sometimes extended to a parallelism in sense effected (1) by the use of two words of opposite meaning in the expression of one idea, (2) by the opposition of ideas which are not specifically contrasted in words.

3014. Aporia (ἀπορίᾳ doubt) is an artifice by which a speaker feigns doubt as to where he shall begin or end or what he shall do or say, etc. Cp. "Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do?" St. Luke 16. 3.

ἀπορώ τοῦ πρώτου μνησθῶ I am uncertain what I shall recall first D. 18. 129. When the doubt is between two courses it is often called diaporēsis.

3015. Aposiopēsis (ἀποσιώπησις becoming silent) is a form of ellipse by which, under the influence of passionate feeling or of modesty, a speaker comes to an abrupt halt. Examples 2352 d, D. 18. 3, 22, 195, S. O. T. 1289, Ar. Vesp. 1178. Cp. "Massachusetts and her people . . . hold him, and his love . . . and his principles, and his standard of truth in utter — what shall I say? — anything but respect:" Webster.

3016. Asyndeton (ἀσύνδετον not bound together) is the absence of conjunctions in a series of coördinate words or phrases. See 2165 ff.

a. Here is sometimes placed the omission of the verb after μή (μή σέ γε, μή γάρ, etc.); as μή τριβᾶς ἔτι (ποιεῖσθε) no more delays! S. Ant. 577, τίς οὐχὶ κατέκτυσεν ἂν σοῦ; μή γάρ (εἰπέ) τῆς πόλεως γε, μηδ' ἐμοῦ who would not have reviled you? Do not say the State, nor me D. 18. 200. Cp. 946, 1599.

3017. Brachylogy (βραχυλογία brevity of diction, abbreviated expression or construction) is a concise form of expression by which an element is not repeated or is omitted when its repetition or use would make the thought or the grammatical construction complete. The suppressed element must be supplied from some corresponding word in the context, in which case it often appears with some change of form or construction; or it must be taken from the connection of the thought.

a. Brachylogy and ellipsis cannot always be distinguished sharply. In ellipses the suppressed word is not to be supplied from a corresponding word in the context; and, in general, ellipses is less artificial and less dependent on the momentary and arbitrary will of the speaker or writer. Compendious Comparison (1501), Praegnans Constructio (3044), and Zeugma (3048) are forms of brachylogy.

3018. There are many forms of brachylogy; for example:

a. One verbal form must often be supplied from another; e.g. a passive from an active, an infinitive from a finite verb, a participle from an infinitive. Thus, τὴν τῶν πέλας θροῦν μᾶλλον ἢ τὴν ταυτῶν ὁρᾶν (θρουμένην) rather to ravage the territory of their neighbours than to see their own (being ravaged) T. 2. 11, ταῦτα ἐγὼ σοι οὐ πείθεμαι . . ., οἶμαι δὲ οὐδὲ ἄλλον ἀνθρώπων οὐδένα (πείθεσθαι σοι) of this I am not persuaded by you and I do not believe that any other human being is either P. A. 25 e, οὔτε πάσχοντες κακὸν οὐδὲν οὔτε μέλλοντες (πάσχειν) neither suffering, nor being likely (to suffer), any evil I. 12. 103, ἀνεχώρησαν δὲ καὶ οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι . . ., ἐπειδὴ καὶ ἐκείνους εἶδον (ἀναχωρήσαντας) and the Athenians too withdrew when they saw that they (the Lacedaemonians) had done so T. 3. 16.

b. A verb must often be supplied from a coördinate or subordinate clause either preceding or following. Thus, ἔγειρε καὶ σὺ τήνδ', ἐγὼ δὲ σέ do you wake her, as I (wake) you A. Eum. 140, εἰάν δὲ αὐτόχειρ μὲν μή (ῆ), βουλεύσῃ δὲ θάνατόν τις ἄλλος ἐτέρῳ if a person shall not kill with his own hand, but if some one shall suggest murder to another P. L. 872 a; φίλους νομίζουσ' οὕσπερ ἂν πόσις σθέν (νομίζῃ) regarding as friends even those whom thy husband (so regards) E. Med. 1153. A verb is rarely supplied from the subordinate to the main construction.

c. In clauses with δεῖ, χρή etc.: ἵνα φαίνησθε ἀμύνοντες οἷς δεῖ (ἀμύνειν) that you may seem to assist those you ought (to assist) T. 3. 13. When a form of τυγχάνω stands in the subordinate clause; ἀπέπλευσαν ὥς ἕκαστοι ἔτυχον (ἀποπλέοντες) they sailed away as each best could T. 4. 25. In conditional clauses when the protasis indicates that the assertion made in the apodosis holds true of a person or a thing more than of any other person or thing (εἰπερ τις καὶ ἄλλος, εἰπερ πού, εἰπερ ποτέ, ὥς τις καὶ ἄλλος, etc.); as συμφέρει δ' ὑμῖν, εἰπερ τῷ καὶ ἄλλῳ, τὸ νικᾶν victory is of advantage to you, if it (is of advantage) to any X. C. 3. 3. 42. Hence εἰ τις (πού, ποτέ) is almost = τις, etc. (T. 7. 21. 5).

d. Compound verbs (especially those compounded with μετά and ἐξ) are often so used that the force both of the compound and of the simple verb is requisite to the meaning. Thus, (οἱ Ἀθηναῖοι) μετέγνωσαν Κερκυραίοις ἐνυμμαχίαν μὴ ποιῆσθαι the Athenians changed their minds and decided not to make an alliance with the Corcyraeans T. 1. 44.

e. A compound verb on its second occurrence often omits the preposition (rarely vice versa); as ἀπεργάζεται . . . εἰργάζεται P. Ph. 104 d. Euripides is fond of such collocations as ὑπάκουσον ἀκουσον Alc. 400. Cp. the difference in metrical value of repeated words in Shakespeare, as "These violent desires have violent ends."

N. — In καὶ ξυμμετρίσχω καὶ φέρω τῆς αἰτίας I share and bear alike the guilt (S. Ant. 537) φέρω, though capable of taking the partitive genitive, is influenced by ξυμμετρίσχω and has the force of ξυμφέρω.

f. From a following verb of special meaning a verb of more general meaning, such as ποιεῖν, γίγνεσθαι, εἶναι, must be supplied with the phrases οὐδὲν ἄλλο ἢ, ἄλλο τι ἢ, τί ἄλλο ἢ. Examples in 946, 2652, 2778.

g. A verb of saying or thinking must often be supplied from a foregoing verb of exhorting, commanding, announcing, or from any other verb that implies saying or thinking. Thus, Κριτόβουλος καὶ Ἀπολλόδωρος κελεύουσι με τριάκοντα μῶν τιμήσασθαι, αὐτοὶ δὲ ἐγγυᾶσθαι Critobulus and Apollodorus urge me to set a penalty of thirty minae, and (say) that they themselves are sureties P. A. 38 b.

h. When two verbs taking the same or different cases have an object in common, that object is expressed only once, and usually is dependent on the nearer verb. See 1634, 1635.

i. A substantive or a verb is often to be supplied from a substantive or a verb related in meaning: ναυμαχῆσαντας μίαν (ναυμαχίαν) having fought one (sea-fight) Ar. Ran. 693, ἡ μὲν ἔπειτα εἰς ἄλα ἄλτο . . ., Ζεὺς δὲ ἐὼν πρὸς δῶμα (ἔβη) she then sprang into the sea, but Zeus (went) to his abode A 532.

j. The subject of a sentence is often taken from a preceding object or from some other preceding noun in an oblique case without a pronoun of reference to aid the transition. Thus, ἐξεφόβησαν μὲν τοὺς πολλοὺς οὐκ εἰδότες τὰ πρᾶσσόμενα. καὶ ἔφηνον (οἱ πολλοί) they frightened away most of the citizens, who were in ignorance of the plot and began to fly T. 8. 44. Cp. 943.

k. In general an object is frequently omitted when it can readily be supplied from the context. Thus, ἐγγχεῖν (τὸν οἶνον) ἐκέλευε he gave orders to pour in (the wine) X. A. 4. 3. 13. An unemphatic pronoun in an oblique case is often omitted when it can be supplied from a preceding noun. Cp. 1214.

l. A dependent noun must often be supplied, in a different construction, from one coördinate clause to another. Thus, ὅρκους ἔλαβον καὶ ἔδωκαν παρὰ Φαρναβάζου they received oaths from Pharnabazus and gave him theirs X. H. 1. 3. 9. So in contrasts where one member is to be supplied from the other, as οὐκ ἐκείνους (ἐκέλευν), ἀλλ' ἐκέλευν κείνων ἐνθάδ' ἡγάγεν he did not bring (her) here, but she brought him E. Or. 742.

m. From a preceding word its opposite must often be supplied, especially an affirmative after a negative. Thus, ἀμελήσας ὥσπερ οἱ πολλοὶ (ἐπιμελοῦνται) neglecting the very things which most people (care for) P. A. 36 b. This laxity of expression is especially frequent in the case of ἕκαστος, τις, or πάντες, to be supplied after οὐδεὶς (μηδεὶς), as μηδεὶς τὴν ὑπερβολὴν θαυμάζει, ἀλλὰ μετ' ἐθνομίᾳ ἑ λέγω θεωρησάτω let no one wonder at the extravagance of my statement, but let (every one) consider kindly what I say D. 18. 199. Cp. "No person held to service or labor in one state . . ., escaping into another, shall . . . be discharged from said service or labor, but shall be delivered up, etc.": U. S. Constitution.

n. The same word though placed only once may stand in two different constructions; as αἰνέω δὲ καὶ τόνδε (νόμον) . . . μήτε τῶν ἄλλων Περσέων μηδέα τῶν ἐωντοῦ οἰκετῶν . . . ἀνήκεστον πάθος ἔρδειν and I approve also this custom that no one of the other Persians shall do irremediable hurt to any one of his own servants Hdt. 1. 137. Here μηδένα is both subject and object of ἔρδειν.

o. An assertion may be made concerning an action or a thing when the absence of that action or thing is meant (res pro rei defectu). Thus, εἰ τ' ἄρ' οὐγ' εὐχολῆς ἐπιμέμφεται whether then he blames us on account of an (unfulfilled) σου A 65, ἐν ᾗ καὶ περὶ χρημάτων καὶ περὶ ἀτιμίας ἄνθρωποι κινδυνεύουσιν on which charge men run the risk both of (loss of) money and civil degradation D. 29. 16. So δύναμις powerlessness, φυλακὴ neglect of the watch, μελέτημα lack of liberal exercise.

3019. Catachrēsis (κατάχρησις misuse of a word) is the extension of the meaning of a word beyond its proper sphere; especially a violent metaphor. In English: "a palatable tone," "to take arms against a sea of troubles."

δαίμονος extraordinary, θαυμάσιος decided, strange, capital, ἀμηχάνως and ὑπερφυῶς decidedly, ὑποπτέω expect, ναυστολεῖν χθόνα E. Med. 682. Such usages are less often occasioned by the poverty of the language than by the caprice of the writer.

3020. Chiasmus (χίασμός marking with diagonal lines like a X) is the crosswise arrangement of contrasted pairs to give alternate stress. By this figure both the extremes and the means are correlated. Cp. "Sweet is the breath of morn, her rising sweet": Milton.

ἐν σῶμ' ἔχων καὶ ψυχὴν μίαν having one body and one soul D. 19. 227.

So τοσούτον σὺ ἐμοὶ σοφώτερος εἰ τηλικούτου ὄντος τηλικόσδ' ὦν; are you at your age so much wiser than I at mine? P. A. 25 d, πᾶν μὲν ἔργον πᾶν δ' ἔπος λέγοντάς τε καὶ πράττοντάς lit. doing every deed and uttering every word P. 3021. Climax (κλίμαξ ladder) is an arrangement of clauses in succession whereby the last important word of one is repeated as the first important word of the next, each clause in turn surpassing its predecessor in the importance of the thought. Cp. "But we glory in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation worketh patience . . . and experience, hope; and hope maketh not ashamed": Romans v. 3-5.

οὐκ εἶπον μὲν ταῦτα, οὐκ ἔγραψα δέ, οὐδ' ἔγραψα μὲν, οὐκ ἐπρέσβευσα δέ, οὐδ' ἐπρέσβευσα μὲν, οὐκ ἔπεισα δὲ Θεβαίους I did not utter these words without proposing a motion; nor did I propose a motion without becoming ambassador; nor did I become ambassador without convincing the Thebans D. 18. 179; cp. 4. 19. This figure is very rare in Greek.

3022. Ellipse (ἔλλειψις leaving out, defect) is the suppression of a word or of several words of minor importance to the logical expression of the thought, but necessary to the construction. Ellipse gives brevity, force, and liveliness; it is usually readily to be supplied, often unconscious, and appears especially in common phrases, constructions, and expressions of popular speech (such as ἐξ ὀνύχων λέοντα to judge a lion from his claws).

a. Ellipse occurs in the case of substantives and pronouns, subject, object, finite verbs, main clauses, and (less often) subordinate clauses. See the Index under Ellipse.

3023. Enallage (ἐναλλαγή interchange) is the substitution of one grammatical form for another, as plural for singular (1006–1008). Thus: "They fall successive, and successive rise": Pope.

3024. Euphemism (εὐφημισμός lit. speaking favourably) is the substitution of a less direct expression in place of one whose plainer meaning might be unpleasant or offensive. Thus: "The merchant prince had stopped payment" (for "became bankrupt").

συμφορὰ occurrence for ἀτύχημα misfortune, ἑτέρως otherwise = not well, εὐφρόνη 'the kindly time' for νύξ night, εὐώνυμος left (lit. of good omen, whereas the left was the unlucky side), εἰ τι πάθοι if anything should happen to him = if he should die.

3025. Hendiadys (ἐν δὲ δύοιν one by two) is the use of two words connected by a copulative conjunction to express a single complex idea; especially two substantives instead of one substantive and an adjective or attributive genitive.

χρόνῳ καὶ πολιορκίᾳ by length of time and siege = by a long siege D. 19. 123, ἐν ἅλϊ κύμασιν τε in the waves of the sea E. Hel. 226, ἀσπίδων τε καὶ στρατοῦ = ὠπλισμένου στρατοῦ armed force S. El. 38.

3026. Homoioteleuton (ὁμοιοτέλευτος ending alike) is end-rhyme in clauses or verses.

τὴν μὲν ἀρχὴν εἰς τὸν πόλεμον κατέστησαν ὡς ἐλευθερώσαντες τοὺς Ἕλληνας, ἐπεὶ δὲ τελευτῆς οὕτω πολλοὺς αὐτῶν ἐκδότους ἐποίησαν, καὶ τῆς μὲν ἡμετέρας πόλεως τοῖς Ἴωνας ἀπέστησαν, ἐξ ἧς ἀπέφυγον καὶ δι' ἣν πολλάκις ἐσώθησαν in the beginning they entered upon the war with the avowed object of liberating the Greeks, at the end they have betrayed so many of them, and have caused the Ionians to retire from our State, from which they emigrated and thanks to which they were often saved I. 4. 122. Cp. S. Aj. 62–65. Homoioteleuton is most marked in paromoiosis.

3027. Hypallage (ὑπαλλαγή exchange) is a change in the relation of words by which a word, instead of agreeing with the case it logically qualifies, is made to agree grammatically with another case. Hypallage is almost always confined to poetry.

ἐμὰ κῆδεα θυμοῦ the troubles of my spirit ξ 197, νεῖκος ἀνδρῶν ξύναμιον kindred strife of men for strife of kindred men S. Ant. 794. Here the adjective virtually agrees with the rest of the phrase taken as a compound.

3028. Hyperbaton (ὑπέρβατον transposition) is the separation of words naturally belonging together. Such displacement usually gives prominence to the first of two words thus separated, but sometimes to the second also. In prose hyperbaton is less common than in poetry, but even in prose it is frequent, especially when it secures emphasis on an important idea by placing it at the beginning or end of a sentence. At times hyperbaton may mark passionate excitement. Sometimes it was adopted to gain rhythmical effect. Thus: "Such resting found the sole of unblest feet": Milton.

οὐ δὲ αὐτός, ὃ πρὸς θεῶν, Μένων, τί φησὶ ἀρετὴν εἶναι; but what do you yourself, in heaven's name, Meno, say virtue is? P. Men. 71 d, ὃ πρὸς σε γονάτων (946) by thy knees (I entreat) thee E. Med. 324, ὑφ' ἐνός τοιαῦτα πέπονθεν ἡ Ἑλλάς ἀνθρώπου from one man Greece endured such sufferings D. 18. 158, κρατῶν τοὺς ὀποιουμένους ὑμῖς ἐξετέμπετε στρατηγούς conquering the generals you kept sending out — such as they were 18. 146.

a. The displacement is often caused by the intrusion of a clause of contrast or explanation. Thus τοὺς περὶ Ἀρχίαν . . . οὐ ψῆφον ἀνεμείνατε ἀλλ' . . . ἐτίμωρψασθε you did not postpone your vote but took vengeance upon Archias and his company X. H. 7. 3. 7.

b. Adverbs and particles may be displaced. Thus, οὕτω τις ἔρωσ δεινός a passion so terrible P. Th. 169 c, πολὺ γὰρ τῶν ἵππων ἔτρεχον θᾶπτον for they ran much faster than the horses X. A. 1. 5. 2; so εἰ, μάλα; on ἀν see 1764.

c. Prepositions often cause the displacement (1663, 2690). On displacement in connection with participles see 1166, 1167; with the negatives, see 2690 ff.

d. Similar or contrasted words are often brought into juxtaposition. Here a nominative precedes an oblique case. Thus, ἀπὸ τῶν ὑμετέρων ὑμῖν πολεμεῖ συμμάχων he wages war on you from the resources of your allies D. 4. 34, οὐ γὰρ τις με βίη γε ἐκὼν ἀέκοντα δίηται for no one shall chase me by force, he willing me unwilling H 197. Note ἄλλος ἄλλο (ἄλλοθεν, ἄλλοτε, etc.), αὐτὸς αὐτοῦ.

e. Construction ἀπὸ κοινοῦ. — In poetry an attributive genitive or an object, common to two coördinate words, is often placed with the second only, as φράζων Ἰλίου τ' ἰλίου τ' ἀνάσταςιν telling of the capture and overthrow of Ilium A. Ag. 587.

3029. Hypophora (ὑποφορά putting under) is the statement of an objection (together with its refutation) which a speaker supposes to be made by an opponent or makes himself. Both objection and reply often take the form of questions (2654, 2785, 2819). Cp. "But I hear it continually rung in my ears . . . 'what will become of the preamble, if you repeal this tax?'" : Burke.

τί οὖν, ἀν τις ἐποι, ταῦτα λέγεις ἡμῖν νῦν; ἵνα γινῶτ' κτλ. why then, some one will say, do you tell us this now? In order that you may know, etc. D. 1. 14.

3030. Hysteron Proteron (ὑστερον πρότερον later earlier) is an arrangement reversing the natural order of time in which events occur. It is used when an event, later in time, is regarded as more important than one earlier in time.

τράφεν ἥδ' ἐγένοντο were bred and born A 251 (so τροφή καὶ γένεσις X. M. 3. 5. 10; cp. "for I was bred and born": Shakespeare), εἰματὶ τ' ἀμφιέσασα θούβησιν καὶ λούσασα having put on fragrant robes and washed e 264.

3031. Isocolon (ισόκωλον having equal members) is the use of two or more sequent cola (clauses) containing an equal number of syllables.

3032. Litotes (λιτότης plainness, simplicity) is understatement so as to intensify, affirmation expressed by the negative of the contrary. Cp. 2694. Meiosis (μειώσις lessening) is ordinarily the same as litotes. Thus: "One of the few immortal names That were not born to die": Halleck.

3033. Metonymy (μετωνυμία change of name) is the substitution of one word for another to which it stands in some close relation. Thus: "We wish that infancy may learn the purpose of its creation from maternal lips": Webster.

μῦσος loathed object, ὦ κάθαρμα you scum! συμμαχία allies, ἐν Βοιωτοῖς in Boeotia, θεᾶντον spectators, μάχη battlefield, ἵππος cavalry, ἰχθῆες fish-market.

Sometimes the sound of a whole verse imitates an action; as αὖτις ἔπειτα πέδονδε κυλίσδετο λίαν ἀπαιδής down again to the plain rolled the shameless stone λ 598 (of the stone of Sisyphus).

3035. Oxymoron (ὀξύμωρον pointedly or cleverly foolish) is the juxtaposition of words apparently contradictory of each other.

3042. Pleonasm (πλεονασμός excess), or redundancy, is the admission of a word or words which are not necessary to the complete logical expression of the thought. Such words, though logically superfluous, enrich the thought by adding greater definiteness and precision, picturesqueness, vigour and emphasis; and by expressing subtle shadings of feeling otherwise impossible. Cp. "All ye inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth."

3048. Zeugma (ζεύγμα junction, band) is a form of brachylogy by which two connected substantives are used jointly with the same verb (or adjective) though this is strictly appropriate to only one of them. Such a verb expresses an idea that may be taken in a wider, as well as in a narrower, sense, and therefore suggests the verb suitable to the other substantive. Cp. "Nor Mars his sword, nor war's quick fire shall burn The living record of your memory."

Thus, χρήματα τελοῦντες τοῖς τοῖς . . . καὶ χάριτας paying money and rendering thanks to them P. Cr. 48 a.

APPENDIX: LIST OF VERBS

THIS List in general includes the common verbs showing any formal peculiarity of tense. The forms printed in heavy-faced type belong to standard Attic, that is, to the language used in common speech and in ordinary prose; others are poetical, doubtful, dialectal or late. Many regular forms are omitted because they do not appear in the classical writers; though their non-appearance in the extant texts may often be accidental. Later forms are usually excluded, but reference is made to Aristotle, and to Hippocrates, though many works ascribed to him are of later date. The determination of the forms of Attic prose as distinguished from those of poetry is often difficult because of insufficient evidence, and in many cases certainty is not to be attained. The tenses employed in the dialogue parts of Aristophanes and other early writers of Attic comedy are usually to be regarded as existing in the spoken language except when the character of the verb in question is such as to indicate borrowing from Epic or tragedy. Sometimes a tense attested only in tragedy and in Attic prose of the latter part of the fourth century may have been used in the best Attic prose. The expression in prose means in Attic prose.

A prefixed hyphen indicates that a form used in prose is attested generally, or only, in composition; and that a poetical form occurs only in composition. Rigid consistency would have led to too great detail; besides, many tenses cited as existing only in composition may have occurred also in the simple form. For the details of usage on this and other points the student is referred to Veitch, Greek Verbs, Irregular and Defective, and to Kühner-Blass, Griechische Grammatik.

The tenses cited are those of the principal parts (369). Tenses inferred from these are omitted, but mention is made of the future perfect, future passive, and of the future middle when it shows a passive sense.

An assumed form is marked by \* or has no accent; the abbreviations aor. and perf. denote first aorist and first perfect; of alternative forms in  $\tau\tau$  or  $\sigma\sigma$  (78), that in  $\tau\tau$  is given when the verb in question belongs to the classical spoken language. In the citation of Epic forms, futures and aorists with  $\sigma\sigma$ , and several other Epic peculiarities, are usually not mentioned.

The appended Roman numerals indicate the class (497-529) to which the present system of each verb belongs; all verbs not so designated belong to the first class (496-504).
